IMMIGRATION MEN CHARGED WITH JUNKETING OPIUM SEIZURE MADE ON MANCHURIA

Liberal Majority Reduced

Lloyd-George, author of the famous budget that forced the general election, was re-elected to the House of Commons today by a reduced majority.

Great interest has centered in this election, and the most bitter contest has been waged in the constituency of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Unionists are claiming the reduced majority as a victory, as they hardly expected to defeat George unless the elections went overwhelmingly in their favor.

Returns from the various constituencies now give the Government forces three hundred and two votes as against two hundred and nineteen for the Opposition.

Trust Sec'y Asks Immunity

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Charles L. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, who was indicted with minor employees of the trust the other day, has asked for immunity from prosecution on the ground that he testified before the Grand Jury.

HE LIKES HONOLULU

Andrew Fletcher Bloomer of York, Nebraska, who with his wife is making the round-the-world tour on the Cleveland, dropped into the Bulletin office this noon to express his liking for Honolulu and the newspaper boys.

Mr. Bloomer and his wife visited Honolulu four years ago while on a four months' trip to the Orient. They still have very pleasant memories of the city and these were renewed in the last two days' visit. "There's only one Honolulu," said Mr. Bloomer. "I told you Mr. Wong, when I was here last that you ought to call it the 'Paradise of America.' You can't make it too broad."

Opening of bids for the College of Hawaii Observatory has been postponed from January 25 to January 29, 12 noon. Intending bidders should see President Gilmore or Mr. Young promptly.

A float for the Chinese is guaranteed for the Floral Parade.

WHOLESALE SEIZURE OF OPIUM ON MANCHURIA

210 Tins of Drug Are Found Hidden In Freight

DISCOVERED WHILE

SHIP IS IN PORT

Contraband Is Uncovered by Officers of Ship When Hatches Are Opened—Taken by Customs Officials.

As a result of the seizure of two hundred and ten tins of opium on board the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, the United States officials are conducting an exhaustive investigation that it is believed will result in arrests in connection with the opium ring evidence expected to develop.

The contraband drug was discovered in large quantities secreted in merchandise packages in freight on the liner. At first a small amount was uncovered and later tin after tin of opium was brought from its hiding place when a systematic search of the ship was made.

The seizure of the opium on the Manchuria follows close upon the wholesale discovery that was made recently at San Francisco on board the Siberia by officials of the customs department and indicates that a systematic attempt has been made to bring the drug into Hawaii and the States on the ships of the Pacific Mail Company.

The discovery of an opium ring working in conjunction with local employees on the wharves was made some time ago and resulted in a number of arrests, the cases now pending before the Federal Grand Jury.

The opium taken from the Manchuria included two hundred and ten tins, each package weighing about a half pound. The value of the confiscated drug is estimated at $10,000 in the Honolulu market. The opium is of the prepared variety and was brought to light during the transfer of cargo. It was secreted between sacks of rice, bales of matting and packages of various oriental freight.

The seizure was made by the officers of the Manchuria, who upon finding the contraband stuff, immediately informed the local customs inspectors, who went aboard and confiscated the opium.

COTTON IS KING ON NIPPON MARU

Japanese Vessel Carrying Record Cargo to Orient

Cotton is king on the Japanese liner Nippon Maru, which arrived at Honolulu and moored alongside the channel wharf shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, after a rather nasty trip down from the Coast.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamer is bearing some four thousand bales of cotton from the United States to the spinning mills of Osaka, Japan. The great bulk of the cargo will be discharged at Kobe. The liner brought a few lay-over passengers for Honolulu and a consignment of mainland mail amounting to 276 sacks.

Through passengers include twenty-eight in the cabin, twenty-eight Chinese, forty-two Japanese and three East Indians. In the European steerage are fourteen passengers.

The Nippon Maru is taking over a million in bullion and specie to the various banks of Japan.

The cargo will total over three thousand tons. Of course, there is nothing for Honolulu.

Mrs. J. K. Ohl is the wife of a well-known newspaper man who at present represents the New York Herald and sundry metropolitan publications in the Far East. Mr. Ohl's headquarters are at Peking.

CLEVELAND TO SAIL FOR SAN FRANCISCO

LINER WILL INCUR FINE OF $131,200

The Hamburg-America liner Cleveland will sail at 5 o'clock this evening her destination will be San Francisco, California, thereby incurring under the provisions of the coastwise navigation laws a fine of $131,200.

That San Francisco is the point of destination in the unequalled statement coming from Captain Dempwolf, master of the initial liner, who in response to inquiries as to his destination said this morning: "The Cleveland will go to San Francisco, and not to a foreign port such as Vancouver or Victoria or Mexico."

"The question of a possible violation of the coastwise shipping laws has been settled satisfactorily between the authorities at Washington and the general officers of the Hamburg-America line at Hamburg," declared the German skipper.

"I have cabled advice to proceed to San Francisco just as it nothing had happened, and to San Francisco I will set the course of the Cleveland."

Captain Dempwolf declined to go into details concerning what might have brought about what he termed an amicable settlement but it is inferred from his remarks that he contemplated no trouble whatsoever upon his arrival at the Golden Gate.

Picture if you can six hundred and fifty people who have just completed a tour around the world covering twenty-three thousand miles, disembarking from the palatial Hamburg-America liner Cleveland some where off the shores of California, into small boats, being taken across an intervening stretch of water to a vessel of size and pretension, but flying the stars and stripes, and upon this craft continuing their journey through the Golden Gate and to San Francisco.

Now, this might be looked upon in the light of a fairy tale, but nevertheless, it has been discussed with much seriousness on board the Cleveland by those in charge of the big tour.

The Secretary of the Treasury back in Washington has notified the Collector of Customs that the provisions of the domestic shipping laws apply to the carrying of passengers between New York and San Francisco the same as between any other American ports.

The dispatch sent out from the department states that any passengers landing at Honolulu or any leaving the steamer at that port as "stop-overs," will subject the steamship to a fine of two hundred dollars for each passenger.

It is further stated that for every passenger landed at San Francisco or any coast port, the fine of two hundred dollars will be imposed.

In the Cleveland party there were fifteen people who had heard of the many scenic points and climatic advantages that Honolulu afforded and they wanted to stop over here, paying the additional steamer fare to the mainland when they had completed their stay in these islands.

The enforcement of the domestic shipping laws has necessitated the affixing of a penalty of two hundred dollars should these people remain or leave the vessel at this port. When Manager Clarke put the matter before his people in its present light they gave up the idea of staying over.

However, the Washington ruling of which the local customs officials have been advised calls for the affixing of penalties to the Cleveland party which will total one hundred and forty thousand dollars. This is too large an amount to be forced over willingly or without some consideration and for this reason those in charge of the ship and the tour are anxiously seeking a favorable outlet from the impending trouble.

It has been contended that should the Cleveland land her passengers to smaller vessels somewhere outside the three-mile limit of United States jurisdiction, and these passengers be transferred to vessels of American registry and bearing the United States colors, there could be no infraction of the law.

ALAKEA WHARF HAS MADE GOOD

Customs Men However Fared Ill In Office Distribution

When the new Alakea-street wharf was thrown open to the public for the first time yesterday and utilized by the Hamburg-America liner Cleveland for the landing of her six hundred and fifty round-the-world tourists, and also the Pacific Mail steamer Manchuria, which left over four hundred passengers at Honolulu, it was fittingly demonstrated that the wharf left little to be desired in equipment and adaptability for the speedy and convenient handling of passengers and freight.

While the structure is still in the hands of the builders, its temporary use on Sunday, at which time over a thousand passengers made use of its conveniences, was looked upon as a move in the right direction. The Cleveland entered the harbor drawing a little over twenty-eight feet and came alongside the wharf with the greatest ease and dispatch. The Manchuria, drawing close to thirty feet, because of her large Honolulu cargo, went to the Ewa side of the structure with equal promptness.

There is one fly in the ointment of joy, however, as far as several port officials are concerned.

It is claimed that someone has blundered in the apportioning of the well-equipped offices located on the wharf.

In parceling out the offices, quarters have now been provided for the customs, harbor and wharf officials, and also an office room for the use of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

In the distribution and assignment of quarters, the customs inspectors were evidently not consulted in the matter, with the result that these busy officials, whose services will be required in the coming season, had

CAPTAIN'S VIEWS ON HONOLULU

Cleveland's Master Has Impressions of City

Honolulu as the Paradise of the Pacific has evidently not favorably impressed Captain Dempwolf, master of the big Hamburg-America liner Cleveland, now in port, and bearing a party of six hundred and fifty Clark round-the-world excursionists. "This is called, so I believe, the 'Paradise of the Pacific,'" remarked the German skipper from his bridge this morning, in the presence of several local newspaper men, "but I want to say that I have seen as much of this Paradise in five hours during a trip around the place yesterday afternoon as you have during a residence of ten years or more. 'You must remember that we have viewed the scenic attractions of many lands and climates. Yes, Honolulu is a very pretty place,' but in the admission coming from Captain Dempwolf there was an evident tinge of disappointment underlying his remarks.

Captain Dempwolf, his officers and several hundred attaches of the German ship Cleveland were ashore throughout the greater part of yesterday afternoon and last evening. They thronged the beach resorts and frequented the downtown streets. The ship's company is made up entirely of Germans. These men, of course, are familiar with the continental Sunday, and very naturally when they stepped ashore at Honolulu and encountered the rigid enforcement of the laws which place Honolulu in the Puritanical class as regards Sunday observance, they were greatly disappointed.

"I found no recreation, no theaters, no cafes such as we met with at the Mediterranean ports," Captain Dempwolf, doubtless had in

SUNNY CLIMES FOR FILIPINOS

Liner Manchuria Diverted To Southern Latitudes

In order to better guard the health and add to the general comfort of 365 Filipinos, the wards of Uncle Sam from the Philippine Islands who were destined for the sugar estates of Hawaii, the great Pacific Mail liner Manchuria was diverted from the regular course pursued in making the voyage from Yokohama to Honolulu and the vessel traveled a southerly but more extended track.

The result was that the Manchuria was something like thirty-six hours behind time in arriving at this port. The vessel came in before the German liner Cleveland, but owing to the greater number of passengers brought by the Hamburg-America vessel the latter was first in receiving pratique at the hands of the telegraph quarantine officials.

The Manchuria met with some nasty weather during the latter part of the voyage across the Pacific. She arrived here and went to the Ewa side of the new Alakea wharf and her passengers were disembarked shortly after eleven o'clock in the morning.

The Filipinos intended for the plantations made up the great bulk of the 400 Asiatics who left the vessel at Honolulu. In addition to the Little Brown Brothers were 20 Chinese and 28 Japanese. The vessel is carrying a large number of Chinese and East Indians in transit for San Francisco.

On board are 11,568 tons of cargo, of which 3262 tons are for Honolulu, as follows: 5445 pkgs. misc., 154 bags rice, 96 cases cigarettes and cigars, 2295 bales gunnies, 154 chests tea, 100 cases oil, 2 cases silk goods, 24 rolls matting, 985 tubs sake, 141 bags peanuts, 5049 bags bran, 3454 tubs shoyu and misco, 2563 bags beans, 325

LAHAINALUNA CASE IS LOST BY TERRITORY

American Board Must Be Paid Sum Of $15,000

DECISION BY THE

U.S. SUPREME COURT

Famous Case Is Finally Disposed Of When Judgment of Territorial Supreme Court Suffers Reversal.

The Territory must part with $15,000 as a result of the reversal of the judgment of the Territorial Supreme Court by the United States Supreme Court in the Lahainaluna case, cabled advice of which were received today.

The case was carried to Washington twice, the last argument being presented in December, when Attorney-General Hemenway appeared for the Territory and D. L. Withington argued in behalf of the contentions raised by the trustees of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

The famous case of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions against the Territory of Hawaii, which has finally been disposed of by this decision of the United States Supreme Court, dates back to 1905, when the American Board brought suit against the Territory for alleged breach of contract because of an agreement made between the American Board and the Hawaiian Government in 1849, respecting the nature and kind of instruction to be given at Lahainaluna Seminary, Maui.

Suit was brought in 1905 by the trustees of the American Board—Frederick J. Lowrey, George P. Castle and William O. Smith—alleging in substance that in the year 1849, as evidenced by certain correspondence, the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions transferred to the Hawaiian Government the seminary at Lahainaluna, upon the understanding that it should be maintained by the government along the same lines as conducted by the mission. It was further stipulated that no religious instruction contrary to the tenets of a certain creed or confession of faith, a copy of which was attached to the petition, should be given, and that sound literature and solid science should be taught.

A breach of these conditions, it was agreed, would give to the American Board the right either to a conveyance of the school properties or, at the option of the Hawaiian Government, to the payment of $15,000. It was alleged by the trustees that a breach had occurred both in regard to the teaching of "sound literature and solid science"; that demand has been made upon the government for a conveyance or the payment of the specified $15,000, which demand was refused; and that, therefore, the sum of $15,000 is due them.

The Territory first demurred to the petition upon a number of grounds, which were sustained by the Supreme Court of Hawaii in January, 1906. Judgment was entered for the defendant, and from that judgment the American Board's counsel appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The highest tribunal reversed the judgment of the Territorial Court and remanded the case, with direction to proceed in conformity with the opinion. On July 1, as a result of the trial, the Supreme Court rendered its opinion directing judgment for defendant. From this judgment the American Board appealed, and it is this appeal that is now disposed of by the United States Supreme Court, reversing for the second time the judgment of the Supreme Court of Hawaii.

DR. BURDETTE DELIVERS ADDRESS

Dr. Robert Burdette made one of his characteristic humorous, heart-appalling addresses last evening at the Kawaiahao church, which in turn convulsed his audience with laughter and brought tears to their eyes when any pathetic incident was related. "This is God's world, not the Devil's; it is not a perfect world, we all know that, but then I would not like to live in a perfect world. I have only met half a dozen perfect people in this world during my life, and they were very hard to get on with." It is like the sound of a bugle call to hear you people sing, and it will be with renewed courage that I shall return to California to tell the people of Los Angeles and Pasadena all the wonderful things I have seen and heard in Honolulu since I arrived.

Dr. Burdette has only partially recovered from a severe illness which has prevented him from preaching for months, but all who heard him last night felt what an inspiration it was and what a wonderful insight into human nature he possesses. During his long illness he was the recipient of many letters from friends and admirers. Mrs. Burdette used to go through these every day and pick out the most kindly. These she christened "pillow drops," and read them to her devoted husband every night before he went to sleep.

In speaking of the marvelous inventions of the age, Dr. Burdette stated that it was only God's message to His people "to sit a little closer." It used to take five weeks for a letter to reach England from New York; now it takes five days. It used to take three weeks for a letter to reach Honolulu from the Coast; now it takes six days.

"It is through the children of this and unborn generations that the world must be Christianized. I want to see the last of the Epworth League go out and merge with the Christian Endeavorers; then, and not till then, will the children become cemented into one huge combine to fight the common enemy."

FALSE.

His love had grown cold. "Oh, Edwin," she sobbed, "when you married me you said that you loved every hair on my head."

And Edwin, cruel and merciless, pointed an accusing finger at the switch and two "rats" near the mirror.

"Yes," he responded heartily, "but not every hair on your head." And lighting his cigar the brute strode off to his club.

God's best gift to us is nothing but opportunities.—Alice W. Rollins.

From the results on Sunday, Honolulu can provide a pretty good welcome without much getting ready.

All outside sugar-price forecasters know as much about it as the average forecasters in Honolulu, and might as well be silent.

Since Mr. Buffum has written his experience, the Shriners know what they may expect when the novitiates walk the hot lava of Kilauea.

There are all kinds of good people on board the Cleveland, and the good words spoken for Honolulu are in an overwhelming majority.

Secretary Knox has failed to suit the ideas of quite a number of foreign nations, and the next thing to be learned is whether he is satisfying the folks at home.

'Preferential sugar' is a new form of expressing doubt that has come into the sugar market since 'invisible supplies' passed out of existence because no more remained.

That Outrigger stunt for the entertainment of the tourist guests needs no better recommendation than the great crowd of local people it attracted. Only the surf failed to do its share, and even Ford can't stir up the waters of the earth to do his bidding.

Republicans and Democrats in conference to shape the plans for the coming campaign will find quite a large element that believes in good government, and in furtherance of it is quite willing to act as runner for both sides at the same time, turning in favorable reports at so much per day.

Isn't it remarkable that the American shipyards can outbid and underbid all the nations of the earth when it comes to building the biggest warships, but these same shipyards are still unable to construct a ship for the American merchant marine at anything less than twice the figure of the European yards.

Dr. Clarke's tour of the world to learn of what Christian Endeavor has been doing among other nations had a fitting end in the splendid welcome that Hawaii offered when the Father of Christian Endeavor again landed on American soil. This city comes as near to representing all nations of the earth as any municipality of its size can.

Country correspondents are again reminded that anything intended for publication in the Bulletin must be accompanied by the name of the writer. This paper must know who is author for what is sent in, though the name will not be published. News items have recently been received from Kona, Maui, that could not be published because there was nothing to indicate who was responsible for them.

EVENING SMILES

At an "at home" a young man came in and made his way to the hostess, greeting her and apologizing for his lateness.

"Awfully glad to see you, Mr. Blank," said the hostess. "So good of you to come. But where is your brother?"

"I am commissioned to tender his regrets. You see, we are so busy just now we tossed up to see which would come."

"How nice! Such an original idea! And you won't?"

"No," said the young man, absent-mindedly. "I lost."

A Senator was spending the evening with a friend in Selma, Ala., when a dreadful scratching noise came from the direction of the kitchen.

"Martha," called the host to the cook, "what is that scratching noise? Is the dog trying to get in?"

"Huh!" said Martha, "no in-

OUR TOURIST GUESTS.

Judging from the comments made by the average run of the guests of the city arriving by the steamship Cleveland, Honolulu has upheld its reputation for Paradise effects in competition with other favored spots of the earth. And it is very gratifying.

Passengers on the Cleveland, after a trip around the world, can not fail to be more or less surfeited with sightseeing, and it must be something out of the ordinary that will stir them to enthusiasm during the last weeks of their very pleasant journey that has included all the show places of the tourist routes of the world.

Fortunately, our weather has recovered from its recent fits of unpleasantness, and with the one exception of a beach surf that did not run on schedule, everything has combined to make their impressions of the city such that their stay here will remain one of the particularly notable events of the whole journey.

Some of the things Honolulu offers or fails to offer will be a source of criticism from some of the visitors, but if these critics were satisfied there would be others now satisfied who would turn critics.

In other words, it is impossible to absolutely please everyone in a party of seven hundred people picked from all parts of the United States.

We merely venture the assertion that Honolulu in all its phases has met the approval of a larger number than has any other single city that has been visited during the whole tour.

The same equable climate is a permanent asset of the islands. The character of the welcome has also come to be inviolably associated with the town. The scenery improves on acquaintance. All the good things will remain for those wishing to return for a further stay in Hawaii, or those friends of the travelers who will follow the roads that lead to the "crossroads of the Pacific."

WALL STREET AND TAFT.

This harmony of State laws discussed at the meeting of thirty Governors in Washington the other day seems to be the outcome of a movement to prevent the enactment of too many troublesome Federal laws for hedging the corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

This is suggested by the tone of the latest Henry Clegg banking circular that refers to Taft's plans for dealing with the interstate business and urges harmony in State legislation as against "cumbersome" Federal laws. Financial men do not appear to be wholly pleased with the outlook, though they do not know just what to expect.

On the matter of the President's attitude, Clegg said previous to the appearance of the President's message: "He is understood to favor a more effective control over railroad rates, to oppose the purchase of railroad stocks by competing lines, to favor pooling, and to advise the regulation of new security issues in order to prevent overissue; also a number of minor proposals of more or less merit, including a Commerce Court and a Federal incorporation law. In the main, the objects of President Taft are meritorious, and would do no injury to properly conducted railroad and industrial enterprises. The most serious objection to his proposals is the tendency towards excessive concentration of power in the Federal Government, since unquestionably many of the objects for which he aims would be better accomplished by means of well devised and uniform State laws than by adding to an already cumbersome national Government machinery."

But whatever the President may do, Wall Street feels confident that Congress will talk a great deal and refrain from becoming in any way dangerous by reason of any action it may take. On the general situation the Clegg circular delivers itself in the following interesting manner: "General business though active shows the temporary lull usual at this season. There is a general belief that the coming year will witness a large volume of business; but conditions are perplexing, costs of doing business are steadily increasing, labor agitations are unsettling and the outlook while upon the whole encouraging is not free from snarls. Our speculative leaders are not very active. They seem to recognize that Wall Street has very liberally discounted all the 'prosperity' in sight. They are somewhat uneasy regarding President Taft's enforcement of the Roosevelt policies, and seem disposed to wait until the attitude of Congress is more clearly understood. The probability is that the national legislature will talk much and do little, but the talk may be unsettling, and until this is over confidence will not be fully restored. As for President Taft, he is not likely to recommend any radical or disturbing legislation unless he departs from his well-known beliefs, which is improbable. Briefly, the situation is one that warrants a confident undertone, but considerable caution and discrimination from day to day."

CAPTAIN'S VIEWS OF HONOLULU.

That the matter of transferring the passengers while out side the three-mile limit has received much consideration on board the Cleveland is borne out by the animated little groups of German officers who throughout the day discussed the feasibility of a scheme which would avoid the penalty for violation of the coastwise laws.

While no one in authority will admit that the plan may be tried it is believed that it has been seriously mooted.

The Sheep and the Goats. One of the amusing sideights attending the arrival of the Cleveland party was the combination of Christian Endeavor workers and a delegation of Elks who shared the cramped quarters on a little gasoline launch during the greater part of a long and tiresome wait while the local quarantine officials endeavored to look into the health of the six hundred and fifty passengers aboard the big liner.

The Christian Endeavor party had been assigned one of the Young Brothers' launches. Local Elksdom, resplendent in yellow and purple leis and beaming with good cheer, left the foot of Fort street in the early morning in a larger vessel. Their craft carried a jolly band who made merry as only the outlandish herd can.

Tranquility and calm settled over the little band of earnest Christian workers who steamed out to greet the Clarke party on the Hamburg-American liner. All went well for a time.

When told this morning that he would find conditions at San Francisco all to the merry, a pleased expression mantled the expansive features of the genial German captain, and he expressed the hope that they would soon arrive there.

until it was found that the launch which had been occupied by the happy and hilarious bunch of Elks would have to return to shore. There was nothing else to do but transfer the local Elks to another craft, and the little vessel with its devout and religious passengers was therefore called and pressed into service.

The transfer was witnessed by not a few persons from two other launches who appeared as greatly amused over the combination of grace and gay.

The Elks on board the launch bided their time, but judging from the sounds of revelry which emanated from the King street headquarters soon afterwards, they evened the score with their visiting brethren. The Endeavorites played the game, sat still, sang gospel songs and discussed topical red called forth greetings and reciprocal mental lines, while a few paid tribute made mer.

CLEVELAND WILL MAINTAIN CONSTANT COMMUNICATION

There is a well equipped one kilowatt wireless apparatus on board the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland, which the operator declares is capable of maintaining constant communication with either the Kahuku or the San Francisco stations during the entire time consumed on the voyage from Honolulu to the mainland.

The wireless room of the Cleveland is situated at the forward and upper part of the great vessel. The quarters of the operator is a hive of industry during the voyage. Operator Carl Hoffmann is authority for the statement that he notes a marked difference between the atmospheric conditions prevailing on the Pacific to that found on the Atlantic which are much in favor of the western ocean. He states that while the Cleveland wireless practically reaches a distance of a few hundred miles while the vessel has been engaged in the Atlantic trade, the wireless apparatus can get into communication with the Pacific stations for a distance of fifteen hundred to two thousand miles. The Cleveland wireless office was the mecca for many visitors yesterday.

CHILDREN'S PLAY GROUND ON STEAMER CLEVELAND

On the upper deck or boat deck of the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland is a little section set apart for the nine children included in the party traveling around the world. In this enclosure is located several swings, merry-go-round, and a square filled with clean sand. The little folk who are making the twenty-four thousand mile voyage by the Cleveland also have their regular study hours. A New York state pedagogue is in charge of the instruction imparted to these much-misunderstood hopefuls. Each day, save Sunday and Saturday afternoon, the little people are assembled in the children's room and for several hours they go through a regular course of instruction in all the elementary as well as the higher branches.

The Cleveland children will not fall behind in their studies as they are specially trained in all lines and it is anticipated that they will without difficulty join their classes upon arrival at their homes in the United States.

TWO DEATHS ON STEAMER CLEVELAND.

Out of six hundred and fifty-six cabin passengers and a list of officers and crew numbering 456 persons, there occurred but two deaths on the one hundred days' voyage, according to a record maintained by the purser of the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland. The party sailed from New York on October 16 and the first death in a company of over eleven hundred souls occurred near Naples, Italy, when a member of the crew was taken down with an intestinal trouble and died. He was buried at sea.

As the vessel was leaving Kobe, Japan, on the last leg of the cruise a passenger by the name of Dr. Don Wagoner, from Illinois, was found to be seriously afflicted with cancer and he soon died. His remains are now in transit to his home and the coffin is a grewsome item in the consignment of supplies and baggage carried by the Cleveland.

CLOSE CONNECTIONS.

A. L. Raven, a passenger on the Cleveland, is making a tour of the world in the interests of Underwood & Underwood of New York.

If Mr. Raven's itinerary is held to he is going to make connections that will rival Mr. Fogg's "Round the World in Eighty Days," fame.

Mr. Raven is billed to leave New York with another excursion for a round-the-world cruise and to do so he figures to arrive in San Francisco at 7:30 a. m. one week from today. At 10:40 a. m. of the same day he is supposed to be on his way across the continent, to arrive Friday at 9:30 p. m. and the next day at 12 o'clock noon he expects to step aboard the steamship that will carry him on another round-the-world voyage.

Two large office rooms have been provided on the lower floor of the wharf bordering upon the entrance to the structure. One of these goes to the harbor master, while the other, an equally large room, has been placed at the disposal of the Promotion Committee.

Those who are acquainted with the work required of the customs staff at the other wharves contend that it is the promotion offices that should have been assigned to the customs men instead of a little back room away from the entrance, where it is impossible to keep watch over the coming and going of loaded drays and trucks of importers and exporters.

The result is that the customs officers have been obliged to move their effects out into the wind-swept floor of the wharf proper, and amid dirt and dust endeavor to carry on their labors under the most trying circumstances.

There is also much adverse criticism from local shipping men over the removal of the harbor master's office to the new wharf building. It has been contended that the ideal location for a harbor office for the port of Honolulu would be in close proximity to the Inter-island wharves or near the abandoned Brewer building. The greater bulk of the shipping that comes to the port now goes to the upper end of the harbor.

It is believed that one matter of vital importance which was overlooked in the assignment of the offices was the fact that customs officers must be on the spot to watch the arrival and departure of merchandise to the wharf. To coop these men up in quarters far away from the entrance to the wharf is declared a grievous error upon the part of someone.

There may yet be a readjustment of the offices when it is brought to the attention of the Territorial officials that the Promotion Committee has use for a wharf office for, perhaps, an hour or so pending the arrival of a steamer, while the local customs staff must spend seven days a week, and twenty-four hours a day, at the wharf.

Yesterday the lower portion of the wharf was used for the landing of nearly four hundred Filipino and Japanese passengers brought here by the Mauchuria. The galleries were thronged with the round-the-world tourists included in the Cleveland party, and also hundreds of townspeople who went to the wharf to bid visitors a sincere aloha to the "Paradise of the Pacific."

The arrangements for the handling of this vast crowd were as near perfect as an efficient police and detective staff could devise.

Officers in uniform, as well as a number of plain-clothes men, freely circulated in the crowd, and several suspicious characters were given a quiet but unmistakable tip that it was their move and the sooner they left the proximity of the steamers and the wharf, the better it would be for all concerned.

The stairways leading to the galleries are broad and commodious. The arrangement whereby passengers are to be disembarked from the

Chairman Pogue Speaks Well Of Roads Condition

(Special to the Bulletin.) LAHAINA, Maui, Jan. 22.—Of the first importance in a commercial way is the state of the weather, which for the past week has yielded a superabundance of water, all the mountain watercourses having been for days pouring their supply into the sea. All plantation pumps have been closed for two weeks or more and will continue in their idleness for a few weeks to come. This means much to the stockholders of Pioneer Mill Company, as in every respect the property is in splendid condition, and the yield above average. This will be a grand year for Pioneer.

Mr. C. D. Lufkin visited Lahaina to attend the meeting of the stockholders of the Lahaina National Bank for the annual election of officers. This institution has the following officers: C. H. Cooke, President; A. N. Hay-selden, Vice-President; W. L. Decoto, Vice-President; A. Aalberg, Director; C. D. Lufkin, Cashier, and V. C. Schoenberg, Assistant Cashier.

During the rainy weather in the middle of December, which was accompanied by a severe electric storm, a cocoanut tree was struck by lightning and a horse standing beneath the same was killed instantly by the current. This is the first event of this nature on record in this town within the memory of any inhabitant.

Mrs. L. Kroll, at the rectory, entertained a large gathering of her Lahaina friends today, who all enjoyed a most pleasant afternoon at this beautiful residence of the pastor. The event was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Perrin, father and mother of Mrs. Kroll, who are visiting them for a while.

Count J. Zeitwits has obtained a few months' vacation and has taken advantage of the same to visit his home in Austria, from which he has been now absent for some years.

Mr. Hans Duden has but recently returned from a visit to the fatherland, and is again firmly seated in harness.

W. F. Pogue, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the county of Maui, with H. Howell, County Engineer, called in on a road inspection tour, all of which in the District of Lahaina he found the roads in a very satisfactory condition, thanks to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. W. L. Decoto, our Road Supervisor.

Judge E. H. Rogers has purchased a fine beach lot at Lahaina and is having erected thereon a large roomy cottage, which when completed will be one of the pleasantest homes in town.

Mr. G. Masuda, Lahaina's most enterprising merchant, has purchased some acres of land to enlarge his homestead, and has added to his holdings some leaseholds which give him an estate almost baronial in extent, and parklike in appearance. Lahaina should have more of such enterprising citizens, who invest in the country which furnishes them with the possibility of prosperous business enterprise.

Nine of the eighteen expeditions in search of the South Pole have been of English origin.

ANNUAL SMOKER WAS THE BEST EVER

The Honolulu Scottish Thistle Club gave one of their famous smokers last Saturday evening in commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of Burns. Some 250 members and friends were present. The most pleasing event of the evening was the Rev. Canon Simpson's speech "The Immortal Memory of Robert Burns." Scotch airs were played and Scotch whiskey imbibed. For the benefit of the Englishmen from Old England there were barrels of beer on tap. C. G. Livingston sang humorous songs, W. A. Love played violin selections, while various speeches were delivered by J. H. Fiddes, Deputy Attorney General, Lorrin Andrews, Alexander Lindsay, Jr., H. E. M. Consul Ralph G. E. Forester, R. O. Matheson. The accompanists were Earle G. Bartlett and C. Caceres.

JAPANESE BARBERS ARE INCREASING

That the Japanese engaged in the barber business intend to develop their trade by increasing the membership is evidenced by the fact that there are now ninety-one barber shops owned by the Japanese in Honolulu.
Ten years ago there were only eight-teen barber shops in Honolulu, but within the past ten years the mem-this number there are about sixty people employed as assistants and employees.

Last night the members of the Jaand those who were present expressed their satisfaction at the growth of their business, since they started. The officers of the union have already been

SUPPOSED INSANE MAN DOES MURDER

Ah Sing, the Chinese who was so brutally assaulted by a fellow countryman on Saturday, died last night at the Queen's Hospital. It was seen from the start that the man could not possibly live although everything was done for him that the doctors could think of.

The murderer Fong Fook, is in custody at the police station, but no charge has been laid against him at present. The inquest will be held tonight and it will depend upon what the verdict is, and how the medical examination of the murderer turns out.

Fong Fook was on a former occasion examined by Dr. Emerson as to his sanity and declared to be mentally alright. He was allowed to depart and for a while acted in a sane manner. He never on Saturday afternoon Fong grabbed a meat cleaver and simply split Ah Sing's head clean open.

Dr. Emerson will call in Dr. Mack-all and have an examination of the murderer. Emerson is of the opinion now that Fong Fook is suffering from some nervous trouble, but the doctor says that that is only his impression at present, and that it will take a thorough examination to say one way or the other.

This is said to have been the largest to sail for San Francisco at ten o'clock

The vessel has cabin passenger accommodation for one hundred and fifty persons, and according to advance bookings made at the local agency of H. Hackfeld & Company, there will be close to this number who will take passage for the mainland by the liner.

Of the thirty-five cabin passengers

seven left the Manchuria at this port.

chief among them being Admiral A. P.

WOMEN WILL OUTNUMBER MEN

The Clark party, including six hundred and fifty persons, is quite largely made up of women. In fact the fair sex outnumber the men at the ratio of 238 women to 317 men.

This feature has added much to the pleasure of the extended tour through foreign lands. It has also been an important factor in the arrangement of a series of entertainments which have been held on board the palatial Cleveland from the time that the vessel sailed from New York until a few evenings prior to her arrival at Honolulu.

HALEIWA MARATHON

On Thursday night at C. F. Chillingworth's office the matter of the Haleiwa Marathon race will be discussed, and a start made on the preparations for the great annual event. C. F. Chillingworth is chairman of the committee which has been appointed to look after the race, and he is assisted by A. K. Vierra, who will act as secretary. Nigel Jackson, the hero of three Marathons, is manager and he and his colleagues will hustle for all they are worth to make the race a success. The race is scheduled to come off on March 29, and it will be purely an amateur affair. Suitable prizes will be given and already Mayor Fern has come through with a trophy that will be well worth winning. All those interested in the race should attend the meeting on Thursday night. The discussion will be open to everybody and suggestions will be welcomed.

"Are you interested in these aviators?"

"Intensely. I watched one this morning who was an adept. He rose, dipped, circled, turned corners and alighted without trouble and without a mishap."

"Well, well! He must have been a bird."

"He was; of the sparrow variety."

COMET SEEN

Halley's comet was plainly visible from Waikiki and many other parts of the city last night. The comet appears to be straight out from the entrance to Honolulu harbor, in the direction of Eual. It was first observed at about 7 o'clock last night, and for almost an hour thousands of people watched the strange visitor. The tail shows plainly and is of considerable length. The comet is almost in a line with the evening star and although not very high above the horizon, can be seen distinctly with the naked eye. The Cleveland tourists who were spending the evening at the Moana hotel all crowded out on the lanais to watch the wonderful sight.

One way to defend the right is to attack all wrong vigorously.

Dr. Isaac William Brewer, the great American authority on tropical medicine, has the following to say in his new book, "Personal Hygiene In Tropical and Semi-Tropical Countries," regarding the use of alcohol:

"The use and abuse of alcohol in the tropics has been discussed with a great deal of feeling. The total abstainers and many others maintain that it is a deadly poison in the tropics, while others argue that it is an absolute necessity.

"The truth lies between these extremes. . . .

"There is no doubt that a little alcohol in the shape of a light wine taken with meals is beneficial to those who suffer from loss of appetite or inability to digest food. Park put the daily amount of alcohol that may be consumed by a healthy man at from one to one and one-half ounces, or an equivalent of two ounces of brandy, five ounces of sherry, ten ounces of lighter wines, and twenty ounces of beer. Women should take smaller quantities."

Just what we have been preaching all along, and we are not surprised to see our views confirmed by such an eminent authority as Dr. Brewer. Drink

SOCIAL NOTES

Captain James R. Pourie, commanding the One Hundred and Fifth Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Ruger, Hawaiian Territory, has been ordered to the Army General Hospital. Captain Pourie was stationed at the Presidio for several years, where he was one of the most popular officers and a great social favorite. He was then ordered to Honolulu, where he and his charming wife have made hosts of friends in the short time they have been here, receiving and dispensing much hospitality—quite an acquisition to the social life in Honolulu. Their departure will make a void in the circle in which they were always welcomed.

It is regretted that Mr. McDermott and Mrs. McDermott of Seattle returned to their home on the Manchuria after a sojourn at the Moana Hotel for some time. They are prominent in social circles and enjoy their beautiful home in one of the most picturesque spots of the grand Puget Sound city. The McDermotts have visited the volcano, and have such an aloha for the islands that they may return for a longer stay.

Mr. Benson of Portland, Oregon, and his daughter, Miss Benson, after a most pleasurable trip to Honolulu, the volcano, and around the island, leave shortly for their home in Portland. The time they have spent here has been a series of entertainments for them, and in return for the hospitality they received their large tour-car was enjoyed by their friends and acquaintances, who were always welcomed to a seat.

Mr. and Mrs. Hefferen are guests at the Moana Hotel. Mr. Hefferen is a millionaire lumberman from Seattle, the home of millionaires, where immense fortunes are made from the timber which the forests of the State of Washington produce. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hefferen have enjoyed the trips they have taken in their fine touring car, and they express a desire to return next winter.

The young bachelors of Honolulu gave a dance at the Young Hotel last Saturday evening, January 22nd. It was a social success, as all of the entertainments given by these popular young men are, and this one is particular, which was under the auspices of Mr. Arthur McIntosh, whose able management is well known, was a most pleasurable event.

Miss Grace Robertson, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. James Daugherty, for some time and who is a very attractive young girl, has been the recipient of a great deal of attention in the way of entertainments. She returns to San Francisco to join her mother, who will spend some time in the Bay City.

Mrs. Charley Atherton, in the early part of the week, had the misfortune of receiving an injury to her knee. It is hoped the injury is not at all serious. She is reported as resting easier, which is most comforting to her friends, who regret that even a slight accident should befall her.

Mrs. McDonald is a guest at the Moana Hotel, from Vancouver. Mrs. McDonald is an old friend of the Harry Lewis family, who are noted for their hospitality and beautiful entertainments and who are in a position to give Mrs. McDonald a delightful visit.

Mrs. James A. Hopper held a reception Friday afternoon, January 21st, to introduce Mrs. Rosa Hopper-Plotner the talented miniature artist of San Francisco, to the ladies of Honolulu, who are interested in this work.

Mrs. William C. Lyon has been called to San Francisco by the illness of her mother, and is accompanied by her little son.

Rev. Westervelt is booked to leave on the Alameda for the coast.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

About 10 o'clock this morning Mounted Police Officer Tripp noticed a man standing at the corner of Hotel and Nuananu street. The man seemed to be in trouble, and was shaking and shivering. Tripp at once jumped off his horse and rushed toward the man who showed signs of falling to the ground.

Before the officer could reach the unfortunate man he had fallen heavily to the sidewalk. Tripp picked the man up and at once noticed the blood pouring from a wound in the back of the head. The patrol wagon was telephoned for and the man was conveyed to the Queen's Hospital, where it was discovered that his name was Lewis, and that he had at one time been a purser on the steamer Maui. The man is badly injured and his skull appears to be fractured. He fell heavily when the fit attacked him and the curb stone edge cut deeply into his head.

Tourist—I wonder at your allowing people to mount that ruin. Native—It's quite safe, sir. It was only built last year.—Bon Vivant.

FLORAL PARADE WILL BE A SUCCESS

At noon today several members of the executive committee of the Floral Parade will take lunch with members of the Chinese Promotion Committee at the Chinese club on King street, to discuss the form of exhibit which the Chinese merchants of Honolulu will have as their entry in the parade.

Three years ago the Chinese put in a float representing a dragon as their entry. This took the first prize and was one of the most elaborate and unique cars ever seen in this city. The Chinese this year will in all probability put in something even more startling.

A meeting was held last Saturday of the editors of the three American newspapers of Honolulu with a view of having a press float for the coming parade. This is the first time in the history of Honolulu that the editors of these three papers have come together. A plan of action was drawn up, but nothing definite was decided upon. This matter will be fully discussed at a meeting to be held shortly.

The floral committee have received numerous replies from owners of private cars, stating that they will be in the parade. There will be drawn up, but nothing definite was decided upon. This matter will be fully discussed at a meeting to be held shortly.

In addition to the Promotion Committee's entry, various clubs and organizations will put in floats for the parade. The following have already been heard from: The Kaimuki Improvement Club, which will in all probability have a model of the observatory; the University Club, the Commercial Club, the Palama Settlement.

The floral committee have received a number of samples of imitation paper flowers manufactured locally. These are such good imitations of the real thing that if they were perfumed they could easily be passed off as real flowers.

POLICE COURT NOTES

Chief McDuffie roped in a bunch of gamblers yesterday and the whole lot of them were in court this morning. C. F. Chillingworth appeared for the defendants, but the evidence was too strong and Judge Andrade found the bunch guilty. One Celestial was given a suspended sentence of thirteen months, and the remaining twelve were fined $7 and costs.

Chillingworth then asked the court to be merciful and after he had talked for a while, the judge reduced the fine to $5 and costs.

J. J. Belser, who is charged with auto speeding, was on the calendar for trial but the case was put over till Wednesday next. Three alleged gamblers named Abraham Keleua, Kekapa and Antonio Gomes, were sent over for trial till January 25.

Fred L. Waldron has withdrawn his appeal against Judge Andrade's decision that he should pay a fine of $25 and costs for auto speeding. C. H. Brown, however, has perfected his appeal and will fight to the last ditch.

STOWAWAYS JOIN CLEVELAND PARTY

The first visitation of the Hambro stowaways encountered by the Hamburg-America line Cleveland came in the form of two discharged American soldiers who succeeded in hiding within the bowery of the palatial liner and were not dragged forth from their obscurity until the vessel had gotten well out from Yokohama.

One Japanese also boarded the vessel at Kobe and he is confined to the vessel's brig. These men will be taken through to San Francisco kept in close confinement and returned to the coast of embarkation by the Cleveland which is to sail from the California port on another cruise the first part of February.

Smooth Sea Spoils Surfing Stunts

Out at Waikiki the Outrigger Club tried to do its best yesterday in the way of entertaining the Clark bunch of tourists. Unfortunately, the surf was not good, and the high wind off shore kept the small waves that did start in, from amounting to much.

A tremendous crowd lined the beach from the Seaside Hotel to the Waikiki Inn. The gathering was probably larger than has ever been seen on the beach before.

The crowd was very dense around the immediate vicinity of the Moana Hotel, and it was hard work to get anywhere near the bandstand, where Captain Berger and his musicians played all the afternoon.

All of Clark's excursionists appeared to take the greatest interest in the various shows that were pulled off, and much admiration was shown for the feats performed by Miss Pratt and her girl friends—Misses Ruth Soper and Coral Low. There were many surfers out, and they did their best in the small surf. The exhibition was a poor one except in some places where the surf did run high for a short distance.

The Clark cups were not competed for, as it would have been absurd to have any of the events run off in the slight surf that existed. Some of the outrigger canoes went out and time after time tried to catch a wave. Only in a couple of instances were there any long runs made. The Kamehameha Aquatic Club turned out in force, and at the Outrigger clubhouse gave exhibitions of pol-making and Hawaiian cooking that interested the visitors greatly.

Many of the Clark people went out in canoes, and had a try at surfing. There was nothing much doing in that line; still, the tourists appeared to enjoy the fun of even a short run. Dozens of others donned bathing suits and splashed into the water, and the way they stayed and refused to get out, when their friends called them, was a tribute to the seductions of bathing at Waikiki.

Cameras were to be seen everywhere, and the number of films exposed must have been tremendous. Honolulu took moving pictures of the whole layout, and he must have got some really good ones.

After a weary wait it was seen that no surf events could be pulled off, and it was decided to have at least the surfboard paddling race. The boys, to the number of fifteen, all stood on the beach with their surfboards alongside of them, and at a signal all dashed for the water and, throwing themselves on the boards, paddled away at their very best speed.

Zen Genova won the paddling contest, and he certainly got through the water in great style. The rest of the bunch were not far behind, and taking it altogether it was a good race. The Clark bunch took the greatest interest in everything, and many were the remarks made on the beauty of the scene at Waikiki. Some of the tourists remarked that they had seen outrigger canoes at Ceylon, but that the surfboard stunts here were wonderful.

When the return Clark excursion comes through Honolulu, the Clark cups will be competed for, and it is to be hoped that there is more surf than there was yesterday. It was really hard luck that the waves were so small, as the visitors could not get any idea of what the sport is really like on a day when the big green waves come roaring in and, perched on the top are to be seen a dozen or so surfboard riders, who continue their wild career right up to the very beach.

Yesterday's exhibition of canoe and surfboard riding is not to be considered as the real thing. There was no surf, and as soon as the town people got out to the beach they saw that there would be nothing doing. There was a lot of delay in getting things started, but what was the use of hurrying—there was no chance of doing anything much, and soon the local people began to wend their way homeward.

All the members of the Outrigger Club did their best to get things going, and it was not their fault that the waves would not materialize. Nearly all day the canoe and surfboard men hung around the clubhouse and prayed for the sea to get up and do things. But there was no response, and quite a number of the canoes remained on the beach and were not even put into the water.

A fleet of small boats sailed around from the harbor to Waikiki, and among them were noticed the Viking, Ivy and Pearl. The young yachtsmen handle their boats in good shape, and they presented a pretty sight as they sailed their moorings and sailed away for the harbor.

Two boys got up a pol fight at the clubhouse, and the way they covered each other with that delicacy made the visitors laugh more than was good for them. The subsequent removal of the pol was a hard job, and the operation was also watched with great interest by the mall-hinis.

To sum up the afternoon's fun, is to say that everything and everybody was ready for the show, but the waves would not come, and that spoiled the whole business.

Kennel Club Holds Meeting Tomorrow

Tomorrow evening the Hawaiian Kennel Club will hold its annual meeting at Tom Sharp's office. The election of officers for the present year will take place, and the reports of the secretary and treasurer will be turned in.

It is planned to hold the annual show in March some time, and from present indications there will be a splendid lot of dogs benched. J. S. Littlejohn, who is a most enthusiastic dog fancier, is taking the greatest interest in the proposed show, and he suggests that if the plan be adopted, an annual show of the combined dog, poultry and agricultural societies should be held at the same time every year.

That is the "method in other places, and a most interesting show is always given once a year. The cattle, sheep and horse owners join in, and every farmer sends in his biggest pumpkin or tomato; the poultry fanciers and pigeon men are "Johnny on the spot" with their entries, and the owners of thoroughbred canine pets come through on the jump to enter their dogs for the blue-ribbon events.

Combined shows would be much larger and better, and more people would attend than now do an individual show. The objection that has sometimes been advanced, viz., that the dogs frighten the chickens, is easily overcome by doing as is done elsewhere—having the poultry in one shed and the dogs in another.

The horse section would be a most attractive one, and as the standard in these islands is high, some fine specimens of all breeds of horses could be shown. The cattle and sheep section could also be made up to attract the attention of most people, and what with dogs, poultry, pigeons, cattle, sheep and horses, everybody would find something to interest him at the annual agricultural show.

Mailles and Puns Play Great Soccer

Soccer football got a boost on Saturday when the Mailles defeated the Punahous by a score of 3 to 1. The teams are now tied for first place in the series, and another match will have to be played next Saturday to decide the championship.

The followers of the game are very pleased that the game ended as it did, and much interest is being shown in the final game which is to be played on Saturday next.

The Mailles played up in all their oldtime style on Saturday, and it was a treat to watch them at work. The exhibition of soccer they gave was very different from the sort they have been giving lately.

The first goal was scored by the Mailles, and was rather a fluke, as the ball, being very slippery, went through Paty's hands.

Sinclair, for the Puns, evaded things up by making a fine dribbling run down the field and kicking a goal.

There were only ten minutes more time to play, and the game looked as if it would end in a draw. The Puns became careless and Fred Bailey took a shot for goal and scored the second goal for the Mailles.

Then, just two minutes before time was called, Harry Bailey did the trick for the Mailles again, and the game was over.

Walker, Macaulay, Gray and Sinclair were the stars of the Punahou team, and they played really good soccer. McGill did fine work for the Mailles, and Ziegler, Center and the two Baileys were on to their jobs O. K.

There was a better gathering of fans than ever before, and there is no doubt that the final game next Saturday will attract a big crowd of soccer fans.

The official lineups were as follows: Punahou—Paty, g.; Gray, rf.; Broderick, lf.; Clark, cf.; Jamieson, c.; Macconel, th.; Jack Catton, or; Sinclair, lf.; Walker, cf.; Kohola, lf.; Macaulay, ol.

Mailles—Fraser, g.; Anderson, rf.; Mullen, lf.; Center, rh.; McGill, ch.; Ziegler, th.; Dwight, or.; H. Bailey, lf.; Carl Osa, cf.; McNicol, lf.; F. Bailey, ol.

Old Timer Says John L. Was Best

During an interesting interview with a well known sport of this city the old-timer gave his opinion of all the best heavyweight boxers he had seen in action—and he has seen them all. "John L. Sullivan was the best of the bunch," remarked the man who has been in the corner of many a world's champion. "Sullivan, in his prime, could have made short work of any of the latter-day fighters. He was a wonder and besides his tremendous punch he was the best man at foot work that ever stepped into a ring. Peter Jackson was the only one who approached him in foot work. I have seen Sullivan knock a man clean out with eight-ounce gloves, and that in one or two rounds. It takes a great wallop to do that trick."

"I saw John L. when he first fought, and he was only a youngster of twenty-two years then. He was simply a ball of muscle, and as he sat in his corner ready for the going, he looked more like a bulldog ready for the fray than anything else. It is ancient history how Sullivan cleaned up everything in sight and then retired on his laurels. When he did emerge once more and tackle Corbett the change in the man was astounding. He looked well enough, but none of his old vitality was there; he lacked the steam that had been his greatest asset. How he was defeated is an old story."

"Sullivan has, according to an ordinary man's standard, lived about one hundred years. His vitality and constitution must be something wonderful. John certainly has gone the pace I saw him when he came to San Francisco in '83. Jim Neill, Frankie's father, kept a saloon in those days and he and Sullivan were great friends; they both hailed from Boston. Sullivan had written Neill that he was coming to 'Frisco, and told him to have a few baskets of wine on hand as he intended to spend some money on Neill's place."

"Well, Sullivan went straight to Neill's saloon when he arrived, and grabbing a tumbler dropped five hundred dollars into it and said: 'There, Jim, cut that out in wine, and when it is finished let me know.' Neill tried to persuade Sullivan that it was foolishness, but the champion would not listen to him and quickly there was a crowd mopping up the buzz water. Ordinary champagne glasses were used at first, but that was too slow for John L., calling for beer glasses, he began drinking the fizz like water. The rest of the bunch followed suit and then there was a red hot time."

"I saw Paddy Ryan go up against John L. when the latter was as fat as a whale, and when his girl was immense. Ryan was trained to the minute and he at once danced in to pass a punch into John's breadbasket. That was just what Sullivan wanted, and he caught Ryan a blow on the jugular that sounded like an our hitting a side of beef. It was certain for Paddy then, and he went to slumber at once. I spoke to Ryan afterwards and he said that the punch had simply felt like a mule kick, and that he remembered nothing after it landed, until he was brought around with smelling salts and water."

"If John L. were only in his prime now neither Jeff Johnson or any of the bunch would have a chance with him. And talking of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, it appears very strange to me that the match is scheduled to come off in Utah. The Governor of that State has said that he will not allow the match to be fought there. He will keep his word, and I cannot understand why it is advertised for there. Can it be that shortly before the date set for the fight, a change will be made and the contest postponed for another three months or so? There may be something in that. It would make more money in the vaudeville show the men are at present going to give."

Not being able to answer the question, the writer replied, "Same for me, and draw it slow."

SHORT SPORTS.

"Kid" Franklin is anxious to get a match with some boxer of his weight, and it would appear that Clarence Reynolds of Hilo is willing to have a go at him. Reynolds has written to a well-known sport in town and suggests that he would fight Franklin either in Hilo or Honolulu.

The Mailles played a man short for a while on Saturday, and it was not till the first goal was scored that Fred Bailey arrived on the field.

Impromptu swimming races were pulled off at Waikiki yesterday, and some of the boys showed remarkable speed.

"There was a time," said the has-been, "when I had the world at my feet."

"Well," concluded the other, "my foot slipped."

ENDEAVORERS AT KAWAIAHAO CHURCH

HAWAIIAN MUSIC

PLEASE VISITORS

Dr. Clark Speaks Enthusiastically on the Onward March of the Endeavor Societies Throughout the World—Endeavorers Taken From Behind Prison Bars.

Kawaiaha'o Church was beautifully decorated last evening with roses, asters, carnations, pua-hoo-ne-ni, mell, and potted coconut palms. Long before the time appointed to open the doors to the public, an immense crowd had assembled outside the church. There was no disorder, no noise, all were there to hear Dr. F. E. Clark and Rev. Robert Burdette and other noted speakers.

As the clock in the tower struck 7 the service opened with a hymn and a scripture lesson taken from the 23d Psalm. The praise service was led by Mr. Lee. The second hymn, "I am a malihini here, within a foreign land," was most appropriate, as there were hundreds of strangers present, many with leis around their necks. At the request of Mr. Lee the Christian Endeavorers from the Cleveland were asked to occupy seats on the platform.

The choir was composed of 40 voices and sang in English and Hawaiian. The Kamehameha Glee Club gave one of their famous selections, which was much appreciated by the vast congregation. Just before Dr. Clark arose to address the meeting, Rev. Dr. Burdette and Mrs. Burdette took their places on the platform.

Amidst much applause Dr. Clark, in his natural, pleasing manner, opened his address by saying: "It is no surprise to come to this historic church as I read of it in my boyhood days. All are so cordial and homelike here that I really feel like one of you." Dr. Clark looked most imposing, as with characteristic tact, he left some of the leis around his neck while he spoke. "Ever since we left New York our eyes have been opened to what the Christian Endeavorers are doing in foreign countries."

"At Calro, where the Orient and Occident meet, there are now 60 Christian Endeavorites as against 17 of the previous year." In talking of the custom of placing wreaths around the necks of visitors, Dr. Clark stated that India was the only other country outside the Hawaiian Islands where this custom prevails.

Dr. Clark's address was in the nature of a series of greetings from Christian Endeavorites from all parts of the world. "The members of this society in Rangoon, Burma, who met in Cushing Hall to meet us, send you greetings. The Christian Endeavorites of the Christian Endeavor Mission Church in Canton, China, send you greetings. The Christian Endeavorites of India, Egypt, the Straits Settlements, Japan, Europe and Ceylon, send you greetings."

In Norway many of the people scoffed at this movement; they looked upon it as another of those queer Yankee notions, which volatile Americans are always hatching up. "Wait and see!" said Dr. Clark. "The reply has come this Christian Endeavor movement has caught on in Germany, which country is now divided up into eight centers of this society. In England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, thousands have rallied to the standard. In France at the last C. E. convention at Nimes, there were many members present. In Spain, at Barcelona, Christian Endeavorites from Old and New Castile, Catalonia, Andalusia, and other provinces of Spain, flocked to send greetings to you people of Honolulu."

What is the result? That we must face the Eastern sky and not look back. Our fellowship is growing. I mean the unity of Christian hearts throughout the world, so that all nations may be united to present a bold front against the common enemy. We must act up to the precepts of our motto, "Christ and the Church."

One of the most startling features of Dr. Clark's address was when he stated that there were 2000 Christian Endeavorites behind prison bars. But said this great evangelist, "These were converted after they had been in prison, and not one of them has ever gone back on his pledge."

"There is a thousand times more work in the future to be done by you; you are just beginning to buckle on your armor. By the end of this year, 1,000,000 new members will have joined the Christian Endeavor Society. 10,000 new societies will have been added to the parent society. I envy you your youth, because you have so many years of service before you. God grant that you may live to see the whole world Christianized before the time comes for you to lay down your life at Jesus' feet. I am proud to think that you are part and parcel of this great land of ours, that you are a Christian part of Continental America."

Knowing the feelings of his Hawaiian audience, the largest and the most orderly congregation that ever thronged the historic church of Kawaiaha'o, yesterday morning, Secretary Shaw of the Christian Endeavorers greeted them with "Aloha," the greatest word of welcome in the Hawaiian language.

TONIGHT, when you wash your hands, look at the soap you use.

Is the lather white? Is it bright? Is it full of tiny bubbles? Does it rinse easily?

It should. It will, if it is Ivory Soap.

There is no "free" alkali in Ivory Soap; no coloring matter, no harmful ingredient of any kind.

Ivory Soap

99 1/2% Per Cent. Pure

The word "aloha" was heartily responded to by the young and aged Hawaiians, together with the other nationalities, who were present in the church. They greeted him with the waving of handkerchiefs as he was introduced to the audience by Rev. Moses Nakina, who presided over the meeting.

Secretary Shaw, whose oratorical power is well known throughout the world, was selected with his, as he stood before the audience and addressed them in one of his most pleasant and interesting poses.

He spoke of the great work of the Master which is being carried on by the world's Christian Endeavorers, of which he was one. He also remarked about the progress of the young people who have come to know and realize the importance of the Christian Endeavor movement throughout the whole world. In this connection, he emphasized the fact that Christian Endeavor societies of the world were continually growing in strength by the addition to their ranks by those who had heretofore given little thought to the subject.

His speech was translated into Hawaiian by Rev. Stephen Detha of Hilo, one of Hawaii's most fluent and interesting speakers.

Malihinis With Leis. Seated in the special pews of the church were the malihinis. They were attractively decorated with leis which were showered upon them by the kamaihinas who greeted them upon their arrival. They formed one of the distinctive features of the congregation. Nakina Leads Singing. Rev. Moses Nakina, who presided over the meeting, led the singing of the combined choruses of Kawaiaha'o and Kaunapali churches. The singing was grand.

Mauians Applauded. The Maui Christian Endeavor delegation surprised the whole congregation last night at Kawaiaha'o by their sweet singing in Hawaiian of one of the favorite hymns. This was done in connection with responding to the society roll call. After the closing the delegation, which included a number of the renowned singers of Maui, was enthusiastically applauded by the malihinis as well as the kamaihinas. The Kawai delegation also did its part well.

A Good Investment

The Temporal Ranch Oil Co. with 600 acres oil land, flowing oil wells and all its reservoirs filled with high-grade oil in the Temporal district, Kern Co., Cal., will soon complete its three-mile gravity delivery pipe line.

This Oil Company is at present like a plantation with tons and tons of sugar on hand, ready to be shipped on the incoming steamer.

An able management, almost a square mile of proven oil land, cheap transportation of oil, high prices with steadily increasing demand for oil, will make this company an early dividend payer, and for that reason the stock of this Temporal Ranch Oil Co. is recommended as a GOOD INVESTMENT by the Lincoln Mortgage & Loan Co. of San Francisco.

Capitalization is $1,000,000, divided into shares of $1.00 each. I have a small block of them for sale at 25c while they last. Secure them NOW.

DR. F. C. CLARK AT CENTRAL UNION

NOT MUCH FAITH IN JAPAN'S CONVERSION

Describes a Wonderful Beautiful Mausoleum Built by Shah Jehan to Commemorate the Life of One of His Wives.

An immense congregation filled the Central Union Church yesterday morning, when the Rev. Dr. F. C. Clark, international president of the Christian Endeavor Society, delivered an eloquent and inspiring sermon. Taking as his text the first seven verses of the 95th Psalm, and laying emphasis on the second verse where the words:
"Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving," his vast audience was held spellbound with the wealth of knowledge which this able and sympathetic preacher bestowed upon his hearers.

"There have been wonderful changes in the Far East during the past two decades. Ten years ago China seemed still wrapped in the sleep of centuries," were the opening words of his sermon. Dr. and Mrs. Clark were in China in 1900, at the time of the Boxer uprising, and saw many sights which have been uppermost in their minds. "During those awful days, China was baptized with the blood of missionaries and of the hundreds of martyred Chinese converts, whom he it to their credit remained steadfast in the faith until the end."

Japan Backward.

Speaking of Japan, Dr. Clark said that it will be a long time before the inhabitants of that island empire embrace Christianity, as their national religion. "Countries must be evangeli-zed by people of those lands, who have first been instructed by American and English missionaries. American missionaries will make one convert to ten by these native missionaries, so that there is at the present time a crying need for native missionaries and the prayers of this and other churches throughout the world are needed to bring about this great evangelization."

"In Korea the churches are very largely self-supporting. Our hearts have been made glad in India, Egypt, China and Japan, by seeing the interest that is being taken by the young people of those lands in Christian work."

"At Agra, India, whither I went to attend the Christian Endeavor Convention, 4000 native Christians and 400 native missionaries were present.
Thirty distinct languages were spoken at that convention. These included Hindustani, Assamese, Hindi, Tamil, Telugu, Burman, Shan, Gujarati, Ma-harathi, etc."

Sunrise Service.
On the morning after the convention when most of the delegates had departed for their homes, Dr. Clark and a small band of Christians, both white and colored, climbed to the top of a small hill just outside the city. It was early dawn when they ascended this hill, as they wished to hold a meeting at the summit before sunrise. In the midst of early dawn the Taj Mahal could be seen standing out in faint relief against the smoke of the city. "An emblem of man's love for woman."

This beautiful mausoleum was built by the Emperor Shah Jehan in honor of his favorite wife, Mumtaz Mahal.
During the building of this wonderful marble mausoleum 20,000 slaves, driven by overseers for nigh upon 20 years were subjected to all manner of cruelties by their hard-hearted task masters. Caravan after caravan loaded with priceless marbles and mosaics halted before the palace of this great emperor; and all because a man so loved his wife that he felt he could not commemorate her death with a more fitting monument than the costliest building in the world.

"As the Taj Mahal is man's emblem for the love a husband bears towards a wife, so is Christianity God's emblem of infinite goodness and wisdom."
"Since my last visit to Egypt, Christianity has trebled itself in the number of converts made; while in India, where caste and superstition are rife, Christianity has more than doubled itself."

organization for the evangelization of their heathen brothers and sisters."

Dr. Clark then ended his descriptive sermon with a brief description of the great bronze statue of the Christ on the highest pass of all the Andes.
Chile and Argentina very nearly came to blows about the frontier land bordering these two countries. Chile claimed land which Argentina thought should belong to her, and vice versa.
Edward VII of England was asked to arbitrate the matter. This astute dip-lomast solved the question so satisfactorily that war was averted. In gratitude to God, the people of these two nations subscribed a large sum of money and built this statue midway between Valparaiso and Buenos Aires.

At the base of the statue are two carved images representing Chile and Argentina clasping hands. Beneath is a scroll upon which has been carved these words: "He is our peace who have made all one."

Outside the city of Rio Janeiro on one of the peaks of the organ mountains overlooking the city, Dr. Clark and a party of Portuguese Protestants held a sunrise service, similar to the one they held at Agra. Just as they reached the top they heard the sweet voice of a native Christian, who had apparently ascended the mountain for the same purpose, singing the familiar hymn which commences with these beautiful words:
"The morning light is breaking."

Just before Dr. Clark pronounced the benediction, Dr. Scudder stated that twenty national or racial strains were represented in the Central Union Church of Honolulu.
The music was very appropriate and well rendered by the splendid choir under the direction of Stanley Livingston. Miss Margaret Clarke officiated at the organ, the two solos being sung by Mrs. Bruce McV. Mac-Kall and Mr. Philip Hall.

CENSUS TEST FOR CANDIDATES

SAMPLE SCHEDULES MUST BE FILLED

Dr. Clark Receives From Washington Information Relating to Examination For Applicants as Census Assistants.

The Bureau of the Census at Honolulu has recently received from Washington information as to the test to be given the agents, who are to enumerate the population of the Territory next spring.

The 1910 test will be given to the applicants on the Island of Oahu at Honolulu. A few agents, who served in the last census, will not be required to qualify. If tests are given in the other islands special arrangements will be made and applicants notified locally.

The 1910 test will be very similar to the one in the preceding census and will consist in requiring applicants to fill sample schedules from printed narratives concerning census facts.

The test population schedule narrative in 1900 was, in part, as follows:

"The enumerator of the forty-fifth enumeration district of the ninth supervisor's district of the State of Pennsylvania, in the village of Port Royal, Londonderry Township, Schuylkill County, begins his enumeration June 1, 1900, at No. 201 Burton street.

"This house is occupied by a single family, consisting of Patrick O'Leary, his wife, Margaret, and his son, James.

"Patrick came to this country from Ireland (where he was born of Irish parents) in May of 1870, when he was just 22 years old. Three years after his arrival he was married to an Irish girl who had come over from his native village a year before. As soon as possible he became naturalized. He can read and write and speak English, and owns a good house, free of incumbrance, which he has bought from his earnings as a teamster, in which occupation he has had steady work during the past year.

"Margaret, his wife, is also of Irish parentage, and was born in January, and is nearly four years younger than her husband. She has had two children, only one of whom is living. She can read and speak English, but has to make her mark for her signature.

"James was born in Harrisburg, February, 1875. He has a good common school education, works at any sort of day labor, and secured nine months' steady work during the past year. He is not married.

"In the next house, 203 Burton street, the enumerator found an English woman by the name of Mrs. Jane Parker, a widow, occupying a rented house with her single daughter, Virginia, and her married daughter, Nellie E., and the husband of the latter, Albert Johnson.

"Mrs. Parker came to this country 34 years ago, has a good education, is a dressmaker by trade, and has constant employment. She was 50 years old last April, and is of Scottish birth on her mother's side. She has had four children, three of whom are living and one of whom has died.

"Virginia is of English parentage, has been through the local schools and has been a saleswoman for eight months of the past year; she was born in Philadelphia in March, 1877.

"Nellie E. was 28 years old last January, and has but recently married. She was born in Baltimore, reads and writes, and speaks English.

"Albert Johnson, the husband of Nellie, was born in New York City, of Welsh parents, November, 1865. He is in the grocery business and keeps his own books and accounts.

It seems comparatively simple, according to the supervisor, to draw out of the above statement the required details for the population schedule and to enter them under the proper column divisions relating to location, name, relationship, personal description, nativity, citizenship, occupation, education, etc.

About all such a test can do is to evidence the legibility of an applicant's handwriting and his ability to determine where to write in the sample schedule the facts clearly stated in the narrative.

Before the test the supervisor will send each applicant a list of instructions concerning filling in the test schedules, which will still further simplify the subject and insure the passing of the test by those who possess only an ordinary common school education and practical common sense.
