A READABLE PROGRAMME.

Whoever had the responsibility of the printing for last night's entertainment at the Opera House, is to be commended for having furnished the audience with a readable programme.
This being an exception to the general rule, is noticeable. The programmes usually provided in that place of amusement are scarcely better than none at all, to persons in the back part of the hall, because of their being printed in type so fine that they cannot be read unless in a good light. The fault is generally not the printer's, but the person's giving the order, who, in nine cases out of ten, insists upon the use of fine face and unreadable type. The person ordering last night's programmes, either selected readable type or left it to the choice of the printer, who had the common sense to choose wisely. It was easily decipherable in all parts of the house. Let us hope that the commendable example will be invariably followed in future. A printed programme is for the benefit of the audience; but if the audience cannot read it, what benefit is it? None whatever.
Better save the money.

ANOTHER LICENCE FEE.

Yesterday we took occasion to express disapproval of our licensing law. To-day our attention has been called to the fact that the ladies and gentlemen who so generously gave their time and talents, without compensation, to entertain the public last night and to assist the cause of benevolence, had to pay a licence fee of $6 for the privilege of doing so.
Such is law in this kingdom. Or we suppose it is, otherwise the fee would not be demanded or paid. Do the churches come under the same regulation, and are they required to take out a licence and pay tribute to the government every time they hold service? It is quite as just and reasonable to levy a tax in the one case as in the other. The more one learns of the laws of this country, the more he discovers of narrow prejudice and childish stupidity.

OUR CONSTITUTION.

The kingdom of Hawaii has a constitution—a written constitution—and is supposed to be governed by a constitutional government. But the government is never troubled with over-keen conscientious scruples about keeping within constitutional boundaries. If the constitution seems to favor the government wish, why then the constitution is quoted and lauded and followed with a great sound of exultant voices. When the constitution seems to be on the other side of the question, the constitution is ignored, or politely requested to take a back seat, or unceremoniously sent straight to the dogs. It is only when the constitution is "in accord" that it can be admitted into the counsel-chamber. When in opposition, it has to stand out side the door, in the hall-way, until the business is over. Perhaps the government is unable to understand the constitution, or succeed in understanding it in a peculiar way, and hence this irrelevant treatment. No wonder if such is the case; for our constitution is, unfortunately, a poorly constructed document, leaving out some things that ought to be in, and taking in some things that ought to be out. Its English is of the kind that is given to school boys as "bad grammar to be corrected." Its intention may be good—the very best.
But the sheet anchor of a people's rights and liberties should be made of better metal than the best of intentions. It is in some places indefinite, in some ambiguous, and in others contradictory, perhaps. Talk about "a coach and six" driving through it, why all the coaches and horses in Honolulu might dash through some of the openings abreast, without the slightest danger of touching the sides. Thus, it is rather accommodating to a government of lax notions. It was apparently framed by men utterly incapable of comprehending the great principles of constitutional law, and is a "magna charta" which is not entirely fitted for the purposes of liberty, advancement, and civilization. If this be a correct estimate of our constitution, which is the fundamental law of the land, it needs doctoring by an intelligent legislature. Dare we hope ever to get a body of men together equal to the task?

BLOW OFF OUTSIDE.

Those who go to the Hawaiian Opera House on occasions of public entertainments, to see, hear, and be amused, have a grievance against others who apparently go there to talk, make a noise, and be an annoyance to others. People of the latter class frequently station themselves in the back part of the hall, near the door, and keep up a perpetual clatter of voices while the performance is in progress, so that quiet people who sit a little way in front and are intently listening to catch what comes from the stage, are often unable to hear a word, only from behind. Then if something in the performance should occasionally gain their attention, and they make up their minds they would like to see or hear it repeated, they set into rattle their walking-sticks and boots on the floor, and kick up a racket that smells strongly of rough breeding. When the noisy fit seizes these gentlemen, whether in their tongues, sticks, or boots, which it often does, it would be more considerate of them to adjourn to the open street for a few minutes, and there "blow off" the accumulated steam. This would be showing proper respect and consideration for the feelings and rights of decent people inside, only there might be some danger of their being "hauled in" as disturbers of the quiet of the night. The spectacle of fast young men making fools of themselves on the wharf at the departure of the Australian steamers once or twice a month is quite diversion enough in that line.
The same thing sandwiched in between a half dozen times at the Opera House is rather too much—nauseating and surfeiting.

MR. EHRLICH'S STATEMENT.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—I desire a small space in your columns to correct a statement in yesterday's Advertiser, which is calculated to create a wrong impression, respecting my interfering with a receiver.
I would say, that after the dissolution of co-partnership between Mr.

S. Cohen and myself, on the 10th of February last, the books of S.
Cohen & Co. showed outstanding accounts owing to S. Cohen & Co. by sundry parties, which debts were to be paid to me, I being accountable for such monies collected to S.
Cohen & Co. I left Honolulu for San Francisco on February 16th, and during my absence, on the 24th of February, the Court appointed Mr. Godfrey Brown, receiver for the estate of S. Cohen & Co. During my absence, my attorney, Hon.
Paul Neumann, asked the Court to appoint a receiver, as he could get no settlement from Mr. Cohen. During my absence certain monies were disbursed here for account of S.
Cohen & Co., from monies collected, and also some money paid by me in San Francisco on the same account, not knowing that a receiver had been appointed. On my return to Honolulu I received notice from Mr.
Brown that he was appointed receiver, and to hand over to him monies in my possession belonging to S. Cohen & Co. I immediately complied with the order by having a statement made of the account of S. Cohen & Co., justly deducting from amounts collected by me, such amounts paid out by me for S.
Cohen & Co. I took this statement to Mr. Godfrey Brown, the receiver, prepared to settle by turning over to him all the monies in my possession, as shown by the said statement. But he refused to take such settlement, demanding of me all the monies collected by me for account of S. Cohen & Co., and not allowing me back monies paid out by me for S. Cohen & Co. On my appearing before the Court, it was shown that there was no contempt of Court, and furthermore the Court did allow me to deduct certain monies paid out by me. S. EHRLICH.

THE PRISON-CELL PUZZLE.

A correspondent recently sent us the following piece of reprint, which he believes to be the correct answer to the prison-cell puzzle. We would inform him, however, that he is mistaken. The key to the puzzle is found in the wording of the problem.
The prisoner is supposed to be confined in cell No. 1, and is required to enter every cell. The entering process commences subsequent to the incarceration, and therefore the first cell has not been entered until he returns to it. Following is the answer above referred to, which is here reproduced by special request: [During the past two weeks the Query Department has been overwhelmed with solutions of the great prison-cell puzzle, not one of which complies with its conditions. Nearly every one of these correspondents says, in so many words: "I have done it; here it is," and incloses a diagram showing how he has done it, or rather that he has not done it at all. The same way to get around the obstacle in the way of solution seems to have struck them all, and they have uniformly stolen a slight but very vital departure from the terms, and enjoyed themselves into a triumph. The proposition is that a prisoner is placed in the corner cell of a prison containing six rooms, of six cells each. Every cell opens into all the other cells adjoining it, by a door in the center of the partition wall. There are no other passages.
The exit from the prison is from the cell at the extreme corner, diagonally across from the prisoner's. He is offered his freedom on condition that he passes through all the other cells, and enters no one more than once. It is but the revival of an old thing with which, some years ago, a fun-loving individual, through the medium of an Eastern journal, set the puzzle-working portion of the community a-crazing over an impossibility. If there were any odd number of rows—though it might be five one way and seven or nine, or any other odd number, the other—there would be no difficulty in going out; but in a prison constructed with an even number of rows both ways —say eight, six, four or two only—the thing is impossible. A person sentenced to life imprisonment in such a building could safely be offered his liberty on the terms given in the puzzle. He would serve out his term.]

ANGRY YASSAR GIRLS.

New York, March 29.—The girls of Yassar College contemplate a new declaration of independence. The members of the three lower classes of the college have grievances which have brought about a coolness between the under-graduates and the Faculty, and it is likely to develop into a condition of open rebellion.
There is a disagreement in the matter of dress. The girls want caps and uniforms after the fashion of the West Point Cadets and the Faculty are determined not to let them have them. A committee waited upon President Taylor and requested him to ask the Faculty to recommend the adoption of the caps and gowns, such as are worn by the students of an English university.
He told them frankly that he did not think it necessary, as the addition of the gown would make them seem affected. The posture of self-pride was too much for the Yassar girls of spirit, and they determined that they would have a uniform in spite of the President. A powerful lobby was organized and female arts taxed to win supporters among the Faculty when the question finally came up at one of the weekly meetings of that body. The cap and gown business was voted down by a large majority. Then an appeal was had to the trustees, but with no better result.

Though beaten at every point, the cherished scheme is by no means abandoned. The students say they will adopt the uniform any way.
They are holding secret meetings and are confident of bringing the Faculty to terms.—[S. F. Bulletin.]

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

The Government schools re-open on Monday next.

Messrs. F. A. Schaefer & Co advertise IXL Santa Cruz line for sale.

Two drunks and one case of assault and battery comprised all the criminal business in the Police Court to-day.

Hon. John W. Kalua has been appointed School Agent for the district of Wailuku, Maui, in place of Mr. A.
Barne.

The remains of the police captain, W. Akau, were buried from the Roman Catholic Cathedral, yesterday afternoon, Father Leonore officiating.

His Majesty accompanied by Princess Poimakelani, occupied the Royal box at the theatre last night, and the box opposite was occupied by the Hon. W. G. and Mrs. Irwin.

To-morrow night a ball will be given at the Palace, when Captain Sir William Wiseman and officers of the Caroline will be the special guests of the King.

Mr. G. E. Smithies has been appointed an agent to grant marriage licenses for the district of Kona, Oahu, during the absence of Mr. J.
H. Boyd.

It is stated that the King is about to have manufactured, by a local mechanic, a complete set of concrete furniture. This will be a novelty for Honolulu.

The special volcano excursion trip of the S. S. Kinau, did not attract many passengers yesterday, only three embarking for the purpose of witnessing Hawaii's great wonder.

The gross receipts of last night's performance were $350. Of this amount there will be a goodly sum to hand over to the British Benevolent Society, as the expenses were presumably light.

The "Hawaiian Government Gazette" notifies that the tying out or turning loose of horses or cattle within the enclosed grounds of court houses or other public buildings throughout the kingdom is strictly prohibited, and all parties disobeying the order are liable to prosecution.

A GENTLEMAN of good address is sought for by Mr. J. H. Soper.

Miss Tuck has removed to the old Humphrey House, No. 6 Garden lane.

The credit auction sales again drew together several purchasers this day.

Mr. Hewitt has for sale, at $1.25 apiece, maps of the island of Maui, by Messrs. Rowell and Webster, civil and mechanical engineers.

DIVIDED notices are announced by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, and also by E. O.
Hall & Son, Limited.

At ten minutes past 3 o'clock the H. R. Association was fifty points ahead in the shooting contest with the Caroline's team.

The schooner Mow Wahine, after breaking two five-inch lines during rough weather at Kohala, got under way for Honolulu, and arrived here this morning.

The barkentine W. H. Dimond will sail for San Francisco on Thursday next, at noon, in command of the chief officer. Captain Swift will probably remain here until the return of the Dimond.

The steamer W. G. Hall, which arrived this afternoon, reports fearfully rough weather; no fresh cases of small pox at Lahaina; did not see the over-due steamer Mokoli; the Volcano is sending out dense volumes of smoke.

Mr. D. B. Smith says that the bad action of the electric light in the Hawaiian Hotel billiard room the other night was caused by the engine not being adapted to, or powerful enough for the purpose. Mr. Smith further said that because he has received the contract to light the city, some people are soreheaded.

The Kaimiloa is expected to be ready for sea in about two weeks.
A large force of men is pushing the work with all possible haste. The sails are being bent and the bridge is approaching completion. The school boys have already mastered the knack of furling sails.

The schooner Mow Wahine, which arrived this morning from Hanakua, brings news of one of the steamer Tawani's boats capsizing at Hono-kua, and so injuring one of the sailors that the steamer immediately headed for Mahukona for medical aid.

THERE was an usual influx of Hawaiians yesterday into the city from the country districts, particularly from the Ewa direction. The Palma road, for several hours in the morning, beginning before 6 o'clock, looked more like Saturday than Monday.
Probably the fire anniversary luau had something to do with it.

ANGLICAN DIOCESAN SYNOD.

The Diocesan Synod of the Anglican Church on these Islands opened this morning at half-past 6 o'clock by a celebration of the Holy Communion. The Synod will assemble for evensong at the Cathedral at 3 p. m. The Roll will be called and the Bishop will deliver his address.
The Synod will then adjourn to the adjoining building.

HIS MAJESTY AGAIN VISITS H. B. M. S. CAROLINE.

His Majesty was entertained at breakfast on board H. B. M. S.
Caroline yesterday, by Sir William Wiseman. His Majesty was attended by His Excellency Antonio Rosa, Majors Parker, Hayley, Cornell and Bertelman. There was gun practice, and also a torpedo exhibition in honor of the royal guest.
On leaving the vessel in the afternoon, a royal salute was fired.

DISTILLING IN KOHALA.

From information supplied by the Marshal, it is a pleasure to note that the distilling operations, carried on for so long a period in the Kohala district, have at length been wiped out of existence. The last of the gang was caught last week, committed, and sent down to Honolulu to serve the sentence passed upon him.
The foreign inhabitants feel thankful to the indefatigable efforts of Sheriff Moanani, formerly deputy sheriff in the district of Hilo, during the period that the Hon. J. L. Kau-luku was Sheriff.

DUCK THIEVERY.

Mr. Thomas Rewcastle, residing on Kinau street, between Alapai and Kapiolani streets, had the misfortune, last night, to lose two dozen ducks. The "quacks" did not stray off, nor die of disease; but were captured and carried away, during the hours of darkness, by some unknown thief or thieves. This is the first loss of the kind sustained by this gentleman, although he reports that many of his neighbors have had similar experience before him; in fact, that stealing of ducks and chickens is a common occurrence in that neighborhood. Mr. Rewcastle would cheerfully give the value of his lost ducks, for positive information as to who committed the theft—whether Hawaiians, Americans, Europeans, Western Islanders, Chinese, or who.
It is a shame that people cannot go to the expense and bother of raising ducks and chickens, without the risk of having them stolen just when they have reached maturity.
The police, too, might be more awake and watchful than they are.

CHARITY'S CALL.

THE BRITISH BENEFICENT—YOUTH AND BEAUTY TO THE FRONT.

A happy thought recently struck the committee that manages the financial affairs of the British Benevolent Society, a society, as stated in these columns yesterday, whose object is, "to help the needy and relieve the distressed." With the view of increasing their funds, a modest call was made upon a few lady and gentleman amateurs who are well known as expert delineators in the histrionic art. The call was willingly and promptly responded to, and resulted in there being placed on the boards of the Opera House, scenic representations of a high order, and drawing within the walls of the building, a large, fashionable and appreciative audience. In other words the house was well filled last night long before the curtain rose.

The programme comprised five Tableaux vivants, followed by Bayle Bernard's screaming farce, entitled, "On His Last Legs." Tableaux in Honolulu are a rarity and the anxious audience was, before the uprising of the curtain, somewhat in doubt as to their success. This feeling, however, was promptly and forever dispelled when the first of the series, entitled, "The School of the Vestals," was presented to view. A thrill of admiration was apparent on all sides. The Venus-like forms, clad in comely costumes, electrified the onlookers. As the red fire slowly burned in the midst of fifteen or twenty of Nature's angelic forms, whilst dulcet strains of music permeated the air, the scene was sublime. Applause arose spontaneously as the curtain commenced to fall, and so continued until one more view of perfect female beauty was again presented. Tableaux No. 2 presented a historical picture with which most theatre going people are very familiar. King Lear reclining on a couch, with his physician at his head, his heart-broken spouse at his side, and his spiritual adviser and attendant in the background, recalled to mind the dread fact that even royalty must, in due course, pay the penalty of death. The scene was Doleful in the extreme.

No. 3, "The Magic Mirror," represented the fastidiousness of man.
The magician with his magic wand in his hand, stands by the mirror, awaiting opportunities to allure the passers-by. A handsome courtier happens along, and calls into requisition the magic powers of supernatural necromancy. Female forms divine are called forth at will, amongst which is the simple maiden unadorned, the Spanish peasant of true Castilian type, the subtle Japanese and many others equally fascinating. To one and all, the courtier shook his head, until at length, a most beautiful specimen of the Circassian type, captivated him at sight. Next came, "The Gipsies' Encampment," a familiar scene in the country lanes and around the harvest fields of Old England. A scene of this nature could not have been exhibited to better advantage.
The simplicity and the unconven-tionality of this nomadic race carried many a memory back to the days of youthful rambles. It elicited loud applause which was responded to with a repeat. The final scene, "The Sculptor's Studio" was so realistic as to impress the spectator with an idea that he had in view, genuine works of art, and not Tableaux Vivants. The captivated "Young Man from the Country," intently eyeing a lightly clad Venus through his glasses, while his jealous and selfish spouse tugged at his coat tail, conveyed the idea that he had lost his heart on a statue. The curtain fell and rose again in response to a most vociferous round of applause. So charming and captivating were the scenes throughout that repeated demands and accorded for every representation.

To the ladies in whose fertile minds these several ideas originated, too much praise cannot be awarded, and they are to be congratulated in having accomplished a grand signal success.

"ON HIS LAST LEGS."

This celebrated farce brought forth some of our veteran amateurs.
The word "veteran" is used ad-visedly, the part of O'Callaghan having been played by Mr. Godfrey Brown on the New York stage, thirty years ago. He has certainly lost none of his youthful sprightliness during that lengthy period, but no doubt added thereto by his increased experience of men and character. On making his appearance, Mr. Brown though apparently not "his last legs" as far as dress and demeanor were concerned, received an overwhelming ovation. His long absence from the Theatrical Boards of Honolulu, has in no way lessened his ability as a delineator of the sublime and ridiculous. As O'Callaghan he appeared on the stage in a suit of shiny black that bore indications of having seen better days.
He was alive to the situation, however, and was prepared to accept the role of schoolmaster, physician, or paterfamilias. It was in the former line that he first saw an opening to turn an honest penny and obtain a decent dinner, a luxury to which he had long been a stranger. Meeting with Dr. Banks, (Mr. A. T. Atkinson), he concluded an engagement, and by way of an earnest of his ability to fill the situation with credit to himself and benefit to his pupils, he gave the audience a specimen of his erudite learning, more particularly in the specialty of speaking the English language without any superfluous accent, his speech indicating, however, that he was no stranger to Erin's Isle. He made a grand failure of course, but again fell upon "his legs" as a physician, utilizing as a passport to practice the healing art, the card of Dr. Banks, with whom he had exchanged, and per-sonifying that personage to the best of his ability. His surgical skill was soon called into operation on the person of "Charles," (Mr. F.

P. Hastings) who was subject to hysterical spasms, and sudden attack of neuralgia. Charles' attacks being all "put on," the quasi-doctor's remedies were soon made effectual, that is, when it suited his patient's interests. Deciding to pursue his adopted profession, and finding it lucrative in the extreme, he added to his personal property, by carrying with him a case of instruments, as he called it, in the shape of a jack knife with six blades.
On being told by Charles' aunt, Mrs. Montague, (Miss King), of the young man's severe indisposition, he prescribed as a remedy that his head be shaved, and six leeches be applied to his eyebrows, all of which being spoken within the hearing of Charles, suddenly restored him to a normal condition of health.
The piece de resistance of the whole plot, however, remained until his meeting Julia, (Mrs. J. D. Strong), the daughter of Dr. Banks. The young lady not having seen her "Papa" for years, had forgotten his physiognomy, and as a consequence she was easily deceived by the quack with the assumed name of her father. On meeting, father and daughter embraced one another in a most ardent and loving manner, so natural that it "brought down the house." The old man Rivers was represented by Mr. Harry von Holt, in which he displayed artistic qualifications increased by an admirable knowledge of acting. John, (Mr.
E. F. Bishop), though a minor member of the dramatis personae, sustained his reputation as a rising comedian.

Mrs. Strong strengthened that reputation she has already gained as an accomplished and pleasing actress, as also did Miss King, their display of ease and elegance, combined with their elocutionary powers giving them leading places amongst our local lady amateurs. Mr. Brown we hope to see again on the stage, thereby helping to dispel that feeling of ennui and lassitude that obtains in this tropical clime. Brother Atkinson is at much at home on the stage, as he is in the preceptory, or in filling the editorial chair.

LETTER FROM STANLEY.

London, March 31.—A letter has been received from Stanley, dated Cape Town, March 9th. He expresses bewilderment at the constant evidences he sees of British yielding and shrinking in Africa before noise, bluster and mock heroics.
"In the west and north," he says,
"France and Portugal have strode with audacious and frantic haste to exclude British trade. Now, I come to Zanzibar and find the British fleet has given way to the German and that the Germans outnumber the British. There is an aggressiveness about the German that is ominous.
Their manner is haughty and overbearing and carries an air of 'you must.' The natives look on in wonder, while the British affect superb indifference. I found Tippoo Tib the uncrowned King of a region between Stanley Falls and Tanganyika Lake, commanding thousands of fighting Arabs. He was equally ready to fight or to be employed. I chose the latter, notwithstanding the views of his helping me reach Emin Bey, but to assist in bringing away Emin Bey's store of ivory values of £80,000. In the presence of the British Consul I contracted with Tippoo Tib to supply me with 600 carriers, I also, after receiving consent from King Leopold, appointed Tippoo Governor of Stanley Falls at a regular salary. He guarantees to defend the station against the Arabs and defeat and capture all persons raiding for slaves and abstain from

HOTEL DEL MONTE TO BE RESTORED.

The beautiful grounds of the Hotel Del Monte at Monterey will not long remain without a hotel building, which will be one of their adornments. Major Ben. C. Truman states that the work of removing the debris from the site of the burned hotel will be commenced at once, and that a new building will be erected and made ready for occupancy by September 1st. The new Hotel Del Monte will cost $100,000 more than that which was burned, and will accommodate 200 more guests. Its general architectural effect will be the same. As the plan of the first building was the result of inspiration, perhaps, more than of design, it will probably be adhered to, as the beauty of the original building was a source of delight to all visitors at Monterey. Although the new hotel will be larger, it is not probable that it will be higher, as an additional story might detract from its beauty. The dining room of the new house will seat twice as many as the old, and there will be two elevators in the building. An asphalt walk will be laid between the hotel and the clubhouse, like that of the San José Depot.

In the meantime the work on the new hotel at Pacific Grove will be pushed ahead, and it will be opened to guests May 1st. George Schonefeld, the manager of the Del Monte, has been instructed to take charge of the Pacific Grove Hotel, which has been christened El Carmelo, and to be furnished in the style of the Del Monte. He will conduct it on the same plan as the Monterey hotel. The El Carmelo will accommodate 150 guests, and will cost $70,000. Its guests will have the use of the stables, clubhouse and baths of the Hotel Del Monte, which although now closed will be re-opened as soon as the El Carmelo throws open its doors.

TRANSACTION IN SUGAR.

The S. F. Examiner of the 8th instant, has the following:—
Henry F. Allen and George Lewis have sued the American Sugar Refinery to recover $1,380. The complaint states that the manager of the refinery entered into a contract with them to furnish plaintiffs with all the sugar they needed to supply their customers in Oregon at the same price they could buy it from the California Refinery and to allow them a re-bate of one-eighth of a cent per pound. They further allege that they ordered 375,000 pounds of sugar from the defendants, and after keeping the order for several days they informed the plaintiffs that they would not fill it. In the mean time sugar went up three-eighths of a cent and in supplying their customers plaintiffs allege that they lost the amount asked for.

FOREIGN NEWS.

MISCELLANEOUS.
Great excitement has been created in France by Germany expelling from the Reichstag a member from Alsace-Lorraine and forcing him over the frontier into France. This plucky member intends to return to Berlin through Belgium and demand his seat.

The Queen of England arrived in Cannes April 1st. Her Majesty drove from the railway station to the Villa Eldweisse in an open carriage without riders. She was escorted by a guard of honor, a force of mounted gendarmes and the Cannes Fire Brigade. The houses along the route were decorated with flags. The people filled the streets and enthusiastically cheered Her Majesty. The French Mediterranean squadron had been ordered to Cannes and saluted the Queen on her arrival.

April 1st, being Prince Bismarck's seventy-second birthday, the Chancellor received numberless tokens of esteem from all parts of Germany. After receiving personal congratulations from Princes William, Henry, Alexander and George, the Chancellor went to the place where the Emperor awaited him. In his passage along Unter der Linden, Prince Bismarck received an ovation. In the course of the day he received congratulatory messages from 700 persons.

An officer of the Russian army fired at the Czar in the Park at Gatchina, but missed him. He was arrested.

The week's vacation of the Reichstag gives a pause in legislative news. Among the first of the Government proposals to be submitted when the Reichstag meets again will be a Military Railway bill, providing for the construction of important strategic lines in South Germany, including the Bode-Zee railway, designed to avoid Swiss territory.

The City of Peking, from Hong-kong and Yokohama, is quarantined at San Francisco, having smallpox on board. She brings eleven hundred coolies. There are three well defined cases of smallpox.

The City of Tokio has been lighted by electricity.

A dispatch from Russia says Katkoff has received his death warrant from the Revolutionary Executive Committee at St. Petersburg.

New York, April 4th.—News received by the Spanish steamer Ville Verde from Venezuela reports three British men-of-war in the harbor of Puerto Caballo, the port of Caracas, the Venezuelan capital. The British Minister has left the capital and is on board one of the war ships. The diplomatic relations between the British and Venezuelan Governments have been severed. The complications are due to the imprisonment of English sailors and citizens in 1883 without just cause, intermixed with the question of boundaries between British Guiana and Venezuela. The Royal mail steamer has been dispatched to one of the British islands for troops.

New York, April 4th.—Advice from Santiago, Cuba, of March 26th says: Great Britain has demanded $1,000,000 of Hayti as settlement in full of all demands. Failing in its immediate payment, she wants Tortuga island, which lies off the north coast of Hayti. The island is some thirty miles long, and is well wooded and timbered. It is inhabited by a small fishing population. The settlement of the claims has been entrusted to Special Commissioner Clement Hill, who is at present on board the war ship Canada awaiting their final adjustment.

London, April 8th.—A Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says that a secret treaty has been concluded between Sweden and Germany against Russia.

In addition to the Coronet, the American yacht Sachem, and another, will also enter for the Jubilee Yacht Race unless their owners change their intentions.

People who have visited Pasteur say that he treats from six to ten Americans every day, and that many of these have been bitten by their pet dogs.

The tenants on the Clancricarde estates at Loughrea, Ireland, have resolved to seek protection in bankruptcy, in which plan they are said to have the sympathy of all outside creditors.

Seigel's

OPERATING

PILLS,

For Constipation,

Sluggish Liver, etc.

UNLIKE many kinds of cathartic medicines, do not make you feel worse before you feel better.

Their operation is gentle, but thorough, and unattended with disagreeable effects, such as nausea, griping pains, &c.

Seigel's Operating Pills are the best family physic that has ever been discovered. They cleanse the bowels from all irritating substances, and leave them in a healthy condition.

The best remedy extant for the bane of our lives—constipation and sluggish liver.

These Pills prevent fevers and all kinds of sickness, by removing all poisonous matter from the bowels.

They operate briskly, yet mildly, without any pain.

If you take a severe cold, and are threatened with a fever, with pains in the head, back and limbs, one or two doses of Seigel's Operating Pills will break up the cold and prevent fever.

A coated tongue, with a brackish taste, caused by foul matter in the stomach. A few doses of Seigel's Operating Pills will cleanse the stomach, remove the bad taste, and restore the appetite, and with it bring good health.

Often times disease, or partially decayed food, causes sickness, nausea and diarrhoea. If the bowels are cleansed from this impurity with a dose of Seigel's Operating Pills, these disagreeable effects will vanish, and good health result.

Seigel's Operating Pills prevent ill-effects from excess in eating or drinking. A good dose at bedtime renders a person fit for business in the morning.

These pills, being Sugar-coated, are pleasant to take. The disagreeable taste common to most pills is obviated.

For Sale by all Chemists, Druggists and Medicine Vendors.
