

Rice Quits Haiku Canning Plant

Sells Out To Durney & Co. Of San Francisco And Resigns As Manager—Tavares In Place Until Reorganization

Considerable surprise was caused in financial and plantation circles on Maui early this week when it became known that Senator Harold Rice had sold his interests in the Haiku Fruit & Packing company to Griffith Durney & Company of San Francisco and resigned as president and general manager on Saturday. Mr. Rice sold 1322 shares of his stock to the mainland firm for $65,000. They also had bought 4464 shares or the other 9/10 of the stock, and this, with the stock they already held gives Durney & Company a majority of the stock. Mr. Rice's resignation automatically makes W. A. Baldwin president, and Representative Antonio Tavares, who was assistant manager, will be acting manager taking over Mr. Rice's duties pending a reorganization and election of new directors. There are three directors to be chosen as H. W. Collins of Lahaina and J. B. Thomson, formerly of Puunene and now of Ewa plantation have sold out their interests and resigned.

Best Cannery in Territory

"This move on Mr. Rice's part will not hinder the production of the Haiku Fruit & Packing company," said Mr. Tavares when asked about the matter. "I feel that there is a greater future in Haiku for the stockholders than there ever has been and I believe even now that Haiku is the best cannery and has the greatest future of any cannery in the Territory of Hawaii. I firmly believe it will reach the million case mark about 1922 and that there are sufficient pineapple lands on Maui so that soon pineapples need be planted only once in every eight years and still the Haiku will be able to produce a million cases of canned pineapple yearly."

There is a possibility that Alex. C. Rattray, who has been bookkeeper at the Haiku plant will leave for Honolulu.

Large Sum To Be Spent For Fair

Committee Chosen And Work Going Right Ahead—Many Improvements To Be Made To Grounds—Territorial Building To Start At Once

At a meeting of the Maui County Fair & Racing Association, yesterday afternoon, final appointments were made to the various committees, who will have charge of putting the fair over October 9, 10 and 11. Reports from Mr. Walsh, Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Cameron showed that work has started already for the fall showing, and the Association expects to spend about $40,000 on the project. The grounds will be levelled up and graded, a new race track laid out, the fences improved, the grandstand enlarged and the stables repaired and enlarged. Work on the Territorial building will start at once and the Association will erect a permanent building to be known as the Agricultural building. There is room for about a hundred more memberships in the Association says Dave Lindsay, and anyone who wishes to become affiliated may make application to any member.

Committee Comprehensive

The committees as they stand to date are as follows:

Live Stock (Cattle, Horses and Pigs), chairman, L. K. Smith.

Well Known Citizen Is Called To Last Rest

E. J. Walker Dies At Paia Hospital Suddenly—Passing Comes As Shock To Maui—Had Been 19 Years In The Islands

By MILLIE B. HAIR.

Edgar John Walker, a well known kamaaina of both Maui and Oahu died at the Paia hospital July 12. As he had been in poor health for some time his death was not unexpected, but the end came suddenly.

Mr. Walker was born in Detroit, Michigan, July 6, 1866, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker. He was educated in the Detroit public schools and entered the employ of Newcomb, Endicott & Co., in the carpet department. He married Miss Jessie Bamford, who died a few years later leaving one son, Ralph.

In 1892 Mr. Walker was offered a position by W. Y. Olson & Co. of San Francisco and he went West and became an expert salesman in their carpet department.

In 1895 he was married to Miss Maybelle I. Ward of Alameda, Cal. He came in 1909 to Honolulu and went into business as a commission merchant. At this time Mr. Walker originated the steamer calendars now used by Alexander & Baldwin. In 1905 he went to China residing there until the San Francisco fire put him out of business. He returned to Honolulu and became connected with Hopp & Co. He came to Maui in 1909 and was associated with the Kahului store until at which time he became assistant manager of the Paia Store with which concern he has been connected until his death.

He is survived by his widow, five sons, Ralph, now captain of the 25th Infantry and residing at Nogales, Arizona; Sanford, Ward, John and Walter and two daughters Mrs. Robert Hughes (Alice) and Anne.

In his death Maui has lost a good man, a loyal citizen, beloved by all who knew him. His life was sincere, governed by the Golden Rule. Always deeply interested in the community life around him, his home was a social center for the young people of the neighborhood. Especially interested in young boys, he organized a Cadet Corps similar to the Boy Scout movement in Alameda, Honolulu and on Maui. He took a vital interest in the recent war and his great regret was that he himself could not serve his country by going to France. Five of his children entered the service.

Sounding To Start On Mala Wharfsite

Governor McCarthy Visits Hana And Lahaina—Says Hana Work Progressing Nicely—Approves Of Mala Site

Governor C. J. McCarthy visited Hana and Lahaina this week on the wharf propositions and expressed himself as satisfied with the progress that is being made at Hana. He stated that the work on the approaches has been finished, a very good job having been done and that work was to begin immediately on the wharf itself.

Riding across country Wednesday from Kahului, he visited the proposed Mala wharf site at Lahaina, which he considered was the best that has yet been offered and expressed himself as satisfied that it was more feasible for a wharf than the site of the present dock. The work of taking soundings to determine the character of the ocean bed at this place will be begun immediately. If these prove satisfactory the Governor intimated that the $200,000 which has been appropriated for an adequate wharf at Lahaina will be available at once for the work of building the wharf. The governor was accompanied on his inspection trip by D. H. Case, Worth O. Aiken, Superintendent of Water Works, H. Bigelow. He boarded the Claudine at Lahaina for Honolulu.

Many Salary Raises Made By Board

Numerous County Officials Receive Increases To Combat High Cost Of Living—Police Department Has Longest List

A large number of increases in salaries were made by the board of supervisors at the last meeting, among them being the salary of Dr. Goodhue which has been increased to $100 per month.

Upon the recommendation of the sheriff the following police officers' salaries were increased as hereinbelow set forth:

The salary of Eugene Bal as clerk of the auditor was increased $10. The salary of the deputy county treasurer was raised $15 and that of the deputy county clerk was raised $5.

Kula Need Fear No Drought Now

Olinda Reservoir Formally Opened By Loan Commission And Water Running In—Will Hold Seven Million Gallons

Kula residents need no longer fear a drought, for the Olinda reservoir was formally opened Wednesday by the Loan Fund Commission. The water was turned in at 11:30 a. m., and when the reservoir is full there will be seven million gallons available for residents and farmers of the Kula district.

This work has taken three years to complete, and is the last of the projects which the Loan Fund Commission had laid out to do. The reservoir has been constructed with an eye to supplying the district, and side over the worst drought that may visit the country.

The Loan Fund Commission is very well satisfied with the work and thinks that a good job has been done. The work was started by Contractor James Foss. When the excavations for the foundation were still incomplete Foss was taken off the work and E. C. Mellor put on it. Mr. Mellor has seen the work to its conclusion, and the commission has stated that Mellor has done conscientious work and made a good job of it.

Of Inspector Keene's work they have the highest praise, feeling that he has procured for the county the best that they could get. Dan Balch was the engineer who started the work, which was finished by Paul A. Low as supervising engineer.

The commission was composed of W. F. Pogue, chairman, R. A. Wadsworth, Sam Kalama, Pia Cockett and Territorial Water Works Superintendent Bigelow.

Check Reducer Is Latest In Con Men

Thief Steals Big Check From Royal Hawaiian And Reduces To Small Amount In Order To Cash It—Screw Driver Left Behind Proves Undoing

Kui Far, 19 years old, a stevedore on the Kahului Railroad started out to be a bold bad robber. He succeeded in fooling a Japanese storekeeper to the tune of $50 but the cashier of the Paia bank unfortunately spilled the beans. On July 6 the Royal Hawaiian Sales company office was broken into and a check for $550 made to the order of Frank Loeey was stolen. The figure nine on the check was rubbed out, the words "nine hundred" on the check protector were damaged so as to be illegible, and the word "fifty" left intact. Then Frank Loeey's name was forged to the endorsement and J. Onishi was made the goat, cashing the check for $50.

On the night of July 9 the ticket office of the Kahului railroad company at Wailuku was broken into and the ticket box tampered with, although no money was procured. But murder will out for the person who did this left behind a screw driver. Through this screw driver the would-be robber was apprehended, the trail leading to Kui Far. He admitted the breaking into the Royal Hawaiian garage, and it is thought probable by the police that he may be the same man who has been committing a series of petty thefts in and around Wailuku.

The robber was arraigned Tuesday and bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury in the fall session.

Child Dies From Eating Poison

Three Others Ill From Chewing Nut Of A Poisonous Bush—Name Of Plant Is Unknown

Children's curiosity and love of sweets resulted in a tragedy at Camp 1 of the Puunene Plantation Monday, when four little Japanese girls under 10 years old ate the nut of a bush which it is declared is deadly poison. One of the children who ate and swallowed the nut died from the effects of it, and the other three are very ill at the Puunene hospital. The nut comes from a shrub which grows about the size of a castor plant, and the effect from eating is somewhat similar to that of castor beans, resulting in sure death. The leaf is pedate and somewhat on the order of the castor bean, but not so large nor so thick in texture. It is a light green with the lobes finer than those of a castor plant. The flower is clustered and a bright red and the fruit is green, about the size of a kukui nut. There are three layers to the nut, and it has a sweetish taste.

The Japanese told Dr. Sawyer at Puunene hospital that there are only three of the shrubs in the island, but Miss Rebecca Akana, county nurse, declared that the bush is to be found in almost every Japanese yard. There are two in front of the Buddhist church at Wailuku.

A sample of the shrub was submitted to Mr. Ching, and Mr. McFarland, who arrived on Maui Tuesday evening from the experimental station at Honolulu. Mr. Ching declared the plant to be of the euphorbia family and a deadly poison.

Samples of the shrub are being sent to the Honolulu Experiment Station for analysis and report.

Summer Camp Is In Fine Shape

Supt. Vaughan MacCaughy Writes Of Kilauea Camp And Says Accommodations For Several Hundred Are Now Ready

The Kilauea Summer Camp which has been established through the efforts of a number of public spirited citizens of the islands, opened last Friday with an enrollment of 75 persons. In a letter to The Maui News last week, written under date of July 7, Vaughan MacCaughy writes about conditions at the camp and accommodations for handling those attending. He says:

I arrived at Kilauea Camp where our Territorial Summer School opened Friday. I am so highly pleased by what I have seen in my tour of inspection throughout the camp that I am writing to you at once, with enthusiasm and with the feeling of assurance of the success of the Summer session.

The buildings have been adapted to the needs of this Camp in a very satisfactory manner and a great deal of credit is due to the tedious preliminary labors of the men and women who have brought the Camp into shape. The commissariat is in excellent condition and is serving exceptionally good meals of a satisfying character. The dormitories are well arranged, light, airy, and cheerful. The lavatories and other facilities of this character are wholly satisfactory for the purposes of the Camp. The tanks are full and there is no reason not to expect the water supply to last throughout the Summer.

I am particularly well pleased with the Summer School building which has been painted within and supplied with electric lights. In fact the whole camp is electrically lighted. The Summer School building will be used not only for classes but also in the evening for assemblies, concerts, illustrated lectures and entertainments.

Accommodations Plentiful

In a word the Camp is in a very satisfactory condition and now lacks only the personnel to make it an unqualified success. There are accommodations for about two hundred people and it will be a great pity if the Camp is not filled throughout July and August. The dormitory accommodations, commissariat, water supply, etc., are all fully adequate to care for, most comfortably, some two hundred people.

There are only a few, about twenty, here at this time altho' we are expecting a great many by the end of this week. I hope that you will do us the kindness to spread the news insofar as is feasible for you to do so, of the attractiveness of this Camp School. This is particularly desirable in view of the fact that a number of erroneous reports have been put into circulation concerning the Camp,—for example, that the Camp is already crowded and that the most of the people are going to be non-Caucasian.

Personally I will be very much disappointed if we do not have a Camp full of interested people who are combining recreation with their other activities. This can easily become one of the most remarkable Summer Sessions in the world. Please help us make a success of this Summer Camp.

I will be very pleased to furnish you with any further detailed information regarding the Summer School or Camp. Please address me care of The Kilauea Summer Camp.

Cordially and respectfully yours,
VAUGHAN MACCAUGHY,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Service Stars Build Victory Memorial

Campaign Is On For Raising Of $10,000,000 To Erect Memorial Building To Honor America's Boys

A campaign has recently been opened on the mainland for the raising of $10,000,000 looking toward the building of a National Victory Memorial Building at Washington in commemoration of the men and women who served the country in the Great War. The National Victory Memorial building will be the first structure of its kind to be erected as a tribute to the soldiers, sailors and marines who took part in the World War. A campaign to raise $10,000,000 for the structure is now being conducted.

When completed the National Victory Memorial Building will be the first structure of its kind to represent the part of the United States played in the World War. On the main floor will be the large auditorium, with smaller halls for military, patriotic, scientific, educational and like gatherings.

On the second floor there will be a banquet hall and rooms for permanent national headquarters of military and other patriotic organizations. The third and fourth floors will be arranged for the use of each of the States of the Union and of the outlying territories which are under the jurisdiction of the United States.

Congress has granted the land on which the building is to be erected. The site is on the Mall, in the center of Washington.

Prominent Persons Endorse Move

Among the prominent men who are supporting the movement for the National Victory Memorial Building are President Wilson and members of his Cabinet; Cardinal Gibbons, Elihu Root, Dr. William Welch, Gen. Horace Porter, Dr. Charles D. Walcott, William H. Taft, Dr. Ira Remsen, Prof. Fairfield Osborn, Charles W. Dabney, Charles J. Bell, Dr. John A. Wyeth, Thomas Nelson Page, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jacob H. Schiff, Cleveland H. Dodge and Paul Warburg.

Mrs. Henry F. Dimock is chairman of the committee in charge of the Campaign, and working with her are Mrs. J. C. Cantrill, wife of a Congressman from Kentucky; Mrs. M. Martin Kallman, Mme. Grouitch, wife of the Minister for the Serbs, Croats and Slavonians; and Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins.

Service Stars Basis Of Funds

Mrs. Wesley Martin Stoner has charge of the committee on service stars.

Relatives of the men who served overseas, as well as on this side during the war, will be asked to give $1 for each silver and $5 for each gold star. The merchants will be asked to contribute according to the number of stars in the service flags of business houses.

Fifty thousand school children have contributed one dime each to the National Victory Memorial Building.

Every important record and relic of the World War will be shown in the National Victory Memorial building.

Gasoline Boiling Points Tell The Story

Contrary to the opinion held by a great many people, the real value of gasoline is not known by the old-fashioned gavity test. This test tells nothing about the vaporizing and combustible qualities of the fuel, as has been pointed out by the National Bureau of Standards at Washington. Only the boiling point test is really efficient.

Boiling points, of course, mean exactly what the words say. That is, they are points on the thermometer at which a liquid will begin to boil. The reason why boiling points are the test of good gasoline would seem to be puzzling. A little thought, however, will make it plain. For a cold engine to start quickly the gasoline must vaporize at a low temperature. This vaporization point is, of course, the same as the boiling point. To get quick and smooth acceleration somewhat higher boiling points are necessary and for full power and long mileage the fuel must have still higher boiling points.

Real high quality gasoline must have a complete and continuous chain of boiling points, ranging from the low to the high. Combustion starts with the lowest and flashes on through the uniform chain from low to high with the result that there is full-powered, instantaneous combustion. Eliminate one link and the full power chain is broken. The famous Red Crown gasoline is straight-distilled, all-refined fuel which has this complete chain of boiling points so that its use means easy starting, quick and smooth acceleration, dependable power and long mileage.

The Farm Loan Act

Some facts regarding its purposes, and the conditions under which loans are made.

The Farm Loan Board, which was created by Act 225 of the Territorial Legislature, 1919, will begin its duties on July 1st, and applications for loans may be filed on and after that date.

The following summary will give a general idea of the provisions of the Act, and explain the purposes and conditions. Persons engaged in agriculture who are interested in the matter, should write to the Secretary Farm Loan Board of Hawaii, Honolulu, T. H., for further information. A pamphlet setting forth the details of the Act may be secured by applying to the tax assessor, deputy tax assessor, or sub-land agent of each district.

Purposes Of The Farm Loan Act

The full title of the Act reads, "An Act to Encourage the Establishment of a Rural Population by Providing Loans to Assist Agricultural Development."

The Act further stipulates that its purpose is to aid practical farmers, persons who derive the whole or a part of their living from active management of, or participation in, farming in its broadest sense, including thereunder general farming, cane growing, fruit growing, grazing, dairying, the handling of any form of livestock or poultry, and any other form of agricultural development.

It also specifies that a borrower must be a citizen of the United States of America, and must have been a resident of the Territory of Hawaii for at least three (3) years next preceding the date of the application for a loan. Its purpose is, therefore, to assist American citizens resident in the Territory of Hawaii, who are bona fide residents on the land.

The purposes for which loans may be made are divided into three classes:

Class A. To provide for the purchase of land for agricultural purposes.

Class B. To provide buildings, fences, and other permanent improvements, to provide for breaking up, and planting and cultivating land, and the purchase of fertilizers, seeds, machinery, implements, and other equipment necessary to the proper cultivation of the land or other farming operations, and the purchase of livestock for working, breeding, or fattening purposes.

Class C. To pay off indebtedness incurred for any of the purposes specified by the Act, or when relief from indebtedness will aid the applicant in his farming operations.

Conditions Under Which Loans Are Made

All loans must be secured by first mortgage.

All loans, except short time loans in Class B, must be repaid in semi-annual installments on an amortization basis, in addition to the interest.

The amortization plan requires that a certain sum on the principal, plus the interest on the amount outstanding, be paid every six months until the principal is paid. For example, if a man borrows one thousand dollars for the purchase of farm land, the repayment may be made fifty dollars, plus the interest at six months period. At the end of ten years the principal would be entirely paid under this plan. Arrangements may be made to pay the principal in less than ten years.

Additional payments in sums not less than twenty dollars ($20.00), or the whole amount of the principal, may be paid on any regular installment date.

The rate of interest shall be six per centum, (6%), per annum, simple interest.

No loan shall be made for less than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or for more than three thousand dollars, ($3,000.00).

No loan shall exceed fifty per centum (50%) of the value of the security offered.

All applications for loans up to one thousand dollars, ($1,000.00), must be accompanied by a fee of one dollar (1.00), and all applications for loans in excess of one thousand dollars, ($1,000.00) must be accompanied by a fee of two dollars ($2.00).

All loans in Class A must be repaid in not more than ten (10) years. All loans in Class B must be repaid in not more than five (5) years.

Loans under Class C shall be repaid according to the classification of the original indebtedness under Class A or Class B in the original transaction. That is, if the loan was for the purchase of farm land, the loan under Class C may be for a period of ten (10) years. If the original loan was contracted for the purchase of livestock, machinery, fertilizer, or for building fences, the loan under Class C could be granted for a period not more than five (5) years.

All buildings, improvements, stock, implements, land, etc., offered as security must be kept in good condition, and failure to do so will cause the mortgage to become due and payable in full at once.

Payments of moneys loaned shall be made, in Class C, to the person, or persons, to whom the indebtedness is due. In Class B payment shall be made to the vendor upon order from the borrower. Loans made for labor shall be paid to the person or persons performing the service, upon order from the borrower.

All insurable security offered for loans must be properly protected by insurance, and all such policies must be made payable to the mortgagee.

All mortgages are subject to foreclosure according to the laws of the Territory of Hawaii for failure to meet the conditions specified therein. No loan shall be made on unsurveyed land.

Land held under homestead lease or agreement may be mortgaged in an amount not to exceed per centum (50%) of the mortgagor's interest in the land.

Security offered may consist of land, livestock, chattels, and growing crops.

The mortgagor must remain on the land during the life of the mortgage, and permission for any leave of absence must be obtained from the Farm Loan Board. Such permission may be granted only in cases of extreme necessity.

The Covenant Of The League Of Nations

The High Contracting Parties,

In order to promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war, by the prescriptions of open, just and honourable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international law as the actual rule of conduct among Governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organised peoples with one another,

Agree to this Covenant of the League of Nations.

Article 1.

The original Members of the League of Nations shall be those of the Signatories which are named in the Annex to this Covenant and also such of those other States named in the Annex as shall accede without reservation to this Covenant. Such accession shall be effected by a Declaration deposited with the Secretariat within two months of the coming into force of the Covenant. Notice thereof shall be sent to all other Members of the League.

Any fully self-governing State, Dominion or Colony not named in the Annex may become a Member of the League if its admission is agreed to by two-thirds of the Assembly, provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations, and shall accept such regulations as may be prescribed by the League in regard to its military and naval forces and armaments.

Any Member of the League may, after two years' notice of its intention so to do, withdraw from the League, provided that all its international obligations and all its obligations under this Covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal.

Article 2

The action of the League under this Covenant shall be effected through the instrumentality of an Assembly and of a Council, with a permanent Secretariat.

Article 3

The Assembly shall consist of Representatives of the Members of the League.

The Assembly shall meet at stated intervals and from time to time as occasion may require at the Seat of the League or at such other place as may be decided upon.

The Assembly may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the League or affecting the peace of the world.

At meetings of the Assembly each Member of the League shall have one vote, and may have not more than three Representatives.

Article 4

The Council shall consist of Representatives of the Principal Allied and Associated Powers, together with Representatives of four other Members of the League. These four Members of the League shall be selected by the Assembly from time to time to its discretion. Until the appointment of the Representatives of the four Members of the League first selected by the Assembly, Representatives of Belgium, Brazil, Spain and Greece shall be members of the Council.

With the approval of the majority of the Assembly, the Council may name additional Members of the League whose Representatives shall always be members of the Council; the Council with like approval may increase the number of Members of the League to be selected by the Assembly for representation on the Council.

The Council shall meet from time to time as occasion may require, and at least once a year, at the Seat of the League, or at such other place as may be decided upon.

The Council may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the League or affecting the peace of the world.

Any Member of the League not represented on the Council shall be invited to send a Representative to sit as a member at any meeting of the Council during the consideration of matters specially affecting the interests of that Member of the League.

At meetings of the Council, each Member of the League represented on the Council shall have one vote, and may have not more than one Representative.

Article 5

Except where otherwise expressly provided in this Covenant or by the terms of the present Treaty, decisions at any meeting of the Assembly or of the Council shall require the agreement of all the Members of the League represented at the meeting.

All matters of procedure at meetings of the Assembly or of the Council, including the appointment of Committees to investigate particular matters, shall be regulated by a majority of the Members of the League represented at the meeting.

The first meeting of the Assembly and the first meeting of the Council shall be summoned by the President of the United States of America.

Article 6

The permanent Secretariat shall be established at the Seat of the League. The Secretariat shall comprise a Secretary General and such secretaries and staff as may be required.

The first Secretary General shall be the person named in the Annex; thereafter the Secretary General shall be appointed by the Council with the approval of the majority of the Assembly.

The secretaries and staff of the Secretariat shall be appointed by the Secretary General with the approval of the Council.

The Secretary General shall act in that capacity at all meetings of the Assembly and of the Council.

The expenses of the Secretariat shall be borne by the Members of the League in accordance with the apportionment of the expenses of the International Bureau of the Universal Postal Union.

Article 7

The Seat of the League is established at Geneva.

The Council may at any time decide that the Seat of the League shall be established elsewhere.

All positions under or in connection with the League, including the Secretariat, shall be open equally to men and women.

Representatives of the Members of the League and officials of the League when engaged on the business of the League shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities.

The buildings and other property occupied by the League or its officials or by Representatives attending its meetings shall be inviolable.

Article 8

The Members of the League recognise that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.

The Council, taking account of the geographical situation and circumstances of each State, shall formulate plans for such reduction for the consideration and action of the several Governments.

Such plans shall be subject to reconsideration and revision at least every ten years.

After these plans shall have been adopted by the several Governments, the limits or armaments therein fixed shall not be exceeded without the concurrence of the Council.

The Members of the League agree that the manufacture by private enterprise of munitions and implements of war is open to grave objections. The Council shall advise how the evil effects attendant upon such manufacture can be prevented, due regard being had to the necessities of those Members of the League which are not able to manufacture the munitions and implements of war necessary for their safety.

The Members of the League undertake to interchange full and frank information as to the scale of their armaments, their military and naval programmes and the condition of such of their industries as are adaptable to war-like purposes.

Article 9

A permanent Commission shall be constituted to advise the Council on the execution of the provisions of Articles 1 and 8 and on military and naval questions generally.

Article 10

The Members of the League undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all Members of the League. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the Council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.

Article 11

Any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the Members of the League or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole League, and the League shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations. In case any such emergency should arise the Secretary General shall on the request of any Member of the League forthwith summon a meeting of the Council.

It is also declared to be the friendly right of each Member of the League to bring to the attention of the Assembly or of the Council any circumstance whatever affecting international relations which threatens to disturb international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends.

Article 12

The Members of the League agree that if there should arise between them any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, they will submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the Council, and they agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award by the arbitrators or the report by the Council.

In any case under this Article the award of the arbitrators shall be made within a reasonable time, and the report of the Council shall be made within six months after the submission of the dispute.

Article 13

The Members of the League agree that whenever any dispute shall arise between them which they recognise to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which cannot be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy, they will submit the whole subject-matter to arbitration.

Disputes as to the interpretation of a treaty, as to any question of international law, as to the existing of any fact which if established would constitute a breach of any international obligation, or as to the extent and nature of the reparation to be made for any such breach, are declared to be among those which are generally suitable for submission to arbitration.

For the consideration of any such dispute the Court of Arbitration to which the case is referred shall be the court agreed on by the parties to the dispute or stipulated in any convention existing between them.

The Members of the League agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered, and that they will not resort to war against a Member of the League which complies therewith. In the event of any failure to carry out such an award, the Council shall propose what steps should be taken to give effect thereto.

Article 14

The Council shall formulate and submit to the Members of the League for adoption plans for the establishment of a Permanent Court of International Justice. The Court shall be competent to hear and determine any dispute of an international character which the parties thereto submit to it. The Court may also give an advisory opinion upon any dispute or question referred to it by the Council or by the Assembly.

Article 15

If there should arise between Members of the League any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration in accordance with Article 13, the Members of the League agree that they will submit the matter to the Council. Any party to the dispute may effect such submission by giving notice of the existence of the dispute to the Secretary General, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof.

For this purpose the parties to the dispute will communicate to the Secretary General, as promptly as possible, statements of their case with all the relevant facts and papers, and the Council may forthwith direct the publication thereof.

The Council shall endeavour to effect a settlement of the dispute, and if such efforts are successful, a statement shall be made public giving such facts and explanations regarding the dispute and the terms of settlement thereof as the Council may deem appropriate.

If the dispute is not thus settled, the Council either unanimously or by a majority vote shall make and publish a report containing a statement of the facts of the dispute and the recommendations which are deemed just and proper in regard thereto.

Any Member of the League represented on the Council may make public a statement of the facts of the dispute and of its conclusions regarding the same.

If a report by the Council is unanimously agreed to by the Members thereof other than the Representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute, the Members of the League agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendations of the report.

If the Council fails to reach a report which is unanimously agreed to by the Members thereof, other than the Representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute, the Members of the League reserve to themselves the right to take such action as they shall consider necessary for the maintenance of right and justice.

If the dispute between the parties is claimed by one of them, and is found by the Council, to arise out of a matter which by international law is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the Council shall so report, and shall make no recommendation as to its settlement.

The Council may in any case under this Article refer the dispute to the Assembly. The dispute shall be so referred at the request of either party to the dispute, provided that such request be made within fourteen days after the submission of the dispute to the Council.

In any case referred to the Assembly all the provisions of this Article and of Article 12 relating to the action and powers of the Council shall apply to the action and powers of the Assembly, provided that a report made by the Assembly, if concurred in by the Representatives of those Members of the League represented on the Council and of a majority of the other Members of the League, exclusive in each case of the Representatives of the parties to the dispute, shall have the same force as a report by the Council concurred in by all the members thereof other than the Representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute.

Article 16

Should any Member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants under Articles 12, 13, or 15, it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other Members of the League, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking State, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking State and the

Adds years to the life of your car

Correct lubrication with Zerolene means better performance and longer life for your car.

By exhaustive study and actual tests the Standard Oil Company Board of Lubrication Engineers has determined the correct consistency of Zerolene for your make of automobile. Their recommendations are available for you in the Zerolene Correct Lubrication Charts. There is a chart for each make of car.

Zerolene is correctly refined from selected California crude oil. It keeps its lubricating body at cylinder heat, holds compression, gives perfect protection to the moving parts and deposits least carbon. It is the product of the combined resources, experience and equipment of the Standard Oil Company.

THE WONDERFUL AGE

Until the summer of 1914 people of that day were wont to regard the fifteen or twenty-five years through which they had just passed as the most wonderful age of all time and that the world had reached the pinnacle of civilization. The world now looks upon the inventions and accomplishments of those days as but puny strugglings when compared in the light of the wonderful achievements of the past five years. Especially is this so in those triumphs of transportation which have taken place during the fore part of 1919, in which the forces of the air are slowly being conquered and it has been proved that they no longer will be able to mystify us and baffle our efforts any more than do the ocean currents of today.

The U. S. Navy seaplane NC-4 flew across the Atlantic ocean and back again, with a stop at the Azores islands. Captain Alcock and Lieut. Brown shortly after this feat made a non-stop trans-Atlantic flight in a Vickers-Vimy plane from Newfoundland to England, when Harry Hawker had failed to make it. This week saw the completion of a round trip flight by the English dirigible R-34. Thus it has been demonstrated that the secrets of the air can now no longer be secrets, and that it will soon be possible to make a trip to Europe or Hawaii or China via the air route.

To one who has had the opportunity to watch the airmen in their efforts to conquer the air forces these deeds partake of the miraculous. The writer well remembers the first long distance flight that was attempted. It was by Aviator Hamilton, now deceased, who flew from New York to Philadelphia and return in a Curtiss biplane, a distance of 182 miles. Crowds waited on the shores of New York City to watch the return of this intrepid airman. The journey was never completed, because the plane got stuck in the mud about 25 miles from Governor's Island where he was to land. When Curtiss flew from Albany, N. Y. down the Hudson River to New York City, a little over 143 miles, it was considered a wonderful feat. When Calbraith Rogers flew across the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, the people at the end of the journey nearly went wild when they saw his machine coming through the air, but before Rogers could put his discoveries of the air currents into print the air took its toll of his life, from a height of 150 feet.

Innumerable attempts have been made to sail a dirigible across the Atlantic Ocean, but not until the R-34 completed her recent trip has the feasibility of using dirigibles for long distances been successfully demonstrated.

Yet it took the greatest calamity in the world's history to bring this wonderful age about. When one stops and contemplates the forces which have done this, they are forced to turn again to that verse from the Psalms: "The Lord works in mysterious ways his wonders to perform."

It seems cruel that in order to have achieved these wonders it should have been necessary for so many to have laid down their lives. History shows, however, that no progress has ever made without a sacrifice of human life. We should rejoice that the sacrifice was not in vain, for by the necessities of war have we been brought into closer relation with each other, physically as well as spiritually. By the successful conquering of the air currents over the ocean the peoples of the world will be in closer communion, and each to know the other as it has never been possible for world peoples heretofore to do.

ONE OF MAUI'S NEEDS

There are several things that Maui needs to keep herself up to date and abreast of the rest of the world, or even her own islands. Probably the most important of these is the establishment of an automobile club, for the protection and assistance of the motorist, pedestrians and residents. Honolulu has an automobile club, Hilo has an automobile club, and it is time that Maui had one, not only in order to be up-to-date, but because such an organization is vitally needed on this island.

An automobile association is primarily for the protection of the motorist. It also protects the pedestrian and other vehicular traffic, and improves the island for residents and visitors. If a stranger should visit Maui bringing his own automobile with him, he would not know how to get around the island without a guide for the reason that your roads are not adequately sign posted. An automobile association sees to the posting of legible instructive road signs. An automobile association watches the condition of the roads and keeps its members informed of travel conditions; it posts signs at danger points for the benefit of the travelling public. An automobile association assists in legislation looking toward the upkeep of existing roads, and sends a pathfinder out to open up new and better routes. Wherever you find an automobile association in a community there you will find good roads, adequate directions and a maximum of motor travel. An automobile association looks to the prosecution of violators of the traffic rules and also the establishment of rules that can easily be observed by all. It might be of interest to Maui News readers to be reminded that within the past month there have been five automobile accidents.

The state of California is the motorists' paradise, for the reason that the automobile clubs of both northern and southern California have made it so. Immediately after a storm the auto association's pathfinder car is sent out to cover all the roads and make a report on their condition. This report is published immediately and thus accidents are avoided. Dangerous curves are noted and signs posted thereon. Temporary routes are established during road repair work, and as soon as a new road is open the travelling public is immediately notified of it. Guide books giving distances, repair shops and supply stations are published.

Would not such a service be a boon to Maui motorists on this island of long distances and scattered populations?

IS MAUI OVERLOOKING A BET?

A resident of Honolulu who took notice of the Maui exhibit at the Territorial Fair in a letter to the Commercial Advertiser in the big city points out that Maui by her characterization of the exhibit of chayote as pig feed is overlooking a big bet in the edible food line, and advises Maui farmers to push the growing of chayote for other purposes than feeding pigs. The letter is as follows:

"The chayote, better known in Hawaii as the 'Portuguese squash,' is a vegetable that deserves to be more widely used, for certainly there is no vegetables approaching it in delicacy of flavor.

"Seeing an exhibit from Maui at the Fair and hearing its virtues extolled as 'pig-feed' reminds one that David G. Fairchild brought the chayote from Egypt twenty-five or thirty years ago and wrote a bulletin about his discovery. The self-same chayote is common in the New Orleans markets and is sometimes shown in the stores catering to the better class fruit and vegetable trade in New York and Washington. The San Francisco trade knows and appreciates the chayote. Hence, to refer to it as 'pig feed' seems rather to elevate the porcine pets privileged to fatten thereon.

"As the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the proof of the chayote is in the way it is cooked. To get the full delicacy of flavor it must be steamed in its own juices. Peel it, remove the one big pumpkin seed, cut in cubes, add salt, a dash of pepper and a little butter, and let it simmer in a covered pot forty minutes. If your Oriental cook mashes the chayote, or add water, or any other condiment or sauce,—fire him without notice. He deserves hanging but servants are so scarce these days one must conserve the supply. Get the chayote habit and let the pigs go without."

ONE YEAR OLD—THE AIR MAIL

The first use of the airplane in commerce was the Air Mail Service of the United States—so it was asserted, at least, by Otto Praeger, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, in an address before the Southern Aeronautical Congress at Macon, Ga. He went on, as quoted by The Aerial Age (New York):

"When we started the aerial mail with the assistance of the Army we were told if we scored fifty per cent of the schedule trip we ought to be satisfied, and that we might be compelled to suspend operation during at least three months in the winter.

When the first anniversary of the Air Mail Service was celebrated, the same two planes with the same motors that flew the aerial mail on May 15, a year ago, carried the mail on that day, after a year of continuous and strenuous service through sunshine, rain, or gale. The Air Mail Service is a success, both in the efficiency of its flying and as a postal facility."

Hawaii expects to be included in the air mail service before the second anniversary rolls around.

A TRIBUTE

Maui has lost by death, one of her most highly respected citizens. Edgar John Walker. Yet Maui has gained, for by his passing she realizes more keenly what manner of man she entertained.

Not only was Mr. Walker respected for his business ability, but respected for the traits of character which made him a genial companion, a kind father and a devoted companion. The family life of Mr. Walker was a joy to the visitor, and the companionship evident between him and his wife were constant reminders that there is such a thing as happy marriages. Mr. Walker had a heart as big as the great outdoors, a kind word for everyone, a love for animals and was possessed of that spirit of humaneness which lives beyond his passing. While he himself physically, has passed from our ken, the spirit of generosity and kindness that was his remains with us, a sweet memory and a shining example.

GERMAN EFFICIENCY

A Muhlhausen newspaper published recently an article stating that 5,000,000,000 pounds of barley were used in Germany during the war for making beer, although 500,000 persons died in that time owing to lack of proper food. The newspaper advocates reduction of beer production as a patriotic duty.

A communist is a man who thinks it would be easier to divide up the other fellow's property than to get busy and earn some property for himself.—Star-Bulletin.

China and Japan are in the class of twins with the colic. As soon as one is quieted the other yells.

Formerly the most-sought-for thing in the world was perpetual motion. Now it is perpetual peace.

One of the troubles of the world is that it has too many imperative needs that conflict with one another.

OPEN FORUM

An Open Letter To The Public

There are numerous complaints going around regarding the class of service the patrons of the Wailuku Orpheum are receiving night after night. First the "kicks" are registered against the poor projection. In defense of the management let me state my side of the story.

There is absolutely no fault with the operator, who is a competent man and understands his business. Our equipment is the best that money can buy. We have a brand new Simplex projector, motor driven, style "S" Lamp House, which is the last word in motion picture projectors. The carbons are the National and Silver Tip Carbons, which are the highest priced carbons on the market today.

The whole fault lies with the Island Electric company. They do not furnish us enough power to keep our machine going right. The power keeps fluctuating and one second the light on the picture will be fine and the next it is out. We are helpless to control this and I have repeatedly complained to Mr. Blair but he states he can do nothing as he is not empowered to make repairs to install new equipment.

Many people wonder why Kahului Theater has such a beautiful light on the pictures and never has any trouble. The whole thing in a few words is that the Kahului Theater is supplied with juice from the Puuene Mill and not from the Island Electric Company. I am as thoroughly disgusted as the people are and I cannot blame the patrons of the Wailuku Orpheum for feeling the way they do. There is only one way out for us and that is for all the people to sign a petition stating the facts and class of service we are receiving at the hands of the Island Electric Company and forward it to the Public Utilities Board in Honolulu. Until this is done I am afraid we will have to continue going along as in the past.

Residents of Wailuku have noticed in the homes during the dinner hour or in the evening how the light fluctuates and sometimes it almost goes out and several times we have been in complete darkness while eating supper. It is up to the people to get busy and help me force the Island Electric Company to furnish enough power to give you the kind of a show you pay your good money to see and have a right to expect.

Trusting I will have your cooperation in this matter I remain Sincerely yours,
JOHN A. CARROLL, Mgr.

Launch New Idea In Factory Site

LOS ANGELES, July 2—(Associated Press)—Residents of Los Angeles' most exclusive home district—the West Lake—were shocked, then surprised and now they don't know just what to think, as the result of an announcement made here recently by the owner of the largest shirt waist factory in the city that he intended to construct an $300,000 factory right in their midst.

When the project was first announced, home-owners, picturing an unsightly, gaunt building, rose in their wrath and prepared to fight the plan. But that was before the shirt waist manufacturer showed the architect's plans for the buildings.

According to the proposed plans, the building will have the appearance of a high-class apartment-hotel, or a school and is considered a decided innovation in industrial construction.

When asked to explain why he desired to move from the industrial district to the residence district, with his factory, the manufacturer said:

"It is not proper that a shirt waist factory should be sandwiched in between an iron foundry and a machine shop and it is not right that employees in my factory should be forced to work in the smoke and soot which these establishments give off."

The building will be constructed U-shaped and will be five stories in height and two of the interesting features will be a school of instruction for employees and a permanent exhibit of products of the silk industry from the raw silk to the finished articles of commerce.

To allow the construction of the building, it was necessary to secure approval by two-thirds of the property-owners in the district and the manufacturer announces he has secured approval of 85 per cent.

What Constitutes An Act Of God?

SAN MONICA, Cal., June 30—(Associated Press)—Is an airplane collision in midair an "act of God" and if not, can damages be collected for a bean crop which was damaged when the two planes fell? These are the questions that are puzzling attorneys for the Santa Monica Mountain Park Company, owners of a ten-acre tract, planted in beans, which was virtually destroyed recently as the direct result of an airplane collision.

Two aviators went up over Santa Monica Canyon, near here, to perform thrilling feats for a moving picture. A passenger in one plane was scheduled to leap to the other, while both were in full flight. A third airplane circled a short distance away, bearing a camera and a camera-man to take pictures of the "stunt." When the machines drew close to each other, they collided, and plunged to earth. When they hit the ground, they tore up a large plot that had been planted to beans. Several thousand people who had been watching the flight rushed to where the airman fell and, it is alleged, contributed further to the bean crop's destruction by trampling down the vines.

Now the company owning the beans wants financial redress and they are contemplating the feasibility of taking action against the aviators, who, they claim, were the cause of the destruction.

Will Make A New York Of Turk City

ROME, June 12—(Associated Press)—"With the Americans in Constantinople they would make it a greater port than New York," Maffeo Pantaleoni, dean of Italian economists, said today, to The Associated Press. "The vast resources of Southern Russia, of Armenia, the Ukraine, Rumania, and parts of Asia Minor must all pass through Constantinople. The riches of that vast territory are yet untouched and should proper exploitation be undertaken, Constantinople would become the greatest gateway in the world."

"Napoleon was right when he said, 'It is the key to the world.'"

"All it needs is something of that American organization to put it in its right place."

PRESIDENT'S SHIP NOW BRINGS WAR BRIDES

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 13—The George Washington has been fitted with a nursery for the care of war babies, and will bring 200 war brides from Europe on the next trip. Sixteen war babies, and 378 war brides arrived within the week.

The Covenant Of The League Of Nations

nationals of any other State, whether a Member of the League or not.

It shall be the duty of the Council in such case to recommend to the several Governments concerned what effective military or naval force the Members of the League shall severally contribute to the armed forces to be used to protect the covenants of the League.

The Members of the League agree, further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this Article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures, and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by the covenant-breaking State, and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage through their territory to the forces of any of the Members of the League which are co-operating to protect the covenants of the League.

Any Member of the League which has violated any covenant of the League may be declared to be no longer a Member of the League by a vote of the Council concurred in by the Representatives of all the other Members of the League represented thereon.

Article 17.

In the event of a dispute between a Member of the League and a State which is not a Member of the League, or between States not Members of the League, the State or States not Members of the League shall be invited to accept the obligations of membership in the League for the purposes of such dispute, upon such conditions as the Council may deem just. If such invitation is accepted, the provisions of Articles 12 to 16 inclusive shall be applied with such modifications as may be deemed necessary by the Council.

Upon such invitation being given the Council shall immediately institute an inquiry into the circumstances of the dispute and recommend such action as may seem best and most effectual in the circumstances.

If a State so invited shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the League for the purposes of such dispute, and shall resort to war against a Member of the League, the provisions of Article 16 shall be applicable as against the State taking such action.

If both parties of the dispute when so invited refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the League for the purposes of such dispute, the Council may take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute.

Article 18.

Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any Member of the League shall be forthwith registered with the Secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.

Article 19.

The Assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by Members of the League of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

Article 20.

The Members of the League severally agree that this Covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof, and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case any Member of the League shall, before becoming a Member of the League, have undertaken any obligations inconsistent with the terms of this Covenant, it shall be the duty of such Member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations.

Article 21.

Nothing in this Covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

Article 22.

To those colonies and territories which as a consequence of the late war have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the States which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization and that accarities for the performance of this trust should be embodied in this Covenant.

The best method of giving practical effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples should be entrusted to advanced nations who by reason of their resources, their experience or the geographical position can best undertake this responsibility, and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as Mandatories on behalf of the League.

The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic conditions and other similar circumstances.

Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish Empire have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognised subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a Mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the Mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of Central Africa, are at such a stage that the Mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience and religion, subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses such as the slave trade, the arms traffic and the liquor traffic, and the prevention of the establishment of fortifications or military and naval bases and of military training of the natives for other than police purposes and the defence of territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other Members of the League.

There are territories, such as South-West Africa and certain of the South Pacific Islands, which, owing to the sparseness of their population, or their small size, or their remoteness from the centres of civilisation, or their geographical continuity to the territory of the Mandatory, and other circumstances, can be best administered under the laws of the Mandatory as integral portions of its territory, subject to the safeguards above mentioned in the interests of the indigenous population.

In every case of mandate, the Mandatory shall render to the Council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

The degree of authority, control, or administration to be exercised by the Mandatory shall, if not previously agreed upon by the Members of the League, be explicitly defined in each case by the Council.

A permanent Commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the Mandatories and to advise the Council on all matters relating to the observance of the mandates.

Article 23.

Subject to and in accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, the Members of the League:

- (a) will endeavour to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women, and children, both in their own countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend, and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations;
- (b) undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control;
- (c) will entrust the League with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children, and the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs;
- (d) will entrust the League with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest;
- (e) will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communications and of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all Members of the League. In this connection, the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-1918 shall be borne in mind;
- (f) will endeavour to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease.

Article 24.

There shall be placed under the direction of the League all international bureaus already established by general treaties if the parties to such treaties consent. All such international bureaus and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the League.

In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general conventions but which are not placed under the control of international bureaus or commissions, the Secretariat of the League shall, subject to the consent of the Council and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

The Council may include as part of the expenses of the Secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the League.

Article 25.

The Members of the League agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purposes the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

Article 26.

Amendments to this Covenant will take effect when ratified by the Members of the League whose Representatives compose the Council and by a majority of the Members of the League whose Representatives compose the Assembly.

No such amendment shall bind any Member of the League which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a Member of the League.

S. S. Manoa arrived this morning with $24 tons general merchandise for Maui. She will take away 2500 tons of sugar, 500 tons of molasses and 20 tons of general merchandise.

The Manoa will sail for Honolulu and San Francisco, tomorrow night. The following will be passengers to the coast: Miss Harriet Stanley, Miss Ethel Wrigley, Miss L. La Croix, Mrs. A. B. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bevin, Wilson Montgomery, Mrs. D. T. Fleming, Father Edmonds.

Honolulu passengers are: Miss Frances Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur and two children, Miss Helen Howell, D. B. Murdoch, A. B. Brane.

Honolulu To New York Race Is On

The S. S. West Cavanah sailed from Kahului Monday night at 6:30 P. M. with a cargo of sugar direct for New York via the Panama canal. She took 6148 tons from Kahului and 2,000 tons from Honolulu. The West Cavanah made a record for loading at Kahului, getting all her cargo in three days.

The captain and chief engineer of the speedy shipping board boat as well as their friends in Kahului feel that this gives the West Cavanah a good chance at winning the race to New York now on between three of the finest of the shipping board steamer. The three steamers arrived West Alcoa, West Cavanah and Chippung from San Francisco about the same time. The West Alcoa loaded at Kahanapali, and it is expected was the first to get away in the race, but the West Cavanah crew is sure they will beat her out and give her three days start at that, for the boat on this, her maiden voyage, made the run from San Francisco in 7 1/2 days. The Chippung it was expected would get away from Hilo by the 16th, and when the three boats land in New York they will bring in altogether 24,000 tons of Hawaiian sugar. There is considerable interest in shipping circles over this race, which smacks of old time seafaring tales.

Flat Water Rate To Ships In Future

Walsh Urges Same Rate As Honolulu Charges For Shipping—Board Amends Ordinance

The matter of water for vessels came up at the meeting of the board of supervisors July 10, at which time Mr. Walsh of the Kahului railroad made a plea for cheaper water for vessels.

Mr. Walsh read a portion of a letter from Col. Newcomer in which Mr. Newcomer spoke of dredging matters and especially referred to the high rate charged for water for vessels and wanted to know if there was any justification for this excessive charge.

Mr. Walsh stated that he believed the County of Maui should do everything in its power to encourage shipping. Mr. Walsh further stated that he believed anything that may be done for the benefit of Kahului means a benefit to Maui and that in these days when we are trying to encourage shipping we ought not to make such a charge for water.

The rate charged to ships at the wharf in Honolulu is $1.50.

Upon motion of Mr. Uahinu, seconded by Mr. Cockett and carried, an ordinance was authorized amending Section 17 of Ordinance No. 27 as amended by Ordinance Nos. 32, 35 and 39, striking out the words "1/2 cent per gallon and inserting in lieu thereof the words $1.50 per thousand gallons, was passed.

Exams. To Be Held At Summer Camp

The examinations for the teachers certificates will be held, in August, not only at the Summer School, but also on the various islands, so that persons desiring to take these examinations will not need to leave their home island. However, the courses to be given at the Summer School, at Kilauea Camp, will be of great assistance in preparation for the examinations, and all persons who can do so are urged to attend the Summer School. Some of the noteworthy courses, dealing with the public school course study, are as follows:

Physical Training Miss Etta B. Agee
and Mr. Chas. A. Pease
Hygiene and Sanitation Mr. William Meisner
Child Welfare Mrs. A. L. Andrews
Modern Education Mr. V. MacCaughy
All of these courses are free and open to all qualified persons. The camp has ample accommodations for about two hundred people, including men. In addition to the course there will be evening lectures, concerts, entertainments, etc.

INVITE DANIELS AS GUEST OF ISLAND

The chamber of commerce of Honolulu sent a message to Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, inviting him to be a guest of that body during his visit to Hawaii. Word was received through the Associated Press that Secretary Daniels would come here with the Pacific fleet to inspect the naval base at Pearl Harbor and the directors of the chamber immediately tabled him.

Walter F. Dillingham, president of the chamber of commerce, extended to Secretary Daniels an invitation to come to Hawaii some weeks ago. San Francisco is making elaborate plans for the entertainment of Secretary Daniels during his visit there.

"Woman of Impulse"

Leonora is the daughter of a poor lace-maker. She possesses a beautiful voice, but is not aware of the opportunity it offers her. It remains for Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, wealthy Americans, to discover its powers and on the death of her mother they adopt Leonora, together with her younger sister, Nina. Shortly afterwards she blossoms forth in Paris as its idol. She is now La Vecchi, a much admired and sought after prima donna.

One of her most ardent suitors is Count Nerval of Spain, whom Leonora refuses to marry because of his unusually jealous disposition. She does, however, love him. His American cousin, Phillip, also becomes infatuated with the singer. Jealous of this new rival, Nerval almost forces Leonora to marry him. They depart for America for their honeymoon. Nina, accompanying them, meets a young doctor, Paul Spencer, aboard ship and the two fall in love.

Leonora goes on tour in the States and when in the South receives an invitation to visit Phillip and his parents. He again makes love to her but she remains faithful to her marriage vows. So Phillip, being jealous, turns his attentions toward Nina. The jealous Nerval breaks for the time being with Leonora because of her presence in his cousin's home.

Nina receives a letter from Paul saying he is coming for a visit. Leonora takes this letter and shows it to Phillip, asking him to discontinue favoring Nina with his attentions. It is night and Phillip attempts to kiss the chorine. She, afraid, tries to stab him with a dagger. He easily defends himself and seizes her in his arms. She faints. But when she revives she discovers Phillip dead. When Paul arrives he conducts an investigation and proves that Leonora could not have inflicted the wound. Soon after a creole girl confesses to the deed. She had loved Phillip. Later Leonora and her husband are reunited.

"Battling Jane"

In a little village in a Mine a Thrift Stamp drive is in full progress when Jane rides into town on a bicycle. She is from nowhere and going in the same direction. A tire puncture causes her to halt on her journey and make repairs. She overhears Dr. Sheldon quarreling with his wife. The upshot of this is that the worthless doctor leaves her flat. Mrs. Sheldon faints and Jane assists her into the house, there to be greeted by Baby Sheldon. Soon afterwards Mrs. Sheldon dies and there is nothing for Jane to do but to stay on and take charge of the infant's welfare.

To make ends meet Jane goes to work in the town restaurant and it is in this capacity that she is first dubbed "The Battler". When a theatrical troupe comes to town Jane encounters Wilbur, one of the actors and a bit of romance comes into her life. However, her time is largely occupied with the Sheldon baby. A feature of the Thrift Stamp drive is a baby show and, with all the other infants of the town, Jane's young charge is entered for the prize—and he wins it. Jane discovers herself the possessor of five hundred dollars as a result.

When Dr. Sheldon hears of this he makes all haste to return to the village and claim the money. He encounters Jane, however, who drives him away with a gun. He goes for the sheriff. Jane sees them approaching the house and takes refuge in a shack. But the baby is suddenly taken violently ill. Realizing that Sheldon is a doctor, Jane makes him tend the baby's needs at the point of the gun. He again tries to get the money but detectives are summoned and carry him away.

Jane, to insure the little one's future, invests the five hundred in stamps and as a result the town goes "over the top" in its drive.

It seems there are a lot of alien agitators in this country who are not at all pleased with it. And this country is not at all pleased with a lot of alien agitators. The solution seems fairly obvious.—New York Evening Sun.

Hawaiian Women Appeal For Help

Ask Support In Effort To Get A Moving Picture Machine For Kula Sanitarium

There will be a shiritsu dance held next Saturday night at Paia Community house for the benefit of the Kula Sanitarium. This benefit dance is being gotten up by the Hawaiian women of Maui in order to bring a little light and laughter into the lives of the white plague army at Kula, while they are putting up the fight for their lives. The proceeds of the dance will go to purchase a moving picture machine, to be used at the Sanitarium.

When one thinks of those men, women and children at Kula, far removed from the center of community life, with nothing to do but lie and look at each other all day long, with their daily doings narrowed down to the dull routine of sanitarium life, any contribution made toward alleviating this condition is a boon. Through the moving pictures the world can be brought to the bedside of these tubercular patients. They can laugh at the pictures you laugh at and weep with the same heroine you weep with. They can enjoy the antics of the Bray cartoons and keep up to date with the new inventions, the president's appearances, Mack-Sennett's comedies, the boys marching home, and all the things which go to make up the news of the world.

The moving spirit in this charitable purpose is Miss Rebecca Akana, who is the Territorial nurse and who probably knows more about the tubercular conditions of the islands than any other person except Dr. Durney. Miss Akana has been nurse at the sanitarium and knows how little the patients have to amuse them. She knows that the moving picture will do much toward helping in their recovery, for it will take them out of themselves and give them an interest in life. Many on Maui have friends or relatives at Kula Sanitarium, and these, of course, will get behind the movement. It is to the people who have no vital interest in Kula other than that of humanitarianism that the Hawaiian women of Maui are making an appeal for support of this benefit.

The night of the dance Mr. P. H. Ross will demonstrate the machine and tell how the pictures will be sent and what class of pictures will be furnished. Home-made cake and candy will be sold at the dance, and those who cannot come are asked to send a cake or candy to be sold in conjunction with the evening's entertainment.

Much Rebuilt But Still Same Stand

King Kalakaua's old coronation stand, later used as the bandstand in the capitol grounds, and recently rebuilt of permanent material is something like Pat's jackknife. He first had new blades put in and later on a new handle, but to Pat it was the same old jackknife.

The coronation stand has been rebuilt two or three times, but the newest reconstruction, consisting of an entirely new set of supporting pillars, platform and substructure, is in the finishing stages and the cupola or "crown", which was suspended in mid-air during the reconstruction has been lowered upon the new concrete pillars. The crown was in something of the positions of the famous "hanging gardens."

The cupola required some attention from carpenters due to worm eaten timbers, but these have been attended to. The cupola will be repainted, the coats-of-arms of foreign nations will be varnished and the concrete work will be tinted to harmonize with the superstructure.

Lahaina Wants Help With Park Expense

The board of supervisors have received a plea from the Malulu-o-lele Park Committee of Lahaina asking that the board pay a balance of $629 on the debt which was incurred in putting the park at Lahaina into shape. The letter stated that the committee had collected $400 from Lahaina residents and the Pioneer Mill company had agreed to pay $709. The board was asked to pay this in view of the fact that it is a public park. No action was taken, the matter being deferred to be taken up with the appropriation bill.

PERSONAL MENTION

S. S. Paxson, of the Territorial Board of Health, paid an visit to Maui last week. He arrived Saturday morning on the Claudine and after making an inspection and several appointments left for Hilo the same evening.

L. M. Baldwin, County Treasurer, who has been ill at his home for a number of weeks is reported as being slightly better.

George Preeland who was operated on several weeks ago for appendicitis is now able to receive visitors. He will be at the Lahaina hospital for several weeks more.

George Wilbur who has been at the Puunene hospital for three weeks returned to his home at Waikapu the early part of the week. After several weeks rest there he and his family will go to Honolulu.

Manager Harry Duncan of the Kahului R.R. is now back at his post after an illness of two weeks.

Miss G. Bennett, daughter of Captain Bennett of the Claudine, arrived on the Sackem to pass the summer vacation with Captain and Mrs. Bennett. She is attending business college in San Francisco.

To make an inspection of the progress of work on the new wharf at Hana, Maui, Governor Charles J. McCarthy and Lyman H. Bigelow, chairman of the board of harbor commissioners arrived in Hana Tuesday.

Attorney Eugene Murphy sailed for the coast on the Sackem from Honolulu last Monday. He will be gone for about a month.

Dr. Durney of Kula Sanitarium who has been ill for some weeks, has been visited a vacation by the board of supervisors and will leave soon for several months.

Mr. Ching and Mr. McFarlane of the U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station arrived in Wailuku Wednesday evening.

Miss Rife, school teacher of Puunene, returned Wednesday evening to Wailuku, from Queens hospital Honolulu, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Adele K. Cornwell has made application for the position of district nurse for Hana.

Dan Conway, of the American Factors company is making his regular trip to Maui and is registered at the Grand hotel.

Paul Townsley, who has been serving with the heavy artillery branch of the United States service as a first lieutenant for 18 months, returned to Wailuku last night, having finally received his discharge. Mr. Townsley, who formerly occupied the position of civil engineer with the Wailuku Sugar company, will remain on Maui but will be connected with the Pioneer Mill company at Lahaina.

Will comes from Honolulu of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Timmons on Tuesday. This is of interest to many people as both Mr. and Mrs. Timmons were formerly residents of Maui and were known here. Mrs. Timmons is the daughter of H. B. Strubeck of Wailuku and Mr. Timmons was at one time editor of The Maui News.

WILL TAKE OVER NAHIKU ROADS

At the meeting of the board of supervisors July 9, a letter was received from the manager of the East Maui Irrigation company in which he stated that according to the notification of the board that the County of Maui would take over the upkeep of the road from Keanae to the ditch camp, the roads at Nahiku would be turned over to the county on August 1, 1919.

Impressive Service For E. J. Walker

Impressive funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Makawao Union church, Paia at 2 o'clock as a last service for Edgar John Walker, manager of the Hamakua store, who died at the Paia hospital last Friday night. Mr. Walker was a prominent Mason and Elk, and had a Masonic escort to the church and cemetery. Rev. A. Craig Bowdish conducted the regular church funeral service, and Rowland B. Dodge officiated at the Masonic burial service. A quartet composed of H. W. Baldwin, H. D. Sloggett, David Redway and Scott Nichol, sang during the service. The pall bearers were D. C. Lindsay, J. P. Foster, F. P. Rosecrans, Joseph Meinecke and D. B. Murdock. The church was filled with the many friends of Mr. Walker who gathered to show him this last honor, and the casket was covered with floral offerings.

SOCIETY

Maui Schoolmates To Marry Tonight

Miss Myrtle Taylor And Alfred Hansen, Sweethearts Since School Days To Be Wed At Makawao Church

As the culmination of a school days' romance, Miss Myrtle Taylor and Alfred Hansen will be married tonight at the Makawao Union church. The happy couple have been engaged since January. Miss Taylor will be attended by Miss Winifred Wadsworth as bridesmaid, and Claude E. Chatterton will be best man. A large reception and dance will be held at the Paia Community house after the wedding.

This wedding joins two of Maui's most popular young people. Both are natives of Maui, having been born here. Miss Taylor is the daughter of Samuel E. Taylor, of Hamakua, and Mr. Hansen is the son of Conrad Hansen of Puunene. Miss Taylor is a graduate of Punahou college and Mr. Hansen of Valparaiso University, Indiana. He won a commission as first lieutenant during the war and served with the 1st Hawaiian Infantry at Schofield. He returned home a few weeks ago and resumed his position as luna for the H. C. & S. company. Miss Taylor has been deputy clerk for the Board of Supervisors and the County Attorney. The young couple will live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bevins on Vinyard street during their absence at the mainland.

Holds Monthly Social
Miss Huestner, principal of Maunaloa Seminary was the hostess at the Paia community monthly social, of which this was the second, which was held at the Seminary last Friday afternoon. About 50 attended and enjoyed a short program of music and recitations. Mrs. Hall read several selections, while Mrs. H. A. Baldwin sang several charming songs and Miss Wilcox and a band of Hawaiian girls sang the native songs. The social was also in the nature of a farewell by Miss Huestner to her many friends on Maui, before her departure in August.

Gets Hurry Call
Mrs. William Engle left on the Mauna Kea for Honolulu last Friday night and sailed on the Sackem Monday for the mainland. She was called away by the news that her father was very ill.

Will Stay Six Weeks
Mrs. Harry Macfarlane and daughter Jean Mary arrived Friday in Maui for a visit of six weeks with Mrs. Henry Macfarlane and Miss Lady Macfarlane.

Will Spend Month On Coast
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bevins will leave tomorrow night for Honolulu and thence to the mainland for a month's trip. They will spend their time in and around San Francisco visiting friends.

Ensnored In New Quarters
Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Weisbaum and their little daughter are living at the home of William Engle, in Wailuku, and will stay until the middle of August at which time Mrs. Weisbaum and daughter will sail for the mainland.

Miss Tavares Returns Home
Miss Lillian N. Tavares, daughter of Representative Tavares who has been at school on the mainland for almost a year returned on the Mauna Tuesday and will arrive today on Maui. She has been studying at the Hill's business college in Los Angeles.

Vacationing At Honolulu
Miss Margaret Rowland left Monday night for the Big City where she will spend a ten days' vacation visiting with friends.

Off For The Coast
Mrs. A. V. Crockett left on the Sackem Monday for a vacation on the coast. She will return to Wailuku in time for the fall school term.

Spend Jolly Picnic
Messrs. Chock Chong and Chock Chin entertained with a large picnic last Sunday at Waiehe beach, the main feature of which was a pig roast. The picnic was given in honor of Miss Ah Hee Young, who recently returned from school in Honolulu and G. S. Wong of the Bishop Bank of Hilo. Following the feast running and swimming races were enjoyed. Miss Young's ukulele playing was another source of enjoyment. The following were those who enjoyed the day: Messrs. Choy, Young, Tamano Yanagi, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Wong and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chock Chong and family, Messrs. Awa Young, Chock Chin and Wong.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS

More than a hundred men returned to Maui last week discharged from the 1st Hawaiian Infantry.

Richards Goes to Manila—David Richards, for many years a mill mechanic and engineer in the islands, received from Catton, Neill & Co., appointment as assistant superintendent in the work of erecting the mill for the Maun Sugar Central Co. in the Philippines. He will leave by the next boat for his post and expects to take about 40 Hawaiian assistants with him. This is the mill, built by Catton, Neill & Co., of which Hamilton McCubbin of Pioneer Mill is superintendent.

Kamalina Dies on Oahu—Manuel Costa Picadura, a native of the Azores, age 57, died July 4 in Honolulu, leaving a widow and 12 children—eight sons and four daughters. During his 37 years residence in Hawaii he was employed at Hana, Maui, and Wailuku, Oahu, as head blacksmith, and for three years has lived in Honolulu.

Haiku Farmers to Meet—The next meeting of the Haiku Farmers Association will be held at the Kuiaha schoolhouse, tomorrow night at 7:30 P. M. The subject will be on Diversified Farming, which will be illustrated with lantern slides. Reports will also be made on the Second Territorial Fair.

E. F. Hansen, tractor expert, for Theo H. Davies & Co., Ltd., returned to Honolulu on the Sackem, after visiting the Best tractor plant at San Leandro, Cal., and looking over the latest type of Best tractor, designed to meet the difficult soil conditions encountered on Hawaiian plantations. Mr. Hansen says the new tractors will arrive the fore part of August. The Best Company has, as a result of its experiments with its tractor in Hawaii, built a tractor of eight and a half tons weight and with 60 horsepower, to supersede its four and a half-ton, 40 horsepower machine, which proved to be too light and of insufficient power for island plantation work.

The Conserves Glee Club furnishes music for any occasion. Phone 52-A, Paia.—Adv.

H. C. Tate, of the Internal Revenue office, arrived in Wailuku Wednesday with Mark Hanna. Mr. Tate will open a Maui branch of the Internal Revenue office, having his desk in the sheriff's office at the courthouse in Wailuku. He will collect the war taxes and other taxes and will be ready to answer all questions which the merchant or business man need for the elucidation of the Federal taxes. Mr. Tate will also care for the interests of the Government in the Paia distillery.

This young man is a decided addition to the social life of the community, and it is expected will become interested in the athletics of the community. He is an expert swimmer and all round athlete.

The trail from Mapulehu to Wailuku will be made passable if instructions of the supervisors are carried out, permission having been given the district overseer to hire a man to clear it.

SENATORS OBJECTS TO SHANTUNG PROVISION
(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 17—Senator Sherman urged the Senate to refuse compliance with the Shantung provision of the treaty, declaring the section giving Japan control so tainted with poison the professed altruism with which the league of nations is heralded as to crown it the most superlative treachery in the history of modern times. Senator Colt announced that the Senate supports the principles of the league of nations but has withheld its judgment regarding certain reservations and said the nation must at least see the great undertaking upon which we embarked in entering the war through to the end, which would be done by being a member of the league. The Senate adopted Borah's resolution asking the president to send the Senate the copy of the protest said to have been made by some members of the American peace commission against the Shantung provision.

Convert W. S. S. To Certificates

Five Dollar Stamps Can Now Be Changed For Savings Certificates Of Varying Denominations

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5—The War Loan Organization of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District has just been advised that hereafter War Savings Stamps may be converted into Savings Certificates of $100 and $1000 denominations according to a new plan of the Savings Division of the U. S. Treasury Department to afford greater convenience in handling War Savings Securities.

The development of the War Savings idea is one that has been urged for sometime in order to attract larger investments. The holder of a sufficient number of Thrift Stamps may now exchange them for a $5 War Savings Stamp and in turn the holder of twenty of the $5 War Savings Stamps may convert them into a $100 Savings Certificate or the holder of two hundred of the $5 Stamps may turn them in for a $1000 Savings Certificate.

Conversion may be made at all first and second class postoffices and at all banks and trust companies that have qualified as agents of the second class. The Treasury Savings Certificates are to be issued in registered form and will bear the names of the owners. They will yield four percent compounded quarterly as do the War Savings Stamps. The limit of the individual investment still remains at $1000.

The new Treasury Savings Certificates should prove particularly attractive for the investment of the funds of fraternal societies, labor unions and other civic, social and religious organizations because the interest is added to the principal automatically each quarter, the entire amount being payable at maturity.

Good Luck Deserts Gambler In Pinch

The way of the gambler is hard. So thinks Shibasaki, a Japanese gambler who was arrested Monday morning in a gambling raid at Makawao. He was let off on a $10 bail, the other culprits each being required to put up a bail of $500. The gambler thought this was too much and got his lawyer to make a plea for the reduction of the bail. With impassioned words the attorney pleaded the poverty of his client Monday afternoon and succeeded in getting the bail reduced to $500. Hardly had he finished and left the courthouse, when a second gambling raid was made, and caught once more in the net of the law was the unfortunate Shibasaki. He's stopped praying to the God of Good Luck now and contemplates with sorrow the hard road which the transgressor must tread.

No More Joy Riders In County Autos

After July 31, there will be no trouble in recognizing the county automobiles. At the last meeting of the board of supervisors, County Attorney Bevins informed that board that Act 227 of the Session Laws of 1919 provides that all passenger carrying cars belonging to the County of Maui shall bear the words "For Official Use Only" and under this the words "County of Maui." The painter is now busy on the official cars.

DON'T LEAVE YOUR ENGINE RUNNING

The dangers of leaving a car standing empty with the engine running was proved to Ned Nicholas Saturday night. Ned left the car outside the Maui Dry Goods & Grocery company facing up the hill with the engine going. While he was in the store the brakes slipped and the car started down hill, backwards running into the Japanese ice cream parlor next the Orpheum theatre. No damage was done, but Ned knows better now.

NOTICE OF MEETING Industrial Accident Board

The monthly meeting of the Industrial Accident Board for the county of Maui, will be held in the Wailuku District Court Room, Wailuku next Tuesday morning, July 22nd, at 10:30 o'clock. All persons having business with the Board are asked to be present.

W. A. McKAY, Chairman.
