The Star announced a newsboys' contest during October and three prizes were offered to the boys who sold the most papers in a given time. The contest commenced on October 7 and ended on the 24th inst. As the contest progressed the Star decided to add a fourth prize as an acknowledgment of the industry shown by the winner of the fourth place. The four prize winners are:

First Prize: C. Louis, who will be provided with an entire new outfit of wearing apparel and one dollar for pocket money. Louis sold the large number of 6841 Stars. His average sale was 163 papers daily for 42 days.

Second Prize: Joe Cunningham, who will be given $7.50 in coin. Cunningham sold 3633 Stars, an average of 86 papers daily for 42 days.

The Thanksgiving dinner for the Star's newsboys will take place at Love's Bakery, commencing at 1 o'clock. The boys have been told to report at the Star office at 12:30 o'clock but it is a safe bet that they will commence gathering at 9:30.

The boys will be given a substantial Thanksgiving dinner. The material will be the best in the market. The main dish will be the glorious American bird—the turkey. There will be trimmings galore. Each boy will be filled above Lloyd's mark.

After the feast the young merchants will be driven to the football game at Punahou and their voices and horns will add ginger to their chosen team or their favorite players.

FINAL REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY

AUDITOR'S DEPARTMENT SEVERELY CRITICIZED—NEWSPAPERS ARE GIVEN TOASTING.

The Grand Jury made its final report to Judge De Bolt this morning and was discharged, the judge complimenting the jurors very highly on their able and careful work, and especially thanking P. C. Jones, A. S. Cleghorn and James G. Spencer for the work they have done as foremen. The report is more severe in its comments on the auditor's department than any other, though no indictments are found in this department. The matter of the responsibility of government officials for the escape of William H. Wright is suggested as a subject for senatorial investigation; M. C. Amama is exonerated and recommended for reinstatement in the tax office, and the jury "deprecates" the action of "a portion of the press" in publishing what it terms "imaginary proceedings" before the body. The report is as follows: Honorable John T. De Bolt, First Judge Circuit Court First Judicial Circuit, Sir:

"The Grand Jury duly empaneled and sworn and charged before you on the third day of November 1902, having ended its duties, beg to submit the following general report.

"The Deputy Attorney General has brought to the attention of the Grand Jury 51 cases, all of which have been carefully considered and in 38 cases true bills of indictment have been found and in the remaining thirteen cases no bills have been returned, the evidence presented not being considered sufficient to warrant conviction on the respective charges preferred.

"The Grand Jury, under the general instructions contained in your charge, has felt constrained to investigate the following matters and to submit its report on the same:

"Treasury Department: It has investigated the alleged embezzlement in the Treasury Department and a true bill has been found against the Treasurer. In this connection the Grand Jury would call attention to the fact that the Chinese fund from which the money was abstracted had been withdrawn from deposit in a bank and placed in the hands of an official not under bonds and without sufficient guarantee for its safe keeping.

"In the matter of the escape of the treasurer, all available evidence has been obtained, and it appears to the Grand Jury that due precautions were not taken to provide against the escape of William H. Wright after he had admitted a deficit in the funds under his charge. However, the action of the government appears to have been prompted by the desire to recover to the Treasury the amount in default rather than any wish to protect the delinquent official. This Grand Jury recommends that the Senate, now in session immediately make a thorough investigation as to the responsibility of any government official in allowing the escape of the Treasurer.

"Public Works Department: In the investigation of this department, the Grand Jury have returned true bills against the Superintendent of Public Works and the chief clerk. A proper system of checking accounts and auditing of the same and the regular transfer of the cash to the treasury according to law should have prevented irregularities in this department.

"Investigation indicates that great latitude has been taken in the awards for tenders on advertised bids, and that the law has not been strictly followed in such matters.

"Auditor's Department: The Grand Jury has examined very thoroughly the system and practices of this department and finds much to criticize.

"The books of the different bureaux have been audited infrequently and in the case of public accounts cash has not been counted to verify the balances reported on hand. Cash has not been turned into the treasury at the stated periods required by law. Evidence shows that the auditor has during the present year absented himself from his office an undue proportion of business hours to the detriment of the public service. There seems no system for reporting to the auditor's department either sales, transfers or exchanges of land by reason of which monies are due to the government, and that statements not furnished the auditor of such transactions, whereby he may be able to verify collections due the government.

"The registrar of conveyances should make statements at least once a month to the auditor, of all sales and transfers of government lands that may be entered for record, so that a check may be made on all departments that have it in their power to dispose of public lands, and all such departments should make a statement to the auditor, at least once a month, of all land transactions, the money consideration being the principal data.

"Had proper audit been made in the public works department, defalcations could have been reduced to a minimum.

"A proper system of exchange of receipts between employees of the government, receiving or disbursing cash should be insisted upon.

"Cash should always be counted at the beginning of audits and any discrepancy between the amount on hand and the balance shown on the books investigated. It does not appear that the Auditor ever counted the cash in the Treasury or the Public Works department previous to September 24, 1902.

"The Grand Jury deems it a matter of simple business precaution that all public accountants or employees of the government handling cash should be under sufficient bonds for the faithful performance of their duty.

"Powder Magazine: The attention of the Grand Jury has been called to the proximity of the powder magazine to the business portion of the city, the danger of fire from the dwelling of the keeper of the magazine, the practice of fishermen and others of having fires for

TRIAL MUST BE PUT OFF

TRYING TO DISPOSE OF CHINESE FUND NOW IN DISPUTE

Efforts have been made of late to look to a compromise regarding the balance of $9,500 left from the fund subscribed during the plague epidemic for the relief of the Chinese destitute. The fund is in the bank of Bishop & Company deposited to the credit of Yee Chin and Yim Quon. Differences of opinion arose between the Reformers and the partisans of the late Consul Yang Wei-Pin, and suit was begun by some of the subscribers to the fund among the Reformers to determine the legal status of the fund. Now the partisans of Yang Wei-Pin want an agreement to divide the fund between the Chinese Hospital and the Anglo-Chinese school. The Reformers object to this. They want it all to go to the Chinese Hospital or to some other public charity for the benefit of all Chinese. They claim that the Anglo-Chinese school is a private enterprise.

THIRD MAN OUT. But the Police and the Court Will Find Him.

Chun Ng Nin and Chun Hong, alias Ah Tong, were arrested for assault and battery on Ting Sing. There is another man concerned in the alleged assault, but he has not been arrested yet, nor have the police so far been able to find him. It is shrewdly suspected that the two defendants already under arrest know where the third one is, but are not disclosing his whereabouts, believing that if he is never found there will be less evidence against themselves. However the police and Judge Wilcox are determined to find the third man. Judge Wilcox told the two defendants so very plainly this morning.

"Tell them, Mr. Interpreter," said Judge Wilcox, "that we want that third man. We think they know where he is. But we are going to continue this case from time to time until we find him. They can't tire out the court. I can spend two or three minutes every day or two on this case as long as they can come here every few mornings or forfeit their bail. And incidentally you might tell them that if we think there is any danger of their forfeiting their bail we will increase it so they will hesitate before forfeiting it. We want that third man, and when we get him we will go on with the trial of this case."

MAGOON WILL NOT HAVE TO PLEAD

AN AGREEMENT REACHED THAT CASE WILL GO OVER UNTIL SUCH TIME AS WRIGHT IS CAPTURED AND CONVICTED.

The case of the Territory against J. Alfred Magoon, charged with being an accessory after the fact in the embezzlement case of William H. Wright, cannot be tried unless Wright is first apprehended and convicted. This much was settled at the hearing before Judge De Bolt this morning, when counsel for Magoon entered objections to pleading, on the ground that Wright had not been convicted and there was therefore no legal authority for trying an alleged accessory. The array of counsel appearing for Magoon was large and impressive. The list included Humphreys, Thompson & Watson, Thomas I. Dillon, Kinney, Ballou & McClanahan, Robertson & Wilder, W. Austin Whitling, Russell, Fleming & Robinson, A. H. Crook, T. McCants Stewart, Gill & Farley, C. F. Peterson, C. W. Ashford and E. C. Peters, as the names were signed to the papers filed, and there were others in court willing to act.

The argument for Magoon was first presented by Peters, his partner, and Peters and Humphreys handled the case between them, John W. Cathcart appearing for the Territory. Cathcart contended that the defendant ought to plead, but he admitted during the course of the argument that the trial could not take place until William H. Wright had been convicted. The legal proposition that an accessory cannot be put on trial until the principal has been convicted was admitted all round, and whether Magoon pleads now or not, the case will go over to await the very slim chance of catching Wright.

The objection to pleading filed in behalf of Magoon was as follows: "Now comes J. Alfred Magoon, in his own proper person, not waiting but specially reserving any and all objections to the jurisdiction of this Honorable Court as at present constituted, as will more fully appear from the plea to the jurisdiction herein filed and hereby referred to and made a part hereof, hereby objects to plead to the indictment on file in his said case, on the ground that one, William Harrison Wright, against whom there is an indictment filed in the above entitled court, charging him, the said William Harrison Wright, with the crime of embezzlement, and to which said crime of embezzlement, he the said J. Alfred Magoon, is charged herein as accessory after the fact, has not been convicted of the said charge of embezzlement, but in fact is now and ever since the 24th day of September, 1902, has been absent from the Territory of Hawaii and has not been arrested under said charge of embezzlement and is not subject to the jurisdiction of the above named court."

After setting forth that the grand jury indicted William Harrison Wright for embezzlement and Magoon as an accessory after the fact, Magoon's affidavit says:

"That your affiant is informed and believes and upon such information and belief deposes it to be the fact that heretofore, to wit: on the 24th day of September, 1902, the aforesaid William Harrison Wright, so indicted as aforesaid, did depart from the Territory of Hawaii to parts to your affiant unknown and ever since last named day

J. LIGHTFOOT AND THE SHIP'S BARBER

The Austin mandamus writ will probably be served again this afternoon on the High Sheriff and Deputy Auditor Meyers. This time the service will be legal, but Judge Gear's command that the Auditor's office be turned over to Austin will not be obeyed. There are three officers on guard to keep him out of the office. It is said that contempt proceedings will again follow a refusal to obey the order, as Gear has already ruled that the appeal on file does not act to stay the writ. The next two days being holidays, it will be impossible to get at the Supreme Court, and Gear's order, obeyed or not, may stand until Saturday.

AN OFFICIAL LOOKING WELL FILLED ENVELOPE THAT WENT BY THE STEAMER ZEALANDIA.

There was a little by-play at the wharf today as the Zealandia sailed, which was observed by few, but did not escape the keen observation of some of the onlookers.

During the preparatory half hour before the lines were actually cast off, the steamer's barber, the one who said that he did not shave Treasurer Wright's moustache off on the trip up of the Alameda, but who "would say the same thing if he had," was moving about from wharf to deck and from deck again back to wharf, as though anxiously awaiting someone. He was dressed in a white suit, freshly laundered and well trimmed with braid. He would stand near the head of the gangway on the deck for a while and then come down the gangway to the wharf, back at his point of vantage he seemed to be watching for someone he expected to see before he sailed.

A few minutes before the vessel left the wharf, J. Lightfoot, J. Alfred Magoon's partner came up to the foot of the gangway. He met the barber there and gave him an official looking envelope apparently well filled, as though there might be a letter inside it. There was no name or address on the envelope. Something was said between the two men. The barber made a memorandum "From J. Lightfoot." There was something said as if about mailing it. Then the two men separated. The barber went on board the steamer with the unaddressed envelope in his hand, and remained standing there until the steamer pulled out from the wharf.

Paralysis

comes as a climax to over-taxed and run-down nerves. It is a breaking down, a wearing out of the forces which regulate and control every organ and every tissue of the body. Over-taxed nerves should be given rest and nourishment if you would keep them from wearing out; and there is nothing so good for that purpose as Dr. Miles' Nervine. It is a nerve and brain food as well as medicine, and nourishes while it checks the irritated nerves; it strengthens while it rests the tired brain. If your nerves are weak; if you are restless, irritable, sleepless, worn out and exhausted, begin at once with

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"I was paralyzed and was so nearly helpless for nine years that I had to be lifted from the bed by my invalid chair. During all that time I was doctoring with various physicians and trying different remedies; but all to no purpose, for I seemed to grow weaker instead of stronger. About one year ago I commenced the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine and I seemed to get stronger almost at once. In a few weeks I was so greatly improved that I could walk alone, and I have since enjoyed better health than I did before in many years." E. J. DERMAY,

MRS. ANNA GERTZ
HER OWN ATTORNEY

BELIEVES THAT JUSTICE HAS BEEN SIDETRACKED AND IS AN-XIOUS TO START WHEELS.

Mrs. Anna Gertz, who has appeared in person in the circuit court during several terms, insisting that the court re-open an old case which no attorney will take up for her has come forward again, with another demand for a hearing. Several terms ago she made a strenuous plea before Judge Humphreys and last term before Gear, declaring in open court that she has been robbed and refusing to subsidize until the court promised an investigation.

Last night Mrs. Gertz, tired of waiting appeared with a "motion" drawn by herself to which she made oath and she insisted upon filing it. The document contained the following:

"To the Honorable Second Judge in the Circuit court of the First Circuit. I undersigned Anna Gertz, widow of Christian Gertz of Honolulu, petitioner to original bill and also amended bill, to revoke fore-closure, Anna Gertz vs. J. Alfred Magoon, the amended bill which was filed on August 25, 1902, before said Honorable court and promised by said Honorable court to be taken into consideration, either to grant a rehearing as prayed for in motion filed on March 31, 1902, or if a new action may be instituted.

"Now, as three months have passed, without having been made known to petitioner which course the Honorable court has decided for the action to take and petitioner feels very nervous in having her complaint delayed, whereas in the past a lady in believing to be cheated out of $1 in Fire Claims transactions had at once a hearing in the courts of the First Circuit and your petitioner's business having been robbed and destroyed to the value of about three thousand dollars on December 18, 1895, without being able to obtain a hearing and petitioner has therefore the belief that she is neglected by the Honorable court and entitled under the constitution to the same consideration as if she was American or English born. "And the delay of said Honorable Court in administering justice is detrimental to petitioner's welfare.

"And Petitioner prays the Honorable court to take into consideration said amended bill at an early date. "Anna Gertz as executrix and attorney for the Gertz estate. Motion for an early consideration of amended bill. Anna Gertz in her own behalf and as executrix of Mr. Gertz, plaintiff vs. J. Alfred Magoon in his personal capacity and as trustee for S. H. Banning and R. R. Banning defendants. John Buckley and Maria T. Forbes, co-defendants. Mrs. Gertz lost a good deal in a foreclosure suit some years ago, but attorneys whom she has tried to employ have told her there is nothing in her claim and have refused to handle it.

RAPID TRANSIT WORK.

Going Ahead Steadily Under Active Management.

Cars will be running to Waikiki before the end of January, according to Manager Ballentyne's statement, which is however qualified by the proviso that the road widening is successfully carried through on time. There are still pieces of land, including those of W. H. Cornwell and J. Bowler, which are fenced in and prevent the termination of the widening until condemnation process has been terminated and payment made.

"We will soon have the park work completed," says Mr. Ballentyne, "and all that will be left to do is the filling in of the gap between the park and the present McCully street terminus. "We shall have plenty of cars in readiness. We are constantly setting up cars and have altogether forty-five in the shops that can be requisitioned. Two of these are reserved for special purposes such as, trolley parties and road opening occasions. Fifteen are in regular daily use, but we put on a few special cars of an evening.

"We have made every preparation to go ahead with the Waikiki road work as soon as the widening is ready, but we shall not start until all the land has been arranged for. Many residents and the hotels are anxious to have the line and we are equally so. The Rapid Transit and the cable will run to and from Waikiki practically simultaneously, you will find. Then the next move will be to go around Diamond Head."

If the Filipinos continue rebellious after they have had a look at General Miles, there is no hope for them.—Detroit Free Press.

General Miles and his medals have arrived at Manila. Now that Sultan of Bacoled will get all that's coming to him.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

That a vast number of Moros capitulated the day General Miles arrived at Manila may, of course, be simply a coincidence.—Detroit Journal.

That great light in the east may be the rising sun—or it may be General Miles springing a new uniform on the people of Manila.—Atlanta Journal.

It is believed that the last insurgent leader in the Philippine country can be appeased if General Miles will give him a loving cup.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Candidly, we do not believe the administration at Washington had anything to do with the swiping of General Miles' valise at Honolulu.—Kansas City Journal.

The report that General Miles was robbed of some of his decorations in Honolulu is distressing. What a disappointment would be an undecorated Miles!—Atlanta Constitution.

General Nelson A. Miles was robbed while at Honolulu of a valise containing jewelry money and some papers. Happily the General's uniform was missed by the thief. Otherwise the trip to the Philippines would have been all off.—Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

Three hot literary supplies are scheduled to come off soon. The literary committee is now in the swamp, hunting the 'possums for 'em.—Atlanta Constitution.

THANKSGIVING.

"Thanksgiving. What have I got to be thankful for?" growls many a man who has much to be thankful for and does not realize how great are his causes for thanksgiving. We have but to look round and see what are these causes. If we constantly look at the dark side of things we make our own minds sadder. If we look at the bright side of things we lighten our minds and our hearts along with them.

Have we as a Territory, a body politic, cause for thanksgiving? We certainly have. We have had a period of depression it is true, but our future prospects as a Territory are bright and encouraging. We have suffered no cataclysm such as devastated Central America and the Islands of the Lesser Antilles. We have suffered from no epidemic of disease, as the Philippine Islands have from cholera. We have had no financial crash and we know not what shortage of food is. We have had a strong political struggle but it has left no rancor and hard feeling. We certainly have every cause as a body politic to give thanks.

We have everything that should make us light-hearted and thankful. If we have not had a period of unprecedented prosperity, such as we have known at times in the past, but there have not been black days of devastating ruin such as other communities have suffered from. Unprecedented prosperity, though a very pleasant thing, is not an unmitigated good. It is enervating and it teaches us to be extravagant in our way of life. Both are characteristics of our population. The little depression we have suffered from has, after all, been a wholesome lesson to us and our enjoyment of returning prosperity will be the keener.

Then we have as a population so much to look forward to. We have the cable coming which is to put us in touch with the rest of the world. We have many public improvements to be inaugurated, and which we feel sure will be inaugurated. We have our interest centered upon the trans-isthmian canal, whose progress we will watch with the greatest interest. We have many industries coming forward, some of which are going to give work and wealth to the industrious. There are a thousand things which can add to our comfort and our prosperity.

We can then be thankful for the past, thankful for the present and thankful for the future. Truly there should be no happier a community than that which occupies the island outpost of the great Republic. Bright, sunlit Hawaii, with its wave-kissed shores, its mountains upon whose tumid breasts rest the life-giving rain clouds, its exuberant soil, its equable climate, a community can indeed be thankful whose lines have fallen in such happy places.

For the community, en masse, it is easy to find reasons for thanksgiving. For the individual it may be harder. Each man, each woman, each child knows its own troubles, knows what circumstances weigh heavily and wearily upon the spirits, but in nine cases out of ten, nay in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, there is a brighter prospect to look at, if one will only take pains to see the bright and ignore as much as possible the dark.

Riches are desirable, but the thorns of riches grow up and choke the good seed of cheerfulness and simple wishes which is the attribute of the light heart. If life spreads before us we can give thanks for the opportunities for doing good and noble actions which are vouchsafed to us. If death seems to overshadow us, we can indeed thank God that the resting time has come. No matter what may be going to happen we may feel satisfied that all is ordered for the best, and we may be thankful that the world has been so ordered.

What, nothing to be thankful for when there is a world of love, of kindness and of hope? A world of brightness and light-heartedness if we would only take it so. A world of solemn thoughts and holy ideas, a world where sorrow is chastened and alleviated by the thoughts of that other world which is yet to come, where no sorrow is, and where all will be ever high-souled, transcendent, glorious.

Whatever our position, be it high or be it low; whatever our estate, be we rich or be we poor; whatever our work, be it mental or be it physical; whatever our condition, be we married or be we single, be we successful or be we unsuccessful, if we look at matters in the proper light we will find some cause for thankfulness. The only being that is not thankful is that unfortunate without hope and without faith, and even he may be thankful that time is given him to regain hope and recover faith.

In mirth and in sorrow there is cause for thankfulness, and no one showed the beauties of both better than Milton in his poems of L'Allegro and Il Penseroso. What a picture of light-hearted living in the first, what a solemn quiet and calm in the second. The dappled dawn that is "To come in spite of sorrow And at my window bid good-morrow Through the sweet briar, or the vine, Or the twisted eglantine," tells of dawning day and dawning life. While another miniature in words tells us to "Let the pealing organ blow, To the full voiced quire below,

In service high, and anthems clear, As may with sweetness, through mine ear, Dissolve me into ecstasies, And bring all Heaven before my eyes."

Let all give thanks then in their various manner, and remember that no matter what the circumstances there is always reason for thanksgiving on Thanksgiving Day.

The storm has held up very satisfactorily, but our spell of rainy weather is by no means over. We may look for a southerly storm at almost any time.

Plenty of amusement tomorrow to suit all tastes, young and old. Polo, football, boxing, Juvas, picnics, and jolly family dinners will give a chance for every one to mark thanksgiving day 1902, with the proverbial white stone.

The committees of the Senate are investigating the various departments, and we may look for reports upon the results soon. Some very valuable and in some cases some startling information has been obtained.

Rapid Transit is pushing on and we may soon run down to the Park in a few minutes instead of taking up a large part of an hour as we do now with Pain's cars. Once the Rapid Transit is open to Waikiki Pain's line will have to close down. The Rapid Transit is run on true business principles and is successful accordingly.

Mark P. Robinson has announced that he will not accept the treasurership even if it be offered to him. The Star, while fully appreciating Mr. Robinson's ability, has always considered T. F. Lansing as a desirable candidate, and would again strongly urge his candidacy upon the attention of the Governor and of the Senate. Mr. Lansing has both experience and ability and would make a thoroughly efficient and satisfactory official as treasurer.

Presumably Senator Achi desired to show yesterday that he was in earnest about the County Bill. But every body belonging to the party is in earnest. That there has been so little said about the measure comes from the fact that such hard work is being done. No measure has had more care and more time bestowed upon its framing than the county bill now being worked upon by the Republican Committee.

It is not at all surprising that our naval authorities and the executive have decided to concentrate our naval force in the Pacific upon the Asiatic station. There is nothing to threaten our Western coast, or nothing which cannot be guarded against by quickly summoning our distant squadrons. On the Asiatic station it is necessary that we should show our strength as a world power. Events move rapidly there and our commercial advance has to be guarded. More over we have now a splendid naval base in Manila and are no longer dealing with foreign powers from a base 4,000 miles distant.

The great thanksgiving dinner to the Star newboys takes place tomorrow and the little merchants enjoy the feast that they have been looking forward to so long. The rewards for selling papers which the Star inaugurated will also be awarded and there will be many happy little hearts in town tomorrow. Feasting for those who need it, and who appreciate the unwonted dainties, is a proper mark of a joyful season. The Star newboys have had an exceptionally good year, for as the sales increase, so do the boys' profits. The Star newboys tomorrow will have well lined little stomachs and well lined little pockets, and will have every reason to give thanks.

The opening of the Polo tournament was most auspicious. The individual games are described elsewhere, but the general features call for comment. As an exhibition of riding the games were a revelation to many of the spectators. In this particular many feel disposed to give the palm to Kauai. There are few places which in a day's sport will show such riding skill, such nerve, and such perfect command of the horse as was displayed at the Park yesterday. The onlookers may be satisfied that they see no imitation of polo, but that they see the king of games, played as well as it is in any part of the world. Excitement ran high yesterday and will run, if possible, still higher when the concluding games come to be played, and the final championship is played for.

THE TRAGIC NOTE IN THE GAY MELODYA WIFE ELOPES TO THE ACCOM-PANIMENT OF FLOWERS, SUN-SHINE AND BERGER'S BAND.The Zealandia got away promptly on time today. And in spite of the fact that she did not carry a great many passengers, this being just before the holidays when nobody is going away from home unless they have to, the departure of the steamer was quite a gala affair. The Territorial Band was at the wharf and rendered quite a long program. There were a good many people at the wharf. The ladies were in evidence and there were enough leis and flowers to give color and liveliness to the scene. The officers of the vessel, every one of whom is popular, and has a host of friends in this port, were resplendent in their dress uniforms, and each had plenty of friends on deck to bid them good bye.The process of coaling had been finished early in the forenoon and the vessel had been thoroughly washed down, and shone clear and white in the bright sun. Four discharged soldiers from Camp McKinley were among those who sailed by the Zealandia. A good many of their comrades were down to see them off, and possibly to wish that they were going too.The Zealandia was loaded more deeply aft than forward, and it was predicted by some of her enthusiastic friends that with that style of loading, and the new hydro-carbon system of fuel burning appliances, she would equal her own record of six days and twenty-three hours to the coast.But while the departure of the steamer in most of its circumstances was gay and pleasant there was not wanting the tragic and pathetic. The band was playing "Hawaii Ponoi." The last cases of cargo were going up the sides forward. The pilot had just come aboard. The quartermaster had just taken their positions forward and aft with their signal flags. Everything was almost ready for the lines to be cast loose, when an excited Portuguese in the garb of a workingman rushed up to Captain Harry Flint of the harbor police, as he stood near the gangway, said something to him in an impassioned voice, and then rushed aboard the steamer. Flint followed, at the more leisurely pace of a man who feels that there is trouble ahead, but that he can't help it.There was trouble. The Portuguese had just discovered that his wife and little child were aboard the steamer going to leave him; eloping as he believed with another man. Flint went aboard. He found the woman. She neither affirmed or denied that she was the wife of the excited husband.
She merely shrugged her shoulders, refusing to speak to him, and telling Flint that she was going to the coast.
She showed her ticket. She gave no indication of any hesitation or any feeling at leaving. She ignored any suggestion of coming ashore. In the face of her ticket and her determination the husband and the captain of police were equally powerless. Both were not equally concerned. The husband rushed from the deck to the police station, and came back saying that the papers would be down in a minute.
Before they came the Zealandia had sailed.The captain of police: "You ought to be glad of it."

THE CASE OF MAGOON

has been and now is, absent from the Territory of Hawaii."That on the 19th day of November, 1932, the Honorable J. T. De Bolt, First Judge of the above named Court, did order a warrant of arrest to be issued from said Court, commanding the High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii, his Deputy the Sheriff of the Island of Oahu, or his Deputy, to arrest and take the body of the said William Harrison Wright, and forthwith have his body before said Court, to answer the indictment against him, the said Wright, but the said warrant of arrest remains unserved or executed, and the said Wright is not now in custody; that your affiant is informed and believes and upon such information and belief deposes it to be the fact that the said High Sheriff and his deputies have made true and diligent search for the said William Harrison Wright within the Territory of Hawaii but have been unable to find the said Wright or to ascertain his whereabouts, and that one Duffey, Deputy Sheriff of the Island of Oahu, has made diligent search for the said Wright within the State of California, but after diligent search and inquiry has been unable to find or ascertain the whereabouts of the said Wright."That your affiant has been indicted by said grand jury as aforesaid separately and apart from the said William Harrison Wright, and that said William Harrison Wright has not been convicted of the crime of embezzlement as charged in said indictment against him, nor subject to the jurisdiction of this Court, and by the law of this land your affiant cannot be compelled to plead to the indictment herein or proceed upon the trial of his said cause until after the conviction of the said Wright of the crime of embezzlement as charged as aforesaid."J. ALFRED MAGOON." The argument lasted most of the morning. Humphreys declared that even if Magoon should plead guilty, the court could not inflict punishment until the conviction of Wright. As long as the records of the court showed that Wright had not been convicted, nothing could be done with Magoon. The attorneys added that Magoon had no intention of pleading guilty, but that the statement was made only for the purpose of illustration.It was finally agreed among the counsel that the matter might go over, with plea reserved. Unless Wright is captured and placed on trial, the matter will be dropped, as it is generally admitted that there can be no proceeding against an accessory until the principal is convicted.

COPPER IN DRUGS.

IN FROM TACOMACOMMANDED BY CAPTAIN RUSS—PARTICULARS OF DISABLING ACCIDENT TO CAPT. THOMPSON.The four-masted schooner Mary E.
Foster arrived off Diamond Head last night from Tacoma with about 1,100,000 feet of lumber for Allen & Robinson.
She left Tacoma November 1, and was towed down the Sound, reaching Cape Flattery just in time to meet a severe gale for two days. After leaving Cape Flattery twenty-two days ago she experienced head winds and heavy seas, but met with no accidents, nor experienced any particular incidents. She arrived off Diamond Head last night just a little too late to enter the harbor, and so drifted under shortened sail outside until this morning, when she was brought in by the tug Fearless.The Mary E. Foster was brought down this trip by Captain James H.
Russ, who was for two years the mate of the S. C. Allen. Captain Thompson was unable to make this trip because of an accident he met with in Tacoma by which he was severely burned. He was lighting an oil stove in the cabin of the Mary E. Foster, using a little alcohol to start the ignition. It was dark at the time and he got the lighted match a little too near the open oil can.
There was an explosion and Captain Thompson was covered with burning oil. He quickly rolled himself up in blankets and so extinguished the blaze, but not until he had been severely burned about the face and hands, but fortunately without injury to his eyes, nor inhaling the blaze. The burns were all superficial, though severe and painful, and he was able to go to his home in San Francisco where he now is. It is expected that he will be fully recovered in time to take command of the schooner on her next voyage.The Foster is at her old berth at the Allen & Robinson wharf.FOOTBALL GAME FOR TOMORROWFootball tomorrow will draw a mighty crowd, of which many will go on to the afterwards. The game has been arranged to start at two thirty for the benefit of the polo men and those who wish to attend the game. It will be a closely fought battle tomorrow but there is no reason for thinking that final victory will rest anywhere except with the college boys. They are faster on the ends than the Mailes and the latter will find their line a hard nut to crack. Surprises are always possible however as with last Saturday's game but on form the Oahu men should be able to go through the line or around the end with equal ease. Their combination is more perfect in its team work.The Mailes' hope will lie in the carelessness of their opponents and in taking advantage of these openings which always come in the best regulated line of any football team. The Mailes will fight every minute of the play to even matters with the leading team. The line ups are as follows and show the full strength of both teams if Wright gets ashore in time to play with the Mailes in their second half.

YACHT MISSING.

The yacht Canary, if the little fin keel could be dignified with the title of yacht, is missing. She was last seen riding saucily to a nice little red buoy off the mud flats on the western arm of the peninsula, not far from the Macfarlane residence. Now she has vanished and the Hawaii Yacht Club has lost its mascot.

THOMPSON'S TRIAL.

The trial of Alexander Thompson, formerly of the tax office, for embezzlement, was interrupted this morning by the argument of the Magoon case.
At 1:30 this afternoon Judge De Bolt resumed the efforts to get a jury to try

GRAND JURY REPORT

cooking close to the walls of the magazine and of the location being made a stopping place for the purpose of carcass. The Grand jury recommends that the magazine be properly isolated or removed from its present location to a place less dangerous to the city."Electric Poles: Attention has been called to the condition and number of electric light, trolley and telephone poles which are claimed to be a menace to life and property in Honolulu. If the present laws are inadequate, it is suggested that the legislature provide such protection as may be possible."Rapid Transit: It is claimed that there is danger to the public from the speed at which the electric cars are run through the city, especially at crossings and that stops are not made at the crossings of all streets."This Grand jury would respectfully reiterate the expressions of former grand juries relative to the trivial character of many of the offenses it is by law required to pass upon and suggests that the next legislature take action to the end of bringing the laws of this Territory more in consonance with those of other portions of the United States."The Grand jury deprecates the practice of a portion of the press of Honolulu in publishing as facts imaginary proceedings before the body; such statements being seemingly made with the purpose of influencing the action of the jury or of persons supposed to be under investigation. The tendency of such publications is to cast reflections upon the integrity of the jurors and create an impression that they have given out facts which they were under oath to keep secret."The Grand jury calls attention to the case against Makanoa C. Amara, charged with embezzling Government funds. This case has been thoroughly investigated and Mr. Amara is exonerated of the charges against him, and we would recommend that he be restored to the position which he formerly held in the Tax Assessor's office and from which he was suspended pending the investigation of the charges against him."In concluding this Grand Jury desires to express its appreciation of the able, thorough, impartial and courteous manner in which the Deputy Attorney General, Mr. John W. Catheart, has performed his duties in connection with the present session of the Grand Jury, and to thank your Honor for the kind consideration it has received at your hands."The report is signed by James Gordon

A great many people want long, heavy hair, but how to get it, that is what puzzles them. The fact is, the hair needs a little help now and then. The roots require feeding.

When the hair is starved, it stops growing, loses its lustre, falls out, turns gray. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair-help. It makes the hair grow, stops it from falling, and completely cures dandruff.

If your hair is fading or turning gray, begin at once with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It will positively restore color to your gray hair, all the full, rich color it had in early life.

As a hair-dressing you will certainly like it, for it keeps the hair soft and glossy and prevents it from splitting at the ends.

Do not be deceived by cheap imitations which will only disappoint you. Make sure that you get the genuine Ayer's Hair Vigor.

MANILA CITY DESCRIBED

Manila has a population of some 300,000 people, divided as follows: Natives, 225,000; Chinese, 65,000, and others, principally Americans, 10,000. It is a quaint, old-fashioned city, built upon the northeastern shore of the bay, which is nearly round and about twenty-four miles across. The houses are principally built of manufactured stone and are one, two and three story structures. The walls are from two to four feet thick and built to withstand the earthquakes, and do—that is, the less severe ones. The streets are tolerably straight and from thirty to sixty feet wide, with the majority of them about thirty-five feet.

The city is lighted very poorly with electric lights. There is a street car line, the cars being drawn by small ponies. The telephone system is poor. Manila has a very good waterworks system, presented to the municipality by a Filipino who has departed this life, the condition of the gift being that the poor people should always have water free, and public hydrants are accordingly well distributed about the city. The Pasig river courses through the city from the northeast to the southwest. Below the first bridge, above the mouth of the river, at the famous "bridge of Spain," the river is wide and deep, and is constantly crowded with commercial boats of all descriptions. It is a sight worth a long journey to see.

The churches and cathedrals are a marked feature of Manila. Their grandeur, and in many instances elegance, is a wonder and surprise to the stranger. And the bells, the "beautiful bells," the devotion of the people their music foretells. Those who do not like them think they are something "awful." On feast days, and there are many, business in the immediate vicinity of a church has at times to be suspended during their ringing, and that is many times during the day, and it is not unusual for them to be heard at midnight, and they always mingle with the voices of a myriad of cocks crowing all over the city at 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning.

The people go to bed early and rise early. The first thing we hear in the morning is the sweeping of the streets or the ringing of the hydrant after the cock crowing and the ringing of the bells has ceased. Fires are lighted by the poorer class at an early hour, by many before it is fairly light, and the women prepare breakfast, so the men can go about the live-long day in many instances doing nothing, and an easy time they have. The women, too, for that matter. It is safe to say that there are no poor people on earth who are more content and suffer less for the necessities of life than the Filipino people. It is not because "ignorance is bliss" either. They simply obtain without much exertion the comforts of life.

The Chinese are the bone and sinew of Manila and the only people here who take kindly to manual labor. The Americans here are no fonder of hard work than the Filipino. The "walled city" contains probably two-fifths of the population of Manila and but a small portion of the wholesale and retail business. The courts, the government buildings, both civil and military, and the principal schools are in the "walled city." To our liking, the climate is perfect. Never hot like it is in the United States. During the rainy season there is a cleanliness and a freshness that is always invigorating, and the dry season is a change, but not so healthy. —Manila Justicia.

EVIDENCE AS TO MARKET VALUES

CROSSED THE PACIFIC TO FIND OUT WHAT THINGS COST IN THE OPEN MARKET.

"I think I may say I met with complete success in my mission," said J. H. Johnston, the customs broker who returned from Japan by the Doric.

"The object of my mission was to secure evidence of the market value of Japanese merchandise of sundry kinds at particular dates. The purpose of getting the evidence was to use it in certain cases now pending before the United States Board of General Appraisers. When merchandise is imported upon which there is an ad valorem duty it is necessary to fix the price or value of the goods in order to ascertain the duty. The law provides that that value shall be the general market price of that kind of commodity in the country of origin on the date of shipment. The invoice of the goods is one element of proof in determining the market price, but the collector is not bound by it. He may disregard it altogether, and fix the value upon such testimony as he sees fit to accept and which convinces his judgment.

"In the past a great many importations of Japanese goods have been valued by the customs officers at what the importers considered too high a valuation, and the duties were paid under protest and appeals taken to the Board of General Appraisers. The amount of duties thus paid under protest goes up into the thousands of dollars. In order to establish our appeal it was necessary to secure conclusive evidence of the market price of the particular goods on the particular dates of shipment. It was to secure that that I was sent.

"I was received by officials of the Japanese Government and extended such friendly facilities as they could give me. I was received by the largest dealers and manufacturers in the several articles and given all the facilities they had to offer. From them I secured absolute proof of what the market prices were. From the various American consulates I secured the necessary certifications to the proofs I had secured so that we can use them in the presentation of the case before the Board of General Appraisers.

"The proofs I secured will of course have nothing to do with the appraisement and valuation of importations made in the future. The valuations as to them will have to depend on the evidence of what the market prices were at the time of shipment, and of course prices fluctuate."

BRITISH WARSHIP WILL TOUCH HERE

H. M. S. SHEARWATER ON HER WAY TO PITCAIRN ISLAND—NEWS OF THE FLEET.

VICTORIA, November 14.—On Thursday next H. M. S. Shearwater, commander Charles H. Unfreville, will leave Esquimaux for Pitcairn Island via Honolulu, the expedition, which was attended with such disastrous results in the case of the Condor one year ago next month. Profiting by last year's experience, however, the admiralty are sending the Shearwater out a few weeks earlier than her sister ship sailed last winter, and by the time the heavy December gales set in it is calculated that the Shearwater will be out of the latitudes frequented by the storms.

Mention of Pitcairn Island invariably recalls the mutiny of the crew of the Bounty of 1787 and Captain Bligh's historic voyage of 3,618 miles in an open boat. From Esquimaux to Pitcairn is one of the longest runs on the Pacific, as it is over 7,500 miles via the Hawaiian Islands. One of the squadron usually visits the island once a year.

The flagship and Amphion will proceed south early next month. On Tuesday last H. M. S. Flora was commissioned to relieve H. M. S. Phaeton, Captain Edgar J. Fleet, on the Pacific station. Capt. Casper J. Baker, who has been given command of the Flora, joined the service almost twenty-seven years ago, attained his present rank in 1898, and since the latter date was unemployed. He is said to be no stranger to the Pacific station, having been first lieutenant of the Egeria during one of her commissions.

A survey of H. M. S. Warapite, ex flagship of the Pacific squadron, at Chatham shows that it will take close on $25,000 to bring her up to date and fit her out as flagship for another station. It is proposed to replace her ten 6-inch guns by ten 6-inch quick firers which will involve many alterations in the ports gun carriages and in the magazines. The engines are defective and require a complete overhaul, and other defects have to be made good.

YOUNG EELS.
Young eels show the greatest perseverance in overcoming all obstructions on their way up stream. In ascending flood gates and barriers they often climb on the dead bodies of those that have perished in the attempt to pass. Baby eels are much sought after in some parts of England and are formed into cakes, which are eaten fried.

HAMLET TERRACE.
A statue of Shakespeare will be erected at Elsinore, Denmark, facing the "Hamlet terrace" of Kronberg castle on which the poet laid the scene between Hamlet and his father's ghost.

DISPLAY OF GOOD POLO AND RIDING

INTER-ISLAND TOURNAMENT PROMISES TO BE A BIG SUCCESS
—OAHU AND MAUI VICTORS.

The best display of spectacular polo yet given in these islands was witnessed by a representative gathering at the Kapiolani Park grounds yesterday afternoon. Despite the unfortunate trick of the weather in raining at the very moment when people were starting for the game, a long line of carriages and many horsemen turned out to witness the sport royal. Colors were freely displayed and friendly rosters, both of the feminine and the sterner sex cheered the performances of the silk bloused players and the glossy horses until Diamond Head re-echoed with shouts of "Oh! well ridden sir" and "Bully boy, ride him off." And wandering spirits of bygone chiefs still hovering over the old heiau must have been startled almost to life again by the spectacle of modern sport on the site of ancient sacrifice.

Oahu won from Hilo somewhat easily but a wreath of honor belongs to the men from the rainy city, for entering the contest with the odds against them and for fighting so pluckily with Prouty in the lead, in the face of an ever increasing score and superior and more numerous ponies. Prouty was the bright particular star of his team and the hero. If the game to all the on-lookers. He played a good, certain and swift game all over the field and with better backing would have made the score more nearly equal.

As it was, the last period showed the points standing at 22-1 in favor of Oahu. With the exception of Prouty's mounts the Hilo horses were played out half way through the game by doing double duty. The game was characterized by clean playing. Judd's pony tripped once and Kennedy fell over him but the fall was immaterial. With Prouty, Kennedy played the best game for Hilo. Guard went off form every little while but rallied toward the end. On the Oahu side Atkinson played 4 for the first period, Dole being delayed on the way out by trying to prevent his pony from bucking off its groom. The men did their individual work well all scoring in their turn.

The difference in the number of ponies and the general superiority of the team makes lengthy criticism idle. Judd at No. 1 did his duty and rendered Dr. Irwin a non-factor in the game by riding him off and also putting in some brilliant individual plays. Single at No. 2 was in his best form and played with decision. Dillingham well mounted handled his team well and played a sure game while Dole at back was a tower of security. At the same time the manner in which Prouty occasionally flashed through the team should sound a warning note to Oahu to look out for Maui's fast riders and speedy horsemen. Only team work will win the game for the home team on Saturday and if Frank Baldwin on Tom Thush or Foxy Grandpa starts away from the field it will take more than Hakulani, Cocktail or Derby to catch him.

The field was a little greasy from the showers in the first period but soon dried off and was in the best shape it has yet been played on. The game was a few bad spots where player after player would miss and override the ball but generally it is satisfactory. The additional two hundred feet regulation length would have helped out the Maui contingent who were constantly over-driving.

The Maui boys were on the side lines watching the first game when their opponents, splendidly mounted and presenting a gay picture in their scarlet jackets rode along the track to the field. Maui mounted and soon both teams were warming up. The excellent horsemanship and the display of ponies sent a perpetual murmur of delight along the carriages. At a little after three thirty the time keeper bell brought the men into the ten foot circle facing each other and as the field umpire dropped the ball a glare from a key bugle in a coaching party sounded the challenge.

The match proved fast and furious from the outset. Crimson, roan, buckskin, gray and bay and white jackets yellow blouses and sable cap ponies of all shades, their glossy points reflecting back the sky, shot between and around each other in ever changing whirling like the turning of a kaleidoscope. Out of the melee shot one of the Melina boys riding like a centaur while Charlie Rice yelled "Go it Peter." Peter got it and a few seconds later Wilbur retaliated for Maui with another goal. The ball throughout the match was first at one end of the territory and then sent flying back to the other with a three hundred foot swipe. Frank Baldwin from the start showed his ability to get away from the bunch and drive the ball. His only weakness lay in his inability to gauge the shortened field. Many drives landed over the mark before they could be turned and centered.

The crowd enthused with every moment's play and all declared the game was worth going a hundred miles to see. It was not really first class polo but it was a most exciting exhibition of fearless riding and good horses coupled with ability to drive the ball. Every once in a while team work loomed out in passing the ball down the field Maui excelling in this particular with some very pretty runs the length of the field participated in by the entire quartet, each taking the ball as his opportunity offered, the other riding off the opponents. Baldwin's two best horses helped materially to win the game. Kauai had hard luck in the last period. Once over eagerness and an unnecessary second stroke diverted the ball from the goal and twice there were narrowly missed shots. Both sides hit the goal posts more than once in the play.

Cross riding was frequent throughout the game on both sides though there was no deliberately dangerous work.

One foul was made by a man pulling at right angles across the right of way but this was not claimed. In the last period Von Tempky claimed a foul on the side line. Frank Baldwin had driven the ball and a Melina boy was hard behind him. The shot went over the line and Baldwin swerved a trifle from his right of way. The Melina boy came across his riding line a little more than a pony's length away and Baldwin had to rein up. A protest was made but the foul was not allowed the referee evidently not thinking the cross dangerous. It was close riding but both sides transgressed. Later another foul was claimed on a successful bluff where the rider did not actually cross the right of way.

Frank Baldwin played star game for the Maui. The Kauai men all demand their need of praise. Both the Hilo boys played a rattling game while the two Melinas were into it every minute with superb horsemanship. There was not a dull moment in the game. If Kauai had had a home team to practice against there would not be a shade of choice between the Canary and the Scarlet and next year Kauai is likely to get there with all the combined feet of ponies and riders. The score was 8-5½ in favor of Maui, the extra points being safety plays.

Tomorrow's game will be a pretty one and should be close. Prouty will undoubtedly put up a first class game and his support is likely to be in better form. The details of the tournament were well attended to and all the visiting teams have expressed their satisfaction. There is no aftermath of complaint. The games were run off promptly and good fellowship went hand in hand with rivalry. The first big inter-island tournament has started out as a prodigious success.

CONDITION OF THE CRATER AT PRESENT

RECENT ERUPTION DESCRIBED BY A WITNESS—LAKE IS FILLING UP IN MARKED DEGREE.

The recent activity of the volcano attracted a number of people to Kilauaea this month. While few of the visitors from Honolulu had the opportunity of viewing the volcano in eruption, the majority of those who did make the trip returned well satisfied with what they had seen.

It was early in the morning of Monday, November 10, that Halemaumau, the inner crater, suddenly burst into unusual activity. D. Howard Hitchcock and a number of others happened to be at the Volcano House at the time and a party was at once organized to visit the pit. From what Mr. Hitchcock says, the display was remarkable. "It was the finest display," he said, "that I have witnessed since the eruption of 1883. The center of activity seemed to be on the side of the lava lake. The lava did not burst into the air in a small column, but was forced upward in much larger size. There was not a very sharply defined cone, the lava rising somewhat after the fashion that water does in a large reservoir when some sudden force is exerted underneath. The lava rose to a height of perhaps fifty feet, the column being a solid judge, about fifty feet in diameter. This activity would continue for perhaps five minutes, then, suddenly, there would be a subsidence of the volcanic forces and the lava would flow back into the earth and all evidence of the outward flow would disappear leaving only the hole through which the lava was re-entering the earth. Then, without any warning whatever, the lava would again be forced upward. There were several smaller lava cones showing fire. The display of the fire was very fine."

Mr. Hitchcock and party remained at the Volcano house for four days, and during all of that time the volcano continued in activity. Two days after the party left, the lake subsided. There was a renewal of the activity several days later, but the eruption did not continue.

The recent eruption forms but part of the series of intermittent activity that have characterized the volcano during the present year. One of the most striking and unusual features that followed this last eruption of Halemaumau was the marked decrease in the sulphur fumes that the pit gave forth. Heretofore, visitors to the volcano have complained that they were unable to see clear down to the bottom of Halemaumau owing to the dense volume of smoke, sulphur and steam that filled the pit. Such a condition was entirely absent last week. A party of five who visited the volcano from Honolulu on Thursday had not the slightest difficulty in seeing to the very bottom of the pit during the day light. There were only two small cones from which were rising sulphur and steam, and the columns were very small so as not to cloud the view from the edge of the pit above. The actual lake of dead lava, could be distinctly seen as could the formation and contour of the pit itself. The two holes through which the steam was finding vent were also very plain to the naked eye.

There was very little wind prevailing at the time of this visit and the small quantity of steam and sulphur fumes that did arise hung over the pit about a hundred feet above the edge. Manager Waldron of the Volcano House estimates that the lava lake is now within 850 feet of the top. During the past year the lava has risen, he thinks, about 700 feet, and at the present rate of increase, the former lines of the lava lake before it dropped back into the crater will be regained. No official measurement has been taken of the depth, however, the distance being simply estimated.

There was ample evidence in the big crater of Kilauaea of activity. Clouds of steam were rising from fully a hundred different cracks. The heat was evident at all of these vents, nor did Madam Pele's cabin and kitchen appear to have lost any of their torrid qualities. Alexander Lancaster, the guide,

THE ZEALANDIA'S
HYDRO-CARBON

NEW FUEL BURNING APPLIANCE, THE FIRST ON THE PACIFIC, OF WHICH MUCH IS HOPED.

The Zealandia is the only vessel on the Pacific Coast equipped with the new hydro-carbon system of stoking and coal burning. It was used for the first time on the voyage down, and when it gets into perfect operation Chief Engineer Keller believes it will save considerable in coal consumption, and prove more efficient in steam production.

"It is a new thing," said Chief Engineer Keller, "and as yet we have not found out experimentally just what it can do and how best to handle it. I estimate that on the trip down we saved by it from three to ten tons of coal a day, and that considerable efficiency was added to our steam production."

"The appliance consists of a small retort placed in the fire box. It is pierced with fine holes. Superheated steam from the super-heated steam drum is carried into this retort which is kept at a white heat, and the steam is there decomposed and forced out through the fine holes right into the fire. The hydrogen of the decomposed steam unites with the carbon of the smoke and coal forming hydro-carbon, chemically, but perfect combustion so far as we are concerned. This perfect combustion effects economy of fuel and adds efficiency. As soon as we get it to working as it should it will add greatly to the constancy and steadiness of our steam pressure and thereby add to our speed and steadiness of speed."

"Coming down on this trip, we made the voyage in almost as good time as the Gaelic. We made it nearer our schedule time than the Miowera made her voyage, and I attribute it largely to this new appliance."

LIN FAT FREE.

Wilcox Would Not Wait For Civil Service Red Tape.

"I am going to discharge this man," said Judge Wilcox, when Lin Fat's name was called in the police court.
"He was arrested for not having a hack license. The case was continued to enable him to get a license. He has applied for a license; he has the money to pay for it; he already has a driver's license, but not one for his particular hack. I don't know why the authorities won't issue a license to him. I am not informed whether they are waiting to put into practice this civil service plan of examination as to qualifications. But I don't believe it right to keep requiring him to come here every morning when he stands ready to pay for a license. So unless the High Sheriff nolle proseques this case, I shall discharge the man."

"I will nolle proseques the case," said the Deputy High Sheriff, laughing, and Lin Fat went out of court a free man.
