FASHIONS FOR BABIES.

OLIVE HARPER TAKES THEATRICAL INFANTS FOR HER MODELS.

She Says They Are Correctly and Tastefully Dressed—Pictures That Show Just How They Are Attired—Descriptions That Will Aid the Understanding.

(Special Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The reason why I continue to take the baby fashions is because they are well clad, comfortably, and in the latest and most picturesque style. There was a cunning little tot of a boy in a plaid gray suit, who danced a clog dance at an entertainment recently, with his chubby little feet incased in stogy boots and leggings.

BABY KERNELL AND TWO LITTLE STARS, and when the house just "rose at him" with cries of bravo he got frightened and ran off the stage, only to be captured by Tony Pastor and brought back in his arms. But he wouldn't dance again, and kicked and screamed, though Tony told him that he had made a bigger hit than his father ever did. The little fellow had had enough, and felt quite sure of it.

The little dress he wore was of gray, fine check, and plaid from the neck down to the bottom, and around the sleeves and neck was an embroidery, trimming done in crimson silk.

Two other little stars of small magnitude, but great brilliancy, who recited and sang, were most comfortably costumed, one in a Mother Hubbard of crimson cashmere, trimmed with two bands of black velvet, and with dainty little velvet bows at the neck. A big crimson felt hat had bows of black velvet. Black stockings and bronze slippers completed the costume, which was wonderfully becoming to the little wearer.

The other little star—little comet rather, for she danced about like one—wore an Edison blue cashmere, embroidered with red, with a narrow knife-plaited tulle around the bottom of red silk and a such of the same, she wore red stockings and the dearest little bronze slippers. Of course these were changed later to good, stout shoes.

But, oh! how cunning were the two little babes in the wood! The brave brother wore a little coat of brown cloth, with black astrakhan fur cuffs and collar and a little knit woollen cap. Leggings of the same material as the coat incased his plump legs, and a pair of mittens protected the dimpled hands, one of which was clenched to repel the wicked enemy, and the other was occupied in leading the little sister, who, in her soft, pearl gray coat, bordered with white tulle fur, looked sweet enough to eat for dessert after a bountiful dinner. There were pockets to keep the dimpled hands warm in, and leggings of blue velvet and a cozy little hood to match.

The two little mites told the fearful tale of the "Babes in the Wood" in alternate verses, and their baby voices reached the farthest corners, and all these little tots were knit under garments of fine wool, which is light and warm, and their drawers reach the tops of their shoes. I only wish that every mother's child in America could be dressed as well and tastefully.

It seems as if there would never be an end to the novelties that are always being shown, and one hardly chronicles one thing before there is a still newer one to see.

Yesterday I found a new fabric for dancing dresses, which is a gauze, with coarse interwoven threads of a different color, and as if dropped carelessly over these are lozenge spots of black velvet, the whole being very pretty. The ground-work or gauze foundation is in the soft, tender tints of mauve, heliotrope, peach-blow pink, and blue and green, and the threads are in deep contrast and darker color, so that they form a sort of apparent lattice work, and these black velvet dots over all.

Some lovely patterns of white gauze have only gold threads and gold dots, and when this is made up over white satin or pale pink it is too pretty for a suitable comparison.

A few samples of evening silks are shown under the seal of secrecy, but I will tell what I have seen to my sister women, only begging them to tell no one whence they got their information, so that nimble fingers can hasten and embroider a gown that will be just the very newest thing out by the time they can finish them. These are beautiful black China and India silks with embroidered patterns on them in colors that are perfect art pictures.

TRAINER JAMES ROWE.

Once a Stable Boy, Now Clifton "Starter," and Worth $150,000.

One of the best known trainers of running horses in America is James Rowe, who is now officiating as starter at Clifton. In 1888 Rowe commenced his turf career as stable boy for Col. McDaniels. He displayed unusual talent as a horseman, and was soon winning laurels as a jockey. He rode Harry Bassett to victory in his great race with Longfellow at Saratoga. In 1889 Rowe joined the Dwyer Bros., and did much toward pushing their colors before the front. Miss Woodford, Hindoo, Rantymede, Loko Blackburn and other flyers were developed by him.

For three years past he has been doing good work for the Belmont stables. He considers Luke Blackburn the best horse he ever trained. Rowe's turf career has been quite remunerative, for the stable boy of 1888 is said to be a capitalist, worth $150,000 in 1891.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

One of the scenes in "A High Roller," which will be sent out next season, will be an interior view of the Manhattan club, which occupies the famous A. T. Stewart mansion in New York city.

Louis Harrison is again starring in "The Pearl of Pooh."

Edwin Booth's health, he says, is good, but on the few times recently when he has been seen on the street he used a heavy stick and walked apparently with considerable difficulty. Not long ago he witnessed a performance of Barrett's tragedy, "Gedone," from a box.

Julia Marlowe is much improved in health, and will soon go south.

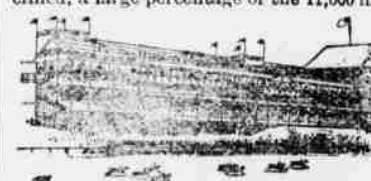

The new Lyceum theatre at Duluth is nearly completed.

It is said that Joseph Arthur, author of "The Still Alarm" and "Blue Jeans," is at work on a new play to be produced in the season of '93-94. It is to be wholly different in general character from Mr. Arthur's previous efforts. According to the gossip of people who ought to know it will be strongly emotional instead of sensational.

The long run of "The Old Homestead," with Denham Thompson in the leading role, has ended in New York. This was brought about, not because the piece had begun to lose money, but because the actors in it had played their parts so often that they had become unbearable.

A Great Grand Stand.

Here is a picture of the mammoth grand stand in process of construction by the Coney Island Jockey club, at Sheephead Bay. It is to be composed principally of iron, and will have a length of 600 feet. About 11,000 people can easily be taken care of, and between races, if they feel inclined, a large percentage of the 11,000 may walk up and down a promenade 15 feet wide which stretches the entire length of stand. The mammoth roof will also afford standing room for an immense number of people, who will be able to watch the whole course easily from this vantage point. The basement will be open, and the capacity of the old betting ring doubled. A cafe with sixty tables will also be one of the new stand's features.

ELDER CUDNEY'S FATE.

"There is no longer any doubt of the fate of Elder A. J. Cudney of Lincoln, Neb. Elder Cudney was a missionary of the Seventh-Day Adventist Society, and left this city in May, 1889, for the Pitcairn islands in the South Seas. He sailed away never to return and his wife and family have at last given up all hope and mourn for him as dead. General Manager Jones of the Seventh-day Advent Publishing Company of Oakland stated to a Chronicle reporter yesterday that the society had finally concluded that Elder Cudney's fate was a settled fact. This conclusion was reached after all efforts to find traces of the missing missionary had proved of no avail."

The foregoing from the San Francisco Chronicle is just a year out in the departure of Elder Cudney. He left Honolulu for Tahiti and Pitcairn Island, in the schooner Phoebe Chapman, Capt. Lovell, with several passengers, the last of July, 1888.

CORRECTION.

Some words were inadvertently omitted in "E. N. N.'s" last letter, which being inserted the paragraph reads as follows:
Mr. Thurston further states that "the Constitution plainly points out how the Cabinet can be removed," and that "this excludes every other method of removing them." He carefully forbids to state that the Constitution plainly points out that this prohibition of removal is directed against the appointer alone, and does not militate against the view that Ministerial commissions may be made void, or that another than the appointer may remove them. In fact, one case of such removal by other than the appointer is provided for by Articles 41 and 57 taken together.

THE COURT AND THE CABINET.

It is learned on authority that the matter of the Ministry's commissions was still under suspension before the Supreme Court until a late hour this forenoon. The Cabinet seemed to be under the impression that the Court had it in consideration, for, whenever informed of the contrary, the Attorney-General sent the Court a written request for an opinion on the question at issue. This was accepted by the Court as regular under the Constitution, and between 11 and 12 o'clock their Honors began considering their opinion to be rendered in writing.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 25.
Ah Chin, charged with larceny of $70, property of Ah Yan, was, after a lengthy trial, found not guilty. J. M.
Monsarrat for prosecution; C. L.
Carter for defendant.
Kalibi was found guilty of keeping a disorderly house, and fined $50 and costs $4.50.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ITALY'S NEW CABINET.

Berlin, February 8th.—The Rome correspondent of the Berliner Tagblatt has had an interview with Marquis Di Rudini, the new Italian Prime Minister. In the course of the conversation the Marquis declared himself to be thoroughly liberal, and expressed confidence that he would receive the support of the whole Chamber. He said while he was no friend of Clericalism he considered the systematic persecution of the church to be both useless and objectionable. He predicted the abolition of the system of voting known as scrutinio di lista. The dissolution of Parliament, he said, was not contemplated by the new Ministry.

Touching upon foreign affairs, the Premier described himself as a warm friend of the Dreihund. In regard to the domestic policy of the Ministry, he said that retrenchments were projected in every department of the Government.

Rome, February 8th.—The following Cabinet will be officially announced tomorrow, with the probable addition of Villaro as Minister of Education; Marquis di Rudini, Premier, Minister of Foreign Affairs and interim, and Minister of Marine; Signor Colombo, Minister of Finance; Novatore, Interior; Luzzati, Treasury; Pelloux, War; Branca, Public Works and Interiors, and Posts and Telegraphs; Ferrais, Justice.

The leading Italian newspapers do not look with favor upon the new Ministry, and they all express the opinion that it will be short-lived. Of the Ministers, Novatore and Branca are members of the Left. Pelloux is neutral, and all the others belong to the party of the Right. With Signor Saracco not in the Cabinet, Catholic support of the new Ministry is very uncertain.

IRISH CLERGY IN POLITICS.

Dublin, February 8th.—A pastoral letter from the Catholic Primate was read in the Catholic churches throughout Ireland to-day, condemning Par-nell's conduct and warning those engaged in the Boulogne negotiations to take care that the compromise reached be definite, as the country will have the last word to say on their issue.

Several Irish Bishops, following the example set by Archbishop Walsh, have written letters to the clergy of their dioceses in opposition to Harrington's appeal to the members of the National League to reorganize in view of the general elections. Archbishop Walsh advised the clerical members of the League to combat the Parnellites by refusing to join in their trickery. In reply to Archbishop Walsh, Harrington says the Archbishop misjudges the object of the League's circular, which is similar to those issued annually by the League. Harrington says he is informed Dillon and O'Brien before issuing the circular that in consequence of the collapse of the American tour he had determined to ask the League branches to help the evicted tenants.
Harrington advises the Archbishop not to commit the priests too hastily to a policy which will lead to two hostile camps in every parish.

LEPROSY FROM RUSSIA.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch from Odessa says that considerable alarm exists over the growing prevalence of leprosy among the poorer classes of Russians and Russian Jews. The authorities, instead of moving to stamp out the disease, have done all they could to stifle information on the subject. Now, however, they have themselves taken alarm and steps are proposed to isolate those afflicted. It is believed that some of the emigrants to America have carried leprosy with them, as most of the emigrants belong to the poor and uncultured class, among whom the disease finds its victims.

LAVIGERIE'S DOCTRINE DENOUNCED.

Paris, February 8th.—At a meeting of 3000 Royalists in Nimes today Comte D'Haussonville denounced Lavigerie's doctrine of adhesion to the Republic. He said he recognized Cardinal Lavigerie's authority on matters of religion, but not on those of politics. The speaker's sentiments were loudly applauded.

London, February 8th.—The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle says that in an interview with Father Monsabre the Pope announced his intention of writing an encyclical letter approving Cardinal Lavigerie's policy.

CANADIAN PACIFIC EXTENSION.

Vancouver, B. C., February 8th.
—The Canadian Pacific railway bridge across the Fraser river at Mission station was opened yesterday. It is expected that the line to the boundary will be completed in two months, when through trains between Vancouver and Seattle will be put on, connecting at Mission with the transcontinental trains. The time occupied between Vancouver and Seattle will be five hours. The bridge opened yesterday is 3000 feet long.

OPINION AGAINST BUSH.

A majority opinion of the Supreme Court—by Chief Justice Judd, Justices Bickerton and Dole—has been rendered against the motion to dismiss J. E. Bush cited for contempt.
Justice McTully has rendered a dissenting opinion. The decision brings respondent up on the merits, and he is ordered to answer on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

SWEET MEMORIES.

I think sweet memories will not die, But live and die not even I think the heart's sweet memories tie Will bounden be forever.
I think sweet memories will awake That e'en have slept and slumbered.
I think the longest night will break In dawn and joys unnumbered.
—T. O. Paine.
