GOD BLESS THY YEAR

Thy coming in,
thy going out;
Thy rest, thy travelling about;
The rough, the smooth-
The bright, the drear-
GOD bless thy year.

Bishop and Mrs. Stephen Bayne arrived in Honolulu for the last phase of the Centennial.

Last Phase of Centennial

We have been privileged, indeed, to have the Right Reverend Stephen F. Bayne, Jr., Executive Officer of the Anglican Communion, Bishop-in-charge of American Episcopal Churches in Europe, and Mrs. Bayne with us for the closing of our year-long celebration of the Church's one hundred years in Hawaii.

Bishop Bayne gave a dynamic address to our people the night of the banquet at Iolani School, as well as at the Ecumenical Service which was held in the Presbyterian Church, in Honolulu, on Sunday, December 9th, at 7:30 p.m. He preached at St. Clement's Church on Sunday morning of the 9th.

Bishop and Mrs. Bayne visited all of our islands for special gatherings of our people, and brought to them a real inspiration.

Bishop Bayne strongly advocated a major institute set up in Hawaii for the study of comparative religions, indicating that the East-West Center would be the ideal place to start this. He said, "Knowing Hawaii, knowing the Pacific, I believe that here we (Christianity) could go for broke in developing dialogue with other great religions of the world, such as Buddhism.

The Baynes live in London, but he is away from there about two-thirds of the time. He is logging 200,000 miles this year, including three trips around the world. "It is easiest to go on around the world to get home—I can't get more than 24 hours from London in this jet age without starting back!"

He says that the greatest need in missionary work today is more Christianity—less "churchianity." He believes that the earnest young Malaya student is interested in basic Christian justice and is impressed with what he reads of Christ. It is his conviction that there can be an integration of churches into strange communities and tumultuous new lands can be widely accomplished—perhaps not by the old churches, but by the younger ones.

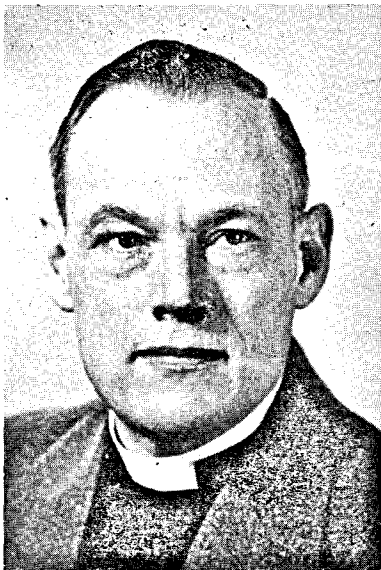

Mrs. Bayne was the guest of the clergy wives at the home of Dean and Mrs. John J. Morrett and at a luncheon at the Willows, given by the Episcopal Churchwomen of Hawaii. Bishop Bayne conducted a conference for the clergy at the Diocesan House and was good enough to have an informal question hour in Tenney Hall on Monday night for the laity.

It was a privilege and joy to have the Baynes with us and we feel very indebted to them for coming so far to share in our Centennial Celebration.

Holy Apostles Church Nearing Completion

Holy Apostles Church, Hilo, Hawaii, is nearing completion. Mrs. Laura Kennedy, of Hilo, very generously contributed $60,000 toward the erection of this Church and has now given an additional $20,000 for a new organ. It is with profound gratitude that the entire Diocese joins in thanking her for this generous and thoughtful gift.

The Church was consecrated on December 20th by the Bishop, with The Ven. Gerald P. Loweth, Vicar, assisting.

The Rev. Dr. William G. Pollard

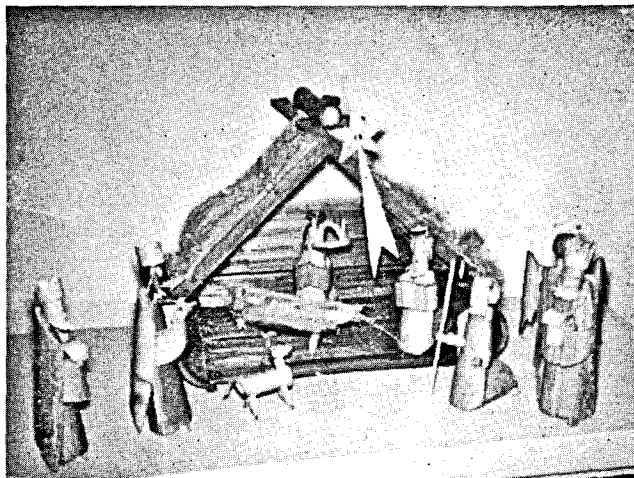

Noted Nuclear Physicist To Be Convocation Guest

We are very happy to announce that our Convocation guest this year will be The Reverend William Grosvenor Pollard, executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, a non-profit corporation of 38 southern universities which conducts programs under contract for the United States Atomic Energy Commission and under grants from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Pollard is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi and an honorary member of Sigma Pi Sigma. He is a fellow of the American Physical Society and the American Association for the advancement of Science. He helped organize and was a member of the first Board of Directors of the American Nuclear Society. He is a theoretical physicist and has done research in the theory of beta radio-activity, the interaction of molecules with solid surfaces, gaseous diffusion and neutron diffraction.

Dr. Pollard was ordained deacon in 1952 and priest in 1954. Since then he has served as Priest Associate in St. Stephen's Church in Oak Ridge and is now serving as Priest in charge of St. Alban's Chapel, Clinton, Tennessee, a parochial mission of St. Stephen's. He is a Trustee of the University of the South and was a member of the faculty of the Graduate School of Theology there in 1956-1961. He was Vice-Chairman of the Joint Commission on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy of the General

Presiding Bishop's Christmas Message

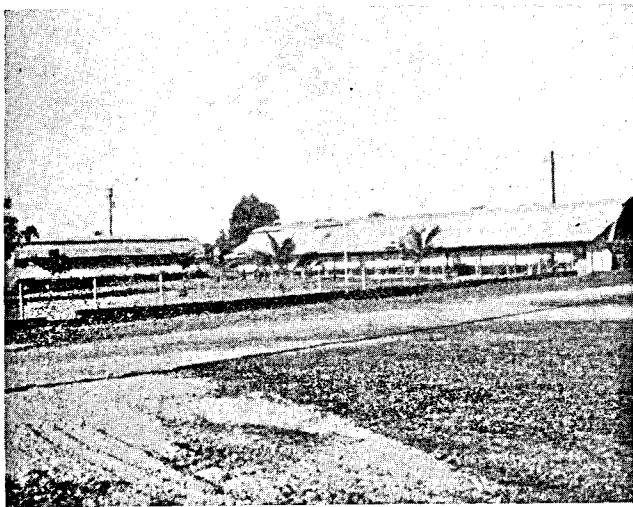

The story of Christmas is the story of God in action. "God loved the world so much that He gave his only Son, that everyone who has faith in Him may not die but have eternal life." This is what God did in Jesus of Nazareth. He came into the world and was laid gently in a crib; He gave His life for us and was nailed to a cross.

But why do our thoughts go so quickly from the gaiety of Christmas to the sorrow of Good Friday? Because the cross also is part of God's action for us. And if we would know the joy of Christmas, we must see where it leads; past Bethlehem to Calvary, and then to Easter morning, and to the Day of Pentecost, and to the presence with us now of the Holy Spirit. This is God's action, his ceaseless love at work in us and in His world, opening the way for His love which heals and restores.

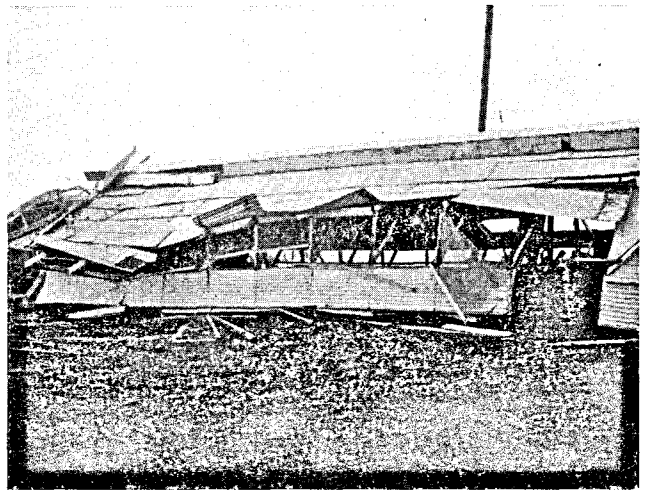

When we think of Christmas in this way, then we can celebrate it merrily even in these uncheerful days. Christmas has its own tone and color and warmth, and whatever helps us keep this time with joy is good. Although we are perplexed and anxious and afraid, we can know both the joy and the hope of Christmas.

We see where Christ went from Bethlehem and where we are led in response to God's action, from our worship at the manger. Seeing this we understand that God speaks and we answer; God acts and we respond. We know that if we are Christ's followers, we are to be people of good will: open-hearted, loving, forgiving, makers of peace. The road to Bethlehem leads home again, that we may show there what great things God has done for us.

New school, Guam, in September.

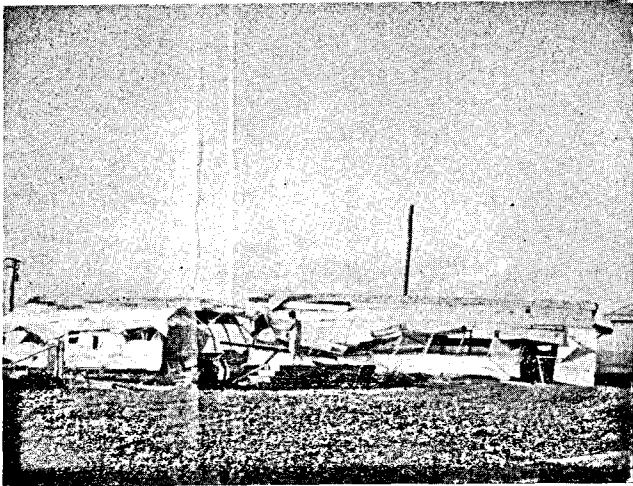

Guam—School Started— School Destroyed

Much work went into starting a school on Guam in September. Buildings were renovated to take care of the first six grades. The school started with flying colors, according to the Reverend Grosvenor M. Needham, and filled a great need on Guam. Parents were delighted to have their children attend.

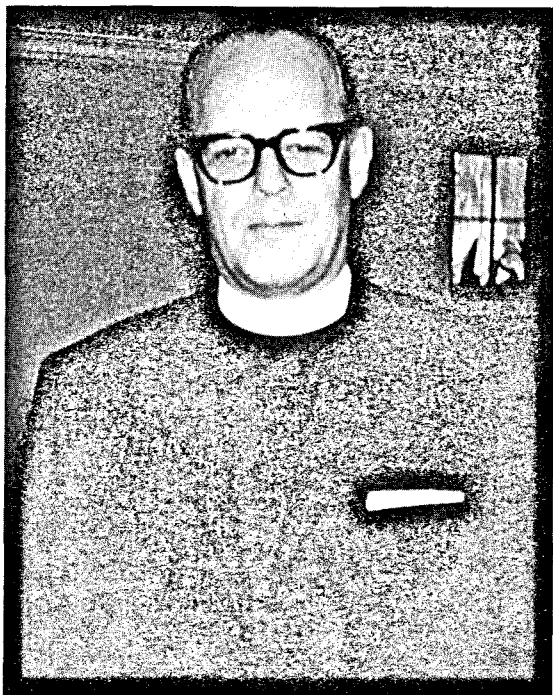

Then came Karen—the typhoon—and down in shambles was the school that had brought such joy to the people of Guam. But the devastation certainly did not dampen the spirits of the people. The Marines came to the front and put up tents so that classes could be resumed. Debris was cleared away and books—what was left of them—cleaned and put to use. And the children started from scratch to renew their learning.

The devastation of Guam was beyond the imagination of those not experiencing it. But the courage of our missionaries and our people there was something we very much admire. Our church members in Hawaii immediately went to work to send clothing, food, supplies, etc. through the aid of the Navy. It will be many months before the repairs needed can be made.

Fortunately the new vicarage which is under construction was not damaged. The Quonset hut which the Needhams had been living in was "gone with the wind," as were most of their personal effects, furniture, etc. The Parish Hall and Chapel were damaged, but not beyond repair. However, it will be a costly and tedious job bringing order out of chaos.

After the storm hit Guam.

Former Island Missionary Honored

On her 93rd birthday Hilda Van Deerlin, many former children of St. Mary's Home gathered to honor her on this important occasion in her life. About sixty guests gathered at her home in Kaimuki to celebrate.

In addition to former children of St. Mary's and their families, her sister, Margaret Van Deerlin, and another sister, Mrs. Violet Angel of Long Beach and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Van Deerlin, of Los Angeles, made it a special point to be here to join her.

Born in England in 1869, Miss Van Deerlin moved to South America for a few years with her father, who was an Episcopalian missionary. The family returned to the United States in 1877.

In 1900, she moved to Hawaii to help her father with church work on the Island of Hawaii. Her father returned to the Mainland in 1902 and Miss Van Deerlin moved to Honolulu and taught at St. Peter's Mission and St. Elizabeth's Church. She studied to become a deaconess from 1905 to 1907 in New York and returned to Maui for a year of church work.

Her sister, Margaret, joined her in 1917 and the two opened St. Mary's Home for children. The home continued until 1949, although Miss Van Deerlin retired in 1943. Her "children" hold her with great affection.

Welcome New Daughter

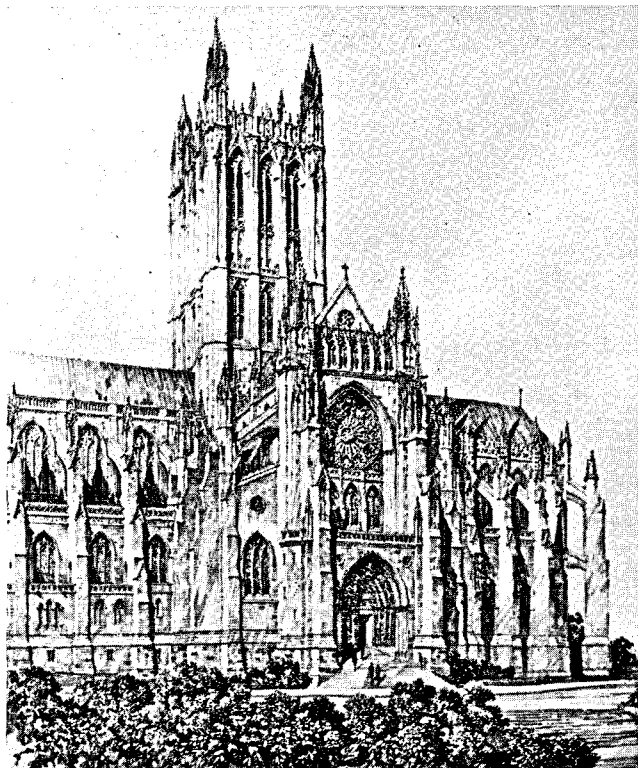

Margaret Anderson arrived on November 13th to bring joy to the family of the Reverend J. William Anderson, Vicar of Grace Church, Hoolehua, Molokai. We are pleased to have her join our Diocesan Family and welcome her with our affection. She is the Andersons' sixth child.

Honolulu Contest Winner

Elizabeth Black of 2026 Ahualani Place, Honolulu, Hawaii, has been selected winner for the Missionary District of Honolulu out of 14 District entries in the 1962 Creative Art Contest of the Church School Missionary Offering.

The national winners selected were Anne Milner of Ft. Smith, Ark.; Daniel Morehead of Syracuse, N.Y.; Kathryn A. Milner of Wilmette, Ill.; Mary E. Valerius of Seaford, Del.; Mary Catherine Paul of Sayville, L.I., N.Y.; Joan Fast of Long Beach, Calif.; Robin B. Jenkins of Shreveport, La.; James Shamas of Ridgefield, N.J.; Bruce J. Heylinger, Jr. of New York City; Ellen T. Jackson of Raleigh, N.C.; Johns Edgar and Karen Louise Martin of Cleveland, Ohio; Marcia Dozier of Miami Springs, Fla.; and Joel Babb of Worthington, Ohio.

This year's contest emphasis was Stewardship with the theme "Giving Is Growing."

Hawaii Honored at Washington Cathedral

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In the medieval atmosphere of the Gothic Washington Cathedral, Hawaii was honored on Sunday, December 16 at the 11 a.m. service according to Mrs. James H. Tabor of Honolulu, regional chairman of the National Cathedral Association.

Special prayers were offered for the work and welfare of the state and its people and the state flag was carried in the procession of choir and clergy down the main aisle of the high vaulted nave to a place of honor at the top of the chancel steps.

The flag, which was previously the territorial banner, was presented to the Cathedral in 1956 by the Rt. Rev. H. S. Kennedy, Bishop of Honolulu. It replaced one given in 1935 by the Hon. William R. Castle, Jr.

When not in use, the Hawaii state flag is suspended from the triforium gallery with the flags of all states placed in the order in which they were admitted to the Union.

Washington Cathedral, often referred to as the National Cathedral, is one of three true cathedrals in this country. Unlike the pro-cathedrals, that also serve as parish churches with regular memberships responsible for their building and upkeep, Washington Cathedral has no regular congregation but is being built with free will gifts from people of many church affiliations throughout the country.

The South Transept has just been completed and the Gloria in Excelsis central tower that will rise some 300 feet from ground level—660 feet above downtown Washington, is well underway.

The Cathedral's new College of Church Musicians began its first academic year in September. It is planned as a national center where unusually qualified organists and choirmasters may receive advanced training in the special field of church music. The distinguished faculty is headed by the Pulitzer prize-winning composer, Dr. Leo Sowerby.

Four new nave aisle bays are now being built to extend the Cathedral toward its completion. Building stones for the bays were subscribed as memorials or in honor of living persons by individuals or groups from many different states.

Although Washington Cathedral is administered by the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral Foundation, it is obligated by its constitution to function as a "House of Prayer for all people, forever free and open welcoming all who enter its doors . . ."

When completed, Washington Cathedral will be the sixth largest church in the world.

Ordained to the Priesthood

The Reverend Thomas K. Yoshida, Vicar of Christ Church, Kilauea, and St. Thomas' Church, Hanalei, Kauai, was ordained to the priesthood on Sunday, December 16th, in St. Andrew's Cathedral, at 7:30 p.m., by the Bishop. The clergy formed the choir for the service.

The Preface to the Ordinal was read by the Reverend Reginald D. Rodriguez, Vicar of Holy Trinity Church. The Reverend E. Lani Hanchett, Rector of St. Peter's Parish, preached the sermon. The Venerable Charles T. Crane, Archdeacon of Kauai and Rector of All Saints Parish, Kapaa, presented the Ordinand. The Reverend Norio Sasaki, Vicar of St. John's Church, Eleele and St. Paul's Church, Kekaha, Kauai, read the Litany. The Very Reverend John J. Morrett, Dean of St. Andrew's Cathedral, read the Gospel and the Reverend Claude F. Du Teil, Rector of St. Christopher's Parish, Kailua, read the Epistle. Chaplain to the Bishop was the Reverend Canon Wai On Shim, of St. Elizabeth's Church.

A reception honoring the Ordinand was held in the Davies Hall, St. Andrew's Cathedral, following the service.

Iolani School Boasts of One Of the Finest Athletic Plants

With great pride Iolani School for boys, Honolulu, points to the new gymnasium and athletic field that have been built at a cost of approximately $600,000. It is one of the finest athletic and physical education plants in the Islands.

The plant includes a gymnasium which seats approximately 1,400, six tennis courts, a six-lane, 25-yard swimming pool, a regulation 440-yard track which encircles a football field and locker rooms equipped with from 800 to 900 lockers.

The physical program is geared to train boys from kindergarten through high school.

The new setup has been well planned. Raising and lowering of the six backboards in the gymnasium is electrically controlled as is the opening of the louver windows. One set of gym bleachers can be reversed and moved into position where they become seats for swimming meet spectators. The track includes 100-yard and 220-yard straightways and runways from both sides of the pole vault and high jump pits.

The Reverend Burton A. MacLean, Headmaster, says the main purpose of Iolani is to prepare the boys for college. "We feel that physical training is highly important in the development of the whole boy."

The Reverend Fred G. Minuth is Athletic Director.

Preparation for Christmas

"I shall attend to my errands of love early this year, so that the brief days before Christmas may be undimmed and clear of the fever and the hurry. The breathless rushing I have known in the past shall not possess me. I shall be calm in my soul and 'ready for Christmas' at last.

I shall kneel, and call out His name. I shall take time to watch the beautiful light of a candle's flame; I shall have leisure—I shall go out alone from my roof and door, and I shall not miss the silver silence of the stars, as oft before. Perhaps, if I stand there very still, and very long, I shall hear what the clamor of the world has kept from me—the Angels Song!"

The cottage area has sweeping views of the lush terrain and Koolau Mountains. Roof timbers are now going up and patio floors are being poured.

Pohai Nani, the Retirement Home in Kaneohe

Since groundbreaking ceremonies last March for Pohai Nani, the retirement home in Kaneohe, the 16-acre site has undergone a startling change.

Cleared and terraced, construction in the area is now booming on all sides.

The 14-story main building has reached the fifth floor on the north end, and the third floor on the lower level.

All cottage walls are up, roofs are being raised and lanai slabs being poured.

The 40-bed infirmary and the employees' building have workmen placing partitions and completing electrical and metal work on the interiors.

Already many of Hawaii's kamaaina residents have chosen Pohai Nani as "home" in which to spend their bonus years, and are anticipating moving in by the end of next year. Completion date for the over 4 million dollar project is in late 1963.

Interested persons may learn more about the only retirement home in the world which is non-denominational and inter-racial by contacting Mr. Oscar L. Fulford, Administrator, at Hawaii Pacific Homes, 843 Fort Street, or phone 567-202.

Pohai Nani, fittingly translated, means "Surrounded by Beauty."

Convention of the Episcopal Church (1955-58) and is presently a member of the Joint Commission on the Church in Human Affairs, and a deputy to General Convention from the Diocese of Tennessee in 1958 and 1961.

He has stated, "There is no question now but that my primary vocation is the sacred ministry. Although I am still happily continuing as Executive Director of the Institute in Oak Ridge, and still keep up my interest in physics and even do a little research now and then, it is evident that all this has become a secondary vocation for me." He says very firmly that he had no sudden conversion before some scientific Damascus Gate. It was the slow, steady work of the Holy Spirit. And so he goes on closing the gap between the Church and the scientists. He is an Anglican in the very front line.

Convocation will be held February 8-13, 1963, starting with the Youth Banquet on Friday night, the Youth Conference on Saturday, the large Opening Service in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday, the 10th, at 7:30 p.m. The Business of Convocation will be held on Monday, February 11th. The Episcopal Churchwomen of Hawaii will have their Annual Meeting on Tuesday, and the Convocation program will close on Wednesday with the Clergy Conference.

Dr. Pollard will be accompanied by Mrs. Pollard.

This Is the Hour!

If you have not paid your pledge to the Episcopal Centennial Advance Program for the year 1962, this is the time and hour to do it, before the end of the year. It is most important that we keep our payments up, since our obligations and commitments for the Diocese must be met.

We urge everyone to pay pledges now so that we will not lag in the obligations that confront us.
