PLAIN SPEAKING.

A newspaper which resorts to "dark sayings" and parables, as a public instructor and moralist, at this time of day, is an anachronism. This is the day and hour for plain speaking, and not for nods and winks or half-uttered suggestions. If there are abuses to be corrected, wrongs to be righted, corruption or misdoing in places high or low which should be exposed, let the facts regarding them be presented without ambiguity or hesitancy. Life is too short and its duties far too pressing upon the average bread winner to admit of his sitting down to "read dreams" or spell out and unravel riddles. If a newspaper knows anything which the people should know, if such knowledge tends to the promotion of good government, public morals and social decency, its first duty is "to do good and to communicate." In other words, it should make its exclusive information public if it would serve a useful end; if not, it should not allude to it in any shape or way, lest it should create the expectancy of a revelation which may never come, and which if it did come would be of no practical value.

Our evening contemporary took us to task the other day, in the mysterious style it has assumed of late, for a little plain speaking on our part, and it had the ineffable meanness also to suggest that business interests, outside our journalistic duty, induced us to expose and denounce a pestilent social nuisance. As our protest, however, has had the effect of "making clean the outside of the platter" referred to, we shall not advert to this incident further than to say that the suggestion of such a reason was unworthy the occasion, and could only originate in a mind lacking the attributes of robust morality while seeking to cover up something which could not stand the test of honest investigation and criticism.

Following in the same strain last Saturday the "Bulletin" beats about the bush regarding a matter upon which it is probably better informed than any other newspaper in town. If not, it should not have thrown out the suggestions it did. The "man on the street" is not always a reliable source of information, and it is unsafe to repeat what he says unless it can be verified from other sources. But what light is spread, what knowledge communicated by the article in the "Bulletin" headed "Talk at the Street Corners?" And what kind of a summing up is it to say, after a jumble of suggestive rumors which point directly to the source of Executive authority in the Kingdom: "All this and much more is the talk. Possibly it is baseless talk; probably it has some foundation in truth; the general impression is that it is true that it ought to be." Is this either plain speaking or straightforward and manly? We say it is not.

We have been informed that the King's Privy Council of State has licensed a secret society, which professes to be the revival of an ancient mystic Order among the Hawaiians, so ancient in fact, as to date from about the time when "the morning stars sang together," and from which all mystic Orders that have since existed borrowed their signs, passwords and rituals.

We believe that our information is true, and that a license or charter has been granted by the Privy Council to this society, the membership of which appears to be presently limited to native Hawaiians. And we deeply regret that it is true, because it is a retrograde step on the part of the Hawaiian Government, as represented by the King's Privy Council of State, of which the Cabinet are members, that must lower it in the opinion of all civilized Governments which have been encouraged to think, from the prudence and wisdom of its past, that this Kingdom aspired to be in the van of social, moral and intellectual progress. How rudely that opinion will be shaken when the fact of this action by the Privy Council of State is reported, it is not for us to say. The progress of events will probably show that it was a most unwise and impolitic act to give legal sanction to this society, considered only upon grounds of national policy.

With the dark hints and suggestions which the "Bulletin" gathered at the street corners we have nothing to do. We cannot suppose that a tithe of these rumors are true. But if there be any reasonable foundation whatever for them, then changes of a radical character are impending. We dismiss these rumors from our mind, however, and take our stand solely against the reactionary conduct of the Privy Council in this particular. And we wish to be as plain and outspoken in our remarks upon this subject as upon all other matters requiring comment at our hands. Article 41 of the Constitution provides: "There shall continue to be a Council of State for advising the King in all matters for the good of the State, wherein he may require its advice, and for assisting him in administering the Executive affairs of the Government in such a manner as he may direct; which Council shall be called the King's Privy Council of State. They shall be appointed and commissioned by the King, to hold office during His Majesty's pleasure." Now, one of the functions of this high and dignified body is to decide upon the granting of charters or franchises; and from its constitution the country has a right to expect that any attempt to revive and vitalize the customs and usages of the barbarous and savage past would be promptly put a stop to. But this was not done, and what might possibly be excused in individuals, in the light of archeological investigation, becomes intolerable in a chartered and legalized body.

No country on the earth's surface can afford to abandon the light of contemporary civilization for the gross darkness and ignorance of a brutal and degraded past. This country cannot afford to do so of a verity; and therefore it is that we would censure the King's Privy Council of State for giving even the semblance of countenance to a movement fraught with evil and humiliation to the native Hawaiian people, much less in stamping it with the sanction of law as it has done.

The Musical Entertainment.

The second entertainment by the members of the Honolulu Yacht and Boat Club was given on Saturday evening. Again the audience was a full one and evinced its high appreciation of the merits of the performers by repeated applause. Again the company acquitted themselves in a manner which has rarely been excelled by amateurs, the keenly critical sensibilities of the majority of the Honolulu public evidently discovering very little with which fault could be found. After a couple of overtures by the band, constituted as on the previous evening and playing its part with admirable execution, the curtain rose upon one of the best reproductions of the original Christy's that has been seen in this city. The ocular effect was pleasing in the extreme, the vocal was no less so, whilst the risible faculties of the spectators were pleasantly excited without offense to the most scrupulous. The opening chorus was characterized by a harmonious blending of the voices. The end men, Messrs. W. G. Armstrong and C. W. Macfarlane, then came into requisition, cracking jokes, the local bearing of some of which gave evidence of much original wit. In this way the ball was kept rolling between the several pieces in such a way that the interest never flagged throughout the somewhat lengthy programme. The songs were for the most part identical with those of the preceding night, the efforts in many cases being excellent. "White Wings," by Mr. J. Bright, was a really tasteful production. The comic element was cleverly introduced by Mr. W. G. Armstrong, who sang "Ah There!" afterwards manipulating a step dance. "The Bold Jack Tar," both song and chorus, were rendered with much spirit. Mr. J. M. Dowsett fully sustained the good opinion he had won in the rendition of "Till Take You Back, Kathleen." "Climbing Up The Golden Stairs," with some well devised local interpolations, by Mr. C. W. Macfarlane, was a very acceptable piece, and the list of songs was brought to a close by Mr. W. Hoogs with "Little Darling, I'll Be True." The company of performers then retired and their places were taken by a native quintette, who sang a glee with guitar accompaniment, in the Hawaiian language, with such excellent taste that a second was demanded. These may justly be described as having ranked high in the order of merit. A laughable farce entitled "The Skids" brought the first part to a close with roars of merriment.

The second part was opened by Mr. J. Appleby with his hano solo, which had by no means palled upon the popular palate. Again a re-appearance was twice demanded, and each time the musician surpassed himself, his perfect command of the instrument being particularly marked in "The Chimes" and "Home, Sweet Home." The trio, "Three Little Maids From School," in which Messrs. Morse, Dowsett and Hoogs were the dramatist personae, lost nothing in the reproduction. Indeed, so cleverly were the parts enacted and so true the deportment, that a repetition of the refrain became a matter of compulsion. A negro sketch by Messrs. Macfarlane and Armstrong, and the farce, "A Slippery Day," which caused so much sensation on its first appearance, terminated the programme. The latter was rife all through with mirth-provoking points, by reason of its local significance. Taken as a whole the result of the two evenings' entertainments are most encouraging in every respect to the members of the club.

Third Judicial Circuit Court.

The November term of the Third Judicial Circuit Court opened at Waimea, Hawaii, on Thursday, November 4th, Mr. Justice McCully presiding.

The cases for the Crown were conducted in the most able manner by Major Antone Rosa. Several of the cases were hotly contested, but finally resulted in conviction of the defendants. The following is the calendar:

CRIMINAL CASES—HAWAIIAN JURY.

Rex vs. Moka (k). Larceny of $20. Appeal from Judge Lyman, Circuit Judge presiding at Hanalei. Verdict of guilty, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor and fined $10. D. H. Hitchcock for defendant.

Rex vs. Iosia (k), distilling spirits without a license. Appeal from Judge Ipaia, Hilo, where he pleaded guilty. The appeal was for mitigation of sentence. Fined $100 and costs, in default four months at hard labor. D. H. Hitchcock for defendant.

Rex vs. Kahopukahi (k), housebreaking. Committed from the Hilo Police Court. Plea of not guilty. Jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for two years and six months. Defendant appeared in person.

Rex vs. Kainaola (k), assault with a dangerous weapon. Committed from Hilo Police Court. Plea of not guilty. Verdict of guilty and defendant fined $100 and sentenced to ten days' imprisonment. L. A. Thurston and D. H. Hitchcock for defendant.

Rex vs. Kalaehaeha, H. Barn, Kaloa and W. Kahawaloa, assault with a dangerous weapon. Appeal from District Court, North Kohala. A nolle pro. was entered against Barn and Kaloa, and the other two were acquitted.

Rex vs. Kalina, robbery. Committed from District Court, North Kohala. Pleading guilty to assault and battery and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for three months.

Rex vs. Kapahu, attempt at rape. Committed from District Court, South Kohala. The prisoner is only thirteen years of age. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and sentenced to one week's imprisonment at hard labor. W. A. Kinney and L. A. Thurston for defendant.

Rex vs. Paulo (k), murder. Committed from District Court, Hanalei. The defendant, it will be remembered, killed another man in a drunken brawl at Hanalei. He pleaded not guilty, and as the case was not ready to go on with it was continued by consent of the parties to the January term of the Supreme Court.

Rex vs. Hoopii, burglary. Committed from District Court, Hanalei. Plea of not guilty. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty and the defendant was sentenced to one year's imprisonment at hard labor. The prisoner asked the Court if the sentence could not be reduced to six months. L. A. Thurston for defendant.

FOREIGN JURY—CRIMINAL CASES.

Rex vs. Pack Sing (Ch), selling liquor without a license. Appeal from District Court, North Kohala. Acquired by a unanimous verdict. W. A. Kinney, L. A. Thurston and D. H. Hitchcock for defendant.

Rex vs. Ah On (Ch), selling liquor without a license. Appeal from Police Court, Hilo. Appeal was withdrawn and fine paid.

Rex vs. Akamu (Ch), selling liquor without a license. Appeal from Police Court, Hilo. Appeal withdrawn and fine paid.

Rex vs. Akini (Ch), assault and battery. Appeal from Judge Lyman, North Kohala. Appeal withdrawn and fine paid.

Display of New Goods.

Though the store of Mr. Chas. J. Fishel, corner of Fort and Hotel streets, is a commodious one, it is impossible for him to properly display the immense new stock he has received by late arrivals from San Francisco. Ever alert to the wants of the community, he has on this occasion excelled himself in his selection of goods. It is rarely such a varied stock is met with in this city. For the benefit of our readers we will mention some of the goods received, as follows: Ladies' dress goods, combination suits in stripe; bonnets, plain and plaid; nun's veiling, all colors, particularly light shades; embroideries, laces, brocaded silks, ladies' and gents' handkerchiefs, ladies' underwear, parasols, 10, 8, 6 and 4 button kid gloves, gents' shoes and neckwear, gents', youths' and boys' clothing, hosiery, sole-leather trunks, pajamas, something entirely new; Jersey shirts, a fine article; Spanish silk net, in all colors; lace flouncing, in cream, beige, white and black; novelty braids, regatta ribbons, gents' collars, white kid gloves, all sizes; white silk, satin and lawn ties, and a splendid stock of the noted Stetson hats. For the holidays Mr. Fishel has a very complete stock of articles, some entirely new to this market. The opening of this large stock takes place this morning, and an early inspection is necessary.

What things remain unsold on Saturday will be offered for sale on the following Monday at the Priory. The sale will commence at 10 o'clock on the morning of December 4th. Tickets of admission will be, adults 50 cents, children 25 cents.

Fatal Accident at Hanalei.

News was received by the Waialeale of the death of a native woman named Ana, about 30 years of age, under peculiarly sudden and distressing circumstances. She had been out fishing with four companions on the coast of Hanalei, Hanalei, and when returning the way lay over a precipice. Whilst making the ascent the deceased lost her footing and rolled down the cliff onto the rocks, a distance of 200 feet. Her father heard her shriek "Awe," and turned just in time to see her fall. The body was found badly cut and the neck was broken. It was removed to her residence.
