SCHOLARSHIPS FOR HAWAIIANS

Governor Dole Is Notified of Cecil Rhodes Oxford University Offer.

Governor Dole has received from Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, a letter in which is enclosed also a communication, in regard to the Oxford scholarships which are offered free under the terms of the will of the late Cecil Rhodes. The enclosed communication is from Boucher F. Hawksley of London, England, one of the trustees under the will, and gives details of the proposed gift.

Governor Dole is notified that the Territory of Hawaii will have an opportunity of sending two scholars to the University under the terms of the will and a competition will probably be arranged here for candidates wishing to avail themselves of the offer. The communications from Secretary Hay and of Mr. Hawksley will both be referred by the Governor to Superintendent of Public Instruction A. T. Atkinson, and he will be expected to devise ways and means by which Hawaiian candidates can be selected. Mr. Hawksley in his letter says that the trustees wish to secure the opinion of the leading educators in the United States in regard to the method of selecting students to enter Oxford and to ascertain the best possible mode of giving practical effect to the scholarship trust. While of course no plan can be decided upon in Hawaii as regards who will be sent from here, competitive examinations will be held if that method meets the wishes of the trustees under the will. Nothing will be done here until after a thorough investigation by the Department of Public Instruction and the plans thus decided upon will be sent back to Secretary Hay for transmission to Mr. Hawksley.

In referring to qualifications of students the will suggests that "regard be had for (1) literary and scholastic attainments; (2) fondness of and success in many outdoor sports; (3) qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for their protection of the weak, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship; and (4) his exhibition during school days of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates."

BIG CATCH OF FISH ON KAUAI

Three and a Half Tons Brought Up in Single Haul at Waimea.

Attorney W. S. Fleming, who returned from Kauai a few days ago, brings the report of a monster catch of fish, which is still the topic of the hour among the natives of the Garden Isle.

The remarkable catch was made by a number of Chinese off Waimea, Kauai, early last week, and the haul was over three and a half tons. Most of the fish taken were "halibut," though three or four sharks, and fish of a dozen other varieties were also hauled up. The fish filled about 75 Chinese baskets, each holding over 100 pounds, and for several days the fish market was totally demoralized. Many of the fish were salted and packed away for future use.

QUEER CRUISE OF THE HERMAN

Captain Brown Keeps Up His Air of Mysterious Secrecy.

The trim little treasure-hunting schooner Herman attracted a lot of attention along the waterfront yesterday. Brown, her aged captain, paced her deck for the greater part of the day. "How strange," said one, "that a man of that age should be taking great risks at sea to hunt for treasure." Years ago treasure hunting was supposed to be part of the religion of the young fellow just out of college who was spending his time in a mad way in trying the squander what money he had in order to get a thousand times as much out of some crazy scheme.

But not so nowadays. Old Captain Brown has sailed the sea for many a day. He can smell a gale of wind many leagues away. And when the gale comes he knows how to handle it. He has experienced some of the wildest of sea life—has seen and heard many things. For years he kept secret a little yarn about treasure on a South Sea Island. Now he has interested a company or syndicate with big capital to help him to get the treasure. His cruise is a mysterious one, and as a sailor says: "No one on this craft 'cept Cap'n Brown knows where this craft's bound for, an' he won't tell anyone—not even them two noblemen in the cabin—until we gets there. He's a wise ole boy and even those reporter sharks on the coast couldn't exactly get around him."

BISHOP RESTARICK'S INITIAL SERMON AT THE CATHEDRAL

Strong Discourse of the New Shepherd.

BISHOP RESTARICK celebrated his first communion in the new missionary district of Honolulu in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday morning at the 7 o'clock service. As this service represented the formal taking over of the new missionary diocese by its first American Bishop, there was unusual interest manifested in it by the parishioners who came in numbers to greet the Bishop. In the congregation, ex-Queen Liliuokalani was a worshipper. There was a full choral service during which Bishop Restarick delivered a few brief words of greeting to the people. Rev. Canon Ault was the epistolar, Rev. Canon Mackintosh the gospeller, and Rev. Canon Kiteat assisted in the distribution of prayers. At the Hawaiian service at 9:45, Bishop Restarick made an address particularly for the Hawaiian members of the congregation, his words being interpreted by Solomon Meheula, a member of the choir.

When the new Bishop entered the cathedral with his clergy behind the vested choir at the 11 o'clock service, he was greeted by a congregation which occupied every seat in the nave and aisles. Rev. Canons Mackintosh, Weymouth, Kiteat and Ault, together with Rev. Arthur Evans of Los Angeles, occupied the stalls. The procession, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken," was the same that was sung at the consecration of Bishop Restarick. The singing throughout was of a high order. The Bishop preached, without manuscript, the substance of his sermon being as follows:

THE MORNING SERMON.

Galatians vi: 14: "But God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world."

Among the books and papers sent to me by a member of this congregation on my election to Honolulu, was the history of the first five years' work of the Anglican Church in these islands. Upon the cover appeared the device of a St. Andrew's cross, with a crown over it, the symbolism of the whole being summed up in the words: "He lanakila ma ke kea," or in English, "Victory by the cross." These words have been in my mind and in my heart ever since the day on which I read them. I want my first words to you to be those that spring out of the impressions those words made on me.

These words about the cross are often very empty sayings. If there is one thing which men in this generation despise it is insincerity—words which mean little or nothing to life. There are people who talk about the cross of Christ, and Christ saving men, as if salvation were a sort of necromancy wrought by the crucified Jesus.

If there is one thing more than another which men should be burned into their minds and souls it is that victory by the cross has meaning only when life is brought in a degree into the measure of what the cross stands for. Victory by the cross, if it means anything, if it is real, and not a mere phrase glibly uttered, means victory gained by a life which has taken into itself and wrought out in itself in a degree the principle for which the cross stands as the perpetual symbol; and while the world is sick of cant and religious phrase glibly uttered, the world never before so truly admired, so earnestly appreciated, life lived day by day and hour by hour in patient efforts to rise to the measure of the cross.

But what do we mean by the cross? What does it stand for in life? People ready to get something instead of giving something are ever ready to look upon the cross as assuring them exemption from something. He endured the cross for us, they say. As a matter of fact, Jesus did not endure the cross that you and I might sit idly by and get something. He endured the cross for us, that we might have example and power and grace ourselves to work out in our lives all that the cross stands for and come to be at one with God.

The cross was the supreme manifestation of sacrificial love. Its victory lay in that. Victory by the cross means to us the spirit of sacrifice—giving up for high purpose, for principle, for others, our own pleasure, our own pride, our own profit, our own ambition, our own will, that so the highest, the last and the eternal may be worked out in us.

It means, does the cross and victory by it, the patient bearing of misunderstandings, silence under reviling, and bearing misunderstandings and abuses and injuries with a forgiving heart, seeking to help and bless those who sin against us.

In fact, victory by the cross means victory in exactly the opposite direction in which the natural man seeks it. That is why to the Roman the cross was foolishness. His idea was that of the natural man today. He could think of no way in which to obtain victory but by striking down an opponent, by crushing an adversary, by overcoming him by the strength of his muscle or the cunning of his brain. The idea of victory by patient endurance, by forgiveness, was ridiculous, preposterous. And so today the man who dwells upon the physical or mental rather than the spiritual looks for victory in pushing back in crushing; those who hinder or those who are competitors. It looks for victory in the blow that shall paralyze, in the work that shall controvert with its intellectual skill or wither with its scorn. It looks for victory, not by bearing, not by sacrifice, not by patient bearing, not by gentleness and love and forgiveness.

I know that men will say at once something like this: "Yes, it is all very well to talk. It is all very well to teach this. But if we were to try to carry on business on these principles we should fail. You can't know much about the world if you think we can conduct affairs on a basis as that. To be successful in this day we must act boldly, must not have too sensitive a conscience, and must rise by crushing opponents."

And yet—and yet, dear friends, pause a moment! Look down into the bottom of your hearts and you know that it is true, absolutely and eternally true, that the selfish self-seeking life is not life lived on a high plane. Your heart knows in its quiet depths that the best manhood, the noblest womanhood, comes not by following the promptings of the physical and intellectual, but by the sacrifice of these for truth, for high principle, for spiritual purpose.

Take the question into the affairs of our country. What of the self-seeking politician? What of those whose idea of the country is to make something out of it? Does that life commend itself to you? But how your heart thrills as you hear of some soldier who goes coolly to almost certain death for his country, or one who goes to a plague-stricken city and loses his life that he may save life. What inspiration we gain from the lives of men like Washington, Lincoln, in whom the sacrificial spirit reigned—who, in their unselfish lives, lifted them up and still lift them up, uplifting them to some little of their own spirit. Or in the history of these islands, good Queen Emma was so called because of her unselfishness, or take it in home life. How much of sorrow and unhappiness, of the breaking of family ties, comes from those who must have their way or their rights, real or imagined, and who are unwilling to sacrifice.

Why, dear friends, we know, you and I, that peace and happiness in the home spring from each seeking to sacrifice for each. How well we know in our heart of hearts that joy—true, real, lasting joy—comes from crucifying self, putting aside one's self, in fact in living by the measure of the cross. If you and I look back and find inspiration from the mother in the home far over the sea perhaps, her power over us for good which has led us to win moral victories has come from her loving sacrifice of self. The true mother life is one of sacrifice. She gives to her babe her life, her time; she cuts herself off from things she likes because she loves and finds joy and gives joy in sacrifice.

ure of the cross—a failure? If we judge by natural standards, sometimes it is. It may not amass a pile of gold. It may lose something in the struggle for position. In fact, what was the life of Jesus? He setting out to do His Father's will, finds Himself without a place to lay his head. He taught the Truth and His relatives wished to call him off as a madman. He spoke openly against public sin, and the authorities hounded Him to death. Was His life a failure? The cross marked its every step. It began at Bethlehem and culminated at Calvary. Was it a failure? The Romans certainly thought so in their contemptuous pity. Was it a failure? The Jews were sure of it and exulted over it. The Greeks smiled at the folly of it all. Was it a failure? The crosses on the spires of the churches of Christendom proclaim that His life was the victorious life. The greatest, the best, the wisest men in the world, past or present, see in Him the Great Victor and agnostics, reverent men vying with Christians, proclaim with Revan, "Jesus will never be surpassed," or with Strauss, who says: "The sweetness, the gentleness, the all-embracing charity of Jesus furnishes the germ out of which has grown all that we call humanity."

But we need not go to others. Your hearts, in the moment when passion is calm and when the world is still, know that Jesus is King of men—the One who wrought victory by the cross—the One who showed that His life was the true, eternal life by His rising from the dead. Since He was on earth untold millions have found in His example inspiration and help, love and life and victory. They have learned to glory not in self-seeking ambition or struggle for wealth or place, but in gentleness, patience, love and sacrifice.

Now we understand in a measure what St. Paul means in the text. He had much in which he could glory. He had a descent from a line which reached back to the best of the noble race from which he sprung; his talents, his education, his attainments. But while he valued these, was tempted to mention them, they were all hidden by the consuming passion of his life, love and devotion to Jesus Christ. He pictures himself as bound a captive to the chariot wheels of Christ as captives were bound to the wheels of the pretorian Roman general. He knew what victory by the cross meant. It meant the willing subjection, the sacrifice of all he had, all he was, for Jesus Christ. It was he who had written but a short time before his death: "I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, a crown," he says, "not for me only, but for all those who love His appearing."

And we know, you and I, that the only real victory is this victory over self, the world, sin and death. It is the victorious life here and now. Men recognize it as never before. It wins them when nothing else will. How many men were won to Jesus Christ by argument? Men try to show Jesus Christ to others sometimes by means of a sledge hammer as it were. They seek to pound it into them. It is by the life of the cross in some one that persuasion comes to us. What did that infidel say recently who came to be confirmed by the Bishop of London? What argument had convinced him that Jesus Christ was the truth? It was, he said, this: "I could never explain the gentleness, the love, the sacrifice of my mother's life upon any natural theory. I was led, by dwelling upon her life, to know the life of Jesus Christ." And if you go back you will find that what influenced you was some

DANGLING CORPSE

Remains of Suicide Found on Maui.

POTATO BLIGHT IN KULA DISTRICT

Two Mammoth Oil Tanks—Race Horses on the Valley Isle—Social Notes.

MAUI, Aug. 9.—Friday, the 8th, as two vaqueros, Charles Ako and Joe Francis, were riding slowly along through one of the Makawao pastures of Haleakala Ranch, something strange dangling from the limb of a small kukui tree attracted their attention. On closer examination it proved to be the body of a man in an advanced state of decomposition. It must have been blown to and fro by the trade winds for weeks or months, for upon being lowered by Deputy Sheriff S. E. Kalamana, who was hastily summoned by the men, the finger-bones dropped from the hands and it was evident that only the shell of a human body still remained.

Nothing to identify the deceased was found except a plain, unmarked handkerchief. The man was evidently a Japanese, for he had a kimono wrapped about him outside his white shirt and white trousers and the rope that usually fastens the kimono around the waist had been used for the hanging.

No mystery surrounds the event. It was only that an unknown Japanese for some reason of his own committed suicide by hanging himself in a little gulch about two miles mauka of the Brewer place, in Makawao.

Last evening a coroner's jury composed of A. R. Tavares, M. A. Tavares, Geo. Wilbur, J. Kauna, John Plunkett and Kauamunui viewed the body and the scene of the suicide and will hold a meeting to decide upon a verdict some day next week.

BLIGHT ON CORN.

The young corn in Kula is all being ruined by a blight. The corn planted in February, March and the first half of April is strong and vigorous, but all planted since the middle of April is being blackened and killed. Some of the farmers state that a little green insect is the cause of the trouble. D. L. Van Dine of the experimental station is in Kula investigating the blight.

Kula farmers should be especially interested in learning that Commissioner of Agriculture Wray Taylor is soon to receive 800 bushels of various kinds of white potatoes for free distribution to applicants.

STRAYS.

TUMBLE BUG IN NEW ROLE

Imported Here to Kill the Horn Fly.

With the humble, Tumble Bug the breeders of cattle in these islands hope to eradicate the Horn Fly, which is so disastrous to animals of all kinds. After some hard work by Prof. Koebele and especially through the efforts and suggestions of R. L. C. Perkins, who has the work here in charge, specimens of the terror are now here and very soon will be ready for distribution among the ranches.

The work of combatting the Horn Fly was undertaken some months ago by the youngest of local organizations, having for its purpose the bettering of conditions for the men of this industry, the Hawaiian Live Stock Breeders' Association. Reports from all over the islands showed that the Horn Fly was rapidly spreading, it having this year shown up on Hawaii in great numbers, and its ravages were even more terrible. Investigations showed that there were many cattle which suffered so from the fly that great bare spots appeared on the skin and the constant worry and pain kept them from getting fat.

Secretary Albert E. Judd took up the matter with Prof. Perkins and that official moved with alacrity. He was anxious that there be given time to find a bug which would kill the fly, so as to not bring in any more experimental birds. Finally the Tumble Bug was secured by Prof. Koebele in Mexico, and now after two trials the specimens have been received in good shape and investigation yesterday showed that the bugs which came in the Alameda and were turned loose the same day are alive and active.

The Horn Fly lays its eggs in offal and the Tumble Bug, never eating any vegetation but living upon the same refuse, prevents the eggs from hatching. An additional supply of the bugs is on the way and the ones now here are planted at the home of Secretary Judd, and after inspection and study by Prof. Perkins will be distributed from that point. The men interested in cattle, who are cognizant of the work going on believe that the success of the experiments will be one of the notable achievements of the year, and an opening victory for the your Association will put in where its future must attract the attention of every stock man in the Territory.

The results of the experiments will be closed, watched by Secretary Judd and he will read a paper upon them at the next meeting of the Association.

CUT WITH I. X. L. KNIFE BLADE

Kakaako Natives Spend Sunday Drinking Wine Through a Hose.

The sharp blade of an IXL knife is the cause of the detention of two Japanese in the Queen's Hospital where they are being treated for several wounds which were inflicted by a countryman of theirs on Saturday night. K. Masuda, who is now in jail pending the outcome of the wounds, visited the house of two Japanese on the Asylum Road, to claim a certain sum of money. There was an argument, a sharp and decisive tussle ending in the ejection of the visitor from the premises. Masuda then went back with an IXL knife open in his hand and attacked the two men, cutting them on the shoulders, backs, arms and hands so seriously that they had to be taken to the hospital. Masuda, when brought to the station feigned drunkenness, but he became a very sober man when Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth landed a few love taps with his fists on his anatomy.

Yesterday was "Kakaako day" at the Police Station. Twenty Hawaiians, men and women, were brought there in two patrol wagon loads from a two-story house Waikiki of Magoon's tenement, and all were charged with disorderly conduct. Two women are held for investigation. With the party the police brought a small keg of wine into which a small hose had been inserted, through which the score of natives had been taking turns in drawing the contents into their systems. There was also a demijohn of swipes and a "square-face" which contained a peculiar liquid whose identity had not been classified up to a late hour last night. David Kaapa found the natives enjoying themselves hugely, all more or less in a drunken state and disturbing the peace and quietude of the Queen street tenement district.

The report, on the whole, was very fair, excepting for the head lines which were misleading, and quite opposite to the teachings of theosophy. Will you therefore permit a few words of explanation?

The question under discussion referred to Spiritualism and the reason why communicating entities at seances often gave contradictory statements concerning after death states. I explained that after "death" a man was the same thinking entity that he was when alive in the physical body; that an ignorant man, when he died, did not suddenly become wise nor did a sinner suddenly become a saint; that a communicating entity would, if he believed in reincarnation when on earth, also have the same belief in hades; that if he disbelieved it here he would also disbelieve it after death. I also said that if the man had been untruthful when on earth he would be capable of telling lies also when communicating through a medium.

This is not the same as saying "Har once, always one." Theosophy teaches that the Soul reincarnates again and again until all the lessons of the physical life are learned, taking up in the succeeding life those left over from the past; that such reincarnation goes on until human perfection is reached. I am faithfully yours,

Day messages by wireless telegraphy require much greater transmitting power than night messages. Day signals utterly failed to reach Marconi at 700 miles, although a night message was successfully sent more than 1550 miles and a night signal more than 2000 miles. is used by hundreds of people every day to stop aches and pains and cure many illnesses. Halpruner's is a liquid preparation made of oils, tinctures and harmless vegetable ingredients which stop pain at once.

You can take Halpruner's both internally and externally, it stops pain and removes the cause of it.

Of course you can get along without Halpruner's, but why suffer from rheumatism, tired, stiff or sore joints when one application of Halpruner's will stop all the trouble.

THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR

MONDAY : : : : AUGUST 11

Mr. Yardley remembers the Advertiser's readers—which means the whole Hawaiian public—with the gift of a cartoon which appears in this impression and shows that the hand of the facile young artist has not yet lost its cunning.

Cuba does not want the United States to have a coaling station at Havana, and has checkedmate the plan by leasing the only available site. The measure of Cuban gratitude for the freedom of the island now enjoys was very quickly taken. The major part of it was a lively sense of favors to come.

So far the Wilcox meetings, luck spirals and interest, but they may warm up as the political season advances. The danger now is in over-confidence among Republicans. The chance of winning is excellent, but it may be lost by taking chances. What is vitally needed is the consolidation of the anti-Wilcox forces upon a ticket which all of them can support and which will be heartily and heavily backed by the business interests of the Territory.

The Hilo Tribune, organ of the Kennedys, prints a column or so of most offensive political gossip as its contribution to harmony. It states among other things that Governor Dole has agreed to resign within six months if his friends will pay his salary to the end of his term, and that Gov. Dole's absolute endorsement by the President was coupled with the condition that Hawaii should go Republican at the next polling. This disgusting and libelous tale shows that the attempt to harmonize a few of the so-called Republicans of Hilo is about as futile as trying to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

The presence of treasure on Cocos Island is as well attested as is that of the bones of Kamehameha the Great in some cave on the island of Hawaii, but the finding of the one has proved to be as difficult as that of the other. The lucky man who uncovers the Cocos Island hoard will at once, in case the Costa Rican government does not take the spoil away from him, become a multi-millionaire. But Cocos Island is not small, time has obliterated most of the landmarks noted in the map left by the last of the buccaners, and a jungle covers the burial place of the treasure. It is hard enough to find a gold mine in a region where the stratum points the way; but it is vastly harder to find an underground cache of doubloons which has been carefully hidden by one set of thieves from another.

Bishop Restarick, who preached for the first time in Honolulu yesterday, will find as interesting and promising a field here as any within the limits of the United States. He does not come to preside over a church which, in its maturity, has approached the material limits of its growth, but one which has been in a state of arrested development for many years, but still has plenty of room in which to expand. There is every reason to think that the expansion will come. Bishop Restarick is a church builder and organizer of long experience and if any one can bring the Episcopal body into the position it is entitled to occupy in Hawaii, he is the man. Knowledge of that fact on the part of the House of Bishops was one of the chief causes of his selection.

It will be difficult for our Portuguese friends to make any arrangements which would be legal to get the Punchbowl heights district in fee for anything less than the market price or to avoid competition, in case the property is put up for sale, with other bidders. If the principle of deducting from the price of the lease the value of the improvements, for the benefit of the lessee who made them, were carried out, it would be almost too good a thing for other lessees than the Portuguese. Morally or sentimentally it would be a shame to see the Portuguese lose their homesteads through inability to pay the price that time will fix for them; but a sugar company might feel the same way about land leased for cane. The market price can hardly be got away from by any one if leases are discontinued on Punchbowl and sales made instead.

INITIAL SERMON

life of mother, teacher, friend, who was trying prayerfully to gain victory by the spirit of the cross. And if you yourself want to know the victorious life, it will not come from trying to find God in the study of rocks or stars or in criticism of the text of the Bible. It will not be in books, but in the life of Jesus Christ. It will not be in speculating about Christ. It will be by trying to be like Him. When Lady Henry Somerset, walking in the garden, was debating about Christ, she heard a voice, saying: "Strive to be like Him, and you shall know Him." and in the striving to do His will she learned that He was of God. Or George John Romanes, who struggled along with his science, being the pupil and friend of Darwin, and one of the brightest scientists of his day. It was he who began to try to live as Jesus Christ would have him, to crucify his pride, prejudice, passion and then, when Canon Gore administered the holy communion to him he sang "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace according to Thy word, for mine eyes have seen Thy salvation." Yes, men and women recognize as never before, despite apparent selfishness and greed, what are all these monuments in large cities to do and lift men up? What is all this philanthropy, these munificent gifts, this indignation with cruelty and wrong? It is the leavening spirit of the cross in society. But, men say, "Yes, but in national life it will not do; there victory is to the strong, to those with the largest battalions. Is it so? Temporary victory sometimes, yes. Permanent, stable victory, no. A nation taking the sword and trusting in the sword perishes by the sword. The path of victory is strewn with the wrecks of nations which prove what I say. Kidd in his book on Social Evolution, proves the fact. Aggression for power's sake may gain wealth and territory, but it has in it the seeds of decay. The two great Anglo-Saxon nations, whatever may be said, are great today because they sacrifice blood and treasure and labor to the sense of responsibility. In India Britain need not have had in mind the betterment of conditions, the removal of causes of famine, the stamping out of pestilence, but has. In Egypt she might have been a second Turk, but she has not been, and in our own nation, whatever may be said, every man knows that the Spanish war began with the highest and holiest of purposes. Blood and treasure were to be sacrificed to relieve fellow men from wrong, cruelty and oppression; and the Philippine Islands, which none of us wanted, are seeing in them still the sacrifice of men and money that a people may be taught and lifted up.

And sacrifice is never in vain. England in the beginning of the nineteenth century had a most corrupt government, Prime Ministers farming out the refunding of the national debt to favorites. Her sacrifice for her children the colonies and dependencies, has in developing sense of responsibility, purified the whole political mass and that the same will be the case in the United States is not to be doubted, for already a Taft and a Wood have arisen for the needs, and men are asking not what we can make out of these Oriental people, but what can we give to them. We will react for good upon the whole body politic. It is sacrifice which makes a nation strong and which gives it life and permanency.

And in the church, how this is shown. Its days of greed for wealth and power have been its evil days. The true spiritual power would have come by sacrifice, but there have been days when power was by coercion and wealth by taking advantage of ignorant fears, and instead of strength came weakness and loss. The most evil days in the Church of England were those in which the bishops were as princes, with palaces and grand equipages. The new day of strength saw Wilberforce of Oxford not in a coach and four, but on horseback, traversing his diocese, and Mr. W. Whipple, whose endowments of the episcopate were in their saddlebags. Or a Selwyn or a Patteson who gave magnificent gifts of highest manhood to work in the islands of the Pacific. That which brought the revival of church life, which stirred the heart and thrilled the pulse of all English-speaking Christians was the spirit of sacrifice.

In the United States in 1830 the church was a small body for the well-to-do. In 1835, when she declared that every baptized member of the church was a member of the missionary society, when she began to sacrifice she began to gain true power and spiritual life. She has gained victory by the cross.

And now, dear friends, if we are to make this church of ours a power for good in these islands, it will not be by any dependence upon a magnificent history, nor reliance upon happy traditions, nor a pride in the incomparable of our forefathers. But what can we do in contending earnestly for this faith, once for all delivered to the Saints, is to contend for it by living it. Life is the argument that tells. Sacrifice is the spirit that wins. Men can be made to believe our Catholic heritage, but they will not believe a life lived by the measure of the cross.

What a work for God lies before us! What it means to each of us if we really seek victory by the cross! It means asking ourselves not what my pride or prejudice or even my rights prompt me to say or do. It means asking of Jesus Christ as we bring our thoughts to Him, "What wilt Thou have me to do?" and then trying to do what He would have us do. What glorious work lies before us as we labor together, if this is our spirit. What a missionary spirit we shall have. How men will be attracted to us and be won to Christ and His church! It is the one thing in which we have any cause to glory; it is the one way by which to bring Christ to men and men to Christ. It will mean to us as it always has meant, giving a tithe of our best to God—a tithe of our means, a tithe of the best we have for the house of God—that this cathedral of such interesting associations and toil and sacrifice—shall be finished, that it shall have in it the best that we can give; that we shall not have costly and beautifully furnished homes and God's house be bare and incomplete. It will mean that everything material and organic will feel the impulse of this sacrificial spirit in us. If victory by the cross is taken to be our hearts' purpose, then the victory over ourselves will mean a getting into union with God. God is love and love is sacrifice. The visible universe is an outward expression of the God who gives of His power and wisdom and love and care. The Incarnation is the supreme spiritual manifestation of it. Sacrifice, giving self is the very life of God. The cross is the culmination of this, that we might know the depths to which the love of God goes for us and our uplifting. In mysterious ways we enter into the life of God by sacrifice. We lose, we put aside the earth and temporal and lay the very life of God. Eternal life is found by the cross. In the parish church which I left, the central east window is a beautiful representation of the crucifixion. As I knelt before it to be consecrated your bishop, my heart was in the thought of all that only consecration meant. I raised my eyes to look to heaven for help. There before me was my crucified Lord. My eye fell upon His hands uplifted to bless and I noticed the three fingers of the right hand were by the artist raised to convey the idea of His blessing those who were at the foot of the cross. I seemed to hear, then, those words, "He lanakila ma ke kea." Victory by the cross. Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life. Yes, that is the crown, life here, rich, free, full life here and now, and life more free, more full—life glorious with the great victory—when this world sinks away beneath us.

Let us, dear friends, make this life ours; let us try, and God will help us through His church at every step and life and victory and peace shall be ours.

AT ST. CLEMENTS' CHURCH.
St. Clements' Church gave a cordial welcome to the new Bishop last evening when the distinguished clergyman occupied its pulpit for the first time since his arrival in Honolulu. Had the pretty little church edifice been as large again it would not have more than comfortably seated all who came to hear the sermon and listen to the excellent music. Rev. John Osborne, rector of St. Clements', assisted the Bishop in the services, which continued to a later hour than usual. The Bishop's sermon was an able address, and both his morning and evening appearances in the two episcopal churches have placed him in high favor with his new parishioners.

Mau Agriculturalist Writes in Commendation of the Exhibition

One among the many letters received by the Commissioner of Agriculture since the recent fair in the drill shed is as follows:

Kahului, August 7, 1902.
Mr. Wray Taylor,
Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry.

Dear Sir: Allow me to congratulate you on the success of the Agricultural Fair. Those of Maui who saw the fair speak of it in great praise. It has given an impetus to our farmers here already, and many are kicking themselves for not having realized the benefits from such a competitive exhibition.

Yours truly,
E. H. BAILEY.
Mr. Bailey is known as a very enthusiastic agriculturist, and carried off several prizes at the fair. His watermelons and pumpkins as well as field corn were much admired.

Story Teller's Evening.

For an hour Saturday evening stories of travel and adventure, all told in the best style and serving to point a moral, were served to the guests of the social session of the Y. M. C. A. There was a large gathering number of members and guests. F. E. Mitchell called the meeting to order with J. S. Nobles as secretary. After the announcement that five minutes would be given to each talker, the members were asked to contribute. Among those who told stories were: Messrs. Denison, Dunlop, Ham, Kern, Kelly, McMahon, Martin, Mitchell, Nobles and Young. The stories were filled with wit and strong descriptions and were notable for their excellence.

CRICKETERS IN A DRAW

Coronation Day Is Marked by Contest.

A draw, with the honors pretty evenly divided, was the result of the cricket match played at Makiki on Coronation day, Aug. 9th, between teams picked on the ground and captained by R. V. Anderson and R. A. Jordan respectively. A cool trade wind was blowing and the weather, which had been threatening in the morning, was by no means unpropitious. The departure of the steamer Nevada, however, carrying mail for the coast, detained several of the players in town, so that the game commenced at a very late hour. When the stumps were drawn at 6:30 p. m., the score stood as follows:

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Robert Anderson maintains his reputation as being far and away the strongest batsman in Honolulu. He is a veritable Hawaiian "Bonnor." C. W. Irish has speedily attained and enviable position among the cricketing fraternity. Both his batting and bowling on Saturday were excellent performances.

A. T. Miles, another powerful factor in the batting department, was running up a score at a rate alarming to his opponents, when Cockburn came to the rescue and speedily put him out of commission.

John Anderson, brother of the redoubtable "Bob," carried his bat for 41. Considering that he has not played for years, this was truly splendid play. Altogether Selkirk has reason to be proud of her sons in the Honolulu fields of sport.

J. W. Harvey was in beautiful form while batting and it was a pity to see him out so awkwardly. A match between married and single men is on the tapis for next Saturday. Since such good players as R. Anderson and Blackman have joined the Benedicks, it behooves the Bachelors to look to their laurels.

LUAU FOR PARTY HOME FROM TOUR

Admiral and Mrs. George C. Beckley entertained at a luau yesterday at Aqua Marine, in honor of the members of the party which recently toured Hawaii, the members meeting at the Volcano House especially.

The company spent the afternoon in the enjoyment of the feast, which was in the well known style which marks entertainments of the host and hostesses of yesterday. During the luau, Admiral Beckley welcomed his guests with one of his well chosen speeches, telling some good stories and indulging in some reminiscences. Among those present were:

Prince and Princess David Kawananakoa, Col. and Mrs. Samuel Parker, Cecil and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Cunha, Miss Jennie Giffard, Miss Campbell, Miss Chrystal, Miss Dickson, Miss Cunha, Messrs. Cunha, Armstrong, Carter and others.

Rockefeller, whose hair was destroyed by disease, is getting a new crop of white, downy hair like an infant's.

An artist's model created a sensation in New York by appearing on the street in a bathing costume.

Russia declares that the action of the Brussels sugar convention is a violation of her treaty rights.

WHOSE FAULT IS IT? RICH LAND

A Local Occurrence That Will Interest Many Readers in Honolulu.

Central Kona FOR SALE

If, when a fog horn warns the mariner to sheer off the coast, he still hugs the shore and wrecks upon it, whose fault is it? If the red switch light it up and the engine driver deliberately pulls ahead and pitches into another train, blame the driver. If a careless workman will in spite of warning try to find out how many teeth a buzz saw has, and the saw tries to find out how many fingers the workman has, blame the workman, not the saw. If a sick man knows that a certain medicine is doing him good, and he carelessly neglects to use it, blame the man, not the medicine. If Honolulu people who have kidney complaint and backache will not take Doan's Backache Kidney Pills when they are indorsed by scores of citizens, blame the people, not the indorsers. Read this indorsement:

Mr. John E. Bush of Punchbowl st., this city, is attached to the Hawaiian interpretation staff at the Supreme Court. He says: "I had kidney trouble, and, acting on the recommendation of a friend, who had tried your invaluable remedy, I got some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills at Hollister Drug Co.'s store. They were just as beneficial to me as they had been to my friend. It is well the virtues of these pills should be made known, for they really are an excellent medicine for kidney trouble." Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, or sent by mail on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no other.

112 Union St., Opp. Pacific Club.

Newly furnished Rooms, mosquito-proof, electric lights, hot and cold water. First-class Table Board.

MRS. HANA, Proprietor.

By order of REINNE RODANET, Trustee, I offer for sale those certain parcels of land situated at Onouli, South Kona, Island of Hawaii, described in Royal Patent (Grant) No. 1162 to F. O. Schulze, and containing 174 acres. Royal Patent (Grant) No. 2882 to Awahana and containing 739 75-100 acres, situated at Keopuka and Onouli, Island of Hawaii.

This is a tract of land of over 200 acres, situated in the most fertile and richest portion of the Island of Hawaii. It faces the new Government road, extends to the sea, and is a five minute walk from Kealahou Bay, by way of the old Government road which runs through the property. Portions of the land are already under cultivation.

This tract is so situated that it is about midway between Kailua and Hookena, and five miles from Napo-poo, three most important ports of the Kona district. It has sufficient elevation, running up to fourteen hundred feet, to be particularly healthful, and its soil is well adapted to the growth of sugar cane, coffee, fruits, dairying, or for the promotion of diversified farming.

Occipants of this land have easy access to several ports for export, and with the advent of the Kona Railroad will find themselves in close communication with the thriving City of Hilo. This, of course, affords a splendid opportunity for the exporting of farm products to the California markets.

With the advent of the Kona Railroad, considerable portions of this land can be successfully planted to sugar cane.

This is one of the most splendid opportunities for a good investment that has been put upon the market for a considerable period of time.

A SNAP FOR OFFICIALS

Gear's Plan Would Make Them All
Rich.

UNFORTUNATELY
LAW IS IN THE WAY

Statute Provides Against Putting Fees Collected in One's Own Pocket.

If the doctrine upheld by Judge Gear in connection with the fire claims case is correct the Territory of Hawaii would be poorer every year by a considerable amount of money, variously estimated at from $20,000 to $100,000. Last year the amount of "government realizations" which is made up almost entirely of fees collected, but not especially authorized, amounted to $20,379. The year before the amount was $53,437. In addition to this every Governmental Department also turns in to Treasurer Wright certain moneys which are also collected for purposes not especially authorized by law. According to the ruling of the second judge all that money should be retained by the clerk or employee who did the work, for his personal use.

The amount credited to "government realizations" is made up in part from fees collected for work performed in the various offices which no statute specifically authorizes. In addition to the amount so noted a considerable portion of the moneys collected by the Department of Public Works is not authorized directly by law, but the Superintendent is empowered to make rules and regulations for the supervision of his department. The fees for garbage collections are not specifically authorized by the legislature, but yet thousands of dollars are collected annually from that source. On the theory of Judge Gear, Captain Sam. Johnson, who superintends that bureau or the man who directly does the work could retain the money so charged. It is the same way in regard to the sewer charges. The Department is authorized to do certain work, but not specifically to charge therefor. If a fee is charged the money is paid into the treasury for the maintenance of the department, but under the court's ruling, not the Territory but the individual would be entitled thereto.

The Civil Laws of 1907, Section 29, covers directly the point referred to by Judge Gear. It says: "All official and departmental fees received under the provisions of this Code, shall be accounted for and paid over into the public treasury, except fees designated and intended to be applied in compensation of the officers receiving the same. And no public officer in receipt of a salary for his services shall receive any other or further compensation therefor, unless specially allowed by law."

As a further safeguard the legislature also provided for "public accountants" including everyone in the Territorial employ receiving any sum of money whatsoever, and these are required not later than the tenth of every month to "transmit to the Auditor, a return in the form contained in the first schedule in this act, with such particulars in each case as may be required by the Auditor, of all moneys collected or received by him during the preceding month."

CABIN BOY HELD TO GRAND JURY

Oto Is Kept in Prison as a Witness—Contradictions of Tanbara.

As had been anticipated, Tanbara Gishaburo was held by Commissioner Gill Saturday to the October grand jury without bond on the charge of murder. There was little additional evidence developed Saturday at the conclusion of the hearing. Tanbara went on the stand on cross-examination but he added nothing to the statement already published, except to contradict himself on several points. His chief point of contradiction was in relation to the disposition of the knife, the defendant saying that he had forcibly taken it away from the captain, that he had been told to take the knife by the captain, and finally that the cook had thrown the weapon overboard.

The boy further denied that the captain had ill-treated him, flatly contradicting Oto's story in that regard. Commissioner Gill held Tanbara to the grand jury without bail and expressed his belief also that Oto was at least an accessory before the fact of the crime. The commissioner's court is, however, a tribunal of limited jurisdiction, and the cook, Oto, was simply held as a witness, also without bail.

There have been no additional developments in the matter. Both Japs are held in custody at Oahu prison, and are not allowed to communicate with each other. The grand jury will not meet until October and then it is probable that Oto's case will also be presented to that body.

Neither of the Japs, as far as known, have been visited by the consul as yet, though it is likely that a fund will be raised to make a defense, before the trial. The discharges given the men by Mate Meyer of the Fred J. Wood were not flattering as to character, and even if he successfully gets out of this scrape Oto will have difficulty in finding a new berth.

PING-PONGSTERS RECEIVE PRIZES

Bishop Restarick Presented With Honolulu Elks' Launch Banner.

"To the victors belong the spoils," was never more truly said than when the local herd of Elks gathered in the lodge room on Saturday night to witness the ceremonies incident to presenting to the winners of the ping-pong tournament the trophies which were well earned. About seventy-five of the antlered ones were present, and a jolly good time was had until the stroke of 12 o'clock announced that Sunday had come to hand. It was the hope of the lodge that Bishop Restarick would be present, but he was unable to do so, but sent a letter of regret expressing his appreciation of their courtesy in going out to meet the steamer on Friday morning and give him an Elks welcome to Honolulu.

The presentation of trophies was made as follows: A. L. C. Atkinson, first prize, a beautiful calabash, on which was a ping pong net in gold, surmounted by the Hawaiian coat of arms, with two bear tusk handles, the cover also being mounted with gold ping pong rackets; Mr. Lowell, second prize, a pair of cuff buttons, representing ping pong rackets; Mr. Clarke, third prize, a gold ping pong racket scarf pin. Neat presentation addresses were made in each instance, and opportunity replies made.

H. W. Lake read Bishop Restarick's letter of regret, and also reported that he had presented to the distinguished cleric the "B. P. O. E." pennant, which had fluttered on the chartered launch used by the Honolulu Elks when they went out to meet the steamship Peru, on which he was a passenger.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to social fellowship.

$5 REWARD

See the five big silver dollars in our window.

They are yours if we use the name you suggest for our new tonic drink.

It is a good drink and needs a good name—that is why we are willing to pay $5.00 for one.

Tones up the nervous system, the stomach, and, in fact, the entire body. A delicious cure for that tired feeling.

Now get to work and try and think of a good name. Five dollars per think is going to be easy money for somebody. You may get it. You had better try for it, anyway; that part of it costs you nothing—you don't even have to try the drink unless you want to.

We advise you to try it, however. It will stimulate your thinker as well as your body.

Write the name you think best on this slip, with your name and address, enclose in sealed envelope, and send it to the HOBSON DRUG CO. before August 21st, 1922.

Nevadan Bailed for Coast.

The oil-burner Nevada sailed for the coast at 6:30 p. m. Saturday. She carried a big cargo from Kahuku and Honolulu. She took a large amount of mail from Honolulu although many people believe that she will not arrive at the Coast before the Alameda which sails at noon on Wednesday.

While loading, sugar on Saturday a sailing broke and bags of sugar fell on two men who were so severely injured that they had to be sent to the Hospital.

Solace May Call Here.

The U. S. S. Solace, the naval transport, has left Cavite en route for Yokohama and the United States. The Solace has quite a number of officers and men whose cruises have expired, and some whose ships have been put out of commission. As the Solace has always stopped at Honolulu on previous trips from the Philippines it is expected that she will call here on this voyage.

Queer Cruise of the Herman.

"I tell you, he's gone on a fool's trip," the "hole thunder" lot on 'em. He's not bound for Cocos island at all. He's going to the trip and that men who know, drink were what's wanted. We're paid so much a month, but I s'pose if the treasure's found we'll get a bit of a share."

That the pleasure trip that Captain Brown declares the vessel is being sent on is all humbug is proved by the fact that her five passengers take little interest in Honolulu, because they sit close to the schooner and don't care about seeing the town.

But, as an old sea-dog said yesterday, it is a "pleasure trip" sure enough, as who wouldn't feel pleasant in having the privilege of being led by an old sea captain straight to a crooked-to-a place where he is sure that millions in gold are within reach?

HONOLULU AND MAILE ILIMA WIN CLOSE GAMES BEFORE BIG CROWDS

MARGINS of one were popular in baseball circles Saturday, and both games were won and lost with that factor showing in the run columns. Mailes and Honolulu won over the Customs and Punahou, but in both instances they were hard games to lose. Yellow streaks ran all through the contests, saffron being added by some of the oldest and best seasoned players and not a little being imparted by the umpire.

At least three things were demonstrated. Castle is a coming pitcher, his arrival being near at hand; Cunha is a bright particular star both behind the bat and with the band, for his march was played three times; and Newton, when his usually faithful eye is off, can permit himself to see things with more kinds of bias vision than the ordinary man. He is by long odds the best umpire seen here constantly. He is fearless, has the game fairly at his finger ends and works hard at his business, but with all this he had an off day, and the way he called things by the wrong name nearly put the game to the bad. With decisions fairly good it is safe to say that the scores in both of the contests would have been materially different.

Cunha played ball. He used not only two well trained hands, but as well a better trained eye and head, and the way in which he held down the Punahou in the sixth was worthy of the best of the diamond artists. Then too he hit and ran like one possessed and altogether was the bright particular star of the day. Nor was he the only one, for while most of the chances were easy ones there were redeeming features, such as Cooke's great catch in the tenth, which set the crowd cheering. But that there might be no exaggerated craniums there were misplays which would have looked out of place on the lots. Throws went soaring away above the heads of the men for whom they were intended and again balls were dropped when tossed easily. Altogether there was not lacking any feature of play.

The crowd was a good one and the way the men on the sides lines rooted for their teams was sufficient to gladden the hearts of the players. Once the enthusiasm was so great that fist-cuffs resulted from exuberance of feeling, and when the side line Mailes cut loose their yell, it was to make the echoes ring and awaken the crowd to cheers for the loyal club men. Nor was all the shouting from the outside, but the managers took a hand inside the ropes, and this caused some pika, for when he was described as rotten by one of the members of the League, Newton swore by the hand which captured Aguilardo that he would have no more of it, and took his playthings off after the first game, causing a delay until he had been placated and consented to run the second.

When the first game was called the Mailes went to the field and Clark found some new faces in the opposing batters. Duncan, an old police player, was in the list and Raven also appeared. The Customs were easy however, only four men facing the pitcher. In their half the Mailes managed to corral one. Mana sent a bounder to Lishman and Percy took it in so handily that it looked all day. But when he came to throw he grew so strong that Willis could hardly see the flying sphere and could not reach it, so that the second baseman managed to get around to the third corner, from which he scored on a sacrifice later.

With this start there seemed a fairly good game on and the two innings succeeding were of the right sort. Anderson and Willis pulled off a double play in the second saving the day, for an error and a hit followed, and Lishman, Willis and King each did clever work in the third. Clark was pitching excellently for only two men got on bases in the two innings.

Then came the fourth, when the Customs broke the ice. Kiwa pushed a little one to Wright and Anderson who had hit was caught at second while the pitcher held down the initial bag. Wright fell down on the throw to catch the little twirler however, and a passed ball and a wild pitch sent him home matters and the crowd yelled.

Kiley started off the second half for the Zebras. He hit and started to steal. Raven lined the ball down and to those at right angles with the player Kiley was out by a block. But Newton was good to the captain and let him rest. After Wright had gone out on a fly Akau lined one to Tucker, who was to the bad for a moment, and the copper was safe. Desha sent a little one to Willis and he had his rattles with him, and tried to catch Kiley at the plate and failed. Taylor hit and scored Akau, and Luahwa doubled and sent men home, ending the run getting with four to the credit of the clubmen. Never again did they get in sight of home, for though Wright doubled in the fifth, with only one out, Kiwa was a puzzle, and Kiley's hit in the seventh was unavailing for he was caught asleep at the switch a moment later.

It was in every other inning that the Customs tagged up one at a time and rounded out their score. With two out Bowers counted in the fifth when Akau miscalculated the height of Davis and sent the ball well aimed. Raven tagged up one on his and Tucker's hits and an error, and in the ninth, when Duncan had got first on an error and advanced on Raven's safe one, Willis having been caught at the plate, he got home on Tucker's little smash, the day being saved by a double pulled off by Taylor, Kiley and Mana. This brought out a new set of cheers and as well a few hooks and short arm blows on the side lines where earnest partisans were howling for the victors and decrying the umpire for the loss.

Just because some one inside the lines had said things concerning the decision of the umpire on a base hit across the third, which made the chalk fly but was called foul, Newton delayed the game between the Punahou and the Honolulu, and the men were well warmed up before play began. The crowd had increased and cheered Newton when he went on the field. The redbirds took the out and Joy unhooked some of his assorted twisters for the collegians. With two out John Wattehouse faced the south paw and two strikes resulted in short order. Joy was good but Newton was just far enough off, calling the batter out on the third strike, when the ball was so plainly above his shoulder, that the crowd jeered and from that moment the sympathies of the majority were with Punahou.

It was not until the seventh inning that the College men could see home. Five men had got on the bags but the Punahous seemed determined to beat themselves, and assisted the reds materially. Thus when Castle had got to third and was on his toes for a score, Marcellino struck out and Cunha dropped the ball, but instead of running and trying to coax a throw with the chance that the pitcher might score, the batter walked to the bench. Waterhouse bunted but Cunha held Castle and threw just in time to catch the runner at the initial corner.

With one hand some Soper got first on an error and running with judgment aided by a passed ball, and Hemenway's hit, scored, being followed home by the catcher a moment later on a fault with the battery. The ninth saw the score tied. Marcellino opened out with a hit and it was a beauty. This set the crowd cheering and jeering and Joy seemed to get a little nervous. Hemenway walked and they both came home on a wild pitch. Things were getting interesting and Castle added to the pulse beats of the followers of the collegians by sending a double into left. John Wise told Steere, as he went to bat, that all that was needed was a home run to tie the score. Steere straightened one of Joy's benders for a bingle down to third and its humming was almost loud enough to tell the tale of its speed. Pryce got it nicely, but he did not notice Castle who was about a foot away, running for third, and decided to cut off the man at first. He must have had a foolish powder sometime between innings for the way he sent that ball toward Beretania street was a caution. Finally it was retrieved and slammed toward Cunha but Steere had been coming on without any thought of the hereafter, and as the return was ten feet wide of the plate he scored easily, tying the tally and setting the crowd to cheering like half mad. The last half of the ninth and the first section of the tenth went off without anything but heart disease, and then came the fatal ending. Aylett walked and Gleason forced him at second. Williams uncorked his fourth hit and advanced the captain who scored on the long fly of Louis, which was captured by Clarence Cooke, who jumped into the air for it, a great play but too far out to prevent the score.

There was some lively moments during the game, and the umpire was once as heartily commended as he was blamed the other time. Williams came to the plate out of turn and with his customary hit drove home Thompson's run before the error was discovered. Gleason was called out for losing his batting turn, and the run not permitted to count. In the third the entire course of affairs might have been changed by another decision. Fernandez got Gleason's hot one and Thompson was out while running from second to third, for running out of line everyone thought, and the ball sent down to second, getting there seconds before Aylett. The play was a force, but the umpire called it a matter of interference on the part of Thompson.

I CURE MEN!

With Lane Backs, With Weak Nerves,
With Rheumatism, With Lost Vitality

With all these signs which tell a man he is breaking down, losing his grip, I have the remedy which gives back that snap, fire and vim of youth. My cures sell my belt. They prove what I say about it.

Waianae, Oahu, H. T. Jan. 27, 1902.
DR. M. G. McLAUGHLIN.
Dear Sir:—I am writing to let you know that I have greatly benefited by the use of your belt. I can honestly say that it is worth its weight in gold. I have recommended it to several parties here, and also to some in Honolulu.

Yours very truly,
ALEX. SHEPARD.

A man is like a steam engine. It takes steam to make him go. My belt pumps that steam into him.

That's how it makes so many old men feel young.

Mr. A. Crawford, Pookamoa, Ore., says: "I am 70 years old, but your belt has made me feel like 35."

Try it, you weak men; you will find youth and vigor in it after everything else fails.

Call and test it, free, or I will send you my illustrated book, free, if you will enclose this ad.

FRED J. WOOD SAILED TO CHINA

Mate H. Meyer Takes Prompt Action Concerning the Schooner.

Mate Henry Meyer of the ill-fated schooner Fred J. Wood, which lost her captain through murder, acted promptly while in Honolulu and by his actions may save the owners of the vessel a considerable amount of money, and probably mark the turning point in the officer's career.

When the murder of Captain Jacobson took place, Mate Meyer promptly turned the nose of the vessel towards Honolulu and after handing the murderers over to the United States authorities made up his mind to take the vessel on to her destination, in China. The Wood is loaded with 900,000 feet of lumber and her cargo is a valuable one. If Meyer had waited in Honolulu until he could have received instructions from the owners of the schooner the vessel might have been delayed so long that the buyers of the lumber might have refused it on the vessel's final arrival. To obviate any such difficulty Meyer decided to take the vessel on to her destination. As the United States authorities had decided to hold the men off in this port and for the embalming and transportation of the captain's body to San Francisco, and money with which to pay the passage of Mrs. Jacobson and her children to San Francisco. He visited the firm of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., and that concern had such confidence in him that they immediately advanced the money required.

Mate Meyer shipped a new crew for the vessel on Saturday and sailed on that day at 5:30 p. m. There was a certain amount of luck for Meyer in the tragedy. It was his watch below when the murder occurred, and the second mate was on deck. Had Meyer been on deck he would have been held here as a witness. The second mate, who was on deck at the time the murder was committed, must remain in Honolulu, and loses considerable by the affair.

Should Meyer be successful in taking the vessel to China and back to San Francisco he will probably be made her captain. Letters will go to the coast by the Alameda giving details of the Wood's difficulties and it is likely that the owners will send special instructions to China by cable to Meyer.

Mrs. Jacobson and her two children will go to the coast by the Alameda on Wednesday.

Yard Fell to the Deck.

The German ship Gertrud, Captain Henke, arrived in port yesterday after a fast passage of 119 days from Hamburg with 2400 tons of general cargo aboard. After having rounded the Horn the vessel experienced eight days of hurricanes and during one of these the tree of the fore lower topsail yard broke, allowing that yard to fall to the deck. No one was hurt. The vessel is berthed at Railway wharf.

The Overdue Bark Ceylon.

Many people are growing very anxious on the water front over the fate of the old wooden bark Ceylon. She is now out nearly seventy days. The inter-island steamers to Kauai and people all around the coast of that island have kept a good look out for the Ceylon but nothing has been seen of her. A report was current yesterday that the vessel was leaking when she left here.

Watch Dropped Overboard.

While leaning over the side of the treasure hunting schooner Herman on Sunday the mate of the vessel dropped a $65 gold watch overboard. A diver tried to recover the watch but found the mud so deep on the bottom along-side Fishmarket wharf that it would almost be impossible to find any small article in it.

Shipping Notes.

The bark Edward May is discharging at Makawili.

The Walaleale's cargo, consisted of only two boxes of sundries.

The W. B. Flint left Makawili on Aug. 6 with 20,050 bags of sugar.

The Robert H. Hind is discharging coal at Eleale and expects to finish on Tuesday.

The American ship Bangalore has got her load of sugar in and may sail for New York today.

Purser Ferguson of the steamer W. G. Hall reports the following sugar left on Kauai: K. S. M., 1,000; V. K., 350; Mak., 2,700; G. R., 850.

The steamer Maui brought 1,728 bags of sugar, 100 bags of charcoal, ninety-seven bags of potatoes, two horses, sixteen hogs and 106 packages of sundries from Maui ports on Sunday.

The W. G. Hall had the following freight from Kauai: twenty-one bbls. green hides, three bbls. sheep skins, ten bags Gumra grass, twenty-eight packages sundries, two bags silver coin, twenty-seven packages merchandise to H. H. & Co.

The schooner Alice Kimball will take a load of old iron and bottles to the coast. She is to go to Kahului at the latter end of this week to get about forty tons of empty bottles. It is said that the schooner will be sold in San Francisco and will therefore not return to the islands again.

GERDA NEARLY MET HER DOOM

The German Bark Struck a Big Gale in Rounding the Horn.

"Any bad weather coming around the Horn, Captain?"

"There's always something the matter with that Cape Horn," responded Captain Stege of the German bark Gerda, which took 152 days to make the passage from Bremerhaven, Germany, to this port with 1030 tons of general merchandise consigned to Messrs. H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd.

The Gerda met with a terrible gale on July 6 just after leaving the Horn. The vessel was at that time running right before the wind and with a falling barometer a gale sprung up from the same direction. All sails except the two lower topsails were made fast as the gale increased quickly and was of great violence. Waves, mountains high, swept on in the wake of the vessel and several went clear over the ship, filling the main deck and getting into the cabin and fore-castle. When this big wave went over the bark it smashed the rudder house bang up against the man at the wheel, pinning him pretty tightly against the wheel. Had it come a little harder the man at the wheel would have been wedged so tightly between the rudder house and the wheel that the sailors would have been unable to control the rudder and the vessel might have been broached up to the wind and foundered. Fifteen gallons of oil were poured into the boiling sea and this kept the water from piling into the vessel as fast as it had previously. The pumps were working during the night and by the following morning the ship was pretty clear of water and the gale had run out. This occurred in 48 south and 92 west. From 52 degrees south and 85 west the vessel made the fast time of thirty-six days to Honolulu.

The Gerda is berthed at Irmgard wharf.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having a Permanent Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Coroner's Verdict On Murder in Hilo.

DEATH OF OLDEST MAN IN ISLANDS

The Convention Report—The Richardson Will in Court.

HILO, Friday, August 8.—The coroner's jury in the case of Kitano, the Japanese who was found dead with his throat cut, has returned a verdict accusing Masaji and Jatsagora and implicating six others, two of them women, as accessories before the fact. On the jury impaneled by Sheriff Andrews were L. M. Whitehouse, J. D. Easton and four Japs, S. Sato, T. Machida, Y. Hamada and T. Ikeda. They found that Motohiro Kitano came to his death by being stabbed in the neck with a knife and "that the said deceased was murdered by Watanabe Masaji and Funakoshi Tatsugoro, and that Seo Ichitaro, Taka Seo (w), Kane Funakoshi (w), Ushijima Masutaro, Hayashi Tetsu, Kobataki Toyotuchi, and other persons unknown to the jury are accessories before the fact."

The two principals were brought before Magistrate Hapal on Tuesday for arraignment and upon motion of the defendants' attorneys, a continuance was granted for three days for consultation with the prisoners.

The defendants in the case are alleged to have come here only recently from Iwilei.

BIG RUSH FOR LAND.

Nearly three thousand acres were allotted as homesteads in the Puna and Ola districts by Land Agent Baldwin this week. There was a big rush for the government lands, one man taking a place three days before at the door to the office, which position he afterwards sold for $350 cash. On Saturday evening preceding the Monday sale people began to camp on the street, and when the doors were opened the line was several blocks in length. The highest price asked was twelve dollars per acre. Some of the land offered was of an inferior quality. Most of the land offered was taken by Hawaiians and others who had asked to have it thrown open.

OLDEST MAN IN THE ISLANDS.

The Hilo Tribune says: "Probably the oldest inhabitant of the Hawaiian Islands died at his home near Waimea week before last. This venerable Hawaiian was Kakaui, and competent authority figures his age at the time of his death at 115 years. Kakaui was a splendid specimen of Hawaiian manhood. He was physically modeled on Herculean proportions and a life of abstemious habits served to preserve his wonderful strength to far past the century mark."

"Not a year ago, Kakaui was able to look after his patch of potatoes, hoeing and planting his little field without physical discomfort. His death was not due to any specific disease, but was a painless suspension of the functions of life. The deceased was the father of eighteen children."

"His age is computed by Sam Pua, the attorney at Waimea. The deceased remembered certain historic occurrences in the life of Kamehameha I, which are the basis of arriving at the date of his birth. He could relate with graphic detail the story of the building of the dam by the first king's army across the river Iao on Maui."

"The deceased centenarian was made a church deacon by Mr. Lyons, one of the earliest missionaries, and he retained his interest in church matters to the time of his death."

THE ELECTIONS.

Polls opened for the primary election of delegates to the Territorial Convention and District Committee at 2 p. m. last Saturday. In some of the precincts there were no contests; the clubs nominating only the number to be sent.

In Hilo there were more than the required number, but the voting was slow. During the six hours' time when the polls were open in Hilo 112 persons cast their ballots and this out of a club membership of 185. During the same time Olaa voted 163 out of 112 members.

There was comparatively little interest taken in the election in Hilo, considering the fact that there were more nominees than there were to be delegates. The Portuguese showed a desire to elect their favorites. The result of the election was as follows:

For delegates to Territorial Convention:

Peck ..... 109

McKenney ..... 88

Guard ..... 77

For District Committee: Peck,

McLain, Vierra, Beers, Williams,

Lewis.

In Olaa the result was:

For delegate to Territorial Convention: G. W. Paty, 84.

For District Committee: J. F.

Clay, A. L. Williams, T. Wicks. After the election in Olaa the club held a meeting at which several members contributed toward the entertainment of the others.

APPEAL FROM LITTLE.

Judge Little admitted to probate the will of the late C. E. Richardson over which there has been a contest by Mrs. Mattie Wakefield. The appeal from the decision of the court is to a jury, and will be heard at the January term. Pending the appeal the three executors are appointed temporary administrators.

The McKinley Park

Work on the McKinley Park will soon commence, as a large amount of money has been subscribed for that purpose. Its location being on King Street, and the additional fact that the ELECTRIC ROAD runs straight out has established this thoroughfare as the main avenue of Honolulu. The beautiful PAWAA TRACT lies mauka of this line, just beyond Waikiki Road. Lots in this location are the most desirable in Honolulu. On account of the sheltered condition of this Tract, it is free from the severe winds and rains that come down from the Manoa valley; yet it is subject almost continually to a mild, healthy breeze, rendering it from 10 to 15 DEGREES COOLER than Ewa of Punahou Street. On account of the low prices asked and the very small amount down and easy terms, the opportunity to purchase a beautiful home site comes within the reach of all; but after September 15th, the prices of these lots will be ADVANCED 20 PER CENT. ## IN CIRCUIT AND SUPREME COURTS

Chief Justice Denies Application for a Restraining Order.

The application for a restraining order in the case of Koolau Kalkanahale, administratrix of the estate of J. W. Kalkanahale, to prevent S. C. Allen from selling certain real estate on foreclosure of mortgage was denied Saturday by Chief Justice Frear. The petition was presented to him after a refusal of Judge Humphreys to grant the order, an appeal having been taken, which was ineffectual because of the proposed sale of the property. It was alleged that the sale of the land would work great injury to plaintiff because possible purchasers of land would take into consideration the cloud upon the title and because of the "intense financial stringency existing in the Territory and particularly in Honolulu." It was further set out that the property would not bring $4000 at auction, the amount due on mortgage, and there would be a further charge against the estate. The chief justice endorsed the application: "Petition presented to me and denied this 9th day of August, 1902."

COURT NOTES.

An agreement between J. C. Gillilan of San Francisco and Archibald C. Gillilan Jr. of this city has been filed conveying to the latter, son of Archibald Gillilan, an undivided one-half of the estate.

An inventory has been filed of the estate of Geo. S. Houghtaling by the appraisers, showing the estate to be worth $1424. Oahu Sugar stock is listed by the appraisers at $75.

An inventory has also been filed by the appraisers of the estate of Lum Tuck Joe, giving a valuation of $875. This is the estate in which the deceased, according to testimony, had two wives, neither of whom has made a contest for the estate.

The divorce case of Rose Endermark vs. E. Endermark was dismissed Saturday by Judge Gear. A divorce was granted in the case of Mele Panana Lutoria vs. M. Lutoria.

Appeals were filed from the District Court in the case of E. Hoffschlaeger & Co. vs. Yim Yon and C. Winam et al., garnishees, and in L. Dinkelspiel vs. the same defendants.

PORTO RICAN FOUND DROWNED.

A Porto Rican aged about forty years and residing on Amalu road was found drowned in a ditch on that thoroughfare early Tuesday morning. It is said that the man has been ill for some time and has been drinking a great deal. From this it is thought that he was under the influence of liquor on Monday night and pitched headlong into the ditch and was unable to get out. An empty wine bottle was found at his side. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.
