HE IS BOOMING COFFEE LANDS.

Brackenridge is Doing Ohio.
Also the People.

IS AN EXTENSIVE LAND OWNER.

He Tells of the Land Law—Ohioans Are Skeptical—1500 Acres in Fee Simple on Oahu—Where Will it End. Did Not Try to Get Money, Etc.

It is very difficult to prophecy what an erratic man like N. B. Brackenridge will do next. A few weeks ago and the report from New Orleans was to the effect that he was buying whiskey and plows and then, without notice of his intention to H. W. Schmidt & Sons, he journeys to Evansville, Ind., and buys plows for Castle & Cooke.

Now he is heard from in Ohio as a boomer of Hawaii. The following letter was received by Commissioner Marsden the other day from one of Mr. Brackenridge's anxious inquirers and is reproduced so that the country may judge his versatility as an eluder of the truth:

LIMA, April 8th, 1896.
Dear Sir:—There is a matter of considerable interest to a few of us in our city, upon which we would like to get light, if we can get it without too great annoyance on the part of others. Your name has been given me (by the son of a prominent resident of your city, who is attending college in this country) as one who can probably give me the knowledge desired.

One N. B. Brackenridge was here some two weeks since, who claims to reside in Honolulu, and called upon a few friends with whom he had business dealings some 15 years ago. I chanced to meet him, and in talking about your country, he said there were great opportunities there now for one to speculate a little, and this is practically his statement which seems incredible, yet I have no reason to distrust the man.

He said that there are certain tracts of land in the Kona district on the island of Hawaii which are to be opened up by the Government in July, 1898. That a person, by having his name entered on the books of your government land office, with an accompanying payment of $1 per acre on all land so entered could have title to such lands and then in July, '98, would be expected to pay an additional $2 per acre in order to become permanent possessor of such land. That the first year (after paying the $1 per acre) I could lease the tract to a company to till the land and put it into growing rice, sugar and coffee.

The former in the low lands and latter in the high lands. That I would receive nothing from the lease the first year, but that according to custom I would receive $2 per acre the second year, $3 the third and so on till it reached $9 per acre. In that event the $2 per acre due the Government in July, '98, would be paid from the lease of the land. That the value of such tracts increase to enormous proportions. He claims to have 1500 acres on the north side of Oahu for which he would not take $100 per acre.

There are some pretty falls in the tract—you probably know the piece he refers to. I would like to ask what the prospects are for an enterprising young man to go to that country to live, and what truth there is in the foregoing statements. I have expected this gentleman to return, but he does not.

He was not asking for any money of me or my friends in order to invest it for us. He acted as though he would like to get hold of the land himself, but the Government will not let him have but a certain amount of the land and so to each man. Any information you can give me will be most thoroughly appreciated by friends and myself. Thanking you in advance for your reply.
I remain, sincerely yours,
P. G. TURNER.

SEMI-FINALS TODAY.

Matches to be Played on the Courts of the P. T. C.

From the score to the last and discontinued set between Singlehurst and Wilder against S. G. Wilder and Hitchcock, on the Beretania courts, Wednesday afternoon, it was thought that the completion of the match yesterday would prove very interesting. The score of the last set, as announced in this paper yesterday morning, was 3-3 when stopped by darkness. According to tournament rules, this set was played over again yesterday, but the score was altogether different. S. G. Wilder and Hitchcock worked hard, and sometimes against a score of "40-love," but they managed to pull out with a score of 6-0.

The semi-finals will be played off on the courts of the Pacific Tennis Club this afternoon, as follows:
Four O'Clock—Dillingham and Coney against S. G. Wilder and Hitchcock.
Five O'Clock—Woods and Wodehouse against Hyde and Norton.

Undoubtedly this last match will prove a very exciting one, as it will be composed of a strong team from each of the Beretania and Pacific Clubs.

All those interested in tennis are cordially invited to the courts of the Pacific Tennis Club to witness these matches.
The finals, to be played tomorrow afternoon, will be between the winners of the matches today, and will be the end of the tournament which has created so much interest during the past fortnight. The courts upon which this deciding match is to be played will be decided on later.

THOSE THUMB MARKS.

Large Objections Made to Very Small Matter.

MR. EDITOR:—So much having been said and written re. the new Registration Act, you will perhaps pardon a few words further on the subject.

First, it does not seem as if any honest man can reasonably or will object to as complete an identification at all times as could be possible.

Second, the object of the Act is good, and the Government should be helped instead of hindered in carrying out its provisions.

And furthermore, with the single addition of the Government seal to show its genuineness, this certificate which is given to every man when he registers is valuable to him as a positive source of identification in any part of the world, which is of itself of value to any traveler, and in case of accidental death, if the thumb, which is a very small member, is not mutilated, a person can be positively identified, either for their friends or for an insurance.

The Act entails no expense on the individual, is very little trouble, and all this talk seems like a very large objection to a very small matter to C. V. S.

Senator Brown Reports On a Loan Bill—Act of 1892 a Basis—The Bill for Extending Fire Limits Passes the House—Other Important Items.

Sixty-Sixth Day.

Thursday, May 14.

The Secretary of the Senate gave notice of bills passed by the House. Senator Brown also reported several bills presented to the President for signature.

Senator Brown presented the report of the special committee on loan bills, which was in substance as follows:
"After due consideration it has been decided to offer a substitute Act in place of those referred to this committee. In drafting this Act, the loan bill of 1892 has been taken as a basis, but some additions have been made, as, for instance, the payment by the Government of a premium of not to exceed 5 per cent. if wishing to redeem at any time within ten years, the life of the bonds; also by making the principal of the bonds a charge upon the consolidated revenue of the country. It has also been deemed advisable to reduce the rate of interest, and the substitute Act limits the rate to no more than 5 per cent. The amount asked for by Act 36 was $750,000. The committee, after going through the different items named with members of the Cabinet, and for which the money is to be spent, have increased the loan $2,600, which increase includes quite a number of items not in Act 36, but which the committee think should be provided for; the principal items being for new light-houses in different portions of the Republic, and being a much needed improvement and also a safeguard to our marine interest."

The committee recommended that Bills 20, 21 and 36 be tabled and a substitute measure passed.

The bill drawn by the committee provides for a 5 per cent. loan of $752,600, bonds redeemable at any time on payment of a 5 per cent. commission. The report was adopted and the bill was referred to the Printing Committee.

The bill establishing new Board of Health regulations came up on third reading and passed by a unanimous vote.

Following a number of bills to amend the Penal Code, from the Joint Judiciary Committee, came up for final reading and were passed without opposition. These bills relate to gross cheat, assault on public officer, malicious injury and mischief, assault with certain weapons, perjury and vagrants.

Senate bill No. 35, relating to carrying letter without cancelling stamps, provoked considerable discussion. The first section provides a penalty of from $5 to $50 for using stamps or stamped envelopes that have once been used. The second section places a penalty upon carrying a letter from one point to another without cancelling stamps, stamp.

Senator Baldwin approved the last section, as the officers of steamers often times carried letters from one point to another, and the stamps, if used, were not cancelled. Thus the Government was cheated out of money.

Senator Waterhouse opposed the second section, as it would work a hardship on people who did not happen to be around when the postoffice was opened.

The second section was finally struck out and the bill passed the second reading.

Senate bill No. 42 came up on second reading with the report of the committee. This is Senator Schmidt's bill for assessing sugar corporation dividends for immigration purposes. The Judiciary Committee favored tabling the bill. The report was adopted.

House bill No. 43, to revise the Penal Code relating to the criminal jurisdiction of district magistrates, passed the second reading under suspension of the rules.

House bill No. 44, relating to the jurisdiction of the district magistrates, making them coextensive with the judicial circuits, took the same course. Adjourned.

House of Representatives.

A communication from the Senate announced the following as having passed the third reading: House Bill No. 29, referring to curfew, House Bill No. 34, relating to burglary and proposed amendments to Article 63 of the Constitution; also that the Senate had concurred in House amendments to Senate Bill No. 31, relating to corporations.

Rep. Richards for the Printing Committee that House bill No. 40 had been printed.

Rep. Richards reported for the Committee on Passed Bills that the following had been handed to the President for consideration: Senate bill No. 31, amendments to Article 43 of the Laws of 1890; House bill No. 34, relating to burglary; Senate bill No. 29, relating to the presence of children upon the streets during certain hours and amendment to Article 63 of the Constitution.

Rep. Kamaoha moved that the vote upon the House bill No. 12, relating to land deleterious to public health, be reconsidered. If the motion should be carried it was his intention to move that the bill be laid on the table for future consideration. Motion lost.

Senate bill No. 37, relating to Chinese hospital, passed third reading unanimously.

House reached consideration of Sec. 76 when a recess was taken until 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Resolutions regarding annexation and postage stamps presented in the Senate, together with the bills and Act 45, all of which had passed third reading in the Senate, were received.

Attorney General Smith stated that Bill 45 referred to quarantine regulations, and that an amendment, as Section 7, had been added in the Senate and as he was anxious to have the bill become a law before the departure of the next steamer for China. Under ordinary circumstances the bill would become a law on Oahu ten days after its publication, and thirty days afterward on other islands. He would like the amendment passed so as to make it a law on approval.

Passed without opposition.

The license bill was then taken up for consideration.

Rep. Richards asked for reconsideration of the vote on Section 31, which relates to exemption of the military from taxation.

Rep. Winston saw no reason why a soldier who drew his salary regularly should be treated different from any other employee of the Government.

Minister Cooper said the position was different. A clerk or policeman could resign if things did not suit him. With a soldier it was different, because he was punished if he refused duty.

Passed.

Other sections passed and bill referred to committee to make corrections in number of sections.

Rep. Richards reported bills in the hands of the President.

Foot binding act was then taken up with committee report, which was adopted, and bill passed and ordered typewritten.

House bill No. 46 was taken up. This relates to persons practicing medicine without a license. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Joint resolution from the Senate on annexation was read.

Minister Damon thought the word "overwhelmingly" is superfluous and has a significance which hardly belongs there. He thought the word "majority" was better.

Rep. Richards moved that it be referred to committee on education. Carried.

Joint resolution regarding postage stamps remaining unsold November 1, 1896, was read and Minister Damon explained the purport. He said anyone who wanted them before that time

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

could get them, and they could be used after that date by persons who had possession.

Rep. Richards suggested that there be an upset price placed upon them and sold at auction.

Minister Damon said if there were any left on hand after the expiration of the time stated, the Postmaster General could take the hint and sell them at an upset price.

Resolution was referred to Committee.

Rep. Ryeroff read committee report on bill relating to fire limits. Tabled to be taken up and considered with the bill.

Bill taken up for consideration and Rep. Robertson asked that it be passed without further argument.

Rep. Winston wanted Section 1 to be stricken out.

Rep. Robertson said as there was no second the motion would not carry.

Rep. Winston said there were two or three.

Rep. Robertson said motion to take the ayes and noes had carried and motion to strike out was not in order.

Rep. Richards said it looked like a forced vote, and under the circumstances he would have to vote against the bill.

Rep. Bond moved for reconsideration. Bill passed.

Carried.

Adjourned.

SUI YOUNG ACTS.

Likewise He Juggles Coins and Other Things.

An Artist from China Proper—Plays on Certainty at God Salary—Big Attraction Chinese Theatre.

Sui Young, the star actor of China Proper, having been released from quarantine recently, began his engagement with the Tong Lock or more familiarly known as the "Old Chinese Theatre" Wednesday night and, as was anticipated by the management, made a decided hit.

The engagement of Sui Young did not begin with Wednesday night, but on the eve of the departure of the steamer China for this port nearly a month ago.

His engagement was made for three months at $25 a night so that he spent a month in contemplation of the work to be done during the remaining two months and drew his pay just the same.

But then the management of the Tong Lock theatre are not doing any kicking for they realize that they have a good thing in Sui Young, who, in addition to his many remarkable traits as a star actor, is a versatile acrobat to perform very difficult acrobatic feats and juggle a coin out of sight from under the very insect pipes of the audience.

One of the management was kind enough to ask a reporter of this paper to pay a visit to the Tong Lock theatre Wednesday night, and upon arrival interpreted all the sayings of Sui Young who was playing the leading part in a farce called "The Farmer and the Ghost." As in all Chinese plays, a great deal more was conveyed through actions than through the agency of the mouth. The reporter saw but one act during which Sui Young was still in existence, not having yet been discovered by the ghost. Following is a synopsis of what was acted:

Enter farmer amid the din of Chinese orchestral music, carrying in his hand a small earthenware basin. Placing this immediately in front of a high chair he proceeds to take a bath with the few drops of water contained in the basin. He sticks his feet in and tries to produce capillary action by rubbing his ankles with his feet so as to save the bother of introducing the remainder of his body to the already muddy water. This done he makes several grimaces, dances a slight can-can and lights an insect pipe which he used to beat time with in a comic illustration of the manner in which girls in various occupations in China render the productions of the great musical geniuses of that country. An imitation of a Chinese flute was quite good, although it was not recognized until after it had been explained by the kind interpreter. Many other gyrations were executed to the delight of the Mongolian audience and the Chinese band continued to play the same old strains best illustrated by the noise of an orchestra of cats. The ghost had not arrived when the reporter left, but a terrible scream met his ears just as he reached the blessed outside air which must have been the signal of the appearance of that object of terror.

Sui Young did not perform any acrobatic feats on Wednesday night outside of screwing his face into various forms, but on Saturday night he will act the acrobat as well as the necromancer.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Hayne Common Nuisance Case on All Day.

The common nuisance case of Republic of Hawaii against Julien D. Hayne was the first to go before a foreign jury yesterday. Not a great deal of time was wasted in selecting a jury as Mr. Hayne used his prerogative as to challenges, but once and then he excused Mr. Corbett.

The witness were mainly from among employees of the Hawaiian Gazette Co. Mr. Hayne defended himself in person and at 4 p. m. began an address to the jury which lasted nearly two hours. Court then adjourned until nine o'clock this morning when Deputy Attorney-General Dole will line up for the prosecution.

The case of the Republic vs. L. V. Redpath is postponed until Monday, owing to the illness of C. J. Creighton, attorney for defense.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Mrs. Ludovicko Found Guilty of Selling Spirituous Liquor.

Ewaloa plead guilty to the charge of selling spirituous liquor without a license and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment at hard labor, and to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

Most of the morning was spent in the trial of Ah Sing, a Chinese laundryman, for embezzlement. Defendant plead not guilty. Mrs. Meek and detective Kaapa were the only witnesses on the stand. Defendant was found not guilty and discharged.

The case of Mrs. Ludovicko, for selling spirituous liquor without a license, took up the greater part of the afternoon. Antone Rosa appeared for the defendant and W. Lanz as translator. Professor Ingalls of Oahu College was placed on the stand to testify as to the liquor contained in the bottle obtained from Mrs. Ludovicko by Gus Cordes' informers. Defendant was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

We would not boast except for the reason that it is your right to know why we get novelties, and why we sell them cheap. You know now! ## The Value Of Good Eye Sight.

Some things are right in my line, and the optical business is one of them.

This department is one to which I devote most of my time, giving the greatest amount of care and attention to each individual case. Eyes are tested in a scientific manner.

The latest appliances are used, which make the test less trying to the patient, and we guarantee absolutely perfect results in every case.

The value of a correct and comfortably fitting glass cannot be over estimated in such cases where the trouble is directly due to imperfect vision. Many see distant objects well, yet are constantly troubled with perhaps headaches, a burning sensation in the eyes, or occasional blurring of the print when reading, yet are reluctant to attribute it to an actual defect of vision.

Being able to discern distant objects, is by no means a sure indication that your eyes are normal.

Extreme far sight is as great a defect as near sight, and requires the same treatment.

Glasses are the only relief, and these should be of the right kind.

It is our business to supply you with only these.

THE SOUTHERN POLE.

EXPLORERS NOW TURN THEIR ATTENTION TO THE ANTARCTICS.

Borchgrevink's Discoveries In Southern Seas and His Plans For a Future Expedition—An Antarctic Continent—The Great Ice Barrier of Victoria Land.

There is a vast section of this planet about which we know almost nothing. It lies around the south magnetic pole. The north pole has long been the goal of adventurous explorers who have traversed much of the frozen wastes which surround it, and now it is rumored that Nansen has reached the pole and is returning with definite information concerning it. At any rate, our maps of the arctic regions give us a good idea of the proportion of land and water there. When they reach the antarctic circle, however, the geographers stop and indicate their lack of information by leaving a blank space about the southern extremity of the globe.

If it is true that Nansen has actually solved the mystery of the north, the chief ambition of future explorers will be directed toward the southern pole. Much of our arctic mapmaking has been done within the last half century, while during the last 44 years little or nothing has been added to our knowledge of that mysterious region below the antarctic circle. Since Sir James Ross returned in 1852 from his daring dash into the south polar seas and reported that he had discovered what he thought was a continent and which he named Victoria Land, there has been lots of speculating done, but no investigating, at least none under scientific control.

The old geographers accepted the theory that there must be a great continent there because land on that section of the globe was needed to preserve the proportions and keep the spheroid upright. Their successors could not accept this as a true theory and, lacking any definite evidence of the existence of such a continent and weary of waiting for explorers to supply the deficiency, finally scratched off the lines of the vague continent from their maps. It remains to be seen whether or not they will be able to definitely replace Antarctica within the next few years.

There is one man living today who has set foot on what he believes was this mysterious mainland of the frozen south and is confident that within a year he will have penetrated to the very pole itself. This is C. Egerberg Borchgrevink, the hardy Norseman who last summer startled the scientific world by a modest announcement of where he had been and what he had seen beyond the antarctic ice barrier. He made his statement before the international geographical congress in London, and his simple story was received with almost unprecedented enthusiasm. He was hailed as the hero of the antarctics, and plans for immediately following up his discoveries were at once formed.

Mr. Borchgrevink is now lecturing in this country, but next September he is to start at the head of a party of scientists for the unknown regions around the south pole. An English commercial company has offered to fit out the expedition and take the explorer and his party to Victoria Land. They are to go in a good sized steamship, and will carry with them a 74 ton steamer and a naphtha or steam launch for the use of the scientists. The steamship will load with whale and seal oil and skins, or with guano if nothing more valuable can be secured. The explorers will be landed and left to the mercy of an antarctic winter while the ship goes back to Melbourne, to return a year later.

Professor Borchgrevink is physically an ideal explorer. He is a stocky built, bronze faced man of only 31 years. He was born in Christiania of English and Norwegian parents. As a young man he made one trip before the mast on a sailing vessel, and left the sea with reluctance to finish his education at various European universities. Later he went reported to have seen so many of the now almost extinct and very valuable "right" whales. Professor Borchgrevink at once applied for passage on the steamer, but was curtly informed that no scientific or other passengers were desired. Nothing daunted, the hardy Norseman offered to ship as a common sailor and was accepted. He signed articles to go as a seal shooter and took his quarters in the fore-cabin with the rest of the crew. In all his accounts of his voyage Borchgrevink has said little or nothing about the hardships which he endured, but it is known that the captain was unfriendly to him from the start, perhaps on account of the friendly and respectful feeling the crew showed to him.

The vessel in which he sailed was the Antarctic, an antiquated steamer, which had been patched up for the trip. She was far superior, however, to the sailing vessels Tiehus and Terror, which Ross used. The start was made on Sept. 20, but owing to an accident which caused some delay it was Dec. 7 before he sighted, from his station in the crew's nest, the edge of the ice pack, the advance guard that tells of the existence of the great ice barrier that surrounds Victoria Land. For 38 days the ship struggled in the pack, dodging icebergs and threading her way through narrow channels that opened and closed as if the ice had been pieces of colored glass in a vast kaleidoscope. Christmas night was passed and the new year came in with the rays of the midnight sun shining down upon them. At last, on Jan. 14, they found clear water, and two days later, having steamed steadily southward, the forbidding coast line of Victoria Land, on which human foot had never been set, was sighted. Cape Adair was reached, from whence land could be seen stretching to the south and west as far as the eye could reach. It rose from dark, bare rocks into peaks of perpetual snow and ice 12,000 feet above the sea. Most of these peaks were of volcanic formation, if not all of them, and some had been in recent eruption. These were the smoking mountains which Ross told about.

On Jan. 18 they reached Possession island, where Ross made his only landing in the antarctic regions. Borchgrevink and some of the crew landed, and the young scientist told them that they were the second party to set foot on that island for half a century. He made quite an extended exploration of the island and scaled one of the highest peaks. Here he made one of the most important discoveries that have enriched antarctic lore.

"Quite unexpectedly," he says, "I found vegetation on the rocks about 30 feet above the sea level. Vegetation never was discovered in such southerly latitudes before. It is a cellular cryptogamous plant—a lichen."

Professor Borchgrevink does not say that most men would have passed by this insignificant growth without a thought, as Sir James Ross probably did. He saw in it an evidence of a continent.

On Jan. 20 the vessel again steamed southward, and Coleman island was

THE GREAT ICE BARRIER OF VICTORIA LAND, sighted. Still onward they steamed for two days, entering waters which had never before been plowed by a keel, and on Jan. 22 they reached latitude 74 degrees. Here the practical captain decided to turn north again. He was looking for whales, and as none had been sighted, he could see no profit in going forward. It mattered little to him that before them was a solitude which man had never explored and which might never be reached again. He wanted whales. Just a little more than one degree to the south lay the south magnetic pole, according to Borchgrevink's calculations. He might easily have continued until the shore of the continent was reached, pushed on over the land if possible, and made his voyage one of the most famous since the days of Columbus.

But no! Whale oil was what he was after and not fame. So he turned back. The feeling of disappointment in the breast of the humble scientist before the vastness of the continent was not to be imagined.

Back they went to Cape Adair, a day's sail to the north. There the captain was persuaded to make a landing. Borchgrevink was the first man of those in the two boats to set his foot on the mysterious continent. In his enthusiasm to gain this distinction he jumped into the icy water up to his waist and waded ashore. He made a hasty investigation of the shore and gathered a few specimens of rock and found some lichens similar to those on Possession island. Then the Antarctic steamed home through the ice pack and escaped before the southern polar winter set in and caught her in its icy grasp.

Professor Borchgrevink intends to have his party landed on the mainland near Coleman island. From there he will start with three Norwegian companions and traverse on snowshoes and sledges the distance of 160 miles intervening between the camp and the pole. What manner of country this is he will try to discover. He is almost sure that it is a continent. He does not know that it is not inhabited. The Eskimos live in a more severe climate. He thinks he has seen a trace of land animals, and he will try to find them.

Will he find the pole? If he finds it, will he live to return? He is confident of doing both. Thousands of scientists and millions of intelligent people who do not claim more than a speaking acquaintance with science will await the result of this expedition with expectant eagerness.

THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser.WALLACE R. FARRINGTON, EDITOR.
FRIDAY, MAY 15.

The reasons given for the failure of the House of Representatives to take up the current receipts appropriation bill are as numerous as the individuals who have opinions to offer. But whatever the true inwardness of the thing may be, it is about time the House began to gird up its loins and show signs of greater activity in connection with this important measure. The Legislature has about twenty days in which to finish up the work of the session, and there yet remains no small amount of work to be done. This is no time for dilatory measures, and unless the Representatives intend to go home without passing the appropriation bill, it is about time they gave the measure their undivided attention. If the present tactics are followed out, the last few days of the session will find our worthy legislators up to their ears in important work that will either be cleared away with a rush or left unfinished.

The wise heads of the Senate have settled upon a financial scheme of their own, which they apparently consider as quite sufficient to meet the demands of republican progress for one session of the Legislature. Time alone will prove the wisdom of the Senate. The attitude of the upper house toward the financial policy of the country calls to mind an incident in an old New England town, where the good fathers of the hamlet turned out to move a house. All went well until the house had been moved to the bottom of a steep hill. At this point a vinegar-faced corner store orator announced that there were not enough oxen in the whole town to take the building over the hill. The energetic leader of the house-moving aggregation shouted "Drive on!" while the orator stood by the roadside, shouting, "Ye can't do it, ye can't do it!" "Mid the vociferation of the counter factions the drivers goaded their oxen to the task, the house was taken over the hill, and the vinegar-faced orator retired to the corner grocery. The general sentiment of the country has been in favor of a broad and progressive financial policy, but the Senate has announced that "ye can't do it," and unfortunately has enough votes to prevent its being done. The financial progress of the Senate is a piece-meal makeshift that would suit the New England flour-barrel orator.

THUMB MARKS AND TOURISTS.

In considering certain improvements in the administration of the Registration Act, the tourists coming to this Paradise of the Pacific should not be entirely lost to view. As the law now reads, every person arriving in the country is obliged to register, hand his thumb mark to the authorities immediately upon landing. Here again sentiment and the thumb mark come into collision. In this case it is not unlikely that the collision may cost the country a good sum in cold cash. As hosts of a large number of sight-seers, it is good business if nothing more to make the life of our visitors as pleasant as possible, and as free from irksome rules and regulations.

Under the present reading of the law, the tourist is brought before the registrar whether it is his intention to stay in the country six days or six months. To the Russian the obligation to comply with the thumb mark regulation will bring thoughts of home, and we do not doubt that as the Russian presses his finger on the ink pad he will gleefully whistle "Home Again from a Foreign Shore," or some kindred roundelay. Unfortunately, however, the majority of the public guests who bring money into Hawaii are not of the Russian disposition, and will not look upon our new law with the same pleasant reflection. Hawaii has not reached the point where a strict police surveillance is required over every new comer that lands on the wharf, and it is not for the best interests of the country, financially or politically, to force this impression upon the people who remain here only a short time and go on their way about the globe, spreading broadcast their ideas upon matters and things Hawaiian.

If it is impossible to exempt the tourist who comes to the country for a month or six weeks from registration, he can at least be given the privilege of placing his signature—provided he can write English—upon the registration blank, instead of leaving the outlines of his thumb for the statistician and police official to ponder over.

It is true that the tourist is no better than the average citizen of the country, but it is impossible to make out what is to be gained by requiring people to register who have no intention of becoming citizens, and who will get out of the place as soon as possible if obliged to comply with disagreeable regulations that are inclined to stir up the cantankerous spirit of the individual who has no time to study or listen to the whys and wherefores of the thumb mark and the Registration law.

BRITISH INCOME TAX.

The present income tax in force in Great Britain and Ireland is divided into five heads, known as schedules A, B, C, E, D. The object of the tax is to reach incomes of every sort derived by residents from sources in and also out of the country. Another object is to avoid unnecessary prying into the circumstances of the taxpayer. It was with this object that the tax is divided into five heads.

Schedule A deals with income from lands, including houses, the rent or annual value being the measure of charge.

Schedule B deals with the benefits derived from the use of land by the agriculturalist. Rent forms the basis of assessment, and the measure of charge is one-half the rent value in England and one-third in Scotland and Ireland.

Under schedules A and B no deduction is made for repairs. The occupier pays both taxes, but deducts the tax under schedule A from the next payment of rent. The landowner in his turn deducts a proportion of the tax from any annuities or other charges there may be on the land, and the income is thus traced to its source and the burden of tax equally distributed.

Schedule C deals with income derived from funded property, whether home, colonial or foreign. The tax is deducted from the dividends and paid into the Bank of England on account of revenue. With regard to foreign investments, the persons charged with the payment of the dividends in England deliver accounts to the special commissioners, who make out the assessments.

Schedule E deals with official salaries or the salaries of those employed by corporations. In the case of official salaries the deduction is made from the pay in each department of government. In the case of corporations the treasurer makes the assessment.

Schedule D deals with incomes from professions, trades and occupations, besides any miscellaneous sources of income not included in the previous schedules. Under this schedule are six cases, as in Pitt's Act of 1799, alluded to in Thursday's article. Case I., profits from trade, manufacture and commerce. Case II., professional incomes. Case III., profits of uncertain annual value. Cases IV. and V., income from abroad, from sources other than those mentioned in Schedule C. Case VI., profits or gains other than those classified.

In cases I. and II. the charge is made on the average profit of the last three years. And this is eminently just, as the profits of merchants and the incomes of professional men vary considerably from year to year.

The exemptions are: I. Incomes under $750. II. Incomes of charities. III. Hospitals, public schools and almshouses. IV. Friendly societies. V. Industrial and provident societies. VI. Buildings of literary and scientific societies.

The abatements are: I. On incomes under $2,000 a deduction of $600 is allowed, not of the full amount of exemption, it will be noted. II. Premiums of life insurance not exceeding one-sixth of the income.

Such in brief is the present income tax law of Great Britain and Ireland.

Today Mr. Winston's income tax measure comes up for discussion. We trust the discussion may be full and varied. The Advertiser has striven to lay the subject of income tax before its readers in such a manner that they may fully appreciate the arguments for and against the bill.

While fully supporting the theory of taxation on income, we are by no means prepared to say that Mr. Winston's bill is one which should pass. It is in the right direction, but it will need amendment and expansion, and considerable amendment would have to be made in the present tax law before it could pass safely without fear of afterward being thrown out by the Supreme Court as being unconstitutional from causing double taxation.

Reviewing the whole subject, it would appear better that a commission be appointed to report to the next Legislature; that the income tax measures of countries other than Great Britain and Ireland be carefully considered. Moreover, the census is soon to be taken, and by a judicious set of questions much information could be obtained that would assist the Minister of Finance in calculating what his estimated receipts under such an Act would be. However, we are quite prepared to accept an income tax now, and to improve on it two years hence if necessary. The question of the income tax is a live issue today and will be a live issue two years hence, just as the funding bill will be.

"EXPANDED" TELEGRAMS.

Some very amusing information about "expanded" telegrams has come out in the course of a trial in London. The Literary Digest furnishes the result of the trial and gives some extracts. The case was the London Times versus the Central News Agency. The charge was "improper expansion of telegrams." The case came up through a Japanese paper publishing an article showing that the telegrams had been largely manufactured in London, and that those coming from the seat of war came from Tokio. The counsel for the Times said:

"The Times thought the telegrams genuine and even commented upon the excellence of the service in its editorial columns. As a matter of fact, the words received by the Central News during the war amounted to 7,413. Of these 3,887 were in 17 telegrams for which there was no authority. The Times was supplied with 33,112 words altogether. The Times, therefore, paid for an excess of 29,186 words. Among the instances in which the Central News representative had drawn considerably upon his imagination was one in which 41 words had been 'expanded' into 447. The Times was not the only paper supplied with these telegrams. A large number of publications received the news at sixpence per line. The following are samples of telegrams which were 'highly edited' before they were sent to the patrons of the Central News Agency:

"Upon attack Old Nan Ching found foreign missionary who immediately taken under our protection."

"This was sent to the Times as: 'While the Japanese were having their desperate fighting in the streets of Old Nan Ching they found in one of the houses a brave British missionary, who, despite the danger, had determined to remain at his post. A special Japanese guard was immediately ordered to protect him.'"

"In another case the message received was:

"General Weifor Ping Wang defeated beheaded."

"This was expanded into: 'A Tien Tsin dispatch states that General Wei was beheaded this morning. The Imperial Council had represented to the Emperor that in retiring from Ping Wang before the Japanese had commenced their attack upon the place, General Wei had been guilty of cowardice before the enemy, and had contributed to the defeat. Therefore his death was ordered. General Wei met his death with fortitude.'"

One thing can be said for the Honolulu papers. They do not expand the news, but they work very hard to condense it. The humor of the above situation lies in the payment of "sixpence a line" for the "expanded" stuff and then praising the service in the editorial columns. Sharp fellows, those of the Central News Agency. Stock should have sold high!

ABOUT BOOKCASES.

WHAT TO DO WHEN SPACE FORBIDS A REAL LIBRARY.

An Arrangement With Silk Panels For Artistic Drawing Rooms—The Lazy Man's Bookcase—Converting a Dresser Into a Bookcase—For the Boudoir—Oddities.

In some artistic homes the difficulty about having bookcases in the drawing room has been solved by making them of oak stained green, with broche silk panels and green velvet top pieces, instead of leather and reed blinds in place of glass. Many protest strongly against glass and claim that it does not keep out dust—it keeps it in. Moreover, glass doors are not easily opened.

To the indolent man is commended the conversion of the bow window into a dwarf bookcase. A few shelves fixed to the wall will contain many books, and on the upper shelf, prettily covered with a strip of good embroidery, a collection of pipes, tobacco jars, pens and ink can be kept. A flap attached to the top shelf, and easily raised or lowered, could be used as a writing desk and with the addition of a luxurious reading chair the cheerless bow window would become a delightful "cozy corner."

Medium sized sideboards—when selected with a view to the accommodation of books instead of china—afford, with few alterations, admirable bookcases for the family or sitting room. In the large deep drawers weekly papers and account books—dear to the heart of the ideal housewife—can be neatly kept, while the quaint shape of most of the dressers tempts one to mingle pictures and plates with the books. In the space underneath the placing of an old copper jar for waste paper is suggested.

In the recess that one so often finds near the fireplace a corner bookcase may be fitted, and it is very decorative.

Almost every cultured woman has an ideal room thrust away in the background of her aspirations to which she approaches as near as fortune and opportunity will permit her. Some women delight to have new furniture designed for their particular apartment and exclusive use. Others, again, go forth into the lanes and byways in search of antique treasures that have already lived many lives in many homes. To these the Chippendale bookcase, with its dark triangular shelves, appeals with peculiar force.

Numbered among oddities in bookcases are those made to match the books. A remarkable instance is that of an Englishman who had a strange fad in books. He had them bound in colors, which, according to his theories, suited their characters. For instance, he had all theological books bound in red, because of the blood shedding they had caused; science in gold, since most of it is based on the discoveries of seekers for the aurum potable; poetry in green, to hint that it is man's spring offering. In order to carry out these fancies, he had bookcases to match—mahogany for the theology, gilded walnut for the science, oak stained green for the poetry, etc. One bookcase was a hodgepodge of colors, and the bindings were rainbow-like—the books, he told, were of the class called "curious" in catalogues.

Important Points About Coffee.

If you desire the best possible cup of coffee, buy the coffee in the berry and brown and grind it at home. As a rule, coffee is overroasted. The moment the berries acquire a golden brown tint and oily stains appear they should be taken from the oven, and a little piece of butter melted over them adds to the richness of the berry. If they are left until dark brown, the oil, which contains the aroma of the coffee, evaporates, and the dark liquid which is the result of coffee making with burned berries is devoid of perfume and flavor.

One of the best blends of coffee is one-half Mocha and one-half Java.

One Recipe For Cream Candy.

Half a cupful of cream and 2 cupfuls of powdered sugar; boil 5 minutes in a granite kettle counting from the time it boils all over. Place the kettle in cold water and beat it until stiff enough to hold candied fruit. Add quarter of a pound of candied fruit, cut fine, and pour the cream into a narrow bread pan, buttered or lined with paraffin paper. The second layer is the same, using in place of the fruit a teaspoonful of vanilla, and one small square of chocolate melted. The third layer is colored pink with cochineal and flavored with chopped almonds. The fourth layer is like the first.

THEY WERE OVERLOOKED.

The Company A Election Last Night Ends in a Row.

Some of the members of Company A took a little too much beer last night after the election of captain, and in consequence got into a rather quarrelsome mood about eleven o'clock. One of the bluejackets from aboard the U. S. S. Adams was in the crowd and tried to stop a fight between two of the members of Company A. He received a blow for his pains. The fighting humor became general and young Dutchalsky, taking the lead, led others into a general fight, during which some very hard blows were exchanged. The more sober members of the Company succeeded in quieting the disturbance and sent the troublesome ones home.

Central Union Social.

The regular monthly social of Central Union Church last night was attended by some seventy-five people, among the number being several strangers. The following program was followed by light refreshments: Piano duet by the Misses Hopper; soprano solo by Miss Richards; solo by Prof. Ingalls; soprano solo by Mrs. Paty with violin obligato; solo by E. Mott-Smith.

A Revolution IN PLOWING

"THE SECRETARY" Disc Plow.

NEWMAN, ILL., NOV. 2, 1895.

DEERE &amp; COMPANY, MOLINE, ILL.

DEAR SIR: Our exhibition of the New Disc Plow in broom corn at this place today was not only a success but a complete surprise to all the farmers present, and was an agreeable surprise to myself in that sort of work. I talked with every farmer at the exhibition, and the majority of them said the plow was worth all it cost just to plow broom corn. Just think how absurd it would be to try to plow in heavy broom corn without breaking or raking and burning the stalks, but the Disc Plow will do it, and do it well. From what I have seen of this plow I think it is the only plow, for broom corn, at least.

Yours truly,

JAMES MOORE.

Kroeger Pianos

All have handsome, tasteful, durable cases, but in their factory constant, careful, studious attention is given to the production of a perfect and lasting tone. WE HAVE A FEW MORE BOXES in our Safe Deposit Vault which are not yet rented. There are four sizes, varying in price from $12 to $30 per year. Any private papers left in these boxes are perfectly safe, as the vaults are fire-proof and are fitted with time locks, which makes them absolutely burglar-proof. There are two keys to each box, both of which are given to the party renting box, and should these keys be stolen they would be useless to bearer as he could not open the box without our master-key being first inserted.

Parties leaving the Islands for their summer vacations will find it a convenient place to leave any valuables.

KATE FIELD IN KOHALA.

Lectures on Dickens and Pleases the People.

DIDN'T GET WHAT WAS EXPECTED

Wisecracks Said She Would Talk Politi-
tics—Rough Weather—Kohalaites Leave for a Tour—Japanese Acrobats are Giving Exhibitions, Etc.

KOHALA, Hawaii, May 12.—
Kate Field has visited Kohala, and during her stay has received the courteous aid of the Government officials in making her investigations as thorough as may be. And she has enjoyed the gallant attentions of the worthy burghers who have vied with one another in escorting their guest to the various points of interest in this fair patrimony of the Kamehamehas. She was urged to address the public, and though unprepared in the matter of manuscript or other essential addejuncts, graciously consented to deliver her lecture on Charles Dickens, but preferred to speak in a private house rather than the public hall. So the lecture was given in the parlors of the parsonage, but to a much larger audience than the eloquent speaker had expected to meet.

Promptly at eight o'clock the lecture began. The little touch of genuine femininity displayed in the apology for her attire, with which the lecturer prepared her address, was as delightful as it was unexpected. The people of Kohala are a literary people who can listen with discernment fastidious enough to consider critically as well as to enjoy enthusiastically. And the subject of the evening's lecture was one as gratifying to their instincts as could probably have been found in the speaker's repertoire. And when the address had been brought to a conclusion, the unanimous if unspoken verdict was that of a gratified surprise. After the lecture there was an informal reception accompanied by refreshments.
And here, for a pleasant half-hour, those who live apart from the courts of fame had opportunity to appreciate the personality of the woman, as they had during the discourse, to admire the scholarly ability of the lecturer.

The wise acres who with their customary intelligence in regard to everyone kindly disposed toward the Republic, predicted a violent political harangue, must realize that prophecy is not their forte, and that common sense is not their distinguishing virtue.

The Japanese acrobatic troupe, who have come to Kohala, are playing to good audiences. Some of their work is very clever. But the performance on the whole is conducted in a happy-go-lucky manner. They could give points to Billy Marx in the gentle art of never being in a hurry. And even the faithful musicians of the troupe can hardly redeem the performance from the charge of tediousness.

There is quite an exodus from Kohala of those who have seen fit to deny themselves the privilege of citizenship in the Republic.
And the heartiest good wishes of all go with them to the far away lands whither their adventurous feet may carry them.

The Consuelo arrived on Sunday from San Francisco with a cargo of general merchandise and will carry away a load of sugar.

The mills are grinding more slowly than the earlier months of the harvest, for planting has begun. There has been some rain, and the weather continues rather boisterous and threatening.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent, liv-erly man and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain, and the use of one bottle completely cured him." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaiian Islands.

Store Policy Toward Children

Nothing vexes parents more than to have their children taken advantage of. We don't believe there's a store in Honolulu that would do it, simply because it isn't good business policy, if for no other reason.

We mention this because one of our customers drew out attention to it. He sent his little boy to us for a preparation which we were selling for about half what it could be purchased anywhere else. He thought because we were selling so cheap we might take advantage of the little customer. But the father found the right change in his little fist and he was pleased.

It's quite an advantage for you to send your children to us for drugs and medicines. They get a good many car rides out of our generous, cut-rate prices.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.

"We use Purifine and find it very good for deodorizing sinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection."

BORN.

BOLTE—In this city, May 14, 1896, to the wife of C. Bolte, a son.

AT DIAMOND HEAD SIGNAL STATION, May 14, 10 p. m.—The weather is cloudy; wind fresh, northeast.

The Kauai will sail on her regular Kauai route at 4 p. m. today.

The Ke Au Hou discharged sugar into the bark Pactolus yesterday.

The bark Amelia, Ward master, sailed for Eureka shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday.

The missionary packet Morning Star is making preparations to go to sea.

Sugar is beginning to pile up on the Oceanic wharf for the ship John McDonald.

The bark Pactolus was kept busy taking on Ewa sugar at the railroad wharf yesterday.

The bark Doon has hauled over to the Kinau wharf to take on sugar for San Francisco.

Tom Cook is detailed on duty aboard the schooner Aloha which arrived yesterday morning.

The Kinau will sail on her regular Maui and Hawaii route at 10 a. m. today. Quite a number of passengers are booked to leave.

The steamer James Makee arrived from Kauai with a load of sugar yesterday morning and sailed again for Kapaa in the afternoon.

The Mohican has finished discharging her cargo of general merchandise and is making ready to take on sugar for San Francisco.

As soon as the ship John McDonald has finished discharging her ballast she will haul over to the railroad wharf to take on some bags of sugar that now await her. This will probably be on Monday.

Inspectors Severin and Scott, in charge of a posse of Custom House officers, searched the schr. Aloha but were gratified to find nothing.

The donkey engine engaged in the work of discharging ballast from the ship John McDonald was brought over from the railroad wharf.

Tom Cook, the waterfront mascot, prophesies that the bark Pactolus will beat the records of all vessels running to New York with sugar during the present season.

The schooner Aloha, Dabel master, arrived in port and hauled alongside Brewer's wharf yesterday morning, 16 days from San Francisco with a cargo of 1400 tons of general merchandise consigned to various parties. Pleasant weather was experienced throughout the trip. The Aloha was becalmed all day Wednesday off Waimanalo. The crew took advantage of the lull to throw shark hooks overboard and succeeded in capturing several of the finny monsters.

The Kaiser's New Yacht.

LONDON, May 2.—Mr. Robert Gomez, Emperor William's sailing master, has arrived at Patrick-on-the-Clyde, with the object of superintending the fitting out of His Majesty's new yacht. The yacht which it is understood will be named Meteor, after his old yacht, formally the Scotch cutter Thistle, will make her debut at the South End Regatta. Her design is still a secret but it is hinted that an extraordinary departure has been made in carrying the lead keel three feet deeper forward instead of aft. Her fittings are of the lightest possible character, but she has a handsome ladies' cabin and several state-rooms. The new yacht will have a steel main-boom, similar to the Valkyrie's, except that it will be round instead of hexagonal.

The Craigmore.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Reinsurance on the British ship Craigmore, over due from Newcastle, N. S. W., was increased to 30 per cent. The report brought by the Robert Ferne and the Celtic Monarch, that arrived last night, somewhat strengthened the belief that the Craigmore is all right. The Ferne was out seventy days and the Celtic Monarch 77 days. Ten per cent. was paid on both ships for reinsurance.

Copenhagen will have a theatre managed by women to produce plays written by women.

The Reason for Advertising.

Advertisers use the Advertiser because they get profitable results from their advertising in it.

They know, also, that each one pays a like price for a like service.

Advertising space is not given to one house in order that it may act as a decoy duck for others.

No "discount" for one, "special discount" for another and "extra special discount" for still another.
