

WILCOX AND THE LEPERS

GARABALDI MEETS A DECIDED FROST

THE MOST FORMIDABLE AGGREGATION OF HOME RULE SPELL-BINDERS EVER GOT TOGETHER GETS SCANT HEARING.

Wilcox got a frost at the leper settlement. The lepers would have none of him. His bill to take away the territorial guardianship of the lepers, and turn them over to the federal authorities, with Senator Burton's addenda that under federal control there would be segregation of the sexes, was more than the people at Kalaupapa and Kalawao would stand for.

The Home Rulers showed that they were afraid of the settlement vote when they sent eleven of their best speakers over to the settlement. Permits were asked for Wilcox himself, the two Kalaupapans, Senator William White, Senator Kaku, Representatives Fred Beckley, S. Kawahoe and J. K. Hihio, and candidates C. L. Kookoo, G. P. Waihehu, and Charles Makela. This is the most formidable aggregation of spellbinders the Home Rulers have ever sent out to any region in the territory.

The speeches were all made from the corral at Kalaupapa to which visitors are admitted, and beyond which they are not allowed to go under the rules of the board of health. From this point the question of addressing the voters of the settlement is a question of their coming to the corral and listening. Wilcox, so says the advocates that have been received from there did not solve the problem. The lepers would neither come to hear him, nor listen when they did come. Some of the Home Rule speakers have been more or less consistent in opposing Wilcox's federal segregation plan, and to these particular ones the voters at the settlement listened.

During the speaking which was practically continuous all day Thursday, all kinds of epithets were thrown at Wilcox in derision of his bill for federal control of the settlement. Wilcox on his part repeated his promise and assertion made elsewhere, that if the settlement were turned over to the federal authorities congress would appropriate a thousand million dollars, which would be approximately a million dollars apiece for every man woman and child in the settlement. He also said that the United States physicians would release at least half of those who are there on the ground that they have not got the leprosy, and would find a cure for the disease so that all would be released.

But even with these glowing promises he failed to make much headway, and was forced to admit to his party that his visit there was a disappointment.

THEY WERE TIRED AND SLEPT

Peter Horne and Joseph Ormond firemen from the transport Thomas, who said they had been left behind by the transport, were found sleeping in the Alexander Young building last night. They were charged with violating section 379. Their cases were continued today in order to give them an opportunity of securing employment or leaving the city.

MIOWERA THREE DAYS LATE.

The S. S. Miowera was three days late in leaving Sydney and Brisbane. News of her being detained was brought today by the S. S. Moana which arrived from Victoria and Vancouver. The Miowera should have reached port yesterday according to the first advices as she was to have sailed two days late from Sydney. Evidently she was detained further for she did not get away until a day later than was first announced. She ought to arrive here at any moment from the south. The Miowera was detained on her last up trip by reason of her boiler tubes leaking. It is possible that she may be detained from a similar cause on the present trip. She will be given as quick a discharge as possible, after her arrival in Honolulu for Victoria and Vancouver.

Were Wedded With Coffins As Witnesses

CHICAGO, October 16.—"The death is do part."

Seldom has this part of the marriage vow been spoken with such significance as in the wedding of Anna J. Foley and Edward J. Cannon, both members of the undertaking firm of A. J. Foley & Co., 528 Grand avenue. It is reported that the wedding was celebrated last evening in the parlors of the undertaking establishment, the surroundings being strange and unusual for the happy event.

No less strange is said to have been the romance and courtship of the couple. The two had been well acquainted for a long time and had been associated in the undertaking business for the past two years. The bride's maiden name was Glavin. The present groom gave the first husband of the bride burial.

WILL GIVE LEPERS THEIR FREEDOM

LATEST SCHEME OF WILCOX TO GAIN SUPPORT OF THE UNFORTUNATES AT MOLOKAI

Delegate Wilcox went to Molokai this week with the idea of winning over the indignant lepers to his party by promising a lot of them freedom, in the event of his scheme of federal control of the settlement being carried out. Letters received by the Republican campaigner indicate that the leper settlement issue has stirred all the islands and threatens the Wilcox ticket everywhere, and this assurance of freedom is stated to be the delegate's way out of an unpleasant dilemma.

It is stated that the delegate and the speakers who went with him to the settlement were to tell the lepers that half of them were not lepers at all, but had been sent there by the Board of Health to get rid of them. A federal administration of the affairs of the settlement would bring about a medical examination of all of them, and at least half would probably be sent forth into the world, free again. This promise, it is hoped, would work on the unfortunate through their natural, unceasing hope of release some day.

There is a good deal of pathos in some of the letters received from Molokai, protesting against the prospect of separations of families, under the federal scheme, and the Republicans have taken to reading such letters at their meetings. The campaigners have a very unique campaign song in a bit of verse sent by a little blind leper girl. She wrote an appeal, in Hawaiian, for efforts to kill the Wilcox leper bill, and added to her letter some poetry, on the same subject. It depicts the possible consequences of the change, and appeals for protection. The verses were taken up by some of the campaigners and have been sung at a number of meetings with great effect. They produce a profound impression everywhere.

Judge J. L. Kaulukou is one of the candidates who has received a letter from the settlement. The following translation of a letter from John C. Kila, whom Kaulukou has never met, is a sample of the kind of letters sent out: "Aloha nui. Please allow this letter to reach your heart. I have seen columns in the newspapers in reference to Wilcox and Home Rule, and giving the leper settlement federal management. If you love our people living here in this land of sorrow, you will give your most earnest efforts against the bill, and against R. W. Wilcox. I am humbly yours, John C. Kila."

TREMENDOUS TASK BEFORE COMMITTEE

MINERS WERE TO HOLD MEETING ON THE 15TH TO CALL THE STRIKE OFF.

WASHINGTON, October 16.—The greatest satisfaction is expressed in official circles over the success of the selections for the settlement of the strike. The President himself feels deeply over the outcome. He regards it as honorable to each side, and as just to both sides, and above all that it averts from the people a calamity.

It is understood that Bishop Spaulding was the President's personal choice, and that this selection was particularly pleasing to Mr. Mitchell, for he knows the Bishop, and has the utmost esteem for him.

The work of the Commission will be continued, and will take considerable time. It is the President's desire that the inquiry be very thorough, and that the Commission perform the labor set before it completely, that not only a final adjustment of the present troubles may be made, but that similar troubles may be averted in the future. Its first step will be to organize and select a Chairman. Who this will be, of course, is not settled, but depends on the individual members of the body. General Wilson, formerly Chief of the Engineer Corps of the Army, however, heads the list of members, and may be chosen as Chairman of the Commission.

Now representatives of the Anthracite interests would discuss the present status of the situation today, beyond saying that the Commission named last night has a tremendous task before it.

NEW YORK, October 16.—A despatch to the World from Wilkesbarre, Pa., says:

"President Mitchell, of the United Mine-Workers of America, made the following announcement early today: 'I have received a telegram from President Roosevelt, advising me of the appointment of his Arbitration Committee. The convention of miners can be held on Saturday at the latest, and can decide to resume work on Monday.'"

"One of the district presidents said: 'The strike is as good as called off already. The convention will accept Mr. Mitchell's recommendations and will call off the strike.'"

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 16.—The Anthracite Convention will be held at Wilkesbarre at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. This was decided on at the conference held this afternoon.

MOANA ARRIVES TODAY.

The S. S. Moana arrived this morning from Vancouver and Victoria. She left Victoria October 18, two days later than the Sierra which brought the last mail from the coast, left San Francisco but there was little news apparently in the Victoria papers.

The Moana experienced strong north west gales with high seas during the first three days voyage, thence fair to port. She brought a few passengers for Honolulu and has a very large through list for the Colonies. She will sail at 5 p. m. today for Suva, Brisbane and Sydney.

The speakers at the meeting were James Lewis, George W. Paty, Messrs. Jones, Pritchard, Hobson and Manouli. The meeting was one of the most successful of the campaign. From impressions gained on this tour, the feeling among the campaigners is that Cupid will be elected without a doubt.—Tribune.

LA SOUFRIERE ONCE MORE IN ERUPTION

INHABITANTS OF ST. VINCENT TERRIFIED BY LATEST OUT-BREAK—SHOWERS OF SAND.

KINGSTON, Island of St. Vincent, B. W. I., October 16.—A terrific eruption of the Soufriere volcano commenced last night. During the preceding day (Tuesday) earth tremors, apparently too slight to be considered important, were experienced in the centre and northern part of the island. At 8 o'clock last night there were indisputable indications of an eruption. Rumbling noises were heard. They increased until 9 o'clock when the roaring volcanic giant belched out its deadly contents. This eruption was followed by a brief lull. Then from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock this morning the upheaval continued. The outbreak was accompanied by an incessant cannonading.

After 4 o'clock this disturbance gradually decreased, but the noise of the boiling cauldron is still audible in the districts neighboring the volcano.

Both craters were apparently active. They have been steaming all day long. Sand fell heavily everywhere from half-past one until half-past two o'clock this morning. At southern points the sand is half-inch deep. The depth gradually increased toward the volcanic cone, where there were showers of large stones, pebbles and cinders. Kingston and other southern points of the island have not been damaged.

Reports from the windward districts are awaited.

This eruption caused almost complete darkness at Bridgetown, Island of Barbadoes, at 10 o'clock this morning. There was a fall of volcanic dust there.

The sand ejected during this eruption has a stronger and more sulphurous odor than any previously thrown out.

ON THE LOOKOUT.

Chinese From Other Islands Wanted By Police.

The wireless telegraph was in working order today and in consequence High Sheriff Brown was told to be on the lookout for a Chinese who had skipped on the Claudine from Hilo. The message was received this morning from Sheriff Andrews of Hawaii and was as follows: "Wing Tun fled by Claudine from arrest for gross cheat. Short round face, short hair. Chun Poon knows him. Warrant issued."

Chun Poon, the Chinese officer, was dispatched to the Wilder wharf to await the arrival of the Claudine. It is possible of course that the Chinese desired by the Hawaii officers may have left the Claudine at some point between Hilo and Honolulu. In such event, the local police naturally can not apprehend him. No details regarding the alleged offense were given by the telegram.

The Supreme court decision is by Chief Justice Peabody and is concurred in by Galbraith and Perry.

DEATH WAS AN ACCIDENT

New Type of Vessel For Great Lakes

CHICAGO, October 16.—Well-known vesselmen say that the turret steamers of the Canadian Lake and Ocean Navigation company will revolutionize the construction of big lake carriers. The company has received three of its steamers, the Turret Chief, Turret Court, and Turret Cape. These are already in operation carrying grain from Fort William to Georgian Bay ports.

It is explained that the steamers are not constructed on the lines of the ordinary whaleback, but are equipped with a sharp stem, the same as any large freighter. The extreme forward deck is "turtle-backed" to throw off the sea, and the turret, which takes the place of hatches, extends along the deck from well forward to the cabin quarters aft, so when it is opened to receive or discharge a cargo, nearly the entire hold is exposed.

THE PARLIAMENT OPENS SESSION

THE SESSION PROMISES TO BE THE MOST SERIOUS PARTY STRUGGLE FOR MANY YEARS.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Parliament was reopened today without any unusual formalities. The House proceeded immediately to the business of the day, as soon as the Speaker took the chair, shortly after 2 p. m. The session is likely to last until nearly Christmas. Owing to the highly controversial character of the Education Bill and the unbending determination of each side, the session promises to be the most serious party struggle in the House of Commons since the first Liberal Government retired from office. Several hundred amendments to the Education Bill await consideration, of which number 588 have been proposed by the Liberals.

NEW PORT FOR LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—There seems at last to be some real prospect of London's out-of-date port being taken in hand by practical men of business, with a view to remedying its glaring deficiencies. Urged thereto by a resolution signed by the Rothschilds, J. S. Morgan & Co., the Atlantic Transport Company, the Barings, and others of similar standing, the lord mayor has summoned a conference to take place at the mansion house October 27, with the object of laying before the government a practical measure for the improvement of the port. Among the proposals which are attracting attention is the abandonment of all the present dock and wharf system, on which the recent dock commission proposed to expend $140,000,000, and convert six or seven miles of the river into a vast tidal dock, furnishing ample room for all kinds of craft.

NOT DEAD YET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A report was in circulation today, chiefly in Wall street, that Mr. Russell Sage was dead. The report was promptly denied at his office and at his residence. His physician said: "Mr. Sage is getting along all right."

PEKING, Oct. 16.—The Treaty between China and Portugal, which was signed yesterday, provides for a Customs agreement, giving Lappa opposite Macao, the privileges of a treaty port.

THE BOERS IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, October 16.—The Boer Generals arrived at the Thiergarten Station here, from Paris, today, and were welcomed by her Lucretia, President of the reception committee. ## SO DECLARES TANBARA CHARGED WITH MURDER

ACCUSES COOK OF HAVING ATTEMPTED THE LIFE OF CAPTAIN JACOBSEN, BUT DOES NOT CHARGE HIM WITH THE CRIME.

In the presence of seven members of the crew of the schooner Wood, who had testified against him, and one of the cook Ohto, Tanbara Gishuro this morning began a statement to the jury in the United States Court. Though he accused the cook of having attempted the life of Captain Jacobsen, he did not accuse him of the crime of murder. Tanbara's story was that the death of the captain was an accident. He declared that the captain had struck and kicked him.

Before the defense began its case, another effort was made by Attorney Thompson to get rid of James H. Hakuole as interpreter. Acting Japanese Consul Okabe, C. Shogawa and K. Ono swore to affidavits that Hakuole had been guilty of errors in interpretations in the case, and Thompson made a motion that he be discharged by the court. The affidavits contained references to a number of alleged errors and said that Hakuole, in reading the indictment to the defendant translated a part of it as follows:

"The thing so called grand jury of the United States sprung up, on their oath * * * on the high sea and by the law of this court and by the law governing sea of the United States of America," that the interpreter in reading said indictment interpreted the words "unlawfully, feloniously, wilfully and of his undue aforethought" as "assault and killing without premeditation."

Judge Esteé denied the motion. He said that to grant it would be practically ordering a new trial and dismissing the defendant, who had been in jeopardy. The court offered to allow the Japanese Consul to sit by the interpreter and call attention to any mistakes he noticed, and as a result the proceedings were frequently interrupted by disputes between the rival authorities in English and Japanese.

There was no opening statement by the defense, and Tanbara was called to the stand. He wanted to make a statement in his own way and began to do so, but his story became so long and rambling that the court finally ordered his attorney to take him in hand and ask questions. His story proved more damaging to himself than the one he told at the preliminary examination.

Tanbara began by telling about bad water on the schooner, and how the captain's wife had complained to him about the water. "I said I had not good water," he continued, "but I went and got good water from the cook. The wife called the captain and said to him, 'This water is very bad.' The captain then told me to go and get good water and I answered that I had not any. When I said that he was very much angry with me and struck me once here (indicating the face). I was at that time returning to the galley followed by the captain. I turned to the cook and explained to the cook that I would tell the captain that I was not satisfied with the water. Ota said 'since you were by me employed you had better keep on to China, where we shall make better arrangements.' It was my duty to give coffee to the sailors at about 4 a. m., and to the captain at about 6 or 6:30, when I had done so I was told to come to the cabin, and I went to the cabin. That was the morning of the killing of the captain."

The consul here stated that the interpretation was wrong and that the witness had said "death" of the captain and not "killing." A new answer was rendered by Hakuole as "the morning when the captain was dead."

RANK INJUSTICE OF ENGLISH LAW

AN INNOCENT MAN FALSELY CONVICTED HAS NO REDRESS—NO SECOND TRIALS.

As in English law a man is held to be innocent until his guilt has been proved so, when once he has been convicted on a criminal charge, no means exist of retriving his case. Fresh evidence may come to light as it constantly does, which proves his innocence, but all that can then be done is to appeal to the Crown, and all that the Crown can do is to grant him a free "pardon." By this the conviction against the innocent man is not wiped out; but his innocence is in no way, formally or officially recorded. He becomes simply a pardoned criminal.

The injustice frequently entailed by this state of affairs is lamentable. A case in point has just been settled in the Court of Appeals. In January 1892, a London physician named Bynoe was charged with forgery. During the course of the trial it became and was held by the presiding judge to be material to the issue and of the utmost necessity in determining the value of the alibi set up for Bynoe's defense, that the prosecutor, the Bank of England, should prove on what day and at what time or times of such day certain Bank of England notes of the aggregate value of £445 were returned to the bank from the circulation and by whom. The bank, in pursuance of its statutory duty attended by its proper officer, Charles John Williams, who was the other defendant in this action, at the court, purporting to give such information from the records of the bank, that the notes were returned to the bank from circulation at one and the same time and by the same person "after lunch" on May 5, 1891. That information was and had been since admitted both by the bank and by Mr. Williams to have been erroneous and given from erroneous and negligently prepared records and was given by the defendant bank falsely and negligently and in breach of its duty as aforesaid.

But at the time of the trial the erroneous evidence of the bank upset Bynoe's alibi and he was sentenced to nine years penal servitude. He has now served his full sentence and finds himself in the position of a convicted criminal who has been struck off the rolls of his profession and thus prevented from practicing. At the same time he has secured evidence that conclusively proves that he was innocent of the crime for which he was sentenced. Refused leave to appeal by a Judge to whom he applied in the regular way "in chambers," Bynoe's only course was to apply to the Court of Appeals for leave to bring an action against the Bank of England and Charles John Williams, based on the fact that he was sentenced on false evidence given by the defendants and that the bank had refused to correct the evidence after it found out that it was false.

The Court refused him permission to bring his action on the ground that there was "no possible cause" for it. Deprived of legal redress, the Court's decision simply amounted to this—that having been found guilty of forgery; he was therefore, actually guilty, and there was an end of it.—New York Sun.

SEAL HUNTING.
It Is Not Sport, But Hard and Dangerous Toil.

Hunting the seal from the icy, storm-swept coast of Newfoundland is not sport; it is toil, whereby, in part, the Newfoundlanders win their scanty measure of bread. The hunt is a slaughter, dull and bloody—a leap into the whirling, scurrying pack, and the swinging and thrust of an iron-shod gaff; a merciless raining of blows, with a silent waste of life all splashed red, and the end of it. There is no sport in this, nor is there any fear of hurt, for the harp seal pleads and whines like a child, even while the gaff is falling; but the chase is beset with multitudinous and dreadful dangers, which are seldom foreshadowed and are past all fending off—perils so vast and uncompromising and wilful that escape from their descent is by the merest chance. The wind gathers the ice into floes and jams it against the coast, an immeasurable, jagged expanse of it, interspersed with plains; then the Newfoundlanders takes his gaff and his grub and his goggles and sets out from his little harbor, making the start at midnight that he may come up with the pack at dawn. But the wind which sweeps the ice in its steadily sweeps it out again, without warning, in an hour or a day or a week; nor does it pause to consider the situation of the men who are twenty miles off shore; it veers and freshens and drives the whole mass, grinding and heaving, far out to sea, where it disperses it into its separate fragments. The lives of the hunters depend upon the watchfulness of the attenuated line of lookouts, from the women on the head to the first sentinel within signalling distance—outing.

NAPOLEON'S MAGIC TABLE.

Napoleon's magic table is one of the greatest curiosities from the time of the grand Emperor, who had it in his study at the castle of St. Cloud. After the death of Napoleon it was bought in London by Baron Rehausen, Swedish Ambassador to the court of St. James at that time. It is now owned through inheritance by one of the foremost families of the Swedish nobility. Inside the drawer of the table is pasted an old ship on which is printed a description, which in modernized English reads as follows: "The Emperor Napoleon was highly delighted with this extraordinary work of art. It formed the surface of one of the tables in his study and was always shown to all foreigners of distinction who visited the imperial court. It is a painting whose resemblance to what it represents is the most illusive ever produced by the genius of man. One may look at this strange production of art in different lights—the pieces of money, the fragment of broken glass, the penknife, water and cards retain an equally illusive appearance as the observer moves round the table—but it requires a very minute examination to discover all the truly magical wonders it possesses."—Strand.

OF THE

Island of Oahu.

Gentlemen:—In offering myself as an independent candidate for Senator from this island—"pledged to no party, controlled by no faction"—I invite your attention to some of my views, as to the demands for legislation as they appear to me:

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT—Is the leading issue, but being promised by all parties, the sole questions left are as to its scope and form. I favor the cheapest possible system which shall be found safe and sufficient, with the fewest possible number of leaks and flaws to invite the attacks of enemies and boodlers. "Honest government, by honest officials," is my slogan here as elsewhere in the administration of public affairs.

FIRE CLAIMS—Should be promptly and fully paid. If Congress fails in this respect, and the Territory shall be the beneficiary of the steal, then the Territory should issue bonds, if necessary, to accomplish this end.

THE CROWN AND PUBLIC LANDS—Are within the domain of Congress, but the Legislature may pass laws concerning them, subject to Congressional assent. Such laws should be sent up for Congressional assent, providing for homesteads upon all public lands fit for such purpose, whereby the citizen can obtain land holdings at a nominal price.

QUEEN LILUOKalani—Should be suitably recompensed for her loss in the crown lands. If Congress fails in this respect, and the Territory shall be the beneficiary of the steal, then the Territory should issue bonds, if necessary, to accomplish this end.

SUNDAY LAWS—The Hawaiian Sunday laws are remnants of Puritan legislation, which are unsuited to our age and climate. I favor their thorough revision, in a spirit of liberality, and with a view to conform them to the real wants of our population. "The Sabbath was made for man—not man for the Sabbath." Let man enjoy the Sabbath as he will, while abstaining from indecency and disorder.

THE LIQUOR LAWS—Of Hawaii are illogical, unjust and arbitrary. There is no logical reason for permitting the sale of liquor on one street or in one locality, and taboing it in the neighboring street or locality. The drinking of liquor is of universal extent, and the catering to the demand for liquor is a business which the law recognizes and protects. While such is the case, the arbitrary restrictions by which that business is at present surrounded should give place to more equal and just legislation.

TOURISTS—Are being sought by our commercial bodies, but the latter appear forgetful of the gloom of an Hawaiian Sunday, and of how a tourist hates it. People who have toured Europe are wanted here, but they will not come a second time, nor advise their friends to come, until they can escape the dreary monotony of a Sunday where even the necessities of the toilet are sought to be denied them.

LABOR—Is worthy of its hire, and I hope, if elected, for an opportunity to aid in advancing the interests and the comfort of those who toil with their muscles.

CORPORATIONS—Supplying the public utilities are showing the cloven hoof in Hawaii. They should be restrained and regulated by just and equal laws.

Yours faithfully,
CLARENCE W. ASHFORD.

Fainting Spells

Always indicate a weak heart. They usually follow palpitation or fluttering, shortness of breath, irregular or intermittent pulse. When the heart muscles are overworked or exhausted they relax, the flow of blood to the brain is interrupted, and unconsciousness follows. Should relaxation continue completely for two or three minutes, sudden death is the result. The surest and best remedy for overworked and debilitated hearts is

DR. MILES' Heart Cure.

"My heart trouble began several years ago with palpitation, shortness of breath and smothering. Then I began to have fainting spells and would fall over on the street or wherever I happened to be. I was unable to attend to my business and dare not venture away from home. The doctors failed to help me, and seeing an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I bought a bottle. The first few doses stopped the fainting spells and in a few weeks my heart was working all right."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold at all druggists on a positive guarantee. Write for free advice to Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

THE TRANSITION CASE IMPORTANT

NEW YORK ATTORNEY COMPARES IT TO THE FAMOUS DRED SCOTT CASE OF SLAVERY DAYS.

The Osaka Munkichi case, on appeal from Hawaii to the United States Supreme court, is attracting much attention in the Eastern states, and is recognized as one of the most important constitutional appeals that has come up for a long time. In an address before the Academy of Political Science, at Columbia University, it was referred to as next in importance and interest to the famous Dred Scott case. The address was by Frederick R. Coudert, Jr. of New York who has become associated with George A. Davis and F. M. Brooks as counsel for the prisoner whom Estes released on habeas corpus. Attorney General Dole will leave next month for Washington to argue the case.

In the course of his address at Columbia, on the subject of "Practical Legal Difficulties Incident to the Transfer of Sovereignty," the New York attorney discussed the insular cases and problems in the Philippines at length, and referred to the case on appeal from Hawaii as follows:

"For example, one of the United States District Court Judges in the Territory of Hawaii has held that the trial of a person accused of crime was illegal and unconstitutional, because under the Hawaiian laws parties charged with crime, are tried on information and may be convicted by vote of nine jurors. A Japanese laborer has just been released after conviction, on habeas corpus on that ground. He had been convicted of manslaughter consequent upon an altercation with a Chinaman. The Territorial Courts had held that trials were not affected by the United States Constitution, but the United States Judge now deciding otherwise, the question must be settled by the Supreme Court of the United States.

"Here is a case which, when decided must create widespread interest; perhaps no case since the Dred Scott case is more far-reaching from the standpoint of Constitutional law and jurisprudence. The question is this: Hawaii was annexed. The joint resolution that took it over (the Newlands resolution) prescribed that all municipal laws in force in the Territory of Hawaii not 'contrary to the Constitution' remain in force until Congress shall otherwise ordain.

"Under the laws of Hawaii the usual course of procedure in criminal cases was on information filed by the prosecuting attorney and a trial before a petit jury of twelve men, nine of whom could convict. It had been the system there for a long time. After the passage of the Newlands resolution trials went on in the same way. Finally some American lawyers raised a question as to the constitutionality of that method, by suing out a habeas corpus, and the Supreme Court of the territory divided on the point, finally holding that the fifth and sixth amendment did not apply. An application being made to the United States District Court Judge Estes held it unconstitutional to try a man without indictment and common law jury, the effect being to free the Japanese prisoner just spoken of."

The attorney proceeds to discuss the attitudes of the Supreme Justices, as shown by their earlier decisions, and concludes that four of the Justices are likely to hold that "the trial was not by a common law jury and concludes to hold that 'the trial was not by a legal trial,' while Justice Brown is referred to as 'the balancing factor in the court.'"

KILLED BY A BLAST.

J. M. Barratta, a Portuguese aged 46 years, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by the premature explosion of a blast at the Puunui quarry. The deceased was engaged in pounding black powder into the hole that had been drilled for the reception of the explosive. It is supposed that a spark caused by the iron rod striking against a stone, ignited the powder. There was a terrific explosion, and the man was whirling through the air amid a cloud of rocks and dirt. When his son and one of the other laborers reached Barratta's side, the unfortunate man was dead. The deceased resided in Kalihi and leaves a widow, three daughters and a son. An inquest was called for noon today.

CARIBOU MURDER.

Newfoundland is probably the only country in the world where venison, salted or fresh, is a staple article of diet for the masses.

The coastfolk make their plans with method and deliberation. From the harbors where they reside they go in their boats to the rivers and floods which strike into the interior. When navigation is no longer possible they debark and continue on foot to the deer country. They carry barrels filled with salt and sometimes go in large companies. When the rendezvous is reached they camp. Then they ambush themselves along a promising "lead," or deer track, armed with long, six-foot, muzzle-loading sealing guns, which they charge with about "eight fingers" of coarse gunpowder and "slugs" of lead, fragments of iron or bits of rusty nails, whichever they may have. They fire point blank into a herd of caribou, as it passes, and being usually good shots, contrive to kill almost anything they aim at, or to wound it so badly with these dreadful missiles that it soon collapses. Then they skin and cut up the meat, for these men know a little of every trade, and pack it in the barrels with the salt as a preservative.—Outing.

HAD SWEET TOOTH.

Now that we know that the British Army consumed in the South African war 34,500,000 pounds of jam, the fact suggests some nice computation in the statistics of sweetmeats. For instance, if the British army, in order to crush a comparatively small provincial state that began the war without an army, needs to be sustained by over 34,000,000 pounds of jam, what quantity of jam would be necessary for it if it had a real war with some great military state? Would there be jam enough in the world to meet such a crisis? And what would become of the finances of the British empire if in such a case some of the Chicago men should "corner" all the jam in the world just before the war began?—Harper's Weekly.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Hakulo stuck to his interpretation and so did the consul.
"I was going with the captain," continued Tanbara, "and after five or six minutes the captain arrived. I was lying or sleeping in the bed. When he called from up the cook waked me and said I was wanted by the captain. As I was going to get up I got up and went up on the steps, near which was some luggage or freight. As I was ascending the captain kicked at me four or five times." The Japanese consul again interposed, but Hakulo stuck to his rendition.
The cook was looking at me saying to the captain, "What's the matter captain?" I was told to come to the cabin and started to get my apron but was not allowed to by the captain. I asked the cook and he got the apron for me.
When I had gotten it I went to the cabin to work. After about 15 minutes I took the coffee and returned. Then I spoke to the cook explaining the story.
The cook was wearing slippers with rubber soles on. He then took them off and put on shoes like those of the consul here. I said 'I have been ill-treated like this so I am not going to work.' When I had said that I would not work the cook said to me that he would kill the captain. The cook had a 22-caliber pistol every day and on that occasion he got it from his bed.
"After he placed the pistol in his pocket the captain arrived. The captain produced a bill of fare and placed it on the wall. I do not know what it was. The cook was preparing sweet soup. He asked the captain for a cook book. The captain said he had none. He then said he would show the cook how to make sweet soup. The cook said, 'show me how to make it' and the captain did so.On the morning of the death of the captain I first saw him in the galley.
I had no trouble with him. The cook was working at the table. I had no words with the captain. I saw the orange box and my bed. There is an opening into the other apartment. The cook and the captain began to fight and I went to separate them." Here Tanbara objected to being questioned. He wanted to be allowed to tell his story in his own way and tell about the wages. After a lot of difficulty he got back to the orange box.
"The trouble was that the cook only got $42 a month and said he ought to have $45, as agreed."
"While he and the captain were fighting I went to separate them. There was a cut on the captain. I saw the cuts on the right of his face. I picked up the cook and took the knife away, as I did not wish the fight to continue. The cook escaped and a Frenchman came into the room. The captain had hold of me. The cook went one way and the sailor another I being grabbed went to the donkey room. There we both fell. I had no weapon in my hand. I took the knife from the cook."Tanbara was the only witness for himself and the defense was closed by noon. The case will go to the jury this afternoon. United States Attorney Breckons' cross-examination of the defendant was brief, but brought out a number of disagreements between the defendant's story and the one he told under oath before the court. He asked Tanbara to say directly how the captain met his death. He declared that he didn't know. On former examinations he has stated that he saw the cook do the stabbing, and that the captain met death by falling on the knife. He denied both this morning.The argument will begin at 1:30 p.m.

LEARNED PROFESSOR.

The directors of the Hawaii Yacht club have decided to purchase for the use of the members three sailboats of a class known as skipabouts. These will be especially for the use of members who do not own yachts of their own.
There will be a small fee for the use of the boats. The boats are to be some sixteen feet long by five and one-half feet beam, and will draw about a foot and half of water. They will be designed for harbor work, and will be kept within the reef, though in fair weather they will be capable of making the tour of the islands. They will be equipped with a deep centerboard, and this will enable them to get into the wind.
They have only a cockpit, and will be steered by a tiller. They will cost about $100 each.CREDIT IS HIGH.

is so high that it has since 1890, been

SHADOW OF DEATHBUT PRESIDENT LINCOLN WOULD NOT ACKNOWLEDGE IT—LAST STORY RELATED TO PARDONS.The last story ever told by President Lincoln was just before he left the White House to go to the theater last night he was killed. This is vouched for by Thomas F. Pendel, who is the oldest employe of the White House, and who went with Mr. Lincoln to his carriage on the fatal night."I have every reason," said Mr. Pen-del, "for saying that the last pleasant little story Mr. Lincoln ever told was right here in this house. As is generally known, Speaker Coffey and Ashmond of Massachusetts were the last gentlemen to call on the President prior to his departure for the theater. When these gentlemen called I carried their cards to Mr. Lincoln, and I know that they were the last to see him."However, not very long before they came Mr. Lincoln had received a visit from Marshal Lamson, who was from the President's home district. It was Mr. Lamson who had introduced me to the President when I received my appointment in November, 1864. Mr. Lam-son wanted to talk to Mr. Lincoln about a pardon for an old friend, a soldier, who had been found guilty of some slight violation of army regulations. The case was thoroughly gone over by the two, and, with pen in hand, Mr. Lincoln was in the act of signing the paper which made the soldier a free man, when he turned to Mr. Lam-son and said:"Lamson, do you know how the Pagians eat oysters?"
"No, I do not, Mr. Lincoln," was the reply."Well, Lamson, it is their habit to open them as fast as they can throw the shells out of the window, and when the pile of shells grow to be higher than the house, why, they pick up stakes and move. Now, Lamson, I feel like beginning a new pile of pardons, and I guess this is a good one to begin on.""It wasn't long after this before the other gentlemen came, and when they had finished their call Mr. and Mrs.
Lincoln came down and I went with them to the carriage. That was the last time I saw the good man alive."Mr. Pendel says that he had every opportunity to stay in the President's room with him, but he was in the room all the time, a veritable bodyguard.
Mr. Lincoln did not like the idea of being guarded, and made frequent objections to having some one constantly near him. On one occasion he said to Mr. Pendel:"Pendel, I do not like to be guarded, but I have received a number of threatening letters lately. I have no fears, however. That fellow we saw over at the War Department crouching at the foot of the stairs, and who eyed me suspiciously, answers perfectly the description of a man I was warned to look out for in a letter I received the other day.""Mr. Lincoln did not tell snappy jokes," said Mr. Pendel, "and I never heard him utter a word that could not have been spoken in the presence of a woman or child. I dislike to read in papers and hear people say that Mr.
Lincoln told those wild jokes. He was not a shouting Christian, but he was a genuinely good man, as kind and tender hearted as a child, but frequently given to moods of melancholy.
I think Mr. Lincoln realized that every moment of his life he stood in the shadow of death, though he did not care to acknowledge it."—Washington

JAPANESE TRADEPRINCIPAL CAUSE FOR EXISTING CONDITION HAS BEEN EXCES-SIVE EXPENDITURE.United States Minister Buck at Tokyo has transmitted to the State Department a long report upon trade conditions in Japan, in which he says that the foreign trade of Japan for the year 1901 was marked by many unfavorable features, but there was at the same time a distinct recovery from the evil conditions from which it suffered during the previous year. The minister says that the Boxer uprising in north China had a deteriorating effect upon Japan's trade with that country, but since the troubles have ceased and foreign troops have been withdrawn and the court has returned to Peking business relations have been renewed to a great extent. The rice crop was plentiful, and the season was a most successful one in the matter of raw silk export.Mr. Buck says that no little apprehension was excited at the beginning of the year 1901 by the fact that the foreign trade of Japan in the previous year had resulted in a balance unfavorable to the country of $41,122,000, and an outflow of specie amounting to $22-435,000. The principal cause for the existing condition has been excessive government expenditure, and in order to provide a remedy for that condition modifications of the program laid down after the Boxer uprising were made and other measures adopted. This policy and the general contraction of credit naturally following upon a period of overtrading had their due effect, and the year under review brought approximate equivalence between imports and exports. But this method was attended by the suffering incidental to a contraction of credit and currency.
Bankruptcies and failures to meet engagements were numerous among the smaller merchants, but the more important mercantile and financial houses of Japan passed successfully through the crisis, with one or two exceptions of great moment.According to the minister United States imports were smaller in 1901 than in 1900, owing to the decline in the quantity of raw cotton imported. There was a considerable increase in the importation of kerosene from the United States, as well as in locomotive engines and machinery, but the importation of rails and nails from this country decreased considerably—Washington

MAY RESTRICT SALOONS.

SAN JOSE, October 14.—If a resolution now before the City Council pass, the saloon keepers of San Jose will have monopoly. This resolution is to limit the number of saloons in the city and not to grant any more licenses. It recites that there are now eighty-nine saloons in the city, and that one more, or ninety, would provide a drinking place for each 240 residents of the city; that in justice to the commonwealth it should be limited to one saloon for each 240 residents, and that no greater number should be granted. The saloon keepers' organization is said to be back of the movement to thus restrict the business.

INJUNCTIONS.

A Pittsburgh business man in Parkersburg one day last week met Judge Jackson at the state encampment of the West Virginia national guard. The judge, whose recent injunctions have caused much discussion, expressed great amusement at the letters received from different parts of the country.
"Why," said he, "people seem to think I am conducting a wholesale and retail business in injunctions of all kinds. A man in Chicago wrote to get an injunction to restrain his neighbor's big tomcat from annoying him!"

AN OLD WOMAN.

Mary McDonald, a negress of Philadelphia, will celebrate her 123d birthday today. She was born on the 14th day of next November. She was a duky little pickaninny in a big farm kitchen at Valley Forge, when George Washington's hungry soldiers began to climb the barn-yard fences of the neighborhood. They knew part Mary; and she remembers them, with the air-ons' full of apples she showered upon them, as vividly as she does the first morning of the 20th century, when she realized that she had lived to be the oldest woman in the world.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The last Farmers' Institute for this year will be held this evening at Wahiawa, under the auspices of the United States Agricultural Bureau. T. F.
Sedgwick and D. L. Van Dine of the Bureau left this morning for Wa-hiawa, Sedgwick to act as chairman and Van Dine as secretary of the meeting. The subject, cultivation and marketing of vegetables products is to be the general topic of the meeting.J. W. Crawley of the Hawaiian Fertilizing of Fruits and Vegetables, F.
G. Kauss of Kamehameha School will speak on "Vegetable Gardening," and W. P. Thomas of Wa-hiawa will address the meeting on "Marketing Products."In addition to Van Dine and Sedgwick, former instructor J. E. Higgins, W. T. Pope of the Normal school and C. L. Austin of the government nursery will attend the meeting from Honolulu and take part in the discussion, which will be general after the addresses have been delivered.

TRYING CHINESE CASES.

Judge Wilcox has been busy all morning trying the various Chinese who are charged with selling opium and cher tickets. The trial lasted until nearly 1 o'clock this afternoon.

NO STATE DEBTS.

Illinois, Iowa and Oregon have no state debts which having matured are payable, but they have small outstanding obligations which have either not been presented for payment or have not matured. These obligations amount to $18,000 in the case of Illinois, $10,000 in that of Iowa and $1,000 in that of Oregon.

should be fairly plump. They ought to put on fat as fast as they use it up; for fat is fuel, and the burning of it makes power and force. Thin children—even along to the age of eighteen or twenty—are in danger from consumption, and from other wasting complaints. The children who starve, and the young men and women who are consumed—why, the very idea of it is frightful. For such as they there is always what the Bible calls a "mighty famine" in the land. Food, though it may be taken plentifully, does not nourish them. It makes no fat; it gives no strength. To prevent this, to cure this, to save the young ones at the mother's knees, and the bright boys and girls who are just looking at the world with ambitious eyes, is the purpose of

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION.

Its success is decided and settled. Thousands owe to it life and health. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and bone and blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says:
"We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia.
The children like it, they love the taste of it, it looks good to them, and it builds up their bodies; many little children owe their lives to it." Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists here and everywhere.

LABOR DOWN SOUTH.

Farmers Complain That They Cannot Get Suitable Hands.

MACON, Ga., October 10.—At the last day's session of the National Farmers' Congress the committee on resolutions reported unfavorably a resolution that labor unions should not attempt to prevent non-union men from working at wages which they themselves refuse. A resolution of indorsement for the ship subsidy bill was laid on the table by an overwhelming majority. Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Richmond, Va., Denver and Rock Island want the congress in 1903. The location will be fixed by the executive committee.

During the afternoon session John M.
Stahl of Chicago, secretary of the convention, delivered an address on "The Labor Problem From the Farmers' Standpoint." He said in part:
"One of the most annoying, difficult and vital problems of farming is to get sufficient supply of good labor. Farmers could hardly pay higher wages. But to a very small degree is it a question of more wages. The loneliness of farm life that has been so powerful in taking farmer boys from the farm and in keeping city laborers from it is fast passing away before rural free mail delivery, the farm telephone and the county trolley line.

"If by education a proper appreciation of our calling and the introduction of business methods we put farming on the same plane as other business enterprises we can command for it all rightful share of the faithful, intelligent labor that now goes to railroading, manufacturing and merchandising. This will come to pass all the sooner because the future will see many women farmers. It is already fashionable for girls to be strong and muscular and athletic and unsuborned. The farmer may much indeed prefer seeing his daughter helping in the field, operating the mower or harvester or hay rake or corn planter than tempting fate amid the artificial, unwholesome and dangerous conditions of the city.

Your Hands

will feel well cared for if you use a good, pure soap. We are often asked to recommend some good soap; "something that won't make the hands and face feel sore, hard and dried up." Is the usual complaint from those using soaps full of alkali. Alkali cuts dirt and it cuts the tissues of the skin. If you have a cut it will make it worse. Constant use of such impure soaps will ruin any complexion.

Curative - Skin

is just a pure, cleansing, healing and delightful toilet soap. It's medical, too, and will help nature heal up the little cuts and bruises. It never smart. Now this soap is not costly. A cake costs 20 cents, 50 cents for a box of three. One cake should last you two months—perhaps three.

Samples Free

Commencing today we will give away a sample cake to any one for one week. We invite you to try it. We know its good. Give it the test and decide for yourself.

This is a cogent reason why The Star's advertising columns are so generally used and so widely read.
