PROGRESS.

The Life of the Land is Established in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, APR. 14, 1894.

THE HOLOMUA IS A "PEOPLE'S" PAPER AND IT REMAINS AT A "PEOPLE'S" PRICE. DELIVERED DAILY AT RESIDENCES FOR 50 CENTS PER MONTH.

That Oath

By request of a number of foreigners we reprint the text of the electoral oath of 1887 and of 1894. Any sane man can see the difference, and can judge of the results as far as citizenship is concerned.

OATH OF 1887.

I—aged—a native of—residing on—street in Ward No.—in the city and district, do solemnly swear in the presence of Almighty God, that I will support and bear true allegiance to the Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands, and will oppose any attempt to re-establish monarchical government in any form in the Hawaiian Islands.

OATH OF 1894.

I—aged—years, a native of—residing at—in said District, do solemnly swear in the presence of Almighty God, that I will support and bear true allegiance to the Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands, and will oppose any attempt to re-establish monarchical government in any form in the Hawaiian Islands.

Postpone It.

The loyal citizens have decided to leave the Constitutional Convention serve alone. We have written, spoken, and argued against a government, being forward in the manner proposed by the P. G. Circumstances, may rise though which would make it advisable for the whole people to join in the information of a government, if it in its principle would be a truly popular government continued on the most modern and best ideas of the leading statesmen of this century. The supporters of the P. G. Administrations do not all approve of the present proportion to call a convention. There are many and heavy objections. The convention will not represent the people, because a majority is already secured. The planters missionaries and their tools will dominate the convention. The paramount principle of "cheap labor" will be the prime mover. The ill famed oath enforced on the voters will deter a large number of people from joining the move. The constitution is already framed, and will go through the convention like a sixty-mile locomotive. The result will be another revolution, organized and instituted by the liberal-minded democratic men now supporting the P. G. and backed by the great majority of the Hawaiian people. To avoid these evil results we believe that more time should be given, a fuller consideration should be granted and prospects of political harmony secured before the country again is rushed into the abyss of revolutions and political and social discontent. The Hawaiians will join in any move that can secure the true welfare of their country and not infringe on their civil rights, but it would be both improper as well as dangerous for them to shake hands with the small minority that like themselves know no more about the intentions of America in regard to Hawaii's future. By postponing the convention for, say, two months, the Government who calls it will stand both externally and internally in a far better position in which to frame a stable, and yet a popular and satisfactory government for Hawaii nei.

Senhor Falcao of Pernambuco has declined the appointment as special diplomatic and financial agent of the Provision Government. Roy Barrosa, who is an involuntary exile in Buenos Ayres and has represented Admiral Mello during the revolution, has been selected for the mission and has accepted. He will sail as soon as arrangements can be completed.

The President Vindicated.

Tammany and its gifted newspaper backing have not had very distinguished luck of late. In fact, with the exception of the defeat of Mr. Hornblower's confirmation and the election of Mr. Quigg, a Republican, to Congress, they have not won an important victory since that dreadful and portentous day when the incorruptible Maynard and the gallant McKane went down in the storm, a presage of a hard and cold winter. It was reasonable to suppose when Mr. Croker went over to Washington that the potentiality of his presence and the magic of his voice would effect a marvelous change; but Congress went ahead calmly and passed the tariff bill, income tax and all, just as if Mr. Croker, were an effete Briton in the visitors' gallery or a modest swain in his honeymoon. Furthermore, Congress had the shocking taste to pass the McGreary resolution, indorsing Mr. Cleveland's Hawaiian policy, although it is generally known that Mr. Croker and Tammany and the Tammany organs are sensibly grieved by any demonstration in behalf of right and justice.

There was one little silver lining in the Tammany cloud. The Hon. Amos Cummings of the Eleventh New York district stood up and shouted "No." It is true the walls did not fall in and the floor did not sink, and it is also true that while Mr. Cummings was expanding his chest and proclaiming "No," 174 Democrats were saying "Yes." These were mere side issues. Mr. Cummings had not been recreant to his trust. He had stepped up to the Speaker's desk and elliptically advanced a negative proposition, thereby demonstrating that Tammany still lived and would be heard from in all matters of vital public interest. It was a thrilling moment that never will be forgotten by General Sickles, who did not vote, and Mr. Cockrell of Texas, who had recanted and whispered "Yes." And it is not unlikely that Mr. Cummings had the modest pleasure of seeing his picture in one or more New York papers this morning and of knowing that his praise was sung and his virtue extolled at the wigwag on East Fourteenth street.

The Hawaiian incident so far as it relates to this country, is practically closed. The House of Representatives, by an overwhelming majority, has condemned Mr. Stevens, has declared against annexation and has decreed that the people of Hawaii shall have absolute freedom and independence in pursuing their own line of policy. All this indicates the action of the President, who has rested calm and content with the assurance that sober reflection of the people and their Representatives would justify his policy. Of course Mr. Cleveland will be still assailed by a rabid partisan press, and by the Hoars, Fries and Boutelles, who will reiterate the exploded fiction about excess of constitutional authority, but a wilful partisan perversion of facts will not detract from the dignity and justice of his position, which the House resolution has recognized, and which the clearer after-light of unprejudiced history will accord to him.—Examiner.

Creating an Oligarchy.

The kind of republican ideas that prevails among the revolutionist Government of Hawaii is illustrated both by the sketch of the new Constitution that is promulgated for the future government and by the method of adopting it. It is stated that the Constitution "is substantially settled upon." No representative Constitutional Convention has been held; no form of submitting the Constitution to the vote of the Hawaiians has been thought of. A clique of men consulting in secret have drawn up a Constitution and say to the Hawaiians, "This is your form of government." That is alleged to be a republican method of procedure. The reasons for sticking closely to this course of enactment by oligarchic decree may be discerned in the Constitution itself. A Lower House is provided, the members of which are to be elected by voters whose chief qualification is the ability to read and write English. The advancement of the Hawaiians is testified to in the admission that "the native and half-white vote will largely predominate in this branch." But the empty nature of this concession to the Hawaiian people is disclosed by the statement that special powers will be conferred upon the Executive and Upper House, which will enable them acting in concert to prevent the obstruction of legislation by the Lower House. The Executive and Upper House are elected only by voters having "a considerable educational and property qualification." As another report more frankly puts it, this will "relegate the ruling power to the whites."

Thus we see the much boasted Hawaiian republic taking on the formal assertion of the principle that all political power must be concentrated in the hands of wealth. The circumstances under which this is done make the act peculiarly offensive to any one who thinks there should be such a thing as conscience in public affairs. The whites have come to Hawaii and have been so hospitably treated by the Hawaiian Government that in two generations they have possessed themselves of nine-tenths of the property there. Having got the Hawaiian lands the next thing is to take away the political rights of the Hawaiians, and to announce that henceforth that the whites will do the ruling.

Fortunately the United States has nothing to do with the last travesty on popular government. But the affiliation of the whites who are doing this sort of thing with an element of our population should render all future talk about "the glorious spread of popular ideas" impossible to anyone capable of a sense of shame.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Goodby Adams!

The U. S. S. Adams leaves the port of Honolulu tomorrow. Unlike some of the predecessors in these waters of an American man-of-war, the Adams carries with her the goodwill of all the different classes of Honolulu. Her officers have had the wonderful gift of abstaining from politics and keeping aloof from the bitter feeling created by the unusual, uneducated, and prominently vulgar set of officers who commanded the Boston, and from vilifying the Hawaiian girls of Hawaii basked in the favors of the select crowd of wahine-haole who have left their original occupation of cooking and sweeping, by joining themselves into marriage with the imported "clerking" coolies who generally skipped their own country to avoid military service or the psalm-singing speculators who make their money through the unparalleled influence of the W. C. T. U. It is to be hoped that the men of the Adams will visit these shores again. They have been gentlemanly, considerate and we hope, appreciated. Without mentioning any names especially we believe that we express the sentiments of the best society in Honolulu by saying that Mr. Elliot, Chief McKee, the genial Paymaster McDonald, "Felicia" Carter, Vogelgesang and many others will be sorely missed. If stern duties call them to Behring Sea they can have one consolation—and that is there is a warm spot in Hawaii—if not forgotten. The popular Commander who only has had a few weeks here will always know that there is a gun, a chowder, a good company, a cup, for him whenever his vessel anchors in Hawaii.

CORRESPONDENCE.

EDITOR HOLOMUA:

I see from a late issue that some one is attacking me about my racing abilities as a runner, and says that I am afraid to meet the Champion man again. The statement is a lie. I never refused to run against their man, and I have in proof of this had a challenge published, and a forfeit of $25 placed with one of the daily papers, binding myself to a match with any man from the naval ships now in port. So far nobody has accepted my challenge. One of the Champion men came to me, and asked me if I would enter into a race next Saturday (to-morrow). This proposition was made last Thursday and gave me one day to train in. Anybody familiar with foot-racing will understand that I could not accept such a challenge, knowing that the Champion man is running every day. Moreover, when I challenged him last I gave him three weeks to get ready. Now, I will give the "soldier" as he signs himself in your paper an opportunity to win some money, (and glory if he can) by proposing that he posts a forfeit with your paper, and I will run him for any distance from 100 yards to one mile for any amount of money that he desires to put up. Articles should be drawn up, and the name of the runner published, and I will meet him two weeks from the day of signing of the agreement. If that is not a square proposition, I do not know what is. And that is the manner in which I have backed my challenge all along.

Now these persons signing or writing certain articles in the different newspapers are either sore on the American blue-jackets or are trying to create ill-feeling, between the ships in port while I don't believe that any of them would put up five cents for a race comes off or not. The fellow who signs himself "soldier" in your paper signed himself well, because nothing more could be expected from the dear pet. In the future, I shall take no further notice of such trash unless it is backed by a written challenge and a posted forfeit. Hoping Mr. Editor that this will show that I am not afraid, but always ready to back my athletic abilities and my flag.

I remain yours,
J. L. KING.
U. S. F. S. Philadelphia,
April 13, 1894.

EDITOR HOLOMUA:

Your recent experience with the law, ought to make you very well posted. I will therefore ask you a few questions which I trust you will endeavor to answer, not only for my own benefit, but for the benefit of other Americans who, though residents of these Islands do not wish to swear away their protection of the mother country unconsciously.

You have undoubtedly noticed that of late, the Star has been trying to convince the American element here, that the question of whether a man can be a citizen of the United States, and at the same time of the Hawaiian Islands has been settled beyond a doubt by previous decisions of the State Department, that he can, this question having been brought up by the constitution of 1887, and further more that then can be no longer any doubt, as the Attorney-General has settled the question by rendering his opinion on the subject. As an American, I for, one, am not willing to forfeit my citizenship on W. O. Smith's opinion, nor am I willing on the opinion of the State Department unless I am convinced beyond a doubt that the constitution of 1887, is still the constitution we are living under today, and that these decisions were made in accordance with said constitution.

If it is claimed that man was under the constitution of 1887. I would like to ask the question, if Article 62, which reads as I remember it, "Male residents of the Kingdom, of Hawaiian, American or European birth or descent, (Asiatics left out) who shall have taken the oath to support this Constitution and the laws," are qualified as voters; has been taken out of the constitution, and if it has (which I think it must have been as Hawaiians who have voted under this constitution are not allowed to vote now). Does it not alter the case of an American's right to vote? In other words have not all the decisions regarding an American's right to citizenship in both countries been decided on the constitution of 1887? And if they have, and Article 62 has been eliminated, and another substituted, does not an American lose his citizenship by swearing to support a constitution that has ceased to exist (and the constitution of 1887 has ceased if Article 62 has not been amended) or by swearing to support a constitution that does not exist (one that he will have absolutely no voice in its construction) or the nature of which his mother country has no knowledge, or in any way acted upon.

Then again if by taking the required oath, would a man not be compelled to take up arms if necessary, and if he should and such arms should be against the United States, would he not by that act forfeit his citizenship to the United States?

And if he can retain his citizenship in the United States by what law and where in the statutes of the United States is he entitled to protection, if he aids or abets a revolution in a foreign country, and if there is no law by which this can be done, does he not forfeit his citizenship by taking an oath to aid or abet, either by oath or action?

These are the questions that I believe every American here would like to have answered as they are absolutely necessary for a man to be able to act intelligently on this Registration question.
