JACK SCULLY UNDER ARREST IN PORTLAND, OR.

San Francisco Chronicle, October 11. —Advices were received yesterday by the local police that John T. Scully, a Los Angeles saloon man, wanted here on a charge of grand larceny by trick and device, was under arrest at Portland, Ore. Detective Sergeant Bert Wren will go after the prisoner. A warrant was recently issued by Police Judge Deasy for Scully on complaint of R. J. Robinson of the Stewart Hotel, 355 Geary street. Robinson alleges Scully passed a draft for $350 on the hotel referring to a deposit in a Honolulu bank and then instantly withdrew his deposit and fled north.

John T. Scully is one of the best known of the saloon keepers in business in Honolulu in recent years. He was one of the original proprietors of the Two Jacks saloon, from which he retired a year or two ago. Then he became the manager of the Honolulu Amusement Company, Ltd., holding that position for about a year. Shortly after giving up that job, a few months ago, he left Honolulu for Los Angeles. According to the Chronicle's account of his arrest, Scully must have gone into saloon-keeping in the southern metropolis.

SECRETARY WOOD COMMENDS HONOLULU STEAMER LINE TO PORTLAND MERCHANTS

The following report of an interview with H. P. Wood appears in the Sunday Oregonian of October 1:

Extensive government work at Honolulu is making the island of Oahu veritably the Gibraltar of the Pacific Ocean, according to H. P. Wood, secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, who was in Portland yesterday, en route to Vancouver, B. C., where he will embark for the islands. "The Nation that controls Hawaii," says Mr. Wood, "controls the Pacific Ocean, and the United States government has not been letting any opportunity escape for making more certain her position on the islands. Extensive fortifications, equipped with the finest modern guns for coast defense, are rushed forward, and Honolulu practically will soon be impregnable against attack from the sea. At Pearl Harbor the government is erecting drydocks that will be, when completed, the largest in any of the waters controlled by our nation. About ten thousand soldiers will be stationed permanently in the islands.

"Honolulu is the key to the Hawaiian Islands, for there is no other harbor of size in any of the other islands. With Honolulu fortified as she is to be fortified, the grip of the United States on the Pacific Ocean will be pretty safe."

Canal Benefit Predicted.

Mr. Wood believes that the opening of the Panama Canal will increase the trade between the islands and the cities of the Pacific Coast rather than divert it through the canal to Atlantic ports. The opening of the canal, he asserts, will vastly increase shipping facilities on the coast, while the producers in the Hawaiian group will still send their goods to the nearest American markets.

"Our trade is at present heaviest with San Francisco and the Sound cities," he said, "although the only reason for this is the fact that we have no direct steamship connection with Portland. First of all Portland business men who are interested in her industrial growth should work for the establishment of a steamship line giving regular service to Hawaiian ports, but there is no reason why a refinery established in Portland should not receive a large share of the sugar trade that is rapidly growing larger than one city can handle. The two

LODORER'S FIREMEN WANT THEIR WAGES

The firemen of the British steamship Lodorer that arrived in port yesterday with coal from Newcastle, paid their respects this morning to the police authorities, by them were referred to United States Attorney Breckons, and then wended their way to the shipping commissioner. Their calls were not at all of a social nature, but were made in an endeavor to find someone who would aid them in getting clear from what they term that "devil ship, the Lodorer."

The firemen on the Lodorer are six in number and are a motley outfit, recruited in various parts of the world from many nationalities. One or two of them are Germans, one is an Egyptian, another is a Maltese, and the remainder are unfathomable. Two or three were shanghaied in New York, one joined at Buenos Ayres, and the others were picked up in Japan and Australia.

They say that eight men should be employed to do the work required of the six firemen on the Lodorer, and that they have been obliged to work much harder than they should. They also assert that many of them were ill have been dragged from their bunks and forced to work when they were barely able to stand on their feet.

Another complaint is made about the quality of food that they are required to eat. If the hardtack and bread exhibited to the Star man are really samples of their daily ration, it would appear that their complaint on this score is not without merit. The hardtack shown is full of maggots and has evidently been with the ship a long time. The bread has the consistency of dough, and rather poor dough at that.

The firemen's quarters do not much resemble a lady's boudoir, but on that account they enter no complaint.

They also say that they have been assessed a multitude of fines; that every time they turn around they are fined six bobs, and they don't know what for. One of the firemen quotes the captain as saying:

"I don't like no Germans. I hate Germans. I make your money so short that you don't get a ha'penny left."

With this in view, they allege, the captain is levying the fines, so that they may eat up the wages that are coming to them.

Those on the steamer outside of the firemen's quarters seem to be well satisfied with their lot. The carpenter was especially emphatic in stating that he didn't want to be on a better ship; that he had been on the Lodorer for two years and a half now, and was willing to stay with her another two years and a half. The boatswain was not quite so enthusiastic relative to the merits of the steamer. Though he made no complaint, he said he

Some Interesting People Are Aboard the China

Captain Emery Hich of the steamship China apparently is ambitious to establish the reputation for safety and caution enjoyed by his predecessor "Forty-Fathom" Dan. The China from San Francisco was sighted this morning off Koko Head at nine o'clock. She was then apparently bound for Kailua or some other port than Honolulu, but after making a wide sweep she was finally turned toward the harbor of Honolulu. Not to take any chances she stood by at the outermost quarantine limits, and then considerable delay ensued until the quarantine and customs officers completed their work before she was allowed to proceed to the Channel wharf. Here another delay ensued on account of contrary tide, and it was not until 11:15 that she was finally made fast.

The China came down from San Francisco in five days and twenty-one hours, bringing thirteen passengers for this port and six stopovers. Altogether she brought from San Francisco for Honolulu and oriental ports 122 cabin passengers and a large number of Asiatics. The China has no cargo for Honolulu, but for the Orient she has about two thousand tons, consisting mostly of cotton. A large quantity of mail was brought for Honolulu from the Coast—397 sacks in all.

Among the passengers for Honolulu are the three daughters and son of Colonel Wilder of the Fifth Cavalry, Schofield Barracks, who are coming to live with him. Mrs. M. F. Prosser was a returning Honolulu. She has been spending several months very pleasantly in the States. Miss Mabel Guppy of San Jose, California, is a through passenger on her way to take a position as instructor in the university of Tokyo. Professor Taira Shida of the University of Tokyo, who has been traveling through the States and Europe, is returning on the China to resume his duties. Another through passenger is William Schroeder, a German banker, who, with his friend, Gustav Schatte, is on a tour of the world.

Former Landers reports a very pleasant voyage down and says that no vessels were seen after leaving the Coast.

The China will take on about four hundred tons of coal here and sail for the Orient at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

THE PRESIDENT'S ORDER CREATING MILITARY DEPARTMENT OF HAWAII

By J. A. BRECKONS.

(Special Correspondence of the Star.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Following is a copy of the official order of the President, creating the Department of Hawaii:

"The District of Hawaii in the Department of California, as described in General Orders No. 183, September 30, 1910, is constituted a geographic department in the Western Division, to be known and designated as the Department of Hawaii.

"Owing to the remoteness of the Department of Hawaii from the headquarters of the Western Division, general command over all troops of the line and staff within that department is given to the commanding officer thereof, who is also authorized to pass upon the sufficiency of charges to be tried by general courts-martial convened in his department by the division commander, and in addition to his duties as department commander, as described in regulations, will supervise the work of all staff departments within his command and will make such report and recommendation in regard to the same as he may deem advisable.

"Brigadier General Montgomery M. Macomb is assigned to the command of the Department of Hawaii, with headquarters in Honolulu.

"Major Archibald Campbell, adjutant general, is assigned to duty as adjutant general, Department of Hawaii.

"Captain Clifton C. Carter, general staff, is assigned to duty as assistant to the chief of staff, and Captain Frank B. Edwards and Clifford Gamewell, majors, are assigned to duty as assistants to the chief of staff.

"There is a constant group in front of the News office on Hotel street, reading the war news from the bulletin boards. At the time of the Star reporter's visit a Chinese scribe was copying the intelligence upon a pad.

MAJOR-GENERAL MURRAY COMING TERRITORY OWES LARGE AMOUNT

Major General Murray, U. S. A., commanding the western division of the United States army, is expected to visit Hawaii the latter part of next month. The general may bring the plans for the joint maneuvers of the army and navy, toward the end of the year.

The general will be accompanied on his inspection tour of the group by Captain Malin Craig, assistant to the chief of staff of the Western division. Major J. A. C. Gilmore, C. A., assistant coast defense officer of the division, will also be coming with General Murray.

General Murray was here before, and while in the islands visited Wailanae, where he declared that a hostile force could easily land.

Athletics Win Great Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The third game of the world's championship baseball series was won by the Philadelphia Athletics, who defeated the New York Giants on their own ground by the score of 3 to 2.

The Athletics started the scoring, Meyers getting home in the third. The Athletics evened matters up in the ninth, Baker making a home run and scoring Collins. In the second half of the ninth Herzog scored again for the Giants. The Athletics entered their eleventh inning with the score tied, but more than rose to the occasion, for Baker crossed the plate. The batteries were: New York, Mathewson and Meyers; Philadelphia, Coombs and Lapp.

The attendance was 37,216, the second highest on record for a world's series game. The gate receipts amounted to $75,593.

School Report Sent To The Commissioners

Superintendent of Public Instruction Pope has completed a report for the commissioners of education.

There are many details embodied in the report, and it will be read by the commissioners with interest.

There are 155 schools in the Territory, and 20,881 pupils are enrolled. Teachers to the number of 593 are on the payrolls, and that number is seventy more than last June. Sixty-two new arrivals in the Territory are employed as teachers, and these educators come from all parts of the United States. Quite a number of the teachers hail from the Southern States, and they are considered to be very good at their work. In some localities more teachers were required than were estimated in the calculation of last year. Normal school pupils have substituted in many instances where the regular supply of substitute teachers was short.

The report goes on to show the state of affairs on the different islands of the group. On Kauai, the Lihue school is handicapped a lot by the fact that the additional building

PRESIDENT PRATT RETURNS OCT. 27 WILSON BEGINS PROMISED SUIT

President Pratt of the Board of Health announced by wireless yesterday that he would not be returning from Hawaii for at least another ten days. This would bring him back in the Mauna Loa on the 27th inst. Dr. Pratt is at present on the Hamakua coast, where he is busy looking into health conditions at the different plantations.

Dr. Pratt landed at Kailua from the Mauna Loa, and he has traveled by automobile along the coast road to Hilo. The inspectors of the districts are being interviewed by the president and the general state of health conditions being noted.

Seven hundred and fifty dollars for a few weeks' hustling—see the contest announcement in this issue.

John H. Wilson, whose bid for the construction of the Hecla portion of the Oahu belt road was turned down in favor of the Lord-Young Engineering Company, although his bid was $79,567, while that of the company just mentioned was $79,710, filed a petition in the Circuit Court this morning for an injunction to prohibit the work being carried out as willed by the Loan Fund Commission.

The injunction papers were prepared by Kinney, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, as Wilson's attorneys. They ask for restraining orders against the Lord-Young Company, Marston Campbell, Superintendent of Public Works; Mayor Fern, Andrew Adams, T. H.

THE LAND BOARD

At a meeting of the board of land commissioners yesterday an application by Waialea plantation to purchase camp and stable sites, and an application by W. S. Wise and E. Deyo of land and a fish pond known as Lokoaka, at Keaukaha, Hilo, were postponed. W. A. Kinney had presented a report on the Waialea matter showing that the plantation held all its land under a lease expiring seven years hence. As a matter of policy he said it would be well to have the whole area revert untrammelled to the government.

Upon an application of the Kaahumanu Society of Waimea, Hawaii, for 12,625 square feet of land desired as a building site, it was decided to put the lot up at auction at the upset price of $25.

Arrangements were completed for securing the land for Kuakini street extension from Nuuanu street to Fort street, by exchange from the Carter and McIntyre estates.

The board decided to fix the upset annual rental of the cane lands leased by the Hawaiian Agricultural Company, at Moanalua at $1000.

A sale of 6000 square feet of land, now used as a blind alley in the College Hills Tract, to Mr. Kinney was approved by the board.

The board took under consideration the proposal by the Bishop estate for the acquisition of a piece of tide land fronting their own land at Pualoa, either by purchase or exchange. Members were opposed to selling the land, but were favorable to granting a license for its use, and the matter was referred back to the commissioner of lands.

THE THEATERS

LUCY COLLINS A REAL ARTIST.

The Empire has never presented a more finished artist than Miss Lucy L. Collins, who opened there last night after a successful season in Australia.

Miss Collins came here with a reputation, and the audience quickly realized that this was not press agent hot-air, for she showed in her manner from the moment that she stepped on the stage that she was a worthy successor of her late mother—the famous Lottie Collins.

With Lucy Collins there is no need to rely on the successes of her mother, for she is able to present an act that will please all who see it, even though her name were not known. Miss Collins came out last night in some excellent dresses that represented exactly without exaggeration the date referred to in the song. Her voice has the quality of a high-class singer, while on her face there was an absolute freedom from those objectionable daubs that make up the average "artist" that Honolulu has had inflicted on it so frequently.

Everything seemed to be in keeping. The music of the songs was excellent, and the ragtime that singer after singer has torn off month after month was replaced by melodies that gave real pleasure, so that even those who could not understand the words of the song extracted much enjoyment from the music.

As manager of the Honolulu Amusement Company, the popular Eddie Congdon was responsible for the engagement, and he is to be congratulated on having secured for patrons the services of Miss Collins, who will certainly be the greatest favorite that Honolulu has ever known.

Al Hazzard and his manikins kept the audience amused part of the time. Hazzard himself singing two songs fairly well.

BRIGHT EYES IS A WONDER.
Bright Eyes is not a trick dog, is the boast of Michael Braham about his canine partner in the show business. She is educated, he says, and he certainly showed last night at the Bijou that this was the case.

Braham himself is an actor, no one can overlook that, but he makes himself entirely subservient to the performance of the dog. Undoubtedly, she is a wonderful little dog, and all those who saw her last night at the Bijou must admit this. There is nothing objectionable in the performance. Braham has not to tell her what to do. She takes her cue from him at the right time and does what he indicates by his lines.

For instance, in proceeding to explain to her what she will have to do if she goes to work for him, he mentions that he thinks that it would be a good plan if she got a little closer in order that he would not have to speak so loud. Immediately she got up and sat nearer to him. When he mentions that she would have to get up at four o'clock in the morning she loses interest in the narrative and walks away. Then at his request she shows what she would look like at that hour. This is a very droopy, looking dog. But when it is suggested that she show what she would look like if she were not called up until nine o'clock a different dog altogether is presented—she is bright and cheerful looking, and more what a dog should be like. The act is full of surprises, and it must certainly be seen before it can be realized what a wonderful little animal Bright Eyes is. Needless to say, the audience woke up and applauded enthusiastically.

Eddie Congdon is to be encouraged in his efforts at getting such artists as Miss Collins and Michael Braham. Perhaps the pictures will receive some attention next, for two of the Bijou films were certainly at the old age pension stage. One of them had the peculiar merit of being funny, but this was cut off at an interesting point of its journey, while another one that embraced all the picture maker's ideas of being pathetic was in a disgraceful condition. Evidently someone had attempted to patch up its clothing instead of getting a new suit altogether.

Early and Fitch and Tom Kelly put the finishing touches to a very good show.

FUTURITY RACE IDEA IS BROACHED AMONG GARDEN ISLAND SPORTSMEN

The following letter from Dr. Glaisyer, appearing in the Garden Island, will be read with great interest by horsemen and sportsmen generally, for it embodies the idea of the futurity race as a means of restoring local racing to the prestige which it once enjoyed, a suggestion which has been repeatedly brought forward in these columns:

Editor Garden Island: May I beg the indulgence of your columns to offer a suggestion in connection with the "sport of kings," viz.: horse racing?

The object in horse racing is primarily, of course, to see the best horse win, and this result can only be obtained by breeding and training.

The next is to furnish entertainment for the populace at large. The greatest good, however, to be obtained by racing is the necessity of selection and breeding to obtain the best horse, and the impetus thus given to the raising of the standard of horses in any community and country.

It must necessarily take at least two or more horses to make a race, and for every horse that has been bred scientifically and tested practically to find if he is fast enough to make a great race horse there are always more who are not quite up to the standard of speed, the number of these of course being determined by the number of horsemen and breeders interested, and let me say at once, that because a horse is not quite fast enough to make a race horse is not to say that he is not a valuable animal, and profitable to the owner.

There is a great dearth of horses for polo at the present time, and it is a want that will always exist, and there is no limit, practically speaking, to the price of a good polo pony.

Any horse too large for polo is saleable any day of the year as a riding animal, and there is always a steady vacancy in the cavalry.

Particularly desired by the plantations are horses born and raised in the islands, owing to their being acclimated, and in my opinion, two horses being exactly equal, the one born and raised here is worth 25 per cent more than one imported from the coast.

It does not cost one cent more to raise a good horse than a scrub. A thoroughbred does not eat any more or require more attention while young than a mongrel. There have been in the past number of well-bred sires on the island of Kauai which have been imported by various breeders interested in raising the standard of horses, but the interest has not been general enough. However, these sires have left their mark, and at present there are a great many quarter, half and three-quarter thoroughbred mares in the island which if bred to a proper horse would throw good colts, some fast enough for racing and polo and others readily saleable animals.

Now to my suggestion: It has been found in all countries where breeding is carried on that one of the greatest stimulants to selection and care has been the futurity race, which is conducted more or less as follows, modified according to conditions:

The race is planned for two or three-year-olds as the case may be. The dam of the foal is registered the year before the colt is born, for a small fee and the name of the sire given. When the foal is born a little larger fee is paid to the treasurer unless the owner should not desire to continue. One year later, as a yearling, another fee is paid, somewhat larger again, as a two-year-old, a little larger, and the next year one somewhat larger still, which also constitutes the entrance fee to the race, which is held on a day determined three years in advance. This is presuming the race to be for three-year-olds.

Let me give a concrete example, suppositions and to be modified if action should be taken. A number of breeders enter a colt to be born in 1912 in a Futurity Race to be run July 4, 1915. Of course at first there must be an organization with president and proper officials, etc. We will put that fee at $1.50 and that 30 names are entered.

This money to be placed on deposit with the Sec. Treas. who keeps track of money and sire and dam. When the foal is born another fee of $2.00 is paid and we will say all thirty pay this.

In 1913 he counts as a yearling and another fee, this time of possibly, $3.50 is paid and maybe five men drop out as they may not have confidence in their colt or it may die. In 1914 he is a two-year-old and this year we raise the fee to five dollars and maybe 5 more drop out for some reason. Now comes 1915 and we raise the fee to $15.00 which also is the entrance money for the race and maybe 10 drop out, leaving 10 starters for the 4th of July race, out of the original 30 entries.

Now let us see what our cup amounts to:

30 mares entered at..... $1.50 $45.00
30 foals entered at..... 2.50 75.00
25 yearlings entered at..... 3.50 87.50
20 2-yr-olds entered at..... 5.00 100.00
10 3-yr-olds entered at..... 15.00 150.00

Total..... $457.50

Not a bad showing considering the cost per capita. Of course no one is forced to run or train his colt, but once having made a deposit it belongs to the cup and is not withdrawable. Any breeder can sell his colt if he desires and the buyer has all his privileges in the race only he must keep up the fees. The change of ownership in no way affects the status of the colt. All fees must be paid in their proper year.

It will be seen from this that a colt foaled in January 1912, will be as eligible as one foaled in December 1912 and will be much older. This is to be avoided by breeding at the right time, as there must be rules for everything and a colt foaled in 1912 will be considered a yearling January 1, 1915.

Now, if the futurity can be made an annual event we will soon have a great number of people interested in the race, more attention will be paid to constructive breeding and selection and our type of horses will be greatly benefited.

Also the tendency will be to better looking after each individual colt as the cup will be worth working to obtain as it would be reasonably large, though composed of small fees from a number of men, and not to be felt by any on account of being strung out over four years. Also the larger fee is the last six months before the race when each owner would have a reasonable idea of what his colt could do. I would further suggest that all owners whom this may interest phone or write Mr. Arthur Rice or the undersigned at once as we still have four months in which to plan for a three-year-old futurity for July 4, 1915. This is a particularly appropriate time as he (Arthur Rice) has at the present time here, the celebrated stallion, "Workman" a grandson of ("Isomomy") considered by experts, the greatest horse ever raised in England, which will be here for three months and advantage could be taken of this opportunity.

Suggestions as to the organization, length of the race, etc., would be appreciated from anyone interested, but a meeting of people interested to talk the matter over would be more to the point.

RAH FOR OLD BILL SETLEY!

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—There is going to be an invasion of the United States next spring by the Chinese. The invasion is going to be in a baseball way, and a team now in the Philippine Islands is coming to this country to tackle the baseball regulars. Bill Setley, the old-time umpire, is in San Francisco, and will sail for Honolulu March 1. On arrival he will get the Chinese baseball team together and return to the United States in time to meet the big league teams on the spring training trips throughout the South. After this the team will tour the United States, playing college teams, as its trip is extended, and major and minor leagues when off days intervene.

FORD DREAMS OF OLYMPIAD

Mid-Pacific: Honolulu has placed herself on the map as a home of amateur athletic sports. On August 12 one of her swimmers, Duke Kahana-moku, a pure Hawaiian youth, broke the world's record for the 100-yard dash through water.

Within a year Hawaii has organized a chapter of the Amateur Athletic Union, and has begun breaking athletic records. White boys born in Hawaii are invariably to be found in the front ranks of the football, baseball and rowing teams of Yale, Harvard and other Eastern universities. Now that the A. A. U. rules prevail in Hawaii and that organization organizes meets, records will be broken from time to time in the waters of the Cross Roads of the Pacific.

Hawaii is approaching the place where she may issue a call to the Pacific world for the first of a Polynesian Olympiad to be held at the Cross-roads of the great ocean, and repeated every few years at chosen sporting centers around the Pacific.

LA FOLLETTE AND TAFT.

It is not to be supposed that the Republican National Convention will name Senator La Follette or any other insurgent for the Presidency. That party has not acquired the habit of borrowing candidates from the enemy, and there is no real difference between a Republican insurgent and a Populist-Democrat. The precedents to follow date back to 1872, when greater Republicans than La Follette were in the train of a far more famous insurgent, and when the stand-patters not only held their own but achieved a remarkable triumph.

La Follette represents no Republican principle. In his tariff views he is a Democrat; in his views of constitutional policy he is a Populist and Socialist; in his methods he is a disruptionist. As a candidate for president he could not carry a single Eastern or Southern state, and the states he could carry would not bring him in telescopic sight of the road to the White House.

As things look now the one man who could get the Republican nomination and carry the most states is Wm. H. Taft. Whether he could be elected is too early to say. If hard times should come a Democrat might win; if prosperity should keep on there could be no good reason for a change. And a thing to generally count on in good times and bad alike is that Republicans have an affection for their party and a doubt of the Democracy which, as the canvass progresses, usually consolidates them, and when they get together, good-bye Democracy for another four years.

RURAL ROAD-BUILDING ELSEWHERE.

The average county road in the state of New York, such as has served the rural traffic of that rich commonwealth for over a century, is one of the least expensive of public utilities. During the past few years, since automobiles came in, the State has joined with localities in rebuilding the main highways, and we note a complaint in a village paper that a whole mile of such a thoroughfare was made to cost over $2500. But the lateral roads, penetrating the farm regions, are of most simple construction and economical cost.

Originally these roads were cut through forest and built of logs covered with dirt—corduroy roads they were called. Then as the woods were cleared away and the land dried out, the abundant cobbles were put in place of logs, covered with gravelly dirt and packed down by travel. Bridges were built by the town, the money being voted at the annual town-meeting. A small fraction of the taxes were for the support of roads and this could be paid either in cash or labor. Usually the farmers gave their labor for three or four days in the spring. Under the direction of the "pathmaster," of which every school district had one, they turned out with plows and scrapers, cleared the ditches and filled every mudhole with cobbles and small stones, packing dirt on top. And these roads served the traffic until the next spring. It may be doubted that, in labor and cash, the average school district spent over $300.

Generally a similar course is taken in all the Eastern states, though as remarked, the demands of automobilists have made the main lines of travel more expensive, though the price is nothing to what obtains in this country of abundant rock and labor.

The morning paper's Philadelphia "cablegram" about the defeat of the New York Giants is another fraud. The Star makes the usual challenge to the Advertiser to print any original dispatch on the subject from which, of course, the morning paper will have to make the usual sidestep. The only paper in town which published the baseball news as it came was yesterday afternoon's Star—but that is getting to be an old story. We may add that the Advertiser has received no cable regarding any offer to Yuan Shai Kai of the "premiership" of China, there being no such office, the afternoon dispatches which it "embellished" referring to Yuan Shai Kai in a military capacity.

The little old port of Honolulu, which was a mere wet patch besides the present harbor, once held 200 whalers at a time. Now when great cargo boats, quickly coming and going, have practically driven the congesting wind-jammers out, there is talk of spending a million or so in harbor extension, the people, of course, going in debt for it. And the Advertiser, in its eagerness to say something whether it knows anything or not, tries to commend the costly enterprise by urging that the port is going to be crowded with Panama business—and this despite the maps of distance and the conclusive argument of Rear Admiral Cowles about the laws governing commerce.

The Turkish press is far at sea in saying that the assault of Italy on Turkey is due to the hostility of Christianity to Islam. That is a mere plea for a holy war. The so-called Christian powers no longer fight for religion's sake and make no fuss about permitting the Mohammedan faith to flourish within their colonial borders. And Italy concerns herself so little with the politics of Christianity, that she has long since deprived the Pope himself of his territorial heritage and lately proclaimed entire religious tolerance among the followers of the prophet in Tripoli.

The relation of preparedness to peace is made clear by the events in the Mediterranean and China. If Turkey had been ready to fight by land and sea, Italy would have not attacked her, and the peace of Europe would not have been insanely broken. Likewise if the government of China were competent to defend herself, she would not now be in peril of her life at the hands of an undisciplined horde of rebels and a fly-by-night government back of them with only a couple of millions of stage money to draw upon.

The Allen site plan has also aroused the animosity of the Bulletin, which lives there and which fears that, if the place is taken by the government, there will be another moving day before the funeral. As for the Advertiser it is getting desperate over the vicissitudes of the out-of-town Irwin-Kakaako site, lest it make another losing battle. The poor old thing ought to be used to that sort of misfortune by this time.

The new trade which Hawaii should seek is trade with the Northwest. This is practical; it has no day-dream aspects, and it doesn't depend on an event of which the coast ports will get the benefit. The Northwest wants products which we supply and it has products to sell which we need. Besides all this the coming northwestern empire wants a handy winter resort other than those of frost-bitten California.

Dynamite is too easily bought. It ought to be as hard to get without an order from the authorities as is poison without a prescription from the doctors.

As for the Frear charges you may now dispose of them by fire in the back yard or set them out at the curbstone to be gathered by the garbage men.

The first step to improve the original civic center was to build a new morgue. The institution may come in handy for the Irwin site project.

Mr. Ashford seems to have settled the matter by electing a Democratic president who will turn Frear out.

Get a transfer to an Irwin-Kakaako site postoffice. You can walk to the Allen block.

Shall we bring the civic center into town or carry it towards Kakaako?

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

I like to talk of pleasant things, that make one's spirit light, so when some dreary gossip brings a tale that reeks with spite, some stale and dismal anecdote about a neighbor's faults, I straightway get that gossip's goat and tell him he must waltz. "This life is short, my friend," I say, "for us poor mortal skates, and every man who goes his way has got some foolish traits. But every man, as you will find, if you should seeking start, has some good qualities of mind, some virtues in his heart. And I have found it better far to help poor human jays to hitch their wagons to a star, by giving words of praise, than to discourage them and mock by saying bitter things; so soak your head and take a walk, and don't come back, by jings!"

W. R. CHILTON—I have been looking into Jim Quinn's complaint that Lorrin K. Smith attempted some time ago to steal a woman passenger from Quinn's car while the same was in motion and find that he gave me a "bum steer." I have interviewed some of the parties who were in Quinn's car and they know nothing of the affair, only that auto No. 30 driven by Lorrin K. Smith passed them on the evening in question, the occupants singing Hawaiian songs, and the latter were invited to drop back and sing some more for the benefit of the people in Quinn's car who were mostly malihinis. The boys in Smith's car did this and the girls in Quinn's car thanked them and shook hands with them from car to car. Smith then pulled ahead, turned round and returned to town. One of the occupants of Quinn's car said to me that if any one tried to steal a woman out of any car that he was in he would surely know about it. I have used up a lot of time looking into this matter which I considered serious enough to merit investigation and I don't thank Mr. Quinn a bit for misleading me as he has deliberately done.

The Iwilei Improvement Club met last night in the house of Cornelius O'Hara better known as "The Fighting Irishman of the Fertilizer Works." It was decided to wait in a body on the supervisors and demand the loan of Chemical No. 1 for house-cleaning and disinfecting purposes. Since the inauguration of the club the appearance of the residential part of the Iwilei district has been greatly improved. Empty beer bottles which were formerly thrown into the street are now neatly festooned over porch and veranda and when the night wind rattles them one against the other an effect is produced which is as eerie as it is charming. A new use has also been found for empty cans for they are now used as borders for the garden-patches in which the home-builders of the district grow their onions, cabbages and other garden truck. "The Iwilei Social Club now boasts of 57 members, including the most prominent men and women in the neighborhood. Dances are frequently held and progressive craps for cash prizes claims quite a number of devotees. There are undoubtedly some of the best crap-shooters in the Territory living in the Iwilei district and it is the intention of the Improvement club to inaugurate a championship tournament open to all comers in the near future provided that the police can be made to see that such an event is desirable from a purely sporting standpoint, and their sanction obtained.

TRIPOLI BATTLE WAS REAL FIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Daily Telegraph's war correspondent, Bennett Burleigh, sends this dispatch to his paper from Tripoli: "The Italians have won their first land battle in fine shape. Friendly Arabs gave the Italians warning of a probable attack by the Turks. They said that the Turks would no doubt attempt to enter Tripoli at night."

"Ample precautions were taken to re-enforce the posts, particularly the new works to the south. The war ships were about four miles off shore. The Turks were discovered about one in the morning advancing in two columns, supported by field guns. They numbered about 3000. Fortunately it was bright moonlight, and the Italians ashore were judiciously assisted by the searchlights."

"All night the Turks approached Tripoli in good order. There were thousands supported by native auxiliaries. When they were within a few hundred yards the marines from the works and trenches poured into their ranks a tremendous fire, supported by machine guns and field artillery."

Turks Make Brave Fight.
"The intended Turkish surprise entirely failed, but the Ottomans stood to the attack courageously, replying to the intrenched Italians with heavy fire and striving to press home the action first on the west. The Italian marines, however, were not shaken. They were undaunted and fought most brilliantly, firing with steady and deadly accuracy. They beat back every attempt of the enemy. From 1:30 to 2 a. m. the rifle fire was fierce. After that it dwindled and ceased. The enemy retreated with severe losses.

"On the eastern side the attacking column of Turks tried to turn that flank of the Italian defense. They advanced into a palm belt and threw shrapnel, which fell near the sea. The Italians held fast and drove away every advance.
"The behavior of the sturdy marines was admirable. It could not have been better among any troops. The fleet was cleverly arranged and contributed to the success of the battle. When the rifle fire became heavy several vessels including cruisers and battleships, opened up with their minor batteries, directing their shells over the town so that they might fall among the Turks and cover the Italian front against the rushes of the enemy."

"The fire of the fleet was deliberate and well placed and was directed by signals and wireless. After the rifle fire had ceased the ships continued to pursue the retreating foe with shells from their heavier batteries, including the six-inch and twelve-inch guns. The firing continued until 6 a. m. The Italian casualties were slight. The people in Tripoli remained indoors and were confident of Italian victory."

HAWAII IS BECOMING MORE SELF-SUPPORTING, DR. WILCOX SAYS

"There is no doubt in my mind that 'small farming' is making substantial progress in Hawaii," said Dr. E. V. Wilcox, director of the United States agricultural experiment station, in a conversation with the Star yesterday. "But this progress isn't to any appreciable extent due to American enterprise. Instead, it is the Orientals who are grasping the situation, particularly the Japanese."

Statistics of the Bureau of Commerce and Labor bear out Dr. Wilcox's opinion that Hawaii is becoming more self-supporting, along some lines at least. The seven months ending last July show, for instance, that eggs and poultry to the value of $23,082 were imported to the Territory, while for the like period of 1910 the imports of these products amounted to $30,351. Miscellaneous vegetables show a gain in the seven months period of comparison, from $25,119 in 1910 to $23,704 in 1911. Meat and dairy products have fallen off from $521,629 in 1910 to $513,428 in 1911. In this list, however, fresh beef and mutton show substantial increases, as do hard, hard compounds, sausages and canned meats. The consumption of condensed milk has decreased from 1,169,455 pounds in 1910 to 1,322,416 pounds in 1911. Fruit importations have dropped off from $125,813 in 1910 to $117,701 in 1911.

On the contrary, and showing that the general consumption of food products has increased very substantially, as well as other imports, breadstuffs show a gain in the even months' period from $1,043,752 in 1910 to $1,187,062 in 1911; while beans, onions, potatoes and canned vegetables have also increased by $43,362 worth. Imports of all kinds into the Territory for these seven months in 1910 were $11,981,490, while during this period of 1911 they amounted to $12,240,006, a gain of $258,516.

Dr. Wilcox states that all that has been written and advocated by his bureau and otherwise concerning co-operation in agricultural work, marketing, etc., has been eagerly absorbed by the Japanese, with the result that at the present time this element of the population is working harmoniously and most effectively along a number of agricultural lines. S. Sheba, editor of the Hawaii Shimpo, is credited more than any other one Japanese with bringing his countrymen together in these matters. He uses his paper most effectively toward this end, and he is father of many hula and associations engaged in agricultural pursuits. This is particularly true in pineapple growing, but the Japanese are engaged in hog raising and general vegetable culture, coffee and tobacco growing. Nothing in the way of better methods of planting, cultivation or marketing that is published by the federal bureau or through other sources escaped translation and wide distribution among the Japanese agriculturists.

Australian Beef for Army.

The United States troops in Hawaii are now being fed almost exclusively on Australian beef and mutton, imported by the army commissary department. The reason given for buying this foreign meat rather than the local product is that it is of superior quality. Commissary officers state that they would like to use local beef, but find it not only more economical to import the large carcasses from thoroughbred Australian stock, but declare that there is no comparison between the two in flavor.

On this point Dr. Wilcox states that Hawaii is making some progress—in fact, he declares that the Parker ranch on Hawaii is now one of the finest and most up-to-date ranches in the United States—but he asserts that sooner or later a great deal more of the same million and a half acres of essentially ranch lands of the Territory will have to be stocked with good cattle, or the cattle business is likely to be lost to outsiders entirely.

"Ranchmen complain that it is of no use to try to put fancy, well-fed beef on the local markets for the reason that Honolulu consumers consider beef as beef and will not pay more for fancy stock than for half-wild and half-stayed cattle from the mountains," said Dr. Wilcox. "But I believe that it is only a question of a comparatively short time until there will be a demand for better flavored meats, and, when people once have an opportunity to discriminate, they will not be satisfied with the average kind of beef supplied at present. The only danger is that when this demand comes, our ranchmen may not be prepared to meet it, and that foreign meats will get a foothold on our markets that will be very hard to dislodge. A few years ago it would have been laughed at as absurd to think of any foreign nation being able to sell beef in the United States, but Australia is selling its beef right in the New York markets today. If Australians can put beef into New York and sell it, it certainly would not seem difficult for them to do the same thing here."

PRICE OF SASHES WAS EXORBITANT

Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell was seen this morning with reference to the tenders that were rejected yesterday in connection with the renovation of the Judiciary building.

"The bids were all thrown out," remarked Mr. Campbell, "on account of the very high figures of the tenders. Architect Ripley and I had made inquiries about certain material—such as sashes, windows and other things. We found that while the price quoted was low enough, the figures secured by the firms that tendered for the work at the Judiciary building were exorbitant."

Fresh advertisements will be prepared and tenders will again be called for the work.

GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL SITE

Governor Frear had a discussion this morning about the site for the Girls' Industrial school. Superintendent Pope, Inspector Gibson and Deputy Attorney General Sutton were closeted with the governor. The Moiliili site, which was suggested as most suitable, appears to be very hard to acquire, as there are so many different titles involved.

A new site up Kailua valley is being considered, and it may be that the school will be located there. Nothing definite was settled this morning, and there will be further discussions about the matter.

"It is wonderful," remarked Governor Frear this morning, "how the value of property increases as soon as the government wants to purchase any of it."

Colonel J. W. Jones, adjutant general of the N. G. H., has consulted with General Macomb, commander of the Department of Hawaii, on the matter of Bogert's recruiting. There is a Territorial law empowering the governor to prevent the organizing of military organizations except those authorized by law.

Governor Frear said today that Bogert could impart military training to the Chinese provided they were without arms of warfare. Bogert said Major Campbell, U. S. A., told him the same thing.

Petrie, S. C. Dwight, and J. H. Fisher, Territorial auditor.

The petition alleges bias on the part of the Loan Fund Commission in awarding the contract, also that Wilson's business reputation will be ruined by the reflection cast upon his ability to handle the work. It alleges that Wilson was given no opportunity to speak for himself before the Commission, and it also makes explanation of the falling down of Wilson on certain contracts in the past, holding that they were for reasons beyond the petitioner's control.

OLDTIME ROYALTY IN FLORAL PARADE

Director Wall, of the 1912 Floral Parade, is working out a new feature for the present which promises to be one of the most striking and novel that have yet been introduced. It is to be a royal Hawaiian court procession, patterned after such processions of old monarchial days, with both king and queen. In all the ancient Hawaiian regalia, with suitably costumed attendants, kahili bearers, etc. The feature may or may not supplant the Hawaiian Islands Princesses section which has been one of the most attractive features of the parade since almost the beginning.

The details of the new feature are yet to be worked out, but Mr. Wall has gone into the matter far enough to be assured of the enthusiastic support of the various Hawaiian societies, as well as of the help of prominent individual Hawaiians in this city. It is possible that each of the several islands will be asked to provide a certain number of retainers for the royal pair, to act as a part of the escort.

It is not the intention to produce anything that would in any sense be a caricature of the old days of Hawaii, but to bring back for one day a page from Hawaiian history, which is certain to interest both kamaaina and malihini alike.

In case the Elks do not repeat their carnival feature (it is reported that they have unofficially decided not to undertake this enterprise again) Mr. Wall is planning to have a great water carnival on the harbor, centering about probably the Alakea wharf. In one of the ships opposite the wharf will be anchored a vessel, on the decks of which will be produced the opera "Pinafore" with local talent. This will be the central feature, but it is hoped to have the harbor ablaze with lantern decorated boats of all kinds, producing an effect that will be exceedingly attractive.

The local Japanese community is looking forward also to repeating its parade of last year, only on a scale which will throw the first gorgeous spectacle entirely in the shade. This lantern feature will have an evening of its own.

Mr. Wall states that his committees which were appointed several months ago have already made good progress in preparing for the great fete week.

SHIPPING

Crown of Galicia on Way.

Word has been received by the agent of the Harrison line, Fred L. Waldron, that the Crown of Galicia left Liverpool for Honolulu on October 4. She is bringing a large shipment of fertilizer for this port. The Crown of Galicia is expected to arrive here about November 25, and will be the second ship of that line to make this port.

Per S. S. China for Oriental ports, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Woodrough, Mrs. Jas. Miller, Mr. Max Boehhold and wife, Wm. Eldid and wife and N. Saton and 50 Asiatics.

GUARDIAN DISCHARGED.

Judge Robinson, upon petition of W. O. Smith, has discharged him as guardian of Lorin Knapp Smith, allowed his accounts and canceled the bond. The petition recites that Lorin Knapp Smith became of age on October 10, and that the guardian has had a full and complete accounting with him, which is acknowledged.

Hawaii imported in the month of July, this year, eggs to the extent of 9990 dozen, valued at $2158, and poultry to the value of $2104, or both together to the value of $4262. For the seven months ending with July, 44,199 dozen eggs were imported, valued at $9759, and poultry valued at $13,322, or both together to the value of $23,082.

KONA TOBACCO CROP.

The 1910 tobacco crop of the Kona Tobacco Company is now ready for marketing, and J. L. Daniels, manager of the company, expects to leave for the mainland on November 6 to look after the disposition of the crop, which amounts to about 100,000 pounds. The condition of the 1912 crop is said to be excellent, with prospects for about 200,000 pounds.

DEMAND SLACK BUT PRICES FIRM

Stocks are still holding firm in price but the demand for most of the higher priced shares seems for the time being, at least, to be slackened. There was some activity reported between boards, but the session was few and not heavy. McBryde stock shaded off from 7 to 6 1/2 at which figure some 55 shares were sold on the board, with more to be had at same price. Between boards 120 shares went at 6 1/2. Ten shares of Inter-Inland went between boards at 142.50, and the price asked immediately went up from 144 yesterday to 147 1/2.

Local bonds are in demand these days but few are being offered. The prices are considered very fair. $4000 Olan 6s were reported today at 94.75, and $500 Hon. Gas 6s at par.

It will be put up to the courts to decide whether Sonographer McMahon of the circuit court shall be paid, outside of his salary, for making a transcript of evidence in the Lohaina land case in the court of land registration, over which Circuit Judge Robinson presides.

THE COST OF MILITARISM.

For the eight years preceding the war with Spain our average annual expenditure for the army was less than $24,000,000; for the eight years following the war the annual average leaped to more than $83,000,000; and now for the current year the army appropriation is $95,440,567. The navy has done even better. For the eight years preceding the Spanish war the average annual expenditure was a little more than $27,500,000; for the next eight years it averaged $102,400,000, and this year the navy gets $131,350,854. Adding the navy and army appropriations gives the sum of $226,791,421, which is rather a neat price to pay for imitating the antics of those ghost dancers on the farther side of the Atlantic. But that isn't all by any means. To this sum must be added the current appropriation for the military academy, $1,856,249; the appropriation for forts and fortifications, $5,617,200; and the pension appropriation of $155,758,000, making a grand total of $350,923,870 as the cost of militarism for one year, or at the rate of $1,068,555 a day for every day in the year.—Technical World Magazine.

Pickpocket Gets a Year

Hing Poon, who was arrested in the fish market on Saturday in the act of picking a pocket, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment by Judge Monsarrat this morning.

His Honor handed out another stiff package when he sentenced George Walnee to three months' imprisonment for committing assault and battery on a Chinaman.

Bob Walters, charged with gambling, forfeited $25 bail rather than appear in court.

Shimata, charged with assault with a weapon, had this charge stricken and a fresh one of simple assault and battery entered. The case was continued.

J. Alapai, the veteran back-driver, charged with being drunk while in charge of a licensed vehicle, was reprimanded and discharged.

Alika Lopez, charged with malicious injury, was fined $10 and costs. His offense consisted of smashing furniture in a blind pig.

RETURNS OF INVESTORS.

According to the Journal of Commerce, investors will receive next month the sum of $180,304,370, representing dividends and interest, disbursements by railroad, industrial and traction corporations. This compares with $172,618,996 a year ago, an increase of $7,415,374. Of the grand total, dividends call for $89,934,370, an increase of $2,615,374. Industrial corporations will distribute among stockholders $43,537,332, an increase of $1,953,319. Dividends to be paid by steam railroads will be slightly heavier, due to the fact that the Chicago Northwestern common dividend is now paid quarterly instead of semi-annually, as was the case last year. Street railway payments also show an increase. Some of the companies are now making disbursements on a larger capitalization. There are a number of increases and several additions to the list. On the other hand, smaller payments are noted in some cases, while two dividends have been omitted. Interest payments will amount to $90,100,000, against $85,300,000, an increase in the output of new bond and note issues being responsible for this. A summary of October's disbursements, with comparisons with the same month a year ago, follows:

	1911.	1910
Industrials .....	$43,537,332	$41,584,003
Steam R. R. ....	38,352,229	38,333,076
Street do .....	8,044,819	7,401,917
Total .....	$89,934,370	$87,318,996

LIKE HOME COOKING.

It is always pleasant to get away from home for a few days or a week and yet have your meals as well cooked as you have them in your own home. Also it is comforting to have a bed so well balanced that one does not lie awake all night because he is in a strange bed. The meals at Haleiwa are as well cooked as you get them at home and the accommodations and service are, in the main, better. The hotel has grown in popularity until it has become a paying institution and its popularity is due largely to the attention the management pays to the details of the house. Of course, the beach, which is the finest on the island, has been a factor in the upbuilding of this beautiful resort.

SPRAINS.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

FILLING UP LIST OF CONTESTANTS

As the time draws nigh for the closing of the first list of contestants in the Star's great subscription contest many names are being submitted of aspirants for the big prizes. There is $750 in cash for someone who will get out and hustle for a few weeks, and the lesser prizes are so big that contestants won't need to win the first prize in order to be well paid for their efforts.

There is a residence lot in Kaimuki, a savings bank cash account of $300, and a long list of other valuable prizes.

It is certain that no one among those nominated, who does real hustling, will fail to get some substantial reward.

The names of the nominees will be published in the Star on Saturday. In order to be in this first list of candidates you must have your nomination in by five o'clock on Friday afternoon. Clip out a nomination coupon and have someone sign it for you, and this will give you 5000 votes as a starter toward getting one of the prizes.

The rules were published yesterday. For the benefit of contestants they are given here again. Candidates should study them carefully:

CONTEST RULES.

Rule No. 1.—No votes will be sold, or issued in any way, except as published in the Star or issued for subscriptions.

Rule No. 2.—Candidates must make all the entries in the stubs of their subscription receipt books; Oahu candidates should bring their receipt books with them when reporting to the Contest Department; outside candidates should tear the stubs from their books and mail them. Failure to enter dates, etc., correctly in the books will be cause for disqualification.

Rule No. 3.—The first reports of candidates must be turned in or mailed to the Star office by Saturday, November 18, and from time to time thereafter as per announcements to be made in the Star. Reports may be made at any time, as candidates desire.

Rule No. 4.—No employee of the Star is eligible to enter the contest.

Rule No. 5.—Votes are not transferable. They go to the candidate who gets the subscriptions, or for whom they are cast. If a candidate withdraws, such candidate's votes are also withdrawn.

Rule No. 6.—Nomination of new candidates may be made at any time during the contest, the management reserving the right to reject any nomination.

Rule No. 7.—A candidate who makes any other disposition of subscriptions secured than turning them into the Star office at the times designated for making reports will be disqualified.

Rule No. 8.—Candidates on turning in their reports will be given certificates showing the number of votes to which they are entitled.

Rule No. 9.—For contestants not on the island of Oahu a proper allowance of time will be made to give them an equal chance; they must mail their reports or votes by the time Oahu candidates are required to hand them in.

Rule No. 10.—Individual ballots, published in the Star every day, must be cast, or mailed, by the date of their expiration, as printed on the ballots.

LAND OF THE WOODEN SHOE.

We used to read in the school books that the peasants of several European nations wear wooden shoes. It is surprising to learn that, in all probability there is more of that kind of footwear in Chicago, Grand Rapids, or Holland, Mich., than in the city of Amsterdam. Of all the wooden shoe wearers the Dutch are supposed to be the most numerous. The shoe is Holland's symbol, for personally conducted tourists at least. It seems that the fashion persists with our immigrants from the Netherlands. Paterson, N. J., and St. Louis are among the communities that import large purchases. Combined they make the United States the best foreign customer of the Netherlands shoe-makers. A consular report notes a recent shipment of 600 cases to Grand Rapids. While the price of these shoes depends much on the price of lumber, and lumber has become expensive, they have not yet reached the stage of luxury—except, perhaps, in a physical sense; for it is declared that no foot misery ever is occasioned by wooden shoes. It is apparent that the thrifty Dutch in this country would continue to wear their native shoe unless it were thought to be more serviceable than leather.—Providence Journal.

IF I HAD ECZEMA.

I'd wash it away with that mild, soothing liquid D. D. D. Trial bottle 25c. Relieves all kinds of skin trouble, cleansing away the impurities and clearing up the complexion as nothing else can.

Hawaiian Board puts a valuation of $20,000 on this land and water, but offers to compromise, before going to adjudication, for $15,000. Otherwise it will claim $20,000. There is an area

ARREST OF LOVE
IN SAN FRANCISCO

The Chronicle of the 11th has the following report of the arrest in San Francisco of Private Love for embezzlement from the U. S. Marine Corps post here:

Accused of embezzling considerable funds from the Honolulu post of the United States marine corps, Private Eugene A. Love, 28 years of age and recently in charge of commissary department of that post, was arrested early yesterday morning on board the steamship Sierra on the arrival of that vessel in port from Hawaii by Detective Sergeant Frank McGrayan.
Love denied that he was guilty of embezzlement, but was turned over to T.
W. Metter, second officer on the United States training ship Pensacola, and will be taken to Mare Island and later tried by court-martial.

The local police were requested to assist in the arrest of Love by Rear-Admiral C. B. T. Moore, and elaborate precautions were also taken by the navy department to prevent Love from slipping through its fingers.

Love came in the first cabin on the Sierra and is said to have displayed much gaiety during the voyage and made many friends. The police understand that the amount of his alleged shortage is $2500. Love has a wife residing in Honolulu and has relatives in Buffalo, N. Y.

The Harrison Concert.

Last night's rehearsal proved to the listeners that a musical treat was in store for the audience tonight. The chorus is working together beautifully and the quartet is a fascinating catchy melody. The opening number, the "Inflammatus," will prove a revelation to the average theater-goer and in the remainder of the program there is not a dull number.

MAINE BOILERS
FOUND INTACT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—It has developed beyond controversy in connection with the excavation going on in of the Maine in Havana harbor that the ship was not blown up by her boilers.

Some have contended that the explosion of the boilers caused the magazines to explode in turn. A report from the army engineers shows the workmen uncovered the tops of the boilers, which were intact with one exception. This was one of the forward boilers, which had been driven bodily astern by the blast from the magazines. It had gone through a heavy bulkhead and against one of the after boilers.

Another curious find was an ammunition case which had been blown off from the magazines into the rear boiler room without exploding the smokeless powder it contained.

The report shows that instead of being able to float only the after third of the hull, it has been found that more than half of the ship can be pumped out and floated out of the dam.

If you are entered in The Star's big contest you can't help getting a good prize if you hustle, even if you don't get the $750.

SCHOOL REPORT

is not yet completed. The Hanama-ulu school is overcrowded a lot, but the Koolau school is doing well now that the regular teacher is working.

On Oahu the attendance at the schools was much larger than was anticipated, and about ten more teachers are required at present. Wai-pahu, Aiea, Waiaina and Kahuku schools are crowded so much that school time has to be divided into half-day sessions for lower grades in order that all children may attend.
This is somewhat of a hardship both for teachers and pupils, but the scheme is working fairly well.

The Maui schools opened with but few difficulties, and things are running smoothly there. Several teachers who were appointed to positions failed to report for duty, but their places have been filled.

On Hawaii the Kohala and Hamakua schools have had the least difficulty in getting started. The Hilo and Puna schools found it difficult to get teachers housed. There are few places where teachers can board in those districts.

The Glenwood school is at present being conducted in temporary quarters. A new school at Kepehu, about five miles from Laupahoehoe, is being arranged for. Seats were made in Hilo and placed in a little church that had been loaned for school purposes.

In the report of the Superintendent, the death of Mrs. King is alluded to, great regret being expressed at her loss.

The Hilo Union schools are, according to the report, in a very crowded condition. More rooms are needed and the present conditions are very trying to teachers and pupils.

In regard to the school library fund,
it is reported that the sum of $3600, which was appropriated by the last legislature will be apportioned according to the enrollment as shown by the last term reports. The distribution of the fund will be as follows: County of Hawaii, $1188; County of Maui, $612; City and County of Honolulu, $1332; County of Kauai, $468.

In apportioning these amounts the grade of each school is considered.

President David Starr Jordan of Stanford will be here on Saturday, on his way home from the Orient, and will probably attend the Carnegie library cornerstone laying.

Seven hundred and fifty dollars for a few weeks' hustling—see the contest announcement in this issue.

would be willing to get off of her.
The chief officer says that the men are lazy and unwilling to work, that they want to draw their money here and go on a spree. He also says that an ordinary seaman was put in the fire room to help out and that he liked it so well that he begged to be given the job permanently.

Since the Lodorer flies the British flag, it appears that the proper authority to appeal to would have been the British consul. When this was suggested to the firemen, they said that they didn't know that, but when the question was asked the chief officer he said that the reason they did not go to the representative of Great Britain was because they had no case.

Exactly what authority the shipping commissioner can claim in the premises remains to be seen. Their case is now in his hands and they are to call at his office this afternoon at three o'clock. Meanwhile, two or three of them have been to see Dr.
Wayson and are being treated by him for various ailments which could not have been contracted on board the Lodorer.

things then, that we most need to put us in close and mutually profitable relations with Oregon are a steamship line, and after that a sugar refinery to take a share of the raw material we are producing."

Pineapple Industry Grows.

"Our islands have only begun to realize the possibilities for producing that lie within them. A few years ago our pineapple industry was comparatively small. Last year our exports in pineapples amounted to more than $5, 000,000, and Hawaii has practically taken away the pineapple trade from Singapore, which held it in the past.
Cotton is another product that we have only begun to work, but which promises to make millions, and we are now raising tobacco that equals the best leaf grown in Sumatra."

Mr. Wood says that large American corporations are steadily gaining a firmer foothold in the islands as they realize more clearly that it is the most strategic point in the Pacific from a commercial as well as a military viewpoint. The Standard Oil Company is establishing large stations for the supply of fuel to ships.

"The fuel of ocean-going vessels will consist mainly of gasoline and oil products in the near future," said Mr.
Wood. "Knowing this, the great company is taking steps beforehand to prepare for the increase of shipping that will go to Hawaii after the opening of the canal. In the future Honolulu will be made the great clearinghouse for all the ships that sail the Pacific Ocean."

Fair Prompts Visit.

Mr. Wood came to San Francisco last week, as chairman of a committee appointed by Governor Frear, to arrange for Hawaii's representation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. After completing his business in San Francisco, he came to Portland to look over the trade situation and confer with the representatives of the Portland Chamber of Commerce on the commercial relations with the islands. He will leave this morning for Vancouver, B.
C.

POPE GRADUALLY WASTING AWAY; RAMPOLLA PROBABLE SUCCESSOR

ROME, Italy, Sept. 16.—Pius X. is slowly recovering from the effects of his last serious illness and his doctors hope that a careful diet, with plenty of open air exercise, may contribute to strengthen his constitution. Naturally enough the pope's convalescence will be long—so long, in fact, that for many months to come, perhaps a year, great precautions will have to be taken in order to ward away a fresh attack of gout.

Practically the entire time that the pope has to live will constitute one long effort to prolong his life. The last attack of gout has been longer and more painful than the preceding ones and it developed after throat trouble complicated with extreme weakness of the heart. There is no doubt that considerable apprehension was felt that the gout would attack the internal organs and prove fatal, and the danger of such an eventuality is by no means excluded. It is a well known fact that the slightest causes, such as cold, changes of weather, excitement, worry or errors in diet, may bring on a relapse, and as the pope is and will for some time be weak, it may not be possible for his doctors to ward off a crisis.

Not Out of Danger.

Prof. Marchiatava, the pope's consulting physician and one of the most prominent doctors in Italy, recently declared that Pius X. may live another year, but he admitted that he may die at any moment. "He is an old man," the professor said, "and he is gradually wasting away. Until recently his wonderful powers of resistance enabled him to overcome illness, but he does not now cling to life. He trusts Providence and not his doctors, and he is fully prepared to die. As a result he is a passive patient and he does not help himself to get well. A second attack of gout may hasten the end."

The seriousness of the pope's condition is fully realized at the Vatican and the pope himself is aware that he is not destined to live long. He passively follows his doctors' advice, drives daily to the Vatican gardens, follows a regular diet and only grants audiences to cardinals and bishops. He has not received a single layman in audience since his last illness and for some time to come there will be no collective audiences of pilgrims.

Talk of a Successor.

Possibly Pius X. may live another year, but it is doubtful. Under such circumstances, since the possibility of a conclave in the near future is not excluded, it is quite natural that the question of the pope's successor should be kept open and that the name of his most likely successor, Cardinal Rampolla—"the future pope," as he is commonly called—should be frequently and insistently repeated. If a conclave is held in the near future before the number of the sacred colleges is increased there is hardly any doubt that Cardinal Rampolla will be elected pope. Eight years ago Cardinal Rampolla got thirty out of the sixty-two votes almost as soon as the conclave was opened, and he would have certainly secured the remaining twelve votes necessary for his election—two-thirds of the votes available—had not

THE NATIVES OF NEW ZEALAND NOW REPORTED TO BE DYING OUT

Not so long ago it was common to see the Maories pointed out as a growing instead of a dying race among the Polynesians. But it would now appear, from the remorseless evidence of the census takers, that the aborigine of New Zealand is fast passing. Macaulay's New Zealander, who will sketch the ruins of St. Paul's from a broken arch of London bridge, is going to be an artist of haole lineage from the southern dominion.

The reports of some of the enumerators engaged in connection with the taking of the Maori census do not appear to bear out optimistic views as to the present position of the native race, says a Wellington paper. For instance, of Hekiang South, the enumerator says: "I regret I cannot report any improvement in the industriousness of the Maoris."

The sub-enumerator for the Kawhia County says: "I found no sickness except at Taharoa kaingas, where there is a considerable amount at the present time, ten persons having died within the last three months. These settlements own several tohungas, who, in my opinion, help very much toward making up the death-roll. Generally speaking, the natives appear to be very indolent, not caring to go far from their kaingas to seek work. I found very few who appeared to be making any effort to better their social conditions."

Dying Fast.

"The natives are living in the same state, and dying at the same rate, or probably faster," reports the enumerator for Tauranga, Rotorua, Taupo, Whakatane and Opotiki. He advises that competent persons be sent among the Maoris to advise them on sanitary matters. "There is," he adds, "no doubt in my mind that the fever (which was the cause of so many deaths) was caused by bad drinking water, and there is no doubt also that the cause has not been removed, and that the epidemic will break out again shortly and take off another twenty or thirty of them, and the others will look on in the same hopeless way and wonder why. The same kind of thing is happening periodically in every kianga in the district. The high death rate among infants and children might also be obviated to a considerable extent by teaching the Maori mothers how to care for their children. The race is dying, and all that can be done now is to make things as easy as possible for them by seeing that they should not suffer from actual hardship and starvation. They should not be allowed to waste all their substance,

J. P. MORGAN IS NOT AFRAID

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The World this afternoon printed the following dispatch from Washington: J. P. Morgan, who is here on private business, said today:

"I am not apprehensive as to business conditions. Physically, the country is all right. The present attitude of the attorney-general toward the larger business interests makes for uncertainty and has made the country apprehensive.

"This apprehension is not confined to officers and members of great aggregations of capital, but to business men generally, whether their interests are with or against the big corpora-

ST. FRANCIS SOLD FOR $5,000,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The financial American today prints the following: "Mail advices from the central news of London state that the Ritz Hotels Development company of London has made a successful bid for the St. Francis hotel of San Francisco, the purchase price being said to be $5,000,000 with an additional $1,500,000 for certain extensions be carried out. In due course a separate company will be floated to work the St. Francis hotel."

QUESTIONINGS

By E. V. WILCOX.

From the morning of childhood's first glimmer of light
When the senses began to awake,
I have opened the doors I found closed in my path,
And have looked into closets and caves.
Oh, but why are the mysteries hidden away,
And the keys so completely concealed?
I am told I am naught but a bundle of sin
Wrapped in delicate bands of restraint.

We are fed from the first on the promise of truth.
We must wait for our strength to mature.
Is the truth of the world but a hideous thing,
Which the strongest alone can endure?
Oh, the good little boy never questions the rod,
Never asks why his path is prescribed,
And the fat little man who has grabbed all he can Feels quite sure of the beautiful plan.

It is queer how a few extra pounds of soft fat
Held in place by a buckle and belt,
How a few extra shekels and bonds in a vault,
How a cushion and soft easy chair,
How the soul of the barley and fumes of the weed
Make the world all perfection and bliss.
A superior smile and a curl of the lips
Seem to say there is nothing amiss.

But the man who is caught in the whirl of the wheel,
Who is used for some end not his own,
Who has harvested thorns with the withering blooms,
Who is playing the gam with his blood,
Will question the riddle of all that he sees,
Will force the sealed lips of the dumb
Will bring all the monarchs of earth to their knees,
And the answer must have the true ring.

NEW LIQUOR LEGISLATION UNDER DISCUSSION IN FIJI

Fiji had under consideration, when the last mail left Suva, an amendment of its liquor law. An insight into some of its major provisions may be had from an unfavorable criticism of the bill in the Western Pacific Herald, which is in part as follows:

"The bill to be presented at the next meeting of the legislative council, having for its object the consolidation and amendment of the law relating to the sale of spirituous liquors, is not calculated, in its present form, to earn the plaudits of either the moderate drinker or the vendor of liquor. It may also be condemned by the teetotal extremist as a matter of course, because, from his point of view, the restrictions are not sufficiently stringent. In like manner we may ignore the opinions of the habitual drunkard, for he also is likely to be unduly biased, but, unfortunately, in the wrong direction."

"The bill under consideration proposes to prevent the opening of hotels until 8 a. m. and to close them at 10 p. m. This, we think, would be a hardship in many respects. If it is admitted that a law-abiding citizen is entitled to partake of alcoholic liquor as a refreshment, why should a seafaring man, who usually leaves the port before 8 a. m., be debarred from indulging a legitimate desire for such refreshment? And why should the employee in a business opening at 8 a. m. be debarred from enjoying his morn-

BRITISH STATESMAN BELIEVES STRIKES HAVE HAD THEIR DAY

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—John W. Guillard, M. P., junior lord of the British treasury and Scottish liberal whip, is in Chicago today. He had many things to say. Some of them he told a reporter for the Daily News. Others he sidestepped and may touch upon when he speaks before the Chicago Sunday Evening Club tomorrow night.

In a rapid-fire interview he voiced a drastic scoring of the modern day labor strike—suggested by the big walkout of Illinois Central and Hariman lines' shopmen today—took a rap at unscrupulous politics and dodged a discussion of the Italian-Turkish embargo.

"Railway strikes and all other labor difficulties that result in a general walkout are a relic of barbarism," he said emphatically. "A strike is the most primitive method of settling an industrial dispute. The time is near at hand when strikes will be unknown."

Calls Big Stick Deplorable.

"The railway strike which was called today is deplorable," he added. "The strike is the big problem that all countries are facing today."

"There is little excuse for a strike if the 'square deal' attitude of employer to workman would be assumed. Master refusing to meet employee will soon be a thing of the past. I believe in giving the workman a chance. The plan, proved successful by Lord George in my country during the great railway strike, I am convinced, is typical of the future method of coping with similar problems. Arbitration councils operating under the eye of the country's government will soon be the court of high appeal. Then strikes will be a thing of the past. Amicable settlement of all problems by boards of arbitration will supplant the system now in vogue here and in many other countries."

Raps American Politics.

From the subject of labor the English politician switched, after a question, to that of American politics.

"It is far from my purpose to malign the American system of politics," he began, "but from what I hear of all the corruption and graft in your nation I am forced to believe that there is something radically different here than in my country. We never have graft inquiries in England. Our methods of sounding public opinion seem to eliminate these. Much more attention in elections is paid to the opinion of the masses in England than here, and as a consequence there is less fault to find with the men in office."

Talks of Canada Reciprocity.

"Canadian reciprocity?" was suggested.

"I happened to be in Canada at the time the vote was taken and found two main trends of sentiment which prompted the outcome of the election," he said. "The one was the idea which Canadians hold that Canadian tariff reciprocity would result in the influx of American trusts in Canadian industries. The other was an apparent sentiment of loyalty which the voters seemed to feel when they turned down the treaty. Behind this latter undoubtedly was the inherent fear of annexation. Just what the sentiment in England was at the time of the election I am unable to say, I was absent."

DIRECTIONS FOR BUILDING A CITY HOW CIVIC EXPERTS WOULD DO IT

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Richard P. Watrous, secretary of the American Civic Association of Washington, speaking on the subject of "city planning" before the International Municipal Congress here today, said in part:

"City planning, called by the English town planning, as it is now beginning to be popularly considered, means, briefly, city making according to definitely determined plans, made so far as possible, long in advance of the actual operations and execution. Just as most houses, offices and manufacturing plants are erected according to the draughtsman's drawings and the builder's estimates, so would city planning provide for the growth and the development of the city or town.

"The illustration is just as applicable for the city that is to be made over or replanned as for the building that is to be reconstructed. In both latter instances, however, the problems are of more difficult solution. Function of Civic Organizations. "I urge that the commercial organi-

Procedure Slow.

"The procedure for the complete carrying out of a city plan must of necessity be a slow one. The steps to be taken for a plan embrace a study of the subject, followed by the awakening of a popular demand for the plan, and the formation of a city plan commission.

"Thus far the next natural step is

ARMIES AND NAVIES OF THE BELLICOSE NATIONS COMPARED

Italy's standing army in 1910-1911 numbered approximately 225,000 men and 14,000 officers, but a far greater number could be put in the field in case of necessity. The Italian navy consists in vessels commissioned, built or building, of fifteen battlehips, nine armored cruisers, 17 unarmored cruisers and gun vessels, 36 destroyers, an equal number of first-class torpedo boats, and 22 submarines.

In the naval force there are about 31,000 men. Seamen for the fleet are recruited by conscription and all men following the sea-faring life of twenty years of age must serve at sea for 18 months or more. The navy is administered by the ministers of marine who are responsible to parliament and there are three navy districts each administered by flag officers. As a whole the Italian navy is generally ranked fifth among nations.

Naval lists show that Turkey has a fighting strength of nine coast defense ironclads, five protected cruisers, six torpedo vessels, one gunboat, 21 torpedo boat destroyers, 27 torpedo boats and 2 submarines. As compared with the greater nations this array is a negligible quantity. There are 31,000 officers as against 9900 marines. English and American officers play an important part in Turkish naval affairs.

The Ottoman army as a result of the revolution which resulted in victory for the young Turks is now in process of reorganization but a military council has been called into existence and a great deal of modern equipment has been purchased.

The Empire is divided into seven army corps districts and there are two independent divisions at Medina and Tripoli respectively. The total fighting strength is close to a million men and by the existing recruiting laws all are liable to military service.

Mauna Loa with Varied Cargo.
The Mauna Loa arrived this morning from Kona and Kau ports. She brought a fair passenger list. Her varied cargo consisted of her usual consignment of live stock of different kinds, 6000 bags of H. A. Co. sugar, 1046 bags of coffee, 350 bales of tobacco, 1816 cases of pineapples, and miscellaneous articles.
Sugar on Hawaii.
The following sugar is awaiting shipment on Hawaii: Punaluu, 7224 bags, and Honouliuli 4465 bags.
Niihau Due Friday.

The purser of the Mauna Loa reports that the Niihau is discharging at Punaluu and will load 1600 sacks of H. A. C. sugar and about forty bales of sisal. She will also take on 4900 sacks of A. H. Co. sugar. It is expected that she will call at Napoona for 242 cases of pineapples and about 150 sacks of coffee. She will also call at Kailua for about 200 sacks of coffee. The Niihau is expected to arrive in Honolulu Friday.
New Steamers for A. H. Line.
A dispatch from Seattle states that one of the largest single orders ever placed by an American steamship company is one given to a Seattle shipbuilding company by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company. The contract and specifications call for four new steamers of twelve thousand tons each. They will be modern and speedy vessels, and it is expected that they will ply between Atlantic and Pacific coast ports when the canal is completed, their termini being New York and Seattle. The total amount of the contract is three million two hundred thousand dollars, or eight hundred thousand dollars for each steamer. The contract specifies that they shall be ready for service by the time the canal opens in 1913.

Orient to New York in 17 Days.
A Philadelphia report, dated September 24, states that a consignment of silk valued at $140,000, arrived at New York seventeen days from the Orient. It is not stated by what route the consignment came, but it must have been shipped by way of Vancouver and thence by "Preference Freight" service trains through to destination.
The report goes on to say:
"The last stage of the journey was made over the Pennsylvania railroad system, the two carloads of silk leaving Chicago in the morning and arriving in Jersey City the next evening."

"A few years ago seventeen days would have been good time for the trip across the United States. For some classes of freight it is good time now. The perfection of what is known as the "Preference Freight" service has made rapid movements of this kind possible. Instead of tying up $140,000 for a couple of months, as would have been necessary formerly, the importer was able to put his capital into action after two weeks and a half. This means much to the importer."

"On westward runs the Union Line is fed by the immense shipments of merchandise from the great manufacturing centers of the New England states, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and by the thousands of tons of fruits and vegetables which come from the South Atlantic states, not all of which go to eastern markets. Returning, besides silk for New York and Europe from the Orient, there is the enormous fruit crop from the Pacific states to be delivered to the markets on both sides of the Atlantic. Almost everything that can be found in a store is included in the preference class, as well as many of the heavier commodities."

Floating Oil Factory Coming.
LIVERPOOL, Sept. 15.—The Glasgow four-masted bark Nile was purchased last week by Mr. Thor Dahl, of Norway, and will proceed from Belfast to Newcastle to be fitted up as a floating fish-oil factory.
The vessel will be provided with machinery for boiling down and refining whale blubber and with oil tanks. Afterwards she will sail with a Norwegian crew for the Sandwich Islands in the Pacific ocean.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Honolulu T. H., Oct. 16, 1911.
For the week ended October 14, 1911.

General Summary.

There was less rainfall than during the preceding week throughout the section, and the total amount was below the average for the week at all stations on Kauai, and Oahu, and at all but one on Hawaii, and all but two on Maui.

The mean temperatures were slightly lower than last week's at all stations on Kauai, and at all but one on each of Hawaii Maui, and Oahu. On Molokai it was slightly warmer than during the preceding week.

The following are the total amounts of rainfall, in inches, in the different districts of the several islands: Hawaii—North Kohala 0.40 to 0.82, Hama 0.45 to 0.72, North Hilo 1.42 to 2.10, South Hilo 1.65 to 5.21, Puna 0.95 to 1.39, Kau 0.90, South Kona 0.58, North Kona 1.24, and South Kona 0.99. Maui—Makawao 1.39 to 3.27, Hana 1.30 to 3.08, Wailuku 0.92 to 0.10, and Lahaina trace. Oahu—Koolau-poko 0.12 to 0.37, Honolulu 0.03 to 0.81, and Ewa 0.09. Kauai—Hanalei 0.13, Lihue 0.27, Koloa 0.13 to 0.50 and Waiman 0.01. Molokai—Molokai 0.33.

The following are the departures from the average rainfall for the week, for ten or more years, in inches, in the several districts: Hawaii—North Kohala 0.90 to -0.45, Hama -0.15 to -0.44, North Hilo -0.42 to -0.45, South Hilo -0.86 to +0.44, Puna -0.80, Kau -0.60 to -0.75, South Kona -0.50, and North Kona -0.20. Maui—Makawao +0.08, Hana +0.39, Wailuku -0.18 to -0.21, and Lahaina -0.21. Oahu—Koolau-poko -0.45 to -0.87, Honolulu -0.25 to -1.79, and Ewa -0.27. Kauai—Hanalei -1.19, Koloa -0.22 to -0.66, Waiman -0.28.

The following table gives the weekly averages of temperature and rainfall for the principal islands and for the group:

|         | Temp. | Rainfall.   |
|---------|-------|-------------|
| Hawaii  | 71.9° | 1.30 inches |
| Maui    | 72.8° | 1.21 inches |
| Oahu    | 75.5° | 0.34 inch   |
| Kauai   | 74.8° | 0.21 inch   |

At the local office of the United States Weather Bureau in Honolulu clear to partly cloudy weather obtained on the first four days and cloudy weather on the remaining three, with traces of rainfall on four dates and measurable amounts on two totaling 0.03 inch, 0.25 below the normal for the week, and 0.49 less than during the preceding week. The maximum temperature was 82°, minimum 69°, and mean 75.9°, 0.7° lower than the weekly normal, and 0.1° higher than last week's. The mean daily relative humidity varied from 60% to 65% and the mean for the week was 62.6%, about 7% below normal. Northeastly winds prevailed excepting easterly on the last date, with an average hourly velocity of 7.6 miles. The mean daily barometer ranged from 30.00 to 30.04 inches, and the mean for the week, 30.01, was 0.04 inch above normal.

NATIVES OF NEW ZEALAND.

and there is a grave danger of this at the present time, owing to the safeguard against the complete alienation of their lands having been to a large extent removed. These seems to be a growing inclination amongst them to sell all they can—live for the present, and let the future look after itself."

Evils of the Tangi.

As to the tangi, the sub-enumerator for Waikato County says: "This Maori custom is carried on to an extravagant degree. Apart from the enormous consumption of food, which the relatives in many instances could ill-afford, there is the presentation of money, Maori mats, etc. Then there is the danger of contagion at a tangi. No matter what the deceased died from, the custom demands a tangi. To this cause is attributed the spread of disease."

The sub-enumerator for the Waikato County makes the following remark: "In my opinion the only way to increase and save the race from extinction or absorption is to stop their intermarriage with Europeans," though he had previously stated that "a remarkable feature is that the married natives with any European blood bear children more fruitfully than the full-blooded Maoris."

A somewhat pessimistic note is also struck by the Hawke's Bay sub-enumerator, who says: "I am sorry to say that everything points to no industry," which means laziness. Most of those who have rents coming to them from tribal lands are quite satisfied, when the leases expire, to either sell or lease again for long terms, because they can depend on the next shearing season to supplement their incomes."

"The Maori of today is neither a farmer nor an agriculturist," says the sub-enumerator for the Waikato and Waipukurau Counties. "The reason lies in the fact that he has no land under his immediate occupation. It is the same cry everywhere you go, 'We have leased the land to the pakeha' (white man)."

The Maori Prophet.

A curious story is narrated by the sub-enumerator for the Rangitikei County. "I might mention," he says, "that I was not received at the Maori prophet's pa at Parewanui. When I paid my first visit there the natives got away into the bush; others would not give their names, saying that the government had taken all the native lands, that the Maori mana had gone, their rangatiras had all died, and now the government was curious to know how many survived this great battle between white and brown. Of course, I explained to them the object of the census, but to no avail. I therefore left and returned a few days after, again without success, so I took their names from the Maori parson."

In the South.

Some important statements are made by Mr. H. W. Bishop, S. M., regarding the Maoris of the South Island. "Of late years," he says, "I have noticed a growing habit of excessive indulgence in alcohol in many districts in the island. In those parts where the habit has almost become a scandal the excessive indulgence is mostly with the middle-aged women and the very young men. Recently some very bad cases were brought under my notice where several young men were the subject of prohibition orders, and repeatedly broke their orders. They were really mere boys, one of them being only 16 years of age. This is most deplorable. When instructing my sub-enumerators I sent a circular to each one, asking him when he forwarded his returns to give me all possible information as to the drinking habits of the people. The result has been somewhat interesting, and the information is thoroughly reliable. Some of the sub-enumerators, who are intimately associated with the Maoris, deplore the present condition of things and appeal for something to be done to improve it. They recognize, as everyone must do, that it means utter ruin to the race. Unfortunately, the fact that the women are able to get drunk, and to indulge in most unseemly carousals, shows great demoralization on the part of those who procure it for them. It has been found very difficult to enforce the law prohibiting the supply of liquor to women. The men, and especially the young men, purchase it and convey it to lonely spots, where it can be consumed with impunity. Many of the more thinking Maoris, male and female, are doing all they possibly can to minimize the evil."

JACK AND HIS TOGS.

My Lords of Whitehall have suddenly discovered that Jack Tar is not made all of a size, and a new order regarding clothing is just issued which will be welcomed by the men.

A fit seized the Admiralty equipment people some years ago and they decided to supply the fleet with ready-made clothes. Hitherto the men had made their own. One of the regulations was that the pattern laid down was to be rigidly adhered to and no deviations whatever allowed.

The new regulation is an exposition of the commonest of common sense. It says that many of the measurements given in the uniform regulations represent "the measurements appropriate for a man of average size and need to be slightly varied to meet individual cases in order to insure a smart, well-fitting garment. It should be the rule, therefore, for a good fit and general smartness of appearance to be considered as of more importance than a minute adherence to exact measurements."

The Admiralty has discovered why civilians go to their tailors to have their new suits tried on, apparently.—London Daily Sketch.

WORTH TWENTY TIMES ITS COST.

One bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy goes a long way toward relieving suffering humanity. It is better than any doctor's prescription, and worth twenty times its cost in cases of diarrhoea, cramp colic or dysentery, which are liable to come on suddenly at this season of the year. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

Pay cash and ask for Green Stamps (they are free) and call at the show-rooms and see the new goods.

SEALED TENDERS.

Sealed tenders will be received by the Superintendent of Public Works up until 12 m. of Monday, October 30, 1911, for laying an 18-inch cast-iron pipe from Kaimuki Pumping Station to reservoir on top of Kaimuki Hill.

Plans, specifications and blank proposals are on file in the office of the Superintendent of Public Works.

The Superintendent reserves the right to reject any or all tenders.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."

—Mrs. HELEN SMITH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

MAYOR GAYNOR ON MASTICATION

New Bedford Standard: When a man like Mayor Gaynor is so impressed with the importance of proper mastication of the food that he voluntarily talks to a newspaper man on the subject, what he has to say may well be considered worth listening to by the average man. Mayor Gaynor was forced into special carefulness in eating by the wound he suffered in his throat more than a year ago, and out of that special attention to the matter of chewing his food he found to be true the claims of those who have previously looked searchingly into the subject—that careful chewing of the food not only tends to better digestion of it, but that its better assimilation tends to better nourishment through a less quantity of food than would come from a greater quantity bolted into the stomach. Health and length of life he rates dependent upon the proper assimilation of food, a chief factor in which is mastication. He does not ask that so many chews be bestowed on each item that passes between the lips. Probably he would rate himself in the class with the medical man who, in writing on the subject, contented himself with advising people to neither bolt their food like a dog nor chew like a cow. A proper human method of eating has been established, and that might well be adopted by all humans, whether they eat in congenial home surroundings, where pleasant chat and interested listening tend to leisurely repasts, or whether they are obliged deliberately to exercise the self-control that permits chewing to be a feature of eating at restaurant or boarding-house table. Slow eating satisfies the appetite with less food than the bolting method, with the result that the physical system is saved the overtax that too much food puts upon it; using the figure of fire and fuel, Mayor Gaynor believes that man's intelligence can make himself live longer if he will not burn up his body too rapidly with food. His own experience is that he is better though lighter on the smaller amount of food that careful eating has shown him to be adequate for his needs. With health and decreased cost of living the promised double result, leisurely eating ought more rapidly to become the custom.

HEXAHEMERON CAT TO BREAK HOODOO

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 30.—The final chapter of the weird performances in Tumbling Run valley, where Farmer Howell Thomas was this week alleged by relatives to have been killed by an evil charm of a "hex" cat, was written yesterday at a meeting, or powwow, of "hex" doctors from Schnylkill Haven.

Ever since preparations were made to shoot the "hex" cat with a gold bullet it has failed to put in an appearance at the Thomas farm, and the hex doctors decided that the evil spell cast over the Thomas homestead can only be dispelled by installing a certain black cat, now owned by a Schnylkill Haven man. This cat is said to have been born on the sixth day of the sixth month of 1906 and to have been one of a litter of six kittens. It was blind only six days after being born, whereas all ordinary cats are blind nine days.

The hex doctors declare that these facts make this a hexahemerion cat. The word hexahemerion is taken from two Greek words, "hex" (six) and "hemera" (days) and is usually applied to the six days of Creation, as described in the first chapter of Genesis. While there are only five Books of Moses in the authorized Bible, the hex doctors believe they have a Sixth Book of Moses. In this novel book, the Witch of Endor, who raised up Samuel and who is referred to in the Bible as being consulted by Saul, ascribes full power to the "hexahemerion" cat in warding off evil spirits.

It was declared that the hex cat had beyond doubt an engagement with the evil one, whereby it had imparted to it an imp or familiar spirit. The Schnylkill Haven cat has never eaten anything but toads, frogs, lizards and serpents, and the hex doctors agree that its presence will restore the Thomas homestead to a normal condition.

The assurance of relief seems to have already affected the Thomas farm, for the hundreds of visitors to the bewitched place yesterday found that the hens were no longer crowing like roosters nor were the pigs barking like dogs.

WASTING AWAY

his election been vetoed by Austria. Many of the cardinals who voted in his favor at the last conclave are still living and a few of those who opposed his election eight years ago now support it.

If a conclave is held soon, say within a year, it is not likely that more than forty cardinals will be present, as there are many members of the sacred college who through old age and illness could not enter the conclave. Cardinal Rampolla, it is claimed, can count on at least thirty votes, so that his election seems assured.

Rampolla is 69 years of age, and consequently he is of the same age as Leo XIII. and Pius X. when they mounted the chair of St. Peter. The present pope practically designated Cardinal Rampolla as his successor. One of the first acts of his pontificate was to abolish the veto and he sent the first copy of the constitution to Cardinal Rampolla as his successor. Cardinal Rampolla fully realizes that he has the best chances to become pope. He has not shown by any outward act that he is working toward this object, but his friends are carefully preparing the way toward his election.

Italy Opposes Him.

Although practically speaking there are no obstacles in the way, still it is a well known fact that the Italian government is not favorable to his election. Before the last conclave the late Premier Zanardelli told the bishop of Cremona, Mgr. Bonomelli, a prelate noted for his patriotism, his loyal devotion to the house of Savoy and his repeated efforts toward a reconciliation between the Vatican and Italy, that as the election of Rampolla, which was then considered probable, would render a reconciliation impossible, as the future pope's hostility against united Italy was well known, he was determined to use his influence with Germany's aid in persuading Austria to veto Cardinal Rampolla's election. As Italy can count on the support of Austria and Germany, the influence of the triple alliance may be felt if brought to bear against the candidate to the papacy. Cardinal Rampolla recently said that Bishop Bonomelli was a great friend of his, thereby implying that he is not contrary to reconciliation between the Vatican and the Quirinal, and the cardinal's friends explained that the anti-Italian policy followed by Cardinal Rampolla when he was Leo XIII's secretary of state was personal, as it was directed against Crispi, whom Rampolla opposed because he was an anticlerical, and not against united Italy.

RAPINET MACKENZIE.

DIRECTIONS FOR BUILDING A CITY

the retaining of a city planning expert or experts. And it is to be observed that recently cities are calling two or three experts, one of whom is more particularly an authority on city planning and landscape architecture in general, another a transportation expert, and the third an expert in sanitation.

"There are in this country men who, by special training and long experience, are competent to render the service required of them. Once retained, and of course financial provision must be made for that purpose, they proceed to study all the local conditions, which are eventually drafted into a complete report, with illustrations, maps and definite recommendations. Most cities enhance the value of these reports by having them printed in attractive form and in large quantities so that they may be given wide distribution.

Raising Money Needed.

"But there can be no rest from labor here. At this point the large and difficult undertaking presents itself of securing legislative approval of the report and the vote of the necessary moneys, preferably large bond issues, to carry out, or at least begin, the several lines of work recommended by the experts. The report, of course, contains recommendations that can only be carried out during a long course of years. The wise city is the one that adopts the report in full, if it meets the general approval, and arranges, by a series of long-term bonds similar to those now popular in Germany, to cover all the work contemplated."

LIQUOR LEGISLATION.

calling for utter condemnation—is the proposal to compel publicans to record in a book, for inspection by an European constabulary officer, 'all sales of liquor not consumed on the premises, specifying the date, the name of purchaser, and the kind and quantity of liquor sold.' This is certainly an unwarranted interference with the liberty of the subject. It compels a citizen who desires to purchase an every-day commodity to submit to a searching enquiry and register as many particulars as he would were he taking out a dog license or 'popping' his Sunday suit in one of the establishments which in Fiji are conspicuous by their absence. * * *

Section 14 provides for the opening of hotels on Sunday, Good Friday and Christmas Day, between the hours of 8 and 9 a. m., 1 and 3 p. m., and 8 and 10 p. m., but liquor sold on these days must not be consumed on the premises. This is a clear and decided encouragement to the 'bottle trade.' It also makes it easy for an intoxicated person to obtain liquor through his friends and consequently takes the responsibility of supplying liquor to persons 'under the influence.' In England licensed houses are opened from 1 to 3 and 6 to 10 p. m. The case might be met in Fiji by opening say from 1 to 3 and 8 to 10 p. m., and allowing those who desire a refreshment during those hours to enjoy it in a manner worthy of a free-born Briton as distinguished from the methods of the 'sly grog shop.'"

PLACE WHERE TOURISTS
ARE APPRECIATED (?)

The Levuka correspondent of the Western Pacific Herald writes:

"Another injustice to Fiji! During the Tofua's stay in port one of the tourists asked a leading citizen if he could speak English. On expressing his pleasure at possessing this accomplishment, our tourist friend expressed the hope that he was not offended, and received the reply that we take no notice of tourists or lunatics in this part of the world, as we fully understood them."

On its face, all the same, the article creates a doubt of the standard of English prevailing at Levuka. Was it "a leading citizen" or "our tourist friend" who expressed "his pleasure at possessing this accomplishment"? The tenses in the last clause, moreover, show need of tightening the tension screw.

"Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher, "can you tell me what caused the flood?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the little fellow; "it rained."

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII.

THE UNITED STATES, Plaintiff, vs. THE BOARD OF THE HAWAIIAN EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION, et al., Defendants.

You are hereby directed to appear and answer the Petition in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the United States District Court, for the Territory of Hawaii, within twenty days from and after service upon you of a certified copy of Plaintiff's Petition herein, together with a certified copy of this Summons.

And you are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment of condemnation of the lands described in the Petition herein and for any other relief demanded in the Petition.

WITNESS THE HONORABLE SANFORD B. DOLE and THE HONORABLE CHARLES F. CLEMENS, Judges of said District Court, this 30th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-fifth.

(Sgd) A. E. MURPHY, Clerk.

(Seal)
(Endorsed)

No. 77. UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, for the Territory of Hawaii, THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA vs. THE BOARD OF THE HAWAIIAN EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION, et al. SUMMONS. ROBERT W. BRECKONS, United States Attorney.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Territory of Hawaii, City of Honolulu, ss.

I, A. E. MURPHY, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Territory and District of Hawaii, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a full, true and correct copy of the original Summons in the case of THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA vs. THE BOARD OF THE HAWAIIAN EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION, et al., as the same remains of record and on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said District Court this 29th day of June, A. D. 1911.

A. E. MURPHY,

Clerk of United States District Court, Territory of Hawaii.
