WELCOME CAMARA

Members of Co. C Banquet Their Captain.

GLAD TO SEE HIM HOME AGAIN

Toasts by Officers of National Guard.

Col. Soper Offers Tribute to President Dole—Col. Fisher's "I Told You So."

The officers and members of Company C gave Captain Camara a very hearty welcome home from his trip to San Francisco by tendering him a banquet in the drill shed last evening. Captain Camara was first notified of the prospective event in the morning. When he, the officers of the National Guard of Hawaii and members of the company were gathered in the company room, a bountiful repast, prepared by Caterer Chapman, was found spread out before them. Flags of various nations, pennants and greens were used in the decoration. At the head of the long table was a smaller one at right angles and forming a "T." At the head and facing his company was Captain Camara, while at either side of him were Colonels Soper and Fisher. The remainder of the head table was occupied by the following: Major Jones, Major McCarthy, Captain Schaefer, Captain Coyne, Captain Smith, Captain Murray, Captain Ashley, Captain Bergstrom, Surgeon Cooper, Adjutant Towse, Second Lieutenant Costa of Company C. First Lieutenant Costa was seated opposite at the other end of the long table, where all the members of Company C were.

CAPT. CAMARA, N. G. H.

The banquet went on merrily until about 9 o'clock, when Colonel Soper arose and called on Adjutant Towse to make a few preliminary remarks. In answer to this, Mr. Towse spoke of Company C and the man at the head of affairs in that organization, ending by proposing the health of Captain Camara.

When Captain Ashley arose he proposed a toast to President Dole, which was drunk "bottom up," with three cheers in the bargain. Colonel Soper, called on to answer to this, spoke of the great man at the helm in matters Hawaiian and referred to him as the Washington of the Hawaiian Islands. He was the man who had led the present movement to success and, notwithstanding the statements of others, he was heartily in favor of annexation to the United States, for he firmly believed that to be the saving of the country. He was a man just at all times and willing to sacrifice his own interests to those of the people who looked to him as their head.

Referring to annexation, Colonel Soper spoke of a conversation supposed to have taken place between Senator Morgan and a friend of his. In this Senator Morgan is reported to have said that, from a standpoint of an American, he believed in annexation, but from that of a Hawaiian he should certainly look at the matter in a different light. Colonel Soper said that he believed Senator Morgan had not obtained full particulars of how matters stood down here. Annexationists here certainly looked upon the matter as a duty on the part of the United States to gather this country under its protecting wing. After music by the Portuguese orchestra, which did so much toward the pleasure of the evening, the health of the National Guard of Hawaii was proposed and likewise drunk "bottoms up." Colonel Soper answered this with a speech, in which he complimented the men who wore the uniforms by saying that the N. G. H. was up with any that could be produced. The California militia, with which he was connected, could not make any better showing, except, of course, in numbers. Captain Camara was called upon to relate some of his experiences while in San Francisco. He responded by saying that he had gone there on business alone, and, therefore, had no experiences to relate. However, he wished to thank the officers and members of his company for their kindly welcome home, which they expressed not only in the spirit shown, but in the written "Welcome Home" at the entrance. He noticed several new faces about the festive board and knew from this that the two lieutenants he had left in charge had not been idle. Proposing the health of Company C, three cheers were given.

After the followed promiscuous toasts on the part of the remaining officers. A jolly time was held until a late hour, when all hands departed, feeling that a most pleasurable evening had been spent.

NOTES.
Colonel Fisher said: "The last banquet of Company C I attended was when Captain Camara was leaving the company. I said then that he would be with you. Now I have the great satisfaction of saying: 'I told you so.' He is with you yet."

Captain Camara said: "I went to the Presidio just before coming home, my purpose being to see guard mount, and I am not flatterer the regulars of the N. G. H. at all when I say that they go through this with much more nicety."

Captain Ashley said: "Please do not throw any more bouquets. I have been decorated from ear to ear and I really haven't room for more."

Colonel Soper said: "There are others," and toasts by the others followed. Then the music started up and drowned what Captain Coyne had to say.

Captain Murray was kept busy preparing "wads" for others to throw at their neighbors.

Major Jones, Captain Ashley and Adjutant Towse played baseball with an orange as a ball, a bottle as a bat and Towse as a catcher. Jones went out on one strike.

Caterer Chapman is to be congratulated on the banquet he prepared. It was certainly an effort worth remembrance.

The members of Company C had many toasts between them.

WHAT ABOUT THIS?

Japanese Will Embark as Coffee Growers.

A rumor is current among the Japanese that in the event of annexation their contracts with the Hawaiian Government, and by them assigned to the various sugar plantations, will be null and void, and they will be at liberty to go "whither they listeth."

In connection with this rumor it is also stated that a majority of the laborers who will remain in the country will embark in the coffee business on Hawaii. The success which has attended the Japanese who leased land from Mr. Kinney in the Olua District has encouraged other Japanese to join in. There are large tracts of land suitable for coffee far back from the road in the Olua District, and it is to this place the Japanese will go. The land is overgrown with tree ferns, which, when decayed, will make an excellent fertilizer.

There may be opposition on the part of the people of Hilo to any large number of Asiatics settling in the vicinity. They realize the benefits to Hilo if the coffee business is a success, but they prefer to have a white population than to have the sides of the hills covered with Asiatics and the business conducted by Chinese in Hilo increased. Just now Hilo is on the boom, and the residents invite immigration. They want the town to be occupied by families disposed to build attractive homes, rather than shacks.

Magnetic Observations.

The officers of the French man-of-war Duguay Trouin will begin taking a series of magnetic observations at the Government buildings on Monday. The last were taken by the officers of H. B. M. S. Penguin, and previous to that Professor Preston, about four years ago, made some for the United States Government.

Reception on Duguay-Trouin.

Commodore Fort and the officers of the French cruiser Duguay-Trouin will give a reception and dance aboard ship from 3 to 6 Wednesday, September 29th. Boats will be at the landing to take off the guests.

SIGHTS IN NIKKO

Railway Trains in Japan Are Not Noted for Speed.

HIGHWAYS ARE FINELY GUARDED

Many Acres Planted With Early Vegetables.

Prayers of Rice Planters for Destruction of Rats in the Fields.

[Special Correspondence.]

Nikko, September 6, 1897.

EDITOR P. C. A.:—We found it so hot in Yokohama that as soon as we could we got out of the heat into this mountain region. The air is cool and bracing; the sky was overcast this morning, but the mountain-tops stand out clear, and the thermometer marks 62 deg. During the day it has risen to 71 deg.

It is a long ride from Yokohama to Nikko, 118 miles, in eight hours. There are no express trains, and changes are frequent from one road to another, with long waits, in order to make connections. We left Yokohama at 12:45, and arrived at Nikko at 9 p. m. We had first-class tickets, and these gave us half a car with three long sofas, all to ourselves, as there were no other first-class passengers. At the different stations where we stopped, we were allowed the privilege of crossing the tracks. The Japanese passengers were compelled to go up and cross over on the bridges. Such numbers of them are traveling in every direction, it is well that they are looked after with such paternal care; but American sovereigns prefer to look out for themselves.

This constant stream of travel on all the Japanese thoroughfares is largely owing to the shrewd provision of the old Shoguns, who compelled the great Daimios to live at Tokyo six months of the year. They travelled to and from their homes in great state, with hordes of retainers. They took pride in having the highways in their own provinces as smooth and pleasant as they could be made. From Utsonomiya, where the main road is left, there is a straight, broad, graded avenue to Nikko 27 miles long, lined with huge tall cryptomeria trees, a species of cedar. From the station to the village, at the head of which is the Kanoya Hotel, is another avenue of cryptomerias. Entering the village in the darkness, we found the streets wet with recent rain, and the rushing of the water in the gutters on either side of the road gave assurance of coolness, a welcome sound to travelers fleeing from the hot glare of Yokohama's narrow streets.

The railroad runs through the dead level of the Tokyo plain, with the kitchen-garden farms. The upper end of the route passes through a rolling country, more like Iowa, with well-wooded ridges, and similar "farms" bordering the runlets between. We could see in the dim distance the pyramidal bulk of Nantai-san, the great mountain of the Nikko range, lifting itself into prominence on the horizon. It is 8,000 feet high, and wooded to the very summit. That is a peculiarity of these Japanese mountains. Otherwise, the country reminded me more of the Scotch Highlands, with its glens, than of Alpine scenery, with its lofty heights and deep-cleft valleys.

We passed acres of Japanese pears, grown on flat trellises. But the fruits have not much flavor. Japan lacks sunshine, to judge from our experience. Old residents tell us that the latter half of October and the whole of November are the best months for visiting the country, for then there is plenty of sunshine. We are disappointed in not finding peaches in this village. They were abundant at Karuzawa, and fine flavored, four for 3 cents of our currency. We have salmon trout here, for the Government has stocked the lake above us. But the carp I do not relish. The Japanese are very fond of fishing. On the stone wall, in front of the Grand Hotel at Yokohama, on the boats in the creek, men and boys stood as close as they could to one another, each with his rod and line, some with two. Once in a great while some one would draw up a small shiner, while a smile of supreme satisfaction brightened his face.

We have visited the mortuary temples, built in front of the tombs of the two greatest Shoguns, Iyeyasu and his grandson, Iyemitsu. From time immemorial there has been a Shinto temple in this valley. The Shinto priests selected high places in sylvan retreats, or mountain peaks, for their places of devotion. We had on one railroad train a large band of pilgrims, all dressed in white, each with his staff and bells, en route for some shrine. Nikko is a favorite resort for the rice farmers early in the season. There are no rats in these temples. Their absence is attributed to the magic power of the carved image of a sleeping cat. The farmers come to pray for protection of their rice fields against rats. There is another story told of this marvelous cat, that whenever she sees it is going to rain, she winks with one eye. It reminds me of the similar story told of an image of St. Peter, that turns its eyes whenever it hears a cock crow.

Our hotel is on the brink of one of the conical hills, of which the valley of the Daiya-gawa, is full, and opposite those on which the various temples are built. The view from our windows in the early morning after our arrival was specially beautiful. The first rays of dawn, tipped with roseate light some of the high peaks above us, while light clouds half veiled the various ridges beneath. This view, half concealing, half disclosing, was more beautiful than the full light of the sun as it shone out this morning over this whole mountain region. Nikko-san means "Mountains of the Sun's Brightness," and has supplanted the old name Futa-ana-yama, "Two Storm Mountains." Kobo Daisha, A. D. 800, exercised the storm demons that used to devastate the country, but our coming seems to have brought an unusual prevalence of rain, and we have seen very little, indeed, of the sun's brightness in this Nikko region.

We were favored with a morning without rain when we visited the temples. A broad avenue of rather steep ascent leads up the side of the hill, then turns at right angles, and turns again as it leads up to the temple gate, with double walls. The sides of the hill have been cut away, and are either filled with Japanese cedars, toll moss-grown, or the banks are walled in with massive cyclopean masonry, and the massive fitted, finely chiselled work of modern days and Western architecture. The graveled walks are ribbed every 12 feet with transverse lines of stone, so as to prevent the water from washing away the road. Stone gutters on each side conduct the water into safe channels, as it comes rushing down the sides of the roadway, or gushing out like clear mountain springs into the stone channel.

We crossed the Daiya just below the Sacred Red Bridge reserved for the Mikado, and closed to all others. It is said to have been built on the spot where the Shinto Saint, Shodo Shonin, crossed on a bridge, formed by two snakes, one green, one blue, which some deity threw across the stream in answer to the saint's prayer. General Grant was offered the privilege of crossing this bridge when he visited Nikko, but with characteristic modesty declined the honor not given to ordinary mortals.

The broad avenues through the forest of stately cedars enhance beyond all account the grandeur of the approach to the temples. These are built, court after court, up the acclivity of the hill, each court with its gate house and special guardian figures, and granite steps, up which the long procession of priests and worshippers marched in imposing array. The influence of a ceremonial spectacular worship is strong, even in its decay, for Shintoinism and Buddhism, with all the superstitious fears they formulate and foster, cannot long endure in a country of railroads and telegraphs and newspapers such as Japan is now. Pure as the water seems, gushing from the roadside, it has filtered through the green mold of ages of decay, and will poison with enteric fevers those who drink it. So these religions of fear and cruelty must give place to the ever-living gospel of love and truth.

The impression made upon one on visiting these temples of hoary antiquity, dating back to A. D. 1616, is not that of delight in beauty, but of wonder at such grotesque magnificence in such surroundings. The paneled ceilings are wrought with patient, painstaking workmanship in soft and harmonious colors. But the images that guard the gates are in hideous colors and distorted forms. The idols, or representatives of Buddha, are huge monstrosities, and the ideas they are supposed to represent are so various as the different ideas of observers and interpreters. Fudo, the God of Wisdom, is so represented that he is commonly called the God of Fire. The shrines are wondrously similar to those used in Roman Catholic worship; the genuflections, the incense, the incantations, belong to the same style of religious service.

The side-shows are of special interest, such as the five-storied pagoda, 104 feet high, 18 feet square, with the 12 signs of the Japanese zodiac, 3 on each side; the Sorinto, a bronze column, 42 feet high, with wind bells in the shape of lotus flowers; the drum house; the bell houses; the treasure houses, where are kept the vestments, standards, masks and other articles used in the annual processions. Two store rooms are open for exhibition, where are shown various belongings of the great Iyeyasu, like the camp equipage of George Washington in the Patent Office galleries. A huge stone basin, hollowed out of one single block of granite, 5½ feet long, 4 feet broad, 3¼ feet high, furnishes holy water for purification before worship. It was presented by the Prince of Hizen, A. D. 1619, and brought 18 miles from his quarries to its present location. We saw a gang of 50 coolies carrying a huge stone, slung on poles, up the temple road.

The bell, struck every hour, was more in the shape like a candle extinguisher than our bells with their wide lips. It was struck by a huge beam of wood, hung opposite its side, and gave out a muffled boom as the beam struck it. The second drum of tiger skin is beaten at 8 a. m., when the priests enter to say their visions, and again at 4 p. m., when the temple is closed. The priests live in the many residences that surround the temple inclosure. Those that we saw seemed perpetually drinking tea and smoking tobacco, sitting around a brazier of charcoal. The old priestess, with her fan and rattle, posed and bowed for us before the shrine of Iyeyasu, seemed old enough to be decrepit, but performed her solemn function with dignified gravity, if not with agile grace. Two men paid for candles to be burned before the Buddhist Trinity, as that would insure us against accident or disaster on our journey. One man paid for a picture of Buddha, that pinned against the wall upside down, would make any thief that entered our house unable to use his feet. Forty men was the high price we had to pay for a carved image in wood of Fudo with his two attendants, only half an inch in height, yet exquisitely carved, and this carried about the person would insure us success in all our lawful undertakings.

The curio shops are full of fossil wood and curious knots, carved into all manner of shapes, boxes, teapots, cups, and so on indefinitely. I bought for 25 cents each a set of three monkeys, carved in wood, called Koshin, and popular objects of worship at wayside shrines all over Japan. One covers his eyes with his hands, another his ears, the third his mouth, symbolizing the useful object lesson in all countries, that one must not see, hear or speak evil. Photographs are ridiculously cheap. Colored ones, 4 by 5½, are only 20 cents a dozen. The traveler, in this way, can preserve for future reference views of scenes that he has visited, and to look them over is almost like traveling again over the many interesting localities that he has been privileged to see.

This afternoon it rains, and it rains, and it rains, as it does most of the time in Japan. There is nothing to be done but sit at the window and watch the stream of travel passing up and down the valley. Jirikishas, umbrellas, rain coats of hempen mats, rack-horses, tram-cars carrying freight up to the Ashew's copper mines, or bringing down the ore, while the rushing streamlet, tumbling over the stony bottom under a cloud of bluish gray mist, with its roar and rustle, takes away the stillness which else would make the scene depressing in its desolation. At night, electric lamps will glint through among the trees on the wooded hillside opposite, far up the road to the temple is a line of telegraph poles, utilized for electric lighting, the rushing water turning a small dynamo that furnishes electric light for street and dwelling.

EACH COSTS A LIFE.

It is said that for every billiard ball in the world a human life has been lost. The ivory for their manufacture comes from the densest jungles of Africa. As described by a witness, the hot and damp atmosphere reeks with a hundred deadly diseases, and in the dark and tangled vegetation hide fierce wild animals, poisonous snakes and loathsome insects, whose bites are as fatal as those of the most fearsome serpents. In addition there is the common chance of meeting with the vengeful natives, who do not hesitate to make away with all intruders, and the always present danger of being lost in the wilderness of tangled forests, pathless mountains and impassable morasses. Thus nature conspires to shield the big, but almost helpless, elephant, and they only can engage in the trade of supplying the material for ivory billiard balls who take their lives in their own hands.

LEGAL ADVICE GRATIS.

Law, like drugs, is dispensed free in Paris by a number of lawyers, divided into various departments, each conducted by an experienced lawyer and two assistants, who give gratuitous advice to needy clients one morning and afternoon weekly. The scheme has been in operation two years and works well, the bureau having last year given advice in 1,964 cases and taken up 166 delicate and complicated cases, of which nearly one-half were won.

Catholics are not employed as teachers in Youngstown (O.) public schools.

SURPRISE PARTY.

To Miss Mabel Woods at Miss Nolte's, Waikiki.

At her home, near Kapiolani Park, last night, Miss Rika Nolte gave a very delightful surprise party to Miss Mabel Woods, who is to leave for her home on Hawaii on the Helene. The Quintette Club was present and dancing was kept up until a late hour. Busses conveyed the merry revelers to and from the Nolte home. Among those present, besides the guest of honor, were: Mrs. Hutchinson, Misses Lucy Ward, Annie Ward, Myra Angus, Alice Wall, Myra Sloggett, Emily Halstead, Carrie Afong, Bessie Afong, Cora Henneghan, Nellie Young, May Young, Lillian Paris, Harriet Lewers, Juliette King, Pauline Neumann, Ada Williams, May Hart, Margaret Hart, Frits, Lizzie Grace, Clara Low, Rose Roth, Lishman, Leo Martin, Farnum, Rowan, Belle Vida, Messrs. George Kluegel, E. B. Barthrop, J. Q. Wood, O. St. John Gilbert, R. W. Shingle, Ernest Ross, H. W. Mist, Percy Lishman, F. Hedemann, George Fuller, H. Schultze, H. Giles, C. von Hamm, von Damm, Howard, Castendyck, Charles Hall, George Angus, Fred Angus, A. F. Wall, Dr. A. C. Wall, W. E. Wall, T. E. Wall, Harry Wilder, Digby Sloggett, Charles Weight, Edwin Paris, W. Buchanan, William Thompson, J. Soper, Arthur Mackintosh and Messrs. Coone, Burt, Price, McArthur, Wettengel and Wurtzbaugh of the U. S. S. Philadelphia.

"MRS. OLIPHANT'S BAD MANUSCRIPT."

The handwriting of Mrs. Oliphant seems to have been even worse than that of the late Dean Stanley. In the Scottish Typographical Circular, just issued, reference is made to the deceased novelist, and it is said that the regrets of the printers who had to deal with her "copy" will be of "a mixed description." "They are not likely to echo the longing of Tennyson for the 'touch of a vanished hand.' We recall many a sad picture of groups of weary compositors straining eye and brain in the almost impossible task of catching a word whereby to bring sense and order out of the array of almost straight lines which the good lady was in the habit of using in lieu of words. Naturally guesswork figured largely in the process. But it took time, and time to the piece compositor, who is usually the victim in this matter, means bread." Among the present day "bad writers" Mr. Cunningham Graham has for some time had an unenviable notoriety.

MINSTREL SHOW

Attraction at the Opera House This Evening.

Excellent Program to Please the Public—Negro and Coster Melodies to be Sung.

The attraction for this evening will be the minstrel entertainment by the troupe from H. B. M. S. Comus to take place in the Opera House, beginning at 8 p. m. Seats are selling rapidly and to assure yourselves of a place where you can hear and see all the good things that are promised, it might be a good move to call at the Wall, Nichols Company. The box plan is now open at that place. The entertainment will be in charge of Mr. A. J.
Dyer, R. N., who was already successfully managed six shows of the kind.
Doors open at 7; performance at 8.

Following is the program to be presented:

Newspaper Men Like it.
Newspaper men want the best dictionary there is. The Standard Dictionary is in use, we believe, in the office of every English newspaper (and in some that are not English) on these Islands; also, in most of the newspaper offices of the United States, or, in fact, the world.

The Arena says: "This new work is the nearest approach to an ideal dictionary. * * * It will occupy the first place among dictionaries of the English-speaking world for many years to come."

London Times says: "The merits of the dictionary are indispensable."
New York Herald: "The most complete and most satisfactory dictionary yet printed."

The Christian Commonwealth, London: "As regards accuracy, there can be no doubt about its superiority."

The Toronto Globe: "It is well named the Standard."

By paying $1.00 a week for 21 weeks you can obtain one of these valuable works. The club is now being formed at Wall, Nichols Company, and it will pay you to call and see a copy of this indispensable work that should be in every household.

A CLEAN GOVERNMENT.

Since the event of the negotiation of the treaty of annexation in '93, the Government of this Republic has studiously and persistently avoided the use of methods, in advancing the cause of annexation, which would have the slightest appearance of being criticised as "doubtful," or "corrupt." It has refused to follow ways of advancing the cause, which statesmen of eminent character in America, would not hesitate to adopt. It has placed itself above suspicion. All friends of the Government cordially agree with it, in its purpose to maintain its high integrity. At the same time, it is probable that it has "learned backward" too severely at times.

But this extreme sensitiveness of the Government has served one purpose. It has shown most emphatically that in Washington, where much has been said about the agents of the Hawaiian Government swarming through the Capitol with pockets full of money, there is no "barrel," and neither lobbyist nor newspaper correspondent has been able to find one.

While a "free" invitation to visit these Islands and inform themselves, given to those who are about to pass judgment on our affairs, is the most simple, direct, and thorough method of presenting our side of the annexation case, our opponents would constantly annoy those who accepted the invitation, with charges of being "bought up," "bribed with an excursion tickets." For this reason, which goes more to the wisdom, than to the morals of the practice, it is impossible for the Government to appear in any way to secure favorable action, by doubtful methods.

Owing to the unreasonable reaction in Congress, at present, against incurring any expenses through investigating committees, or what are called "junketing committees," the Senate made no provision for the personal visitation of these Islands, by a committee of its own. It is one of the curious incidents in Congressional history, that when a proposition is made, which is seriously claimed by many statesmen, to "involve a new departure from the old and traditional policy of the American people," and besides, some serious questions of facts are raised, Congress does not appropriate a few thousand dollars, in order that a full personal examination may be made. On the other hand, it will vote $50,000 to build an interior post office, or dredge a creek, which can hardly be located on the map. It is not opposition to annexation which does all this, but a sudden, distressing spirit of economy.

The meanest feature in the publication in a local paper, of a statement, without instant contradiction, that Mr. Thurston had made the offer set forth, to an American Senator on behalf of this Government, is that it is a gross insult to Mr. Thurston's intelligence and sagacity. He is falsely charged with offenses enough already by our enemies. To state, substantially, that he has smirched the Government, is a heavy blow on the head of one who anxiously carries many burdens for the cause.

A STRANGE ERROR.

It is generally believed that the process of making laws is very solemn, elaborate, and attended with something like funeral ceremonies. We once believed that Legislators were specially prepared clothes, never permitted jokes in their presence, read the Bible constantly in order to keep Satan from tempting them, and created around themselves an environment of lofty motives. While all this is true in the case of many Legislators, it is not generally true, as any one may know by reading Moorfield Story's book on "A Year's Legislation" in the United States. From this, one would infer that in some States, the people preferred to send their "freaks" to the Legislatures instead of their wise men. In many instances the proceedings of a boy's debating society would not suffer in comparison with some of these Legislative bodies.

Even in the American Senate, singular carelessness prevails, owing to the haste with which laws are passed. In the new tariff bill, a clause was inserted, while it was before the conference committee, that put a discriminating duty on all foreign goods coming through Canada into the States. It was a deadly strike at the Canadian-Pacific railroad. The subject was not debated in either branch of Congress, and the clause would not have been admitted if all the members of the conference committee had noticed it. But the law is now signed, and the discriminating duty must be paid. Senator Chandler apologizes to his constituents for permitting the clause to be slipped in, without his knowledge. He feels badly about it, and says, "I hope to be forgiven by my constituents, but I shall never forgive myself."

In the same conference committee, by the omission of three or four words, the meaning and intent of the law was entirely changed. This was done without the knowledge of the members of the committee generally. But it laid a discriminating duty on goods imported in European vessels, an act which Congress has steadily refused to do heretofore. So seventy millions of people solemnly enact a law which they did not really desire. It is said that grave consequences are involved. But the importance and wisdom of these laws is not our point. It is to show that legislation on most important matters is carelessly done under the conditions of high pressure, which exist in America. If the same mistakes were made in a boy's debating society, the principal of the school would interview, with the usual appliances, the boys who made the mistake.

The N. Y. Sun says that the clause so quietly put into the tariff bill, discriminating against the Canadian-Pacific railroad, ought to be there, and is excellent legislation. This view of the case has a very practical ring in it. But it is an argument really for abolishing Legislatures, and substituting in their places, the management of a few men. No doubt the few men would make better laws, but it is an abandonment of the very rugged road of Democracy.

A Government may, like an individual, be too conscientious. Lord Houghton used to tell the following anecdote: An English gentleman, caught in Paris, during the terrible days of the Revolution of 1793, obtained from one of the Revolutionary leaders a pass which permitted him to leave Paris. An English lady, the authoress of one of the most devotional hymns in the English language, was terrified at the confusion and bloodshed in the city. She asked the English gentleman to take her out of the place on his pass as a member of his family. "What shall I call you?" he asked. "Call me your wife till the stage-coach reaches Boulogne," she replied. "Madame," he said, "in these awful times I must be above suspicion." She remained in Paris.

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

Americans use 2,000,000 tons of sugar annually.

Aluminum neckties are on sale in London. They are fastened to the collar-button by a band round the neck, and are particularly recommended for summer wear, since they can be easily cleaned when soiled, while they are not perceptibly heavier than cotton, cambric or silk.

Long Island oyster beds, supposed to have been exhausted long ago, have suddenly burst into full bloom. The baymen who have been stranded for years are hopeful and happy once more.

After Conan Doyle's first story had been refused by 11 publishers, he managed to sell it for $125. Sir Walter Besant's first novel lay, after having been rejected by the publishers, for some years in a corner of his study.

The Handelsblad, Amsterdam, says that a Prussian master of ceremonies would have a fit if he were asked to marshal the guests in the English way. In Prussia the military men rank first, noblemen without military rank and without official position "take a back seat," and the clergy are remanded still further in the rear.

It has just been discovered in France that, although the palace of the Tuilleries was destroyed 26 years ago, four officials charged with the preservation and care of the palace still hold office and draw their salaries.

Preserve Your Health

EVERYONE ADMITS THAT A tonic taken now and again will prove decidedly beneficial in preserving one's health in this climate. Naturally there arises a question as to what will best suit your constitution.

Malt

Of the many reputable preparations offered to build you up and restore lost vigor, most all of them are repulsive to some people, and, therefore, ought not to be used. MALT NUTRINE acts with all alike; the effect is generally very marked, and at all times beneficial.

Nutrine

For the teachers and clerks who have doubtless profited by their summer vacation, ought not to drift back to the tired and worn-out condition they were in previous to taking their vacation. Take MALT NUTRINE and continue to improve.

Satisfies

You need not feel that you are experimenting when you begin taking MALT NUTRINE. The many hundreds who have profited by taking it have placed the preparation beyond all fear and doubt as to its virtues. Our orders placed with the manufacturers show a steady increase, which signifies popularity and merit.

Red Velvet Is the title given the latest and most satisfactory garden hose manufactured—a hose that can be used without fear of damage through being dragged upon the ground—and so flexible that no "kinks" can ever form in it, cracking the rubber and producing those annoying leaks always found in the ordinary hose.

Red Velvet is a corrugated hose, manufactured from the finest quality of rubber only, and is exceptionally strong.

We carry this quality in 3-4 inch size and the price is no more than that of an ordinary 3-ply hose.

HILO HOSPITAL

Rules and Regulations for Government.

Incurables May Not be Admitted for Treatment—Hawaiians Admitted Free.

The following rules relating to the government of the Hilo hospital were talked over at the meeting of the Board of Health on Thursday afternoon and adopted:

1. The government of the hospital shall be under a Board of Managers appointed by the Board of Health, to whom they shall be responsible and by whom they may be removed at any time. All acts of the Board of Managers shall be subject to approval by the Board of Health.

2. The Board of Manager shall consist of the attending physician, the superintendent and the business agent.

3. The attending physician who shall also be the medical superintendent shall be appointed by the Board of Health from among the physicians living in the district. He shall have full supervision of the medical department of the hospital; shall decide all questions relating to the medical or surgical treatment of patients; shall examine all patients applying for admission to the hospital and shall decide whether they are proper hospital cases from a medical standpoint. He shall discharge all patients when they are fit to leave the hospital; shall order and have charged of all drugs and instruments belonging to the hospital, and shall superintend all such other matters concerning the hospital as require the supervision of a physician. As attending physician and medical superintendent he shall be directly responsible to the Board of Health.

The attending physician shall constitute one of the Board of Managers and as such shall have a voice in all matters appertaining to the management of the hospital.

4. The superintendent shall be appointed by the Board of Health and shall reside at the hospital. He shall have full control of the hospital in all matters not pertaining directly to the medical treatment of patients or otherwise conflicting with the duties of the attending physician and shall have charge of the books and accounts of the hospital; shall order and have charge of all supplies of every kind except the medical supplies; shall have supervision of the nurses; shall engage and discharge and otherwise have full supervision of all employees of the hospital except the matron, nurses or such other employees as may be employed directly by the Board of Health.

The superintendent shall constitute one of the Board of Managers and as such shall have a voice in all matters appertaining to the management of the hospital.

5. The Business Agent shall be appointed by the Board of Health and shall reside in the district. He shall assist the superintendent in all business matters relating to the hospital when requested to do so by the superintendent or attending physician. He shall have access to the books and accounts of the hospital.

The Business Agent shall constitute one of the Board of Managers and as such shall have a voice in all matters appertaining to the management of the hospital.

DUTIES OF ATTENDING PHYSICIAN AND SUPERINTENDENT.

6. The attending physician shall be appointed by the Board of Health and shall live in the district, within easy distance of the hospital. He shall attend the hospital, at least, once every day, visiting every patient assigned to his care. He shall cause complete clinical notes to be kept of all cases treated in the hospital, such notes to be filed away in methodical order for reference. Upon his first visit after the arrival of any new patient he shall carefully examine such patient, recording the results of his examination in the clinical record of the case. He shall furthermore hold himself in readiness to respond promptly to any emergency call from the hospital. In all serious operations and in all other cases where he considers consultation necessary, he shall, if considered practicable, call in consultation some other physician, giving preference to the physicians composing the Honorary Staff. It shall also be the duty of the attending physician to have supervision over the sanitary condition of the hospital and its surroundings. The attending physician shall prepare and forward to the Board of Health a medical report at the end of each quarter.

7. The superintendent shall assume charge of all property belonging to the hospital and shall be responsible to the Board of Health for the same. He shall take charge of all moneys, purchase all supplies, collect, or cause to be collected, all bills, and perform such other acts belonging to the duties of the book-keeper and purveyor as may be necessary, keeping a faithful account of the same and rendering monthly reports to the Secretary of the Board of Health.

HONORARY STAFF.

8. An Honorary Staff of physicians may be formed, which any physician resident in the district and licensed to practice by the Hawaiian Government, may join, upon the approval of the Board of Health, and may be removed from such staff by the Board.

9. It shall be the privilege of all physicians on the Honorary Staff during the regular hospital hours, and it shall be their duty without charge to respond to all calls made upon them for consultation in important cases.

10. The privilege shall be granted to any physician on the Honorary Staff to place not more than one private patient in the hospital at any one time, who shall be subject to the rules of the institution, and the physician may be retained in charge of the case if so desired.

RULES CONCERNING PATIENTS.

11. The ward shall be free to indigent Hawaiians.

12. Foreign patients occupying beds in the wards shall be charged $1 per day each.

13. All patients occupying private rooms shall be charged $2.50 per day each.

14. Special arrangements may be made in the case of the employees of plantations for whose bills the plantations are responsible.

15. Patients coming to the hospital, especially for surgical operations, may be charged not to exceed $100 for the operation, in the discretion of the attending physician, such fee to go to the hospital. Provided, however, that the Board of Managers may in any special case remit such charge.

16. Patients brought to the hospital for medical treatment only, and not especially for surgical operation, but upon whom it shall become necessary to operate, shall not be charged for such operations.

17. Patients suffering from acute contagious affections or from incurable diseases, will not be admitted to the wards.

18. Pay patients on entering the hospital must deposit with the superintendent a sum sufficient to pay for from two weeks to one month in advance, according to the nature of the sickness, or present a written guarantee for the same, signed by some responsible person. Printed forms for the purpose will be furnished by the hospital.

By order of the Board of Health.
CHAS. WILCOX,
Secretary.
Honolulu, H. I., Sept. 22, 1897.

WHAT IS SAID OF MEERSCHAUM.

The name of meerschaum originally comes from the Turkish term "myrschem." This is the name given the mineral, which is but a product of decomposition of serpentine, at the place where it was originally discovered, and where it was exclusively mined for a long time, at Brussa, in Asia Minor.

At the present time meerschaum is found much farther inland in considerable quantities, Eski-Shehr being the principal point.

More than 10,000 men are working there in some 4,000 shafts, there being at a depth of about 200 feet underground.

Smaller quantities of the mineral are also found on the Island of Negropont and near the Thebes of antiquity in Greece.

Meerschaum when found is neither white nor hard, but is formed of a doughy, soft, light gray mass, which hardens when exposed to air and becomes considerably lighter and whiter.

HERE'S A QUAIN IDEA.

Get an Italian vase made of red clay and soak it in water for a couple of days. Then sprinkle timothy grass seed over all the outside, and in a week or 10 days the seed will sprout and grow until the whole vase is covered with a coat of the loveliest, finest green imaginable. Fill the vase with water as soon as the seeds are sprinkled on the outside, and always keep it filled, also sprinkling the growing grass frequently. Put roses in the vase, and the result is positively ideal. When the grass begins to fade, in three or four weeks, it can be peeled off and fresh seeds planted as before.

HE WAS A POOR ARTIST.

The Boston Transcript recalls a story of Edwin Forrest during one of his Boston engagements. A poor artist called several times to see him at the old Winthrop House. Each time he brought a picture which he had painted; he finally left it with a note, stating that he was in needy circumstances. Forrest read the note, and took the picture from the picture. It proved to be a painting of himself as Spartacus. Forrest gazed upon it a moment, and then ejaculated to the clerk: "Give him $10. If he is as poor as his picture he must be on the point of starvation!"

The unusual heat which has prevailed in London has produced a revolution in manners on the bench. A few days ago the Lord Chief Justice, Lord Russell of Killowen, after ordering all the doors and windows to be opened, took off his peruke and his robe, and authorized the advocates to follow his example. For three or four centuries, it is said, no English judge has ever sat on the bench without his wig.

REPORT TO SPAIN.

View of Responsibility of United States.

The Washington Star says that Mr. Calderon Carlisle, the legal adviser of the Spanish Minister to the United States, has made a voluminous report on the Cuban question, with special reference to the responsibility of the United States for the filibustering expeditions reported to have left these shores. The report deals particularly with the municipal laws of the United States and their construction by the courts, as furnishing the means at the command of the Government to fulfill what is termed the international duty of the United States, "admitted in principle, at least, by the proclamations of the President."

It says that while the practical results of the Supreme Court decision in the Three Friends case have not been as immediate as might have been expected, it has a far-reaching importance, the ultimate consequences of which are yet to be seen.

"A continued study of the neutrality laws of the United States," says Attorney Carlisle, "and their application to the existing emergency, convinces the undersigned that, in spite of the various failures of justice which have occurred, the laws are sufficient in themselves to enable the United States to come up to the full measure of international duty which they required of Great Britain."

"To accomplish this it is not necessary that the Executive should attempt any interference with the judiciary, but only that the Executive should, by its own example, in preventing and prosecuting violations of the law, impress both the courts and the juries of the country with the gravity of the matter in hand."

"No exercise of arbitrary power is suggested or required, but the vigilant and vigorous exercise of the exceptional powers which are given by our own laws may be rightly expected, when it is remembered that those laws are passed to enable us to fulfill a duty under the law of nations, the violation of which duty, through the permitted acts of lawless citizens or inhabitants, may entail vast and distressing consequences."

In conclusion Mr. Carlisle says that the United States now owes to Spain all the international duties which one friendly nation owes to another in time of peace, and can owe no international duty to the insurgents, and also that the municipal laws which in themselves, or by reason of the method of their administration by municipal, judicial or executive officers, permit the repeated consummation of hostile enterprises against a friendly nation, can furnish no justification or extenuation for any international wrong or damage as against such friendly nation.

While there is no reference in the report to any proposed claim of damages, it is a compilation of evidence on which Spain will base the claim when it is made, and on which she will attempt to substantiate.

In a table of filibustering expeditions which left the United States for Cuba, it appears that there were in all 42 expeditions fitted out. Of these 21 were total failures, 6 partial failures, and in 11 out of the 15 expeditions classed as successful by Mr. Carlisle proceedings against persons or vessels were instituted.

In no case has a vessel been finally condemned. There were three convictions of persons in the cases of Wilborg, in Philadelphia, affirmed by the Supreme Court; Hart, in Philadelphia, now pending on appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals, and Luis, convicted in Baltimore and now serving his sentence. Mr. Carlisle gives a list of cases in which persons were acquitted and of cases in which proceedings were discontinued.

One of the most important features of the report is the publication of a large number of official papers issued by Senator T. Estrada Palma, the head of the Cuban Junta in New York, tending to show that the Junta is originating and setting on foot in the United States hostile expeditions against a power with which the United States is at peace.

SOME OLD HOUSES.

Historic Landmarks in Washington Gone.

The house where Daniel Webster lived, in D street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, Washington, has been relegated to its proper sphere, for it is now dedicated to the law, says the New York Tribune. On its steps he delivered his memorable speech at midnight in 1852, when Scott had won the Presidential nomination from him. In less than a year afterward he died, and among his papers was found a box labeled "Precious Documents," with which there is so pretty a story connected that though it does not belong either to law or politics, it is certainly deserving of mention. When he was in Portsmouth he went to call one evening upon a young woman with whom he was much in love, and, finding her busy untying skeins of silk, he sat down to help her. Suddenly he stopped, saying: "Grace, we have been engaged in untying knots; let us see if we can tie one which will not untie in a lifetime," and, partly tying a piece of tape, in a peculiar fashion, he handed it to her to finish. Of course she did it; for when was Daniel ever known to lose a suit that he evidently had so much at heart as this one? When the box was opened at his death, it contained the early letters of his courtship, and this bit of tape, with the knot still in it.

The Burns cottage that stood beneath the shadow of the stately mansion has disappeared, though like its canny Scotch owner, it held its ground for many years. But the memory of Marcia Burns is still unchanged, and will always linger near these two homes that her grace and beauty had made so happy. When John Van Ness, the "well fed, well bred, well read" New Yorker, married the lovely Marcia, not many years after her father had sold his vast estate to General Washington for "whatever His Excellency would be pleased to give," he built first, though it is not generally known, the two-story brick house on the corner of Twelfth and D streets, but abandoned the project and erected the big square mansion near his father-in-law's cottage that is still so imposing in spite of its ruin. Latrobe was the architect, and it was one of the first houses to have hot and cold water carried to the upper floors.

The ceilings, with their circular moldings, are still beautiful, but the Thorwaldsen marble mantelpieces have been taken away by those who fell heirs to the estate. The windows command a most extended view of river and park, and the queer old wine cellars were, according to current gossip, to be used as a hiding-place for Lincoln, when he was to be kidnapped at the time of his attempted assassination. Marcia Burns was the only woman ever honored in Washington by a public funeral, and her once handsome mausoleum is still standing in the cemetery of Oak Hill. The house is still stanch, though it is changing rapidly and growing forlorn. Only the old box trees, scraggy and untrimmed, border the sloping road that leads up under the white pillared porte-cochere, and on rainy days they breathe out a mournful odor, like a sad, unfinished love story. There is a legend that on the anniversary of old General Van Ness's death six headless horses gallop all night around the place, and doubtless these ghostly visitors find their quarters much improved, as their field of action is now quite unimpeded, though to other eyes, perhaps, there may seem to be rather a mournful loneliness in the grassless garden and rain-stained house.

EXECUTORS SALE —OF—RESIDENCE!

By order of the Executors of the Estate of ADELIA CORNWELL, deceased, I will sell at Public Auction, on the premises, Judd Street, Honolulu,

On Friday, October 15,
AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.,

TO RETURN TO BROWN.

President Andrews Withdraws His Resignation.

PROVIDENCE, (R. I.), September 14.—E. Benjamin Andrews has withdrawn his resignation as President of Brown University. Tonight the students are celebrating the event and the university will reopen tomorrow with renewed activity and vigor. President Andrews' letter to the officials is as follows:

BROWN UNIVERSITY, September 14, 1897.—To W. V. Kellen, J. H. Stiness and R. G. Hazard, Committee—Gentlemen: The resolution of the corporation of the Brown University on the 1st inst., communicated to me by you, has been carefully considered. I take pleasure in assuring you that the action referred to entirely does away with the scruples which led to my resignation. At the date, however, when you laid the communication before me I had undertaken to perform the coming year certain work which, after learning the judgment of the corporation on the subject, I came to regard as incompatible with the duties of the presidency. I felt obliged at first to adhere to my resignation. But, being now free to give to the university my undivided services, I have withdrawn my resignation and have notified the secretary of the corporation to that effect. I am, gentlemen, yours, with sincere esteem.

E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS.

This move was entirely unexpected, as it was thought his resignation had been finally decided upon.

UNION PACIFIC SALE.

Cabinet Not Expected to Advise an Appeal.

WASHINGTON, September 15.—It is probable that within a few days Attorney-General McKenna will announce the course the Government will pursue with reference to the decree of foreclosure in the case of the Union Pacific Railroad. It can be said upon good authority that the chances are very strongly against the Government's appealing from the decree.

The Cabinet did not pass upon the question definitely, but, on the contrary, postponed final determination of it until a future meeting, but there was so much said by the various members in favor of allowing the sale of proceeds, that it is considered by those familiar with the matter that there is little doubt as to what the final conclusion will be.

America Leads in Machinery.

LONDON, September 15.—A blue book has been issued giving the replies of the colonial governors to the dispatch of the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, in 1895, sent with the view of ascertaining the extent of the displacement of British goods by foreign goods. The main conclusions reached are that the British manufacturer is still supreme in the best classes of goods, with the exception of machinery and tools of certain patterns, in supplying which the United States is most successful, although Canada is often a successful competitor in these lines.

Trades Union Federation.

BIRMINGHAM, England, September 10.—The Trades Union Congress today passed a resolution instructing the parliamentary committee to collect and distribute a special fund to assist the striking engineers. Later the congress suspended "standing orders" in order to introduce a resolution on national federation, introduced by the National Plate-Glass Bevelers' union. It read: "This congress is of the opinion that nothing short of national federation of all trades and industries will relieve the workers in the present unsatisfactory condition, and instructing the parliamentary committee to issue a circular, based on this national system of federation, with a view to enlist the co-operation of all organized workers throughout Great Britain."

The resolution was adopted with enthusiasm.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES.

NAHANT, Mass., September 10.—Ex-Congressman Theodore Lyman died here today. Theodore Lyman was born in Massachusetts in 1833. He graduated from Harvard and gave much of his time to zoological studies. During the Civil War he was Lieutenant-Colonel on the staff of General Meade. He was a member of the Forty-eighth Congress.

MONTEVIDEO, September 10.—It is announced that peace has been concluded between the President of Uruguay and the Uruguayan insurgents, through the mediation of Dr. Rittmierz, who returns here tonight from the insurgent camp with conditions of peace.

VIENNA, September 10.—Ex-King Milan of Serbia has inherited the entire fortune of the late Baron Baich, amounting to many millions of florins. Baron was heir of Prince Michael III of Serbia, who died in 1868, and was succeeded on the Serbian throne by Prince Milan, afterward proclaimed King.

SEATTLE, Wash., September 10.—The steam whaler Navarch was caught in the ice pack near Point Barrow last July and thirty-eight of her crew are thought to have perished. Twenty-nine of the missing men left the ship on August 12th to make a dash across the field of ice to the mainland near Point Barrow, and it is thought that every one of them perished. Nine men refused to leave the vessel and, locked in a huge pack of ice, went drifting farther into the inhospitable Arctic circle. They can hardly escape death.

ATLANTA, September 8.—James Longstreet, late Major-General in the Confederate army, and prospective Commissioner of Railroads, to succeed General Wade Hampton, was married at the executive mansion this afternoon to Miss Ellen Dortch, assistant librarian of the State of Georgia.

MADRID, September 9.—The Official Gazette today published the new customs tariff of Cuba. Nearly all American goods are subject to lower duties. The tariff prohibits the entry into Cuba of arms, projectiles, munitions of war, dynamite, gunpowder, sugars (except Spanish sugar), honey, molasses, silver or bronze coins, secret pharmaceutical preparations, tobacco (except snuff), chewing tobacco and all artificial wines.

ATHENS, September 16.—It is stated that the powers have accepted Russia's proposal that the evacuation of Thessaly shall begin one month after the treaty of peace is signed.

WASHINGTON, September 15.—Upon advice from United States Consul Pringle at Guatemala to the effect that revolutionists had captured the town of Ocas, on the west coast of Guatemala, the State Department has called upon the Navy Department to send a war ship there to watch over American interests, and the Alert, at Mare Island, has been ordered to the scene of the trouble.

ELECTRIC CRANES ON SHIPBOARD

The effective working of the electric winches which some time since superseded the noisy donkey engines on the North German Lloyd steamers, has induced the company to equip their newest vessel, the Bremen, with electric cranes, eight of which are ranged on each side of the steamer. Four of the cranes have a capacity of 6,614 pounds each, the others 3,307 pounds, and an outboard swing of 20½ feet. The power-generating plant consists of four dynamos, each driving its own engine, two of the dynamos furnishing power to the cranes, one being used for lighting and the fourth held in reserve for accidents or emergencies. The cranes, motor and mechanism are mounted on a circular iron platform, revolving on a pivot, turned by a seven horse-power motor, making 700 revolutions per minute, and the loads are raised by a 25 horse-power motor running 300 revolutions per minute. The load is raised or lowered by elevating or depressing a handle, and swung right or left by lateral motions of the handle, so that the cranes may be operated by the dullest stevedore. Both motors and controllers are dust and watertight, but may be easily opened, and the motion of the cranes is so absolutely noiseless that it cannot be detected by ear.

KLONDIKITE.

Klondike has struck in on at least five men in California since the day, a few weeks ago, the newspapers found out that there was such a place. The five men above mentioned had it bad, so bad in fact that it became chronic with them and settled on their brains, thereby unsettling them.

John L. Carriere, Secretary of the State Commission in Lunacy, has ascertained that within the past few weeks Klondike has furnished an excuse for five men to become charges on the State. They were committed to several of the insane asylums.

Mr. Carriere has no way of ascertaining how the penitentiary has been affected by Klondike, but vouches that it is bad for asylums.—Sacramento Record Union.

MR. CASTLE TO GO
Accepted Appointment as Secretary to Legation.

Will Leave for Washington Early in November—His Relations With Minister Cooper.

James B. Castle, late Collector-General of Customs, has sent the Government his acceptance of the appointment as Secretary of the Hawaiian Legation at Washington. He will leave for his post of duty in November.

Mr. Castle resigned his position as Collector-General on account of ill health, not, as an enterprising foreign correspondent has put it, because he wished to work in a political way against Minister Cooper. On the contrary, the relations between them are and have been most cordial. When the announcement was made of Mr. Castle's appointment to the Washington post the gossips busied themselves at once and reported that it was Minister Cooper's desire to have him out of the road. That was another campaign lie.

Before Mr. Castle left Washington, and at a time when a successor to the late Frank Hastings was being considered, Minister Hatch sent for him and asked him to accept the place, knowing that he intended resigning from the Customs Service. He refrained from giving an answer at the time, and finally dismissed it from his mind, until President Dole asked him 10 days ago to accept the place. It was offered him because of his knowledge of things Hawaiian and because he is a staunch advocate of annexation and because his property interests on the islands will give weight to the opinions he may express to the public men in Washington.

The men who have been manufacturing reasons for Mr. Castle's resignation from one department and appointment to a position in another will have to find something besides an alleged disagreement with Mr. Cooper. Their relations are most cordial.

James B. Castle was born here, and is the second son of one of the oldest missionary families on the islands. His brother, William R. Castle, is an attorney, and for a time during 1895 was Hawaiian Minister at Washington. Another brother, Henry N., who died a few years ago, was the editor of this paper. James B. Castle was at one time interested in the firm of Castle & Cooke, established by his father, but withdrew about 12 years ago and went into business in the States, but remained only a few years. He has always taken an interest in politics in the islands, but his first active part was in 1893, when the monarchy was overthrown. When a vacancy occurred in the Custom House he was appointed Collector-General, a position which he held until the first of the present month. He has contributed largely to the annexation fund and has made two extended visits to Washington in the interest of the cause.

OF HISTORIC VALUE.

Two ancient bronze shields were recently unearthed from Mitchell Hill, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, says Black and White. They were found at a depth of 10 feet, and are supposed to be 1,700 years old. In appearance they much resemble those used by the Norsemen. The small one measures 18 inches in diameter, and is in a good state of preservation; the large one measures 28 inches in diameter, and is very much decayed, being entirely worn out in several places.

During the '70's the Transvaal Republic was virtually bankrupt, and in order to meet the demands on the Treasury paper money was issued, says the Strand Magazine. Specimens of this money are now very rare. So desperate was the state of the exchequer in those days that on one occasion change could not be given to an innocent beer who tendered a sovereign to pay 8 shillings' worth of taxes. If you bought 2-penny-worth of stamps and offered a 3-penny piece, you received in exchange, not an honest copper, but the bit of cardboard reproduced here, which informed you it was "Good for one penny," a doubtful statement, seeing that if you tried to change it you received a stamp for the amount.

A GOLDEN ROAD.

California Highway Rich in Yellow Metal.

California boasts a road paved with gold, says the New York Journal. John Johnson, a widower of Bloomfield, wished to improve the road from his home to the village of Valleyford. For this purpose he received permission from Widow Martha Jones to take rock from a hillside on her farm.

While carting the rock he noticed what seemed to be specks of gold shining in the sunlight. Scouting wealth, he sent samples to San Francisco to be assayed, and learned that the stone he was building his road with was gold-bearing quartz worth from $8 to $10 a ton.

Then he sought the widow, and, pointing out the fortune which seemed to be hidden in the hill, proposed to share the cost and profit of development. But the widow was coy financially as well as sentimentally. She did not believe in Johnson or his gold-mine story. Her permission had been given to put the rock on the road, and that was all she cared to have done with it.

Johnson was furious, but he saw his opportunity. The widow had given the rock for the road—on the road it should go, even if it were worth $100 a ton. So all summer long Johnson's wagons worked until four miles of road were built, but the widow didn't weaken.

TRADING IN COUNTERFEITS.

An Exchange in Paris Where Waiters Buy False Coins.

The police of Paris recently discovered a regularly organized market place for the sale of spurious coins of France, says the Philadelphia Record. It was extensively patronized by waiters, who lay in a supply of the false coins to work them off on tourists. The large stock of false coins seized were found to be of a quality superior to that generally uttered by counterfeiters. The idea seemed to be to safely insure small profits. For instance, a lot of 5-franc pieces were found to have an almost bullion value of 3 francs each. They were sold to the waiter customers for 4 francs each, thus allowing the dishonest purchaser a clear profit of 1 franc.

Few people look closely at a franc piece, and a very bad imitation can be successfully uttered in four cases out of five. The average price paid at this exchange for franc pieces was 25 centimes, or 2½ cents. European continental waiters are past masters in the art of passing counterfeit or demotized coins, foreigners being their victims.

At Trier the remains of a large Roman house have been excavated. It faced on the main street of the old Roman city. A richly colored mosaic floor and the first window discovered in a Roman building are the most interesting things brought to light.

Vagaries

In the United States the Government allows a rebate to the manufacturers on all goods shipped out of the country. It is one of the fine points in the tariff question, and enables the foreign importer to compete with dealers in the United States in the sale of these articles. It makes it possible for our customers to buy such goods from us at lower prices than they can buy them in San Francisco. The appended list shows but a few of the articles in this line sold by us, and where more than one price is given, it will be understood that the price is graded with the different sizes of the articles. In every instance you will observe that our prices are much lower than the same goods may be bought for at the Coast. These prices are taken from the catalogue of one of the largest House-Furnishing Goods dealers in San Francisco; it is bona-fide, and the goods are identical in quality with those advertised in the catalogue. It is hard to believe that the people of Honolulu—2,100 miles from San Francisco—can buy such goods for less money:

MODERN ELEVATOR.

The Apotheosis of Elegance in the Mott-Smith Building.

Yesterday was opening day for the elevator in the Mott-Smith building, and Mr. Mott-Smith, as the landlord, headed a party of very happy tenants. Theo. Hoffman, Superintendent of the Hawaiian Electric Company, looked very well pleased because the elevator, which is undoubtedly the handsomest in the city, was placed in position under his supervision.

It is known as a Morse-Williams machine, and was made in Philadelphia, and is run by a 10 horse-power dynamo. The elevator is made of oxidized metal in a beautiful grill design, the interior being fitted with bevel plate-glass mirrors. Entrance to it is had by means of a door from the show-room of the Davey Photograph Company, or one on the hall entrance to the building. This latter is for the use of the patients of Dr. Derby or Dr. Howard, whose offices are on the second floor.

A very unique device controls the distance which the elevator travels, so that it is impossible to reach the top or bottom with a jolt. On the machinery in the cellar there are patent clutches which work in the event of a cable breaking, thus preventing the elevator from falling. Another device on the car prevents it from moving up or down too rapidly.

Frank Davey, of the photographic company, at last feels settled now that his customers can reach the studio without having to walk upstairs. He has engaged the services of an intelligent lad to operate the machine and garbed him in a very neat uniform. The cost of the elevator, which is the most modern type, was in the neighborhood of $3,000.

WARRIMOO'S DELAY.

Caused by Line From S. C. Allen in Propeller.

At 3 o'clock sharp the gangway was lowered on the Oceanic wharf, and the Warrimoo started to back out. As it happened, the bark S. C. Allen had just hauled down from Brewer's to the Inter-Island wharf, and the line attached to the vessel's bow was still fastened to Brewer's wharf.

The captain of the Warrimoo knew nothing about the line, and as the steamer backed out it caught the propeller, and, of course, there was trouble at once.

Native divers were sent down and, as stated above, it was close upon 6 p. m. before the Warrimoo was in condition to get away.

Captain Hay was very much put out about the matter, and wanted to know who was to blame for not instructing him as to the existence of the line in such a dangerous position.

Kona Roads.

"The Kona road is fast nearing completion," says a correspondent from that district. "You can go in a carriage from the Kailua landing to Napoosoo and from the former place to within one-half a mile from McGuire's ranch, a distance of 12 or 13 miles. Work on a trail from McGuire's to Eben Low's place in Waimea, has already begun. The road down from Napoosoo to Honaunau will be finished and opened up within a very few days. The whole road will be completed at the end of the year. The road from Paris' to Cleghorn's plantation is very bad. No care has been given it."

Think Opium Got Away.

It is thought that some opium got out of the Pacific Mail wharf yesterday. In the shed used for the fumigating plant were a lot of sacks, which have been collecting from time to time. There is a sliding door on the outside, and through this many sacks were taken away yesterday. The Custom House inspector in charge saw what might happen and posted a guard at the place to watch things. Many bags had gotten away before the inspector saw what was going on.

Police Court Notes.

Y. P. S. C. E.

Delegates From Hawaii Relate Their Experiences.

The delegates from Hawaii to the Y. P. S. C. E. Convention in San Francisco met in Kawaiahao Church last night to relate, for the benefit of those interested in the work of the society their experiences while in the city. The church was filled with people, the majority being young natives.

In front of the pulpit was a large Hawaiian flag. The remainder of the church was appropriately decorated. The young ladies and gentlemen who represented Hawaii so well arose in their turns and told of some particular things that were brought forcibly home to their minds. At the close of the meeting the Kawaiahao girls sang two songs. The meeting was a very interesting one and pleased all who attended.
