KILAUEA NATIONAL PARK BILL BEING DRAFTED

Proposed Reservation to Include the Active Crater of Mokuaweoweo.

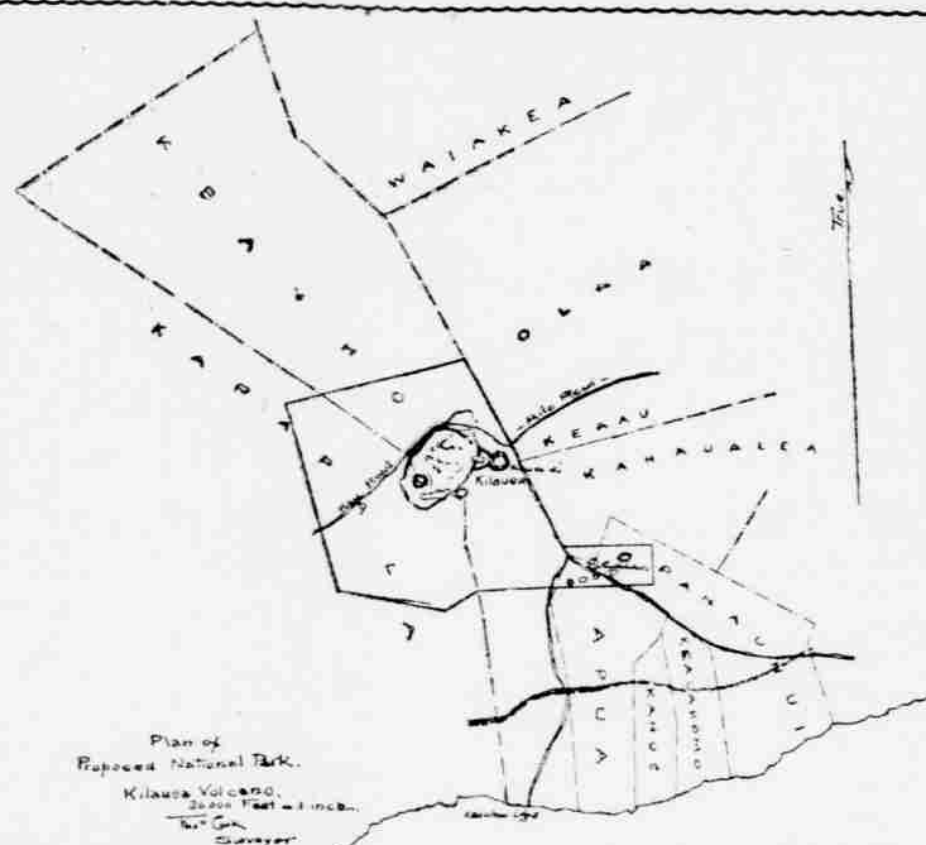

Governor Frear has in preparation the drafting of the bill for the Kilauea National Park which will presently be sent on to Washington for presentation to congress for consideration at this session. The proposed park takes in not only the volcano of Kilauea and about eight other steam pits, but it is also proposed to include the crater of Mokuaweoweo on the summit of Mauna Loa, with a roadway strip connecting Kilauea park with the Mokuaweoweo section, the shoestring strip to be a part of the park.

The Governor stated yesterday that the national park idea for Kilauea volcano and vicinity was taken up actively some time ago. He had a talk with L. A. Thurston as to what features should be included in the proposed area and Mr. Thurston was asked to go to Hawaii and have surveys made and decide just what should be included. He did so and took with him Surveyor Cook, whom United States District Judge Robertson allowed off from federal jury duty because no other man was available for this important work. Mr. Thurston was accompanied on his investigating tour by Surveyor Cook and William Shipman of Hilo. At the Volcano House they found W. M. Giffard of Honolulu and he offered some valuable suggestions.

When the Governor was on Hawaii recently he discussed the matter with Mr. Thurston, as the latter has taken a deep, personal interest in the proposition. He has undertaken to prepare a lot of material to present to congress in support of the bill. So far he has twenty-seven different subjects to work up.

Mokuaweoweo Observatory.

Mr. Thurston will also procure statements from Professor Jaggar, the eminent volcanologist who was here a year or more ago in the interest of establishing a volcanology observation station near the crater of Kilauea, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Professor Jaggar also is of the opinion there should be an observatory or branch station at Mokuaweoweo on the summit of Mauna Loa, the idea being to include this portion with the rest of the park.

The Kilauea section, is to include not only Kilauea but several pit craters running out toward Puna, a portion of the kila forest and the famous treenold section. Then there is a pocket of land with some very rare trees known as acacia, containing about ninety-seven acres.

The Governor estimates the area for the proposed park to be about eight miles long by three or four miles wide.

Professor Jaggar's Plans.

As to the projected observatory Governor Frear says he has heard nothing new concerning its establishment there, except that there are several cases of instruments here which were forwarded by Professor Jaggar some time ago. It is rumored that the professor is coming out here again. The observatory matter was going ahead actively and then seemed to drop, and now is again revived. There was some difficulty in Massachusetts about diverting funds for the technology institute to the Kilauea observatory, but the objections have been overcome. It has also been proposed to carry on the observatory proposition with College of Hawaii funds under the federal appropriations. Governor Frear took up this phase of the situation while he was in Washington, but there was apparently no provision in the law under which this could be done.

The bill will shortly be sent on to Washington. The maps were received from Hilo Wednesday morning by the Governor.

NOT A "JOY," BUT A "JOYOUS" RIDE

Supervisors Make a Farewell Inspection of Oahu's Fine Roads.

The outgoing board of supervisors took a consolation prize ride yesterday and were as happy as so many boys on a lark and as proud of the fine roads the two swift automobiles traveled over as though they had a collective mortgage on every mile. The truth is that to a malibini the main roads on this island of Oahu are properly pride compellers to those who are responsible for the condition in which they are at this time, with still brighter outlooks when the work in progress is completed.

The party which started yesterday from the city hall to make the final inspection of the road work in the various districts consisted of Supervisors Quinn, Ahia, Logan, Cox, Kane and Aylett, assisted by G. H. Gere, city engineer, and City Clerk Kalahehala. And they are experts when it comes to examining roads while speeding along at a hasty rate of speed. One big auto piloted by Chief Engineer Gere set the pace and genial "Jim" Quinn trailed along behind just out of reach of the dust, which might otherwise have blinded the examiners.

The route led out King street to the Moanalua road, thence to the Ewa road, which was followed through to the Wahiawa district, where a side trip was made to the school presided over by Mrs. Brown and her sixty-one Japanese, twelve Koreans and one Hawaiian, who bunched as scholars turn out prize copy for their ages, while their parents work in the pineapple fields nearby.

Holds 'Em Up.

Mrs. Brown, in the most fearless manner, held up the whole board of supervisors and the city and county officials. First she impressed them with the wonderful abilities of her scholars and called a lot of them by name, which daily impressed the inspectors. Then she told them what she wanted for the school, and it looks very much as though she was going to get it, but after that the supervisors boarded their autos, opened up the full-speed clutch and in a whirl of red dust of the roads traversed, there was mighty little criticism to be made. The greater part of the main road is macadamized, and at the rock-crushing plant and through the big gulch work is progressing in a systematic manner, without any danger of the workmen becoming exhausted. The construction is good and provisions are made to protect the finished road from damage by heavy rains as much as the nature of the country will permit.

The supervisors may not be expert politicians—in fact, they deny that they are—but they know a good road when they ride over one.

Sugar-Coated Road.

It was in the Wahiawa district that the first sugar-coated road was struck. This kind of a road, christened by Quinn, is a new scheme and a surprise to all when it is first discovered, after which it is a delight, if the traveler is an autoist. The "sugar" consists of a fine coral-sand spread over the macadam, and its valuable quality is that it has the same effect on the road as though it were all the time, preventing dust and at the same time saving the road from sealing and other evils and fear by the speeding autos.

In Wahiawa, at the home of "Andy" Cox, a home-made luncheon was spread for the hungry supervisors, and it is no joke to remark that they inspected it with appreciative eyes and then—

From Wahiawa the route led through Wahiawa and Kahuku, thence to Laie, past Kahuna and along the highway to Heaia and Kaneohe, and so to the Pali and home.

And did they inspect? Well, ask "Jim" Quinn. Anyway, it was a fine ride.

lists finding that a bungalow to rent, furnished or unfurnished, is now a rarity. It was stated to the committee that with the present influx of visitors Honolulu now presents the unusual condition of having no houses which can be rented. It was stated that the promotion committee is deluged with requests for information as to where houses can be obtained.

What is wanted is a bungalow type, not too large, nor too small, built with an idea to be in accord with the climatic conditions.

Take Down the Fences.

The promotion committee put itself on record as favoring a campaign against the fences in the residence sections of the city. It was stated that fences are being taken away gradually, but the disappearance of the unsightly barricades is all too slow. The promotion committee can see no good reason why fences should remain standing, particularly when they can be replaced by low hedges, but even hedges are not advocated by the committee.

Punahoa street was mentioned as one example of what looks well and what does not. Governor Frear's premises have no fence in front and the lack of one exposes a beautiful expanse of lawn. On the same street are fences which hide from view many beautiful premises, and some, in addition are veritable eyesores.

The hope was expressed that the unsightly board fence on the Punahoa side of the Pleasanton Hotel would be taken down, as the fences of all premises above have been taken away.

Mr. von Damm expressed the opinion that the promotion committee should devote some of its energies toward the anti-fence campaign, and the committee will endeavor to find a way to induce property holders to remove them.

Atlantic City Exhibit.

The committee authorized the closing up of the Atlantic City exhibit being maintained by the promotion committee. The lease expires in February. The exhibit will probably be sent on to the Boston missionary exposition to be held next spring, and to which Hawaii will be a leading contributor.

Carnival Poster Stickers.

The committee has on hand thousands of small floral parade and carnival poster stickers, uncolored and small enough to be pasted on letters going to all parts of the world. The committee will see that business houses receive supplies of them and each letter leaving a business house, it is expected, will bear one of these stickers. This is the same plan followed in San Francisco which is making a splendid advertising campaign all over the country in support of the proposed Panama exposition to be held in San Francisco. The stickers will also be available to all who wish to make use of them in private correspondence.

Billboard Nuisance.

The billboards came in for some criticism and the Portland method of dealing with them was mentioned. The billboard people have to take out a license to hold a sign, and the result is that there is a square foot of billboard advertising and Portland hopes by this means to get it out of business.

The promotion committee may take the matter with the board of super-ago Commerce, that live weekly published by the Chicago Association of Commerce, gives a full page to our call for a Pan-Pacific Travel Congress to be held at Honolulu February 26, 1911, commenting most favorably upon the plan.

A letter from the department of commerce and labor acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the call and states that due publicity will be given to the matter in the Daily Consular and Trade Reports issued by the department which has a worldwide circulation.

1914 Convention.

Letters continue to come in from leading railway men throughout the United States and Canada, assuring the committee that the plan for holding the 1914 convention of the American Passenger Agents Association at Honolulu will have their support.

Distribution of Posters.

Our distributing agent for the Pacific Coast, J. Walter Scott, writes, under date of December 6:

"I will make the best possible distribution of the posters and half cards advertising the 1914 Floral Parade and will see that the box wagon does San Francisco thoroughly during holiday week, also the first week in February. * * * In looking back several years when I first took charge of your folder distribution, I remember how hard work it was to get travel started toward Hawaii, especially as compared with conditions now. No one can question the splendid results secured by the promotion committee work."

Beeswax and Honey.

To those having aparies, the following letter will be of decided interest: "I have to thank the department of commerce and labor, Washington, D. C., for your address, and take the liberty to write you in connection with Hawaii on beeswax and honey."

"I make a specialty of beeswax and honey and desire to form a good reliable connection with a responsible Hawaiian concern, and will thank you for any information you can give me in the matter."

"At the present time, I am more particularly interested in beeswax and believe I can handle a considerable quantity of it."

"If you will favor me with the addresses of parties in this line of business, I certainly will appreciate it."

SERIOUS TETANUS CASE IS REPORTED

At Ten o'clock last night a Chinese named Ah Chow was taken to the Queen's Hospital by the police ambulance. The unfortunate man was suffering from lock jaw, and had been ordered to the institution by Doctor Markall. The patient is in a serious condition, and it is not known if he will recover from the dread disease.

Tetanus is fairly rare in Honolulu, and, according to medical men, the germ is sometimes introduced and blown about upon the old earth is disturbed on the site for new buildings.

CREW MAY GO UP TO COAST FOR RACES

Contracts and Payment for New
Myrtle and Healan Barges
Off on Sierra.

It has been suggested to members of the Healan Yacht and Boat Club on one or two occasions recently that they try to bring a barge crew down here from the Coast for the regatta day races in Honolulu harbor to make the public interest more keen and now they are working on a scheme to bring this about. They have held all along that the expense would be too great. However, they think now that they have found a way.

Both the Healanis and the Myrtles are to have two new barges built in San Francisco. The contracts and first payment went off Wednesday by the Sierra, which sailed for the Coast. These will probably be completed in the spring and, instead of having them shipped to Honolulu at once, a plan is brewing to pick a crew of oarsmen, either all Healanis or part Myrtles to go up to the Coast and enter the spring regatta held by the boat clubs around San Francisco.

This sort of thing will stir up a lively interest both here and in the States and, from a Hawaiian promotion standpoint, it will go a long way toward loosening up the legislature to come through with a regatta day appropriation as suggested by senator Charles Chillingworth recently. L. M. Hale of Hilo is a passenger on the Sierra which sailed for the Coast Wednesday and he has been authorized to sound the boat clubs around Frisco on the proposition of having a crew of Honolulu oarsmen compete with them over their own waters.

Arouse Interest.
If this scheme goes through interest will be aroused in the States and the Hawaiian public and the territorial legislature will be more likely to favor featuring regatta day here in the fall as an attraction for tourists, and the likelihood of a Coast crew coming down here then would certainly make it worth while to spend a little public money to put the waterfront in shape to accommodate the citizens of these islands and the visitors from the States.

Chillingworth suggested a while ago that the legislature appropriate five hundred dollars a year to erect bleachers on the wharves and fix up the waterfront for regatta day, making the boat races a feature to attract tourists as well as the Floral Parade. The town has grown too large now for the two boat clubs to accommodate all the citizens and keep open house on this date and Chillingworth thought, aside from the promotion idea, that there ought to be some provision made for the masses who manifest a hearty interest in the regatta day events each year.

Fastest Barges Ever Here.
The two barges ordered by the Hawaiian Rowing Association are to be as nearly alike as it is possible to make them. They are both to be built at the same time. Alfred Rogers built the boats now used by the local clubs, but James L. Torbert, an old Honolulu oarsman now located on the Coast, has been looking into the boat building business and he ran across a man by the name of Thomas R. Keenan, in San Francisco, who has been turning out some speedy boats for the oarsmen on the Coast. Torbert has been in correspondence with Tom King, president of the Myrtle Boat Club and the Hawaiian Rowing Association, and on Torbert's advice and the representations made by Keenan in letters forwarded here the two local boat clubs have decided to give Keenan a chance to turn out the two fastest barges that ever glided over Hawaiian waters.

Negotiations have been going on for some time, and Wednesday King, as president of the Myrtle Boat Club, and James E. Jaeger, the new president of the Healan club, signed the contracts forwarded from Keenan by Torbert and they were sent off on the Sierra Wednesday accompanied by a draft for $350 as the first payment on the two boats. The contracts were drawn in duplicate and King signed one while Jaeger affixed his autograph to the other. Here is how they read:

Building Contract.
"I hereby agree to build for you two six-oar racing barges. These barges are to be built according to the following general specifications: Planking to be of sugar pine, ribs of oak, frame and bracing of cedar, copper fastened throughout; each fitted with six roller seats and a coxswain's seat; swivel bronze oar locks, nickelplated; seven pairs spooned shoes, six double grooved racing oars, to be oiled, shellacked and varnished and to be crated and delivered on the wharf in San Francisco. The approximate dimensions of the two boats are as follows: Length, twenty-one feet beam, thirty-six inches; depth, thirteen and one-half inches; I will build and deliver these two barges above for the net sum of $1075, payable as follows: One-third on the signing of the contracts, one-third when the boats are planked and the balance when the bill of lading is delivered."

In his letter forwarding the contracts to Tom King, Torbert says in part:

"I have had Keenan draw up the contracts for the two boats herewith enclosed which, if accepted by the Healanis and the Myrtles, will you kindly have signed and returned to me at once, as you might better have the two boats started now and not rush Keenan on the work later. You will then get them in good season. I will see that

DAHU LEAGUE SERIES TO START IN APRIL

Teams May Buy Stock in Athletic Park Corporation—Want Improvements.

The Oahu league baseball series of 1911 will start on the first Sunday in April at Athletic Park. The new management of the ball ground made advances recently looking to arranging terms with the league to continue as the main attraction at the park and the league held a special meeting last evening to decide on a basis for negotiating and how to take the matter up with the new park owners.

It was first decided to appoint a committee to negotiate an agreement between the league and the Athletic Park management. Some wanted Antonio Marcellino, the manager of the league, to attend to it, but this was opposed on the ground that the arrangements he might make as tentative would have to be threshed out by the league and the whole thing could be sifted down better by a committee, consisting of all the team managers of the league with Marcellino as chairman. Captain Ramsey, of the Marines; Manuel Paresa, of the Portuguese team; Tin Yen of the Chinese team, and J. K. Nolley Jr. of the Japanese team were named as the committee with Marcellino as chairman. Marcellino was instructed to conduct the negotiations with the aid of the others in an advisory capacity. In this way it was figured an agreement could be drafted in definite shape that would meet with the sanction of both parties and could be approved by the league without delay.

Teams May Take Stock.
A suggestion was offered by the new owners of Athletic Park that each team of the league take a small block of stock in the corporate management of the park, which might be paid for out of the league's share of the gate receipts during their baseball series. This proposition was favorably received by the majority of the league as it would tend, it was thought, to maintain harmony between the teams of the league and inspire enthusiasm among the players to work for the success of the park. The only objection to the league buying stock in the park was voiced by Marine Gaw. While he seemed to favor the idea he said that the Marines never knew how long they were going to remain here. Some of the Marine team had been transferred to the Philippines recently and the others might be ordered away at any time. It was suggested, however, that possibly an arrangement might be made with the park management to take back their share of the stock at any time that they might be called away and refund them the money.

The representatives of the press next came in for consideration. They should be accommodated, it was held, where they can keep in touch with the official scorer, so as to insure accurate reports of the games. It was decided that the scorer's box should be lowered a trifle so as not to obstruct the view from the grandstand and extended enough to admit the newspaper men. The players also wanted shelter from the sun during rest. Some criticism about the lack of system heretofore in paying the ushers and gate tenders and other expenses of each game resulted in a decision that the manager of the league should handle all cash and attend to these petty disbursements, and it was further maintained that there should be no passes issued except by the league.

Junior League Considered.
The Oahu Junior league was the next matter under consideration. It was held to be a sort of training league and about two-thirds of these youngsters, Tin Yen said, eventually made places on the teams of the big league. The major organization has extended the juniors certain favors in the past and it was resolved to continue them next year.

At the previous meeting of the league the second Thursday in March was set as the time for the next regular meeting. This date was canceled and the second Thursday in February was named instead. This will be the annual meeting at which the officers will be elected for the coming year. You get the two finest boats that have ever pulled over the Honolulu course. Keenan is a good clean-cut fellow. "If you can have the two boats shipped via the American-Hawaiian line between decks it would be a great deal better than to have them shipped on deck. I herewith give the dimensions of the boats packed: Length, forty-three feet; width, forty-four inches; depth, seventeen inches. This is about the size of the case. Regarding the depth of the boat, I took this matter up with Keenan and he explained fully to me about the water we had to pull in down there. He says his boat with a depth of thirteen inches would not set as low as the Rogers boat with fifteen or sixteen inches as he makes his boats a little flatter on the bottom and a great deal more buoyant. He seems to be very much pleased with the clause in the letter where you give him a free hand to do as he pleases. He claims that a boat forty or forty-one feet in length would be a better seaboat and stand out swells better than a longer boat and, as I was telling him regarding the Alf Rogers' performance, he claims it is just on that account, that she is shorter and makes better sea way."

In conclusion Torbert says he will see that the two boats are made as nearly alike as possible so that the Myrtles and the Healanis will both be satisfied.

INTEREST LIVENS IN KALAKAUA STROLL

Nine Now Down for Walking Race
—Sam Hop Loads Up With Prizes.

With only two days in between, the hikers who expect to stretch their legs over the one and three-quarters mile course, from King street to the Waikiki Inn along Kalakaua avenue, are getting their names down on the entry list. Promoter Sam Hop looked like Santa Claus coming with Christmas presents last night as he trudged homeward with a load of prizes which the kindhearted merchants of Honolulu have donated to cheer the pedestrians on their way next Sunday. The Hawaiian band will delight the throngs with melodious zephyrs as the wanderers waggle their weary way in with swinging strides at the finish, followed by the train of spectators who will trail them over the course in automobiles, carriages and on bicycles and horseback, and all will assemble at the Waikiki Inn as the haven of rest to tell and hear tell how they did it.

There are now nine entries on the list and Sam Hop said last night there would be five or six more before Sunday. He is going to transfer the book today from E. O. Hall's store to the Columbia Club House on Hotel street near the Palm restaurant, and the entries will close at seven o'clock tomorrow night.

Those who have entered so far are Henry Chillingworth, Antone Kaoo, G. B. Henderson, Willie Feagler, Louis Rosa, Paddy Walsh, Sam Hop, Manuel Borelho and Nigel Jackson. Nine prizes have already been donated by the merchants, including the silver cup which the champion, Dick Sullivan, has put up for the others to compete for this year instead of going in to defend his title. The Manufacturers' Shoe Company has donated a pair of walking shoes; William McInerney has given a pair of tennis shoes; the Arctic Soda Works donated four dozen bottles of pinetart and grape juice; Wing On Chong came through with a walking cane; half a dozen cans of French mushrooms was the handout from the Columbia lunch room; another pair of tennis shoes came from L. Ayan's shoe store; Dr. K. P. Li gave a box of cigars, and Wichman, the jeweler, slipped Sam a fancy pudding tin for one of the amblers to cook his goose in.

KAM BOYS MAY PLAY FOOTBALL NEXT YEAR

Enthusiasm for intercollegiate football has seized the boys of the Kamehameha Schools and they are talking about putting out a team next year. Andrew Poepee, an old Kam man who is now attending Punahou and is a member of the Oahu College team, has been training a picked Kam team under the new rules, and Allen McGowan is coaching the junior team. There is real Punahou and College of Hawaii rivalry between these two teams of Kamehameha students and they are going to have a game tomorrow.

Harold Godfrey is captain of the junior eleven and Ben Hussey heads the picked team. McGowan thinks the junior eleven is the stronger of the two and he said last night that the game tomorrow was going to be a battle royal. Godfrey organized the Ben Hussey team some time ago and challenged Ben Hussey for a game under the old rules, as there was no one at Kamehameha who knew much about the new rules. This match was played on Thanksgiving Day and neither side scored. Then the new rule idea struck the boys, the two coaches took the teams in hand and Godfrey again challenged Hussey. The Kams put out a football team in 1908, but the following year Godfrey opposed it. McGowan said last night, and no Kam team has taken the field since in the interscholastic games. Godfrey turned the younger boys against the game two years ago, McGowan said, by telling them that they would not be eligible and football was voted down, but now Godfrey and all the boys are anxious to break into the game again. There is any quantity of good husky material among the Kam students and they ought to be able to hold their own against all comers next year as they have done in soccer this.

CLAIMS BECKLEY DROVE AUTO ON WRONG SIDE

The damage suit brought by J. Torsal against George C. Beckley was heard in Judge Robinson's court yesterday before a jury. The case was not finished and will be continued today. The plaintiff seeks damages for a broken arm and leg sustained when Beckley is alleged to have run him down with his auto. The plaintiff was riding a horse at the time, and in his testimony yesterday stated that, about six feet from the curb, when the machine swerved onto his side of the street and he was knocked down and badly hurt. Judge Quigley represents the plaintiff and C. C. Bittling is counsel for Beckley.

association could affiliate with the A. A. U. direct and would undoubtedly be granted a charter as an independent branch. On this assurance forwarded by Fiddes the Hawaiian association was organized and has since been admitted into the A. A. U. The organization was made tentative, however, for the purpose of making application for admission into the A. A. U. in time for it to be considered at the annual meeting in November. The meeting called for January 6 is for the purpose of creating an organization as is possible at this time, and it is hoped that all the local clubs in the athletic field will then come into the association. An election of permanent officers for the year will probably then be held and the affairs of the association will from that time forth be conducted by the various clubs through their delegates who will form the active association.

CAN WE "GET TOGETHER"?

"Get Together" was the advice given by each one of the several returned travelers to their fellow business men of Honolulu at the Commercial Club dinner last night. It contains all the advice necessary and if carried out will bring the Bigger, Better and More Beautiful Honolulu we all declare we want.

Get together; cut away from the narrow partisan lines of the little politics we have allowed to stifle the growth of the town; forget the petty, personal advantages we have been snarling about; cut out the bickerings over matters our conceit alone make important, and get together for the good of Honolulu.

Can it be done?

Can Honoluluans think of modern street pavement without wondering and quarreling over who is to grab the contracts? Can we insist on the enforcement of a sidewalk building ordinance without hesitating over the expense it will be to ourselves? Can we reconcile ourselves to retaining a tried public servant unless he attends our own church and subscribes to the same political campaign fund? Can we agree to a scheme for civic beautification if the improvement does not increase our own property in value?

We can. Other places have done it, with no better citizens than ourselves. We can—but will we?

That rests with ourselves alone.

MISSIONARIES PROVE THEMSELVES.

According to the reports published in the English papers of Japan, the foreign missionaries in Korea have completely vindicated their reputation and refuted the persistent reports that their influence was political and anti-Japanese.

General Terauchi, who has had the best opportunities of judging, and who is not the kind of man to fence diplomatically with facts, is reported to have expressed himself satisfied with the attitude of the Christian converts during the severe test of annexation, and to have contented himself with emphasizing the continued necessity of the evangelists keeping politics and religion separated in their work. The resident-general's testimony is worth noting as an official refutation of missionary meddling as a whole, though it is almost certain that among the many so-called converts there must have been some to whom the most potent attraction towards a profession of Christianity was the belief that it conferred some measure of material benefit, including political protection.

That would be a natural deduction from the special position occupied by missionaries and would be likely to receive corroboration in practice incidentally. But that such effect was only incidental, not general, and not taught by the missionaries themselves, is demonstrated by this "clean bill of health" given these evangelists by the head of the political administration in Korea. There are "rice Christians" and "English conversation Christians" to be found wherever British and American missionaries go, and no doubt there was a due proportion of these parasites in Chosen, as Korea is now again officially called, and indeed it is already announced that annexation, with its abolition of some of the special privileges of the missions, has occasioned considerable backsliding among this class of convert. But by weeding out these weak-kneed brethren the change has also consolidated the remnant, and it is observed that it has also suggested a modification in the general policy of work to the missionaries themselves.

The Christian Science Monitor, the newspaper founded along lines laid down by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the late leader of the Christian Science church, ended its second year a short time before the death of the great church woman. Mrs. Eddy lived to see the fact established that an American newspaper, of general circulation, could exist without pandering to the love of the people for sensation. The Monitor was founded to be a model newspaper for the home and in its two years of publication it has well lived up to the ideal. Its columns are devoid of scandals, sensations and "news" of that nature, while it has also built up a wide circulation throughout the English-speaking world without the "funny supplement." As a sample of what is possible in the way of clean journalism, the Monitor has not only taught the people but has taught the American press.

If the city attorney is so convinced that the alleged criminality of his friend Lane can not be proved, why is he so anxious to defy police, parents, grand jurors and attorney-general in his efforts to prevent the trial? The prosecution of this defendant on a charge of bestiality is not costing him anything, is it?

The suppression of the report of the secretary of war has created more alarm than its publication probably would. Nothing so excites the American public as the idea that something is going on that does not get into the newspapers. Little examples of this are frequently noticed in and around Honolulu.

From the reports of good business, which come from almost every store-keeper in the city, the people of Honolulu have harkened this year to the repeated request to shop early. From the volume of trade in holiday goods already reported, this Christmas bids fair to put the holiday record up a notch.

The Chinese consul, carrying the war into Africa, has struck back at his enemies with a libel suit. By the time he extricates himself from the courts he will have a better comprehension of what is meant by American justice.

An afternoon paper refers to the cut in the Pioneer dividend as "humor." Still, no great bursts of laughter over the joke are heard coming from the stockholders.

Mr. Carlo is more than ever convinced of the truth of the good old saying that "Silence is golden."

CATHCART MAKES

HIS STATEMENT

junior he declared that his usefulness in the court had come to a close.

The Mammel Richards case was then revived, the city attorney declaring that the attorney-general entered a nolle prosequi in that action. Cathcart said the attorney-general had interfered with him. The attorney-general responded to this part of Cathcart's remarks, stating there had been no friction between the two legal departments, and that the nolle prosequi entered by Cathcart in the Richards case had been affirmed by himself after he had investigated it.

Some Forgotten Things.

A surprising number of things were forgotten by Mr. Cathcart when he made his exposition before Judge Cooper yesterday, one of the most important of which was that he had agreed to withdraw from the case altogether and leave it in the attorney-general's hands, this agreement having been made with the attorney-general in the presence of a number of the grand jurors who had indicted Lane.

He also forgot to inform the court, that on the occasion of his row with the grand jury he had been informed that Mr. Andrews had not been called in as an adviser of the grand jury, but as a material witness and that the adviser of the jury was the attorney-general, he heard all the evidence in the case and considered it quite conclusive enough to justify an indictment.

He also overlooked the fact that five grand jurors had testified during the present trial that Mr. Andrews was not their adviser at the time of the indictment, that he had not been called into the case until some weeks after the indictment had been returned, when he was requested to act for the attorney-general.

Cathcart had agreed to leave the attorney-general alone in his conduct of the case and was only breaking his word when he interfered.

His statement that the case was first handled in the police court by Milverton is another little lapse of memory. It was first handled by Brown, who was ready to commence prosecution on the original serious charge, which Milverton has reduced to a charge of vagrancy.

So far as any "sensational attack" by The Advertiser, it contained only a recital of the known facts. The case has been a notorious one and, from the time Deputy Milverton reduced the charge against by Deputy Brown, the conduct of the city attorney and his staff has

Army and Navy News

Naval Officer's Wife Held.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 6.—To be held up on a lonely road by two desperate bandits armed with machetes, and ordered to give up money and valuables or pay the penalty with her life, was the thrilling experience which befell Mrs. Thomas Anderson, wife of Captain Anderson of the United States gunboat Yorktown, and their companions at Acapulco during a voyage up the coast from Panama. The other members of the party who were with Mrs. Anderson at the time of the hold-up were G. H. Olds of the Panama Railroad, L. Hoyle of Los Angeles, and an interpreter. All of these persons were passengers on the steamer Acapulco of the Pacific Mail line, which arrived in San Francisco this morning.

Since Mrs. Anderson was the central figure of the group, an effort was made to obtain the facts of the affair, but she still showed signs of nervousness, and said that she could not bear to talk about the incident at present. The others talked freely, however, and told of the sudden appearance of the bandits and their demands in broken Spanish for money.

The four passengers from the steamer landed at Acapulco and visited several places of interest on a sightseeing outing. They looked over the old cemetery and were going down a little-frequented road on their way back to the steamer when they were confronted by a bandit, who was hatless and brandished a machete. He made his demand on them and advanced. Whereupon Olds, the nearest of the men, made a movement with his arm as if to ward off an intended blow, raised his arm at the same time and drew his hand from his pocket, displaying a binocular glass. For a moment the bandit mistook it for a gun and started to back away. Only a few paces off Hoyle had been confronted by another man with a drawn machete, and had picked up a rock and thrown it at the man before taking to his heels. Hoyle shouted loudly for help, and in response a native mounted policeman arrived. Before the bandits could accomplish their purpose the police had gathered them in, and the greatly frightened passengers were escorted in safety back to the steamer.

All maintain that there was no doubt from the look of set determination on the cruel features of the bandits that had they been refused money and the arrival of the police had not been as timely the members of the party might have come to serious treatment at their hands.

T. R.'s "Test" Scoffed.

WASHINGTON, December 3.—With the knife of sarcasm, Surgeon-General C. F. Stokes of the navy, in his annual report, made public today, delicately operates upon the strenuous "physical test" system for navy officers which was inaugurated by Theodore Roosevelt when he was President.

Roosevelt ordered that all officers perform, once each year, as a proof of their physical fitness, a fifty-mile walk or ninety-mile ride on horseback. He prefixed his statement with a quotation from Commander Niblack, that "physical confidence, combined with physical energy, constitutes the fighting spirit which is sometimes called courage." General Stokes then comments on the Roosevelt test idea as follows:

"It is difficult to believe that the ability automatically to extend each leg after the other for fifty miles in twenty hours during three consecutive days will promote the desired qualification. 'After the first year of the test,' he continues, 'the consensus of opinion of medical officers seems to be that it has utterly failed to accomplish its designs. Very few have observed any real benefits, and considerable tangible harm has resulted.'"

No Uniforms at Hotel.

KANSAS CITY, December 3.—In neat little parcels in the Hotel Baltimore next door to the Hotel Baltimore, two blue uniforms. On their shoulders they carry epaulettes, the insignia of the rank of captain. They were worn by the young men who acted as bell captains at the information desk, and incidentally roused the ire of Gen. Frederick Funston to such an extent that he walked out of the hotel several weeks ago and stopped at another hotel. He has since stopped at other hotels when in Kansas City.

The change to citizens' clothes was made by the hotel management when it was decided, a few days ago, to make the bell captains information clerks. It was agreed that the information clerks should not be uniformed, at least as captains, and that the fact that they were not uniformed would not militate against their authority over the bell-boys, so the captains' uniforms were relegated to the storeroom.

AT INDOOR BASEBALL

An indoor baseball team of Y. W. C. A. damsels went out to meet a Palama boys of canned baseball jugglers last evening and what the latter did to them seems almost a shame to tell. They just beat the girls from town to the tune of 21 to 6 which was worse than the time before. A week ago the Y. W. C. A. damsels were trimmed 19 to 6 by these same wily Palama witches and now there is nothing doing any more. Mabel Smith and Lizzie Holt formed the battery for the Palama fairies and they kept the batter hitting about in a very dainty manner. Miss Carey and Miss Stone did the trick deftly for the Honolulu ladies and they were not slow about it. A few home runs were made during the game and all the girls played up lively.

GET TOGETHER FOR THE GOOD OF ALL

than they had in the past. The other associations seemed to embrace a wider scope in their sphere of work. They made it their aim to get the best men into office and when he said the best men he did so in the sense of their being efficient.

There was no question as to what party the man represented, if he was efficient then he was the man for them. These other bodies have for their view the securing of better and more economic conditions for the towns that are their homes. They take an interest in such matters as street paving, lighting and widening, street cars and in fact the general all round improvements of their towns. They work in with the public officers and give them all the help they can. They get together and try to devise ways of getting more trade diverted their way. They examine new business and thresh out its merits.

All in the Open.

The best thing they do, however, is to give absolute publicity to the whole of their deliberations. They not only advise the rest of their members but they also let the whole of the outside public know what is going on and what they have decided is the best course to pursue in any matter that may arise and in this way, by gaining the respect and trust of everybody they are able by their solid front to make a better showing than otherwise. Their own town was one that had a big future before it, they had trade with the Orient, great military activity, the Panama Canal was coming to help them and they should all combine together in some way or another.

The club was not fulfilling its mission to the full extent. It was all very well to meet over the luncheon table and no doubt that was a very good thing in its way but it was not enough. At the same time, however, he was not prepared to admit that all the organizations in town should amalgamate. (Applause.) Each one had certain intrinsic interests of its own. What he would suggest was that say three members of each association should meet and talk different matters over as they came up and then let everybody know the result of their deliberations. It was only by some united effort of this kind that they could hope to better their city, their government and to secure a great efficiency in their social life.

Europe a Fine Place.

L. Tenney Peck showed by his speech that he is a close student. His observations were of the greatest interest to those present. Naturally, he told them he had been brought up to regard the U. S. A. as the greatest country on earth, but when he went to Europe he found that he had a great deal to learn. Over there was the home, the place of origin, of all their present-day customs, their politics and lots of things which they were prone to think they had invented themselves. There was only one class of individual he could not find over there, and that was the boaster. Everybody was quite and courteous, and although they might be the greatest men on earth at a special line, they never let you know about it.

He traveled across the Atlantic in the latest thing in steamships, the Mauretania, and it was a revelation to him. So she was over thirty thousand tons, but it was found that, owing to the enormous traffic across the ocean, it had become necessary to build far larger vessels, and now they had turned out one of fifty thousand tons and one thousand feet long. Passing through Europe, the thing that struck him most was their railroads. One trip he took they mounted to the height of 10,000 feet by ordinary means, except that in some of the steepest pinches the car was raked up. These roads had been working for the last fifteen years, and so far they had never had a fatal accident. He mentioned the fact to them because he thought that some of the capitalists among them might try and bring the innovation along to their own island.

Throughout Europe the street car service was splendid. He had been told that it was not as good as their own, but to his mind it was. In Vienna, where the service has just been taken over by the municipal authorities, they told him that they were placed at a great disadvantage owing to the interference of politicians.

He had struck Paris and seen an aviation week. It was wonderful to see the enormous crowd of about 50,000 people and to watch the machines circling round and round in the air. The towns of Germany were a revelation to him. All the streets were as clean as a new pin. They were mostly of asphalt and were washed down every night. Another point which struck him very forcibly in that country was the absence of drunkenness. At one land revival, where one of the regimental bands was playing, there were over 50,000 people present; he had taken a good walk round among them all the afternoon. Their main beverage seemed to be coffee, and comparatively little strong drink was noticed.

Wonderful Street Paving.

On Broadway, New York, he had come across a wonderful example of street paving. The part in question was just near the Singer building and carried the heaviest traffic in the whole of the city. The road which was being taken up owing to the laying of an underground service, had been down for five years and during that time had never been touched. It was composed of Southern pine blocks, treated with creosote, forced through them, laid on sand and cushion over concrete.

"Can What We Can."

"Can what we can" was the chairman's opening remark to F. W. Macfarlane, who has just returned from a trip to Chicago, where he went to interest some of the big people there in the pineapple business here. He was successful in his endeavors and has now secured a guarantee from Libby, McNeill & Libby for everything up to 400,000 cases a year. He gave a most interesting account of the workings of the enormous meat packing houses in that city, which was interesting to those listening to him from start to finish.

The House Divided.

Organization wanted was the whole tenure of E. A. Berdi's address, which followed along the lines laid down by George W. Smith. He instanced the muddles which were constantly occurring in the Territory over various matters such as the coastwise laws and appointments and said that over on the mainland Honolulu was getting far better known as the house divided against itself than it was under its proper name. He recounted the way in which the people of San Francisco had got the underwriters to make a drop of twenty-five per cent in their rates simply by getting together and making a solid stand. He also advised giving the promotion committee a wider scope than they have at present and suggested that it would be a good thing if we could get an agent appointed down in the Orient who could turn some of the wealthy travelers in the right direction. All the associations are doing splendid work, but at the same time he thought there was just a little interest lacking in the larger public questions which should be threshed out and the consensus of opinion sent along.

MORMON CHURCH HELPS SIDE OF SUGAR TRUST

NEW YORK, December 2.—Charging that the American Sugar Refining Company, with its subsidiaries, is a combination in restraint of trade under the provisions of the Sherman antitrust law, United States Attorney Wise filed in the United States circuit court of the southern district here a bill of equity praying for the company's dissolution. Joseph F. Smith, head of the Church of Latter Day Saints, and also president of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, capitalized at $13,000,000, is named as one of the defendants in the action. This subsidiary of the sugar trust, of which the Mormon leader is the leading spirit, is one of the largest sources of revenue of the monopolistic combination. It is charged by the government that the sugar trust has decided to make a determined legal fight against the federal action was evidenced when James M. Beck, general counsel for the American Sugar Refining Company, issued a statement in which he declared that, no matter what the result of the forthcoming litigation, the company he represents can never be deprived of its property. He also claims only fifty-one per cent of the country's sugar trade for the trust.

CONSUL TAKES A HAND IN SELF-DEFENSE

but he came very near to doing so. Kellett walked his prisoner up to the police station and hardly had arrived there before Wade Warren Thayer, who is acting for Hee Fat, appeared on the scene. Seizing the complaint, he scanned it for a minute. Then turning to the crowd around the receiving desk, he remarked: "This won't stand five minutes."

Claudius McBride, who is representing the Chinese consul, started to say something, but refrained from making any remark.

"Well," said Thayer, "this is only a move to keep Hee Fat away from the meeting, but he will be back there in five minutes."

Then there was a hurry call for bonds, and in less than five minutes five hundred dollars in gold was deposited with Clerk Stewart, and the prisoner was released. At once the party boarded the hack and raced back to Aala Park. The meeting then started in earnest and some half a dozen speakers addressed the audience.

When the meeting really came to order there were perhaps one thousand people of mixed nationalities present. Japanese, Hawaiians, haoles, Portuguese and snatterings of other races were to be seen. The crowd was a very orderly one, and the big body of police and special officers, who were present, had nothing to do but stop two small boys, who started a scrap, from hurting one another.

An elderly Chinese named Chang Pak Sun was the first speaker, and he started by saying that the present Chinese consul had disgraced his country and had been of no assistance to his countrymen. The speaker repeated the story of how the consul is alleged to have reported the names of seven men to the Chinese home government, and said that the relatives of these men are being persecuted in China.

Chang Pak Sun also said that a petition was being signed to have the present consul removed, and that it behooved all the Chinese of the Territory to sign it.

Hee Fat Talks.

The next speaker was Hee Fat, and he got a great reception as he stepped forward on the platform. He did not refer to his arrest, and confined himself to repeating the remarks of the first speaker and adding some more. He compared the present consul with the three previous ones—much to the incumbent's disadvantage. All the other consuls had, according to Hee Fat's statement, helped the Chinese in every possible manner, and the present consul had done nothing of the sort. In fact, according to Hee Fat, the present consul oppressed the Chinese of Hawaii.

Go Duck also spoke in the same strain as the preceding speakers and earned applause by saying that if every one of the Chinese pulled together they would get rid of the consul.

Petition Read.

The next speaker was Henry Wai and he read the petition that the Chinese were asked to sign. The prayer was to the home government and begged that the consul at Honolulu should be removed as he was not in sympathy with the Chinese of this city. The speaker used a simile that brought down the "house." "Ants are small," he cried, "and a spider is large. Still a multitude of ants can put a spider where he should be. Let us act the ant part."

While Wai was talking and repeating most of the remarks made by the previous speakers, a dozen or so men were making their way through the crowd, and asking the Chinese to sign the petition. About ten per cent of the crowd affixed their signatures to the sheets of paper and then Yong Yu, a Chinese clergyman, spoke for a few minutes.

Yong Yu's remarks were also mostly the same as the other speakers, and he urged all present to sign the petition to have the consul removed. A final rally was made to get more signatures, and then the meeting broke up. There was no sign of a row and all was quiet during the evening.

EDMUNDS ACT MAY INTERVENE

Pawnbroker Carlo Arouses Ire of Judge—Girls Tell of Ruin.

One of the most unusual proceedings ever brought into the local courts was furnished yesterday morning by J. Carlo, the pawnbroker, when he was haled before Judge Cooper on a bench warrant, charging him with making a statement in the hearing of court, officers and jury which reflected upon the issue of a case being tried, and adjudged in contempt of court and fined $100, being given until three o'clock in the afternoon to pay it. He paid the amount at noon, and the case went on with new sensations unfolding at every stage. Carlo explains that no contempt was intended, his remark and the appearance of Judge Cooper coming together as a strange coincidence.

The case in question was the action of the Territory versus Evans and others, charged with committing an assault upon girls, the allegation being that the girls were forcibly dragged into a rear portion of the Art Theater and assaulted.

The court and jury wished to view the scene of the alleged assault and went in a body to see the premises. While passing J. Carlo's place of business on Fort street, Carlo said within the hearing of judge and jury: "Aw, they ought to let those fellows go and send the girls to the reform school."

The remark was taken as a caustic comment on the proceeding of the case and a bench warrant was issued by the judge upon his return to the courtroom. When questioned as to why he made the statement Mr. Carlo had no ready answer. He begged the court's pardon and asked him to let him off, but the judge felt that the matter justified him in imposing a heavy fine.

Then, when Mary Miller, a fifteen-year-old girl, who is alleged to have been assaulted by Evans, a part negro, was on the stand, she made several statements which may cause United States District Attorney Breckons to take a hand and bring the Edmunds Act to bear upon the girl and Will Presidge, who is connected with the stage department of one of the theaters. The girl said she had been living, since the assault in the house of the latter man, had occupied the same room and told the judge and jury several things about herself and the man. The testimony was vile and showed that not only this girl, but her companion, two years younger, had become the victims of men older than themselves, and they were being carried down the road to ruin at a rapid rate.

Lucas Defendants Demur.
Defendants in the action brought by Lydia Lucas against Charles Lucas, John Lucas and Mary N. Lucas, yesterday filed a demurrer to the rather sensational suit brought against them with reference to the alleged interests of Lydia Lucas in the Lucas brothers holdings. The defendants set forth that Lydia Lucas has not set forth necessary parties as plaintiffs in her suit, and they claim that her right to sue has been barred by the statute of limitations.

Cleghorn Administrators.
Letters of administration were issued by Judge Robinson yesterday to A. G. M. Robertson and James Jaeger in the estate of A. S. Cleghorn, deceased. They are to file an inventory within sixty days.

She Was Never Married.
Etta Hibbs was presented with a decree yesterday by Judge Robinson which set her free from any relationship whatever with Charles Kekoa, who is now serving a term in Oahu prison for bigamy. She set forth in her request for annulment of marriage that she married Kekoa in October, 1909, and that she did not know then that he had a wife living and undivorced, his wife being known as Minnie Perkins Upapa, alias Kekoa. Three weeks after her marriage she learned this. Kekoa was arrested and convicted on a bigamy charge.

PUBLIC STRUCTURES ARE DELAPIDATED

Appropriations for the repair and renovation of the Capitol may be asked at the coming session of the legislature, in addition to the necessarily large appropriations for the reconstruction of the Judiciary building.

Both government structures are in a sad state of repair, and the Governor hopes that the legislature will recognize the necessity of putting both in proper shape to accord with the dignity of the Territory.

The Governor merely points out through his rear office window to show where plaster is falling from the ceiling of the porch, while much of the plaster is discolored. There is a general air of decay throughout the Capitol, and the exterior is commencing to show dilapidation. The roof needs repairs, the former iron railings along the flagstaff cupola are gone, and only wooden railings, some broken, grace the summit.

The Governor does not know just what will be done with the Judiciary building. The floors are weak, the ceiling plaster is falling, the roof leaks, and it has fallen into decay which is making the building dangerous for occupancy.

KAM ALUMNI DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Kamehameha Alumni Association will be held at the clubhouse this evening at half-past seven o'clock, and it is imperative that each member should be present. The meeting is to consider matters of importance. The financial situation of the association, and particularly, the excessive delinquent roll, will be discussed. The latter is a sensitive question, but it is hoped, that a satisfactory conclusion will be reached.

The board, as well as the association, regret the loss of its treasurer, Thomas Treadway, who has tendered his resignation, and stipulated that it take effect January 1, 1911. During his connection as treasurer of the association for eleven years, he rendered excellent and valuable services. By severing his connection as treasurer the association realizes the loss a great one, and the gap to be filled, deep.

In the mean time, the alumni have been speculating as to probable candidates to fill the vacancy, and their choices have narrowed down to two strong "standbys"—David Desha and Joseph Ordenstein—vice president and corresponding secretary of the association respectively. Other names were suggested, but the two named seem to be the undisputed favorites. Both men are excellent candidates for the office, and both received their education at Punahoa after completing their course at Kamehameha. There is no question as to their qualifications to assume the duties of a treasurer. The former is ticket agent for the O. R. & L. Co., and the latter is entry clerk in the United States customhouse. It is hard to predict who will win, as both candidates are equally popular.

OAHU YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION CONVENTION TONIGHT

The regular quarterly convention of the Oahu Young People's Union will be held this evening at Mills Institute, in Manoa Valley, the topic for discussion being "Young People at Work."

Each speaker will be allowed three minutes. The program is as follows:

What a Young People's Society ought to be to a church. Rev. R. E. Smith.
How can the Young People's societies help the Y. M. C. A. Paul Super, Singing.
How can the Young People's societies help the students. Mr. Pitts.
How can the Young People's societies help the young man of the army. J. C. Ewing.

Honolulu Lodge No. 616, B. P. O. E., will meet in Elks' Hall, King street, at half-past seven this evening.

Polynesia Encampment No. 1, I. O. O. F., will meet in Odd Fellows' Hall at half-past seven this evening.

Oahu Lodge No. 1, K. of P., will meet in K. P. Hall tonight at half-past seven for the election of officers and work in first rank.

There will be a special meeting of Hawaiian Lodge No. 21, F. and A. M., in Masonic Temple at half-past seven this evening.

The Hawaiian Women's Club will meet at the Kamehameha Preparatory School this evening at seven-thirty o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Moana Hotel management for a New Year's ball, for which the invitations will soon be issued. Mrs. Church, the social manager of the hotel, has the affair in charge and is working to make it one of the notable functions of the season.

A cordial invitation is extended by the vestry of St. Clement's Church to all interested in the welfare of the parish to a reception to be held this evening in the parish house, beginning at eight o'clock. Strangers in the town will be most welcome, and an exceedingly pleasant evening is promised.

The Hawaiian Dredging Company's new dredge Turbine went to work on Tuesday, and not Wednesday, as an afternoon paper reported. The machine was working all day Tuesday, at which time President Dillingham of the Hawaiian Dredging Company and President Hinds of the San Francisco Bridge Company were aboard, watching the dredge gouge out a big coral bank. The dredge has proven a success so far.

M. S. GRINBAUM PASSES AWAY IN GERMANY

A cablegram announcing the death of M. S. Grinbaum was received in town yesterday morning. The message, which had been sent from Berlin, was signed by the deceased's widow and gave no particulars as to the cause of death.

Mr. Grinbaum was between seventy and eighty years of age, was well known in Honolulu, having been identified with its commercial life for many years. For nearly half a century he was head of the firm of Grinbaum & Co., plantation agents and importers of general merchandise. The firm was originally started by an uncle of Mr. Grinbaum in 1865, and then, about ten years afterwards, the business was taken over by M. Louissou and the deceased, who afterwards became the head of the company, the business of which was wound up in 1908.

Both he and his wife traveled a great deal, and the family at no time ever resided here except for the purpose of spending the winter months.

GOOD PROGRAM AT SAVOY THEATER

The new program, presented last night at the Savoy Theater, was well rendered throughout, films and vaudeville players vying in popularity. The Malan-Magrathe company's new farce comedy sketch, "The Substitute," while an old plot, was worked out in a humorous way, with Magrathe, as a dandy, taking first honors. George Stanley's new ballads, with pictured accompaniment, were good. Wida, the German comedian, showed considerable talent as a cello artist, and Dor Raymond gave two singing selections which were in line with her previous successes.

The Pathe films were of a high standard. The bat-hunting film, showing color tone pictures of a novel hunt in Sumatra, was educational and full of interest. The bats are shown hanging by their claws to the limbs of a tree. One, which was shown by the hunter and his little native servant, had wide-spreading wings, and the body looked like that of an enlarged mongoose. "Betty as an Errand Girl" was one of the Pathe comedies.

CLOSING PLAY IS BEST OF SEASON

The regret Honoluluans generally will have in the departure next week of George B. Howard and his talented players, who are concluding a ten weeks' engagement at the New Orpheum, is increased in attending their closing production, "Tennessee's Partner," put on for the first time last night. This breezy western drama proves to be the best thing the company has given its patrons, being so pronounced by a good house. The play, while western in plot and setting, is free from gunplays and explosions trying to nervous people, while the assignment of the various parts gives suitable characters to the different members to depict.

The main honors of the piece go to Robert McKim, who held cases and dealt square. Miss Jonson had the part of the sweet southern girl, the character and lines suiting her, perhaps, better than any thing she has yet appeared in here, while Miss Dunn, as a virago, was equally at home as when playing the high society lady. Mr. Howard was "the greatest liar in camp," and was the cause for the most of the comedy. The other members of the company are well cast, and each does a full share in making the closing play a decided success.

JUMPED FROM CAR AND WAS INJURED

Last night at seven o'clock a phone message reached the police station for the ambulance. The police patrol went out to Lanalilo street, and there found a Portuguese, named Sebastian Agosto, lying at the side of the car track. The man was picked up and taken to the Queen's Hospital, where he was admitted for treatment.

The injuries sustained by the man are not very serious, and the police officer's report read as follows: "Went in patrol wagon to corner of Kinan and Lanalilo streets, and there found man named Sebastian Agosto. There were a few holes into his forehead, and his ankle was sprained below the knee."

It appears that the injured man jumped off car No. 8 while it was moving at a good rate of speed. He fell to the ground and rolled over several times. Eyewitnesses state that Agosto did not ring the bell for the car to stop, and that he simply jumped off while the conductor was busy at the other end of the car.

HALF CENTURY HERE: KAMAIA PASSES AWAY

John L. Allen, a well-known kamaia, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Le Clair, 1411 Bereania avenue. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. H. H. Parker at ten o'clock this morning from the home, and the interment will be in Nuanu cemetery.

John Allen was born in Bristol, Rhode Island, and arrived in Honolulu in 1861. He has been an active man during the most of his residence in the Islands, having been connected with the principal hotels during much of his lifetime. He has always taken a deep interest in church work and has been a faithful member of the Christian church for many years.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

Amateur Night Tonight.

With no signs of falling off in attendance and another packed house to welcome the change of bill last night, the new Bijou continues to maintain, if not increase, its popularity with local theatergoers. The bill last evening proved the sensation of the season, and there were so many good things on the program that it was hard to pick out a particular feature. All of the vaudeville numbers went well, and the second half of "Slattery's Boardinghouse" got laugh after laugh. Hughes' orchestra played a complete new musical program, and it was heartily received.

Tonight's program will introduce something in the way of a novelty. The regular program of vaudeville, musical comedy and motion pictures will be augmented by the addition of several aspiring performers, who will face the footlights for the first time. The occasion will inaugurate what will be known in the future as "amateur night," and the new departure will give novices a chance to show their real worth and talents. It is a fact that there are many talented performers in Honolulu who have never had a chance to appear on a professional stage, and as a result likely material has been kept in the background for the want of opportunity. The management of the Bijou will obviate this by setting aside one night each week for "tryouts," and those who make good will be given places on the regular bill. This innovation promises encouragement from all sides—from the patrons of the theater, as well as aspirants for professional honors.

Manager Kuley has been looking over some of the applicants, and finds that there are quite a few who should make their way to the regular list if given a chance. Of the hundred or more amateurs who are willing to be tried out before a critical audience, at least a score of them size up as likely material. Of these at least six will be put on tonight, another set the following Friday night, and so on. Of course, in the meantime more will come to the front, and in a short time the "amateur night" experiment will become one of the features of the weekly program.

Owing to the length of the program tonight the performance will start promptly at six-thirty o'clock, and on account of there being three shows Saturday evening the same time is set for the opening of the theater.

LARGEST CANOE IN THE PARADE

Captain Robert Parker Will Have Stevedores Represented in Line.

The most encouraging sign for the success of the Floral Parade is probably the enthusiasm of the members of the several committees which are working upon the details. All alike seem to feel that the event will be much more elaborate and extensive than on any previous occasion, and base their optimism on the attitude of the general public and the business community on the subject. The time is past when there could be any possibility of failure in connection with the parade. With last year's success it became a permanent institution, and as much a part of Honolulu as is the Mardi Gras a part of New Orleans, or the Tournament of Roses, a feature of Pasadena.

Yesterday the committee on floats held its second meeting. This committee is composed of John A. Hughes, chairman; George H. Angus, A. D. Castro, J. E. Jaeger, O. C. Swain, Dr. E. H. Hand, O. L. Sorenson, B. von Damm, E. C. Cheatham and A. H. Ford. The meeting was held at the noon hour, in the rooms of the Hawaii Promotion Committee. A list of 250 business firms of the city was apportioned among the members to be solicited for entries of floats. Letters had previously been sent out to these firms advising them that the committee would call on them, and this will now be done within the next few days. The committee will meet again to report on December 28.

It was reported to the committee that the local stevedores' organization is desirous of entering an elaborate float of some kind, and Capt. Robert Parker was consequently delegated a committee of one to look after this feature.

Alexander Hume Ford announced that he had made arrangements for having the largest Hawaiian canoe in the Territory displayed as a float in the parade.

Although no canvass whatever has as yet been made by the committee, the names of half a dozen firms were reported at the meeting which it was known positively would be represented in the parade in some appropriate manner.

LAST ISLAND DISCOVERER DEAD

Romance of the Sea Recalled by Filing of Testamentary Papers Yesterday.

Just a little more than half a century ago an islet in the broad expanse of the Pacific Ocean was discovered by Capt. John de Greaves, and ever since then has been lost. Fifty-one years afterward the discoverer died in the lonely leper settlement at Kalawao, Molokai, knowing that his discovery had never been confirmed. In the circuit court yesterday papers were filed by Sheldrake C. Stibbard, asking that letters testamentary be issued to him and Jack McVeigh, superintendent of the settlement, to take charge of the property which the old mariner left.

Capt. John de Greaves, for many years an employee of the board of health at Honolulu, died at Kalawao October 30, 1910, leaving real estate in Kewalo, Honolulu, worth about $1250, and property in Bishop & Co.'s bank valued at about $400. He was seventy-three years of age.

De Greaves Island was the name of the mysterious coral twin-peaks which the mariner discovered in 1859. Many efforts were made since that time to find the island. Steamer captains who sailed over the course shown on maps supplied by Captain de Greaves looked in vain for a ruffle on the ocean's surface, and it remained for Capt. William Lawless, commander of the Oceanic liner Mariposa, to state to the world, in 1902, that he believed he had rediscovered it. The news that Captain Lawless gave out rekindled hope in the breast of Captain de Greaves, for he believed that the island possessed vast phosphate treasures, which would reward him for his long years of waiting.

For two days after discovering the island he explored it. He sailed away from it, and from that day to this, except for the belief of Captain Lawless that he saw it for a brief time, nothing more has been heard of De Greaves Island.

Due to Dancer's Whim.
Behind the discovery of the island is the fascinating figure of Lola Montez, the famous dancer and singer, for it was indirectly through one of her whims that the island was discovered.

Captain de Greaves was born on the Island of Jersey in 1833, and entered the service of the East India Company when but thirteen years of age. He rose to be a lieutenant in that company, and during the Sepoy rebellion, in 1856-57, commanded a company and participated in the relief of Lucknow. In the early part of 1859 he was in Melbourne, where events happened which changed the entire course of his life. He shipped as mate in the schooner General Wolford, under command of Captain Fuller. Although ostensibly chartered for commercial purposes by Lola Montez, the schooner was soon turned, in reality, into a pleasure craft, pure and simple. Lola Montez, the dancer, had just completed a successful tour of the Australian cities, and, in company with her manager and other members of her suite, she decided to make a pleasure trip from Melbourne.

According to Captain de Greaves she had a tremendous appetite for champagne, but she was a good-hearted woman. Her idea was first to visit the Hawaiian Islands, and from there go to Callao and then on to Lima, the captain and De Greaves thinking they would get a cargo of nitrates and search for guano islands on the way back to Melbourne.

Had Luncheon on Island.
He does not remember the exact month, but thinks it was the early part of the year when they discovered that strange island. It was about nine o'clock in the morning, while the schooner was still north of the line, when suddenly two small peaks were seen about four and a half miles due east of them. He felt instinctively that they had discovered a new island, for it was uncharted. They stood to leeward of the island and he was rowed ashore to make an examination. It was an island about a mile and a half in length by a mile wide, and resembled a saddle, on account of the peaks at either end, rising to a height of from sixty to a hundred feet. These elevations were apparently marine elevations of rock, the remainder of the island being of coral formation. Except for salt bushes there was nothing else growing on the island. The island was marvellously rich in guano. Lola Montez seemed delighted with having been a party to the discovery of a new island, so she and her party went ashore and had luncheon. They made a big celebration and named the island De Greaves Island.

How Island Was Lost.
The exact location of the island was taken. The weather was perfect while they were there and both the longitude and latitude were correctly measured and noted down. He failed to remember the figures and he lost the notes subsequently. It was situated somewhere between the 135th and 137 degrees of west longitude and the 10th and 11th degrees of north latitude. The General Wolford finally went back to Melbourne. De Greaves drifted to the Fijijs and it was there he met Captain Lawless, to whom he told his story. In 1878 Captain de Greaves was appointed a commissioner to come to Honolulu to investigate the "blackbirding" which it is alleged had been going on for many years.

The United States government took a hand in searching for De Greaves Island and sent the ship Albatross to look for it. In March, 1902, Captain Lawless saw two discolored patches of water in 18-56 North and 136-10 West. There was a big sea running at the time and Captain Lawless did not stop his vessel to investigate.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS.

The Salvation Army Santa Claus on Fort street is having some interesting experiences, especially with the children. Several notes have been thrust into his hand of late, written by children old enough to spell, and yet evidently with an undiminished faith in good old Santa, assuring him of their model behavior during the year and of their great longing for certain dolls or toys at Christmas time. The smallest tots, however, sidle up timidly to the mighty being and prefer their modest requests for tin horns or automobiles, or else march boldly up to their old-time friend and rattle off their list of wished-for presents without a question as to the good man's ability and willingness to grant them all. It is to be hoped that Santa's pack of good things will hold out, so that no one will be disappointed.

What the Doctor Said

Outdoor folks are happy folks. They are happy because they are healthy. Healthy, happy folks are the kind who seem to get along well in this world, too.

The grouch is a condition of liver, not of mind. Fresh air is the great tonic. Sunshine the great vivifier. The other day a doctor said to one of our men, "Some of the doctors will be cutting your automobile fellows off their calling lists."

"How's that, doctor?"
"Because you cut them out of so much work. As soon as you sell a man a car you put him in the fresh air, and keep him there. He doesn't have much need for our services after that."

"But just the same," he continued, "I like my car and couldn't get along without it. I can do twice as much work, and do it easier, than before I got this willing worker to help me. Automobiles mean that good doctors will do more and more of the doctoring, poor ones, less. That's no small service for the automobile to render the public. Anything that will double a man's time and efficiency is a pretty fair investment. Furthermore, the car keeps me feeling keen all the time."

"And still better, it gives me time with my family. I take them out to the country every day or so where the children can get on friendly terms with birds and trees and pigs and chickens and ducks and green fields and flowers and a thousand and one other things that educate and entertain children. Incidentally, the fresh air keeps the roses blooming in their mother's face. We certainly have great times together—the family and the car and I."

The doctor's experience is typical of thousands. Once used, the motor becomes a necessity. When you think of all a car will do for you, the cost seems very small indeed.

The value of a thing depends upon the service it will render you—not upon the price you pay. The price of any good car does not nearly represent its value in service.

The most progressive people make use of the motor car just as they make use of other wonderful time-saving, health-conserving things in this modern, busy age.

You need a car, and if you can possibly afford it, you ought to give your family and yourself the pleasure of having one.

HORROR HOLE ON MANCHURIA FOUND

Fifteen Chinese Men and Women Stowaways Are Sufferers— Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 7.—From the lips of the seven Chinese girls who were caught Sunday night, after being smuggled from the steamship Manchuria, Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Harry Edsell yesterday heard a tale of horror which, he says, shows the inner workings of a plot more despicable than any similar crime he has had occasion to investigate during his work with the service.

Talking directly to the little Chinese girls in their own language, Edsell was able to secure from them a complete story of the smuggling plot so far as their knowledge goes. While he has not yet examined any of the eight Chinese men taken at the same time as the girls, he has already much information concerning the workings of the smuggling ring, and information that is being carefully guarded by the immigration officers.

Directly resulting from the attempt to land fifteen Chinese—seven women and eight men—at the China basin late Sunday night, a series of investigations have been started that federal officials declare will serve to probe to the bottom the existence of an organized smuggling ring. That employees of the customs service will be involved in the scandal before the investigations are completed is the belief freely expressed by officials in the customs service yesterday.

Prisoners During Voyage.

Huddled together in a room aboard the Manchuria, fourteen feet square and with a low ceiling, the seven girls and eight men made the trip across the Pacific Ocean from Hongkong. For twenty-five days they remained within those four walls, sleeping upon the floor or upon coils of rope in the little compartment. No one on board the ship appeared inside the room during that time. The door was locked, and there was no means of exit. Fearful of being caught, the stowaways made no outcry. Inside the room, when they entered, was a supply of water, cold tea, crackers and dried fruit. Upon that fare the fifteen subsisted until they reached San Francisco.

When the stowaways were taken into the little room on board the great liner, they found besides the little supply of food and drink, male attire for the women and an extra supply of clothing. While the gay crowds aboard the Pacific Mail liner made merry upon the decks of the big vessel during those twenty-five days, the fifteen Chinese were spending days and nights of horror in that foul hole below. Little did Vice-President and General Manager R. P. Schwerin of the steamship company, who was a passenger on the vessel, realize the plight of the fifteen whose names failed to appear on the passenger list.

Tell of Their Hardships.

Their confidence won over by the man to whom they could talk in their own language, the Chinese girls told Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Harry Edsell yesterday the details of that trip. They told of having to sleep upon the hard floor of the steamship upon coils of rope, being unable even to wash their hands or faces because every drop of the water that had been furnished must be saved for drinking purposes. They told of the last few days of the trip, when the room was reeking with filth; how they huddled together in a corner, possibly a bit cleaner than the others, and wished that the boat would sink and thus end their misery.

The Chinese girls questioned at Angel Island yesterday range in age from 14 to 20 years. They are orphans and were picked up in Hongkong by an agent of the smuggling ring. That the agent is a white man is generally believed, but the immigration officials refuse to say whether he is a white man or a Chinese.

Some of the girls were told glowing tales of life in America, where rich husbands were awaiting them, in a land of freedom, where there would be only happiness for them. Their expenses were prepaid. They were merely to meet and marry a wealthy man of their race, amply able to provide them with the good things of life.

When the Manchuria arrived at San Francisco the fifteen half-starved and sick stowaways awaited their deliverance from the wretched hole.

All the girls know is that men came and opened the door of their prison. Some of the girls and some of the men were lowered over the side of the ship into a rowboat. The girls were tied to the end of the rope securely and let down.

Those who went into the other boat were taken through an open port hole and dumped down into a boat.

Must Not Discuss Affair.

Until the investigation by the surveyor of the port is started, the order has gone out to the customs inspectors to refuse to discuss with any one the details of the break of the fifteen Chinese from the Pacific Mail liner. Neither the men who were guarding the vessel nor the inspectors are permitted to discuss the affair until they are called upon to give their statements at the federal inquiry.

Col. C. H. Blinn yesterday dispatched a letter to Commissioner of Immigration Luther G. Stewart, requesting him to supply the surveyor of the port with a complete report of the investigation now in progress at Angel Island. Until that report is received no further action will be taken in the case of the four Manchuria guards than to separate them.

Collusion Is Suspected.

"My first idea was to suspend all of the inspectors on the Manchuria after I heard of the break," said Colonel Blinn yesterday. "It does not seem possible that those Chinese could have made their way from that vessel, or even from the wharf after they left the Manchuria, without the knowledge of some of the guards on board. The Chinese girls are little more than children. They are only about fifteen, sixteen and seventeen years of age. It is nonsense to think that they could be taken off the Manchuria, over the stern or over the side, without the knowledge of some one on board the vessel.

"I have asked for a report of the inquiry being conducted by the immigration officials. It was originally my intention to bring the four guards of the Manchuria before me Wednesday, but, after consulting with Collector Stratton, I have decided to await the report of the commissioner of immigration."

"From the Chinese I believe valuable information will be secured as to the manner of removing the stowaways from the Manchuria and the method of concealing them. When more of the facts are brought out at the Angel Island investigation, there will be more for us to go on in the investigation that will be made here."

As a further indication that there is a concerted attempt being made to land Chinese in this country illegally, immigration officials cite the fact that recently twenty-eight Chinese who had been landed illegally at Seattle were captured, and twenty-six, taken in the same way, were caught at Portland.

ADOPTS SCHEDULE OF
AUTO RENTAL RATESNew Association Fixes Uniform
Charges for Calling and Extends Time on Long Trips.

No one now need feel that it is necessary to hypnotize the chauffeur with a hard-luck spiel to get a joy ride without paying a bonus over and above what goes into the auto stand's treasury, for the committee which was appointed by the Honolulu Automobile Association to draft a schedule of rates of fare for the rental service has completed its task and the association approved its findings yesterday.

The new association practically completed its organization at the meeting in the offices of the Honolulu Auto Stand, at Hotel and Alakea streets, which lasted from noon until two o'clock. All the officers, with the exception of the president, were elected. James Coke of the law firm of Doughty & Coke was the choice of all those assembled as the chief executive of the new combine, on account of his legal talent, which is a great asset to all organizations. Coke, however, happened to be away on one of the other islands yesterday, and his election was deferred until he could be notified. Another meeting was called for the evening of the twenty-first, at half-past seven o'clock, to confer the presidency upon Coke. Those who were elected are: J. K. Miller, vice-president; E. E. Hartman, secretary; C. B. Reynolds, assistant secretary, and E. M. Woods, treasurer. The directors are G. C. Beckley, C. Schoening, J. C. Quinn, Ed Lewis, O. J. Gonsalves and Sonny Gay.

Slight Change in Rates.

The rates of fare adopted at yesterday's meeting are the same as have prevailed, with two exceptions, one of which is a concession to the public and the other a uniform adjustment. The rates, as approved, will go into effect at midnight of January 1. Meanwhile the schedule will be printed on cards and posted in conspicuous places. One of these card schedules will be handed to each patron engaging an automobile to peruse during the trip, that he may derive full pleasure undisturbed by the thought of being stung by the chauffeur. The present rate to Haleiwa, Waimanalo, Kahana, Waikane, Kahuku and all country places is thirty dollars. This rate at present only applies to flying trips. Under the schedule adopted yesterday, which will take effect next month, the thirty-dollar rate will be extended to an entire day's sojourn to the places named and all other country districts not specially provided for.

At present there is no uniform rate for calling and shopping. Some drivers charge three dollars and a half an hour, some four and some five, according to how the prospective patron sizes up in some instances, it was explained yesterday. This situation has caused considerable dissatisfaction among the regular patrons of the service, and the auto stand managements have been annoyed by a good many complaints on this account. Sometimes, it was said yesterday, local parties have friends stopping off from steamers while in port, and they take them for a spin out to Waikiki to visit the aquarium, and then they may linger the while for sociability at the Moana Hotel. Very often the automobile is kept waiting more than half the time for which it is engaged. Some chauffeurs will charge three dollars and a half an hour for trips of this kind, while others will ask as high as five dollars, and sometimes the same patron is asked both extreme rates by different drivers, and naturally they think it is a graft. At the meeting yesterday the association adopted the uniform rate of four dollars for service under the classification of shopping and calling, where the time is taken up in detention.

Schedule of Rates.

The rates which will go into effect on January 1 are $5 for large cars with a seating capacity for six passengers and a driver, and smaller cars with a seating capacity for a driver and four passengers $4 an hour within the city limits. With fifty cents for each additional passenger, the rates for one or two persons from town to Punahou, Hastings, Prospect and Wyllie streets and Kalihi bridge are $1; to the Country Club, $1.50; to H. E. Cooper's residence in Manoa Valley, $1.50; Moiliili Church, $1.50; Waikiki bridge, $1.50; Kaimuki, Twelfth avenue, $2.50; Waikiki, to Wilcox's residence, $2; detention to be charged for by the hour from the starting point. The rates for one to four passengers with fifty cents extra for each one additional are: To the Pali, $7, within the city boundaries covered by section 3 of the city ordinance; to the Pali from the Moana Hotel, $8, with $1 for each additional passenger; Punchbowl Drive, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, $5; to the Moana Hotel and return, $6; to Pacific Heights and return, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, $5; Punahou, Hill and return, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, $5; Diamond Head and return, special trip, for one to six passengers, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, $5; from Moana Hotel around Diamond Head, going west to east, $5 an hour; to Manoa Valley and return, $5, each additional passenger, $1, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance; calling and shopping, $4 an hour, half time taken up in detention within the boundaries of the city of Honolulu, as covered by section 3 of the city ordinance; shopping and calling, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, $4 an hour; outside the limits of the ordinance, $5; to Waimanalo and return, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, one way, one to six passengers, $5; return trip, $3, detention fifteen minutes; to Luana and return, Waimanalo, one to six passengers, $10, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance.

Country Rates.

The rates to the outlying districts, covered by section 3 of the city ordinance, for one to six passengers, are: To Honolulu plantation and return, $8; to Pearl City and return, $10; to Water town and return, $12.50; to Waimanalo and return, $15, including Honolulu; to Ewa plantation and return, one to four passengers, $18; six passengers, $20; to Wahiawa and return, $20; to Leilehua and return, $20; to Waimanalo and return $25, one hour detention; from sunrise to sunset, $30; to Heeia and return, $1, one hour detention; to Waimanalo and return, $20, one hour detention; to all country points and return, allowing one hour detention, including Waimanalo, $25; all day, $30; Kahana beach, $25; all country trips bounded by Hauula on the Pali side and Waimanalo on the west side, $30 for the entire day; Kahuku, all day trip, $40; around the island trip for large cars with a seating capacity for six besides the driver, $40, smaller cars, carrying four passengers, $35; rates per week not less than $125; no double rates.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIESBUSY THIS MONTH

This and the succeeding month will see a busy time amongst the fraternal societies. By the effluxion of time all the official positions become vacant and this is the month for filling them. The numerous secretaries all report being overworked sending out notices and receiving nominations and a general awakening of interest is being evinced by all members. Next month will see the various ceremonies in connection with the installation of the officers elected during this month and although not quite so strenuous it will be one of the busiest months in the year.

The William McKinley Lodge No. 8, K. of P., will hold the election of officers for the ensuing term on Saturday night when a full roll up of members is expected.

Reports received show that all the societies are in a vigorous and flourishing condition and that the year which is stretching away in the future will be even more prosperous than that through which they have just passed.

FINANCES OF THE BIG ISLAND

Revenues for Year Shown to Be $253,157. With Expenses
Some $10,000 Less.

(By Wireless to The Advertiser.)

HILLO, December 15.—The board of supervisors met today to receive the annual budget prepared by Auditor Maguire. It shows the county's revenue for the year to be $253,157.38 which was $15,417 more than the estimate made a year ago. Expenses were $242,799.04 to this date, leaving a surplus of $10,358.

A comparison of the actual expenses of the different departments for this year shows for county clerk $6128, which was $272 below the estimate of a year ago.

The auditor's office cost $3199, a saving of $300 from his estimate.

The treasurer spent $6785 for his office assistants and expenses, which was $115 less than estimated.

But the legal end of the county government showed an increase of $367 in the county attorney's office and of $24,300 in the sheriff's office. This last now includes the expenses of the district magistrates, police, jail and jail guards, transportation of prisoners, more money for detective fund, inquests and supplies for prisoners. Most of this can be directly traced to Filipinos of whom there are now ninety crowded into the Hilo jail alone, in space to accommodate twenty-eight prisoners. An outbreak of sickness there is liable at any moment.

Since the county has been doing some of the collections, there has been an increase of $7500 in the amount of licenses received. Water works and sewers also show larger revenue under county collections.

SPEEDING AUTO DRIVERS ARE FINED

At the police court yesterday morning the auto speeders who were all gathered in by Special Officer Chilton, faced the music. With the exception of one, all the offenders were making their debut before the police court judge.

The defendants were A. W. T. Bottomley, W. H. Baird, Clive Davies, Bert Bower, James Hart and Joseph Leal. The latter was appearing for the second time on a charge of speeding, but he was fined the same amount as the rest of the defendants, viz, five dollars and costs.

According to Chilton's evidence, all the defendants were exceeding the speed limit, and they all pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Lyner remarked that there was no question of criminal intent in the cases, but still the law had to be obeyed, and he therefore fined the defendants.

WARM CLOTHING IS NEEDED THESE DAYS

The manager of the Associated Charities makes an urgent request for contributions of warm underclothing for men, women and children, and for blankets. Contributions of money for this purpose, or the articles of clothing mentioned, if left with the manager, will be judiciously distributed.

Through the generosity of the friends of the poor, together with the funds supplied regularly by affiliating societies and the county, the society has been enabled to meet the large and increasing demands for general relief, but for any special work it is necessary to request a special offering, which, it is hoped, in this case will be a very generous one, for just now the old people, little ones and invalids are feeling very keenly the need of extra clothing, especially at night.
