FROM MANILA.

Extracts From Letters of the Soldier Boys in Camp.

When Jake and I came to this English outpost of the East, Hongkong, it was not our intention to write for the paper, or to air our views of the position in the Philippines. But so many people have asked us for our idea of the situation and most every one we meet salutes us, with: "How is Manila?"

We must be hall-marked, even the sampan man says: "American wantee sampan?"

Of course it is tolerable nice to occupy so much of the public eye, but it is very embarrassing to fellows of our naturally (national) retiring disposition. When we left the Philippines, things were kind of quiet, that is to say we were never surprised when we heard of or had a little skirmish brush with a few hundred of the Filipinos, and we did not expect much of an engagement until after the end of the rainy season. The rainy season is a soaking time to our fellows in the line.

In some of the camps at the front the boys have discarded their lower garments altogether except when marching. It saves clothing, is more comfortable and convenient, also, they don't have any drill or dress parade when the water is over the knees. At one place in particular on a little knoll a short distance off the road, they have undress parade whenever the rations come out from town. It is a little island home and all dry goods have to be carried there in boats, on rafts, or on the head.

Every regiment has about sixty Chinamen attached to it, thirty of whom are detailed with the Hospital corps as litter bearers in the field. They get the same as a private of the line, viz $15.60 per month in gold. The rest act as cooks, police, water carriers and bull whackers and get paid about half as much as the others. You see that leaves enough fatigue work around camp and trenches so as the fellows will not get too lazy or sick for want of exercise.

There is quite a large percentage of sickness but most of the cases are light. I believe the worst is chronic diarrhoea. The dysentery is bad but the average is light and the illness is not severe, it is a less tedious cure. A big share of the fellows have fever, both typhoid and malaria, the former being more fatal but less plentiful than the latter.

The chow they give out is a whole pile better than it used to be and I think it will improve right along as things settle down into working order. You see when we first came over into this warm climate, the officer didn't know what we wanted and the men couldn't tell him; and what we did get we did not know how or when to eat. Eating too much in the heat of noontime has caused a lot of sickness, I think. Native gin has laid more fellows out than Mauser or Remington ever let daylight into.

Maybe you don't know what genius those fellows have for moulding lead; although they are generally well supplied with ammunition, they are always improving the disabling power of their projectiles. Home made Dum Dums are pretty common. Guns they have as many assortments of as there are varieties in an old Jew's store.

A few of them are good shots and have lots of gall but not much sand, a steady advance will always make them turn tail, "worse luck;" because there is lots of cover and a hard country to follow over after a half naked Filipino and us with two hundred rounds, a blanket and very likely an empty canteen, to say nothing of the commissary wagon being delayed on the rough roads.

"Pay Day" is the day of days, Then the soldier's thoughts turn to Beery ways,

Hardships forgotten in the golden chime
He makes Manila ring to a good Hot Time.

Two months' pay, $31.20 in golden dollars, makes a man feel as though he can turn things loose for a while, without reckoning whether he'll run short of tobacco before the next two months is out. We are like the rest of the world's soldiers, we gamble a little, and drink a little; maybe a trifle more noisily than some, still considering how numerous we are over there, I don't think we're so all-fired mean in our ways. Once in a while there is a fatal accident in a scrimmage when "Schlitz" has the upper hand, but we are sorry and the world goes round.

How long the Insurrection will last is hard to judge, but next dry season ought to see a finish. Most of the soldiers coming over now and those who will stay there for the next year or so are nearly all young healthy fellows who ought to be able to stand the climate in good shape. There are also three new regiments being formed out of those war soldiers who are entitled to their discharge since the close of the Spanish-American War. They know what is expected of them and though a few re-enlisted for the sake of the travel pay which is offered as an inducement, and amounts to about four or five hundred dollars; still the most of them are men who can take care of themselves under any circumstances.

I think, judged from the officers, and men together, that those three organizations will give a good account of themselves.

Well? Jake says, "Giv'em a breeze," so I guess I'll quit.

PETE.

A "MISSIONARY" TRICK.

The recent deal in Makaweli stocks is interesting if the report of it as published in the planters' organ is correct. It shows that even such godly men like Alexander and Baldwin are not above doing some "sharp" business when there is a profit in sight. Makaweli plantation is undoubtedly one of the very best in the Islands, and stocks in it can be considered a gilt-edged investment. But the methods by which the shares have been handled and the recent deal consummated is, to speak conservatively not above reproach. The morning paper has mentioned the matter and tried to prove that the purchase by a San Francisco syndicate of the controlling interest in the big Kauai plantation would mean a benefit to the community and the unloading of ready money. That theory is simply preposterous, because the men who sold their stocks were the "big bugs" and that the interests of the smaller fry have not been consulted or considered at all. The Hawaiian Sugar Co. has branched out in San Francisco as the Makaweli Sugar Co., and between Baldwin, Alexander and their agents they may succeed in unloading their shares and make big money. The small stockholder is in a bad box, however. He cannot sell his shares because the "ring" owning the control refuse to buy, but are constantly selling their own at prices below quotations. Should their supply be exhausted they may quietly buy up some more shares, and in that manner unload the whole outfit on the San Francisco public. Stocks quoted here at 250 of the Hawaiian Sugar Co. have been sent to San Francisco and offered at 225, and they have been returned unsold. The "ring" allows no outsiders to come in. Had Mr. Pollitz taken up the deal things would have been very different, because that gentleman believes in "live and let live," and would not adopt the method of the virtuous Baldwin clique which can only be described as sharp practice and a successful attempt of a "freeze-out" game.

LABOR DAY.

To-day is an eventful one in the labor annals of this country, for it marks the first observance of the national holiday of "Labor Day" in this absorbed country.

THE INDEPENDENT most cordially wishes the promoters of this movement, their friends and families, a very pleasant time at their dance at the Drill Shed this evening.

Capital can always take its vacation with its increment at work by the hands of its employees, but its employees who observe the day as a matter of principle and as a recognition of their right to independence of thought and action, and not as an actual necessity of rest and recreation, probably have to make a sacrifice of a day's pay to assert their privilege.

Such, however, is the way of the greedy world: all principles must be accompanied by sacrifice, and occasionally by martyrdom, for the foundations of liberty are built upon the blood of the suffering; but so long as liberty does not degenerate into the license of mob rule all will go well in the world.

So welcome even to Labor Day, and may it soon be recognized as a legal holiday amongst us with its parades and paraphernalia, and its purse of an extra day's pay presented by the generous employers to the grateful employees.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It does not seem right to employ Chinese and Japanese workmen to build our public schools while there are white men willing to work.

It is spoken in whispers that one of our influential dailies, whose political conduct has recently been curiously commented upon, will shortly openly espouse the democratic cause for the next presidential campaign. It is said that the family compact and the planters expect more favors from the party to which Senator Morgan is allied, and Mr. Sewall was, than from the Republican administration, which it is feared by them, is apt to give them too much "clean cut" Americanism.

While taking in the starlight on River street last evening, listening to the "exquisite music" from a Chinese cafe chantant, in the company of some two or three hundred others, and watching the "numerous" patronage accorded to certain curtained windows the thought struck us that our enterprising caterers to pleasure were behind the times in this paradise of the Pacific. How much more refined and tempting it would be to have some pleasant and beautiful Japanese tea gardens in the suburbs, with their quota of Geishas, and others, to pander to pleasure tastefully in curious surroundings rather than the system now in vogue? Who will be the pioneer to carry out the suggestion?

Death of Alexander Moir.

Alexander Moir died at Waialea on Friday afternoon, August 25, after a two weeks' sickness of fever. The funeral services were held at the house and the interment took place in the Homelani churchyard.

The deceased was thirty-eight years of age, and a native of Kincardineshire, Scotland. He was employed as engineer on the Waialea plantation railway, having been with that company for thirteen years. The loss is keenly felt by Manager Kennedy, Mr. Moir being one of his oldest and most trusted employees.

Mrs. Moir will leave for Scotland by the Mariposa of September 15.—Hilo Tribune.

SUPERB ARRANGEMENT.

Made by the Boston Lyric Representative for the Selling of Seats.

How it is possible for so large an organization and so expensive a list of principals as the Boston Lyric Opera Co. to come from America to Honolulu for a series of thirty-two performances at the prices which have been arranged by Mr. Harkinson, the representative of the company, will, undoubtedly be a question asked by every amusement lover of this city. That they are extremely low it is needless to say. Indeed, no one need have any excuse for not being able to attend the greatest musical festival in the history of Honolulu.

The prices will be $2.00, $1.50, $1.00 and 50c. A season ticket (32 performances) can be had for $40.00 and a half season ticket (16 performances) for $24.00. These tickets are transferable, and should the party holding not wish to attend any production they are redeemable for their performance value—viz: $1.25 and $1.50—by notifying the booking agent before 12 o'clock on day of performance. The loges and upper boxes will be $15.00; season, $350; half season, $200. The lower box, $18; season, $500; half season, $300. The loges and boxes are also transferable and redeemable the same as season tickets.

What fairer or more equitable arrangement could have been suggested. It offers to the patron, the lover of high class music, every advantage. It is certainly an opportunity of a life time and that Honolulu will open wide its arms of welcome to this coming band of singers goes without saying.

The sale of season seats, loges and boxes will commence Monday, September 11, at Wall, Nichols Co., and continue daily from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mr. Harkinson, the representative of the "Lyrics" will be in attendance to answer all questions.

WANTED MEN TO ROAST THE DOLE MINISTRY.

Strange Work of E. P. Stoddard.—
Seeking for Journalists Who Would Receive Large Pay and Do Nothing But Pander to Rogues.

Several people from Haywards would like to meet Edward P. Stoddard, who credited himself with being the son of a wealthy plantation owner in Hawaii. A few months ago Mr. Stoddard took up his quarters at the Haywards hotel. He made many friends by his pleasant manner and the ease with which he talked of his father's vast wealth. A few days ago Mr. Stoddard left Haywards and several people would now like to meet him. He is credited with always paying his debts and so far as is known left no unpaid loans behind him. But he was possessed of a mania for engaging people to go and work in the islands for fancy salaries, at the same time promising his gullible acquaintances that the hardest work would be to draw their salaries.

Manuel Simas is a barber of Haywards. He was honored with the privilege of shaving the wealthy young Stoddard. Finally Mr. Stoddard confided to his barber that he was looking out for a good man to go down to the islands. He would pay $75 a month, give board and lodging, while the only services to be performed would be to shave his uncle, trim his aunt's hair and occasionally run a mower over his uncle's lawn. Simas thought this was a great deal better than shaving for a precarious income at Haywards, so he accepted the offer and invested quite a little sum in purchasing the necessary apparel to enable him to become chief lawn mower and hairdresser to Stoddard's uncle and aunt. Simas was to go to Honolulu by the steamer which sailed on the 10th inst., but on that date Mr. Stoddard was not on hand, although Mr. Simas had vacated his job and packed his valise.

Stoddard also announced that it was his intention to go to the islands in the interests of a plantation owner named Churchill and establish a newspaper in Honolulu which should be rabidly royalist. "There is a little purpose in this scheme of ours," said Stoddard. "Mr. Churchill lost heavily when the Dole Ministry took office, and he has appropriated $200,000 for this newspaper enterprise, his sole desire being to get even with those who did him up. The whole thing is in my hands. I will engage a complete staff for all departments and we will all go down to the island together and teach those people that the royalist faction is still alive."

With these ideas Mr. Stoddard visited many newspaper men and created the impression that the intention of his principal was to create a revolution in the islands. Of course, there were plenty of journalists who could create a revolution to order on the salary of about $250 a week, but when they attempted to nail Mr. Stoddard down to facts he made all manner of excuses and promised to return in a few days prepared to make definite offers. One man he spoke to nearly caused him to faint by telling him that before he would proceed any further he (Stoddard) must deposit $1000 in a local bank as evidence of his good faith. Stoddard never came back, and now everybody is wondering why he should have indulged in such peculiar pastimes. If Mr. Simas of Haywards could now meet Mr. Stoddard the meeting would not be conducted under Marquis of Queensbury rules.
