PROBING FOR THE FACTS OF THE LANAI DEAL

The House Committee on Public Lands Begins an Investigation --- McCandless and Pratt on the Stand.

Representative William T. Rawlins, a member of the House Committee on Public Lands, last evening sprang a parody on General Grant's famous declaration, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" by stating as the committee of which he is a member began its investigation into the Lanai Land Exchange matter, "I propose to get to the bottom of this affair if it takes the whole session." And judging by the manner in which the committee went at its work he voiced the sentiment of each member of the lowing bills were ordered paid:

The House committee met at 7 o'clock last evening for the purpose of starting its investigation into the Lanai Land deal in accordance with a resolution passed by the House on last Thursday morning, giving it full power to $200; Kapiolani Park, $381; Police deact and instructing the committee to investigate the deal and report as early partment, $6000; Police and Fire Alarm as possible to the House. Present at last evening's meeting were Representatives Kaleiopu, Akau, Rawlins, Silva, Moanauli and Alawa of the committee, clerk of the committee, James H. Boyd, Stenographer Churton, L. L. Me-Candless, J. W. Pratt and Allan Herbert. Representative Nakaleka was unable bage department, $200: Fire depart-

The meeting was called to order in the Throne room by Chairman Kaleiopu at 7 o'clock. The chair then stated the purpose of the proposed investiga tion and said that during it all political factions were to be cast aside and all S. C. Dwight, Esq., Chairman Roads, were to work together for the best good of the people of the Territory. The resolution passed by the House was then read and the committee was ready

McCANDLESS TESTIFIES.

L. L. McCandless was asked to take the witness chair and tell what he knew of the matter. He was sworn by W. T. Rawlins who conducted the cross-examinations of the persons appearing before the committee as he is the only attorney on the committee.

Mr. McCandless told of all his dealings in connection with the Lanai deal. He told of the public meeting held first in the office of the chief executive and both thought it ought to be given to later of his applying for an injunction and getting one, only to have the Supreme Court of the Territory reverse the decision on him. He was now taking steps to have the matter taken to the Supreme Court in Washington. "And I will take it before that court," concluded Mr. McCandless, "if it is possible to get it there."

Representative Rawlins questioned Mr. McCandless very closely in connection with his relation to the affair and what motives prompted him to fight it. In reply to a question asking as to what objections he had in mind to the exchange, Mr. McCandless said:

"My statement at the Governor's office still holds good in that regard. I stated that I wished to see the best interests of the Territory promoted and I do not think that they are being forwarded by allowing one man to obtain control of an entire island. There are a number of natives on Lanai who love the land there and who would be obliged to leave there should Gay or any individual obtain control of the island and not agree with him. I think it is contrary to American principles.

"What if a man like Rockefeller should take a notion to buy Oahu and tell us to get off the beach? Wouldn't that be nice? It is the same thing to those people on Lanai. But I don't blame Gay for wanting the land. He is tions, viz .:

a rich man and like the others wants everything in sight.

"I believe in building up the population of the Territory. It is not a question of revenue from the lands owned by the Government. The Government, to waive all claims to betterment is not in the land business for money but for the best interests of the

As a concluding question Representative Rawlins asked, "Irrespective of any matter which this committee may bring to light will you proceed with your I am informed that the County Encase now pending in the courts as regards this matter?"

"I will," was the answer.

COMMISSIONER PRATT TESTIFIES.

Commissioner of Public Lands J. W. Pratt was the next man to be put upon the stand. He brought with him maps and many papers regarding Lanai which he had had prepared for the convenience of the committee. He paid his attention chiefly to a description of the lands owned by the different parties on Lanai and stated as his opinion that the Government would be much better off now that the exchange had actually taken place.

The commissioner spoke of the value of the Government lands to Gay and stated that Gay's holdings were not of a great value without the lands belonging to the Government, hence the good bargain he had been able to make which was all the more reason in his opinion why the deal should be consummated. The commissioner said: "I knew that we had Gay in a position to make him pay our price. No man could make the Government lands valuable without the holdings of Gay and those of Gay were of little use without the Government lands. Therefore I knew he would give a good price, which he did." The committee adjourned at 9:50 o'clock until this evening at 7.

The committee intends to visit the island of Lanai and see for themselves the character of the soil and other conditions. They state they are going to the bottom of the affair. They will also visit the property in this city ex-

The committee was materially assisted in its labors last evening by C. W. Spitz of Nawiliwili who was present and offered valuable suggestions by way of explanation of certain maps of the island.

Judd's mission to the Philippines, some months ago. In this crowd were twenty-six men, two women and two children. The officers of the vessel say the Filipinos smoked cigarettes and slept during the trip. Possibly the crowd was resting, in anticipation of entering upon a career of laborious toil after reaching Honolulu.

In addition to the Filipinos, the vessel brought 362 Japanese for this port, and two Chinese. Two cabin passer. gers also stopped at Honolulu. The ship had for San Francisco about twenty-one Japanese, who are en route to Mexico. As freight for Honolulu, the Nippon brought 437 tons. She also landed thirty-nine bags of mail, MAJORITY REPORT ADOPTED.

Senator Smith moved the adoption of the majority report. He made a strong argument in its favor, deploring the language used in the bill passed by Congress. He thought the wording of the bill reflected unjustly upon the character of the members and said there was no reason why it should have been stipulated that the members were to sacrifice their two hundred dollars for the extra session. He felt that it would be more dignified for the Legislature to follow the wishes of Congress in the matter in spite of the wording of the resolution than to show umbrage at the language used.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Feb. 25, 1907. Opinion No. 439. In re construction to for the year 1905.

Honorable W. H. Babbitt, Superintend. ent of Public Instruction, Honolulu,

Dear Sir: In response to your request for the opinion of this Department of date January 16, 1907, as to the con. struction to be placed upon Sections 209, 210 and 211 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii for the year 1905, we give you the following advice relative to the questions propounded by you: The law places the obligation on your Department to see that every private the "garden isle" villages wrote to school sought to be established within Superintendent Babbitt complaining. the Territory of Hawii makes aplica. tion for permission so to do as provided by Section 209. Your Department has no power to compel schools already established which have not complied with law in the matter of their obtaining permission so to do, to now obtain such a permit. The sections referred to cannot be enforced by Epsom salts, prescribed by Dr. Sandow. any penal prosecution. If capable of enforcement at all, injunction would be probably the only remedy that could be invoked. The powers in the sections named conferred upon the Department of Public Instruction are such as might very properly be exercised by it, and some of the powers therein contained come well within the police power of the Territory, for instance, the power to establish rules and regulations relative to sanitary conditions and the rule prescribing that teachers of private schools should be persons of good moral them with physic, without the consent character. vides that "all schools established and maintained by the Department in accordance with law, are public schools." It therefore follows that if the places where children meet for purposes of instruction in languages other than English, can properly be considered institutions of learning or places of primary instruction, then such place of meeting for such purpose would be a private school within the strict meaning of Section 206.

Your Department has no duties as to supervision over the instruction of such children at such hours except as provided by the sections hereinabove referred to. Even admitting, for the sake of argument, that the sections referred to are enforcible, we would call your attention to the language of Section 209, relative to the qualifications of persons seeking to teach private schools, to wit:

OMISSIONS OF THE MESSAGE.

It seems remarkable, in view of President Roosevelt's land policy for Hawaii, that the message of the Governor contained nothing of encouragement to the American small farmer, no suggestion about settlement associations of the Wahiawa type and a virtual hint that the work of the United States Agricultural Experiment Station receive no more financial aid from the Territory. Hitherto some pretence of acquiescence with the land views of the President, "development along traditional American lines," the creation of "a substantial middle class, etc.," has been kept up, but all this, it appears, has now been flung to the winds. For the moment "Hawaii as it was," appears to be the administrative slogan.

EW!

And yet no policy could be more dangerous to Hawaii, none less reasonable from the point of view of the greatest good to the greatest number than a policy of reaction. Sugar is in no danger; nobody here could undo that industry if he would or would undo it if he could. The proposition is that sugar, left alone in the field, can not begin to utilize the arable land of these islands; can not, in the nature of things Americanize the population or build up an American middle-class citizenship and that, unless other resources are developed, Hawaii will be ultimately called-to borrow an apt phrase from the County Beacon,-"merely an Asiatic community with a few opulent planters in charge." And if that time is reached, Congress will legislate accordingly and the planters will, when too late to get out of the way, feel the wheels of the political juggernaut running over them. For them no less than for the merchants, the traders, the professional men, the publishers and the mechanics and artisans, a "substantial middle class," Caucasian and American, is the one most needful stay and prop. Either the American must come or the American Mrs M M Hardey to Peter Johnmust go. Which is it to be?

The best thing that could happen to Hawaii would be to acquire an American administrative policy; one that would not insist that the life of the land is established in any one agricultural industry but that it resides in the production of every salable commodity which this soil and climate can produce and impels the recruitage of industrious settlers to till the land; one that will advertise in America for Americans as well as in Spain for Spaniards and in Portugal for Portuguese; one that will encourage, as did the statesmanlike administration of Governor Dole, the traditional American method of colonizing vacant tracts. If such an administration can be given four years of opportunity Hawaii will advance as neighboring western states are advancing and be subject to the same wide diffusion of prosperity.

PAUOA, THE BIENNIAL GRAFT.

There are signs of a well-organized conspiracy, if we may call it that, to sell the Pauca spring to the Territory at a price which would pay for three or four filtration plants. It is whispered by some of the indiscreet promoters of the scheme that the Legislature may be got to appropriate enough money to leave something handsome for the law-makers who will put the measure through. This is a story we do not accept at face value, but it is told and has raturally aroused the same detective vigilance which worked the undoing of Kumalae, Johnson and other unfortunate past representatives who allowed the tempter to get the better of them. No such deal could possibly be carried out and the prepetrators remain scathless; for once a legislature has adjourned it is the grand jury's turn and that of the detectives and of the men who turn state's evidence.

Suspicion is sure to attend any Pauoa spring scheme whatever, first, because the project was felonious in its earlier intent and has been unscrupulous in many of its later dealings, and, second, because the authorities have already provided for an adequate water supply and have it within their power, at much less cost than the purchase of the Panoa spring would involve, to obtain one of unexampled purity.

If it were the purpose to abandon the Nuuanu water project, there would be some excuse for looking up other sources of supply. But who thinks of doing that when so much money has been spent on the dam? And assuming that the dam will be completed, it means that Honolulu will have all the water it requires for fire and domestic purposes. Is the question one of purity? If so a filtration plant would cost but a tithe of what is asked for the Panoa spring. And filtration plants are so practicable that one may, as has been done in Glasgow, let sewage into one and take out water which is free from organic matter and as pleasant to the taste and as wholesome as artesian water itself.

For years the tourists who visit Hawaii have written of our "liquid sunshine," the showers that fall on sunny days, as if they were phenomenal. But the cause of them is very natural and simple. The high mountains just back of the city collect rainclouds and a stiff trade wind, passing through their precipitation, carries enough water along to sprinkle the town below. If the mountains were a few miles further away there would be no "liquid sunshine" in Honolulu though it would be still observable on the footnills.

The Japanese squadron has made an excellent showing here in discipline, in the quality of its ship-keep and in the conduct of its crews. The latter has been most exemplary. This town has seen the sailors of many nations and it knows the breed; but no men-of-warsmen ever landed here who, as a body, made a better impresson for sobriety, observance of law and courtesy and interest in things worth while than these Japanese. Coming in peace they will always be welcome to the freedom of the town.

If Hawaii is going to have a militia it should possess a good one and the encampment recently held shows that a high standard of drill, discipline and general good conduct has been reached.

Is this showing of large and continuous gifts by the lumber companies by way of inducing the Legislature to grant them annual subsidies as charitable

CARNATION CREAM

(Sterilized)

Our cows are healthy-wellfed-contented. They browse on the plentiful pasturage of the Pacific coast.

Their milk is immediately cooled, the excess water removed, and the unadulterated residue sterilized and sealed in air-tight cans. You get only what you pay for in Carnation Cream, pure evaporated milk and cream.

You can make ice-creams, elaborate or simple, with Carnation Cream, that will have a delightfully grateful taste on a summer's day.

One of the most charming functions that has called out the younger members of the smart set in pre lenten festivities was the reception and ball given last night by Miss Helena Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin, to the members of the Gaiety Club. The smart affair took place at the palatial Irwin home at Washington and Laguna streets.

Miss Irwin and her parents but recently returned from an extended European trip. Since their homecoming they have been extensively entertained by the members of the smart set. Last night they threw open their hospitable doors and the occasion was hailed with delight.

The affair took place in the spacious hallroom of the Irwin home on the first floor. In striking contrast to the appearance of the chamber on previous occasions, no decorations were used. A concealed orchestra in one corner charmed the merrymakers with its tuneful strains.

Miss Irwin had been planning the function for several weeks, and the entire credit for its success is attributed directly to her. She waited till practically the eve of Lent before extending her hospitality to her guests, and as the affair will be practically the last one of importance for many weeks it was all the more enjoyable.

Miss Irwin was the center of attraction and she proved a chaming hostess. At the reception which preceded the ball, she stood at one end (Young People), and Bishop Cranston of the spacious room and welcomed her guests.

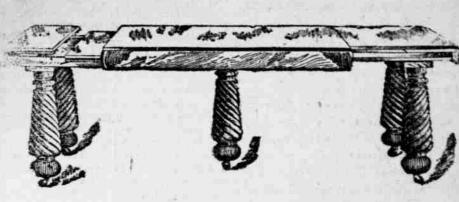

While Miss Irwin was entertaining her guests in the ballroom, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin acted as host and hostess at a delightful bridge party in the reception hall upstairs. This lasted until a late hour and a number of prizes were distributed. A light supper was served at its conclusion. - Examiner.

The association membership is very cair, no opium, no harmful low for a town of this size, and with drugs of any nature. It has good work on the part of the committee the mark of one hundred should be more than passed. The association is well equipped for physical, social, educational and religious work, and most men can find something here to interest them. Many will join for the tennis courts, which are in fine condition, with no extra fee for their use, as some have thought. Over at the High School they are doing some pretty hard practising in both baseball and basketball. Prof. Blanchard, a Harvard man and a recent ac quisition to the teaching force of the 1.11 inches, which was 1.92 less than High, is taking the leadership of the athletic side and the pays have picked up wonderfully.

Just who will make the team, accord. ing to Mr. Blanchard, has not been decided. It is thought likely that Mu Pasuilo, and Laupahoehoe, Hawaii, on ing the preceding week. TO STAND AT ATTENTION.

Secretary Atkinson is in receipt of the following order from the Secretary of War bearing upon the attitude of members of the U.S. Army when the national anthem is played on formal occasions. This does not mean that when the band plays at a concert or at the hotel that the men must come ings of each month, at 7 o'clock, at K. to attention nor does it apply to civi-

> "Whenever 'The Star' Spangled Banner' is played by the band on a formal occasion at a military station, or at any place where persons belonging to the military service are present in their official capacity, all officers and enlisted men present stand at attention, and if not in ranks render the prescribed salute, the position of the salute being retained until the last note of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' The same respect is observed toward the national air of any other country when it is played as a compliment to official representatives of such country. Whencept such repetition as is called for by the musical score."
