JAPANESE MASS MEETING BACKS UP STRIKING FIELD LABORERS

Ewa Men Stop Work for a "Holiday" --Sheriff Warns Waipahu Men Not to Molest Chinese.

A thousand Japanese, more or less, who crowded into the Asahi Theater last night, adopted a mass meeting resolution proposed by Makino and Negoro, which in substance was that the Japanese of Honolulu were united in their support of the strikers and would remain so until the strikers "finally won their victory."

The meeting was full of bombastic speech, intended to inflame the minds of the auditors, and there were frequent thrusts not only at the Japanese press which is not in line with the views of the agitators, but at all three of the daily English newspapers. Among the speakers were Messrs. Makino, Negoro and newspaper editors conducting the strike agitation in their papers. Mr. Lightfoot, adviser of the High Wage Association, made a speech which was interpreted into Japanese by Negoro. He said:

Lightfoot's Speech.

"I am not going to say anything to you about the reasons for the strike. You know the reason why you struck better than I. You know that for the work you do in those hot cane fields, in the sweltering heat of the tropic sun, you are not getting money enough. You know that on many of the plantations of the Hawaiian Islands the stockholders are getting all the way from 20 to 30 per cent. for their investments, which means that for every $100 they put in a year they are getting from $20 to $30 back again. Now if the plantations were not making enormous sums of money, if they were losing money, I believe the Japanese of the Territory would come to the help of the planters and say, 'We will be willing to work for less wages until you make money,' but when they are making millions upon millions you should share some of those profits."

"You know it is your right and they know it is your right. I believe that the Japanese of this Territory love to do the right, and when they find out what the right is, they will do it in spite of everything."

"When, a few years ago, the Japanese thought it right to go to war with Russia, they did not stand and say, 'Shall we go to war?' but they went and they fought, although they lost thousands of their citizens, yet they fought to the bitter end. When every one of you is dead, your children and grandchildren will say this, 'My ancestors fought at Port Arthur and they went up and took those terrible guns and had to do it over the bodies of their comrades by thousands.'"

"And I believe, also, that your sons and grandsons will point with pride to the fact that their fathers and grandfathers inaugurated this strike for higher wages in the Territory of Hawaii in the year 1909."

"But that is not what I came here to say to you tonight. I want to talk to you for a few minutes, if Mr. Makino will let me, about the newspapers."

"Now I am not going to tell you anything about my dear friends of the Hawaii Shippo, nor of the Chronicle. I wish I had the pictures of the editors here, for I think you would say that they had long ears like the other donkey. Now, the P. C. Advertiser and the Honolulu Star and the Bulletin are keeping themselves very busy about this strike situation. I don't know whether the Japanese whistle, but we have a saying in England that when little boys go through a graveyard at night they whistle to keep up their courage. Now, these good haole newspapers of ours, knowing they are going to get a licking, whistle and make a big noise to keep up their courage."

"There is another reason why they whistle and make a big noise, and that is to try and scare the Japanese strikers and their sympathizers and friends away, but unless I make a big mistake, the kind of men they have to deal with are not easily scared."

"They have another reason, and that is to give our friends of the Shippo and Chronicle some ideas so they can put something in their newspapers. They tell you that 300 Hawaiians are going to Aiea to work in the cane fields and mill. Just imagine! Did any of you ever see 300 Hawaiians working in a cane field or mill? If you find three Hawaiians working in a cane field, bring them here and we will put them in a glass case and send them to the Bishop Museum. We are not very much afraid of the 300 Hawaiians."

"Now the next way they are trying to scare us is this: They say they are going to send to Europe for Europeans to work in the cane fields. They have done that before, but where are the Europeans today? The next way they try is this: They say this strike has nothing to do with the laborers, but is the work of the agitators Makino and Negoro. Call them agitators or leaders it makes no difference as long as the strike is a success and just believe me they will lead you to victory."

"Now just another word about these newspapers. In this morning's Advertiser there is a letter from a man who I am sure has very long ears, who says that we ought all to be arrested for conspiracy. Now that is as stupid as ridiculous and only a fool would talk that way. But if they want to arrest us let them bring their policemen and soldiers to arrest the thousand men whom I see before me tonight and a pretty time they will have to do it."

"You are fighting a good fight; you are fighting for your rights; you are fighting a fight which is just. Continue until you win!"

Sheriff at Waipahu.

Sheriff Jarrett and interpreter Townsend went to Waipahu late yesterday afternoon, and on arrival found a big meeting of Japanese strikers—estimated at about a thousand men. The Sheriff sent word he was coming to the meeting and on arrival there the crowd opened up and let the officers in and then closed around them. The Sheriff said he had merely come to the laborers to caution them against threatening the laborers of other nationalities and instanced the Chinese laborers who, rumor had said, were being intimidated. He told them that it would be wise to leave the other nationalities alone. At the conclusion of his short speech the leaders consulted and then notified the Sheriff that they would abide by his advice and no intimidation would be offered. The Sheriff then visited the Chinese and Korean camps and notified them that they could continue to work without fear of molestation.

Rice and Vegetables.

A hundred bags of rice arrived at Waipahu yesterday from Honolulu and two carloads of vegetables came in from other plantations the day before, all for the strikers. It is stated on good authority that the Japanese storekeepers at Waipahu, when the strike was decided upon, withdrew credit and announced that they would do business on a cash basis only. The strikers have made demands upon the Japanese house servants working at Waipahu to join the strike and this request was acceded to, even the two or three clerks in the big plantation store failing to show up for work. Took Away Ford Islanders.

It is said that at the first meeting of the Japanese to consider a strike at Aiea the first vote was not in favor of the strike, but later everything went the way the agitators wished. The Ford Island Japanese refused to join their striking brethren. During the night some of the strikers procured big boats and rowed over to the island, visited the quarters of the hundred men working under a Japanese contractor and before morning every one of the hundred had been rowed to the mainland and are still with the strikers.

Letter to Manager Ross.

The following letter was sent to Manager Ross received a reply from the committee of the Honolulu Plantation strikers thanking him for his courtesy in answering their letter of demands, and stating that the demands came from them voluntarily and not from or through outsiders. They add also that they have heard that the strike-breakers, who went down to the plantation today to keep work going were receiving $1.25 per day, and that, under the circumstances, they feel that they should be paid the $1 per day they have demanded.—Richard Ivers of W. G. Irwin & Co., agents for Honolulu (Aiea) Plantation.

There is no change at the Oahu (Waipahu) Plantation. Manager Bull has replied to the strikers and he does not accede to their requests. Extra police protection has been afforded the Chinese laborers who are still at work and who have been threatened with violence if they do not line up with the strikers, or at least stop work.—F. Klamp, of H. Hackfeld & Co., agents for Oahu Plantation.

"There is no change in the situation at Ewa Plantation where all the Japanese laborers struck today. I do not know that they will return to work Saturday as intimated. We have no assurance that they will or even on Monday. We have enough men of other nationalities working to move the cut cane to the mill and grind it, but the standing cane will have to remain standing."—T. H. Petrie, secretary of Castle & Cooke, agents for Ewa Plantation.

ager Ross of Honolulu plantation yesterday: Aiea, City and County of Honolulu, May 14, 1909.

Mr. George Ross, Manager, Honolulu Plantation Co., Aiea. Dear Sir: We have the honor to acknowledge your favors of the 12th and 13th inst., and we thank you for the courteous tone of your communications. We sympathize with you of the difficulties confronting in consequence of the strike. But as the request for the increased pay is our own desire, free from outside influence, we beg to respectfully request you to consider and grant our request.

We respectfully submit that our request is not unreasonable nor unfounded for we learn from the newspaper report that you have offered $1.25 a day to the natives in Honolulu, and we also know that the Chinese, who are now working in your plantation, is being paid one dollar a day and given board and lodging besides. We respectfully offer that if you give us one dollar a day for ordinary field hands, and proportional increase for other laborers,

$14,000 TO GAIN MORE THAN $2,000,000

At last night's mass meeting of the Japanese Higher Wage Association, Negoro made the statement that he had figured out the increase which the Japanese would obtain by striking all over the Islands, estimating it as over two millions. He said it was worth while spending $12,000 to $14,000 just to gain this amount of increase, and urged all Japanese to stick to the strike and win out, if possible.

PROMOTION COMMITTEE INVITES BURROUGHS TO VISIT VOLCANO

Through the courtesy of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, Joan Burroughs, the famous student of nature and author of many books on the subject, will probably make a week's visit to the volcano of Kilauea. Yesterday, through Secretary H. P. Wood, an invitation was issued the venerable nature-lover to take the trip at the expense of the Committee. If Mr. Burroughs accepts the invitation he will doubtless leave on the Mauna Kea next Tuesday. Mr. Burroughs is not at all certain when he will return to the mainland, being unable to secure any definite booking on the steamers. He had expected to make a stay of not to exceed two weeks here and his plans were to that effect, but he has discovered that he will be lucky if he secures steamer accommodations within a month.

LIQUOR BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Woolley Makes Suggestions to the Commissioners at Hearing.

A meeting of the Board of Liquor License Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon in the throne room at the Capitol and expressions of opinion heard from John G. Woolley, representing the Anti-Saloon League and Attorney E. C. Peters in the behalf of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association and R. J. Buchly of Peacock & Co., Ltd.

Mr. Woolley and Attorney Peters made a number of suggestions to the members of the Board which they thought would have a beneficial effect upon the regulation of the liquor traffic on the Island of Oahu.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Woolley stated that the Board must realize that they were dealing with a dangerous business, an acknowledged peril to the public, and that they were vested with large powers of executive discretion in the enforcement of the laws. He stated that he was opposed to a wholesaler holding a retailer's license, and that a man conducting a retail saloon should give it his personal attention, and that a wholesaler should not conduct a string of saloons as a side issue. The second objection, voiced by Mr. Woolley, was that no rectifier should have a retail license, and he added that he had been informed that liquor of very poor quality was being placed on the market in Honolulu. Mr. Buchly denied that the rectifiers had any hand in the manufacture of impure spirits, and stated that it was under the full control of the officers of the Federal Government.

The Sunday Privilege.

Mr. Woolley also stated that the Sunday privilege should be either entirely abrogated or greatly curtailed. He said that he was not "speaking as a fanatical temperance reformer" but insisted that at the very least the cases in which the privilege had been abused and the law flouted, should receive the earnest attention of the commission, and the penalties of revocation of license invoked with merciless vigor when it was found that the law had been violated. He said that the bona fide meal clause in the law relating to the serving of intoxicating liquors by restaurants should receive more attention and that the "sandwich scheme was a farce and a disgrace."

Emphatic objection was raised by Mr. Woolley to the granting of a license to conduct a resort in proximity to the reservation at Lihue. He said that it was rumored that such an application would be made. He declared that it was the expressed command of the Congress of the United States that liquor should not be sold upon the reservations, and that in granting the license the Board of License Commissioners would be abetting an evasion of the law promulgated at Washington.

Attorney Peters stated that The Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association was anxious to cooperate with the Commissioners in the enforcement of the law and that it was distinctly to their advantage to have the regulations applied with energy and effect.

Following the discussion the Board went into executive session to consider twenty-three applications for renewals of liquor licenses.

He is living with Charles Eagan, a son of General Eagan, who was at one time a resident of Oahu. "Bert said he had some plans and schemes which he hoped would make him worth a couple of million in two years," said Mr. Desky yesterday.

SOME ADVICE FROM A FEW DISSATISFIED

Commenting on the mission of A. J. Campbell, as agent of the Immigration Board, to Europe in search of settlers and laborers for Hawaii, some of the Portuguese whose relatives came out as immigrants a couple of years ago state that whatever policy the board decides upon, there should be no overstatement of what advantages there may be here, and no under-rating of the cost of living and opportunities to make a living.

Some of the Portuguese arriving here two years ago are making an effort to return home, and have written back that they do not want their little places there sold. They state that in their native land they have a little home and truck garden at least, goats which supply the household with milk, and that the embroidery and fancy-work produced by the women find a ready market in New York. They claim that in Hawaii they do not have the same advantages, and the cost of living is higher than at home, and it is hard to make enough money to keep a large family. There is no market for embroidery.

BARON ROTHSCHILD IS ON NIPPON MARU

Baron Rothschild, a young man of the Austrian branch of the famous European family, is a passenger on the Nippon Maru, bound for the United States, where, it is said, he will go grizzly-bear hunting. The Baron is accompanied by a valet and by Captain Schwickert of the Austrian Navy.

"Mr. Oskar Rotsberg and valet" is the way the Baron is booked on the passenger list of the Nippon. The youthful scion—he is scarcely out of his teens—of the multi-millionaire family is reputed to have a great dislike to notoriety; ergo, the assumed name. Young Rothschild has been on a hunting expedition in India with Captain Schwickert for some time past, and is said to have suddenly developed a thirst for the blood of the great American grizzly. After leaving India the young Baron spent some time in Java. Just how long he intends remaining in the States is not known.

ADMIRAL URIU WHO FIRED FIRST GUN IN RUSSIAN WAR

Rear-Admiral Uriu of the Imperial Japanese Navy, the commander whose squadron was first to engage Russian warships in the Russo-Japanese war, arrived in Honolulu yesterday on the Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamer Nippon Maru, en route to Annapolis to attend the banquet given by his class at the Academy, that of '83. The distinguished officer is accompanied by Madame Uriu and members of his family.

Consul General Uyeno and Elve Consul Abe with Secretary Ito, went aboard the Nippon Maru as soon as she arrived and greeted the Admiral and took the party to the consul's new residence in Nuuanu avenue. The party, including Editor Sheba of the Hawaii Shimpō, then went by auto to many places of interest, including the Bishop Museum, the Aquarium, through Kapiolani Park, and called on ex-Governor Cleghorn at Aiea, but unfortunately found that gentleman absent.

The party was entertained at dinner at the consular residence after which the invitation of Mr. Sheba to visit his home was accepted. The party remained overnight at the Mochizuki Club.

Admiral Uriu is enthusiastic over Hawaii and he expressed the wish to remain here longer, but he must reach Annapolis the first part of June. He says that the Japanese nation desires to live peacefully and to assimilate with people of other nations. As for himself he considers the United States his second home. Madame Uriu was educated in the United States and both speak English fluently.

The eldest daughter of Admiral and Madame Uriu is married to a Mr. Yamashita, a cousin of Mr. Sheba.

Charles Warren Stoddard

Burton Kline in Boston Transcript.

Four years ago Charles Warren Stoddard, then living among his friends in the East, was seized with one of his yearnings for change and movement, and thought to refresh himself with a visit to California and the scenes of his youth. He settled at Monterey, planning some work and a return to the East at the end of it. On Saturday came the news of his death. He had been ill for three months. His last letters East were weary in tone, with news of illness and hopes for a return to the Atlantic shore. He came of a long-lived race and there was no immediate note of death in his condition. But heart failure brought the sudden and fatal turn, and his years were ended at sixty-five.

Certain salient facts can be hurriedly snatched from the record of his crowded life. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., on August 7, 1843, the son of Samuel Burr Stoddard—who died in San Francisco not long ago at a great age—and Harriet Freeman Stoddard. In his twelfth year his parents moved to California, and there he continued in the common school education with which he began in the East. But after two years he returned alone to New York State again and remained there in school till 1859, when he once more journeyed to California and rejoined his family. He entered the University of California, but ill health prevented his finishing the course.

In San Francisco he early fell in with Bret Harte and Mark Twain and began writing verse and prose sketches, many of them for Bret Harte's magazine, The Pacific Monthly. In 1864 he made the first of five journeys to Hawaii, till then little visited by the foreigner. The exotic life there quickened his creative impulse and gave it its permanent bent. At his best no writer ever surpassed him, and only Lafcadio Hearn and Pierre Loti have ever equaled him in the interpretation of those bizarre peoples and lives which fringe the edges of Anglo-Saxon supremacy and warm it and teach it so much. At the age of twenty-eight Charles Warren Stoddard, already the author of a volume of verse, some of it of immortal beauty, published his "South Sea Idylls." The book instantly became a classic and gave him his place in our literature.

On his second voyage to Hawaii Mr. Stoddard preceded by five years Fr. Damien, but paid a visit to the leper colony on Molokai, afterward to wring the sympathies of all America, and left a wonderfully written record of his visit and his impressions in the little book, "The Lepers of Molokai." Fifteen years later still, on his last journey to the Islands, Mr. Stoddard was a guest of Father Damien, then become the apostle of the lepers, and did much to establish that martyr's true position in public regard.

Meanwhile the young Mr. Stoddard had written much descriptive and interpretative matter for magazines and newspapers in the Golden State. He had tried his powers on the stage—to abandon it as speedily as he might. But most of all, he had built the foundation of an acquaintanceship that soon included every person of distinction in his time, of all varieties of station and profession, from Bret Harte to Kipling, from Prentice Mulford to Ada Isaacs Menken, Robert Louis Stevenson early gave him a friendship that made a glow in the lives of both men. Stevenson was then the unsettled and struggling Stevenson of the San Francisco period—the period commemorated in San Francisco's beautiful monument to his visit. Stoddard was then occupying a quaint, almost a crazy, old cabin on the crest of Telegraph Hill. It was a long and dreary climb to his door, and Stevenson made it often—very often without finding his host. That was why Stoddard one day found tucked under his door a postal card on which Stevenson had scribbled these good-humoredly vexed, impromptu lines:

"O Stoddard! in our hours of ease,
Despondent, dull and hard to please,
When coins and business wrack the brow,
A most infernal nuisance, thou!

"O Stoddard! if to man at all,
To me unwell thy face—
At least to me—
Who at thy club and also in this place
Unwearied have not ceased to call,
Stoddard, for thee!

"I scatter curses by the row,
I cease from swearing never;
For men may come and men may go,
But Stoddard's out forever."

In 1873 Mr. Stoddard was sent by the San Francisco Chronicle on a long tour over the world as a random correspondent. In that character he roamed for four years, living for a time in Rome, passing a longer period with artist friends in Munich, and rambling as far east as Palestine and Egypt. The Chronicle restricted him neither as to time nor space, and some of his best work appeared in the columns of that newspaper, much of it never afterward reprinted.

In 1885, weary of his wanderings, Mr. Stoddard agreed to settle down as professor of English literature at Notre Dame University. Ill health for a period drove him to Kentucky. In 1889 he accepted a corresponding post at the Catholic University in Washington, when that institution was opened. In 1903 he came to Cambridge, Mass., to settle down to literary production. But he had hardly begun on his independent life when he was seized with a serious illness, a suffusion of the brain, that almost proved fatal. Thanks to his marvelous vitality, he recovered, and almost immediately put forth his last and not least book, "The Island of Tranquil Delights," somewhat in the vein of his "South Sea Idylls," and picturing the same scenes and life. Numerous magazine contributions followed this, but it remained his last considerable work. For in 1905 came his journey back to California, and with it a slow decay of his productive powers and possibly of his health. On Saturday came the death of a picturesque character, a lovable man, and a writer whose eminence and position in our literature must be left to the critic to fix.

In his long but not feverishly fertile lifetime Charles Warren Stoddard put forth these varied books: Poems, 1867; South Sea Idylls, 1873; Marshallah, A Flight into Egypt, 1881; The Lepers of Molokai, 1885; A Troubled Heart, 1885; Lazy Letters from Low Latitudes (about Hawaii), 1894; The Wonder Worker of Padua, 1896; A Cruise Under the Crescent, 1898; Over the Rocky Mountains to Alaska, 1899. Interpersed among these, and after them, were many contributions, in verse and prose, to magazines. In 1903 appeared "Exits and Entrances," a volume of studies and reminiscences of Stevenson, Bret Harte, George Eliot, and of others, and of localities visited. Later came Mr. Stoddard's one venture into fiction, the novel, "For the Pleasure of His Company," written at the suggestion of Kipling, and named by him. Last of all appeared "The Island of Tranquil Delights."

The news of his death will bring a personal pang to all lovers of his books, for no personality shone out so vividly as his from his pages, in its sparkle and geniality and warmth. To very many people the passing of Charles Warren Stoddard will mean an irreparable social loss, a little continent swept off their world forever. From our literature is undoubtedly removed a considerable figure, whose real bulk is probably greater than has yet been accorded it. Neither does this brief notice sum up the total of a life so packed with incident and crowded with movement and endeavor as his. When his biography comes to be written it will picture, besides a very notable artist, one of the sunniest and most lovable natures that ever lived.

SLEUTHS FIND THE LOST GAME

Officers of 7th Infantry Find Atkinson Park and Beat Fort Shafter.

This is the story of how seven military Sherlock Holmes traveled all over town and found a baseball game. When they found that game they were so pleased at the result of their sleuth-like efforts that they borrowed three men—one of the officers said he was a detective, and not a baseball player—and put it all over the officer men from the Twentieth unmercifully to the tune of 13 to 2.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at Aala Park. Yesterday morning it was changed to Atkinson Park and word was sent to the transport Sheridan, but nobody seems to have got the message.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon there was quite a crowd assembled to witness the game between the officers of the Twentieth and Seventh Infantry, but there were no players there. Finally, in twos and threes, the Seventh representatives came on the field. They said that they wanted a ball game, they would have a ball game, and they intended to find that ball game.

Lieutenant McEntle was Sherlock-in-chief and he soon had scouts running up the different telephones. "Ha ha, a clue," he cried when one returned and said it was to be at Punahou. "We shall advance on Punahou," and they did.

Accompanied by a score of fans who were bound to see the game, they boarded a King street car and transferred to Punahou. But Alexander field was bare, and the lower field was taken up with a practise game of the college team.

But the chief sleuth found another clue. Somebody said Atkinson Park, and then came the question of how to get there.

First they tried Aala Park. No baseball game was there; so they took a ride to Punahou. But that diamond, too, was bare.

Atkinson Park the place, they heard. Sans auto, hack or bike, there was only one thing for them to do—

They had to get out and hike.

"Tramp, tramp, shirts are getting damp. Oh, shall we ever get there ere it's dark? But march we must, through mud and dust,

From Punahou to Atkinson Park."

And they did hike. In spite of the poor meter of the last line of the chorus, they set both feet foremost, and, led by the Sherlock-in-chief, started down the road to King street, where they hoped to catch another clue from the conductor of the car.

Clue in a Hack. Presently a hack was discovered. The driver was held up and searched for clues as to the location of Atkinson Park. He announced his innocence of all complicity in the crime, but agreed to carry as many as could pile in. But two scouts were told off to take the hack while the other sleuths waited for the car.

The scouts found Atkinson Park first and discovered the other baseball team vigorously practising and wondering where the Seventh players were. When the rest of the contingent arrived and the leader explained the methods he had used to find the ground, intense admiration of a true Watsonian kind was expressed, and then began the matter of selecting teams.

The Game Is Started. The Seventh had six players and one who agreed to play under compulsion, but, luckily, there were some Marines practising, and three of them were pressed into the service of the mere Infantry.

The lineups were all made up and a vote taken as to whether the game should last five or only three innings. The majority favored five innings and it was so ordered. Then the mighty ball-tossers of the Seventh, fresh from their trip on the ocean, began to loosen up for the game. When Davis, the pitcher for the visitors, began to wind for a practise pitch, there were cries of awe on all sides. "Is it possible," they said, "that a man can so wind himself into knots and yet unfurl again?" Yea, it was possible, and with terrible vehemence did he spurt the ball over the plate.

An Errorless (?) Game. The recorder of events was surrounded by eight husky officers. They said, "You shall keep score, and, beware, this must be an errorless game." It was. The official score shows it.

Then the Seventh master batters went in to bat. They scored five runs in that first inning. There were three hits, but no errors. No, merely a few misjudgments of distances. But what fun it was to watch those good officer men romp round the bases. They were having more fun than a bunch of kids let out of school.

Then the Fort Shafter aggregation had a try. But what a fat chance they had with the gang of impeccable ball-pounders from the transport! "Chance?" Not a look-in, not even a clue. The game was full of fun from beginning to end. Perhaps the funniest part of all was in the last inning, when Sherlock Holmes McEntle swatted a real, live, truly rural home run.

It was a wanger, a banger, a whim-doodle, and the ball went nearly into the ocean. But the detective man was too careless. He thought his disguise was perfect and nobody would see him cut second base. This spoilt two runs, for he was running so hard that he had caught up the man who was on second when he started, and it was decided that both were out, as the other runner was not home when the culprit cut second.

The official—please note the "official"—score was as follows:

OFFICIAL DRAW FOR GOLF TODAY

These are the official drawings for the Country Club tournament this afternoon. All those who wish to get in the game, but have not yet entered, may still do so by entering today, in which case their names will be added to the list and they will play on either side according to the order in which their names are entered.

The drawings are as follows: Charles Hartwell vs. T. Gill, H. B. Giffard vs. Frank Armstrong, George Angus vs. Dr. C. B. High, E. O. White vs. J. C. Evans, H. H. Walker vs. H. A. Wilder, A. Ewart vs. F. W. Klebahn, S. G. Wilder vs. J. O. Young, E. J. Waterman vs. F. C. Smith, E. Munroe vs. S. Beardmore, Charles Weight vs. W. Simpson, H. Cobb vs. C. Kimball, H. C. Carter vs. Mark Robinson, W. W. Thayer vs. George R. Carter, Mr. Babson vs. W. C. Wilder, George Isenberg vs. F. L. Waldron, H. A. Walker vs. I. Spalding.

Those who are not on this list, please get their entries in as early this morning as possible. Other entries will be put on one side or the other in rotation as their names come in.

Twosomes may start playing at any time they like during the afternoon as long as they begin early enough to finish before the call for supper comes along. It is up to each player to pair off and start at the time most convenient to his opponent and himself.

The bus will start running at noon and will keep running all the afternoon and evening until the last car. The chowder will be of the usual sumptuous variety, and the smoking concert in the evening is warranted to bring out the best of the club's talent, and that is of no mean order. The event today will be one of the best of its kind the club has ever pulled off.

SCHOOL GAMES ON KAM. FIELD

The interscholastic games will be at Kamehameha this afternoon. The first game will start at 1:30 and will be between High School and Punahou, the second game will be Kamehameha and St. Louis.

Of course, the main excitement of the day will be provided by the first game. These two teams have met twice and each has won a hard fought game, the second one going to ten innings. Punahou, from tagging along at the tail end has worked up to first place and it is up to High School to win today if they are going to have a grab at the pennant.

There is still an unplayed game from last Wednesday between the Saints and the High School which was stopped by the rain. If High had won they would have been tied with Punahou, as it is they are second with the Saints third and the Kams fourth.

A victory by the High School will tie them for first place, and a victory for the Kams will change their place with the Saints. The situation is still exciting enough to please the most pessimistical fan and it is expected that there will be a large crowd out to watch the games. Let us all hope that the weather will be fine. Doc. Monarrat is requested to fix this matter and give it proper attention this time.

The postponed Saint-High game will probably be played on Monday at Alexander field as the Kams are scheduled to play Punahou that day.

SOME CHANGES IN GOLF RULES

NEW YORK, May 1.—All clubs holding membership in the United States Golf Association are being supplied with books of the new rules containing the American interpretations. In some instances clubs have sent for a sufficient number of extra copies to supply all their members, as it is quite the thing these days for devotees of the game, to make a study of the rules. Already several well-known players, through thoughtlessness, have got into difficulties.

Even on the other side, shortly after the new St. Andrew's rules went into effect, James Braid early in a match proceeded to brush the line of his putt, whereupon his opponent, promptly claimed the hole. That probably will serve to keep this change fresh in the open champion's memory.

This rule, however, is not so drastic as some seem to think. While brushing the line of putt is prohibited, the rule also states that wormcasts, snow and ice may be scraped aside with the club, but the club must not be laid with more than its own weight on the ground nor may anything be pressed down, either with the club or in any other way. At match play a violation of this rule incurs a loss of the hole, while at medal play the penalty is two strokes.

There is now no loophole for those who have ever sought to bar stimpies. For instance, rule 7 states that "when the balls are in play the ball farthest from the hole shall be played first." The special rule 1 reads: "On the putting green, if the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole should play first, his ball shall be at once replaced."

The penalty for a breach of this rule is the disqualification of both competitors. As a further check, special rule 2 provides that a competitor shall not waive any penalty incurred by his opponent under penalty of disqualification.

Other points to be remembered this season are that a player is allowed a clear putt to the hole on a green where there is casual water; that a shot out of bounds from the tee may be re-teed, but that the green only dropped; that a practise swing is permissible more than a club's length from the ball and that players looking for a lost ball must signal to others to pass and must not wait until they go by and are out of range.

Sport Notes

There will be polo practise at Moanalua this afternoon. Here is a chance for some of the new ones to get in. Don't forget that there is a man on Maui who never even rode a horse until he came to these Islands five years ago and now is one of the best polo players on the team there.

The 7th Infantry have a very fine looking bunch of fellows. Many of them are expert athletes and they are said to have one crackerjack of a football team. While the Sheridan has been in port the boys have made great use of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and showerbaths and there have been one or two lively games of handball on the courts.

The time for receiving entries for the handicap men's doubles tennis tournament, to be played for the Castle-Boekus cups, has been extended until Tuesday, May 18, at 5 p. m. The entries thus far received are: A. L. Lowrey and E. S. Gee, A. L. Castle and Capt. Low, A. R. Cunha and C. G. Boekus, R. B. Rietow and J. J. Page, Theo. Richards and A. Richards, H. S. Gray and R. JAPANESE COMMERCIAL METHODS.

While the visit of the Japanese Chambers of Commerce to the United States will be widely instructive to them, there is nothing that they could acquire from it which the business community of Japan needs more to learn than a respect for the obligations of contracts. Of commercial morality the Japanese have less, it is said, than any other civilized nation, a circumstance partly arising from the old feudal contempt for trade, thus lowering the station of tradesmen, and partly from the conception, not unknown elsewhere, that the successful man is the one who hoodwinks his fellows.

Some years ago the men of light and leading in Japan realized this grave defect of the national character and sought to remedy it through the colleges. University chairs of commercial morality were endowed, but as few graduates went into mercantile pursuits the result was not appreciable in the business life of Japanese communities. At any rate the condition is such that the Japanese Minister of Justice, in speaking, a few weeks ago on the Japan Sugar Refinery scandal, felt free to say:

Not only is the failure of the company the outcome of the morality of its directors, but the standard of morality of Japanese business men in general is so low that, unless reformed, no guarantee can be given against the recurrence of similar affairs.

Furthermore, Japanese credit among foreigners will practically be reduced to zero and the future of the country will become a matter of deep anxiety. I earnestly hope that those concerned will reflect on this point and strive to raise their standard of morality.

Again, the Jiji, one of the leading Tokyo papers, having a great reputation for conservative opinion, is quoted as saying:

We deplore the fact that the so-called clever and sagacious business men of nowadays are lacking in the virtue of honesty. Our society of every description seems to disregard the value of honesty. Honest people are looked down upon as cowards, stupid, and a slow sort of fellows.

Travelers in Japan find it wisest, when they buy silks or art goods of native dealers, to oversee the packing themselves, otherwise they are likely to get an inferior grade of merchandise. It is most dangerous, at all times, to buy by sample or to take anything for granted. Tourists save money by buying of European dealers at the large centers and leaving them to do the original purchasing from the Japanese.

It would be pharisaical to say that nothing of this kind happens in the United States or Europe; but it is never done with the average approval of the community, as in Japan, nor are great successes in our mercantile life achieved by underhanded means. That "honesty is the best policy," is a standard belief in the American business world and everyone of the great commercial houses of the land has been built on a solid basis of rectitude—a fact illustrated by the intimate history of such houses as Marshall Field & Co., John Wanamaker, A. T. Stewart & Co., and so on, through a long and honorable list. The more the visiting Japanese merchants study such examples and the deeper they study them, the better for Japan's commercial ethics so far as they can shape them.

One of the many good influences which Hawaii is exercising on the Oriental mind—for these islands constitute a university in which Chinese, Japanese and other aliens have long been learning the best things which civilization has to offer—is seen in the improvement in mercantile ideals of Japanese business men who settle here. Our mercantile Japanese have a good reputation—a far better one than they would probably enjoy in their home environment. We hear few if any complaints about them. They do not throw up a contract which promises badly. Their goods are at least up to sample. In other words they have learned to do business in the standard American way. True, they may often charge too much, but that is a fault which is not bounded by national or racial lines. The point is that they have made themselves trusted—have acquired credit—have accepted the basic principles of civilized business; and thus shown the capacity, at least, of Japanese merchants at home to do as well. The particular example and incentive, so potent here, are wanting in the fatherland; but over there, the lesson of declining foreign trade in art products and silk, may be depended on, in the long run, to teach the same lesson. Foreigners will not always submit to be cheated and when they cease to buy, honesty will begin to make a very convincing appeal to the business classes of Japan.

COMING PORTUGUESE LABOR.

The plan to bring Portuguese here marks the abandonment, as we are assured, of the lazzaroni program. No more money will be spent on the Italian venture; instead, the kind of Latins that are known and appreciated in Hawaii will be imported.

Whether the mainland Portuguese will prove as acceptable as the insular ones is at least uncertain, but that they are better than the only kind of Italians that largely emigrate, the Sicilian, Calabrian and Neapolitan proletariat, admits of little doubt. It is some advantage, however, to get the islanders, with their simple village and farm habits and their dependable strain of Flemish blood; and, so far as we are aware, there is nothing to prevent the Immigration agent, Mr. Campbell, from recruiting them if he thinks best to do so.

There has been little visiting between the Kaiser and Francis Joseph, just enough to keep up the acquaintance. The Hapsburgs sat on the throne of the German people too long to be happy in the presence of the imperial Hohenzollerns; and though Germany and Austria-Hungary are in alliance, for reasons of state, the reigning houses do not easily fraternize. When the present Kaiser visited Vienna the first time a low barometer was noted; and when the visit, which was short, came to an end, the Austrian ruler was reported to have said: "When princes meet both of them should have some tact." It was a long time before the strenuous Kaiser came again. Now, after several years, he is making another call, but it is no more likely to be returned than were the former ones.

Several doctors, disturbed by the bogus gluten disclosures, have sent through their druggists for a supply of the pure product. Unadulterated gluten flour is worth 25 cents per pound at retail but the imitative kind here is on the market at ten and fifteen cents. It is not surprising to find how base an invention this is. A gentleman whose little son is afflicted with diabetes has been giving the stuff to the boy freely and wondering why the patient did not improve. As every ounce contained wheat flour in greater quantities than gluten, the father was simply poisoning the lad to add to the riches of a heartless manufacturer. The people charged with the enforcement of the Pure Food law have a distinct duty to perform towards the gluten fraud.

The accession oath which every English sovereign has to take is as offensive to Roman Catholics as the prayer for "Jews, Turks and Infidels" in the Anglican ritual is to the King's Hebrew subjects. It has no other moral right to be administered in this day and age than that which comes from following ancient precedent. Mr. Redmond, in his efforts to eliminate the relics of bigotry in the British system of government, deserves the sympathy of all free minds.

This paper prefers that further letters concerning Mr. Lightfoot or others openly connected with the strike, be published, if at all, with the signatures of the writers. Mr. Lightfoot has expressed himself personally and those who criticize his methods should do the same. This is merely fair play and is calculated to reduce the acerbity which an anonymous or partly anonymous discussion of the labor strike and its personal phases would be likely to create.

Italy can not afford to build Dreadnoughts, but she must be in fashion, come what may. The very word Dreadnought is becoming synonymous with deficits in public treasuries. That type of warship is not only enormously costly, but it is relegating a billion dollars' worth of other vessels to the scrap heap.

Young men must have their fling but if Kermit Roosevelt wants his bed better wait until he gets out of the jungle. Seeing the elephant at night in that quarter is not what it is on Broadway.

Eight millions is a large sum for even a Sultan to keep in his palace but it must be remembered that Abdul Hamid had serious domestic expenses.

The French government handles this strike better than it did the other one.

JAPANESE MASS MEETING BACKS UP STRIKERS

all of us are willing and ready to declare off the strike and return to work immediately.

Very respectfully yours,
COMMITTEE OF TWENTY.

Ewa Goes on Strike.

The plantation laborers at Ewa struck yesterday morning, every Japanese on the estate refusing to go to work when the whistle blew. The strike was decided upon at a meeting held Thursday night. The Japanese were more considerate on Ewa plantation than at Waipahu and Alea, for they finished up about all the cane that was on hand and the work at the mill. The laborers get more money at Ewa than at the other two estates, and it was hardly thought they would join the strikers. Their act is due to sympathy and to half a score of agitators who persisted in working the laborers up to going out. The committee which called upon Manager Renton was courteous. With reference to the Ewa strike, E. D. Tenney, president of Castle & Cooke, agents, made the following statement yesterday morning: "Last evening about 8 o'clock a number of Japanese laborers of Ewa plantation from the lower camp, near Honolulu, held a meeting, and at 9 o'clock or thereabouts marched to the main village of the Japanese, near the mill, where another meeting was held to discuss labor matters in general and whether or not to strike in particular. The meeting at the mill village numbered about 800 men. These men decided that all Japanese should not work today, Friday, nor tomorrow, Saturday; that during that period their demands on the management would be formulated; that on Monday they would be presented to the manager; that on the same day, Monday, the Japanese laborers would return to work, pending an answer from the manager."

The meeting at the village near the mill was orderly.

"Following out the program as stated above, none of the Japanese at Ewa are working today, save a few in outlying camps or in the plantation stables."

May Return to Work.

Yesterday forenoon the statement came from Ewa that the strikers there contemplated a return to their work today. Even up to last evening Fred Makino said he was not certain whether the men would remain out or not. The agents thought they would not return until Monday at least. Something had been said by the men that they would "take a couple of days' holiday."

Sheriff to Waipahu.

Sheriff Jarrett went to Waipahu yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Interpreter Townsend. Word had reached the Sheriff that the Chinese laborers on the Waipahu estate had been threatened by the striking Japanese that they would be forced to quit work. The threats were of such a nature that the Chinese asked for protection and feared that when they returned last evening to camp that they might be attacked. A dozen men at Waipahu have already been commissioned as special officers, so that there should not be the necessity of sending any police from Honolulu. These men are under the control of Deputy Sheriff Fernandez of Ewa district.

Working at Alea.

The strike-breakers from Honolulu who were sent down to Alea plantation yesterday morning were set to work and much of the work dropped by the strikers was picked and carried on. These few hundred men will bring in the cane already cut, and cut that which needs the knife, and the grinding of it will continue today and tomorrow.

Denies He Got $50.

Fred Makino laughed last evening when asked if it were true he had asked and received $50 for making the trip to Waipahu to call the strike the other morning. "I don't care what is said about me, anyhow," he said. "We'll show all you people that we are it."

Over 5000 Men Out.

With three plantations tied up, it is estimated that about 5000 men are now out of employment.

NIPPON MARU SAILS THIS A. M.

Passenger Traffic Congested
Once More—Siberia Will Be Loaded.

With a large number of passengers and considerable valuable freight for the mainland, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Nippon Maru, Commodore Filmer commanding, arrived here yesterday afternoon and will continue her voyage to the mainland this morning at 10:30. The Nippon Maru is one of the prettiest vessels that come into this port, and it seemed a shame that, with plenty of room for passengers from Honolulu to the Coast, she should go through without picking up some of the many who are on the waiting list here now for other steamers.

Without a doubt, the Nippon Maru has one of the best-liked sets of officers on any transpacific liner. From Commodore Filmer, the skipper, down to the pettiest officer on the ship, they are all gentlemen and good fellows. This probably accounts for the fact that the Nippon Maru has her passenger list loaded to the limit with celebrities. The trip from the Orient to this port was uneventful, good weather being the order of the voyage.

On board the Nippon is a large shipment of Mexican dollars, being sent to the States to be melted down. In addition to this, the Nippon is carrying an unusually valuable shipment of raw silk, the bulk of which is destined for New York.

Siberia Loaded Up.

News was brought on the Nippon Maru that the Pacific Mail liner Siberia, due here from the Orient on the 24th of this month, is already booked to the limit with passengers and will arrive here with scarcely room for any people from this port. It is understood that a large number of people are booked, or intended booking, for the voyage to the Coast on the Siberia, but they will have their trouble for nothing if the reports brought on the Japanese liner are correct. If it were not for the coastwise shipping laws, the cramped situation which has been for considerable time past, and still is, prevailing in the matter of securing passenger accommodations from here to the mainland could be greatly relieved by the foreign bottoms passing through. The Nippon Maru, which sails this morning for San Francisco, could, at the very least, probably carry twenty-five more from here to the mainland. She has an unusually large number of passengers from the Orient this trip, yet the number she could take if the relief bill were in effect would be sufficient to relieve a great deal of the strain in Honolulu.

Makura Probably Full.

Many people are awaiting anxiously word from the Makura, which is now on its way here, to find out whether or not they will be able to secure passage on her to the Coast. There is a very large booking already in the office of the agents, and when the big liner departs from here for British Columbia she will have every inch of her passenger accommodations taken up. It is probable, too, that she is carrying a goodly number of people from Australia for Canada, and consequently there will be some of those who have booked here who will be left behind.

The New Steamer.

"I received definite word," said C. P. Morse, local agent of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, "that the company will build three steamers, one of which will be devoted to the Island trade. The present plan is to have passenger accommodations on this steamer for twenty-five people. I have, however, written urging strongly that accommodations for at least fifty people be put in the vessel, and stating that no mistake would be made if the steamer is provided with room for seventy-five people."

It is hoped that the American-Hawaiian company will concur in the recommendation of Mr. Morse, and it is generally believed that such will be the case.

Transport Dix Arrives.

With five thousand tons of coal for Honolulu, the U. S. A. T. Dix, Captain Ankers, arrived here early yesterday morning, just about a day ahead of the time she was expected. The Dix had good weather on her trip from Nagasaki. She immediately commenced discharging the coal, and as soon as this job is completed and she has cleaned up, begin taking on the Hawaiian exhibit for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Notwith-

Every bit of passenger space on the Hilonian has already been engaged for the trip to the Coast.

The Hyades of the same line sails from here on May 22, and she will have approximately 5000 tons of sugar in her hold.

standing the fact that Loyd Childs took a good deal of the stuff when he went up on the Alameda, the greater portion of the exhibit still remains and will go to Seattle on the Dix. One of the chief exhibits which will travel on the transport is that of Hawaiian fish. These will be placed in specially-prepared tanks. Will Cooper is one of the busiest men in town these days, getting things in shape for loading on the transport. The Dix will probably not leave here before ten days more.

Rosecrans Gets In.

Both the Rosecrans and the Falls of Clyde, belonging to the Associated Oil Company, arrived here yesterday, the former arriving last night and the latter yesterday morning. The Rosecrans brought no boat in tow this time. On her last voyage from this port she had the barge Monterey and the launch Rover stringing behind. She towed them to Gaviota and from there to San Francisco. Both the Falls of Clyde and the Rosecrans will discharge oil here, sailing within a few days.

Nemo "Willow-Shape"
Corset

FOR SLENDER FIGURES

Slender women who wear this new corset will carry out Fashion's extreme demand for slenderness below the waist-line.

The Nemo Duplex Flattening device, with garters attached in front and over the hips and back, produces a willow, sylph-like form. It draws tightly when one stands, but relaxes when one is seated, allowing ease and comfort.

All other corsets of this kind if they really flatten the hips, are so rigid that, though they may be all right when one is standing, they "ride up" the moment one sits down.

WEALTHY LADY TOURIST
WRITES VERSES AT SEA

Mrs. E. F. Chapman, a demure little woman who is returning to the States after a trip around the world, is one of the many celebrities on board Commodore Filmer's pretty yacht-liner Nippon Maru, which arrived here yesterday morning. Mrs. Chapman is a poetess, her home is in New Hampshire, and, according to some of those who arrived on the boat yesterday, she is a very clever writer.

She bustled herself composing witty rhymes, catchy jingles and sarcastic verses about everything and everyone on board the trim little steamer, and there isn't an officer on the vessel who has not been "written up" since Mrs. Chapman came on board. But under no circumstances would anyone on the ship allow the precious verses to be used as "newspaper copy." Mrs. Chapman is a wealthy woman and is traveling for her health. She enjoyed her stay in Honolulu yesterday very much.

She said that she had last heard indirectly from him about three years ago. He was then in Hilo.

According to the directory recently issued, Springer is now court stenographer of the Fourth Circuit Court, his residence being at Reed's Bay, Hilo, Hawaii.

Letters From the People

Honolulu, May 14, 1909.

Editor Advertiser: In the Hawaiian

Star of the 12th inst. there is a paragraph headed, "Church Saves Korean," which contains certain misstatements. Will you grant me the opportunity of correcting these through your columns? Kim Kyeng Sam, the defendant in a recent police-court case, is well known to me as an industrious, honest member of the community. He has three times been held in jail for "investigation," and as many times been released. The lady who employed him last for "a day or two"

was entirely satisfied with his work and general conduct. She did not discharge him "for the reason that she was missing things." On the contrary, she expressed to me her regret at his sudden disappearance, he having been arrested without cause and held without warrant by the police for a period of five days. Judge Humphreys did not ask for a nolle prosequi, the prosecuting counsel being responsible for the dismissal of the case. Thanking you, faithfully yours,

IDA BUCHLY.

You may just as well save the money as give it to the government. There will be ten per cent penalty on unpaid taxes after Saturday.

Army and Navy News

Separate division headquarters are practically assured for the military establishment on Oahu, according to stories which came on the transport Sheridan. The facts that at least one of the forts has reached the final stage of construction and the coast artillery troops will be here in a month to man the batteries, and that more are promised; that additional accommodations are reaching the completed stage at Fort Shafter; and that dirt will commence to fly in six weeks at Leilehua for the brigade post, are taken to indicate, along with the presence of troops of three arms of the service, that a general officer is needed. On the Coast they think he will be appointed soon. Such an officer will establish headquarters in Honolulu, and his staff, other than his aides, will comprise a chief quartermaster, a chief commissary, a chief paymaster and a chief signal officer. The headquarters would probably be in a suite of downtown offices.

Change at Washington.

Gossip aboard the Sheridan is to the effect that in the near future there may be a change in the War Office, and that General J. F. Bell, now chief of staff may be replaced by General Edwards, who is a close friend of President Taft, and is attached to the White House at present. The reason assigned for such a change is that General Bell's health is not the best just now, and he may wish to be relieved of the responsibilities of the high post.

Guest of General Davis.

General Potts, U.S.A., ranking officer aboard the Sheridan, en route to Manila, has been the guest of General Davis, U.S.A. (retired), at the latter's home on Hastings street.

A Popular Master.

Captain Healey, who, with Captain Stinson, is among the most popular transport masters in the Pacific, and is now in command of the Sheridan, is accompanied on this trip by his wife. The latter will remain in Manila for some time and will return to the United States by way of Europe. Captain Healey was formerly attached to the transport Seward in the Philippines service. Captain and Mrs. Healey were dinner guests at the Young Hotel last evening of Major Beecher Ray and Mrs. Ray.

Ducat of San Juan Hill.

Major Ducat, who was lately promoted to lieutenant-colonel and assigned to duty with the 20th Infantry, was a captain in the 24th Infantry during the charge up San Juan Hill, Cuba, and was badly wounded in the legs. Lieutenant Ducat was here several years ago on his way to Manila and was a guest with General Funston of the Officers' Club at the Bungalow.

To Install Fire Controls.

Captain Waldron, 23rd Infantry, who is an expert in the installation of fire controls for batteries, arrived on the Sheridan and has already commenced work with the installation of the controls for the mortar batteries at Fort Ruger, Diamond Head. These fire controls will center in the trig station located in the sea-face of Diamond Head above and back of the Diamond Head lighthouse, and will lead down and along the inside of the crater, through the new tunnel and thence to the mortar batteries. The fire of these guns will be directed by the officer stationed in the trig station. Electric controls will also lead from this station by conduits to the batteries about to be erected at Fort De Russy, Waikiki.

Pay Engineers Monday.

Company G, Corps of Engineers, which arrived on the transport Sheridan Thursday, will receive a visit from the army paymaster on Monday forenoon, when about $5000 will be distributed among the men. As the company left Cuba about May 1 and did not arrive in the United States until May 5, that five days constitute "foreign" service, and the pay is more than for "domestic" service which obtains on the mainland and in Hawaii. Hawaii is not considered "foreign" as far as pay goes. Paymaster Ray, therefore, has to figure out "foreign" pay for five days, then regular pay for the rest of April, and during this time were many transfers and promotions, second-class privates being rated first-class, and corporals being promoted to sergeants, making a complex payroll.

Man-o'-Warsman to Leave.

Gilbert Purdy, the veteran man-o'- warman, now on the retired list, who has resided in Honolulu for several years, may leave for San Diego about the first of next month, to be with old friends and former comrades. Purdy arrived in Honolulu for the first time in 1846 as a member of the crew of a whaler. He participated in some lively incidents ashore at that time. Later he went into the Union Army and after the Civil War became a man-o'-warman. He was at the wheel of the Olympia during the Manila Bay fight when Captain Rees, of the Naval Station, was on the bridge with Commodore Dewey.

New "Melon Canopy."

The Navy Department is having a new style navy launch constructed at the Norfolk Navy Yard for experimental purposes. The launch is to have no cover as the present launches have. The idea of having an open launch was brought about by the sinking of the launch of the battleship Missouri in Hampton Roads some time ago which resulted in the drowning of several officers. Work has also commenced on the construction of a new device to be used on the present launches of the navy. It is called a "melon canopy," and will be fitted to all the launches in the navy. Its purpose is to shield the occupants of a launch from the weather and breaking waves. It will be so arranged that it can be shifted from port to starboard and vice versa with little effort.

Army and Navy Club.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—The formal opening of the Army and Navy club last night was one of the brilliant social functions of the season. Every branch of the Army and Navy service was represented, as well as the national guard, and the marine corps, while the city's social contingent was largely in evidence.

The reception began soon after 9 o'clock and lasted until after midnight. All officers appeared in full dress uniform. Representatives of the Japanese squadron now in this port added to the smartness of the occasion. The clubhouse was decorated with flags, and a wealth of roses and fragrant flowers sent in from the Presidio. The Third artillery band, artillery corps, furnished a snappy program of music, interspersed with the national airs.

The guests, who numbered over 500, were received by Colonel G. H. Pippy, vice president, and Mrs. Pippy; Commander A. A. Pratt, United States navy, and Mrs. Pratt; Colonel C. G. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward, Captain F. W. Stopford and Mrs. Stopford, Captain A. L. B. Davies and Mrs. Davies, Lieutenant F. W. Dohrman Jr. and Mrs. Dohrman, and Captain R. M. Thornburg and Mrs. Thornburg.

New "Pay" at Mare Island.

MARE ISLAND, April 30.—Paymaster W. T. Wallace, who has been paymaster at the Mare Island yard for the past three years, relinquished his duties this afternoon and turned the affairs of his office over to Paymaster C. M. Ray, who was recently ordered to relieve him. Paymaster Wallace will remain at the yard for several weeks so he can settle up all of his accounts, and he then expects to join one of the vessels of the Pacific fleet, as he is due for sea duty.

Peking Hero to Stay.

Lieutenant Calvin P. Titus, of the 14th Infantry, has reconsidered his intention to leave the Army. He resigned several months ago to devote his entire time to religious work in connection with the Y. M. C. A. It was accepted to take effect July 1 next. Lieutenant Titus, who is now in Denver, has since indicated his desire to be made a regimental chaplain. The acceptance was revoked in order to permit a compliance with his wish, as it is realized he would prove a valuable man in that capacity. To become eligible for a chaplaincy it will be necessary for him to become an ordained minister.—Army and Navy Register.

"Montana Peak" for Troopers.

The general staff of the War Department has under consideration the sample of a new style of campaign hat suggested for Army use. This is of the khaki color, with a crown somewhat lower than the present campaign hat, and with a brim which is wider and stiffer. It is considered that this hat, worn invariably with the "Montana peak," will be more serviceable than the present campaign hat. It is the style of headgear which is worn by cowboys on the Western prairies and appears to be best adapted for those who ride horses. It is believed that the cowboy must have some very good reason for adhering to this particular style of hat and this suggests the advisability of at least trying out the type of hat for those in the mounted branch of the Army. In the meantime, the War Department is in possession of the expressions of opinion from officers and enlisted men of the line concerning the relative advantages of wearing the campaign hat with the so-called Alpine crease or with the Montana peak. As might be expected, the division of opinion is about equal, showing that it is, in the end, a matter of individual preference, as so often happens when views on such a subject are sought by the military authorities. If the decision required the campaign hat to be worn in one or the other fashion, it is realized that there would be about the same number against, as there would be for, the

Newbro's Herpicide

More men and women have gotten positive results from the use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE than from all other hair remedies combined.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ. It eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair and permits a natural hair development by destroying the tiny vegetable growth (a germ or microbe) that causes hair destruction.

Nature constantly struggles to supply life and vigor to the hair, but the dandruff germ saps this vitality and strangles the life out of the hair.

Indispensable Following Severe Illness

1717 Tremont St., Denver, Colo.

"I was convalescent from a critical illness of pneumonia and my hair was left in a deplorable condition, falling out and breaking off, dry, harsh and brittle. The scalp lacked nutrition and seemed dead. I used Herpicide according to directions with most beneficial results and attribute the restoration of my hair entirely to your Herpicide. I can conscientiously endorse it for doing all you claim, and it gives me great pleasure to recommend it."

(Signed) MRS. M. MEGRUE.

For regular toilet use, Newbro's Herpicide easily occupies first place. It is sold in practically every civilized country on the globe, and a single trial will show why discriminating ones prefer it. Contains no sticky substance. It will not stain or dye the hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

WHITNEY'S COURT NOW IN SESSION

The Partition of Land Is the First Question Before Tribunal.

The legal machinery of Judge Whitney's court began turning yesterday morning, the first case coming under the consideration of the new judge being that of Lilikalani Fern et al., against Becky Chong et al., on a bill for the partition of land on which Judge Lindsay had rendered judgment in a suit for ejectment. The problem involved is to determine the equitable division of a tract of land, on one portion of which is a dwelling of some value. The property has a frontage on a lane between Vineyard and School streets.

Judge Lindsay found that the plaintiffs in the first action for ejectment were entitled to an undivided one-half interest in the property, and that the plaintiffs would also have a preference in that portion including the house, if they paid over to the defendants the sum of $200. It now remains to determine the value of the house and for that purpose John Marcellino was appointed a commissioner to appraise the dwelling.

Straus Must Explain.

It appears that Attorney Leon Straus will have some explanation forthcoming by reason of his connection with the divorce action instituted by Nellie Thomas against King Thomas, on the grounds of desertion and non-support. According to the statement that was made in Judge De Bolt's court yesterday by the father of the plaintiff in the case, the sum of $35 was paid to Straus as an attorney's fee and the costs of court, for which a receipt bearing Straus's signature was received. No money for costs was paid into court, and in an effort to secure some enlightenment on the transaction, Judge De Bolt detailed Assistant Clerk Hopkins to search for Straus and ask him to appear and explain his action. Judge De Bolt intimated that the case bore a serious aspect, but said that he wished to give Straus every opportunity to present his side of the case before taking action.

The decree of divorce was granted, Mrs. Thomas and her father taking the stand and testifying that Thomas has not contributed anything to the support of herself or children for the past three years. Thomas was ordered to pay the costs of $13 and $25 attorney fees to Clem Quinn, who represented Mrs. Thomas in the court proceedings yesterday. The money that was paid by Mrs. Thomas' father to Straus will be refunded when it is secured.

A motion for the appointment of a commission to take the deposition of T. B. Whittin of Whitinsville, Mass., was filed yesterday as the aftermath of a suit that was brought against him because of a collision between his automobile and a hack, the complainant being Henry Gumpfer. The petition asks for the appointment of Samuel Lynn or Charles F. Parkis, both of Whitinsville, as commissioners.

Physicians at Law.
A complaint was filed yesterday by A. G. M. Robertson for Drs. George Herbert and St. D. G. Walters—under the firm name of Herbert and Walters—against I. R. Burns and the First National Bank, garnishee.

The complaint recites that on March 4 last, an operation was performed by the physicians upon the wife of the defendant and that the stipulated payment agreed between Burns, Walters and Herbert was $600, this amount also including the incidental medical treatment before and after the operation. The complaint states that Burns has declined to meet the obligation which the physicians say was contracted, and that they do not know of any property upon which they could levy upon for the debt. Upon "information and belief," however, it is stated that Mr. Burns is a depositor in the First National Bank and the service of a summons upon the bank is asked to show whether Burns is a depositor.

Charges by Wife.
Alleging that her husband has secured her commitment to the insane asylum twice by false representations, Josephine Ferreira has filed a bill for divorce against Ricardo Souza Ferreira. In the complaint it is stated that Mrs. Ferreira was first sent to the asylum on October 11, 1907, and released in February of 1908. It is declared that there was no reason for the commitment to the asylum and that it was procured through misrepresentation.

In the March following, Mrs. Ferreira was again sent to the asylum. The complaint states that she fled to the street when threatened by Ferreira, and that this incident was used to show that she was mentally irresponsible. Mrs. Ferreira asks for the custody of the two-year-old child of the union, and such other provision for her maintenance and support as the court may direct.

Court Notes.
The three indictments pending against Yoshitara Abe, the Japanese forger, were stricken from the calendar by Judge De Bolt yesterday, to be moved on again in the event that another attempt is made to extradite Abe.

A petition for letters of administration on the estate of Lem Yip was filed yesterday by the widow, Lan Shee. The property is valued at about $1000.

Health for the Children

Every parent notes with anxious eye the first symptoms of the children's failing health: the pale cheek, listless manner and capricious appetite speak more plainly than any words, for the well child is a veritable storage battery of animal spirits.

Renewing the appetite is the first step back to health and

Around the Police Station

Joe Calasopa, or Joe Fartado, as he is better known to the police, was yesterday taken into custody by Clerk Kanepuu of the Deputy Sheriff's office, for failing to perfect his appeal. Calasopa was arrested some time ago and was convicted in police court. He gave notice, through his attorney, of appeal, and was released. A short time ago it came to the attention of the officers that the time to perfect the appeal had lapsed and Calasopa was promptly taken in.

Mother Stood a Lot.

Sam Smith, a young fellow who has worked in various places about town, was held for investigation at the police station yesterday, at the request of his mother. The young fellow is said to have taken money from employers which the mother had to make good, but when he took a small amount from his mother and spent it, she decided that the police should take him in hand and she therefore delivered him into the keeping of Chief Leal.

Bailey Did It.

Billy Bailey, a Hawaiian youth who was conspicuous in police annals a year and a half ago as one of the leaders of the lead and copper gang of thieves, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday of assault and battery on a Chinese a few nights ago back of the Opera House. Bailey was one of a gang which held up the Chinaman. He was fined $25 and costs. Geo. Crawford, one of the gang, will be tried in the juvenile court.

Harada, a Japanese who assaulted a countryman on Wednesday night with a bottle, cutting him badly, was convicted of assault and fined $50.

Opium Seller Pleads Guilty.

Lucy Kang Poo, a Chinese arrested about ten days ago for selling opium in violation of the territorial laws, pleaded guilty yesterday morning and was fined by Judge Andrade in the sum of $50 and costs.

Lam Yip Kee, waived examination, and was committed to the Circuit Court for trial. He was represented by Attorney Douthitt, who will attempt in the upper court to prove that his client had a right to dispose of opium. It is said that the defense may claim that the seller had the right to dispose of the opium in the original package which was stamped with Uncle Sam's revenue stamps.

ORGANIZE CHURCH AT KAHULUI TODAY

This afternoon in Kahului, a council of the historic churches of Hawaii, will convene to organize the Kahului Union church. This enterprise started three or four years ago when Rev. R. B. Dodge, of Wailuku, began to hold services there. His father, Rev. J. E. Dodge, soon came from America to take up the work, and while he was pastor the present beautiful little meeting house was erected. Called home by sickness, Mr. Dodge's term of service was short but very effective. For a few months Rev. Dr. Erdman, of New Jersey, carried on the work, and about a year ago Rev. Theodore Waltrip, of New York, was secured as minister. It having been decided to effect a formal organization, a council was called this week, and will convene this afternoon. Rev. W. B. Oleson representing the Hawaiian Board.

Rev. D. Scudder and Deacon W. A. Bowen, minister and delegate respectively of Central Union church, left yesterday afternoon on the Claudine to assist in the movement. The organization services will take place tomorrow morning. Kahului is to be congratulated upon this vigorous little church which starts out under most favorable auspices.

SUGAR REFINERY MODEL IN PROMOTION ROOM

The model of the Crocker Sugar Refinery at Crockett, California, is on exhibition in one of the windows of the Promotion Committee room. The model is perfect in every detail and is constructed according to scale. Some time before the refinery's annual dinner date the manager happened to remark that it would be a nice thing if a model of the refinery could be on the table. The head carpenter heard of the remark and proceeded to make one. The model is attracting much attention. A large amount of Hawaiian sugar is refined at Crockett.

RELIEF FROM RHEUMATIC PAINS.

The great pain relieving power of Chamberlain's Pain Balm is clearly shown in cases of sciatica and inflammatory rheumatism, both of which are extremely painful, but one application of this liniment gives relief and enables the sufferer to sleep, which in many instances he has not been able to do for several days. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

You may just as well save the money as give it to the government. There will be ten per cent penalty on unpaid taxes after Saturday.
