PLAIN AND FANCY

Vale!

Good-night; O Earth : the nights are growing long ; The days are brief: Life has one solemn borden for its song ; An fades the leaf."

Good-night, poor World ! if thou art fail of sin, My share I own : Forgive! we human, know one word divine!-The sun goes down.

Good-night, good friend ! though poor my gifts to thee I will not fret :

The richer thou whose bounty is so feet And wreet my debt. No longer to revenge nor to repay

I strive or seek. Empty I came-must empty go away-Empty and weak.

As one who wakes no more to smile or weep Another day, So would I lay me down to sleep

Whereon to die:

And humbly say . O Thou who hadst not where to lay Thy head, As poor were I, Did not Thy mercy make for me a bed

VARIETY.

BLONDE HAIR.-The latest name for blonde hair is " the light fantastic tow."

PARTNERS .- When a man has a business that doesn't pay, he usually begins to look around for a partner to share his losses with him. NEVER .- "There are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught," said an uncouth Milwaukee simpleton to a Chicago girl who had just refused him. "Yes," she replied, "but they'll never bite at tond bait." FOND WIFE .- "John," said a fond wife, enthusinstically pointing out to her husband a little shop on Main street, " when you die I'm going to take the insurance an' buy that little place an' set up a millinery." A HUMBUG.-Transfusion of blood is a humbug in some cases. A Chicago man had a pint of buil-dog's blood conducted into his veins, and then tried to lick his wife. She laid him up for

HER REPLY .- The wife of "Max Adeler weighs two hundred pounds, and the Brooklyn | MPORTERS, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Argus says when Max asks her, "Shall I help you over the fence?" she replies demurely, "No; help the fence."

How to Do It.—They do say that when nine-pence prints hang on dealers, bands, a sousing in dirty water and a placard announcing "Damaged cambries at fifteen cents," carries them off like hot cake.

FAILED .- Mark Twain says Horace Greeley once tried to make a living as writing-master, and failed. His copy was "Virtue is its own reward," and the scholars got it, "Washing with soap is wholly absurd.

RAILROADS .- When they build a railroad the first thing to do is to break ground. This is often done with great ceremony. Then they break the stockholders. This is done without ceremony.

FAILED.—A young lady lectured on "Dress Reform" in Springfield, recently; and she was "pulled" back to such an extent that, when she attempted to sit down at the close of her discourse, she failed to reach the chair by over

To PROTEST .- There are mutterings of National Convention of dry goods dealers, to protest against the present style of clinging dresses worn by women. The haberdashers sigh for the good old days of hoops, when fifty to sixty yards of cloth went into a skirt, and de-clare that these tight dresses are actually taking the bread out of their mouths.

VNEUABLE Pers. - Mocking-birds are valuable pets in a family of girls. It has been discovered that they can imitate to perfection every species of kiss, from the inspirational and devotional to the paroxymal. When paterfamilias hereafter hears any suspicious "swee-peeps" from the parlor, Angelina will explain that it was only the mocking-bird. It is said that a bird well-trained in this accomplishment will bring $300 in Brooklyn.

Cautious.—A young man from Texas stood on the levee at Vicksburg, Miss. He was about to take a chew of tobacco, when he noticed a little group of men near him. "Gentlemen," he said, "I want a chew." As they turned and looked at him, he continued: "My pouch is in my hip-pocket, and I mentioned the fact lest you should think I was about to draw my revolver." Then helped himself without dodging a shower of balls, as might have been necessary had he not explained.

MISTAKE.—A seedy-looking individual, with an interrogating face appeared at the back-door of a Ramsom-street house, at Danbury. "Got nothing here for you to cat," snapped the woman of the house. "I don't want any thing to eat," stammered the stranger, growing very red in the face. "We've just moved into the next house, and I came over to see if you would loan me your axe for a few minutes, as mine was left at the other house." "Eless me! Gracious!-that is-certainly," gasped the womar, plunging pre-cipitately into the cellar after the axe.

EAT IT ALL .- A lumber-man, being but poorly provided with materials of sustenance for his men, fed them with the pork cooked with the rind upon it. A young man of the company, not liking that outer portion of the food, was observed by the host to be carefully removing the outside covering. Whereupon mine host said : "Young man, we eat rind and all here." To which the youth replied: " All right, old man, I'm cutting it off for you.'

UNCERTAIN .- Nothing is so uncertain as lovely woman. One of her playful eccentricities is thus noted in an Illinois paper: "A beautiful girl, with silken curls in which the sunshine seemed to have been entangled and held, with mild, loving blue eyes that opened wide in sweet surprise, and melted in tears at the voice of distress. and sensitive lips that trembled and quivered with pain at a barsh word, and tender voice, soft as the notes of flutes upon the water, got away behind in a game of croquet last Wednesday and when her brother caught her cheating, she opened her mild blue eyes in surprise and hit him such a clip over the eye with a croquet mallet that he has had to wear his hat pasted on the back of his head with a wafer ever since.

The Graphic's London correspondent sends the following, which he vouches for as quite true: "We have in London a very curious institution called splashing houses." If a snob wishes to make it appear that he has been riding with the fox hounds of a certain ' meet,' he goes to one of these houses and pays three shillings at the door. A man meets him in the hall and says: 'What hounds, sir? Kent, Surrey, Essex?' and on being informed, he leads the gallant hunter to a stable where there is a wooden horse standing in a puddle of Kentish or other mud. The man turns wheel; the wooden horse kicks up his heels, and in five minutes the snob is covered with as much mud as he would have gathered had he been riding across country for five hours. Then the splashed one, with whip in hand, walks up Pall Mail and Picadilly, and tells those of his friends whom he meets what a glorious hunt he has enjoyed. This also is quite true."

CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 1st, 1873.

THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS ARE noted the world over for their unrivaled salabrity of climate. Certain localities in the group are especially favored in this way.—The District of Koma, on the leeward side of Hawall, has long been famed as a place of resort for invalids with bronchital, or lung diseases. With its pure and mild atmosphere, with its shadute freedom from storms or high winds, with its porous soil which, with all its rich vegetation, retains no dampness and yields no malaria, and with an unvarying temperature—that of the American or Southern European June—ALL, THE YEAR BOUND, the climate of Kona is one of the healthiest and most luxurious on the globe.

Consisting of Boiler, two Vats and one Steam Pump, &c. The above apparatus was manufactured in 1873 at the Honolulu Iron Works.

REPORT OF SHIP MARIANNE NOTTEBOUN, WHITNEY, MANUER.—Left Enderbury Island July Sth with a load of guano for Queenstown. During the voyage encountered heavy gales in lat 43° S, when the vessel sprung aleak, and had to put for this port for repairs, arriving on Saturday, Sept 25. REPORT OF HAWAIIAN TRADING SCHOONER GIOVANNI APIANI, DORITY, MASTER.-Sailed from Honolain, April 16th, APIANI. DORITY, MASTER.—Sailed from Honolain, April 16th, for the Arctic Ocean. Had strong winds mostly to the Fox Islands. May 12th, went through the Ounimak Passage in company with bark Florence. Made the ice May 19th, in latitude 60°10' N., longitude 174°25'. Arrived at Plover Bay, June 8th. Experienced fine weather during June and the first part of July. Strong southerly winds during the middle and inter part of the season. July 19th, while in company with the bark Arctic, lying at anchor in Wainwright Inlet, a strong south-west gale set the ice in, which drove the Arctic ashore. After losing both anchors I succeeded in working the schooner out. As soon as the ice broke up I went back, and found the Arctic in 11 feet of water. Captain Whitney had discharged everything to get her off. July 29th, I sailed from Point Barrow, and next day fell in with the Arctic, working northward, Captain Whitney having succeeded in getting her off without

The Herzegovinians have defeated the Turks in an obstinate engagement, and the Turquis, a Constantinople newspaper, thus expressed itself: "The situation in Herzegovinia is becoming grave. Insurgents have attacked Trebigne, burning and pillaging in all directions. Three thousand men, chiefly Dalmatians and Montenegrins, are endeavoring to destroy communication detween Mostar and Hevicine; 1,500 Dalmatians and Herzegovinians are marching on Bochtocha. Montenegrins and Dalmatians are also aiding the insurgents with money and provisions. The presence of a with money and provisions. The presence of a Servian corps on the frontier also seems to furnish the insurgents encouragement."

AN UNPORTUNATE JOKE. - M. T. Bowden, a school teacher at St. James, La., filled a pocket with advertising imitation of greenbacks, and when somebody at the village store offered to bet on something he drew out a handful, saying "Make it $500 and I'll take you." The most of the bystanders saw the character of the supposed money, and laughed at the joke. Not so Karl Ahlberg, an ignorent Sweede, who regarded the bills as genuine and the amount as a fortune. Ahlberg entited Bowden into a stable, murdered him with a shovel, secured the worthless roll of paper, buried the body, and fled."

THE PACIFIC Commercial Adbertiser.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2. WE ARE indebted to His Excellency the Minister of Finance, for a copy of the Collector General's report of statistics of his Bureau for the third quarter of the present year. Although the report shows a decrease in some articles of our domestic exports, there is in others an increase; with an increase in the total valuation of $150,-748.82 over the corresponding period of last year, and an increase for the nine months of $91,732.78. This is certainly very encouraging, nasmuch as sugars are now invoiced so much ower than formerly-simply at what they are sold for. Considerable quantities of wool, hides, allow and sugar are on hand, awaiting shipment.

Two NEW joint-stock associations for the cultiration and manufacture of sugar have recently been chartered by government, to be known respectively as "The Wailuku Sugar Company," and "The Princeville Instation Company. These corporations are esta lished on the principle of limited liability, the charter of each containing a clause to the effect that "no stockholder shall individually be liable for the debts of the corporation beyond the amount which shall be due upon the share or shares held or owned by himself." The formation of companies on the plan indicated is a promising feature in the prosecution of our staple industry. While the limited liability clause precludes the possibility of the complications often arising in a regular partnership connection, the fact of the stock being held by individuals scattered here and there through the community will have the effect to make more generally felt the tide of prosperity which we predicate is in store for the sugar ousiness of the country.

EVERYWHERE, all over the world, the present year has been marked by meteorological eccentricities, and in this respect these Islands have been no exception. Besides the unusual or unseasonable weather, floods and hurricanes have been reported in Europe and America. Now the cause of all this irregularity, we read in late papers, is traced back or rather up to Jupiter. Star-gazers will perhaps notice something pecuiar in the appearance of this planet, especially if their attention is called to the subject. Jupiter is, in fact, passing through some stupendous changes, such as geologists say occurred on this earth before the ancestors of Adam lived; and such is the intimate connection between the two orbs-though so far separated by space-that over that in present use is readily seen. It is easy our own atmosphere is now agitated in sympathy of acquirement, not difficult to be remembered. with the convulsions above us. This, at any rate, and will be found most convenient when put into is the explanation given in Europe and America | practice. The present system is exactly the opfor a season made memorable by deluges and posite in all respects, and the proposed change will earthquakes, and for want of a better it may be be found beneficial to all. Another advantage to accepted as the true one

WHEN THE Legislature meets in April next we propose to again agitate the subject of the water supply of Honolulu; for the present, we shall only briefly allude to a plan which has been suggested, and by which it is thought the difficulties in the way of getting a full supply of moderately pure water for the city may be obviated.

It is well-knows, we apprehend, that a large part of the upper valley in which the Nuuanu stream has its sources is Crown land, and is held by private parties on a long lease. Now if government were to extinguish that lease by the payment of the round sum that is demanded for it, there would still be an annual rental to pay to the Crown. And then, having removed the cattle nuisance from the upper part of the valley, we should find several other cattle owners farther down, whose lands extend on both sides of the stream. So that, buying out these also, and getting rid of the cow-pasture altogether, would prove a rather expensive operation.

The plan which is suggested-and we believe that something similar was mooted several years ago-is to enclose a tank, by means of dams, at a point some three miles above the present reservoir, to be connected with the latter by a teninch pipe. The tank to be provided with a gate for periodically clearing out the deposit of silt. This plan would preserve in store all the water ever to be needed by the city in any emergency might fail. And it would at once reconcile us to our water goblets, while the cows might continue ERYSIPELAS. A disease has prevailed of late among the nafives, and to a limited extent among foreigners also, which is said to be a mild type of srysipelas. / We notice in our New Zenland exchanges that it had become almost epidemic there, and allusions to it are not infrequent in California. It is a painful disease-dangerous too, when it attacks the head-and requires skilful medical treatment; but in this, as in most other diseases, there is no uniform mode of treatment. The doctors differ, and some of them are not at all certain whether it is infectious or not. The general impression however is that it is infectious, to delicate and sensitive persons, having in their own constitutions a tendency to this class of disease. Such should be cautious in approaching any one afflicted with it. Having hunted up some authorities upon the nature and treatment of erysipelas, or St. Anthony's Fire, as it is sometimes called, a few remarks upon the subject may not be out of place.

This disease is generally superficial—that is, affecting only the skin; and most usually attacks the face, ears, and head; and sometimes only the hands, feet, and legs. It occasionally becomes deep-seated, and may gather and break. It is characterised by a shining red inflammation of the parts affected, accompanied by a fever, with more or less swelling, and a distressing irritation. It is apt to form a number of little blisters, which, in bad cases, run together, forming a seab. When the face is affected, the eyes will, perhaps, be closed, and the patient will suffer great pain in the head, thirst, restlessness, and perhaps delirium. It is not apt to form blisters disturbance. He pleaded that he was only helping on other parts of the body.

This disease undoubtedly arises from humors and impurities in the blood, which state of things may have been induced by derangement in the function of digestion. It also arises from wounds. Medical advice should be obtained at once. The treatment will probably commence with an kept for candidates at contested elections." emetic, and perhaps some anti-acid, such as magnesia, or chalk, or bicarbonate of soda will be used. Great importance is attached to the vapour bath or steaming. If the face is affected, some doctors steam the parts over a decoction of bitter herbs; some bathe with warm water and dredge with flour; some put the flour on dry; while others bathe with alcohol and water, and then cover with flour. A famous American cure is a poultice of cranberries and doses of burdock root, sassafras bark, and elder-flower tea. The patient should be confined to a comfortable temperature, and great care should be taken that there is no exposure to cold. Miss Clara Rose, of Philadelphia, had $7,000 expended - her Latin, French and German education, and then matried a man who has to buy his bufter half a pound at a time,

A COUPLE of years ago the Legislature of Iowa. affecting the melting mood, and dropping the pitying tear on account of a gentleman appointed to lie because of a mistaken idea of ownership in another gentleman's life, abolished capital punishment. The result has been an immense increase of capital crimes and a no less increase of lynchings, here, if anywhere and ever, comparatively excusa-At Des Moines, a short time since, there were nine murder cases, all new, on the docket of the Criminal Court. Six murders, some of them of peculiar atrocity (if there can be said to be a degree of atrocity in crimes against life) were reported in various parts of the State. Almost every jail in the State contains a wretch guilty of rape or incest, and offenses of this nature are literally of daily occurrence. The result will be the re-establishment of the gallows as soon as the next Legislature meets, and in the interim a good deal of irregular hanging. It is true that hanging is about as bad a use as a man can be put to, but it is no worse than that to which he puts his victim. An immense amount of ivory is daily consumed in the workshops of Europe and America, though a short supply and correspondingly high prices both for the crude and manufactured articles have now for many years characterized the industry. Great as is the quantity of this material now employed in different countries, the continent of Africa farnishes seven-eights of all that is worked up by the artisans of various nations-such as ornaments, toys, and crucifixes in France, heathen gods, boxes, and fans in India and China, billiard balls, boxes, miniature plates, chessmen, keys for pianofortes, and various other musical instruments, fans, combs, folders, dominoes, and a multitude of other things in England, Germany, and the United States. Though ivory and India are commonly associated together, it appears, in fact, that very little of the former comes from the latter. It is said that the most costly tusks, or portions of the tusks, are those which are used for billiard balls, and the latter has of late become a very important item of manufacture in America. A tusk of ivory weighing seventy pounds and upward is considered by dealers as first-class.

The Metric System.

An effort is now being made to have the French metric system of weights and measures brought into universal use. This system is based upon an invarying standard of measurement. The unit of the whole is the metre, which is a little more than thirty-nine of our inches in length, and is the one ten-millionth part of the distance from the pole to the equator. All the other measures of weight and capacity are derived from this. The gram is the weight of a centimeter of distilled water, and a litre is a cubic decimetre. The tables are arranged in decimal rotation, exactly as American money is computed. The advantage of this system be derived from the adoption of the metric system. is that the United States will then be in unison with the usage of most civilized nations. The system is now used by the French, Germans, Spaniards, Italians, Portuguese, Dutch, Belgians, Mexicans, Swiss, Austrians, Danes, Grecians, British in India. Brazilians, and a majority of the civilized inhabi tants of South America. It has also been legalized in Great Britain and in the United States-The adoption of it in America remains entirely with the people, and it is hoped it will soon be accomplished. A circular is being sent to all parts of the country, and is being extensively signed by architects, engineers and builders, who promise to adopt the system in their professional labors after the 4th of July, 1876. If this is done, it will be an apportant step toward the general adoption of the system by the whole people. The change of ecessity will be attended by some disadvantages. All the standards of measurement must be thrown aside as worthless, and new ones procured in their place, and for a time great confusion and loss will result from the change in prices, etc. But the advantages which will be ultimately secured will more than compensate for any temporary incon-

The Channel Tunnel.

The Paris correspondent of the Times has received the following letter from a person who is, he says, qualified to speak with authority on the question of the tunnel from England to France:--I promised you some information respecting the Submarine Tunnel as soon as the matter had assumed a positive shape. I was waiting till the of fire, or in the driest seasons when the springs | bill had been submitted to the Assembly; but several papers having already alluded to it, I think myself bound without further delay to give to roam over the valley at their own sweet wills. you some particulars on the chance of their interesting you. The convention signed between M. Caillaux, Minister of Public Works, and M. Michel-Chevalier, as representing a French company, is substantially to this effect: -- The Company undertakes within five years at the utmost to expend on French territory a minimum sum of 2,000,000 francs in investigations, experiments &c. At the expiration of five years it will have the right of abandoning or retaining the concession. It is bound to come to an understanding with an English Company furnished with the necessary powers to insure the construction and working. The period allowed for the execution of the works is fixed at 20 years. The term of the concession will be 99 years from the opening of the undertaking. The French Government pledges itself to authorise no other tunnel beween France and England for the next 30 years from the opening. The company has thus a monopoly of 30 years. These conditions have been submitted to Lord Derby, who declared he had no objection to them. The French company has been formed, and the 2,000, 000 francs subscribed in 400 shares of 5,000 francs each. The chief engineers of the enterprise will probably be Mr. Hawkshaw on the English side, and M. Lavally, the General Contractor of the Suez Canal, on the French side. I had forgotten to say that the esti-mate of the cost of the Submarine Tunnel has been calculated according to the outlay on French railways as regards everything applicable to the tunnel. The tariff, per kilometre has been considerably raised, but as the tunnel will have to compete with navigation the tariff will necessarily he governed by the convenience of the public.

Mr. E. A. Freeman, in one of his recent lectures at the London Institution, on "The Uses of the English Language," spoke of the newspaper use of the word "ovation," and told a funny story how, during the course of the Tichborne trial, a man was brought before a magistrate, charged with creating a to receive the "Claimant" with the customary ovation." When asked to explain what that was, he defined it as "hooting and yelling." Considering what "ovations" usually are, there was more truth than poetry in the man's definition. There is another Latin word from which "ovation" might also be derived; but the word, said Mr. Freeman. "meant an egg, and that sort of ovation was usually Love-has its silliness-no one will deny its weaknesses-but it has its divine side, too; chiefly, then. and not till then, comes the complete absorption of self into some other being, dearer and better, higher and nobler than one's self-or imagined so-which is the foundation of everything divine in human nature. If men or women are ever good at all, ever heroic, unselfish, self-denying, they will be so when they are in love. And if the love be worthy, that goodness will take root and grow. According to the accounts from Damascus, dated July 22d, the cholers was then raging there. Four hundred cases were reported daily; but the real number was concealed. The Christian quarters were deserted. Sudden deaths were occurring in the streets. There are no physicians nor medicines to supply the patients. The disease is also bad at Antioch, Deerhems, Hamah, Homan and Salijah, and among the Druses. The mission schools are closed and the children dispersed. The man who loves children and whom children instinctively love is always a man with a good anil

Cruiser, the celebrated horse whom John Rarey the famous horse tamer, brought under control 1851, after everybody else had given up the job, and brought from England to his farm at Grove-port. Ohio, has just died here, in his 23d year. From a most vicious brute he became so gentle that the people around the farm used to make a great pet of him, and his colts were noted for their kind disposition. In accordance with the directions of Mr. Rarey's will, he was given the kindest care in his old age. A Mr. Sheboldt, who lives now in Lucas county, O., but is a natve of Bohemia, has what might be called a baked Bible. It was formerly the property of his grandmother, a very devout Protestant, who was the victim of a good deal of religious persecution. An order was passed by the government ordering the seizure of every Bible for burning. When the old lady saw the officers of the law approaching the house to search it, she wrapped the book in a batch of dough and deposited it n a hot oven. It was thoroughly baked before she dared to take it out.

And even a resident, if he has half an hour to spare has nowhere to spend it to advantage. I believe then that what the town wants is a large library and reading room. Why will they not present themselves Hear and dullness are the leading characteristics for treatment and cure of their diseases to the doctor there provided? If the Board of Health do not know the reason, I will tell them. The people are treated like animals by that doctor. When he speaks to the angry manner, a loud voice and had words; and in applying remedies to zores or injuries, it is done carelessly. For these reasons, the people are afraid; the hospital is like a fiery furnace, and the doctor in which the Count de Chambord was advised to the hospital is like a flery furnace, and the doctor like a wild lion. Fear has fallen the people, and Time Changed .- As the season of short days is when once a person gets out of the dispensary, he favor of the Count de Paris The note is counider coming on, the Band will hereafter play from half- will not soon consent to go again before that cross, bad talking doctor. People who never went before, would then be found in the wards, and we would hear no more of death from the want of doctoring. But it is plain, that just so long as that evil acting and injurious doctor remains, so long will sickness and death continue among the poor people who do not go to the hospital. Honolulu, Sept. 29th, 1875. To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: SIR-I hope you have before this recovered from the effects of your spreading out by the Guzette cor-

I am not surprised that," Malihini" should complain of the thinness of the material he had to deal with, or that he found so little to spread out in studying your very perspicuous and pertinent remarks regarding the building of a steamer here. In fact, your argument was so reasonable and complete that Messrs. A. S. Cleghorn & Co's. Fort street store, you left him little to spread, and therefore you have from Kodostent. where he is rapidly disposing of the stock to make incurred "Malihini's" maledictions. He looked for room for new arrivals. We hear of good bargains bread and butter, and he found bread and scrape; to be had there, and we advise intending purchasers or perhaps, you buttered his bread on the wrong side, and in picking it up he greased his fingers, and got mad; and forthwith rushes to the Gazette with his last dying speech and confession, the views embodied therein representing those of the insignificant minority, the "Anti Steam Association." I feel sorry for "Malihini," my heart yearns to buy from him at a reduced figure the two old antiquated schooners he has laid up. I feel like putting in at my own expense a one or two horse-power windmill, (old screws of course) to enable him to make better time with his boats. I regret, on " Malihini's" account, that planters and producers have discarded these "belles of the ocean," and I am sick at heart to think that passengers prefer a blow up in our worn out steamer, rather than a blow back to the port from whence they started; and l am dismayed at the prospect that all the blowing that "Malihini" can do on behalf of his schooners, will not induce the public to patronize them.

The centennial of " Malihini's" birth cannot be far distant; the school to which he belongs is well nigh extinct. The "Malihini's" who opposed railroads and steamboats, because they owned stage coaches and canal packets, and considered there would be no further uses for men or horses, are, with their theo-ries exploded, and all that remain have escaped to the Sandwich Islands, to stay if possible the march of civilization and to show us benighted people how are by no means so regular in their habits. They to progress backwards. Let us be thankful they are

Come, come, " Malihi-A Port of Refuge .- Last Saturday, the arrival | ni;" none of your Rip van Winkle tricks, or think we shall credit you with having been asleep for the last forty years. "And if so," he continues, "are the Government to furnish it, I say No!" Well, "Mahilini" you can, if you like; but lay the flattering unction to your soul that your individual negative will be disregarded by the Government, and all who have the interests and progress of the country at heart. In answer to "Malihini's" pathetic appeal, I will say that I am not aware of any one who cannot get their produce to market some time or other; but I do know that the present steamer is patronized beyond her capabilities and powers, and that she is totally unfit and incompetent for the services required of her. But it would appear that Malihini would be satisfied if the steamer was built by private enterprise. "What right"—he exclaims, "have the Government to be in opposition to private enterprize?"—Does "Malihini" elect to hang up his enterprise exists here to undertake a work of such magnitude? Not he; he knows he might safely go to sleep for another forty years, and waking up find the steamer still unbuilt. Have other Governments failed to construct railways and steamers because the Pickfords and the Cobbs and other great carrying Companies have cried out on opposition? Look at what is going on at this moment in New Zealand —a country in many particulars resembling ours. Not only have they owned steamers which when not otherwise required have been placed open for freight and passengers—so important do they consider rapid and frequent inter-island communication—but they have inaugurated a mighty system of railway, at a cost of many sterling, which will, according to "Malihini's" theory, lay up 40 or 50 steamers and the fleet of sailing vessels which now perform their inter-provincial and inter-island trade. The Government is the father of the country; and if private enterprize does not show a disposition or capability to meet an imperative necessity, they have every right to step in and provide for the convenience of the people. If no other reason existed than the pos-sible exigencies of the public service, the political features of the case imperatively demand that the Government should absolutely control a steam vessel; and as they cannot afford to maintain one for state purposes alone, the public and the taxpayer is beneatted by the supplying of a convenience that cannot be furnished as cheaply or as efficiently by other means. If "Malihini's" hat peg is the other yard, no one will object to his proposal. I would simply suggest that instead of building two steamers (which are not both needed) that the new steamer be Twins, one twin to be furnished by each Lumber yard. It is rumored the Government intend immediate action. I venture to predict that many sounder men in this community than " Malihini" will be found, who will endorse their action and strengthen their hands. "Malihini's" firstly will not suffer in consequence, and his secondly will be carried out to the I am told the writer's signature implies a "strang-er." I apologize if my remark may seem in any way discourteous; but before taking leave of him I would

It is sur-mised the boy may be found after the trial is ended of Westervelt for complicity in the abduction.

Queen Victoria will have greatly added to her popularity with her subjects if it be true, as related by a London correspondent of an Eastern paper, that she insisted on the dismissal of Colonel Baker from the army on account of the insult he offered to a young lady in a railroad car. Baker had the interposition of the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Secretary at War in his behalf, but the Queen was immovable. He had disgraced the uniform he wore, and the offence was one that could not be passed over with impunity. But Baker's punishment, it is known, did not end here. Iron Hubb Wheelbarrows,

We are so accustomed to consider the solid earth to be the type of stability that it requires quite an effort of the mind to elevate itself to the thought that even the rocks, which appear to be the foundation on which everything else rests, are of an unstable nature, subject to upheavals, depressions, and dislocations. Every observing mind that has seen bold mountain regions, railroad cuttings, or mining shafts, must have been struck with the evidences of mighty disturbances, although, perhaps, a book on geology never came under his eye. It is the study of these disturbances which has created this science, one of the most interesting in the whole field of homan knowledge. It was formerly supposed that the only cause of such changes was volcanic action, and that all the metamorphoses which have taken place were sudden and violent. The observations of volcanic action and of the changes which it rapidly produces in the earth's surface necessarily led to such conclusions; but patient investigation, during long periods of time, has led to the knowledge of a mode of change, formerly unsuspected, by slow upheavals and depressions, taken place gradually at a rate of one or more feet in a century. Such changes have been and are now con-stantly taking place, and necessarily must, if prolonged for a sufficiently long period of time, essentially change the earth's surface, not only as to the relative heights of continents and islands, but, in connection with the ocean, as to the whole cosmography of our globe.

We will not speak of the supposed continent
Atlantis, mentioned by the ancient mythological writers, which was, they asserted, sunken in the Atlantic Ocean; but we will mention only positive facts, recorded as a result of careful observation. That the coasts and bottom of the Baltic sea are rising is an old and well established fact, the ancient shores being several thousand feet from the present water's edge; while Great Britain and part of the west coast of Europe, Holland, Belgium and France are in a sinking condition. The evidences in and around the British channel have long since proved the pro-Cases Downer's Kerosene Oil. BREWER & CO. announced that minute observations prove that Greenwich observatory, with the ground upon which it stands, has been sinking ever since its establishment. In regard to our continent, it has been proved that the whole Pacific coast, especially California, with all its mountains, is perpetually rising, and that at a comparatively rapid rate. The land containing in its bosom our great American lakes is slowly sinking; while southern Indiana, Kentucky, and the surrounding States are rising. Geological investigations prove that our great lakes, except Ontario, had formerly a southern outlet; until, by gradual northern depressions and southern upheavals, a northern outlet was formed from Lake Eric into Ontario, about 40,-000 years ago. This outlet, the Niagara river, is still wearing away its channels. The division line, of the watershed south of the lakes and the Mississippi valley, has since that time been steadily traveling southward, and when Chicago recently turned the water of Lake Michigan. through the Chicago river, into the Mississippi valley, the old state of affairs was artificially re

New Jersey is sinking, with New York city and Long Island, at the estimated rate of sixteen inches per century. The coast of Texas is ascending at a comparatively very rapid rate, some observers stating that it is as much as thirty or forty feet in the last half century. Combining these observations with the results of the recent deep soundings of the United States steamer Tuscarora in the Pacific Ocean, we find that the bed is evidently a sunken continent, abounding in volcanic mountains some 2,000 feet high, many of them not reaching the surface of the ocean, and others which do so forming the numberless islands of the Pacific. The study of the coral rocks proves that this sinking has continually been taking place during several centuries, and observations of the coast will undoubtedly reveal that it has not yet ceased. FORT & QUEEN STS.

The most eminent German geologists and ethnologists now maintain that the locality of man's primitive origin, the seat of the so-called Paradise, was in the Pacific occan south of Asia, whence the race slowly diffused itself northward to Asia, westward to Africa, and eastward to Australia. When the great Pacific continent slowly sank, so that the ocean commenced filling the valleys, man retreated to the mountains, which, by continued sinking, were transformed into islands, and now form the many groups of Polynesia. The insularity of the thus preserved races was not productive of civilization, which requires conflict, in which the superior in the end gain the victory over the inferiors. In those islands, the inferior races were preserved for want of this conflict, hence their savage condition even at the present day; while primitively the greatest advance took place at the spot of the most intense conflict, the continent of Southern Asia. Even at the present day, it has been said that gunpowder is the greatest civilizer .- Scientific

The Unwritten Side of Great Men.

We always think of great men as in the act of performing deeds which give them renown, or else in stately repose, grand, silent, and majestic. And yet this is hardly fair, because the most gracious and magnificent of human beings have to bother themselves with the little things of life which engage the attention of us smaller people. No doubt Moses snarled and got angry when he had a severe cold in his head, and if a fly bit his leg while he was in the desert, why should we suppose he did not jump and use violent language, and rub the sore place? And Cæsar—isn't it tolerably certain he used to become furious when he went up stairs to get his slippers in the dark and found that Calphurnia had stowed them under the bed so that he had to sweep around for them wildly with a broom handle? And when Solomon cracked his crazybone is it unreasonable to suppose that he ran around the room and felt as if he wanted to cry? Imagine George Washington sitting on the edge of the bed and putting on a clean shirt, and growling at Martha because the buttons were off; or St Augustine with an apron round his neck, having his hair cut; or Joan of Arc holding her front hair in her mouth, as women do, while she fixed up her back hair; Napoleon jumping out of bed in a frenzy to chase a mosquito around the room with a pillow; or Martin Luther, in a night shirt, trying to put the baby to sleep at two o'clock in the morning; or Alexander the Great with the hiccoughs; or Thomas Jefferson, getting suddenly over a fence to avoid a dog; or the Duke of Wellington with the mumps; or Daniel Webster, abusing his wife because she hadn't tucked the covers at the foot of the bed; or Benjamin Franklin paring his corns with a razor; or Jonathan Edwards, at the dinner table, wanting to sneeze just as he had got his mouth full of hot beef; or Noah standing at his window at night throwing bricks at a cat. -Max Adeler.

DISRAELI AND THE PRINCE OF WALES .- A little tiff is said to have occurred between the Marquis of Salisbury and Mr. Disraeli about the Prince of Wales' visit to India. A few days ago Mr. Disraeli had heard so little of the preparations that were being made for the Prince's journey that he sent across to the Indian office for information. He thereupon found that Lord Salisbury and the Prince had pretty well arranged between them all that was necessary. The Premier was in so high dudgeon that he had not been consulted, that he made something like a threat that the Treasury might refuse to find the money, whereupon Lord Salisbury responded, "Well, then, it shall come out of the Indian Exchequer." A still better anecdote is current about the Premier and the Sultan of Zanzibar. At their interview the other day the Sultan asked, through Dr. Badger, the interpreter, whether the Grand Vizier of this country was in fear of the dagger or of poison, as was frequently the case with Prime Ministers in the East. "No." replied Mr. Disraeli, "nebody eyer envies the Grand Vizier in this country—they only pity him. -- Corr. Newark Advertiser
