Feats of Memory.

Memory is nearly as much a puzzle as ever. Why in some men memory should be strong and in others weak; why the memory should be at one time stronger than at another; why the same man should have a strong memory for some subjects and a weak one for others; why illnesses should obliterate some subjects completely from the mind—these problems still undergoing patient and attentive scrutiny.

The memory for figures, or power for mental calculations, is well known to all of us, either by its presence or its absence. Jedediah Buxton, George Parker Bidder and Zerah Colburn, are instances too familiarly known to need detail. George Watson, the Scotch calculator, could tell the date of every day since he was a child, and what he was doing on that day; he could show many other strange feats of memory, but was a heavy, ignorant fellow generally, very vain of his own acquirements.

The memory of languages is quite a distinct faculty, so far as can be judged from recorded instances. Multitudes, we are told, could converse in their own language, to the natives of twenty-three countries which were under his sway. Cardinal Mezzanotte appears to have had this faculty in a stronger degree than any other person that ever lived. While educating for the priesthood he learned Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Arabic, Spanish, French, German and Swedish. As a professor at some of the Italian universities, he constantly added to his store, until at the age of forty-three he could read in twenty languages and converse in eighteen. In 1841, when he was sixty-seven years old, he was well acquainted with Portuguese, English, Dutch, Danish, Russian, Polish, Bohemian, Serbian, Magyar, Turkish, Irish, Welsh, Wallachian, Albanian, Bulgarian, Rumanian, Lettish, Lappish, as with the languages which he had first learned, while to the Arabic he added Persian, Sanscrit, Koorish, Georgian, Syriac, Chaldean, Samaritan, Coptic, Ethiopic, Abyssinian and other Asiatic and African tongues. At the time of his death in 1849, Mezzanotte could write eloquently and converse fluently in more than twenty languages.

All the other accounts of memory for words are poor compared with this; nevertheless, many of them are sufficiently remarkable. John Kemble used to say that he could learn a whole number of the Memoria. For instance, he and Gen. Christie made a similar assertion, but it is not known how far either of them verified this statement. Robert Dillon could repeat in the morning six columns of a newspaper that he had read over at night. During the repeal debates in the House of Commons, thirty-seven years ago, one of the members wrote out his speech, sent it to the newspapers, and reported it to the House in the evening; it was found to be the same, verbatim as that which he had written out. John Fuller, a land agent in Norfolk, could remember every word of a sermon and write it out correctly after going home; this was tested by comparing his written account with the clergyman's manuscript. Scalliger could repeat a hundred verses or more after having read them a single time, and Seneca could repeat two thousand verses after hearing them once. Magliabechi, who had a prodigious memory, was once put to a severe test. A gentleman lent him a manuscript, which was read and returned; the owner, some time afterwards, pretending that he had lost it, begged Magliabechi to write out as much as he could remember, whereupon the latter, appealing to his memory, wrote out the whole essay. Cyrus, if some of the old historians are to be credited, could remember the name of every soldier in his immense army. There was a Corsican boy who could rehearse forty thousand words, whether in sense or nonsense, as they were dictated, and then repeat them in the reversed order without making a single mistake. A physician of Massachusetts, about half a century ago, could repeat the whole of Paradise Lost without mistake, although he had not read it for twenty years. Earlier, the great mathematician, when he became blind, could repeat the whole of Virgil's Eclogues, and could remember the first and last line in every page of the particular edition which he had been accustomed to read before he became blind.

One kind of retentive memory may be considered as the result of sheer hard work, a determination towards one particular achievement, without reference either to cultivation or to memory on other subjects. This is frequently shown by persons in humble life in regard to the Bible. An old beggar was at Stirling, known some forty years ago as Blind Alick, afforded an instance of this. He knew the whole of the Bible by heart; inasmuch that if a sentence were read to him, he could name book, chapter and verse, or if the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one verbal inaccuracy; Alick hesitated, mused the place where the passage was to be found, but at the same time pointed out the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the nineteenth verse of the seventh chapter of the book of Numbers. Alick instantly replied, "There is no such verse; that chapter has only eighty-nine verses—All the Year Round."

Another instance.—A correspondent to the Herald and Probationer, writing from Minnesota, tells the following: "I have picked up a 'little story' which I think too good a proof for the disturbance of the peace in churches, to be lost. A preaching elder of the United Brethren Church was preaching in the neighborhood, and was much annoyed by persons talking and laughing. He paused, looked at the disturbers, and said: 'I am always afraid to reprove those who misbehave in church.' In the early part of my ministry I made a great mistake. As I was preaching, a young man who sat just in front of me was constantly laughing, talking, and making unsmooth comments. I paused and administered a severe rebuke. After the close of the service one of the official members came and said to me: 'Brother, you made a great mistake. That young man whom you reprov'd is an idiot. Since then I have always been afraid to reprove those who misbehave in church, lest I repeat that mistake and reprove another idiot.' During that service at least there was good order."

It is reported that King Charles, of Sweden, is about to marry a daughter of the King of Denmark. If so, there will be a new geological puzzle for the King of Sweden's daughter is already married to the King of Denmark's son; the new bridegroom will, therefore, become his own daughter's brother-in-law, and the Danish Crown Prince will be the son of his own sister. A similar tangle exists among the Mormon leaders in Utah. The rebellious elder Stenhouse, not long ago, married a daughter of Brigham Young, and a son of Brigham married Stenhouse's daughter. The words of this Mormon business is that in the rebellion against Brigham, the two wives take the sides respectively of their fathers. "Things are mixed," accordingly.

A Harzmann advised a slender friend to chalk his head and go to a masquerade as a billiard cue.

A SINGULAR GATHERING.

How great may be the merits of hydropathy, there can be no doubt that allied with asquithism, it is liable to cause more rheumatism than it cures, and that no invalid who wisely immerses himself in cold water without previously consulting his medical as well as spiritual adviser. This impression, however, it appears, committed by the sick and suffering in some parts of Scotland, and a correspondent gives a curious account of a strange scene which he says he lately witnessed at a lock in the district of Strathnaver, Sutherland. Dipping in this lock for the purpose of effecting extraordinary cures, is stated to be of periodical occurrence, and the 15th ult. seems to have been selected, as after the beginning of August, in the old style, at the hour between midnight and one o'clock. The important, the bait, the lunatic, and the tender inn were all waiting for an immersion in Lochmanar. The night was calm, the stars countless, and meteors were occasionally shooting through the heavens; a streaky white belt could be observed in the remotest part of the firmament, yet the night was so dark that neither friend nor foe could be recognized by close contact and their voices. About fifty persons were assembled near one spot, and other parts of the lock-side were similarly occupied. About twelve stripped and walked into the lock, performing their ablutions three times, and those who were not able to act for themselves were assisted, some of them being led willingly and others by force. One young woman, strictly guarded, was an object of great pity; she saved in a distressing manner, repeating religious phrases, some of which were very earnest and pathetic, and prayed her guardians not to immerse her, saying that it was not a communion occasion, and asking them if they could call this righteousness or faithfulness, or if they could compare the lock and its virtues to the right arm of Christ. These gatherings take place twice a year, and the lock is remunerated for its virtues by having stirring money thrown into it. It seems a pity that no one "ducked" the guardians of the young woman, who, in spite of her ravings, appeared to be the most sensible person of the party.—Pail Mail Gazette.

The last joke at the expense of the French Society for the Protection of Animals, is to the following effect: A countryman, armed with an immense club, presents himself before the president and claimed the first prize. He is asked to describe the act of humanity on which he founds his claim. The countryman replied, "I saved the life of a wolf, when I might easily have killed him with this bloodstone," and he swung his weapon in the air, to the intense discomfort of the president. "But where was the wolf—what had he done to you?" inquired the latter. "He has just devoured my wife," was the reply. The president reflected for a moment and said, "My friend, I am of the opinion that you have already been sufficiently rewarded."

The cheerful parishioners of Rev. Dr. Todd, of Pittsfield, Mass., recently made him a present of a cemetery lot the other day. The presentation speeches were very affecting; the spokesman of the donors said he hoped that their beloved pastor would find the gift a useful one. The pastor tearfully responded, and remarked that he probably would if he remained much longer in that region.

The Sufferer's Best Friend!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts and Old Wounds.

No description of wound, sore or ulcer can resist the healing properties of this excellent Ointment. The most cases readily assume a healthy appearance whenever this medicine is applied; round flesh springs up from the bottom of the wound, inflammation of the surrounding skin is arrested, and a complete and permanent cure quickly follows the use of the Ointment.

Piles, Fistulas and Internal Inflammation.

These distressing and weakening diseases may with certainty be cured by the sufferer themselves, if they will use Holloway's Ointment and closely attend to the printed Instructions. It should be well rubbed on the neighboring parts, when all obstruction matter will be removed. A poultice of bread and water may sometimes be applied at bed time with advantage; the most scrupulous cleanliness must be observed. If those who read this paragraph will bring it under the notice of their acquaintances whom it may concern, they will render a service that will never be forgotten. As a cure is certain.

Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia.

Nothing has the power of relieving inflammation and subduing pain in these complaints in the same degree as Holloway's cooling Ointment and purifying Pills. When used simultaneously they drive all inflammation and depravities from the system, subdue and remove all enlargement of the joints, and leave the affected muscles lax and uncontracted. A cure may always be effected even under the worst circumstances, if the use of these medicines be persevered in.

Eruptions, Scald Head, Ringworm and other Skin Diseases.

After fomentation with warm water, the utmost relief and speediest cure can be readily obtained in all complaints affecting the skin and joints, by the simultaneous use of the Ointment and Pills. But it must be remembered that nearly all skin diseases, the inflammation of the liver and stomach, consequently, in many cases, time is required to purify the blood, which will be effected by a judicious use of the Pills. The general health must be really improved, although the eruption may be driven out more freely than before, and which should be promoted. Perseverance is necessary.

Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Quinsy, Mumps and all other Derangements of the Throat.

On the appearance of any of these maladies, the Ointment should be well rubbed at least three times a day upon the neck and upper part of the chest, so as to penetrate to the glands, as well as to foment the throat with warm water, and the eruption may be driven out more freely than before, and which should be promoted. Perseverance is necessary.

Scrofula or King's Evil and Swelling of the Glands.

This class of cases may be cured by Holloway's purifying Pills and Ointment; as their double action of purifying the blood and driving out the impurities render them more suitable than any other remedy for all complaints of a scrofulous nature. As the blood is impure, the liver, stomach and bowels being much deranged, require a purifying medicine to bring about a cure.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following Cases:

Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, Old Wounds, Piles, Fistulas, Internal Inflammation, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Eruptions, Scald Head, Ringworm, other Skin Diseases, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Quinsy, Mumps, all other Derangements of the Throat, Scrofula or King's Evil, Swelling of the Glands.
