Rep. Kamohua presented a resolution that the Minister of Interior draw $2,000 out of the appropriation for buildings, etc., for the purpose of finishing the landing at Punaheoa, district of Hana, and that the work be commenced immediately.

Noble Baldwin moved as another amendment that the words "being one half of the above mentioned amount of $2,000,000" be amended by striking out "one half" and inserting "a portion."

Minister Ashford said if red lines were drawn on the face of the bill it might raise a suspicion, and that people would not invest if they saw an erasure.

Noble Young said they ought to be very careful with these things. He moved to insert the words "in lieu" in place of "representation" and "one half."

Minister Green said that standing as he did in the responsible position of Minister of Finance, there was not a clause they need be afraid of and they need not look for after-clauses. It was as clear and straight on the face of it as the English language reads. He assured them there should not be fear of any difficulty.

The motion by Noble Baldwin was put and lost.

On motion of Minister Ashford the schedule passed as amended.

The preamble of the Act was next read.

On motion of Noble Baldwin the first paragraph was passed as follows:

WHEREAS, By an Act entitled "An Act to authorize a National Loan and to define the uses to which the money borrowed shall be applied," dated 1st September, 1886, as amended by an Act entitled "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize a national loan and to define the uses to which the money borrowed shall be applied,'" dated October 15, 1886, the Minister of Finance is authorized to issue coupon bonds of the Hawaiian Government in the aggregate not exceeding two millions of dollars.

Noble Smith offered an amendment to the second paragraph of the preamble which carried. As amended it reads:

AND WHEREAS, The Financial Agents of the Hawaiian Government have agreed with certain English subscribers to a portion of said loan to deliver to such subscribers coupon bonds expressed in sterling money, and containing provisions not expressed in or authorized by the said Act, and such subscribers have paid to said Financial Agents the amount of money subscribed by them. Now, therefore:

After the title and enacting clause had been passed, Rep. C. Brown moved the committee rise and recommend the House to pass the bill as amended to engrossment. Agreed to.

The committee rose and the chairman reported. The report was adopted.

The bill was ordered to be read a third time on Saturday.

ROAD SUPERVISOR'S BILL.

Third reading of an Act to amend the law concerning Road Supervisors and the disposition of the road tax, and to establish local road boards, and to define their duties.

Minister Thurston moved that the word "the" be inserted in place of "such" in section 3 of the English version. Agreed to.

Rep. C. Brown moved that in section 2 after the word "Honolulu" be inserted "and the Island of Oahu."

Rep. Kalanokua offered an amendment to the same section so that the members of the board shall receive pay at the rate of $2 per day, instead of serving without pay. He also called for the ayes and noes.

Both amendments were lost and the bill passed its third reading.

At 11:50 the House took a recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House assembled at 1:08 p. m.

The bill to confer a permanent settlement on Hon. H. Kuhielani passed its third reading.

APPROPRIATION BILL.

Rep. F. Brown moved that the item of $12,200 for the Makiki claims be stricken out. Carried.

Rep. C. Brown moved that the item for Police Court building at Honolulu be left blank.

Rep. F. Brown moved that the amount, $8,313 95, be inserted. Carried.

Minister Brown moved the insertion of $10,000 for expenses of the present session, a bill for which had already been passed and signed. Carried.

Noble Smith moved that the bill be referred to the Revisionary Committee. Carried.

Minister Thurston said it would have to be referred to the Finance Committee.

The House then went into committee of the whole to consider the bill on its second reading. Noble Waterhouse in the Chair.

Noble Smith moved that the item for Princess Kaiulani be stricken out. Carried.

Rep. F. Brown moved that the item of $1,250 for Princess Liliuokalani read $1,500, as the reduction would then be in proportion to the other reductions.

Rep. C. Brown held that these amendments were all out of order.

The Chairman overruled the objection.

Noble Smith held that it was not competent to reconsider a vote.

Noble Smith moved the insertion under the head of Department of Foreign Affairs the item, salary of librarian, reception of official guests and military engineers. Carried.

The title, preamble and enacting clause were adopted and the committee rose and recommended to the House that the bill pass to engrossment as amended. The recommendation was adopted and Friday set for third reading.

IMMIGRATION BILL.

Third reading.

Noble Hitchcock moved that the bill pass.

Noble Richardson moved an amendment to Section 4 by inserting the words "and Hawaiian" after the word "English."

The bill passed with the amendment.

TAX INSURANCE BILL.

Second reading.

Noble Dole having temporarily taken the seat of the President.

Noble Wilder said this bill was to repeal an Act passed last session putting a tax of 2 per cent. on all life insurance premiums. The companies would not pay this tax and it therefore had to be paid by the policyholders. He moved that the bill pass to engrossment.

Rep. Kinney—What tax will they have to pay if it passes?

Noble Wilder—None at all; they have no property to tax.

Minister Thurston regarded this tax as in the nature of a license for doing business.

Why should not the insurance companies pay for their privilege as well as others?

Noble Wilder said they would not pay it. It was only by courtesy that they paid policies here at all. The practice was to pay them at the head office.

Minister Thurston—Then they will boycott the Islands.

Noble Wilder—My company will.

Minister Thurston moved an amendment that the bill be referred to the Finance Committee.

The amendment carried.

HAMAKUA WATER BILL.

Second reading.

Noble Waterhouse moved that the bill pass.

Noble Baldwin thought the bill would establish a dangerous precedent. Other places would want the same thing. The work might be done by private enterprise.

Rep. Kinney said the argument might hold good if it were to benefit half a dozen gentlemen, but it was not. If it were done by private enterprise the privilege would be to a large extent exclusive.

Rep. Paris moved that the bill be laid on the table. Lost.

Noble Wight spoke in favor of extending the survey to the Kohala district.

Rep. Paehaole moved that the bill be referred to the Committee on Government Lands, etc., but was prevailed on to make it a select committee.

Noble Smith moved an amendment embodying Noble Wight's suggestion.

Rep. Kalanokua stated that four streams emanated from the spring which supplied this one, and that they passed through four distinct localities. If the water were tapped for one the others would dry up and there would be litigation over it. No wonder the lawyer members supported the measure. He moved the indefinite postponement.

The bill passed to engrossment, the three amendments being lost. The third reading was set for Friday.

CHINESE PHYSICIANS BILL.

Third reading.

Minister Thurston moved that the bill pass.

Noble Richardson moved an amendment that it be referred to the Opium Committee.

The President said it had already been referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The amendment was withdrawn.

Rep. F. Brown moved the indefinite postponement.

Noble Castle explained that the purpose of the bill was to restrict the issuing of opium permits to the regularly qualified practitioners.

The bill passed.

NOTARIES PUBLIC BILL.

The bill passed its third reading.

REPORT OF PRINTING COMMITTEE.

Rep. F. Brown, on suspension of the rules, presented from the Printing Committee the Military Bill and the statement of the Minister of Finance for the period ending October 31st.

Minister Thurston replied to certain questions put by Noble Townsend relative to the illegal leasing or selling of Government lands within the last two years. Three leases were mentioned—one in Hamakua, one at Hana Plantation and one at North Kona. No land had been sold contrary to law. It was the opinion of the Government that the titles were voidable when required. Portions of the land were suitable for homestead purposes. It was the policy of the Government to investigate all illegal transactions.

Noble Castle asked the Committee on Foreign Relations to meet on the adjournment of the House.

In answer to a question by Noble Smith, Minister Thurston stated that Minister Brown was in the habit of conveying bills which had passed to His Majesty for signature. He kept a private memorandum of the dates. Noble Smith gave notice of a motion to instruct the Secretary to keep such a record.

At 3:50 the House adjourned to 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

LEGISLATIVE CHIT-CHAT.

Noble Notley had a good laugh yesterday. He is evidently picking up.

Minister Green was enjoying much better health yesterday.

Rep. Dr. Beckwith paid a visit to the Assembly yesterday, and cast a pastoral glance at most of the members.

No less than seven of the members had the widow and orphan fever yesterday. Noble Smith said he was not one of the number, as he had had enough of widows for the present.

It is meanly suggested by a member that which Rep. Kalanokua takes the floor to speak he invariably mistakes perspiration for inspiration.

Rep. Rice is still unable to be present in the House, owing to sickness.

There has been no bouquets in the House for several days. What is the matter with the girls, anyhow?

It is very improper when a Representative is speaking for a Noble to say, "Put him out." You must be more careful in the future, Noble Smith.

LADIES' BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

Last evening an entertainment was given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall for the benefit of the Ladies' Benevolent Society, and was attended by a very large audience. The first part introduced the "Peak Sisters," a bevy of pretty, young ladies, under the direction of Miss Mahone, attired in neat costumes with long peep hats. They sang and recited, and kept the audience in one continual roar of laughter throughout the evening. Their local hits, especially on the island of Lanai, brought down the house every time. The young ladies would do well to repeat it, as it proved very attractive. After the entertainment there was a sale of fancy articles, and ice cream was served.

New imported pattern bonnets, hats, yelvetts, flowers, wings, laces and ribbons now on exhibition at Chas. J. Fisher's Leading Millinery House.

HOW GRANT WAS INTERVIEWED.

A Clever Reporter Who Got the Best of the General's Reserve.

[New York Mail and Express.]

When Gen. Ulysses S. Grant touched terra firma, having completed his famous trip around the world, he made a solemn pledge to his most intimate friends that under no circumstances would he be interviewed by any newspaper representative.

This arrangement was entered into for the purpose of obviating the possibility of interfering with the sale of the book written by Minister to China John Russell Young, then well-nigh completed.

Gen. Grant reached the Fifth Avenue hotel in due season, and, as was expected, was besieged by newspaper men. He declined to say anything whatever about his trip beyond stating that he had enjoyed it, and so on. For two days the siege was kept up, but the general held the fort. Finally one of the leading morning papers singled out a man from the city staff and detailed him to get a story out of the general at any cost and under any circumstances.

Proceeding to the Fifth Avenue hotel, the reporter held a council of war with the veteran clerk Carr. "There is no earthly use," said he, "in sending up your card. He has already positively declined to see some of the best known newspaper correspondents in the country. If I were in your place, do you know what I would do? I'd send up my card and take the music. (Take the role of a Wall street blood. He'll never discover you.)"

The card was sent up, and word came back that Gen. Grant would see the gentleman. As the story goes, the scribe weakened at the knees, but finally braced up and mounted to the suite of rooms occupied by the voyager round the world. The old soldier was in full dress; Mrs. Grant and a number of ladies were present. The reception-room was redolent with the perfumes of the choicest exotics that had been sent to the hero of Vicksburg. The reporter bade him welcome, was introduced to the ladies, and held a long chat with Gen. Grant, who unexpectedly gave a succinct and interesting account of his voyage. The following morning the daily came out with a clean "beat" of a column and three-quarters. It was used all over the country, and the storm that burst over Gen. Grant's head can be more easily imagined than described. Letters and telegrams were thrown at him by the hundreds, and he was charged by his friends with having violated the sanctity of his promise. He tried hard to explain, but it was no use, so finally he came out with a statement to the effect that he was not aware of having been interviewed by any newspaper man.

About six months afterward, the Ninth regiment was reviewed by Gen. Grant in the Madison Square garden. Before the review began Gen. Shaler, knowing nothing of course, of the circumstances, introduced the writer of the article to the general. Here repeated the name over, and over, and then, fixing his piercing orbs on the reporter, recognized him as the one who had caused him so much trouble. He told the whole story to Gen. Shaler.

"It has been a wonder to me ever since," said he, "how this young man here could have made so much out of so short a conversation, and without taking any notes to keep so close to the truth. You may depend upon it, however, that I have kept my eyes and ears open since, and he will be a mighty smart reporter who will catch me napping again."

Young Man, Learn a Trade.

[E. C. Davis in Arkansas Traveler.]

During a conversation with a foreman of a large manufacturing company he said incidentally: "We have had no American apprentices in two years," and in reply to my interrogation said that American parents were more desirous of their sons learning to despise labor than to learn it. Looking the matter over carefully I have reached the conclusion that he is right. It is a pity. Young man, look forward a few years. You have good homes to-day and homes where every comfort possible to have is in your grasp.

You do not appreciate these things. They come to you without effort, they are retained to you without effort on your part and you permit yourself to slide along on the greasy pole of confidence in the ability of your parents to provide. Did you ever think that money, sometimes, yes, often, takes wings? Well, it does; it goes in the twinkling of an eye sometimes and then your father has to work, and you, if you have anything in your composition and make-up which has the appearance of a man, will go to work to help out your father. Now, if you had learned a trade position as clerk, but could step into places that are waiting for just such men as you might be, at a fair salary.

Suppose you put on an old suit of clothes and go down to the machine shop or the factory or the printing office and commence of the bottom round and work up. There will be boys there that will laugh at your white skin and delicate looks and yet secretly they will admire you for having the good sense to do what you ought to do.

Cookery Neglected in the South.

[Atlanta Cor. Chicago Inter Ocean.]

A lady told me that she advertised for a good cook, and it took her months to find one. Think of that, in Atlanta!

The truth is that the art of cookery is a neglected one in the south to-day; and those colored girls who seek service as housemaids have only the crudest methods of performing housework. The cottage system for girls in a large school is a most important educational discovery, and must come into prominence in the future.

They will offer for sale a large variety of fancy articles and all kinds of children's clothing. Refreshments will be served during the day.

WENNER &amp; CO.

An Elegant Display of Holiday Goods At their Store.

Wenner & Co., the well known jewelers, Fort street, can with just pride draw the attention of the public to their large and varied stock of holiday goods just opened out. This firm since its existence has acquired the most enviable reputation of carrying the very finest class of goods in their line, and we frankly assert after an inspection, that their selection of goods for the present holiday season is one that has never been excelled in this city. There is only one drawback, the store is not large enough for a proper display of these goods, but Mr. Wenner, the genial proprietor, will gladly show them, considering it more of a pleasure to do so than anything else.

First in order we must mention the ladies and gents gold watches of the most unique designs, some set with diamonds. There is one gent's gold watch which is a perfect beauty and has eight diamonds on the case. The stock of solid gold chains and bracelets of the newest patterns, some of them being exceedingly handsome. The assortment of styles of studs, scarf pins, ear rings, lace pins, ladies' and children's fob chains, and ladies' vest chains, are adapted to all tastes and should be inspected. The stock also includes sleeve-buttons, lockets and chains set with precious stones, such as diamonds and rubies, gold and oxidized silver-headed canes and umbrellas, mantel clocks in marble and bronze, besides a large and varied assortment of solid silverware, tea and coffee sets, urns, vases and other articles too numerous to mention.

The firm employ none but skilled workmen, execute only first-class work and have the facilities and are prepared to compete successfully with any firm anywhere in style, workmanship and price. In looking around for suitable holiday goods do not fail to visit Wenner & Co.'s store, Fort street, it will well repay you.

It Is Said

That the "Bulletin" knows how pills are made; that the Crown land agent Frankly admitted his business yesterday; that Auctioneer Morgan is a happy man; that the coming concert by the Arion Society will be a fine affair; that the Auditor General sent in his resignation to headquarters on Monday; that the "Peak sisters" all want to get married; that if they can't get a captain or major they will be content with a corporal; that it is no use of their going to the Island of Lanai; that Messrs. Widemann and J. T. Waterhouse were good friends on the steamer yesterday; that P. C. Jones is well posted in loan matters; that the Legislature will not sit to-morrow; that somebody ought to give the members a Thanksgiving luau; that the Palama road is in ruins; that there was a big demand for yesterday's Advertiser; that the country is safe now that the bond matter is settled; that the two military bills will be shelved until regular session; that there is a lot of opinion.

MURDER.

A Chinese Woman Stabbed to Death.

Escape of the Assassin. $500 Reward For His Capture.

All was quiet at the Police Station at 8:30 o'clock last night, when suddenly the ever-busy telephone called the Sergeant on duty to a call, and the intelligence was communicated that a Chinese woman living near the Chinese Theatre had been stabbed and assistance was required. Captain Hopkins immediately responded, in answer to the call, and the first meagre information was quickly supplemented on his arrival in the vicinity of the theatre by definite information regarding the locality of the occurrence.

The spot pointed out is situated on the Ewa side of a sinuous alley-way that winds its way from King street through the marsh lands, in the rear of the Chinese Theatre, to Beretania street, the dwellings in the neighborhood being of that low, squalid looking description that showed the inhabitants to be Chinese, engaged in the occupation compatible with the locality, viz., duck raising. Treading his way carefully over the slough holes with which the region abounds, the officer was finally directed to a small one-story wooden building around which were gathered an excited crowd of natives and Chinese. Entering the doorway the light from a lamp, handed to him by an onlooker, presented to his gaze a horrible sight that told too truly of a horrible murder.

Stretched on the floor, face downward, with the head almost reaching the narrow entrance to an inner bedroom, lay the inanimate body of a Chinese woman. Gouts of blood were plainly discernible on the bare and well-shaped arms, while the long, black hair of the victim lay matted in a great pool of blood which covered the floor. It needed no medical expert to be able to tell the deadly work that had been committed, the dark-red arterial blood giving plain and unmistakable evidence of vital points being touched by the assassin's weapon, while the mass of life-giving fluid that covered the clothing, arms and surrounded the body showed that death must have resulted quickly.

A survey of the room showed but little evidence of a struggle, a torn mosquito-net that covered the bench on which the woman was undoubtedly lying at the time of the attack, an overturned lamp, a broken lamp chimney, were all, besides the dead body of the murdered victim, that gave silent evidence of the sudden and deadly attack.

Investigations and inquiry from those who were first on the ground resulted in obtaining the following statements: The name of the murdered woman was Laing See, and she was the wife of Man Chat, musician in the Chinese Theatre. The couple were regarded as quiet and happy. The husband had gone to the Chinese Theatre between 6 and 7 o'clock that evening to attend to his business, the woman, as was her wont, remaining at the house.

About eight o'clock cries for help were heard issuing from the house. The wild shrieking of the woman, who was then being stricken by the incisive steel of the deadly weapon yielded by the unknown murderous visitor, was quickly echoed by her near neighbors and soon one of the number approached the house. Finding the house in darkness, the doors closed and all still within, he hesitated about entering, but other neighbors coming, entry was made and the scene before described met their horrified gaze. Assistance was then telephoned for to the Police station which was quickly rendered.

Although the woman was dead Dr. Trousseau was telephoned for, and on his arrival he ordered the body conveyed to the Police Station. He an examination was held by him and the result showed that the work of death had been forwarded by a sure and determined hand. On the body were eight wounds, four of them on the stomach, each about an inch in length, and three of them extending about two inches into the lumbar region. Either one of these three would have been sufficient to cause death, but not necessarily instantaneously. The upper lip had a long gash across it, and on the right cheekbone was another gash. The deadly wound, however, was one which had been struck with full force on the lower right jaw, and the blade of the knife glancing passed downward back of the ear, entering fully five inches and severing the carotid artery.

Up to an early hour this morning the police had not obtained any clue to the assassin. A knife, which the Marshal picked up on the premises, being the only article retained in the possession of the authorities. The Attorney General on being apprised of the occurrence immediately authorized the issuing of a reward of $200 for the capture of the murderer. This amount has since been supplemented by an addition of $200 more by the Chinese Society and $100 by Chip Yung Tong Co., making a total of $500 to be paid to the party or parties who make the much desired capture.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society OF THE UNITED STATES.

Death claims paid in 1886..... 100 per cent
Assets, January 1, 1887..... $75,510,472 76
Liabilities, 4 per cent basis..... 59,154,597 00
Surplus, 4 per cent basis..... $16,355,875 76

The surplus is based on the conservative assumption that only 4 per cent interest will be realized on investments.

Assuming that 4 1/2 per cent will be realized, it amounts to $20,496,175 76.

The SURPLUS, on every basis of valuation, IS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER COMPANY IN THE WORLD.

New assurance in 1886..... $111,540,203 00
