ITALY FOR LABOR SUPPLY

ROBERT W. WILCOX TESTIFIES TO ITS CHARACTER.

Thousands of Sturdy and Industrious People Available in Tuscany—Other Authorities Cited.

Robert W. Wilcox spoke to a BULLETIN representative again this morning on the subject of labor from Italy for the Hawaiian plantations. He referred to an anonymous letter in another paper, decrying the character of Italians from the author's professed knowledge of them in other countries.

"This fellow talks," Mr. Wilcox said, "but says nothing. He simply abuses the Italians. What he alleges against them is all nonsense."

"What do our people want? They grow about the Chinese and Japanese, saying they do not want to make this country Asiatic. Yet whenever any particular European nationality is suggested as a possible supply of labor, there are some to run that nationality down."

"I know the Italians in their own land and in California. They have been a great blessing to that State. The Italians have developed the wine industry of California, placing the State on a par with Italy, France and Spain."

"Talk is cheap. Anyone can abuse a nationality and call its people drunkards or loafers or paupers. As a matter of fact, the Italians as a people are sober, industrious and frugal. If such men are not wanted, and we cannot have Asiatics, what are we going to do? Shut down our plantations, let everything go to the dogs, and the nation relapse into mediocrity or something of that kind."

"What I mean to propose is to get the agricultural class from Tuscany near Florence, on account of the climate, which being mild the people would be adaptable to the Hawaiian Islands. The Tuscans are among the finest class of industrial people. They are strong and energetic, and I venture to say, could do three times as much work in a day as almost any nationality here."

"For $18 a month and free doctoring the planters can get 15,000 or more of these people. They would make good and peaceable settlers at the end of their contracts if they did not engage anew to work on the plantations. They are economical, sober—if they want to drink they will take a little wine of their own making. They would not mix up with politics, but if their children did so they would have a perfect right."

"Mons. Vizzavona, the French chancellor of legation here, can corroborate what I say, as he is a Corsican. Italians go over to Corsica in spring and summer by thousands to work for 35 cents a day. If Mr. Marques were here, he, also would corroborate my opinion of these people, he being an Italian himself."

"What has been said about the Italians in Pennsylvania refers to the time of the padroni system, which has been all done away with. Under it the Italian laborers were under taskmasters who treated them like beasts."

"Today Italy is under the house of Savoy and is progressive. Its government is extending education everywhere throughout the kingdom. It is different from what it was under the Bourbons. Italy is a democratic monarchy like England."

"Colonel Spalding, you will remember, when he saw the Italians at home recommended them for plantation labor in these islands. With such a class of labor in the country, capitalists will not be afraid to invest their money. The raising of wheat may even be resumed in the islands. I have no hesitation in saying that I can guarantee the character of the Italians."

IN THE HIGHER COURTS

JURY DISAGREE IN OPIUM CASE AND ARE DISCHARGED.

Ashworth on Trial Again for Liquor Selling—Defense Reached in Diamond Case.

The case of A. L. Morris, charged with importing opium, went to the jury shortly after 9 o'clock last night. After an absence of more than an hour and a half they returned, and by their foreman, Mr. Waity, reported they could not agree. The first ballot had been six and six, then it changed to seven and five and stuck immovably at that. Questioned as individuals, all nodded acquiescence in the report, which meant that each one's mind was fixed. Judge Perry said he could hardly send so intelligent a jury back for further consideration, and counsel on either side having no advice to give he discharged the jury.

While the jury was out Judge Perry fined Mr. Davis, counsel for the defendant, $25 for contempt of court.

J. Ashworth is on trial before Judge Perry, for liquor selling without license—second case against him this term—by the following jury: T. E. Wall, H. A. Parmelee, J. G. Spencer, A. E. Weirick, B. F. Beardmore, C. R. Dement, O. C. Swain, F. J. Kruger, F. J. Turner, W. R. Sims, J. W. Lloyd and D. W. McNicoll. Dole for prosecution; Robertson for defendant.

A decree of divorce has been granted Lydia K. Kamakia against Samuel K. Kamakia by Judge Perry.

Mrs. Dimond's defense is proceeding in the divorce case today. Several witnesses have been examined, but there is little prospect of a conclusion this week.

POLICE COURT MATTERS.

Charged With Perjury and Subornation of Perjury.

In the District Court this morning the case against three Chinese charged with assault and battery was put off till the 24th.

John Thompson, colored, pleaded guilty of assaulting and battering a girl named Malie. Sentence suspended till moved on by the prosecution.

The charge of embezzlement against D. K. Brown will be heard tomorrow.

Annie Nakalewai was sent to the reef for 60 days for failing to register, and three Chinese gamblers were fined $10 each.

Moepono, recently on trial for distilling liquors and acquitted, has been charged with subornation of perjury in procuring M. Kahalekula and Uilama to give certain testimony in court in his case, and the two latter are charged with perjury in giving such testimony. Their cases will probably come up tomorrow.

Minnie C. Riel is on trial this afternoon for deserting her husband.

A Sharpshooters' Orchestra.

Among matters discussed about town is the formation of a Sharpshooters' orchestra. There are a number of musicians in that company and plenty of good material out of which to form an orchestra. One prominent Sharpshooter said today that Wray Taylor and two or three other musicians who belong to the Citizens' Guard were practicing rifle shooting at the butts in order to average the necessary 40 points, which would enable them to join the Sharpshooters.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

VARIOUS MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE LEPER SETTLEMENT.

Bids for Lighting the Quarantine Station by Electricity to be Called For—Other Matters.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon the usual reports from Dr. Monserrat and Fish Inspector Kelipio were received and filed.

In considering the former Mr. Brown asked if the reports he had heard about a large number of hogs dying were true. Dr. Monserrat replied they were, but explained that such matters did not come under his jurisdiction and hence were not included in his report. The condition of livestock in the city was a matter that was under the direct supervision of the Minister of the Interior. The opinion was then advanced that such matters ought to be under the jurisdiction of the Board, and the veterinarian promised to keep the Board posted about similar cases in future.

Dr. Emerson reported on the selection of a site for the new nurseries and the sanitary conditions pertaining to the same. Approved.

Agent Meyer's report from the Leper Settlement referred only to the increasing number of dogs at the settlement, the action of the wind on alga trees and other minor matters of little interest outside the settlement.

Dr. Oliver was granted a week's leave of absence from his post.

A report from Inspector General of Schools H. S. Townsend, relating to matters under the jurisdiction of the Board of Health in the schools of the District of Kona, was received, read and filed.

The petition of George E. Boardman to be allowed to take Chinese immigrants from Manchuria to Nagasaki and Kobe without previous examination and quarantine in China was granted with the condition that all such immigrants must comply with the fourteen-day quarantine in Japan previous to embarkation for this port.

Louis Adler's application for the position of Sanitary Inspector of Honolulu was filed.

The receipt of a communication from Dr. Eldredge, Sanitary Inspector for this Government in Japan, to the effect that small pox was prevalent in that country, caused the passage of a resolution extending the period of preliminary quarantine at all Japanese ports from 5 to 14 days.

In the matter of the lighting of the quarantine station by electricity it was decided to authorize the clerk to advertise for bids.

OAHU SUGAR COMPANY

PROCEEDINGS AT THE STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING TODAY.

Articles of Incorporation Not Entirely Satisfactory to the Government—New Officers Not Elected.

When the call for the meeting of stockholders of the Oahu Sugar Company this morning was issued it was supposed that the articles of incorporation filed at the organization of the company met with the entire approval of the government, but it was found this morning that such was not the case. Certain objections have been raised in the Cabinet since the departure of the Attorney-General and the claim is made that the articles of incorporation give the company too broad and comprehensive a scope and that the rights of the government are not sufficiently guarded. The objections raised by the government were communicated to the officers of the corporation and were brought before the meeting this morning.

After a short discussion it was agreed that two of the objectionable clauses in the articles should be stricken out but that the corporation would stand on its rights as to the rest.

This determination will be communicated to the government and is expected to end the matter.

Owing to this delay in the issuing of the charter no elections of officers could be held and the meeting was adjourned subject to call.

An Advisory Board was elected, however, to act in conjunction with the present officers until all differences with the Government are adjusted. Messrs. S. C. Allen, F. J. Lowrie and Wm. Wolters constitute the Advisory Board, and their election this morning is understood as preliminary to their becoming members of the Board of Directors when the election can be held.

A prominent capitalist, who was interviewed by a BULLETIN reporter, said the government was afraid the new corporation would obtain too much power and that as there had been too much latitude granted to corporations heretofore it was determined to commence putting some restrictions on them. This was all very well viewed from the government standpoint, but the corporations had some rights and he thought the Oahu Sugar Company was not disposed to give up any it had attained. "If the law regarding incorporations was defective let it be changed by the Legislature but not by an arbitrary ruling of the Cabinet," said this gentleman, "and the present law gives corporations the same rights as partnerships."

B. F. Dillingham said the action of the government would not affect the company a particle, beyond postponing the election of permanent officers until the final approval of the articles of incorporation by the government, which could not be long delayed. The work would go right along in the meantime, the Advisory Board taking the place of a Board of Directors.

ABOUT YOKOHAMA HARBOR

RAPIDLY FILLING UP WITH SAND AND DEBRIS.

Authorities Blamed for not Providing Means of Dredging—Business Going to Kobe.

The condition of Yokohama harbor is commencing to cause alarm, and shows what might be expected to happen in our own port were dredging operations not kept up constantly. A Japanese paper, Jiji, calls attention to its rapidly deteriorating condition and shows why it is that shipping is deserting Yokohama for Kobe. It says:

"The harbor of Yokohama, on which so much time and money have been spent is, owing to the defective organization of the port, not only becoming useless, but actually causing inconvenience to merchant vessels. Vessels of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha and other shipping firms have, therefore, removed their moorage to the vicinity of Kanagawa, and in consequence the harbor itself is now being deserted. The inconvenience thereby caused to Yokohama merchants is beyond description. If things remain as at present, landing and loading offices will have to be established without the harbor. The fault lies in the system. The breakwater of course protects vessels by checking the rough waves outside, but the calm thus obtained will naturally tend to prevent the accumulating sand from being washed out of the harbor and in course of time make the harbor more shallow. This being an evident fact, the authorities ought to have provided means of dredging at the outset. But since the commencement of the harbor works, dredging has not been done on a single occasion. The foreshore of the N. Y. K. offices, which formerly admitted large vessels, has already become so shallow that at low tide it is not easy for even a small launch to go there. Moreover, warships and sailing vessels, which ought to be required to anchor outside the harbor, for the sake of the safety and convenience of the harbor, being allowed to enter within the breakwater, merchant vessels cannot get a view of the harbor before entering it, when such a large warship as the Centurion is anchored near the mouth. Sailing vessels being unable to move about at a moment's notice as adroitly as steamships, masters of steamships naturally refrain from approaching such vessels too closely. Hence they also should be required to remain outside the harbor; but as matters stand at present they are allowed to remain as long as they like inside the breakwater. Such a matter is within the sphere of the harbor-master and harbor regulations, but in the absence of such functionary and rules the whole harbor affairs are in the hands of the water police, whose sole duty seems, however, to be confined to looking after drowned persons. Some expenditure is, of course, unavoidable for properly maintaining the harbor. The people of Yokohama are wonderfully indifferent toward the harbor on which they rely as the source of their subsistence. They fire no gun to report time, and give no signal of weather warning. With people so indifferent to their own interests as to be content without the simplest elements of a harbor, the sluggishness of the port compared with Kobe is not to be wondered at."

Drs. Maybe and Mustbe.

You choose the old doctor before the young one. Why? Because you don't want to entrust your life in inexperienced hands. True, the young doctor may be experienced. But the old doctor must be. You take no chances with Dr. Maybe, when Dr. Mustbe is in reach. Same with medicines as with medicine makers—the long-tried remedy has your confidence. You prefer experience to experiment—when you are concerned. The new remedy may be good—but let somebody else prove it. The old remedy must be good—judged on its record of cures. Just one more reason for choosing AYER'S Sarsaparilla in preference to any other. It has been the standard household sarsaparilla for half a century. Its record inspires confidence—50 years of cures. If others may be good, Ayer's Sarsaparilla must be. You take no chances when you take AYER'S Sarsaparilla.

LOVE'S TELEGRAPH.

Amos Ambler was a poor but fashionable young man. His clothes were made without a wrinkle by a fashionable tailor. He wore a fashionable Alaska diamond pin, a massive plated chain, and the wristbands of his immaculate shirt were secured by a pair of bronze sleeve buttons representing a skull and a pair of crossbones and being nearly of the size of life. His face was fair, but sorrowful in its expression, and not without reason, for his heart was haunted with the melancholy recollections of a lost love.

The object of his supposed misplaced affections was a certain Miss Minerva Middleton, who resided with her indulgent parents in an elegant house on Indiana avenue. They had met at a church social during the previous winter. She had invited him to call at her house. He had accepted the invitation, and an intimacy had arisen between them that afforded him many bright promises of future happiness, but, alas for him, all human hopes are vain, and the brightest dreams of earthly life are but fleeting. Old Middleton, as Amos sometimes called his prospective father-in-law, had higher aims for his daughter. When he saw how matters were going, he suddenly, as he subsequently remarked to one of his neighbors, "put his foot down" and forbade Amos the hospitalities of his house. The lovers were therefore separated. Their interchanges of affection were interrupted for a season, but not hopelessly ended.

Immediately adjoining the Middleton mansion was a large boarding house—one of those vulgar institutions that will thrust itself into select and aristocratic neighborhoods. At this habitation Amos immediately secured an apartment, from the windows of which he could obtain a frequent glimpse of the fair Minerva as she flitted from room to room about her father's house engaged in her various household duties. Sometimes she would appear at her window, and they engaged in social converse by means of various signs and signals. Yet they still seemed very far from each other. Besides, they were in constant fear of being seen.

One day, while Amos was walking along the street reflecting upon his melancholy situation, his attention was attracted by a crowd who were closely pressing upon a seedy looking individual who was engaged in selling a new and wonderful invention, which he called a "lovers' telegraph."

Near at hand stood a couple of men, about 30 feet apart, with a long string in a state of tension between them, to each end of which was attached a tin cylinder about 1½ inches in diameter, with a piece of bladder skin tightly drawn and fastened over one end, the other end being open, the end of the string being made fast by means of a knot and the string being drawn through a small hole or puncture in the center of the bladder skin, the use of the contrivance being to enable persons to converse in low whispers while standing at a considerable distance from each other, the open end of the cylinder being held to the ear of one party while the other party whispered in the open end of the other cylinder the words he wished to say, the sound being distinctly transmitted along the cord.

Amos saw at a glance that the invention was a practical one. He bought one at once and went homeward.

Upon the following evening, when Minerva appeared at the window, he exhibited the invention to her and explained its use by means of various signs and signals. It was soon in active operation, and both pronounced it a most wonderful success.

Night after night was the experiment resumed; the old story of their love was told over and over again, and they congratulated themselves upon having outwitted the cruel parent who had sought to divide their hearts forever.

But Minerva had a mischievous brother, who was not at all friendly to Amos. One evening he discovered their means of secret communication, and he determined to bring their intercourse through that medium to a close.

Accordingly one night when, unknown to Amos, Minerva was absent from home, her brother substituted himself at her window. It was too dark for Amos to recognize him; he had not the remotest thought but that it was Minerva. After several ineffectual efforts he succeeded in tossing one end of the telegraph in at her window. The cylinder was seized with avidity, and the following conversation was carried on:

"Minerva!"
"Yes, dear."
"Do you still love me as truly as ever?"
"Yes, of course. I shall love you always."

"How hard it is for us to be so cruelly separated! Oh, that I could look into your eyes and see my image reflected there!"
To his glad surprise, the voice replied:
"I will meet you in ten minutes in the alley by the barn. Father is away. Nobody would suspect our meeting there."
"A strange place," muttered Amos to himself. "But perhaps she is right. No one would think of looking for us there. Oh, if I was only rich, we would fly from this spot forever! But, no; it is impossible. What a terrible thing it is to be poor!"

He put on his hat and leaving the house walked around the block in order to avoid suspicion. Then he entered the mysterious alley and groped his way silently along until he came to the place appointed for their meeting.

Suddenly his feet became entangled in a cord that somebody had stretched across his way, and he fell to the ground. Then, from above, the door of Middleton's barn was thrown open and a tub of cold water was dashed upon him. As he scrambled to his feet a bucketful of ashes descended upon his head, followed by loud shouts of derisive laughter, and, choking with dust, rage and mortification, he hurried from the place as fast as his feet could carry him without waiting for any explanation.

He changed his boarding place on the following morning. He has not yet learned the master in which he was deceived. He yet believes Minerva false to him, and they now meet no more, while the brother thinks that he will hardly be able to keep the secret to himself much longer.—New York News.

W.W. DIMOND'S

Our customers tell us that our novelties are the best that have ever been sold in Honolulu. As a rule kitchen novelties and labor saving tools don't amount to much, ours do.

The quick-cut mincing knife is one that cuts around the corners; being made half round, it is the best for chopping in a bowl. Fifteen cents is the price.

Every housekeeper knows that small bits of soap accumulate in the kitchen until they are thrown away. The kitchen soap shaker, made of wire, enables you to economize in respect to soap.

Half the fun of camping is in being able to flip a flap jack in the van, but half the hunters and half the cooks don't save how. We have a cake turner that does flipping automatically. It costs 15 cents for a dollar's worth of satisfaction. It's made on the no-wear-out principle.

The Premier egg cup is a novelty that should be in use in every home. It saves scorching the fingers in opening the egg, it saves disappointment in the way of matured eggs being sent to the table, for by its use the age of the egg is ascertained before it leaves the kitchen; it guarantees satisfaction in every way.

We've more novelties than we can write about in one ad. Sink brooms at 15 cents is one of them and World's Fair toothpicks another. All good for the house. For staples we have:

Handsome candelabra lamps in brass. Royal banquet lamps, wrought iron $6.10 each. Crystal font street lamps. Brass railroad lamps—excellent for steamer pursers. Wire epergnes for the table. All cheap.

This Leading Feature in Decorative Furnishings is a House.

The term fitments is most comprehensive, including, as it does, paneling, archways, overdoors, window seats, bookcases and cupboards, in addition to fitted furniture for bedrooms, libraries and rooms of every description. They have become quite a leading feature in modern decorations, being used with most of the prevailing styles, and by their kindly aid, combined with judicious management, an ugly square room may be transformed beyond recognition.

All kinds of wood are employed for fitments—oak, mahogany, walnut, pine and the modest bamboo—and each may produce a good effect if appropriately applied. Oak and mahogany look best in dining room, library or hall, while walnut and painted pine are suitable for drawing room or bedroom.

Archways are a simple fitment used always with Moorish decorations, and they are also a pretty addition when used between two rooms, in place of folding doors and nicely draped with handsome curtains.

The overdoor is an immense improvement to dining room or hall, as it lends importance to the entrance and renders the squareness of the opening less noticeable. In the same way the window seat gives an air of comfort to both sitting room and hall, and no other fitment is so easy of construction. All that is required is to have the seat sufficiently wide to form a comfortable lounge and the cushions well upholstered.

Perhaps the most universal fitment has been the so-called "cozy corner," of which little is now heard.

Fitted bookcases are both decorative and useful, welcome and apropos in almost any room and quite essential in a library. Some are fitted from floor to ceiling, while others go only half way, forming a sort of dado, and are finished with a shelf ledge, useful for the display of a few choice ornaments. Among other most useful fitments are cupboards, and these, again, can be made of any kind of wood and take up their position in hall or bedroom.

Many libraries are now furnished with fitted furniture. The mantelpiece, bookshelves, writing table and window seat are so arranged that a part of one piece often goes to form part of the next. The same with bedrooms. The bed, dressing table, washstand, wardrobe and fireplace are all fitments designed specially for the place they occupy.

Such arrangements make exceedingly tasteful and elegant rooms, economizing space and suiting the furniture to its position in a way which could hardly be done with separate pieces.

Points About Boiling.

Mrs. Ewing, in her "Art of Cookery," mentions some points about boiling that may not have suggested themselves to all the housewives. When the density of water is increased by the addition of salt or sugar or some other substance, it retains heat longer and requires a higher temperature to make it boil, but on mountains, or where the pressure of the atmosphere is lessened by any cause, it boils at a lower temperature. The thermometer shows that under ordinary conditions at the level of the sea water boils at 212 degrees, and that after it has reached the boiling point and begins to escape in steam it is only a waste of fuel to increase the heat of the fire. The water will evaporate or pass off in steam more rapidly by the addition of more heat, but it will grow no hotter, and articles immersed in it will cook no sooner by being rapidly boiled.

Evening Dress For Men.

In evening dress fabrics finer, softer and more beautiful blacks are distinguishing features. Favorite materials are twills, plain, sharp raised, dress, corkscrew and whipcord in the finest of worsteds, some of which are dull or dead faced; undressed worsted twills, worsted broadcloths, dress vicunas, vicuna hopsacks, tibets, dress granites, dress crapes, all of which are used for a complete suit, although the trousseurs are generally a trifle heavier than coat and vest. White silk and marseilles vestings are favored to such a degree that it has come to be considered old foggy to wear the black waistcoat with evening dress, except on certain occasions when the white vest would be obviously out of order, according to the New York Herald, which reports the foregoing.

AN URGENT MATTER.

It is the belief of the BULLETIN that the proposition to officially establish the status of Hawaiian coffee is one of the most important matters, affecting the welfare of this country, which have ever been submitted to the public. It is a matter, too, in which time must not be lost for taking action. Another conversation had by the writer with Mr. Cockburn, of the Kona coffee region, gives material for further promoting the cause. It is the opinion of that gentleman that an effort should be made to bring the coffee growers together at Honolulu with the least possible delay. In his natural modesty he suggests that the initiative should be taken by a group of city residents interested in the industry. Country need not wait for city, nor city for country, however, but if Mr. Cockburn and one or two other coffee men from the growing localities, who are in town, would confer with some of the city fraternity, the ball might be set rolling at once. Probably the steamer people, who have no small interest in the development of coffee, would be willing to grant special rates of passage for a convention of coffee growers at the capital. Such a convention would have for its main purpose the consideration of a scheme, to be enacted at next session of the Legislature, of securing a regular grading of Hawaiian coffee, under government guarantee and safeguard against adulteration. It is becoming every day more apparent that the conditions of the industry now existing are stimulative of quantity irrespective of quality. To reverse this tendency should be the main object of the proposed convention. Let quality be the first consideration, and the result would be an immediate enhancement of prices. A firm and unflinching demand would, in short, be created for Hawaiian coffee at prices that, to a great extent, would be dictated by the producers themselves. With such a status as to quality established for our coffee, increase in quantity would follow as naturally as water finds its level until every available acre of coffee land would be in high cultivation. Unless time be taken by the forelock, however, influences that are now operating will destroy the opportunity. Without some system whereby the coffee industry can be placed upon its own feet, so that every producer on however small a scale shall receive the due reward of his enterprise, it is only a matter of time when servile laborers will be the only coffee planters, and the entire coffee interest be but a companion piece to country store-keeping—merely tributary to a few large mercantile establishments.

JUDGE PERRY FINES ATTORNEY DAVIS TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS.

Midnight Episode in the Circuit Court—The Offense in Remarks on Evidence.

When the jury trying A. L. Morris for importing opium retired to consider their verdict last night, Judge Perry called Geo. A. Davis, attorney for the defendant, to the bar and required him forthwith to show cause why he should not be committed for contempt of court.

Mr. Davis asked for a specification of the charge, what language he had held to the court which could be construed as contempt.

Judge Perry answered that it was not so much in actual words, but in their effect and, especially, in his bearing and conduct, that he had offended. If it were the first or the second time he might let it pass, but Mr. Davis had been a persistent offender, and the Court could not do less than fine him twenty five dollars.

E. P. Dole, Deputy Attorney General, had in the meantime interjected a plea for leniency, saying that Mr. Davis's faults were those of a generous and impulsive nature. He was interrupted by Mr. Davis once, saying he wanted nobody to plead mercy for him. If he was shown to be guilty he would take his punishment.

Mr. Davis, on hearing the sentence of the Court, asked if he would be allowed until next morning to pay the fine. Then rising he pulled out his pocket book and, producing a currency bill, said he would pay the fine now. He laid the bill on Clerk Thompson's desk, saying he paid the fine under protest and appealed to the Supreme Court. The Court had not noted the alleged contempt when it was committed, he said, and he had obeyed the Court when checked in his argument.

Judge Perry handed down a mittimus to the clerk, giving the offending attorney into the custody of the Marshal until the fine was paid. Marshal Brown was present as consulting counsel in the opium case. At this juncture Mr. Davis took back his money, saying he would rely on a writ of habeas corpus for bringing the matter before the Supreme Court. Judge Perry then retired to his room.

Mr. Davis afterward came out into the lobby, where the prosecuting counsel and newspaper men, with witnesses and spectators of the trial, were congregated. Addressing the BULLETIN representative in the hearing of all he said:

"I want to give you the circumstances of this affair, so that I may send papers with a true account of it home. One Xavier an informer gave evidence of a conversation he had with Morris a year or so before the alleged importation of opium. I objected that it was not evidence in this case, and would not be accepted as evidence in such a case in either America or England. For this Judge Perry has fined me $25."

Mr. Davis wondered what hard labor Mr. Low would put him at if he went to jail. The BULLETIN man ventured to offer the Government 50 cents a day for his services in writing editorials on annexation or jurisprudence, while the payer of the wages took a vacation trip to Hilo. Marshal Brown retreated before the approach of the aggrieved attorney through a window opening on the balcony.

Mr. Davis returned to the courtroom and drew up an affidavit of the contempt proceedings which he swore to before the clerk. This he asked leave to file in court when Judge Perry had discharged the jury on their disagreement about 11 o'clock. Mr. Davis cited the law of contempt, where it showed that the offense could be purged, for instance, by showing absence of intent or by apology. He would apologize to the Court, and now did so, for saying that evidence admitted by the Court was not evidence. As a matter of fact, he said that he had but expressed his belief that it was not evidence. He admitted that he should not HOUSEKEEPERS who are wise will not be persuaded into purchasing the unreliable baking powders which some dealers wish to sell for the sake of the additional profit derived therefrom. Crudely mixed from low-grade, impure ingredients, such powders cost but half as much to make as the highly refined, absolutely pure Royal Baking Powder, although retailed at the same price. They are unwholesome and lacking in leavening strength.

Royal Baking Powder gives the greatest value for its cost, and there is no other baking powder or preparation that will give such satisfaction, or make such pure, wholesome and delicious food, or which in practical use will be found so economical.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., NEW-YORK.

have put his opinion against that of the Court, but should have kept it within his own breast.

Mr. Dole again pleaded strongly with the Court, for a remission of the fine, asking it as a personal favor to himself. Mr. Davis was an honorable man, who said what he had to say in presence of the Court. He was a well equipped lawyer, a credit to the bar. His faults were admitted, but they were those of an impulsive and generous nature. The speaker was sure that this would be a useful warning to the offender.

Judge Perry was relentless, however, saying if it was for even the second or third offense he might remit the penalty, but Mr. Davis had offended the Court many times, and repeated apologies did not amount to anything. If it was a merely personal matter it might be passed over, but the dignity of the Court would have to be protected. The mittimus would have to stand.

Mr. Davis went forward still protesting and paid the fine.

This morning Mr. Davis sought another interview with the BULLETIN representative, when he repeated his protests against the treatment accorded him by Judge Perry. He considered that he showed much less disrespect to the Court than the Judge who had punished him had done himself in a recent case.

He referred to the matter of the so-called Portuguese riot, saying that Judge Perry had on the 19th of May found a true bill, on the indictment presented by the Attorney General against the defendants, yet the same Judge as a private citizen made affidavit on the 27th of May to the effect that the indiscriminate and reckless conduct of the police had caused the "so-called Portuguese riot," as he styled it in such affidavit. The Supreme Court refused to grant a new trial, Mr. Davis says, "on the affidavit of the Judge who exercised the function of a grand jury and passed upon the case."

M. M. WATSON DISCHARGED.

WILL STAY IN EGYPT.

Important Speech by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

London, Feb. 5.—Some important statements were made today in the House of Commons on the vote of $3,994,010 for the expenses of the recent Anglo Egyptian expedition up the Nile to Dongola. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, referred to the decision of the Egyptian mixed court of appeals in refusing to allow the funds of the Caisse of the Egyptian debt to be used to defray the expenses referred to, thus compelling Great Britain to advance the money required. The Chancellor of the Exchequer declared that the court of appeals had thus created an almost "absurd position," adding, "and next year, a great question will arise regarding the court's powers and authority and whether it should be allowed to thus interfere in affairs. The main cause of the prolonged British occupation is that France, especially, never allowed Great Britain a free hand in Egypt. In voluntarily retiring from that country, France thereby threw upon Great Britain the whole responsibility for the safety of Egypt, and Great Britain may fairly demand a free hand in performance of her responsibilities. The Government believe that their policy in Egypt is right and will not be forced out of it by hindrances and difficulties such as the refusal of money. The next advance will be to Abu Hamed and probably the advance, later, will go farther, but how far, it is impolitic to say."

Mr. John Morley, who was Chief Secretary for Ireland in Lord Rosebery's administration, commented upon the gravity of the statements made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, especially in regard to the action of France and Russia in the matter of the Caisse, "which," Mr. Morley declared, "is a direct and most imprudent challenge to those powers who questioned the sincerity of the British policy." "The Government has now avowed," continued Mr. Morley, "that the expedition was the first step in a prolonged, costly, and dangerous operation which it is nothing short of madness for the Government to gratuitously plunge into."

Sir Wm. Harcourt, the Liberal leader, described the references of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach to France and Russia, as "mischievous and dangerous." He added that the questions raised might involve not a half million, but millions if the Government embarked in them in the spirit of defiance and hostility to the great military powers of Europe.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Mr. George N. Curzon, parliamentary secretary for the Foreign office, protested against the "unwarranted interpretation" which Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt had placed upon the former's language. After further discussion Mr. Vessey Knox, member for London-derry City, moved to reduce the vote by the amount of Ireland's share. The motion was rejected.

Mr. John Dillon, M. P., anti-Parnellite, of East Mayo, opposed the vote. He said: "The real difficulties begin when we come face to face with the Abyssinians, led by Russian officers and armed with French arms." The vote was adopted by 169 to 57.

Citizens Attention.

These are days of considerable anxiety and perplexity to all who have possessions or other interests in the Republic of Hawaii, and it is time that our citizens came to a mutual understanding on several important issues. The prospects for Annexation appear at present vague and indistinct, and our destiny cannot be foretold with certainty. There are those, also, who still fondly cling to the hope of a return to the old order of things, and who cannot be persuaded otherwise, yet this outlook appears far more hazy than that of Annexation even to the most hopeful disciples of the Monarchy. But, fortunately, in the midst of all this uncertainty there is solace in the fact that Buffalo Beer has come to stay and that patrons of all sorts and opinions may equally share the benefits of its invigorating and sustaining properties. We are moreover assured that this favorite brew will continue to be dispensed as heretofore at the Royal, Pacific and Cosmopolitan Saloons.

HOW TO CURE SEASICKNESS.

This Unpleasant Feature of an Ocean Voyage Obliterated by Bromide.

The new American remedy is called "bromidization." This is a condition, not a theory. Bromidization must be begun several days before sailing, continued several days after, and sometimes through the voyage. In this case it defies both wind and weather.

Bromide of sodium is preferred for the purpose to bromide of potassium, because of the sodium being milder and more acceptable to the stomach. A reliable physician, who has used the bromides extensively in his practice for years, asserts that the quantity necessary to ward off an attack of seasickness is not in the least harmful.

Few adults will experience the slightest inconvenience from a 30 grain dose of the bromide of sodium three times a day.

The symptoms of bromidization, when taken in sufficient quantities to prevent seasickness, are a slight drowsiness and a heaviness of the limbs. The drowsy feeling quickly wears off when the mind becomes interested, and the languor of the limbs is merely a slight sensation of stiffness if the patient should rise abruptly from a sitting to a standing position. It is pleasant to know also that this bromidization does not interfere with the subject's relish for food.

Seasickness does not come primarily from the stomach. The nausea and vomiting are dependent upon a functional disturbance of the central nervous system, and upon this theory is based the use of the bromides. Any method that will serve to obtund the sensorium, render it anesthetic and unresponsive to slight molecular changes, is a rational method for preventing seasickness. If the bromide of sodium is taken regularly, in time and in proper proportions, in nearly every instance the voyager will be exempt from sickness, but the prospective voyager should by all means consult a physician as to the proportions to be taken in his or her individual case.

Had Been Born but Once.

The old minister was attracted by a bright little tot wearing his first pair of trousers the other day.

"How old are you, son?" he asked.

"It has been 3 1/2 years since I was born
 the first time."

"Have you been born more than once?"
 asked the minister.

"No, but I will have to be if I get to heaven."

The reverend gentleman thought the youngster was pretty well posted for one of his age and has added the incident to his stock of anecdotes.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Hint.

 you do.

"No. What do they say?"

"Woo!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

To My Patrons:

It gives me much pleasure to announce that MR. M. R. COUNTER, one of the most skilled watchmakers ever in these Islands, is now managing my repairing department. No watch is so complex in its mechanism but we can give perfect satisfaction in correcting the evils to which watches are heir. Watches are delicate things to handle. We guarantee that they will receive no injury at our hands and will leave our store in perfect repair.

NEWS OF THE DOCKS

THE S. S. CHITTAGOON MAY ARRIVE TOMORROW.

The Albert sailed today. The H. B. Hyde—Some Other Notes of Interest.

Captain Harry Evans captured the two deserters from the May Flint.

Sailors from H B M S Icarus were ashore for drill this forenoon.

The James Makee put sugar into the German ship Marie Hackfeld today.

With a cargo of Heeia product for the May Flint the "whistling Johnny" arrived.

Yesterday the schooner Honolulu moved to the Railroad wharf to begin loading sugar.

The I I S N Co's steamer Manua Loa is scheduled to leave tomorrow at 10 a m for Maui and Hawaii.

Tomorrow, high tide large 4:55 a m; high tide small 5:40 p m; low tide large 11:25 a m; low tide small 11:22 p m.

The steamer Hawaii is on the boards to depart at 12 m on Saturday for Honolulu, Hakalau and Pepeekeo.

The ship H B Hyde with a full sugar cargo is to start on her long voyage round Cape Horn to New York this afternoon.

Purser Christian of the James Makee says the last trip was the roughest he has experienced since he started going to sea.

The British ship Samantha is at Sorenson's wharf to discharge ballast. She will take sugar for New York after the May Flint.

On account of the accident to the captain, the bark Albert did not sail yesterday. She left at a quarter to twelve this forenoon.

The British bark Northbrook, which has been lying in port since Christmas eve, will sail on Monday for Puget Sound in ballast.

The S S Chittagong left Victoria the same day as the Warrimoo. She is expected to make an appearance tomorrow or Sunday.

PASSENGERS ARRIVED.

From Kauai, per stmr James Makee, Feb 18—Miss Luhan, A V Peters, and 2 deck passengers.

PASSENGERS DEPARTED.

For Sydney, per C A S S Warrimoo, Feb 17—J M Hill and three Chinese.

Information for Tourists.

A passenger by the last Colonial steamer was met on the dock by a Milesian American friend, who resides in Honolulu. As the pair waited to have the newcomer's gripsack scrawled over with chalk marks by the Customs Inspector at the gate the stranger remarked to his friend "Do you have much rain 'ere?" RAINIER me boy, gallons of it, just come up to the Anchor Saloon where they keep it always, clear and cool. We'll just be in time for lunch too and that's the only place in town where they serve it up in proper style with a glass of RAINIER BEER to equilibrate the solids—They went!

Island Butter.

There is butter and there is butter but there is no butter that arrives in Honolulu so sweet and fresh as the Mikilua and Wainane Butter. Its rapid transit by rail direct from the dairy to the Palama Grocery's large ice box so conveniently situated opposite the railway depot enables us to handle it to the best advantage. No wonder we are doing such a large butter business, when we are selling this fine butter at 35c. per lb. Palama Grocery, opposite Railway Depot, King street. Telephone 755.

SPANIARDS HIGHLY EXCITED.

The London cable item today has the following: "The Cuban resolutions in the United States Senate would be regarded here as a little more than a useful safety valve for the jingo sentiment did not the Madrid telegrams show the highly inflammable state of the Spanish populace. It suggests that they drink Rainier Beer and keep cool. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion."

BORN.

HOLLINGER—In this city, February 17, 1897, to the wife of Thomas Hollinger, a daughter.

He Was Right.

Mr. Cholly Fitzwater—What idiots these country people are! There's that whole family standing out there laughing at nothing.—New York World.

Possible Reason.

"The poet says," remarked the teacher, "that 'Freedom shrieked when Kosciusko fell.' Why should freedom shriek?" "Mebby Kosciusko owed him something," hazarded the tough looking boy at the foot of the class.—Chicago Tribune.

The Wrong Place.

Customer—I suppose in case we have a smash up on this bicycle, you can supply the damaged parts.
Dealer—No, madam. This is a cycle store, not a hospital.—Truth.

Strategy in the Household.

"How early do you clean house, Mrs. Perkins?"
"Well, I always try to get started before the neighbors begin to borrow my stoolpadder."—Chicago Record.

February 6, an engineer of long experience writes the Pacific Hardware Co., as follows: "I received your circulars concerning Vacuum Oil and as I have used them since, having the power of selecting my own oil, I can only echo the facts which they express."

HONEY-SUCKLE.

The grim old oak whose branches thin and hoary
Were stricken down in ruin long ago
The summer kisses into fragrant glory,
When crooning bees tell many a sweet love story,
And all the wealth of honeysuckles blow.

Round the bare branches, crack'd and gnarl'd and scamy,
A myriad trumpets for the elves unfold;
And far and near there floats a perfume dreamy
From clustering masses crimson, flush'd and creamy,
Soft as girls' blushes—deep as molten gold.

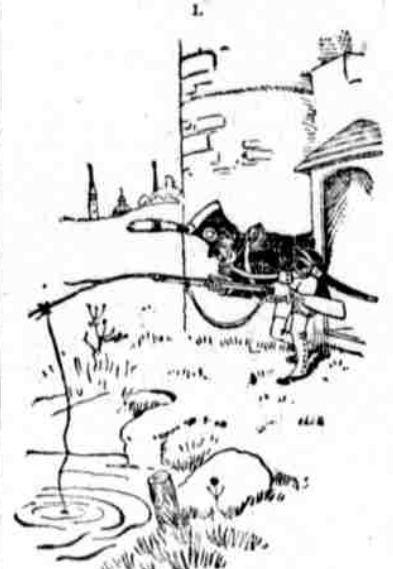

Like Hamadryad from the old trunk springing Forth to fresh youth amid the sweetness there,
Or blue-eyed wood nymph in wild cadence singing,
My little daughter eager spelt is bringing,
The honeysuckle falling on her hair.

Ah! when your summer comes to you, my treasure,
And as life's path grows wider to your feet,
Heaven send you gifts in no unstinted measure,
Your two hands full of works mix'd pain and pleasure,
And the soft flushes of love's rapture sweet.

But, more than all, the inner nature waking,
The hidden fragrance yielding to God's sun;
Where other hearts in chill despair are breaking,
And grief and ruin grim dark wrecks are making,
Of lives by gladness into beauty won.

I would not wish for you the narrow prison,
The trim kept borders of the orthodox;
But charity divine from love's own chrisom
Fall, red and golden, free from ligot schism,
Like honeysuckle garland on your locks.
—Womankind.
