The liquor licenses in the the country listricts, in the neighborhood of planta-ions, will be one way of sowing the wind and resping the whirlwind.

It is easier for a scoundrel who has rom off with five or six thousand dollars, for a rascal who has swindled his friends, to find bread and butter in Aliiolani Hale, than it is for the sons of natives or of old residents.

It looks as if it was the intention of the resent administration to hake this the lome of the "dead beats" of San Francisco. We have no hesitation in charging the Calonet with having in their employment who are under strong suspicion of dishonesty.

The proper is the class of the control of the contr

Disraeli began as a radical, thence through a scheme of party which he called "Young England" to what is much the same, an enlightened, conservative progress.

With regard to the Education Acts, it is true that England was behind most other countries in education by centralized government, but it would seem absurd to suggested that general education in England prosst that general education in England

ernment, but it would seem absure to sug-gest that general education in England was behind that in Portugal. Spain, Italy, Austria, Russia, or even France; and more-over the burden and heat of the existing plan was borne by, and should be credited to Mr. Forster rather than to Mr. Glad-the deep seated conviction, strengthened by the prochice of contraints, that education must be provided by prevate enterprise and not by governmental support, the demand in some quarters that education should be compulsory and in other that it should be purely columnary—and finally the perhaps not unnatural relactance of the Established clurch to surrender an iota of its overshadowing influence. Against these and many more not less embarrassing obstacles the Government fought its way. But here, as herefolore, cotspicous among all and dominating all was the resistless susery. Of Mr. Gladstone. He would brook neither denial nor delay. He was willing to concede semething in one direction and to accept a slight compromise in snother, but the essential features of the bill must shand. It was certainly far from being a a perfect piece of logislation, but the new order of things which he introduced was so vanily superior to the former regime that it must be pronumed a most variable educational reform.

The krish Land Bill of 1850—the introduction and opening wedge to his more comprehensive bill of 1881—which he sure employees to the former regime that it must be pronumed a most variating wedge to his more comprehensive bill of 1881—which he surection are remained and control of the former regime that the mistable education he is not and giving lain fair compaination for any successful all improvements which he might have made during his house, have been found to the former relations between familioud and beneat and introduced into their transactions the nevel element of pattice to the lessoe.

The absolution of the purchase of Army Commis-ition of the purchase of Army Commis-aved by the ingenious device of a Royal a method conceded to be constitutional which was impairing the effectiveness but was defunded by the conserva-no organized military aristocracy with a which neight have caused serious an-reliance had been placed on the ordi-clerishation. increase if rediance had been placed on the ordi-man property of the control of the dispression of the con-trol fallow Bill by substituting order and deco-man at disctions in place of the dispression scenes of contrasts and rior previously structured at the institute and by embling the elector to cut an in-pression of the control of the control of the con-sorted to parity the politics of England than any a sauer recorded in her legislative annals. If the University Tests Bill a radical chance asses introduced into the administration of the great Universities of Oxford and Cambridge by central to all students without regard to their re-igious bedief adminished on equal terms as bo-tundy and bounce. This reform, so long com-mended by every principle of justice and fair play, had been waiting, since its first introduction into a substance, nearly forty years for its mal accomhad been stating, since its first fortis first and accomplishment.

Without dwelling upon the Trades Union Bill, which removed some hardships of which workmen had complained with much respon, or the establishment of the Local Government Board, invested with large sourtary discretion and a greatly messled jurisdiction of the Poor Law system, and omitting several other useful measures, but of less general indicest, I close the recital with the Treaty of Washington and the Alabama Arbitration.

With the material facts concerning this peaceable adjustment of a most serious international contraversy you are doubtless familiar. It only remains for me to call your attention the rare sense of equity, and the high quality of mornal country which assemble to the terms of the treaty, and ecospied the results of the arbitration—results in every way so humilating to the price of the English people.

Now bearin mind that Mr. Gladstone is deficient in almost all the qualifications of a successful party isoder, that he is too intensely in carnest to be personally popular, and that his political following is uasic up of such apparentile irreconcillable elements as old whire, moderate liberals, liberals, high claurchmen no-conformists, radicals, republicans—the Firsh patriot. And then worth the price of his apprehil life, the manifest party the power of his apprehil life, the manifest party STEAMER "LEHUA,

A statesman with such a record, and I have only included the period during which he and Diaraeli were rivals in the House of Commons, is not to be were rivals in the House of Commons, is not to be discredited by the disasters of a company which has only just commenced, or condemned because the Irash frome Rule faction desert their in his hour of need, or blamed because he prefers to reform social wrongs in England rather than promote a brilliant foreign policy—well knowing that such a policy, to achieve even a barries success, means a large standing army—an enormous national debt, and a paralysis of the arts and enterprises of peace. The following extracts are taken from the Chromode and Cott. If any one knows of the whereahouts of the feature youth who has tastle indictments against him, the San Francisco police might like to know. The paragraphs are given below—knee your eyes peeled and over hast the passenger list.

A report has been made by the expert to the Finance Committee of the Board of Supervisors in the case of John A Reichert, formerly in the office of the Chy and County Attorney. The report cover 18854, and shows that of the money drawn by Reichiert from the trayent necessity fund, the vocabers show $50.15 to be correct; $1,189.30 doubtful and $754.45 clearly frandulent. Mr. Craig has aggred to make the amount good. Reichiert has field to Honolulu. The Grand Jary has found twelve indictments for grand larenry, toggery and embardiement.—Coll.

SELONGER'S TREETS.

The defactation of John A Reichiert was the principal topic of conversation in the amneigh deputtments yesterday, but there were no new developments, except that the report of Lauren E. Crame to the Supervisors was made public. Showing that about $500 positively, and $1800 probably, had been stonen by Reichert in the last two years during which he held the position, and which is as far as Mr. Crame a examination extended. A Safeguard.

The Intal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently developing the gravest maladies of the threat and lungs, is a consideration which should imped every prudent person to keep a hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AVEICS CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing close gives such immediate relief

Nothing clse gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brumstrick, Me., 18378:

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claiment for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a boustehold in which this invaluable remody has once been introduced where its use has ever been ahandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any threat or ling disease susceptible of curve, who has not been made well by it. AYERS CHERRY PECTORAL has, AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numberious instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Larnygitis, and crea reacte Pneumenia, and has saved smany patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. B is a medicine that sonly requires to be taken in small doses, to pleanant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AVER'S CHERRY PELTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all pinis facts, which can be verified by amybody, and should be remained by everybody.

the Chief Justice.
On motion by petitioner's counsel, filed January 20th, the Court ordered that a rule issue returnable before the full Court on the 30th January, 1885, ordering the respondent 'the show cause why the decree of the Chief Justice of the 12th September, 1881, should not stind as a final judgment and decree berein of the ground that, as appears by the records and march, as file and march was taken as and papers on file no appeal was taken and perfected as required by law."

From the testimony offered it seems clear that the withdrawing by counsel of objections of the appeal was not without the consent of the perities.

This doctrine seems to be alsundantly sustained by authority. In the case of the Washington Bridge Co. vs. Stewart, 3 Howard, U. S. 413, the Supreme Court of the United States held that though this Court had jurisdiction only, on appeal, from final decrees of the Giresit Court, yet if this Court actually emertains jurisdiction and affirms the decree of a Circuit Court, etc., the question whether the decree appealed from was final, cannot be raised on a second appeal. The Court say, "to permit afterwards, upon an appeal from proceedings on his mandate, a suggestion of the wart of jurisdiction of this Court upon the first appeal, as a sufficient cause for re-examining the judgment there given, would certainly be a newelsty in the practice of a Court of equity."

ed that the defect affected the jurisdiction of the Court over the subject matter and the views now presented that it affected the jurisdiction over the persons only were not clearly elaborated by counsel.

The case at bar can be distinguished from l'askuku vs. Koneckehuchu, inasmuch as no suggestion was made of the want of jurisdic-tion to try the case on appeal, by reason of the appeal not being properly perfected, while the case was pending, whereas in the former case Paukuku vs. Konosikehuchu, the point was sugrested in plantill's being. The Chief Justice Made a decase in this case in favor of petitioner on the 12th September 1881. The respondent noted an appeal to the Court in bance. A bend for costs was duly filed within the ten days required by rule of Court, but accrued costs were not paid until the next day after the ten days had expired.

At the October term—October 15—a motion was made by respondent's counsel to place the cause upon the calendar. The motion was resisted on the ground that the appeal was not properly perfected.

Pending a decision, petitioner's counsel appeared before the Court in bancs on October 31st, and withdrew their objection to the allowance of the appeal and the case was presented and argued before the Court on its merits. case Fankuku vs Konsikeinebu, the point was suggested in plaintill's brief, we are of opinion that the waiver cures the defect and accordingly discharge the rule,

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islan In Equity, In Bance, January Term 1885.

WM. MUTCH ET, AL, VS. HOLAU ET AL Julit C. J. McCully J. Ametic J. Op. Court by McCully J.

On motion to dismiss appeal. This case was brought before the Cl the field his written opinion in favor of plaintiffs October 23, 1881. A formal decim accordance with the findings having by prepared by connact was signed by Chancellor and filed October 25. The fendants having noted an appeal completion are supported to the preserve time the preserve time therefore with the second of the preserve time therefore. fendants having noted an appeal completed the necessary steps therefore within ten days of the filing of the decree, but not within ten days of the filing of the opinion. The question to be considered is whether the time allowed for taking appeal runs from date delivery of the opinion or of signing the decree, when, as in this case, the latter is made on a day subsequent to the former. It is remarkable that this question has not to our knowledge, ever before been raised. It has not been a matter of uniform practice here, to follow the opinion or decision of the Court as written and delivered or filed, by a formal decree. Especially in the earlier years formal decree.

A. S. Hardwell and W. R. Costle for petitioner urge that the Court in bance has not obtained jurisdiction of the cause. The absence of a matter necessary to give the Court jurisdiction cannot be waived. The rule requiring costs to be paid within ten days as one of the costs to be paid within ten days as one of the steps necessary to an appeal has the force of law. Failure in this respect renders the ap-peal nugatory and no agreement can make it valid. Parties cannot waive requirements which are for the benefit of the State. This case is to be distinguished from those in which the waiver affects irregularities pertaining to the jurisdiction over the person only, the Court already having jurisdiction of the cause and subject matter, and this matter in question affects the cause and subject matter and canhere, to follow the opinion or decision of the Court as written and delivered or filed, by a formal decree. Especially in the earlier years of the existence of the Court, was it generally left solely to such note as the clerk made on his record of the effect of the conclusion which the Court arrived at and pronounced in its opinion. And when formal decrees were present, it was often a considerable time after the decision. When appeal was taken, it was very much the custom to defer the final closing of the case by decree until after the hearing and decision on the appeal the time for taking and perfecting appeal being considered to run from the date of rendering the decision. It was only by Rule of Court No. 5, that the time for appeal from "any decision, indgment, order or decree made at chamber" to the Court in banco was limited to ten days, the statute prescribing no time therefor.

But the question now being raised we have no difficulty in saying that the proceeding before the Chancellor was not concluded before the signing of a decree. The opinion expressed a finding that two certain deeds under consideration were fraudulent, and that a decree would be made accordingly. The definite specific order made and relief granted was prescribed only in the decree. The defendants were bound by the particulars therein expressed, and not liable for anything not covered by the decree.

In this case as in many others, the specific items are not stated in the judges opision. They are the legal result of the general finding. Under the prayers in the bill for certain relief and for such general relief as may be suitable, and by a finding which is in Javor of the bill, or to some extent in favor of it, or against the bill, the action of the Court whatever it is should be determined and embedded in a decree. It is not enough to intimate that a decree will be made ac certain flects the cause and subject matter and can ot be waived. Pankuku vs. Kamoikehuchu 3 Hawn, 642.

26 N. H. 232, Washington Bridge Co. es Stee-art, 9 Howard 413, 39 Mich. 123, 22 Mich. 78, 30 Mc. 552.

The motion is overruled. S. B. Dole, for plaintiff; J. M. Poe cited by both sides we are of the opinion that the rule should be discharged.

The Court in bance has 'prisdiction to hear and determine on appeal, causes for separation from bed and board. Vide Sections 1336 and 850 of the Civil Code.

"A Court has jurisdiction of any subject matter, i", by the law of its organization it loss authority to take cognizance of, try, and determine cases of that description. If it assumes to act in a case over which the law does not give it authority, the proceeding and inde-Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands-In Banco.--In Equity. January Term 1885 REBECCA HOWLAND VS. Op. sumes to act in a case over which the law does not give it authority, the proceeding and judgment will be absorptive void, and rights of property cannot be divested by it. And on this point there is an important maxim of the law that consent will not confer juristicition, by which is meant that the consent of parties cannot empower a Court to act upon subjects which are not submitted to its judgment by the law." Conley's Constitutional Limitations p. 398. A jurisdictional defect of this character can be made available at any starg of the case.

This case comes up on appeal from a decision of Mr. Justice Austin remleved January 7 ingly dismiss the bill.

We add that the decedent Kalaau has We add that the decedent Kalaan having settled his land upon his wife Kapika, wa entitled during his life to the possession of the estate and its rents and profits, by virtue of his being her husband. This was no more favorable to his wife than the will trat made to her. The fact that he afterwards closuge his mind and made a will in favor of the plain tiff for whom he is shown by the testimony of Mr. Holt to have had most friendly and parternal feelings some lifteen or twenty year ago while his first wife Mada was alive does not overcome the clear testimony of Mr. Wideman and others that he executed the to try a libel for divorce, or an indictment for murder.

In the case we are considering the Court had jurisdiction of the parties; they appeared and submitted their case on its merits to the final adjudication of the Court. Saya Cooley, id. p. 409: "It is a general rule, that irregularities in the course of judicial proceedings do not render them void. An irregularity may be defined as the failure to observe that particular course of proceeding which, conformably with the practice of the Court, ought to have been observed in the case." The learned author says further that even in the same proceeding at irregularity may be waived, and will commonly be held to be waived if the party entitled to complain of it shall take any subsequent step in the cause inconsistent with an intent on his part to take advantage of it."

This doctrine seems to be abundantly sustained by authority. In the case of the Wash-tained by authority. In the case of the Wash-Widemann and others that he executed the deeds to defendants with a full understanding of their import and effect. S. B. Dole for plaintiff; F. M. Hatch and A.

Prince and Premier

The following correspondence passed between Prime Minister Gladstone, of England, and the eldest son of the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert Victor, on the lat-ter's attainment of his majority. The Promier's letter is noble and worthy of him, and the Prince's reply is exceedingly creditable.

Six:—As the oldest among the confidential servants of her Majesty I cannot allow the anniversary to pass without notice which will to-morrow bring your Royal Highness to full age, and thus mark an important epoch in your life.

The hopes and intentious of those whose lives lie, like mine, in the past, are of little moment, but they have seen much, and what they have seen suggests much for the future. he future.
There lies before your Royal Highr

There lies before your Royal Highness in prospect the occupation. I trust, at t distant date, of a throne which to me at least appears the most illustrious in the world, from its history and associations from its legal basis, from the weight of the cares it brings, from the loyal love of the people, and from the unparalleled opportunities it gives, in so many ways and it so many regions, of doing good to the almost countless numbers whom the Almighty has placed beneath the sceptre of England.

I fervently desire and pray, and there mighty has placed beneath the sceptre of England.

I fervently desire and pray, and there cannot be a more animating prayer, that your Royal Highness may ever grow in the principles of conduct and may be adorned with all the qualities which correspond with this great and noble vocation.

And, Sir, if sovereignty has been relieved by our modern institutions of some of its burdens, it still. I believe, remains true that there has been no period of the world's history at which successors to the monarchy could more efficaciously contribute to the stability of a great historic system, dependent even more upon love than upon strength, by devotion to their duties and by a bright example to the country. This result we have happily been permitted to see, and other generations will, I trust, witness it anew.

Heartily desiring that in the life of your Royal Highness every public blessing, I have the honor to remain, Sir, your Royal Highness's most dutiful and faithful servant.

W. E. Glazsroy.

H. R. H. Prince Alburt Victor, etc.

Mr. Gladstone has received the follow.

This Court has been uniformly strict in it rulings upon all matters concerning appeals, compelling parties to comply literally with the requirements of the statutes and rules of Court, but in only one case has it held that connect have not the authority to waive objections to non-compliance with these rules. This is the case of Pankuku vs. Komoike. It is not non-compliance with these rules. This is the case of Pankuku vs. Komoike. It is not careful, attention. It was rendered by a divided Court and much stress is laid by the majority of the Court literature waiver (which was of the fact that the happeal was perfected only on the thirteenth day after the decision) was made by commel and so the fact that the case was argued and submitted to the fall Court on its merits, but petitionere come el says at the end of his brief. "The plaintiff connect allowed the defendants counsel as far as he is concerned to perfect his appeal after the time. He says nothing on that point. It is for Court alone to reopen the decree of not." There is nothing in the papers on file to show that the plaintiff personally objected to the course taken by her counsel, and the Court, inspecting its record, on its own motion declined jurisdiction on the ground that the appeal had not been perfected in time. We think the majority of the Court erred in holding that each an irregularity could not be waived by connecl and so far as the decision has established this as law we feel obliged to overrule it. The Court andoubtiedly considered the views now presented that it affected the riews now presented that it affected the

It was rendered by a divided Oant and much stress is laid by the majority of the Court that the written waiver (which was of the fact that the appeal was perfected only on the thirteenth day after the decision) was made by counsel without the consent of the client. It seems that the consent of the client.

He says nothing on that point. It is for Court alone to reopen the decree or not. There is nothing in the papers on file as show that the plaintiff personally objected to the course taken by her counsel, and the Court, inspecting its record, on its own motion declined jurisdiction on the ground that the appeal had not been perfected in time. We think the majority of the Court erred in holding that such an irregularity could not be waived by counsel and so far as the decision has established this as law we feel obliged to overrule it. I assure you the letter shall have that attention which words from yourself must deserve. It admirably describes much which demands my most earnest thought on this, perhaps the most important birthday of my life. Believe me, I am very grateful for your remembrance of me this day, and that among the many offerings which have reached me I prize nothing more than the letter you have so kindly written, for which pray accept my most sinever thanks. I am glad to believe that your health is restored, and I trust your many friends will have no trust your many friends will have no cause for renewed anxiety on your behalf. Prose and traffic, however, are the systems in which the "golden globes" of this age move, somewhat eccentrically at times, for the crops are variable, and a puff from "a norther" may rip the growth of a whole southern season. But the fruit is ever in demand, and their are fashious in eating it to describe which might require chapters or volumes. The commonest method is that of suction, as performed by the street arals, who then proceed maliciously to place the rind on the pavement and watch for a downfall of a man or woman typical of that which an orange in paradise caused. But the rind is not always thus wickedly used. It comes to us in conserves and marmalades and cordials, and there was a superatitions faith in it as a curative of physical cvil, the earliest evidence of which is to be found in Boswell's "Life of Johnson." The author of "Rasselas" lasted corone trees in the Haure Valley, but "Life of Johnson." He could not be prevailed upon to tell, even by his dearest friends, and the letter to Miss Boothby, quoted Croker, containing a supposed caplanation, is too gross to be genu-iue, for the rough philosopher was at least chilvalrous and polished to women. He was scrofulous believed in the touch, and may also have had some faith in dried orange peel as a remedial agent. Is there not among the medical and other learned faculties of Philamedical and other learned faculties of Philadelphia enough of wise enterprise to begin

The earliest race of men who peopled England were the black fellows of the palreolithic or older stone age. They were lowbrowed, fierce jawed, cronching creations, inferior even to the existing Australians, and were all swept away in the last glacial epoch. Long after the glaciers of the ice age had cleared off the face of the country a second race occupied Britainsome of whose descendants almost undoubtedly exist there at the present day. These were the neolithic or latter stone age men, who have been identified, with great probability, as a branch of the same isolated Basque or Eustrarian race which move incomposed of the represent of the work of the work of the work of the same isolated Basque or Eustrarian race which move incomposed of the work of their weapons, their demestic utensils, and their ornaments.

In stature, the neolithic men were short and thickset, not often exceeding five feet four inches. In complexion, they were probably white, but swarthy, like the dark est Italians and Spaniards, or even the Moors. Their skulls were very long and narrow; and they form the best distinguishing mark of the race, as well as the best test of its survival at the present day. The neoliths were unacquainted with the use of metal, but they employed weapons and implements of stone, not rudely chipped, like those of the older stone age, but carefully ground and polished. They made pottery, too, and wove cloth; they domesticated pigs and cattle; and they cultivated coarse cereals in the little plots which they cleared out of the forest with their stone hatchets or tomahawks. In general culture they were about at the same level as the more advanced Polynesian tribes, when they first came into contact with European civilization. The barrows which they raised over their dead chieftains were long and rather narrow, not round, like those of the later Celtic conquerors. They appear to have lived for the most part in little stockaded villages, each occupying a small clearing in the river valleys and ruled over by a sinplanted orange trees in the Happy Valley, but in London he used the rinds of the fruit in some homely mysterious way that is not at all satisfactorily explained by the late Mr. trocker. How to Increase Your Height

Our old friend S. M. Reeve, writes to The Tulker. "In response to the call to "write quickly," I send the following: Some of your readers may be interested in knowing how to increase their height as well as to develor muscle. The following directions are very simple: First, procure dumb bella, beginning with one pound weight, and increasing it as strength increases. Stand erect, brace the chest firmly out, and breathing deeply, cut the dumb bella twenty-five times without stopping. Placing the dumb bells on the floor at the feet and bending the knees a title and the arms not at all, rise to an upright position with them twenty-five times as fraight. Next starting with the bells in the shoulders, puals them up high ever the head, lower twenty-five times. Then stand lower tyenty-five times. Then stand lower tyenty-five times as fraight. Next starting with the bells in the bells high over the head and lower until the arms are in about the position, they would be on a cross, the elbows being unbent. Raise the bells to height again and lower. Continue this ten times, taking care to steadily face the ceiling while the chest is awelled How to Reduce Pat.

Dr. Schweninger, of Munich, has discove a new mode of reducing the bulk of the hun frame. It is never to est and drink at rame, it is never to ext and drink at same, but to let two hours intervene. In Post vs. Williams 33 Conn. 147, the defect was that commissioners to settle boundaries had not taken a special statuary outh. The Court say "There are certainly numerous decisions in our reports that the positive requirements of statutes in certain cases must be exactly complied with. But there are quite as many, especially of lade years, to the effect that although an error may be of a fatal nature, yet the right to take advantage of it may be lost by lackes or waiver creating an estoppel." "So far as there is a conflict, those decisions are most consistent with sense and justice which prevent a party from going to trial on the merits and accepting the result if favorable, but if otherwise, taking advantage of a technical difficulty which his knew of or should have known from the beginning." "The general mile at the where the Court has jurisdiction of the parties and the cause, and there has been in the course of the proceedings an irregularity which might be fatal, as the omission to desome act required by law or the doing it in properly, the objection may be waived, of party may be estopped from rising i."

It is not necessary to discuss the question of estopped or waiver by implications, for in the case at bar, there was an express waiver of the irregularity in open Court, and we are freed from difficulty in deciding whether the party having the right to complain may waive the defect or irregularity by Section 7 of the Civil Code which enacts that,

"Private agreements shall have no effect to contravene a y law which concerns poldic order or morals. But individuals may, in all cases in which it is not expressly or implication, does not affect the rights of others, and is not af
