PRICE 5 CENTS.

Do you want Consumption?

We are sure you do not. Nobody wants it. But it comes to many thousands every year. It comes to those who have had coughs and colds until the throat is raw, and the lining membrane of the lungs is inflamed. Stop your cough when it first appears, and you remove the great danger of future trouble.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

stops coughs of all kinds. It does so because it is a soothing and healing remedy of great power. This makes it the greatest preventive to consumption. It is not a question of many bottles and large doses. A few drops will often make a complete cure. Don't neglect your cough; you cannot afford to run the risk. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will soothe your raw throat and quiet your inflamed lungs.

Beware of cheap imitations. See that the name Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is blown in the glass of each bottle. Put up in large and small bottles.

THE LATEST FROM DEWEY

No Truth in the Story of an Explosion on the Baltimore.

Captain Gridley of the Olympia is Invalided and Sent Home—Situation at Manila is Unchanged.

Hongkong, May 27.—The United States auxiliary gunboat Zafiro, formerly a British merchant steamer, but now commissioned, mounting four guns and in charge of a Lieutenant-Commander of the United States Navy, has just arrived here from Manila, having on board Captain Gridley of the cruiser Olympia, the flagship of Rear Admiral Dewey, who has been invalided.

The situation at Manila is unchanged. The insurgents are quiet. Beef costs $2.50 per pound at Manila.

The report that the commander of the Spanish boat Callao was tried by court martial and shot for not firing on the American ships which captured the Callao is untrue. The Zafiro will return to Manila on Monday next.

Washington, May 18.—At 1 o'clock this morning it was announced positively at the Navy Department that Captain Gridley of the Olympia had been invalided home. He will proceed from Hongkong to the United States, probably immediately if he is able to travel. The nature of his illness is not known.

The statement that two other officers of Admiral Dewey's fleet were also on the invalid list is thought by the naval officials to be a mistake, as the Navy Department has no information of the kind.

No information concerning the advice received from Admiral Dewey could be made public to-night, but it is unofficially understood that the dispatches contain nothing of a startling nature. The department is satisfied, therefore, that the story of the explosion on the cruiser Baltimore is without foundation.

NEW SUGAR COMPANY.
San Francisco Capitalists Who Will Engage in Sugar Raising.

Articles of incorporation of the Honolulu Sugar Company were filed with the county clerk of San Francisco on the 27th. The capital stock is $900,000, of which $10,000 has been subscribed by each of the following directors: Nicholas Ohlandt, M. E. Eirman, J. L. Koster, Frederick Tillmann Jr., Wm. Matson, Sam Sussman and A. F. Morrison. The company proposes to engage in the raising of sugar cane and the manufacture of sugar in Honolulu and elsewhere.

Rapidly Disappearing.

The supply of the justly celebrated Seattle Back Beer is rapidly disappearing in town. Lovers of this nutritious spring beverage can obtain it for a limited time at the Criterion Saloon.

SPEED DEPARTING GUESTS

Ovation to Transports and Convoy
Leaving for Manila.

Inspiring Scene on Harbor Front—Ladies
Deck the Warriors with Wreaths—Escort in Channel.

The soldiers have gone. Amid an ovation almost as great as was their reception the transports and the Charleston slipped out of the harbor this morning, going to no one knows what. The Peking was the first to leave, then the Charleston. They waited outside for the other boats, the Sydney and Australia. The band was in attendance, the wharves were thronged, the rigging of the different merchantmen in the harbor was black with a swaying, cheering mass of people, all anxious to say a fond adieu to the boys in blue.

It was a sight never to be forgotten and will live long in the memories of the troops and people of Honolulu.

The ladies of the "lei" committee met in Central Union church and from there went to the Sydney and Australia, where the men and officers were wreathed without distinction. Through the kindness of President Dole the committee were given the use of the Government tug and went outside to where the Peking and Charleston were lying and the "leis" passed aboard.

Each ship as it passed out was saluted by whistles and dipping of flags, and the Doric fired a salute of three guns as the transports came abreast of her.

They have gone, but the hearts of Honolulu are with them, and the news of their future movements and achievements will be anxiously awaited by everyone.

New Minister to China.

A distinguished person among the through passengers on the steamer Doric, which arrived at Honolulu from San Francisco yesterday afternoon and departs this afternoon at 4 o'clock for the Orient, is Hon. E. H. Conger, the new United States Minister to China. For the past four years Minister Conger has been the diplomatic representative of the United States in Brazil but has been transferred to China, and is now en route to his new post of duty. Accompanying Minister Conger are Mrs. Conger and their daughter and their niece, Miss Pierce. Minister Conger is a brother of Rev. E. L. Conger of Pasadena, California, and brought a letter of introduction to Commissioner of Agriculture Byron O. Clark, of this country.

Card of Thanks.

To the people of Honolulu:—In behalf of Company C, 14th Infantry, United States Army, of Vancouver Barracks, Washington, we desire to sincerely thank you for the many kindnesses and hospitality shown us while here. The memory of the people of this city will long be cherished by us, and words are inadequate to express our feelings; it is the last time for many of us to ever be among friends again. We will never forget you. Yours in love, friendship and charity.

WILLARD M. LEARNED, Residence, Salem, Oregon.

For Annexation.

The reception accorded the troops by Honolulu has done more for annexation than people think for. Major Chas. L. Tilden of the California Volunteers was, until his arrival here, a rabid anti-annexationist. He said yesterday that, in his estimation, Hawaii had compromised the United States in such a way that she could only clear herself by taking us into her family as an adopted child.

SPAIN'S PHANTOM SQUADRON

Reported at Santiago, Cienfuegos and Many Other Places.

No Positive Information of Its Whereabouts—
Belief That Cervera Has Again
Escaped.

According to the latest dispatches Admiral Cervera's squadron is either composed of ships as elusive as the "Flying Dutchman" or it is moving about from port to port with such remarkable rapidity as to indicate an utter disregard of its coal supply.

Admiral Sampson at latest advices was lying off Santiago waiting for the Spanish fleet to come out and give him battle, while Commodore Schley thought he had the Spaniards corralled in Cienfuegos harbor until the Cuban insurgents sent him word to the contrary. It seems likely that the authorities at Washington will order both ports attacked, if for no other reason than to settle the uncertainty.

On the top of all this comes a dispatch from Panama to the effect that Cervera's fleet has been sighted off Costa Rica, headed toward Port Limon.

The Navy Department at Washington, if it has any news of later developments, refuses to make it public.

The cruiser Marblehead landed 30,000 rounds of ammunition for the insurgents surrounding Cienfuegos and it was expected that a combined attack would be made on the city and harbor by the Marblehead and the Cuban army in conjunction at any hour.

Advices to the London Telegraph from Jamaica seem to indicate that "Cervera, after discharging ammunition and supplies for Blanco at Santiago, put out again, run down the Caribbean to Martinique and got out to the Atlantic by the same way he entered. In this way, it appears, the Spanish fleet has completely outmaneuvered the American commanders and has succeeded in concealing its movements, although the Americans have some seventy warships patrolling the West Indian waters."

ANNEXATION IS DEMANDED

Tremendous Pressure Being Brought on United States Senators.

The Joint Resolution to be Pushed as an Amendment to the War Revenue Bill
Now Before Congress.

The supporters of annexation in the Senate, probably with the backing of the Administration, have made a new and a bold move looking to the prompt accomplishment of their aims. On the 27th Senator Lodge of Massachusetts introduced as an amendment to the war revenue measure now pending, Newlands' joint Hawaiian resolution offered in the House on May 4, providing for the annexation of Hawaii. Mr. Lodge declared his intention to press the amendment to its adoption.

"The total vote, I think," he said, "will reach fifty, and perhaps exceed that number. We shall get all but four of the Republican votes. The war revenue bill and the annexation of the Hawaiian islands will henceforth be considered together. They should be."

The Examiner's poll of the United States Senate shows that that body is in favor of annexation and that the Newlands resolution can pass in some form or other. The poll is given as follows:

For annexation of Hawaii... 46
Against annexation of Hawaii... 22
Declined to express opinion... 20
Majority over all for annexation... 4

Forty-six Senators record themselves in favor of the proposition as proper from a commercial and strategic point of view. Twenty-two—some from personal interest and others on principle—oppose the annexation of the islands. Twenty of the eighty-eight Senators refused to express themselves or are absent from the city. It is believed that of these uncertain and absent members the number who will ultimately favor the plan will raise a total vote of fifty at least, and perhaps fifty-four. The preferences given today are as follows:

FOR ANNEXATION—46.

Aldrich of Rhode Island, Allison of Iowa, Burrows of Michigan, Carter of Montana, Cauden of Utah, Chandler of New Hampshire, Cullom of Illinois, Deboe of Kentucky, Davis of Minnesota, Elkins of West Virginia, Fairbanks of Indiana, Frye of Maine, Foraker of Ohio, Gallinger of New Hampshire, Gorman of Maryland, Hanna of Ohio, Hawley of Connecticut, Heitfeldt of Idaho, Jones of North Dakota, J. P. Jones of Nevada, Kinney of Delaware, Kyle of South Dakota, Lodge of Massachusetts, McBride of Oregon, McMillan of Michigan, Money of Mississippi, Morgan of Alabama, Murphy of New York, Pettis of Alabama, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Perkins of California, Platt of Connecticut, Platt of New York, Pritchard of North Carolina, Proctor of Vermont, Quay of Pennsylvania, Rawlins of Utah, Sewell of New Jersey, Shoup of Idaho, Spooner of Wisconsin, Stewart of Nevada, Teller of Colorado, Turner of Washington, Warren of Wyoming, Wetmore of Rhode Island.

AGAINST ANNEXATION—22.

CHANDLER'S CABLE BILL

Hawaii May Have a Cable Sooner Than Most People Expect.

Secretary of the Navy to be Authorized to Lay
Such Cables as He Deems Necessary.

Senator Chandler introduced an innocent looking bill in the Senate of the United States on the 26th which may mean cable communication with Hawaii as quickly as the wires can be laid.

The Chronicle publishes the following dispatch giving the gist of the bill:

Washington, May 26.—Senator Chandler today introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to establish and maintain all such telegraphic communication as he may deem necessary during the continuance of the present war by opening or reopening such ocean lines as may be necessary in any exigency for the proper protection of naval and military operations. The bill carries an appropriation of $1,000,000.

Anyone who can read between the lines of the above dispatch will see that the bill refers to "ocean" lines only and that the cable line most needed for the proper protection of naval and military operations today is one from San Francisco to Honolulu.

WILL TOW THE MONTEREY.

The Tug Vigilant and Collier Brutus to Come to This Port.

There was considerable uncertainty in San Francisco as to when the second Manila expedition would leave that city.

When the question of buying the collier J. B. (now the Brutus) first came up, the understanding was that she was to tow the Monterey to Manila. Now this program has been changed. It has been decided that the tug Vigilant, recently bought by the Government, will tow the monitor to the Philippines by way of Honolulu.

The Monterey is now on the dock at Mare Island, and the necessary work on her will be rushed to completion so that she can get away within a week. The Brutus will go with her, carrying coal for the trip.

At present the Zealandia is the only vessel in port under charter to carry troops to Manila. She is now being fitted up for the trip. The steamer Ohio, now at the Sound, has been chartered as a troopship. She will proceed directly to San Francisco.

Orders were received on the 27th to get the Yorktown and Philadelphia ready for sea as quickly as possible. Both vessels are now at Mare Island and it is estimated that it will be at least thirty days before the Philadelphia can go into commission.

Today, a San Francisco paper of May 28 says, the ships that the Government requires will be impressed, and before another week passes by another quota of volunteers will be on their way to help hold Dewey's conquest.

The Ragseys Again Afoot—In the Silent Haunts of the Primeval Forest—Puka Maui "Out of Sight!"—Wild Beauty of the "Ragsey Falls."

Correspondence of THE HAWAIIAN.

RAVING your tender solitude on behalf of the Ragsey Fouring Club of verdant Hilo, as the chronicler of that energetic organization I would paint once more—thinking it may be of interest to your readers in giving them an idea of some of the charms of Hawaii nei—the verdurous rambles of the Ragseys in the inner realm of Nature. At 7:30 on Sunday last they took their beguiling way, five of them: Fitterre, Thanum, Hime, Phillips and the Ragsey Bard, laden as usual with some comforting and filling things for their opus in the near mahope.

The morning was inspiringly fine, banks of fleecy clouds over the ocean low on the horizon, and also over the distant forest towards which we bent our steps. An azure sky was overhead with the sun brilliantly gleaming there, and so clear was the air, with a little stretch of your fertile imagination, you could discover the different kinds of trees forming the woods half a dozen miles away. Surely the world was but newly created, so fresh was all from the showers that fell in the night! and surely nowhere in existence could there be a single discordant vibration! What a grand, extended, erroneous vision we mortals sometimes have! The verdure, prolific everywhere, was delightfully green, and the voluptuous cane fields stretching away to the forest west of the Kaumana Road filled your mind as you gazed with a lusty, healthy love of life! And oh, to catch the song of this brawling little stream that runs merrily by the wayside, and gladden the whole world! The tranquil bay, whose waters are gently rippling to the caresses of the soft breeze, and upon whose bosom nearly a dozen vessels lie motionless, is sparkling in the beams of the smiling sun. The masts of the schooners, brigs and barques, the palms on Coconut Island, the mango and aligator pear trees, with the clustering fruit ripening thereon, and the white houses nestling midst the rich green sea of verdure, form a picture so harmoniously beautiful it is much better felt than expressed. And what of this thing we call beauty, this undefinable something that moves us so, this half veiling of things which constitutes it, these colors, screens and outlines? And this as well in the immaterial realm of Cloudland where vapory, changeable islands float in interminable, incalculable space, so wonderful to think of, at who we often look and say heaven is there, and feel a nice sense of satisfaction—the good things are always for us!

Well, a little romance is very often much better than dry fact, especially to the soul of a Ragsey, which looks upon the panorama of Life through many-tinted windows; and this vision of verdant hill, gulch and stream this morning is teeming with it. East of the road about a mile from town are three hills: cane, coffee, grasses and bushes adorning their sides and summits. Their origin is very remarkable indeed, they having come into existence by the aid of the Gods, who in those days communed and intermingled with favored mortals; but I must leave the telling of this romance to some future day when all the facts are in order in my mind.

We branch off at this point to—wards Rainbow Falls, traversing a fearfully rocky road for about a mile and a half. Away over the cane fields and along our path are the little cottages of Portuguese and Japanese settlers, even to the distant forest where the electric car of Life glides along so smoothly and swiftly, like the world, you would never know it was moving at all! Scores of lusty boys and girls are around these houses on the way, and the wonder comes into your head where their parents can corral enough grub to feed them all.

In two hours the edge of the forest was reached, then a stream about half a mile further where we had to strip to cross over. A swim followed in the clear cold water, then a climb up a slushy vine-entangled trail for another half mile to the high falls, near which Puka Maui is said to be, known as the "Natural Bridge." Of the name of those falls, as the truthful historian of the R. T. C., I have made much inquiry, but fail to find any, so we initiated them into the gang, calling the two falls "The Rag-seys."

We are now on enchanted ground; here is where in the misty recesses of the bespiderwebbed past, with the haze of many minds enclustered inextricably round it, Ku and Hina (God and Goddess), resided with their four big sons, Maui, the youngest, being quite an ambitious and lively youth. Hina, his mother, had a cave somewhere close by, where she used to sit all day and make kapa, spreading it out to dry in the warm rays of the sun. But the sun used to travel so fast at times the kapa would not dry at all as fast as Hina wished. She spoke to Maui of this, and he commanded the sun to "let up" a little, but the stubborn sun just blazed away and took no more notice of them than he did of the little black flies that clustered on the rocks in the stream, seemingly trying to suicide in the whirling waters. Then Maui got awfully mad and swore by the hair of his aunts-sisters that he would alter that state of affairs, so, taking one of his hugest nets he airily sped away to the summit of Haleakala, on the Island of Maui, where he hid in a large cave and waited for the sun to come by. The sun, never once suspecting what was in store for him, came shiningly along, and just as he looked into the cave Maui threw his net completely over the very much surprised sun, breaking off a few score of his flippers to that gentleman's astonishment and horror. The bewildered sun begged loudly for mercy, and wanted to know the cause of the pilikia. Maui told him he was a little too "fly" in his movements, that he must go slower and give his "old woman" a chance to dry her kapa; that, to be brief, he must "come off de roost" a little.

Secondly, he must not get so "hot in the collar" as usual. The sun gladly promised to do all this, so Maui let him go. The kamaainas say that is why the weather is so much cooler up there than in most other places! Whilst Maui was performing this sonly act, Hina was up to her neck in pilikia nui loa. A mighty moo (dragon) had strolled around where she was doing up the kapa in the latest Parisian style, and for a little diversion tried to stop the water from flowing in the river, causing it to flow into Hina's cave, nearly drowning the old lady, and doing many hundred dollars worth of damage. Maui knew of this the moment it occurred, for his bumps of the seventh sense were pretty well developed, so he jumped down from Haleakala to the beach, in an instant was in his canoe, with one stroke of the paddle was half way across to Hawaii, another and he had upset a dozen or two Pake

SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1898.

Admiral Dewey does not seem to be in either danger or distress at Manila. He is just holding things down until the arrival of American troops to control the situation on shore.

There is much encouragement for the cause of annexation in the latest news from Washington. Its supporters in Congress are seemingly determined to press the issue to a conclusion. They have the votes in both houses, and they will find some means of giving the votes effect.

It is not improbable that the United States war authorities know more about the situation and movements of the Spanish squadrons than the press can make public. True, the press has swift dispatch boats with the American ships, but all correspondence has to pass under the eyes of officers detailed for the purpose. Disregard of official regulations by any news concern would result in the stoppage of privileges to its correspondents responsible for the breach.

Departed on their mission of war are the gallant American troops, pioneers of the contingent for occupying the Philippine Islands. Honolulu has not been left by them without receiving all the manifestations of grateful appreciation of its hospitality which could have been desired. There may be danger that our surprise party has proved so highly acceptable to the "boys in blue" as to make us have the conceit that we are givers only and not receivers of favors in the welcome and farewell festivities. All the probabilities are that this reception to the American troops will have done more to bind the United States to Hawaii, as the parent to the child, than any event that has ever happened in the mutual relations of the two countries. Even if it does not cause a general and irresistible stampede for annexation at Washington—which, however, is not unlikely to be the case—the fruits of this week's fraternization between the United States and Hawaii in Honolulu cannot fail to yield untold benefits to these islands. Hitherto the hackneyed assertion that the United States is Hawaii's best friend has been largely received as a mere political theory. From now it will be accepted as unquenchable reality in both lands. Hawaii becomes the best friend of the United States, and the theory is no longer one-sided. Our people have seen for themselves the class of men who would spring to arms for protecting Hawaii from any aggression of powerful nations whether the group be American or retain its independence. Perhaps their familiarity with the comparatively few American residents, as their neighbors seen every day, has made them think that the best of those were only exceptional specimens of their nation. Now they have seen thousands of noble and stalwart men, sound and smart in body and mind, and know that they are the regular run of American citizens, yet the peers of the best of the human family, their friendship for the United States is not more strongly enlisted than their admiration for her people. Honolulu, and through it all Hawaii, has been captured.

ANNEXATION IS DEMANDED.

Hlinio, Merrill of Vermont, Roach of North Dakota, Thurston of Nebraska, Tillman of South Carolina, Turley of Tennessee, Wellington of Maryland, White of California. Senator Lodge's action in presenting the amendment was the result of more or less conference, though it was of an informal character, among the staunchest advocates of annexation. They express the opinion that the amendment in the end will be accepted, but admit that, in all probability, it will result in delaying the passage of the revenue bill. Incorporation of Hawaiian annexation in the revenue bill would, of course, have the effect of forcing the matter upon the attention of the House. Advocates of annexation say all but four Republican Senators and many Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans will vote for Lodge's amendment.

The assertion is made by Senators in favor of annexation that the administration is more anxious than at any previous time for legislation providing for annexation. The condition of affairs in the Philippines and the necessity for a stopping place for our ships on their way to those islands, they say, is the reason for the present urgency. It is asserted that to hold the Philippines without the possession of Hawaii would be next to impossible.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, a Democratic member of the Finance Committee, expressed the opinion that the Lodge amendment would not be accepted. "It would," he said, "certainly delay the bill indefinitely if pressed."

Real Military Life.

Captain and Mrs. Fuller entertained Private A. F. Lundberg, Co. K, California Volunteers, at dinner last evening. The young man's description of life on a transport was interesting and thrilling. Two little incidents of the trip down were as follows: A call for an orderly was made in Co. K and one of the boys was detailed to report. Thinking he was to be given some duty in the wardroom he immediately responded and was detailed to feed the cows on board. Another of the privates in K company had to twist the tails of the cattle to keep them from lying down. A man never knows what work he will be called upon to do when he volunteers to fight for his country. The glamor of a soldier's life quickly fades away when one is right in it. Notwithstanding the difference between warfare practical and theoretical, not one of the men wants to turn back. They are enlisted for two years unless sooner discharged.

IT WAS A MIGHTY FEAST

Hospitality of Honolulu to Three Thousand Boys in Blue.

Most Assiduous Labors of Ladies in Charge—
Letter Writing Campaign—Loads of Tropical Fruits.

The loan given to the soldier boys yesterday will live long in their memories if what they say is to be believed. Never in the history of this city has such a display of good feeling been shown as the reception tendered the boys in blue.

The ladies who had charge of the feast have everything to be proud of in the way it was conducted, and had it not been for them the dinner would have been a sorry affair indeed. The help they expected did not materialize and the ladies themselves had to clear off the tables and wash the dishes.

The day began when the soldiers arrived at the grounds about 11:30, from when the feast was in progress and kept up till 5:30. During the whole time there was music either by the Government band or the California band. Special mention must be made of the songs by the Kamehameha boys which were eagerly listened to and loudly applauded by the visitors.

The boys by their orderly behavior and gentlemanly bearing have made a name for themselves in the town, and the Islands have 3000 missionaries who will work for them with the object of annexation.

All day long the rooms of the House of Representatives and the Senate in the Executive building were crowded with men writing letters home. Those who could not find room at the desks and tables were stretched out on the floor of the lanai writing.

Many of the men after a ride to Waikiki came back to the grounds to eat again. Nearly everyone of them could be seen carrying either a coconut, a pineapple or some other fruit on their way back to the ships. On their arrival at the boats they were ordered to throw away whatever fruit they had. They did so but threw it all on the decks of the vessels, where it was eagerly snatched up by companions and secreted.

So ended the day. The committee of ladies were tired but gratified.

Last week we drew your attention to the good qualities of the Aermotor Steel Windmill but did not mention the fact that although the Aermotor will pump more water than any other mill, even with a poor Pump, still even it will not do its best work unless attached to a good pump.

We keep in stock to go with our 16ft. geared mills the

There were several Honolulu men enlisted by the enlisting officers of the Peking. Among them were young Schermerhorn of the People's Express and a man named Gourlie.

A useful and judicious present has been made, by many of the business houses, in sending copies of "Godfrey's Illustrated Handbook" to the commissioned and non-com. officers on the transports.

Frank Godfrey, resident agent at Roseburg, Oregon, of the Palatine Insurance Co. of Manchester, England, and who was in receipt of a handsome salary, is now on board the Australia as quartermaster sergeant of the company of volunteers from his city. The local newspaper namesake gave proper care and attention to the stranger soldier.

Judge Kalua thinks he will close June term next Thursday. The Richardson manslaughter case has gone over to the December term, other cases also were continued, and the work of the present term seems light. W. J. Coelho of Honolulu applied for a license to practise law in the inferior courts, but Judge Kalua has referred his application to the First Circuit Court, where petitioner is a resident. Already a large number of unimportant cases has been disposed of.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS ITEMS

Dispatch About France and Germany Interfering in Hawaii a Fake.

Report That Spain Has Offered Port of Morocco as the Price of French Assistance.

Much excitement was caused about town yesterday soon after the arrival of the Doric when word was passed around that France and Germany would object to Hawaii giving any aid to United States troops on the way to Manila. A careful reading of the dispatch shows that it is a fake from beginning to end, besides showing gross ignorance on the part of the writer of the actual condition of affairs in this city.

Joseph J. Ebanks, convicted of a double murder and three times sentenced to be hanged, has finally been executed at San Quentin.

The P. M. S. S. Colon has been chartered to take troops to Manila.

There will be no invasion of Cuba until Cervera's fleet has been destroyed.

Spanish bonds are still falling. A drunken Mexican at Albuquerque, N. M., shot and killed three boys just for amusement.

It was reported in St. Petersburg on the 27th that Spain had offered part of Morocco to France to enlist her against the United States.

The Minnesota and Pennsylvania Regiments will be the next to leave San Francisco for Manila. It was expected they would get away about June 1.

A number of salmon canneries at Astoria, Oregon, were destroyed by fire on the 25th.

The outer channel leading to the harbor of San Diego has been planted with torpedoes and mines.

It is asserted that the object of McKinley's call for 75,000 more troops is to send an expedition to take and hold Porto Rico.

The available cash balance in the United States Treasury on the 25th was $204,913,057; gold reserve, $173,363,643.

In view of the partiality of France toward Spain, there is some objection in Congress about voting the $750,000 asked for the American display at the Paris exhibition.

The first pension certificate in the war with Spain has been made out to the mother of Seaman William F. Montfort, a victim of the Maine explosion.

New Mexican train robbers have killed three of a posse who were following them.

A son of Brigham Young has failed in London for over a million and a half dollars.

The British ships Mecca and Lurdula collided near Calcutta and the former was sunk, her captain and 52 others being drowned.

Ex-Secretary of State John Sherman will make a tour of Alaska.

The annual meeting of the Pacific Mail Company resulted in the election of all the old officers.

Two St. Louis men killed each other in a pistol fight over a woman.

Mrs. George M. Pullman, widow of the great car-builder, has renounced her husband's will and claimed her dower right to one-third of the estate, which is valued at about $8,000,000.

New York's famous Irish regiment, the sixty-ninth, is en route to Manila.

The next contingent of the Manila army of occupation will come on the steamships Zealandia, Ohio and Centennial. It is expected to comprise some 3000 men.

The Postoffice Department has under consideration a proposition to open a money-order office in Manila, for convenience in paying off the army and allowing the men to send their money home.

fishermen on the placid shore of Hilo bay, as his canoe buried itself in the black, soft sand. The dragon however had a little the "drop" on him, the cave was nearly filled with water, the drowning of his mama was very imminent, not the shadow's shadow of a second was to be lost, or it might never be found again, so with one stupendous bound Maui thrust his warclub in the dammed stream making a huge hole down which the waters rushed like lightning, and his mother was saved. History hasn't told me yet whether he did the dragon up or the dragon did him up, or whether there was any fight, or it was called off, or the dragon ran away; but the hole is there somewhere to prove the truth of this story: Puka Maui, the "Natural bridge."

When the Bard finished this graphic description, great was the excitement of the Ragsey gang, and with a Ragsey yell they vowed to find that cave and bridge with their heaven knows what of curiosities, or spend all their energies in the attempt.

Lunch followed this, then a picture of "De Gang" by the kodak find in easy costume, and the search. About 9-10 of their "habillments" were left to be dried by the sun, as there were no policemen around to object. Along they sped over the rugged lava by the banks of the crystal river, dancing like gay Bohemians, singing and laughing, whirling and gliding: like pu the Ragseys. Prolific verdure bordered the river's banks: the chaste forest, rugged and unkempt, very uncivilized indeed, with little variation however in forestry, wherever you looked being ohias, ohias and ohias, with the feie vine clinging tenaciously and lovingly around them, and ferns and ferns and ferns, with occasionally a huge-leaved banana, and here and there a few shy little flowers looking lone-some and afraid amidst so overwhelming an array of greenness. Half a mile or so along the rugged banks brought us to a waterfall about 50 feet high: three of us got above it along a forest trail (for even in this out of the way place we found a trail and taro planted in little patches) whilst Momona and the Bard braved its perpendicular sides. On again "as merry as a robin when he trills his lay" over the sun-smitten lava. It is cool now, the sun is hidden by clouds, though he is smiling over Hilo, plainly visible from the Ragsey Falls. Another little fall obstructs our vision and our path likewise, and there is no getting around it, and the man who cannot swim gets left; but the Ragseys swim "all same duck," so they soon floated over the 50 or 60 feet of very cold aqua, kodak fiend looking as though he was posing for a living picture, endeavoring to keep his infernal machine out of the water. The walls of this miniature precipice were soon scaled and left behind—with the dog who couldn't climb them. And now another fall—Momona on the rocks, to the slight damage of his anatomy! Still on and on for half a mile or so, and a very difficult climb, but we all got there, and after encountering another of these obstructions which obscured a sight of something that was sure to be intensely interesting beyond, we felt it was time to return.

Climbing up steep places is now and again a little breath-catching when a foot or hand slips, but it's dead easy to getting down. Momona, our porpoise swimmer and crack-diver, looked down a jagged perpendicular drop of 40 or 50 feet, and very earnestly enquired if there wasn't possibly some other way of getting down: none, so he resolved to jump into the black waters of the lake far below as the least of the risks; however, he was dissuaed from this: might be rocks near the surface, and he commenced the descent. Two of the boys had safely reached the bottom; Momona got stuck half way, and then came a very thoughtful moment in his existence. "Hold on," says the Ragsey Bard; "let me go; I'll show you how to get down." This appeared a little bluff on his part, but the bluff they had to get over was a pretty big one anyhow, so the boys didn't mind it. But when the Bard dangled his legs as far as he could over the shelving rock, where Momona and he stood, without touching the slight projecting footing beneath, he pulled himself up again and looked very dubiously at the 30 foot drop on jagged rocks below, and a drop afterwards into the lake! Again and again he tried it unsuccessfully, and he and Momona looked at each other and wondered if there wasn't really any other way to get down. Then Fiterre came to the rescue, and by his aid they were soon standing below laughingly looking up at the place which a few moments before appeared so appalling.

Our clothes had been spread on the rocks for a sun bath! By the immortals, when we were about a mile from them the rain poured down, and when the spot was reached there wasn't much sunshine about the clothes. "Well," said the Bard, picking up a pair of socks—his—that were greatly in need of a little darning, and a pair of unmentionables in like condition, "I guess these should go to the Ragsey Museum, or be thrown into the Gods of rain to propitiate them to let up," casting them into the stream as he spoke. Everyone laughed to see the Bard disowning his apparel, but a few minutes later a couple of the boys were hunting around, one for a pair of socks and the other for a pair of unmentionables, when the laugh turned into a roar—the Bard had thrown someone's else things away in mistake for his own!

Momona, I have said, is our great swimmer; so fond is he of it that he will occasionally get into the water up to his neck without bothering to disrobe, as at Honolulu! This occasion was no exception, for while crossing a stream, chaffing some little Portuguese boys and girls playing marbles together, he made his usual slip on the stones and went down full length in the swift running water, to the great amusement of the youngsters.

4:45 by the new church clock saw us in town, feeling pretty good despite the drenching. A sumptuous oyster stew in honor of Fiterre and McIntosh, who have now left for the States, was partaken of after a good bath and change of clothing, supplemented by a draught or two of the ambrosial and cigars, when the Ragsey Gang felt they had added another redletter day to their pedestrian achievements of the past.

But what about Puka Maui—the Natural Bridge and Hina's cave? Couldn't find them anywhere, but when anyone asks us about them we say, "Oh, they were just out of sight!"

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

Honolulu Turned Over to the Boys in Blue.

From THE HAWAIIAN of 10-Jay.]

Honolulu has been in a continuous state of excitement this week. People who have known the place for a life time say there has never been such agitation here before. The reasons for it are the war between the United States and Spain, the occupation of this port by the United States for war purposes, and the consequent realization that that, if nothing else, means annexation—these things, accentuated by the presence here of several thousand boys in blue bound for the Philippine Islands, and the harbor full of war ships and transport steamers, have aroused the entire populace, and the excitement has been, and continues, at fever pitch.

But the excitement and enthusiasm is all of one tenor—complete sympathy with the United States. The evidence is plain: everywhere Old Glory is displayed—not only from flag staffs generally, not only from stores and offices and public and private conveyances; not only from these, but from private residences all over the city. And the houses of the American residents are not the only ones thus decorated, for many native Hawaiians have shown their sympathy and friendship by displaying the Red, White and Blue. We feel certain there is no American city of the size of Honolulu that is so intensely American just now as is the capital of the Hawaiian Islands.

As surmised by THE HAWAIIAN last week the greatest imminent struggle between Spain and the United States is likely to be at the Philippines. Spain, it seems, is preparing to attempt the recapture of Manila, and the United States is determined to hold those islands, and to that end is now rushing war ships and troops this way with all possible speed. Merchant steamships flying the American flag are being purchased outright or chartered in large numbers, and being fitted to carry troops. The China, recently put under the Hawaiian flag, has been purchased outright, and will now be a troop ship. The Zealandia, a foreign built boat, has been admitted to American registry, so she can be used as a transport: this action was taken by the American Congress, contrary to established rules—but the exigencies of war brook no restraint. Dewey will now be supported in earnest, and the army of occupation at Manila will be as large as needed, even a hundred thousand men, or more.

The United States has assumed to do more in this war than was ever done by any other nation in the history of the world. Operating from home as a base, she is sending a large army 7000 miles across the water, to occupy and hold a hostile country. The stupendousness of this undertaking is hard to realize. And now the need of the United States to own the Hawaiian Islands is becoming glaringly apparent: they are indispensable as a coaling station, and it is probable that every war ship and every troop ship will call at Honolulu for coal and other supplies.

Last Sunday forenoon the cruiser Charleston came into this port, from San Francisco. There could be no doubt that her welcome was a hearty one, as it was boisterous. The coarse-throated whistle of the Electric Light Works announced the sighting of the warship about the time devout people were on their way to church. Then there was a rush for the waterfront, and as many of the reception committee of one hundred as got there inside of half an hour, went out on the island steamer W. G. Hall to meet the cruiser. Whistles were blown, flags were flown, and the newspaper offices breaking away from custom and restraint, issued special editions Sunday afternoon, giving the latest war news brought by the Charleston.

Wednesday afternoon, late, the transport steamers Australia, City of Peking and City of Sydney arrived at Honolulu. It seems as though the entire populace was at the docks to welcome the ships and the nearly 3000 troops they carried. In brief, so hearty has been the welcome to the boys in blue, that the entire town was theirs for the time being. Street cars, hacks, bicycles, soda water, fruit, and anything and everything in the way of refreshments has been freely given to the boys without price. Yesterday they were feasted at the palace grounds, by the committee having that part of the entertainment in charge. They could ask no heartier reception—the town has been theirs.

A startling report got out yesterday that a half-Spanish volunteer on the Peking was caught laying a fuse to the ship's magazine, in which is 400 tons of ammunition. In the evening, however, the report was declared by several of the military men to be a hoax. If true the culprit will probably be shot or hanged as soon as the ship gets well to sea.

The transport ships, convoyed by the cruiser Charleston, will leave here early this morning, bound for Manila. A second expedition is being gotten ready at San Francisco, and may be expected here soon.

The Doric arrived from San Francisco just before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The news she brought from Washington makes it almost certain that Hawaii will be annexed at once. No naval battle had yet been fought in the Atlantic.

Value For Value.

When you want to get the value of your money go and examine the large stock of carriages, wagons and harness at Schuon's Carriage Repository, Club Stable Block, Fort street. He has just received ex W. G. Irwin a new line of horse millinery also a few of the celebrated Cortland jump seat buckboards with canopy tops, finished in light colors throughout. They are beautiful. Come and examine them. Prices of all these goods are lower than elsewhere.

What the Doctor Ordered.

"I was in poor health and the prescriptions I tried did not benefit me. At last the doctor began to give me Hood's Sarsaparilla and it proved to be the best of all medicines for me, and I can speak of it only in the highest terms and deem it a duty to recommend it." Real Merit

Is the characteristic of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is manifested every day in the remarkable cures this medicine accomplishes. Druggists say: When we sell a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla to a new customer we are sure to see him back in a few weeks after more—proving that the good results from a trial bottle warrant continuing its use. This positive merit possesses by virtue of the Peculiar Combination, Proportion and Process used in its preparation, and by which all the remedial value of the ingredients used is retained. Hood's Sarsaparilla is thus Peculiar to itself and absolutely unequalled in its powers as a blood purifier, and as a tonic for building up the weak and weary, and giving strength to the nerves. A New Departure.

We are very anxious to show the public what a co-operative store can do in the way of supplying the trade with fresh imported groceries. So please don't forget that the Palama Co-operative Grocery Co.'s store is now open for business. First shipment of goods arrived per Mariposa from the coast. Among the many good things she brought are fresh frozen oysters, delicious smoked halibut, plate corn beef, 6 lb kits salt mackerel, smoked beef hams, 1 lb blocks creamy butter, and many other choice articles. This store has always enjoyed the reputation for low prices, but now under the co-operative plan we are better able than ever to compete with even our celestial competitors. No harm in giving us a trial. Telephone 755 till new issue of book. Goods delivered to all parts of city and suburbs.

Private Hospitalities.

Last night a luau was given at the home of Mr. J. F. Colburn, on behalf of Princes David Kawana-nakoa and Cupid Kalaniana'ole, in honor of the United States Army and Navy Commanders here on the way to Manila. There were many present besides the principal guests, the company aggregating at least a hundred and fifty. Attorney General Smith and Consul General Haywood were among the local people there. A toast proposed by Mr. Colburn on behalf of the Princes, to the "Army and Navy of the United States," was responded to by General Anderson and Captain Glass. Three cheers were given for the Army and Navy. The feast was in the finest Hawaiian style, and held in a luau specially erected for it on the spacious lawn.

The Stanford University boys in blue were entertained with a dinner by the local Stanford alumni at Sans Souci last night. Messrs. Wilson, Whitehouse, Sorenson, Soper, White and Scott were the hosts. About sixty sat down. Mr. Whitehouse was toastmaster. A gay time was had. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Humphreys entertained a party of the Volunteer officers at luncheon yesterday afternoon. Among those present were: Maj. C. U. Gautenbein, Maj. P. G. Eastwick, Capt. H. W. Cardwell, Capt. J. F. Case, Lieut. E. P. Crowne, Lieut. Geo. W. Wolfe, Lieut. Geo. F. Teller, Correspondents Davis of the N. Y. Sun and Harper's Weekly, and P. N. Boeringer of the N. Y. Herald and S. F. Carl, John Humphreys, A. V. Gear and G. D. Gear.

War Correspondents Entertained.

It was an elegant dinner that Mr. Hubert Vos, artist, gave in honor of the war correspondents on Thursday evening. The table was set in the studio, Holani Pa, and decorated with red, white and blue flowers. These were the guests: H. L. Jones of the Associated Press, Sol. N. Sheridan of the Call and Herald, Douglas White of the Examiner and Journal, Mr. Goeringer, artist for the Call and Herald; Lieutenant Brauners, reuther, navigator of the U. S. S. Charleston; Mr. Haywood, United States Consul General; and representing the local press, W. N. Armstrong, E. Norrie, W. H. Coney and D. Logan. It added no little to the enjoyment of the feast, very fine in itself, to have on all sides the work of art of the host. So life-like they appeared that the company actually felt an impression as if they had a brilliant audience to their flow of conversation. Mr. Vos proved himself a host of unexcelled grace. There were a few toasts indicative of mutual American and Hawaiian friendship, and the host and his charming spouse had their hospitality fittingly acknowledged. Mrs. Vos visited the banquet room at the end of the feast and amiably assisted her husband in taking leave of the departing guests. Lieutenant Brauners-reuther, at the table, proved himself a capital raconteur.

It Was Blackley.

Q. H. Berrey has received a letter from James H. Blackley, commission merchant, dated at Staunton, Va., May 17. It was in reply to a letter enclosing newspaper slips giving accounts of the suicide of a young man in San Francisco, who, according to the descriptions of papers of that city, the BULLETIN concluded—in spite of a different name given there—was none other than William Blackley, recently from Honolulu where he had a situation in a bank.

The Virginia man sent Mr. Berrey's enclosures to San Francisco with a request that the city authorities make an investigation and write him "fully and frankly all the facts they could learn." The replies he had received assured him that his unfortunate son was dead, the newspaper reports in question referring to none other.

A PERMANENT AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

From THE HAWAIIAN of to-day.]

At the meeting of the Board of Agriculture, May 27th, the proceedings of which were reported in full in THE HAWAIIAN last week, Secretary Clark was empowered to arrange for a permanent exhibit of the products of the Hawaiian Islands. This scheme—originating with Mr. Clark, and to be successfully carried out only at great expenditure of energy—means more for this country than the bare announcement that such an exhibit is to be established can convey to the mind.

Less than twenty-five years ago Southern California was, from an agricultural and horticultural standpoint, a land of little promise. A few venturesome, hopeful people, in the face of all sorts of discouragements, planted fruit trees and grain and vegetables and flowers where it seemed certain to many people that they could not be made to grow. Some of these things did not grow well, because the conditions were not understood by the planters; but many of them did, and grew surprisingly well, too. When these products were seen by the people, they were convinced, with the result that other orchards and other fields of grain and special things were planted. Seeing is believing. It is well known in Southern California that the surprisingly rapid development of the region is due largely to the exhibitions of what had been done. The county agricultural fairs did a great deal of valuable advertising, until they lapsed into little more than horse races. But the idea of produce displays was too valuable to be lost, and permanent exhibitions came into vogue. These exhibitions have added millions of dollars to the wealth of the southern half of California. At Los Angeles, the southern metropolis, the exhibition is managed by the Chamber of Commerce. People acquainted with that section will hardly ask what good it does—they know. The first point of interest to be visited in Los Angeles is the Chamber of Commerce exhibit. It is an object lesson more convincing than any other thing could be. Each section of country, and each division and subdivision of soil is shown up in the varied exhibitions; so no matter what particular line of agriculture a man may wish to engage in, he has an object lesson that may, and probably will, save him years of time and much money. If the exhibit at Los Angeles did not pay the contributing counties, as an advertisement, it surely would not be maintained year after year.

Because the land of Hawaii is scattered in a group of islands, and is not quickly and cheaply accessible, an exhibit, such as that described, if maintained in Honolulu, the metropolis of this country, and it were freely accessible to whoever cared to look and study, would do more good for these islands than the Los Angeles exhibit does for its section. If a person were to ask what farm products could be raised profitably, he might get a fuller and more satisfactory answer than in any other way, by going to the Hawaiian exhibition. There could be exhibits of island soil, with descriptions telling of the various chemicals they contain and what kinds of fertilizers should be added if certain products were desired. There might be object lessons in coffee raising, for instance, that would tell more to the enquired than columns of worded directions. People who think, and have the unpleasant habit of affirming, in season and out of season, that certain things will not grow here—when they will, and grow surprisingly well, too, if properly handled—should be convinced of the error of their ways before they have an opportunity to do more harm. As seeing is believing, a genuine object lesson would be the most efficacious thing to do for them.

We hope Mr. Clark will have the hearty support of everyone in the matter, to the end that great and lasting good may result to the whole country.
