City's Health Endangered Unless Money Comes

MONEY EXHAUSTED; WORK MUST STOP

Without Funds For Operations

Owing to the failure of the Legislature to provide a suitable amount of money for carrying on the work of the Board of Health almost all of the most important work of the Board must cease on December 1 unless assistance is received from private sources. This information has been conveyed to Secretary Gilman of the Shippers' Wharf Committee in an appeal from President Pinkham of the Board of Health for funds with which to carry on the work. The letter was brought to the attention of the Board of Health at its meeting held this afternoon.

The following report explains itself: The quarterly report recently received from the health authorities of the Philippine Islands discloses an experience this year with plague almost identical with our own and occurring at about the same date.

Infected rats were discovered before this disease attacked any human being. The following letter to the Shippers' Wharf Committee reviews the situation and I believe it due to the public and the Board of Health that it be made public.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Nov. 15, 1906.
J. A. Gilman, Esq., Secretary, Honolulu Shippers' Wharf Committee, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sir:—The Board of Health since the 14th of April, 1906, has had to consider whether it can be compelled to protect the public health during the existence of virulent contagious disease, threatening to become epidemic, when the Territorial Legislature deliberately and knowingly failed to provide adequate appropriations to meet such exigencies.

The Board decided that it was obliged to protect the public health until its means were exhausted. Its means are exhausted.

The issue is now a clear one, to-wit: Is the Board to abandon the full care of public health because of lack of foresight by the Legislature or is it to seek private support?

Disinfecting and combating plague has cost $7,189.32. The appropriation assigned was $2000. The balance ($5,189.32) was expended from transferring the following assignments:

Dispensary $1,890.46
Quarantine 1174.00
Vaccine 371.47
Medicines, etc. 804.40

Less balance on hand December 1st, 51.01

Of the $7,189.32 expended, $1,145.84 went for permanent apparatus, $1,944.21 for disinfectants and fuel and $2,555.40 for wages of guards and disinfectors, balance in sundry disbursement outside of Oahu and sundry expense.

The Shippers' Wharf Committee was organized and the tonnage tax voluntarily imposed for public purposes, primarily "public health" that trade and commerce might not suffer from

HOW McCLANAHAN SPENT HIS MONEY

Cost Him $875.30 To Be Badly Defeated For Delegate

E. B. McClanahan filed his account of election expenses yesterday, or rather had it filed by one of his clerks, after he had left for the Coast on the Siberia.

The entire account is as follows:
Nomination fee $ 25.00
Subscription and support of newspaper, the "Leader" 25.00
Personal expenses incurred during tour of Island of Kauai, including hack hire, steamer fare, service of interpreter, board and lodging 219.00
Wireless to Palmer Woods 2.00
Personal expenses during tour of Hawaii, Maui and Molokai, including hack hire, steamer fare, service of interpreter, board and lodging 411.40
Use of gasoline launch from Kailua 20.00
Wireless from T. J. Ryan and publication of affidavits, etc. 20.45
Campaign buttons 25.00
Printing of circulars, postage, etc. 100.00
Interpreter service on Oahu 20.00
Sundry item of board and lodging during tour of Oahu 6.00

Total $875.30
The expenses of J. H. S. Kalo, candidate for the House from the Fourth District, were:
Nomination fee $25.00
Personal expenses 20.00
Printing and advertising 6.00

Total $51.00

The measures for disinfection and cleanliness deemed imperative necessary to stamp out epidemic disease and prevent recurrence and those enforced have been more stringent and thorough than those employed by the Federal Government in Cuba.

The work to November 14th comprises: Disinfecting and thoroughly cleaned 2,050 buildings and outhouses; disinfecting and thoroughly cleaned, 2731 rooms; disinfecting and thoroughly cleaned, 577 stores; disinfecting and thoroughly cleaned, 50 vaults.

In order to carry on its regular work the Board of Health requires $825.00 per month, from December 1st, to April 1st, a period of four months.

If its special work of cleaning and disinfection is to be carried on up to the present efficiency $300 per month additional will be required, or totals of $3300 or $4500.

This period of four months will give the Legislature an opportunity to determine whether public health shall or shall not be adequately provided for, and to appropriate for the deficiency existing between December 1st, 1906, and June 30th, 1907.

Without private assistance "quarantine, fumigation, disinfection, dispensary, medical and vaccination work and medicines for the indigent" will cease December 1st, 1906.

I beg to remain,
Very respectfully,
(Signed) L. E. PINKHAM,
President, Board of Health.

PLANTERS MAY BUILD A CENTRAL DISTILLERY AND RUN THEIR OWN STEAMER

One of the most important moves which has ever been brought before the Planters' Association was proposed today by J. A. Scott of Hilo and met with approval from all the members present. This is a plan to incorporate the Association and start a central distillery where all the plantations which own stock in the company shall take their molasses to be distilled into alcohol and then denaturalized.

Not only was this suggested but E. D. Tenney also spoke of other matters which could be taken up in the same way and which would be a great saving to the planters. The one which he mentioned in particular was the buying of sacks for sugar. At present each plantation buys its own sacks in the open market, but, as stated by Mr. Tenney, if the corporation spoken of should be formed they would be able to buy all the sacks under one contract and make a great saving.

J. T. Moir stated that he was very much in favor of the idea and thought that it should be carried out. He did not believe in stopping with the purchase of sacks for the sugar but wished to go ahead on a co-operative scheme and have the one company, which would be managed by the Planters' Association, buy all the supplies which are needed for the plantations and in this way save the profits of the middlemen.

The law which will allow denaturalized alcohol to be distilled under a lower revenue tax than methyl alcohol will go into effect on January 1 and Mr. Scott stated that he thought that immediate steps should be taken to start the building of the distillery for the Hawaiian Islands at once.

J. N. S. Williams was present at the meeting and was able to give full information to the members in regard to the cost of a plant and its operation. He stated that $238,000 would be needed for the erection of the plant itself.

The enormous scope to which Mr. Scott's suggestion may be carried is shown by the immediate decision which was reached, that, in case the plan should be carried out, the company would have to have its own steamer, and again by Mr. Moir's suggestion that other supplies should be bought in the same way.

P. A. Schaefer called the meeting to order, whereupon Forester Ralph Hosmer read a report on Forestry.

He said that the table of existing forest reserves was but a poor index of the situation. He predicted that probably five new forest reserves would be added during the year.

Hosmer recommended that forest rangers be provided for as they were needed to prevent trespass by irresponsible persons, prevent fires, repair fences, keep up trails, etc. He urged that the association back up the Board of Forestry in its action to secure legislation to secure a forest ranger service.

Hosmer spoke of forest planting by private owners, stating that almost every plantation contained waste land, which could be used for forest, from which wood for railroad ties, fuel, bridges, etc., could be obtained. Several plantations had during the past year availed themselves of advice and help from the Forestry Department and it was hoped that more would do so.

On Record for Re-Foresting
Finally Hosmer called attention to the fact that the forestry work was intensely practical as it conserved watershed and did other important things.

Explanation Wanted
Smith said he understood that when private land was set aside for forest reserves, such land could still be used for some purposes, as long as they were not inconsistent with the forestry work.

Smith said that he knew of many to Vancouver without stopping to land her cargo about eight weeks ago. Today the steamer returned from the Sound and will remain here about a couple of days until she discharges the 600 tons of coal which she has for this place and which she brought all the way from Newcastle, took on up to Vancouver and Victoria and has now brought back to Honolulu.

The Bucentaur arrived off this port on October 1, expecting to receive orders to come in and discharge her cargo. But she was signaled from Diamond Head to go on up to the Coast. Although the order was considered a strange one, Captain E. D. Jenkins obeyed it. Now it appears that there was a mistake somewhere, although no one appears to know who was responsible for it. But 600 tons of coal consigned to the Inter-Island Company have been wandering back and forth over the Pacific for several weeks seeking an owner.

Pierce gales and heavy seas marked the first four days of the Bucentaur's return voyage from Vancouver. Bad weather commenced as soon as the steamship left Kamama light, and during Friday, Saturday and Sunday the vessel was buffeted by a steady gale. On Monday the wind was not quite so strong, but was still rather violent and was accompanied by a heavy sea. After Monday fine weather was experienced. On Sunday a steamship, probably the Mowara, was sighted, only her mast-head lights showing.

After discharging here the Bucentaur will proceed to the Colonies, stopping at Suva. Her further movements are not certain, but she may return with a cargo of coal.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all these peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrelly.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backache and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrelly, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound."

Dear Sirs:—About two years ago a very fine, well bred mare I own got what seemed to be a bad sprain of the off fore fetlock, which made her very lame; I blistered her and let her run out for about four months, when I took her up she was better but still lame and got worse when worked. I then tried another kind of blister with about the same results.

Last Spring I bought a bottle of your Save-the-Horse from your agent in this city. After treating the mare with this for about two weeks I gave her some slow driving; she improved very much, and by the time I had used up the bottle I was able to drive her twenty or thirty miles without any apparent bad effects. She now goes sound; I also with the same bottle removed two wind galls from her hind legs.

Hoping that this will be of some benefit to you, I am, your truly,

PLANTATIONS MAY
SAVE $600,000Molasses Turned Into
Alcohol Is Worth
Large Sum

Several very interesting reports were made at the afternoon session of the Sugar Planters' Association yesterday. Among the important subjects taken up was the packing of sugar in larger bags, the use of molasses from the sugar mills for denatured alcohol, and the use of oil as fuel in comparison to coal.

J. N. S. Williams, of Punahoa, read a very interesting report on the manufacturing end of the sugar business. He dwelt on the practice of shipping sugar from this Territory on small bags weighing about 100 pounds and advised strongly the use of 330 pound bags. He stated that this was the only size used to any extent in Porto Rico and Cuba and that they were much better than the smaller containers.

This precipitated a general discussion in which George Ewart, J. M. Ross of Hakalan, J. F. C. Higgins and several others took part. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that in the plantations on these islands there are so many difficulties in the handling of the sugar that the smaller container was to be preferred.

C. M. Cooke spoke in connection with the manufacturing of jute bags in these islands instead of importing them. He said that Jared G. Smith had told him that jute could be raised here but had not given any figures as to the cost of production.

Mr. Williams stated that he had looked into the subject of denatured alcohol and believed that by selling the molasses to distilleries the planters could make a saving of $600,000 per year. Upon the request of W. O. Smith a more complete report on this subject will be submitted to the Association on Thursday.

The next subject taken up was the use of oil for fuel on the plantations. Mr. Williams stated that its use instead of coal on the locomotives on the Punahoa plantation showed a saving of 15 per cent from the cost of coal. He said that it was also very successful in use on steam plows. James Scott stated that on the Kihel plantation he had saved 34 per cent in the cost of fuel by the use of oil.

W. O. Smith suggested that the managers of the various plantations should pay each other visits and learn in this way from each other. Royal D. Mead read an invitation for the members of the association to lunch at the Young Hotel today, after which the meeting adjourned till morning.

PLANTERS MAY BUILD

cases in which plantations were watching the Maui forest reserve matter with interest to see how it worked, before they ventured to surrender any land. It was therefore well to have a full and clear understanding of the matter.

Hosmer said that if the owner wished to reserve other rights, when he set aside his land, there would be no objections to it. These points could be covered in the contracts.

Smith said that another difficulty encountered was that the Governor could withhold the consent of the Land Commissioner, take out any portion of the government forest land. The objection had been made that it was not fair that the government could withdraw land from its own reservations while the private concerns, which set aside land, could not do so.

Can Reserve Rights
Hosmer answered that there could be no impropriety in a plantation's putting a similar provision in its contracts. There was one plantation on Oahu which was considering a surrender of land, but reserved the right to take back such portions as it might need for homesteads or cultivation.

F. S. Dodge said that while the Bishop Estate had not entered into any contracts with the Government it had created forest reserves on its own hook, which amounted to about 50,000 to 60,000 acres.

T. Clive Davies said that he understood that 65 acres of blue gum at Panahau, planted 15 years ago, yielded 300 cords per annum. He wanted to know how long this could be kept up. David Haugus answered that with a little re-planting this could be kept up indefinitely.

C. M. Cooke asked if it was the idea to ask the Legislature to appropriate for the planting of trees and establishing nurseries, or just to fence tracts, and let the trees come up by themselves.

Hosmer said that there was but little chance of getting enough appropriation to set out trees, but money should be appropriated for a ranger system and fencing. He also recommended that lumber trees be planted on the high mountain reserves, as for instance Haleakala, which would later on be valuable as a source of lumber.

Money in Alcohol

J. N. S. Williams read a report on the manufacture of denatured alcohol from waste molasses. The new Act of Congress made an increase of the consumption of denatured alcohol certain.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerke had told Williams that the cost of Government inspection would be with the Government. Ethyl alcohol and methyl alcohol were the two kinds which could be manufactured here. He went into the details of manufacture of these two varieties as well as the cost thereof. It was necessary to have a big plant to produce the alcohol economically. There was about 14,000,000 gallons of waste molasses produced here every year. All this should be taken to a central plant, which should be able to turn out 1600 gallons of alcohol a day. It should be situated near the sea, where it could be easily shipped. Under the prices for which such alcohol was selling 4-12 to 5 cents a gallon could be paid for waste molasses.

Can Save a Million

Williams went on to describe a system under which the plantations furnishing the molasses could be paid on a sliding scale based on the market price and the nature of the product. In ending he touched on the fact that the Standard Oil Co. had secured control of the output of the raw material necessary for the manufacture of denatured alcohol, but Hawaii was in a peculiarly favorable situation, as she was producing her own raw material. He predicted that Hawaii could save a million dollars a year in this way.

Smith asked if the plantations could not use their own alcohol.

Williams said that the mills could not economically run each their own plant. Alcohol could not replace coal, as it was more expensive, but it could be used for explosive engines and probably in the future for lighting purposes.

T. C. Davies said that waste molasses could be used for stock feed. This would diminish the supply which could be used for alcohol.

Sugar Comes First

Williams answered that only 3 cents a gallon could be obtained for waste molasses as stock feed, while something over 4 cents a gallon could be secured for it for distilling purposes.

As Manager Fairchild of Kapaa, who was to read a report on cultivation, was not present, a temporary break occurred in the program. W. O. Smith suggested that a general discussion be started. Williams started the ball rolling by saying that as far as the alcohol matter was concerned, it would always pay to get as much sugar out of the molasses as possible before it was used to make alcohol from.

W. O. Smith asked if there was no way of saving more sugar from the molasses.

J. N. S. Williams answered stating that for the last twenty years experiments had been going on to this end and that there was little hope of a great gain.

J. A. Scott of Hilo proposed that the time was ripe for the planters to form a company to conduct a central distillery to distill molasses into alcohol from the plantations on the islands. By this method of handling the denatured alcohol could be done very cheaply and the waste in molasses turned into profits.

E. D. Tenney stated that he was in favor of incorporating the Association to take up this work and that he believed that there would be a great saving to the members of the Association. He stated that if, as a corporation, the Association made one contract for bags on this one item a great saving could be made.

Mr. Scott assented to the suggestion and said that he thought that the matter should be taken up at once to take advantage of the law going into effect on Jan. 1st. He stated that probably a special steamer for the work would have to be owned and run by the company. The molasses could be handled by pipe lines and in tanks just as oil is now handled.

Mr. Williams stated that in Cuba storage tanks were being erected and that the molasses would be shipped in steamers carrying from 3000 to 4000 tons for the distilling to be done on the Atlantic seaboard.

Mr. Williams stated that to start a plant for this purpose would cost $238,000 exclusive of wharfage rights, etc.

E. D. Tenney suggested Pearl Harbor as a good site on account of its proximity to three large plantations as well as the fact that deep water could be had there.

J. T. Mott of the Onomea Sugar Company stated that he was very much in favor of incorporating the Association for the purposes suggested and stated that he believed that they could do more and "buy all our supplies, hay and grain and do up all these business houses by whom we are being done up every day." (Voice from audience, "And the Inter-Island S. S. Company.") "We ought to buy a newspaper, too."

The meeting, after a short discussion of overhead trolley lines for handling cane, which was decided to be too expensive for practical use, adjourned to meet at the Experiment Station at 2:30 p. m.

The members in a body were guests of the Honolulu Iron Works at lunch soon at the Young Hotel.

Wahiawa Consolidated Pine-Apple Company, Limited.

The Wahiawa-Consolidated Pine-Apple Company, Limited, is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the Territory of Hawaii. It is capitalized at $400,000.00 divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of $20.00 each. It owns all the property and stock formerly owned by the corporation known as Fawai Fruit and Plant Company, Limited, and it also owns all the property and stock formerly owned by the corporation known as the Tropic Fruit Company, Limited. It has thus become the successor of the two former companies above-mentioned. In addition to acquiring the properties of these old companies it has acquired an assignment of an option of leasing 1,000 additional acres of land at Wahiawa and suitable for growing pine-apples. This option provides that the lessee may select this 1,000 acres from the total area held by the lessors. The lease runs for 10 years from the respective dates of selection. Lands to be selected are to be taken in 100-acre lots.

The respective leases are to be dated from the time each such 100-acre lot is placed and ready for planting. The rental from such date is to be $10.00 per acre, per annum. All above properties are fully paid for and the company has created no indebtedness in obtaining the same,—said properties have been paid for by subscriptions to this stock amounting to the sum of $293,000.00 par value. There is now in the treasury of the company stock to the amount of $107,000.00 par value.

All the properties above referred to, including the properties hereinafter specified, are now owned by this company clear of all incumbrance or debt, and were acquired through a very advantageous combination of properties and interests of the two old companies, and at prices very reasonable as compared with the actual cash values of the same, as properties of the old companies, and at prices very low and much less than actual cash values as properties of the Wahiawa-Hawaiian Pine-Apple Company, Limited. The conditions concerning situation and relation were such as to emphatically demand the combination effected by the new company to render the properties much more valuable when handled as one enterprise, than they were, or could have been, rendered under the old separate management. It will be noted that the company owns in fee simple 400 acres of land; that it also has 1450 acres under lease. Four hundred acres of this land is now in pine-apples which will come into bearing in 1907, and also in 1908. Thus it will be prepared to, and will, immediately commence the payment of monthly dividends of 1/2 of 1% per month.

The lands the new company owns in fee simple, and also the lands which it now holds under lease, and also the 1,000 acres to be selected by it out of the tract of 2,400 acres are all so situated in reference to each other, in reference to improvements and buildings, and in reference to the store and to the rail-road depot, so that all can be most economically and advantageously managed as one great enterprise.

WAHIAWA-CONSOLIDATED PINE-APPLE COMPANY, LIMITED, starts without a dollar of indebtedness, and its only liability is its capital stock. It has all the resources, properties and advantages of the two old companies, increased by combination.

Principal among its properties are the following, to-wit:

ESTIMATE

It is apparent that the company will need a cannery or an enlargement of the old cannery for the preparing for market of the crop of 1907, and it is proposed to meet this demand. It will also be best to put under cultivation, at once, not less than 200 acres more of its lands, and thus have room for its accumulation of plants in 1907. It is proposed to offer for sale on public subscription $50,000 of its capital stock at par, and that the funds so raised shall be used for the building of a cannery, and the extension of its cultivated lands. There will thus be left in the treasury for future extensions of its cultivated lands and future improvements, $47,000.00 of stock, par value:—and this is believed to be sufficient to put all of its holdings of land under cultivation.

CASH AVAILABLE FOR 1907.

Cash now on hand $ 4,000.00

EXPENSE, (1907).

Cultivating and harvesting crop $14,000.00

CROP OF 1908.

The crop of 1908 will be from 500 acres, which will, at a very conservative estimate, produce four tons per acre, or 2,000 tons of green fruit, which will make 50,000 cases of canned product, which at the lowest present price of $3.80 per case will sell for $190,000, which after deducting expense of raising and packing will be $75,000.00 available for dividends in 1908.

CROP OF 1909.

The crop of 1909 will be from 1,000 acres, and will be at least 4,000 tons of green fruit, or 100,000 cases of canned product, which will bring if sold at $3.50 per case, $350,000, leaving a balance of $94,000, after deducting the cost of cultivating and packing, available for dividends in 1909.

After 1909, the whole of the land of the company will be in full bearing, and the crop can be taken from 1,250 acres each year, without extending the plantation, and should be, at least, 5,000 tons of green fruit, or 125,000 cases of canned product, which, if sold at $3.50 per case, will bring $437,500.00, leaving a balance, after deducting the cost of raising and packing, of, at least, $125,000 available for dividends each year, or over 30% on the entire capital stock. The rental and preparing of additional land for expansion of the plantation has not been included in the estimates of yearly expenses, as it is proposed to pay these out of the fund created by selling the balance of the treasury stock, controlled by the company.

From the foregoing it will be seen that those desiring a profitable, permanent investment can not do better than put some of their money into the stock of this company, more especially since it is already on a dividend-paying basis, with prospects unequalled in the Hawaiian Islands.

It will be noted that in making these estimates for future years, we have placed production very low, in fact much lower than the average crops produced at Wahiawa during the past eight years, and have also placed prices very low. We do this through abundance of caution, and so that every one who is at all posted in the pine-apple business may see that the prospect is better than our promise.

The general management of this great enterprise will be in the hands of those worthy of the fullest confidence, and whose uniform past success gives us confidence in the future of the company.

It is expected that the undersigned will be of those most interested and most active in the management of the new company.

Respectfully submitted,

I. G. KEILGODD,

Promoter.

WEDNESDAY NOV. 21, 1906.

Attacks upon the Pope are as cowardly as they are unequal for.

Sargent is coming and the band is coming but not a word about Jack.

For 2000 years the self-gratulation of the Pharisee has remained unchanged.

Work on the roads began again this morning. It should never have been stopped.

Having paid a visit to Porto Rico it is clearly up to the President to come to Hawaii during the long recess next year.

So Cohen is the angel after all. Never mind, so long as the boys get here. We'll all be glad to see the band when on parade next week.

If there were only a few more candidates like E. B. McClannahan, the election campaign throughout Hawaii would be much more lively.

Hawaii is not alone in its touch of stormy weather at this time of the year, but it is fortunate in that it is no slight as to be hardly noticeable.

And the latest dispatch about Commissioner Sargent is that he is coming here to investigate immigration matters, not to see the Portuguese land.

With snow falling in Kansas and the thermometer ranging from seventy to eighty degrees in Honolulu, there should be little hesitation in selecting a winter residence.

From the turkey on the cover to its final article about pheasants, The Black and Gold is certainly seasonable and suggestive of a place in every household at this Thanksgiving time.

Republicans must look forward to some hard political work during the next two years. The Democratic party has secured a strong foothold even though the ticket slanders do come back into the fold.

From Hilo we learn that a lack of funds has impeded justice in the Kona Circuit court. We are glad that Hawaii can point to this as the reason, because it is usually a superabundance of funds that impedes justice.

So the County recount is to be followed by a Legislative recount in both House and Senate. This is not an unmixed blessing because, with a revision of the election law on hand and appropriations to pass, there will be the less time for foolish legislation. It means business from the start.

Alex. Robertson, with that reticence for which he has long been famous, has departed these shores without taking even his friends into his confidence. Whether on business or pleasure bent Mr. Robertson will certainly carry good wishes from Hawaii that he may enjoy his well-earned change. And some day he will come back here without a hint of his intention to do so, and Retiree Robertson will be found at the old corners and at his old stands.

The Sugar Trust has been convicted of accepting $25,000 in rebates from the New York Central railroad. But how much has it really received from all railroads? Only one-sixteenth of a cent a pound rebate on an annual output of 200,000 tons would mean an output of $250,000 a year from this source of illegitimate profit alone, and $2,500,000 in ten years. But the Trust does bigger things than that, and the most annoying part of the conviction to the Trust must be that the amount so far involved is such a little one. But let us hope the punishment will be made to fit the criminal and not the extent of the crime in this instance.

PLANTERS AT WORK.

Planters have prepared a good program, and one which means hard work for their three days' session, without taking into consideration sundry entertainments to lighten their labors. President Baldwin, though not at yesterday's session, touched upon three very important topics—the labor question, the limit of arable land and intensive cultivation, and just which one of these may be regarded as the most important it is difficult to say.

In trying to arrive at a solution of the labor question since annexation, planters have expended hundreds of thousands of dollars. Omitting the Chinese, as an impossible future factor, it is certain that good service has been obtained from their more northern Asiatic brethren in plantation work. Whether some of the objections that have been raised to the Japanese could, or could not, be overcome, is for those to decide who are engaged in the business of producing sugar. The Japanese does his work well, he is quick to learn, sticks to the long hours and is seldom unreasonable. But the main drawback recently has been the disposition he has shown to migratory habits, a desire to leave here for the Pacific Coast.

Of course there is nothing to prevent the Japanese from doing this. Contract labor is at an end so far as Hawaii is concerned, and the inducement of better wages elsewhere is an attraction to other laborers than field laborers, and to Americans as well as to Japanese. And California is certainly paying better wages than Hawaii can do at the present time, so why should the Japanese be blamed for feeling that touch of human nature, a desire for more money and better conditions, that exists within every one of us. Perhaps some slightly additional effort to make the surroundings of the Japanese here more comfortable, or some promised financial gain for those who do remain, and give long and faithful service, would tend to keep them as permanent wage-earners.

What the Japanese have been doing the Portuguese have also been doing. Hundreds of these home makers have left Hawaii because they believe that they can better their conditions on the mainland. Undoubtedly they will, much as we dislike to see them go. Still there are others of their countrymen coming here and we should see that they stay here. We do not believe in a superabundance of labor of any one nationality, and for this reason we shall anxiously watch the experiment that is to be tried with the Filipino worker, which is so warmly approved by the Philippine Commission. For the Filipinos themselves the change should decidedly be one for the better, that is if they have the ability to grasp and appreciate it. Some there are who fear that we shall simply be instructing them in sugar culture for the benefit of their fellow islanders when the development of the sugar industry begins on a large scale in the Philippines, as it undoubtedly will sooner or later; that as soon as our importers have learned our methods they will leave us to spread their knowledge in the larger American group.

But these are among the chances that the sugar planters of Hawaii have taken and must take. They have given the subject the most serious thought and consideration, and it is to be hoped that they will ultimately succeed in securing laborers of one or more nationalities, who will stand by the sugar industry and stay with the Territory in an honorable effort to be true and just to their employers as well as to themselves. Labor and capital must work hand in hand.

WORK WILL BEGIN AT ONCE ON COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE

Plans have been accepted for the new Country Club house and work will be rushed to completion just as soon as possible.

The Building Committee has selected the plans submitted by Contractor Craig and he will do the work of construction. The plans call for a spacious club house, with all the modern conveniences. The building will contain ladies' and gentlemen's lounging rooms, a reception room and buffet. Besides there will be shower baths, dressing rooms and lockers in the basement. The building will be surrounded by a wide lawn which will give a beautiful view of the valley, city and harbor as well.

A kitchen has been provided for and meals will be served when deemed necessary.

Directly in front of the Club House where they can be overlooked from the lanai will be the tennis courts. There will be one cement court and one dirt court similar to those of the Beretania club. The cement court will be something new in this country, although they are very popular on the Coast. A cement court has many advantages over the ordinary court. They are always in shape, are clean and not affected by the weather. The lines are inlaid in the cement and tapes are not necessary.

The new greens at the club are finished and grass has been planted on them. These greens are much larger than any others on local courses and there are no two the same. A variety of putting will be had. The course is being rushed so that play can start on near the first of the year as possible.

In a letter dated August 31, 1904, Mrs. Marsh says: "I have never yet heard the efficacy of Peruna questioned. We still use it. I traveled through Kentucky and Tennessee three years ago, where I found Peruna doing its good work. Much of it is being used here also."—Henrietta A. S. Marsh.

They were given five years at hard labor apiece. The Court complimented W. H. Smith, the attorney for the defense, very highly on the manner in which he had conducted the case. Deputy Attorney General Fleming appeared for the prosecution.

When the men were told to stand up for sentence, Attorney W. H. Smith said:

"Your Honor, I wish to ask that in this case a light sentence be imposed. These men are not hardened criminals and do not appreciate the law as an Anglo-Saxon would. In speaking of a witness yesterday the Attorney General said that he was not overburdened with brains. I do not believe that these men have any great amount of brains, as was shown by the fact that they attempted to commit a robbery in a house in broad day-light and with people going past all the time. That they are not men of dangerous character is shown by the fact that they fled like scared rabbits when detected and did not attempt any resistance or carry any dangerous weapons."

Judge Lindsay addressing the prisoners said: "A few years ago a man in this island never thought of locking the doors and windows to his house but now on account of men of your class everyone must protect themselves with locks. It is on account of men such as you that the Porto Ricans have such a bad name in this Territory. I believe that the Porto Ricans, as a people, are a fine and honest race but you and men like you bring shame to your country. You have done more than simply disgrace yourselves in this matter; you have disgraced your nationality and race."

SCARED DETECTIVE WHEN SHOT AT HIT HIGH PLACES

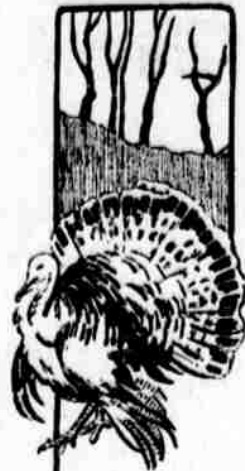

Some one who objected to having his premises invaded in the middle of the night, or who possibly took the intruder for a burglar, put to flight an Advertising reporter detective last night about 11 o'clock when a shot from a revolver. Whether he shot to hit or only into the air with the intention of frightening the midnight visitor is uncertain. The Advertiser man did not wait to see but only hit the high places until he had put a safe distance between himself and the man with the gun.

According to the Advertiser, the reporter was on the premises of Ah Hoo, looking for a gambling game which he hoped to find running there. M. T. Marshall, of the People's Express, who lives just across the river from Ah Hoo, on Vineyard street, says that he heard the shooting, and does not think that the shot came from Ah Hoo's house, but from that of Medeiros, who lives back of Marshall about 50 feet.

As to gambling, Marshall, who has lived where he now does for several years, says that no games are running in Ah Hoo's stable, and he does not think that there has ever been any gambling there. Some time ago, when there was a chess game running at the coffee house in that neighborhood, the Chinese used to congregate in Ah Hoo's stable to wait the hours of drawing, but they did not gamble there.

SPORTS

BOYS WE KNOW

The following extracts are from Coast papers about well known sporting boys who have visited Honolulu. Jack McFadden, who recently returned from Honolulu, is aching for a chance at some of the best boys in the feather-weight division, and this morning issued an open challenge to take any 125-pounder in the country in a limited round contest. McFadden has received a splendid offer to act as boxing instructor in the Japanese navy. He is seriously considering it now, and should he accept he will be forced to leave for Japan about the middle of December. Before leaving, however, he would like to be given a chance by one of the local clubs.

While in the tropical country Jack had eleven fights, winning eight of them. The others resulted in draw decisions.

Jack promoted most of the fights he took part in at Honolulu and made quite a sum of money for himself. When he was training for a fight he was drawing a salary from the Fire Department.

Dave Barry of California and Hugo Kelly have practically been matched to fight fifteen rounds before the Ozark Athletic Club of Davenport on November 6 at 165 pounds, weigh in at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the battle. The pair has been haggling over the weights for some time. Barry holding out for three pounds more and an earlier hour to weigh in, but Kelly, who can fight at the middle-weight limit, set the figures, and Barry was compelled to knuckle.

"Honolulu" Zamlock, who has just signed with the Haywards team, has pulled off some pretty fielding stunts in the center garden and is quite popular with the fans.

INTERESTING DOPE

In speaking of a possible challenge for the America's cup, Sir Thomas said he had decided to send another challenge, but could not say whether it would be issued next year or 1908.

There will be no race for the America's cup next year. There will, however, be a race for that historic mug in the summer or early fall of 1908, unless the New York Yacht Club refuses to meet the challenger a fraction of half way, which is deemed unlikely. Both the foregoing statements may be accepted as coming from the best sort of authority.

Joe Gans, lightweight champion, now at the Empire, expects to retire from the ring after one more year, still in possession of his title. During the coming winter he hopes to demonstrate his superiority as a lightweight beyond all question, and then follow the example of Heavyweight Champion James J. Jeffries and quit the ring.

Society and real estate people here are all agog over the report that William K. Vanderbilt Jr. and A. R. Partridge of New York are figuring on buying an automobile track for the future Vanderbilt cup races.

It is stated that the committee which has the matter under advisement visited Connecticut and New Jersey and that it found the land too hilly.

It is specifically stated that a large tract on the Bladenburg road, between Washington and Baltimore, appeals to the purchasing agent, who is said to represent the Vanderbilts in this particular matter.

Billy Roche will introduce a new heavyweight at his next show at Coima. He will present Joe Jeanette, a colored scrapper, who won his spurs at Philadelphia. Jeanette will be put on with Sam McVey, who was well thought of until he stacked up against Jack Johnson at Mechanics' Pavilion in the old days.

A PECULIAR SCORE

A story causing much comment and amusement in baseball circles is of the only game ever won by the fraction of a run. It should interest Indianapolis fans, as an Indianapolis team won the game. In the days of Sam Thompson, Dan O'Leary and Von der Ahe, Indianapolis was a member of the big league. The Grays, as they were called, never enjoyed the benefits of a spring training trip, but were forced to obtain teams to play against them for practice. On the occasion in question the Danville, Ill., team was playing against Indianapolis. "Peek-a-bo!" Veach, now a resident of Indianapolis, and the hero of many a hard-fought game, was playing second base for the Indianapolis team, but in that game had done little to add to his reputation. The score in the ninth was tied, one to one. Untrue to precedent, no one was on the bases and there were not two out nor two strikes on Veach, who happened to be at the bat. It was a momentous occasion, however, and the dignity of the big league rested upon the shoulders of "Peek-a-bo." An outburst came over and Veach connected a swing from his hip. He met the ball with an awful smash and as it sailed forward the crowd fell back against. The ball had been split in two, it burst near center field and one half sailed over the fence like a clay pigeon and the other half was nailed by the fielder. Veach spent around the bases without stopping to figure it out and scored. A murmur of uncertainty arose from the grandstand. But in the mind of the umpire there could be no indecision. He must either call it a home run, or he must call it a strike. He usually declared the game won by Indianapolis by a score of 10 to 1. Indianapolis News.

KAUAI TEACHERS MEET AT LIHUE

The teachers of the Lihue, Koloa and Kawaihau districts held their meeting at the Lihue school house on the 16th inst, with Prince S. Tople, president of the association, in the chair.

The program opened with "Geography for the Third and Fourth Grades" by Inspector Baldwin.

Mr. Baldwin confined himself to Kauai, noting how the island had been built up and finally shaped by erosion into its present form. He dwelt particularly upon the part the physical features had played in the island's history. Thus the single mountain, Waialeale, which made up the island, conserved the rain water on its flat-topped summit, absolutely supplying even the dry side of the island with water. To secure and make use of the fine water resources of the island of Kauai the tunnel ditch way first evolved and the application effected of electricity on a large scale to the running of plantation machinery the former opened up the wonderful scenery in the Olokele canon, and the latter disclosed the great Waialeale gorge.

A land slip on the northwest side of Kauai caused a section to slip into the sea, thus rendering this part of the island abortive for all time.

Running across the western slope of Waialeale, and intersecting all the gulches in this region is the Waimea gulch, which has deprived this part of Kauai of all streams and springs.

The Kilohana crater has materially altered the face of the region about Lihue, covering up the old lava valleys and ridges, and altering the course of streams. Mr. Baldwin indicated on the sand table the different stages through which the island had passed; finally showing a model of Kauai as it appeared today.

A Third Grade class of pupils was finally called in, illustrating what should be taught and also outlining the plan to be followed in teaching geography for that grade.

The next subject on the program was "Number for First Grade Pupils," by Miss Edith Dunn. A class of pupils was brought from the Koloa school in this lesson. With her usual ability in handling pupils, Miss Dunn indicated neatly, not only how a proper plan would develop a child's number sense, but how, incidentally, the lesson might become a valuable adjunct in language teaching.

Mr. Tople led in a discussion of the number work.

KAUAI NEWS NOTES

Inspector of Schools, Chas. W. Baldwin has just finished his tour of inspection here on Kauai and reports all the schools to be working in a very satisfactory manner.

Dr. Wilkinson intends to leave the islands within a short time. He intends to return to Ireland and locate there.

The McBryde Sugar Co.'s store is the Mecca of the ladies on a hunt for Christmas presents of Hawaiian origin. Judge Hofgaard of Waimea was a visitor in Lihue last week and seemed to be an eager observer of legal procedure at the Fifth Circuit Court.

The Lihue Ladies' enjoyed aquatic sports during the first part of last week. Sunday afternoon the Kalapaki beach furnished a fine opportunity for a swim in the blue Pacific, and a number of them eagerly availed themselves of it. Monday, Miss Ethel Wilcox had invited a number of the ladies to a Christmas party at Kilohana and Wednesday the Handleys of Kapa had arranged a picnic at Waipahoehoe, where their guests had a chance to "shoot the chutes" into a pool. All the invitations were eagerly accepted and thoroughly enjoyed.

BIG PACKING COMBINE

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The Evening Post printed a story today to the effect that a gigantic combination of packing interests in this country is under way. No person connected in an official capacity with any of the large Chicago packing houses could be found who would confirm the story.

The story printed in the Post is to the effect that the combination is to have an aggregate capital of $500,000, and is to be controlled from England, whence the majority of paid up capital for the corporation is said to be coming.

It is declared that Armour interests are to dominate the consolidation and that it will include the following concerns in this city: Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson, Morris & Co., National Packing Company, Schwarzschild & Sulzberger and the Cudahy Packing Company.

According to the Post, the prolonged stay of Sir Thomas Lipton in this country is connected with the alleged consolidation.

TAYLOR CASES ARE AGAIN POSTPONED

Advertiser Reporters Are Arrested On New Warrant

A. P. Taylor was arrested yesterday afternoon on a new warrant resulting from his raid on the Chinese house at the corner of Beretania street and Achilane. The warrant charges him with being unlawfully on the premises of another. R. E. Matheson, also an Advertiser reporter, was arrested on the same charge.

When the cases were called in Judge Whitney's court this morning, Prosecuting Attorney Andrade announced that he would not enter the charges until he had had a consultation with Mr. Douthett. Judge Gear objected and wanted to know the reason. Andrade informed him that he would learn the reason at the proper time.

Frank Thompson, attorney for the defense, stated that in view of the fact that a new charge was to be brought, he wanted to ask for a continuance of all the cases until tomorrow afternoon. The continuance asked for was granted and unless something intervenes, all three cases against Taylor and the one against Matheson will be tried tomorrow afternoon.

A number of Chinese women, attired in their holiday best, were present in the courtroom. What connection they had with the case, if any, is unknown.

The habitues of the Police Court all sat up and took notice this morning when Ysabella walked in. Ysabella is young and pretty. She is not what one might call shy, either, and the glances she cast about promiscuously from under her lashes seemed to cause palpitation of the heart among the police officers present, not to speak of the many friends and admirers of the young lady who were present and who bent admiring glances upon the belle of Iwilei.

Ysabella's case seemed to be of prime importance, judging from the number of times the officers of the court had to confer with her.

Ysabella was charged with living in unlawful relations with one Martin Figuero. Martin is a Porto Rican. The girl got off without any trouble, however, her testimony being wanted by the prosecution. It backed up by that of Officers Joe Leal and Joe Bens, was sufficient to have Figuero committed to the Circuit Court, it being pretty well shown that the man is living off the earnings of the woman. Ysabella was loyal, too. "How else is he going to live?" she demanded indignantly. He can't go out and work on a plantation can he?"

When Ysabella left the court room, nearly all the hangers-on left with her. Jonah's name must have been what quivered him. His full name is Jonah Davis, and he had been full. He admitted it, and it cost him five dollars and costs.

Tom Watts decided that he would rather lose $6 bail money than appear to answer to the same charge. His bail was declared forfeited.

Fred Petrov, a sailor off the S. C. Allen, was in better luck. He had $4 change coming to him from his bail money after he had been fined the customary three dollars and costs for acquiring a jag.

There were several perjury cases on the calendar, arising out of the Chinese feud that has been engaging all the spare time of the court for the past several weeks. Chang Chan, the interpreter, is one of the defendants, as are also Sam Chan, Ching Lan, Ah Shi and Lan Shue. The cases were all continued until next Monday.

The case of Manuel Olmsted, charged with malicious injury, was continued to next Wednesday. Prosecuting Attorney Andrade stated that the man is the driver of a meat wagon, and it would take him a week to break a new man in.

Three small boys, the oldest appearing not more than 10 or 11 years of age, were charged with the crime of living in idle and dissolute life. The arresting officer told a thrilling tale of how one of them had lead him a chase over picket fences before he could catch the youngster. All the boys were ordered committed to the reform school, as was also Harriet, Alapai, a small girl. Some of the children have no parents, and the parents of the others apparently find it too much trouble to take care of them, or make a pretty bad job of it when they try. The names of the small boys are Peter Kamana, Henry Makana and Hema Hanale.

A damage suit for $10,750 was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday by the Kaneohe Ranch Company vs. Nannie R. Rice. The ranch company obtained a 40-year lease of certain lands at Kaneohe and Kailua on April 1893 and complains that through a judgment obtained by the Sumner-Elis heirs they were deprived of part of the land leased in the 11th of Makali. This judgment was obtained in 1897 and the complainant asks for damages on account of the refusal of the defendant to make any compensation for this loss.

Some harps have been discovered in Egyptian tombs the strings of which, in several instances, were intact, and gave forth distinct sounds after an estimated silence of 3000 years.

While thin hair and baldness are undesirable for men, they are vastly more so for women. Nothing adds more to the adornment of women than rich, heavy, flowing tresses. The hair is too valuable to allow it to suffer from neglect. So just as soon as you notice that your hair is coming out you should use

Ayer's Hair Vigor

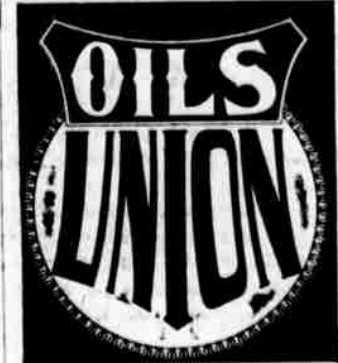

It checks falling of the hair promptly. This feature of Ayer's Hair Vigor is now recognized as most marked, and has brought to this preparation a world-wide reputation.

You cannot possibly have a splendid head of hair when the scalp is covered with dandruff. We urge upon all who are in any way troubled with dandruff to begin the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor at once.

Do not be deceived by cheap imitations which will only disappoint you. Make sure you get AYER'S Hair Vigor.

OLD TIME VESSELS

OF EARLY DAYS

TAKING THEIR REST

Side by side in the harbor, out near the reef opposite the Inter-Island wharf, lies a row of old vessels, most of them retired from active life after long years of activity and usefulness. All but one or two are black and dingy, their paint worn away by the waves of the sea or blistered off by the hot sun of the semi-tropics. Some are steam vessels, others old sailing craft. All are of small size. Some have histories that are unique and strange. They are veterans of the inter-island service, reminders of the days when steam was the exception and most of the vessels plying in the Pacific were dependent upon the whims of the weather.

Quiet and peaceful they lie there, motionless, resting after their busy years. Some of them are still used occasionally, but most of them will never again sail the sparkling waters that lie between the islands.

The most historic one of the lot is the Kaimiloa, once the one and sole man-of-war of the Hawaiian Government. She is the vessel in which King Kalakaua's embassy made its voyage to Samoa at the time when he had dreams of forming an Oceanic Empire. But her glory departed long ago. The Royal arms were stripped from her, the banners pulled down. King and warriors ceased to tread her deck, and she descended to the prosaic work of carrying oil. The old oil tank now belongs to the Miller Salvage Company.

Near one end of the line lies the old Melancthon, used occasionally as a coal barge. Even in her old age she refuses to retire from active life. At the time the transport Sheridan was lying on the reef off Barber's Point, the Melancthon was used in removing the coal from the steamship, and afterwards, when, topheavy and listing, the Sheridan was towed into port, the Melancthon sturdily held her up on one side to prevent her turning turtle. She belongs to McCabe, Hamilton & Remy.

The James Makee is another old vessel which has not yet outlived her usefulness. Up to quite recently she has been running back and forth between Honolulu and other ports on the island. Now she is part of the wrecking fleet of the Miller Salvage Company.

Another vessel belonging to the same company and also lying in the row of ancient is the little schooner Lady. She looks quite dapper with her coat of white paint.

The Kaena, once an old Inter-Island tug, also belongs to the wrecking fleet. She used to be the Walamao, and was engaged in carrying sugar from Waimanalo to Honolulu for John Cummins.

The Moholi was at one time an Inter-Island boat, and used to run to Molokai. She also belongs to Captain Miller's company.

They have all seen younger and better days, and have well earned the right to lie there in the harbor with the sun shining down on their old hulls and rest.

ASSAULT ON HIGH SEAS

Joseph Espinosa, a sailor on the bark Coronado, was placed under arrest this morning on a warrant issued by United States District Attorney Breckons, charging him with assault on the high seas. It is alleged that he assaulted Second Mate Nils B. Nielsen of the Coronado on Nov. 8.

Espinosa tells a very straight story and does not deny the assault, which he says was made with a belying pin. He says, however, that he was stirred up to the assault by the fact that he had been abused by the second mate all through the voyage and had been called the vilest possible names by him both before and at the time of the assault.

$5 FINE FOR CHINAMAN

The jury in the case of Yong Kai, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, brought in a verdict of guilty as charged shortly after noon today. Judge Lindsay sentenced the defendant at once. He was fined $5 and costs.

As there was no recommendation to leniency from the jury, the light sentence which was imposed by the Court came as a surprise to the prosecution. The penalty might have run up as high as $1000 and been accompanied by a long term of imprisonment. If the jury had thought the crime not serious enough to merit a severe punishment they could have brought in a verdict of assault and battery or of simple assault, but Judge Lindsay stated that he found extenuating circumstances and therefore gave the light sentence.

WANT ALEC. TO STAY

Vice Chairman John C. Lane called the Republican Central Committee together for a meeting last night, but as there was not a quorum present, nothing was done.

Lane stated that his object was to have a resolution of appreciation of A. G. M. Robertson's work passed, and also to ask him to remain chairman of the committee, from which position Robertson resigned just previous to his departure yesterday, as the vice-chairman has power to act for him during his absence.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S HANDY INDEX, published in the Saturday Bulletin and the Weekly Edition, gives a concise and complete resume of all legal notices, calls for tenders, judgments, building permits and real estate transactions. Evening Bulletin, 75c per month. Weekly Bulletin, $1 per year.
