TO GIRDLE THE EARTH ANEW.

Cable from Vancouver to Australia Across Fanning Island.

STRETCH OF THOUSANDS OF MILES.

England's Object in Trying to Get Possession of the Hawaiian Group Made Plain.—Importance of Hawaii as a Station.—Enemies of the Cable.

THE HYDRO-graphic office of the navy is keeping an eye just now upon the project entertained by the British government for laying a submarine cable from Victoria, B. C. to Australia. To this end a series of carefully-planned steps have been taken by England recently. Last winter she tried her best to acquire control of Necker Island, which she wanted for a mid-ocean cable station. This bit of land is nothing but a barren rock, incapable of supporting life, situated to the northwest of the Hawaiian group, to which it belongs, though it is not properly a member of that little archipelago. But the Hawaiian republic would not give it up, owing to a treaty with the United States by which it has guaranteed not to cede any part of its possessions to a foreign power. Accordingly, Fanning Island, 1200 miles south of Honolulu, has been selected instead. Thither the cable is to go direct from Victoria.

During the last half dozen years England has been quietly taking possession of group after group of islands in the South Pacific, with the intention of utilizing the most suitable bits of land for telegraph stations on the great trans-oceanic route. The gobbling process has been carried on unobtrusively, but systematically. Protectorates were established wherever it was not practicable to assume ownership. In 1888 the British flag was raised on Kingman, Palmyra, Washington, Fanning, Christmas, Dudos, Rioson and Penrhyn Islands. In the same year her majesty, the queen, took under her protection Ellis Island, the Phoenix, Union and Gilbert groups. She already had a protectorate over the Fiji Islands. In 1889 she took Suvaroff Island, and in 1891 Johnston Island, which is about 500 miles west of the south end of the Hawaiian archipelago. In 1892 Gardner and Danger Islands were appropriated. All of these islands and groups have been examined with a view to determining their availability for the purpose mentioned.

The distances to be traversed by the proposed cable are enormous. As the crow flies it is 3860 miles from Victoria to Fanning Island. From Fanning Island to Fiji it is 1967 miles, and from the latter point to Auckland is 1345 miles. From Auckland to Sydney, in New South Wales, a cable is already laid. This is the route contemplated, the total distance to be covered being about 7200 statute miles. Careful estimates recently made by the hydrographic office in this city show that the cost of laying a trans-Pacific cable would be just about $1,000,000, including everything. This would bring the total expense of putting down the line from Victoria to Auckland, exclusive of preliminary surveys, up to $7,200,000. The cost is somewhat increased by the fact that the cable itself has to be carried all the way from England. No submarine cables are manufactured on this continent. Most of those now employed were made in England, where the business was originally initiated. Four firms in that country devote their attention exclusively to that industry; there are two similar concerns in France and one in Italy.

To Girdle the Earth.

Victoria, which is at the south end of Vancouver Island, is already connected by cable with Vancouver town across the straits on the mainland. Vancouver town is the terminus of the Canadian Pacific railroad. Thus the proposed line will convey messages direct from Europe to Australia, and the London merchant will be able to send telegrams beneath two oceans to Sydney. From Sydney the same telegrams could be forwarded back to London by way of India and the continent of Europe. Thus it will be practicable actually, when this project is accomplished, to transmit an electric spark entirely around the world. By throwing open all circuits along the wires the spark could be made to girdle the earth completely in a fraction of a second.

When the earliest cables were laid regard was had only for the contour of the bottom over which the telegraphic rope was to pass. But nowadays many other things are considered in deciding upon a route. First and foremost is the nature of the bottom. Landing places are chosen at points where the insulated wire may run as quickly as possible into deep water, so as to avoid the destructive iodine of the shallows. In the latter also are accumulations of decaying animal and vegetable matter, which produce injurious acids. As has been said already, the conditions for cable laying are admirable in all probability throughout the entire distance of 8890 miles from Victoria to Fanning Island. Such obstacles as drowned mountains, which occur in all oceans are easily avoided. One such was discovered recently, incidentally to the exploration of the submarine lane from California to the Hawaiian Islands, 750 miles to the westward of Monterey bay. Though it is a mighty volcanic peak two and a half miles high, its existence had not been suspected previously, because half a mile of water flows above it.

Less is known of the paving and contour of the ocean floor for the rest of the proposed route, from Fanning Island to Auckland, which is a distance about equal to that from New York to Liverpool—namely, 3315 statute miles as the crow flies. The normal level of the bottom of the Pacific is a little less than three miles, though there are deeper areas, and here and there a yawning chasm, as off the east coast of Japan, where a submarine valley occurs six and a half miles in breadth. To the southward, however, over the greater part of the watery region extending from Fanning Island to Auckland the ocean is somewhat more shallow, though occasionally depths exceeding three miles occur between the numerous groups of islands. These groups mark great shoals, which probably are of volcanic origin, the islands themselves being prominences high enough to appear above the surface. Coral polyps, which can live only in shallows, have utilized every available shoal place for their building operations, uplifting out of the sea reefs which in many cases have formed islands of considerable area. Such islands are apt to be of an oval or approximately circular shape, a ring of reef inclosing a sort of harbor.

Enemies of the Cable.

Already there is communication overland and under seas all the way from Victoria, B. C., to Auckland. The connection of Auckland with Victoria will make the circuit of the globe complete. That portion of the route which lies between Victoria and Fanning Island is supposed to be particularly suitable for the laying a cable. The bottom is presumably of the same character as that found all along the lane, 300 miles wide, from California to the Hawaiian Islands, which was recently surveyed under the direction of the Hydrographic Office of the United States navy. It is probably, therefore, a fine ooze, composed chiefly of mud and of shells of almost microscopic animals, called foraminifera. In depths not greatly exceeding a mile the characteristic shells are apt to be those of small mollusks known to the naturalists as pteropods. These pteropods and foraminifera live near the surface of the ocean, and the ooze is formed by the continual rain of their shells, which fall from above.

An ocean cable has enemies, animal, vegetable and mineral. In shoal waters and sometimes in great depths where the presence of volcanic material betrays recent subterranean disturbances, sulphuric and other chemical compounds which attack the telegraphic rope. The line between Havana and Key West has been renewed by the Western Union Company six times within the last twenty years on account of such destructive agencies. Off the coast of Cuba, in very deep water, are wells of pitch. This substance seems to ooze out through the crust of the earth from deposits beneath the sea bottom which correspond in character to the lakes of pitch that are found on the island of Trinidad and elsewhere.

The vegetable enemies of the cable are seaweeds, which contain iodine. The latter substance, which eats iron, is found in the shallow coastal waters where these plants grow. Sharks sometimes bite cables and swordfish have been known to injure them. There is a case on record of a whale that became entangled in a light of cable which hung like a festoon between two elevations on the sea bottom. The result was a break, and experts sent out on a ship to mend it hauled the great animal to the surface, quite dead of course. Such accidents are avoided when all parts of the cable lie in actual contact with the ocean floor. Furthermore, when the telegraphic rope is suspended across a submarine chasm or valley, it ways to and fro and is apt to saw itself in two on a sharp rock. Recently it has been ascertained that by establishing a due relation between the steaming speed and the strain on the cable, a vessel may lay down such a line that it will follow evenly every curve and contour of the bottom.

Other animal foes of the cable are mollusks—notably the well-known teredo or "shipworm." It eats the hempen coverings of telegraphic ropes. In its destructive work it is assisted by a very minute crustacean called the "limoria." This latter creature has powerful jaws and uses them for boring innumerable holes in the gutta percha coat of the cable.

Character of Fanning Island.

Islands of this kind are called "atolls." Their harbors frequently afford refuge to mariners voyaging in the south seas. One of these is big enough to accommodate all the navies of the world. Disintegration of the surface coral by the elements makes the beginning of a soil. The seeds are brought by birds and by ocean currents, and presently the rudiments of vegetation appear. Eventually, perhaps, a few natives from other islands settle upon the new atoll and eke out a scanty subsistence by fishing and by cultivating the taro and a few other plants. The soil is capable of yielding so little naturally that it is helped out by digging holes in the coral and throwing into them everything in the way of animal and vegetable refuse that can be gathered together. This stuff, mixed with disintegrated coral, furnishes material for primitive garden patches.

Fanning Island is such an atoll. It was discovered in 1798 by an American ship, the Betsy. It is ten miles long, four miles wide, and of an oval shape, inclosing a harbor which could be made very useful by clearing away coral heads that have grown up here and there inside the encompassing reef. The latter is half a mile wide, and in no part is more than two or three feet above the surface of the ocean, except on the north and east sides, where a ridge of ten feet high serves as a breakwater. Land crabs are enormously abundant. The human population consists of a white man named Greig, his wife, his four children, and sixteen Polynesian natives. Guano workings were formerly conducted on the island, but have been abandoned. There are pearl oysters in the bay, but nobody dives for them. Many years ago there was a factory for making coconut oil. The atoll is covered thickly with coconut trees, so as to be visible at a distance of fifteen miles at sea. On March 15, 1888, Capt. Sir W. Wiseman of H. M. S. Caroline took formal possession of Fanning Island in the name of the queen.

Naturally, much interest attaches to this island, on which is to be established a mid-ocean telegraph station. Necker Island, which was desired by the British for the purpose, was discovered by La Perouse, November 1, 1791. It is a barren rock, three-quarters of a mile long and 340 yards broad, having at the ends two peaks, about 275 feet high. It is situated nearly on the Tropic of Cancer, in 23 degrees and 35 minutes north latitude. Not a tree grows on it, but vegetation is abundant near the heights, on which much guano is found. The shores are as steep as walls, and the sea beats against them with fury. Necker Island was surveyed in 1860 by Lieut. Brooke, U. S. N. He was at that time a midshipman, but was destined to achieve celebrity as a submarine surveyor. He invented the first practicable device for making deep-sea soundings, and this was employed with success at the time of the laying of the first cable across the Atlantic.

Hawaii a Central Point.

Steps were taken some time ago toward the formation of a company for the purpose of laying a cable from California to China by way of Honolulu. The idea is that the wire shall go to Yokohama, Japan, thence to Nagasaki by land, and from Nagasaki under water 800 miles to Hongkong. It is estimated that the whole plant would cost $10,000,000. A telegram from Hongkong to New York has now to travel by way of Europe 13,000 miles under water and 700 miles over

Ball of Hawaiian Lodge Social Event of the Year.

THE MASONS AS CORDIAL HOSTS.

Novel and Elaborate Decorations—Leaders of Society Danced and Made Merry—Banquet Served by Caterer

INDEPENDENCE
Park was the scene of the society event of the year last evening, and the members of Hawaiian Lodge No. 21, F. &
A. M., has well earned the name of having given one of the most brilliant and elaborate social gatherings ever held in this city.

Expense was a matter not taken into account, and success in every detail was passed by the large assembly of the leading society people of the city.

The decorations were in good taste, and were more elaborate than have been seen before at Independence Park. On either side of the entrance were lines of Chinese lanterns, while within the dance hall the profusion of flags, palms, ferns and flowers and colored lights, virtually destroying the identity of the hall as seen on previous occasions. Over the entrance were draped large British and American flags. From the ceiling were suspended flags of every nation and description, while about the sides of the building small flags were draped caught up here and there with sprigs of green. The Hawaiian and American flags occupied a prominent position above the stand for the musicians and the front was banked with potted palms, ferns and palm fronds. Six extra electric chandeliers were suspended central line of the ceiling and from these rich festoons of malle draped to the pillars of the hall.

One of the most attractive features of the decorations were the special designs at either end of the hall. At the Ewa end the figures 21 in white lights within a horseshoe of blue incandescents, typical of the blue lodge, shone resplendent from the blue and white background of the union jack.
Over the entrance to the dressing room blue lights marked the outlines of the triangle and square within which a large G in white lights completed this emblem of masonry. On either side were large bunches of cut flowers against a background of plain fronds and above all were the folds of large American and Hawaiian flags.

In the banquet hall the taste and labor of caterer Krouse were displayed with good effect. Opposite the entrance a large electrical horseshoe added to the brilliancy of the scene, and flags, palms and bunches of sumang blossoms adorned the walls of the hall. The tables were decorated with cut flowers.

The menu was an excellent one and was served with complete satisfaction to the three hundred people who enjoyed the festivities of the evening.

Dancing began promptly at 8:30, at which time the hall was crowded with the members of the lodge and their many friends among the society circles of the city. The program of dances was printed in blue and white on a special design representing the triangle and square of the Masonic emblem. The "festive goat" occupied a position on the back of the programs. Excellent music for the dancing was furnished by the Quintette Club, and not till 2 o'clock this morning did the strains of the last waltz mark the close of the happy occasion.

Among those present were President

Howard Hitchcock Rusticating.

D. Howard Hitchcock writes as follows to a friend regarding his recent whereabouts: "I have been rusticating most of the time in the Olaa woods, where there is a jolly and very comfortable little bungal-ow eight miles this side of the volcano. I expect to remain in the same place for a short time, after which I shall go to work with my color box and palette."

In the Police court yesterday, T.
Nakayama was fined $1 and costs for shaving a customer after 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Kakaio was given four months imprisonment at hard labor for larceny.
For violating passport laws, Foo
Chow was fined $100 and costs.

There was a drunken row at Ka-kaio Saturday night between representatives from several nationalities. Nobody hurt.

Commissioner's Sale of Real Property.

BY VIRTUE OF AN ORDER MADE
by the Hon. H. E. Cooper, Circuit Judge, filed in the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, in the matter of the equity suit between Elizabeth K. Nahaolelua and husband, plainiffs, and Kaahua (w.)
and others, defendants, the undersigned, duly empowered so to do, will offer for sale at Public Auction on FRIDAY, July 5, 1895, at 12:15 p. m., at the front entrance of the Judiciary Building, all that land situate at Kamaunui, Honolulu, maka of Smith's Bridge and on the Waikiki side of the river, the same being APANA 4 OF ROYAL PATENT NO. 1985, containing one acre and 704-1000 of an acre (less 8224 square feet of the same sold to S. K. Kahala).

This property being centrally located in the heart of the town, offers special inducements to capitalists desiring to invest.

In the event of a good road running through the land the property will be enhanced in value, as there are now several vacant lots on the land.

The lot of land known as the Chinese Joss House, now occupied by Lai ray (Ch) as described in deed from Kaahua to Lai ray, of record in Liber 94, page 220, will be sold separately, and the remainder of the apana will be put up as one lot.

This sale to include all the improvements now upon said Apana 4, and the same to be subject to confirmation by the Court.

Terms are cash and deeds to be at the expense of the purchasers.

For plan of the land and other particulars enquire of the undersigned at his office in the Judiciary Building.

RARE COLONIAL RELICS.

Many of Them Will Be on View at Atlanta's Great Exposition.

The colonial committee of the woman's exhibit at the coming Cotton States and International exposition is hard at work interesting the women of the country in its proposed display. The Colonial Dames and Daughters of the American Revolution are heartily co-operating, and when the exposition opens many rare and valuable relics of colonial days will be on view in Atlanta. As the exhibits will be placed in a fire proof building many precious heirlooms will be sent to Atlanta that were not on view in Chicago. Every state that has a colonial history worth recognizing will be represented, and many will be honored by special state day celebrations. On North Carolina day, Nov. 7, for example, the anniversary of the battle of King's Mountain will be commemorated, and Virginia day, the greatest state day of all, Oct. 19, will be the anniversary of the capture of Cornwallis.

All Colonial Dames and Daughters of the American Revolution have been invited to visit the exposition on Virginia day, and hundreds of them from all over the United States will be on hand. A feature of the occasion will be the grandest ball or reception that hospitable Atlanta is able to arrange for.

In speaking of the interesting exhibits the committee expects to secure, the chairman, Mrs. W. L. Peel, says:

"The organization of the various patriotic societies has done much to aid us. Owners of beautiful historic things now realize that in so far as looking at and venerating and admiring them they are to a certain extent the property of all. This spirit has enabled us to do with ease what would have hitherto been deemed impossible. We will demonstrate the entire history of colonial Virginia from the pipe of peace smoked by Powhatan and Captain John Smith, loaned by the Cabell family, to the last act which rendered Virginia free, when the proudest nation on earth bent the knee on Virginia soil to a grand Virginian. We have relics of Patrick Henry, never before loaned, and from North Carolina will come some lovely Ashe relics, and a beautiful portrait of the lost Theodosia Burr, said to be the only one in existence. Georgia, South Carolina, Kentucky and other states will be well represented, and from Louisiana will come many dishes and vessels of beaten gold or silver, rare old portraits and gorgeous costumes left by the old Spanish grandes and French marquises."

A THOUSAND TINY TOMBS.

San Francisco's Columbarium for the Ashes of the Cremated Dead.

That cremation is constantly growing in favor in the United States is emphatically demonstrated by the recent completion, near San Francisco, of a substantial structure that it is expected will one day hold all that is mortal of 1,000 people. The building is called a columbarium and has 1,000 tiny rooms, which are destined to hold urns containing the ashes of persons who have been incinerated. The little rooms or pigeon-holes have placards on the outside, which will bear the name of the deceased and other facts for identification. The urns in which the ashes are sealed are artistic vessels of pottery or metal and may be removed from the niches in which they are deposited. The tiers of niches for the reception of the urns are reached by means of a bronze staircase.

The columbarium, the only one of the kind in America, is the property of the San Francisco Cremation society and is a fireproof structure of Romanesque design. It is 45 feet high and 28 feet square, and the walls are built of granite a foot thick and are reinforced by an inner brick wall two feet thick. The dome-like roof is a frame of iron, covered with terra cotta. In the crown of the dome is a skylight, through which the midday sun throws a flood of radiance. There are no windows, and the only light falls from above. The floor is laid in mosaic, with a large bed of flowers in the center. The arch shaped entrance to the columbarium is guarded by an artistic but very substantial metal door, and watchmen will be constantly on guard about the building to prevent ghouls from breaking in and carrying away the urns.

The building is so planned that wings may be added at any time, but it is believed that many years will pass before the 1,000 tiny rooms in the columbarium will be filled.

Did you ever hear of anything so cheap? Never did, and never will.

But what's that got to do with my business?

Simply this:—We want you to understand that when we sell you an article, there's just about as much in it for us, as when a grocer sells you sugar at his proverbial close price.

In spite of the fact that YOU MAY THINK we are high, we sell our goods at closer figures than any house we know of.

Did you ever stop to consider how much more our goods cost us landed here, then they do where produced; and with all that, do you think you could buy one of our solid copper chafing dishes cheaper than $6.50 (our price) even in New York, or one of our $4.50 tea kettles and stands for less than that, even on the third floor of the factory where built. THESE ARE NOT BAITS EITHER, but honest goods at honest prices, as is every article in the store, from the two-bit silver pin to the $200 article.

DON'T THINK that because some one offers you a few trinkets at less than cost, that he is selling everything else in the store at the same rate. Don't your intelligence convince you that he is going to make that loss up on the very next article he sells you.

ANYBODY BUT CASTLE—BECAUSE!

Truth, like murder is bound to come to the surface sooner or later and the old adage is as true in politics as it is in private life. After all its vain babblings in crying down the appointment of W. R. Castle, after an utter failure to produce a sensible reason why the name of Mr. Castle should be rejected, our esteemed contemporary casting about for something to support its position bounds from pillar to post and finally lands on the foundation, "Anybody but Castle." The wheel of words finally revolves to the starting point, "We don't like Castle any more, therefore let us have anybody but Castle." It is unfortunate that our esteemed contemporary does not like Mr. Castle, it is a misfortune to have even the ill-will of a dog, but our esteemed contemporary ought to have been in the business long enough to realize that good government and the welfare of a nation are not based on personal likes and dislikes.

Of course, it will be claimed that "Anybody but Castle" does not mean "Anything personal." Possibly it is a choice bit of brevity which carries high purpose and depth of reason, but it is a method of concise argument in which the people must be more thoroughly schooled before the person using it as a weapon can be seen as he sees himself.

Mr. Castle's opponents have obtained a stay in proceedings that the Senate might more thoroughly investigate the position of these friendly enemies. And what has been the result? The investigating committee finds that the native population almost to a man is unreservedly in favor of Mr. Castle. They believe that he will represent their interests at Washington, as well as those of every citizen of Hawaii. It is also found that some people don't want Mr. Castle to go to Washington. Why? "Oh, because. Anybody but Castle." "Because" was once known as a woman reason, but the modern woman objects to having it laid at her door. Yet we are told it applies in this case.

We cannot believe that the highest legislative body in this country will call on the President for another appointment, that Mr. Castle will withdraw, or that the Executive will look about for "anybody but Castle," until some argument is presented other than that weighty conclusion—because.

A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

Hawaii is proud of its schools and well it might be—in a qualified sense. The school system is good, the teachers are conscientious and the results are excellent considering the conditions under which some of the scholars and teachers labor but what of the school buildings? Good as a rule, good as could be expected in the outlying districts but the city of Honolulu is sadly deficient. Its representative school building is an old, much worn wooden structure on Fort street. This institution of learning serves the purpose simply because there is nothing better, but it is a pertinent question how long the city can afford to continue to point to this building as its representative school building.

The Board of Education has undertaken to impress upon the people the necessity of replacing this building with a modern structure, and it has the support of every friend of education in its labors. Few if any cities representing the population and wealth of Honolulu would be satisfied to allow its high school scholars to suffer the disadvantages which must be experienced by the children of Honolulu. It is not a matter of sentiment by any means. Provided scholars are of equal intelligence, school books well selected and course of study mapped out with equal care, teachers and scholars housed in old-fashioned, crowded rooms cannot do justice to themselves or render the results expected of them by the advance in the educational methods of today.

School buildings, and especially that of the highest grade of the city, ought to be representative structures, well lighted, well ventilated and arranged generally upon modern ideas. The country is putting the brains of its teachers and scholars against heavy odds when it withholds the co-operation of capital in providing proper accommodations. The Board of Education ought not to be obliged to argue the question much longer. Public money used in school buildings is capital well invested, on which the interest is compounded daily for an indefinite term of years.

MR. CASTLE'S lack of convivial spirit has been mentioned as one of the reasons why he should not be sent to Washington. We must admit that Mr. Castle is not an adept at drinking whisky or playing poker. If he were, certainly this country would have no use for him at Washington. When the welfare of this Republic depends upon the engaging manner in which its representative says, "Boys, let's have another round" or his ability to down Senators and Representatives in a game of poker, the best thing the country can do is to establish a national school of Bar-room Etiquette and Poker Principles.

Timely Topics

June 22, 1895.

Some fifty thousand shoe operatives are idle in England, in consequence of a lockout brought on by disputes with their employers. The development of the trouble between employers and workmen forms a chapter in the history of the irresistible home, subject to all the ills of the sweating system. The United States with its extraordinary development of machinery, has long since been ready to enter into international competition with England in this profitable trade, and American manufacturers has easily seized upon the opportunity to introduce their wares into regions heretofore monopolized by the British. Meanwhile employers and employed throw the blame of the dispute on each others shoulders, while outsiders deplore that neither party seems to be able to fully recognize the force of circumstances. Meanwhile during the disorganization caused by the present lockout, an admirable opportunity is offered for the American manufacturer to enter Colonial markets.

This is the age of improvement and invention. At no time in the history of a nation has there been such rapid strides made in the number and class of inventions as has been made in the last few years, and the wonder of the Nineteenth Century is the Monarch Bicycle.

Healthy out door exercise creates a love for the beautiful in nature, a love for the beautiful develops lovable men and women. Lovable men and women make happy homes; happy homes create a wealthy nation; a wealthy nation composed of the happy homes of lovable men and women is greater than any monarchy, for every citizen is a monarch and should ride a Monarch wheel. Among high grade bicycles the Monarch is Monarch. The frame is the most important part of a bicycle. In riding the greatest strain is on the frame and to withstand the strain the frame must be exceedingly strong and rigid. The frame of the Monarch is made of the best quality of specially drawn Mannesmann Steel Tubing, and is put together with such appliances that it is perfectly true and accurate. Brazing is one of the most important operations and has to be done very delicately by expert workmen. So successful is this process, that in all the years the Monarch has been on the market there has never yet been a break on a Monarch Bicycle at a brazing from any cause.

There are no castings used in any part of the construction of the Monarch Bicycle. Nothing but steel drop forgings and selected sheet steel stampings. As regards tires we give you your choice of six makes, namely: Morgan & Wright, New York, Hartford Single Tube, Gormully & Jeffery, Dunlop & Palmer, any one of these will be fitted without extra charge to the purchaser.

All we ask is that you give the Monarch a chance and it will establish itself.

GIRLS' SUMMER FROCKS.

Little Change in Children's Styles—Materials and Trimmings For Older Girls.

Provident mothers are now planning the cotton frocks for their little girls. There appears but little change in children's styles for summer. White guimpes of feather stitched or tucked nainsook are made separate and worn by girls from 1 to 10 years of age. The leg of mutton sleeve, round "baby" waist, cut with a low round neck, are worn with a full gathered skirt having a 3 inch hem. For a child of 2 years three breadths of 32 inch gingham is not too full, while one of 8 years will have five breadths if well grown. Checked, striped and plaid ginghams are worn by little ones. Among the gingham many designs especially for children are shown. Little girls also wear small figured batistes, organdies, swivel silks, all kinds of white goods, ducks, grasscloth and percales.

It is not advised going the fronts of their full skirts, as they must be washed often, and bias seams will be pulled askew. For the same reason it is more serviceable to cut plaid goods straight in place of making them up on the bias. Use small pearl buttons for the fastening and button all frocks in the back. The neck is universally finished with a narrow band of embroidery. When a guimpe is not worn, the high necked waist may be in three box plaits back and front, close fitting, or have an outside jacket attachment like a little zouave, which will be edged with embroidery. A circular ruffle of the goods edged with insertion is always a pretty trimming. Another pretty style has deep epaulets of the goods over the shoulders, finishing in a point back and front, with lace insertion sewed on the outer edge. The dressy cotton frocks are trimmed with satin ribbon bows on the shoulders, side of the waist, etc. In colors little ones follow the "grown ups" closely.

The materials written of for ladies may be duplicated for misses; ditto the trimmings. What one wears so does the other, and in styles the miss of 14 to 17 years is both child and woman. Yokes of lace guimpe in points, stripes of insertion down waists, yokes of embroidery, ribbon belts and bows, bretelles and shoulder knots are some of the decorations seen. Swivel silks are neat for best summer dresses trimmed with a lace yoke, belt and bretelles or suspenders of satin ribbon. Misses will also wear shirt waists with dark woolen skirts. These waists are very plain, with gathers at neck and waist line or box plaits back and front, turnover collar and skirt or mutton leg sleeves.

Eton suits of duck worn with a cotton waist will be stylish. These suits do not need a bit of trimming except pearl buttons of a large size up each side of the front. Wash silk blouses are also worn and may be ranked among the wash goods, though kept with the silks. The most girlish of these are made like a yoke back shirt waist. A writer in The Ladies' Home Journal and authority for the foregoing very wisely concludes that less trimming and more changes would be a good motto to adopt for summer wash dresses.

Pin cushion and Needlebook.

The newest thing in pin cushions, according to The Housewife, is produced by making four silk or satin bags, using ribbon 2½ or 3 inches wide. Fill each bag with wool wadding sprinkled with a favorite sachet powder, join the bags in the shape of a Maltese cross and tie with a huge fringed bow. Any color ribbon can be used, pale blue satin making a very dainty one.

The authority quoted also tells that an attractive needlebook is made for the work bag or basket by cutting four heart shaped pieces of cardboard; cover with white linen and embroider with clover blossoms and leaves. The two portions for needles are provided with straps in which to place the packages and are arranged to fold in half by being buttonholed in sections down their center. The other two hold scissors and flannel respectively. The four hearts are joined at the bottom and are fastened together by means of buttons and loops, concealed by pink ribbon bows.

How to Make Sago Cream.

Soak half a cupful of pearl sago in cold water for two hours. Drain off the superfluous water, if any. Mix with 2 quarts of rich, creamy milk, the yolks of 6 eggs and sugar to taste. Set the pan containing the mixture over a kettle of hot water and stir frequently until the sago is clear and the mixture has thickened. Then stir in the whites, which have previously been beaten very light. Flavor to taste and set in the oven until of a golden brown.

A New Tea Jacket.

A decided novelty in way of tea jacket is furnished in a combination of nun's veiling and openwork embroidery. The jacket is made of the nun's veiling in light pink or blue color and trimmed with the openwork embroidery. Through the perforated trimming is visible the silk lining, which in color harmonizes with the ribbon at the throat and waist. The close fitting back has fullness imparted to its basque with platings. The fronts are left loose.

Consumption and its Cure

To the Editor:—I have an absolute remedy for Consumption and all Throat and Lung troubles. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been already permanently cured. Have Consumption or any Lung Trouble? I consider it my duty to send two bottles free to those of your readers who have Consumption or any Lung Trouble. If they will write me their names and post-office address, I will send them two bottles free of charge. T. A. STODOL, M.D., 123 Pearl Street, New York.

The Editorial and Business Management of this Paper guarantee the genuineness of the above proposition.

Awful dyspepsia!

Nearly dead!
All the pleasure in life seems gone forever.
I can get no enjoyment out of anything.
I suffer terribly after every meal.
Miserable feeling all the time.
My blood is poor and thin, the doctor says because my food is only half digested.
I am nervous and capricious and have the blues.
Nothing I have tried will relieve me!

Nothing? That's wrong! There is something, and it will relieve and cure you. Brown's Iron Bitters has cured thousands for many years past. Don't suffer any more. Get a bottle at once. It is pleasant to take, the dose is small, and it won't blacken your teeth. Brown's Iron Bitters will make a new person out of you—give you an appetite—cure your dyspepsia. The genuine has two crossed red lines on the wrapper. See that you get it.

The Beauty

OF SOME PIANOS

Is only "case deep." It is much easier to make a handsome case than it is to put music into it. A tolerable mechanic can do the one—the other requires the best thought of a musical artist.

The Kroeger Pianos

All have handsome, tasteful, durable cases; but in their factory constant, careful, studious attention is given to the production of a perfect and lasting tone. The beauty and honesty of a Kroeger begins with the varnish on the case, and goes straight through to the iron plate that holds the strings. We'd like to show you the inside of a Kroeger.

Pianos kept in tune for one year gratis.
Old instruments taken in part payment.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Second Reading of Land Bill Completed—Council of State.

NINTH DAY, June 24.

The first measure brought to the notice of the Senate was the petition of the liquor dealers asking for indemnity for losses occasioned by martial law the early part of the year and other matters turned over to the Legislature by the Council. These measures were tabled to await the introduction of bills relating to them.

Senator McCandless' bill on vehicle tires and wheels was reported by the Printing Committee.

Special committees on the Land bill and the appointment of W. R. Castle asked for more time, which was granted.

The committee on the Pali road improvement was named by President Wilder and consists of Senators Waterhouse, Wright and McCandless.

Senator Brown introduced his bill relating to the wanton destruction of game.

The Senate then proceeded to the election of members of the Council of State which resulted as follows: C. Bolte, P. C. Jones, W. C. Wilder, Cecil Brown and J. A. Kennedy. Adjourned to 10 a. m. Tuesday.

House of Representatives.

After usual routine Rep. Kycroft presented a resolution asking that the Bishop of Honolulu be paid $450, amount due from the 1892 appropriation of $1200 for Iolani College. No action taken.

Third reading of the bill to appropriate $12,000 for expenses of special session of legislature.

The House then considered the Land bill in Committee of the Whole.

The remaining sections were discussed and passed, completing the second reading of the bill.

Rep. McBryde resigned as a member of the Committee on Rules, and the Speaker named Rep. Winston.

Interpreter Wilcox read a communication from the Senate announcing that P. C. Jones, C. Bolte, W. C. Wilder, Cecil Brown, J. A. Kennedy had been nominated as members of the Council of State.

Rep. Robertson announced that the Judiciary Committee would meet at his office 8:30 Tuesday morning.

On motion of Rep. Kamaoha that business would be facilitated by adjourning till Tuesday morning so as to give the committee to whom was referred the sections of the Land bill time to consider, was carried, and at 12:15 the House adjourned till 10 a. m. Tuesday morning.

KAMEHAMEHA GRADUATES.

Exercises Attract a Large Number of Interested Spectators.

The exercises at Kamehameha in connection with commencement week in the gymnasium at that place drew forth a large number of persons who were attracted by the nature of the program and the beautiful day. In all the exercises there was a careful showing of training, which speaks well for the institution.

After the regular program and Indian club drill, the regular gymnasium plan was indulged in.

This finished, the boys fell in for military drill, which consisted in company and battalion movements with dress parade. At the end was the flag lowering.

At 2:30 p. m. today will begin the regular class day exercises. In connection with this event there will be a baseball game between Kamehameha alumni and school teams; also the usual ceremony of ivy planting at Bishop Hall.

There will be a reception to the graduating class tonight at the home of Principal Richards.

Last night there was a reunion of the class of '91 in the dining room of Kamehameha. Seven of the original fourteen were present. Among the invited guests were young ladies from Kamehameha Girl's School and Kawaihahao Seminary, graduates of previous classes, together with the older boys of the school. Refreshments were served and a general good time was indulged in.

Reception to Teachers.

The reception tendered visiting and local teachers by the Board of Education at Mrs. B. F. Dillingham's last evening was attended by over one hundred. Refreshments were served. After several hours of social converse, the entertainment was brought to a close, a delightful evening being spent.

Election of American League officers Friday evening.

VOLUNTEERS IN CAMP.

They May Occupy the Tents of the Regulars.

When the regulars break camp and move into the renovated barracks, it is proposed for the volunteer companies to get a taste of camp life and duties. Two companies can be accommodated, the plan being to give each company of the battalion a week in camp. Members of the companies will be excused from duty from 7 o'clock in the morning to six at night.

The program of the day will include a drill in the morning or evening with the regular companies closing with dress parade. This will give the companies practice in drill that cannot be obtained in the confines of the drill shed. Breakfast and dinner and lunch if desired will be furnished at the barracks.

It has been suggested that many of the business houses would allow their employees a week's vacation as is done in the States at the annual camp of the militia companies.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AROUSED.

Visiting Artists to Appear on Friday and Saturday Morning.

The people of Honolulu have always appreciated good music, and judging from the interest aroused regarding the forthcoming concerts, they welcome the opportunity to hear John and Alexandra Marquardt, the two musicians who appear at Y. M. C. A. hall on next Friday and Saturday evenings.

Madame Marquardt will be a strong attraction with all music lovers; people who have heard her play in Chicago and San Francisco declare that she plays the harp divinely. John Marquardt will have his share of admirers also, for as a passenger who arrived by the Australia said, "he makes the violin talk." Both artists are new to Honolulu; they are on their way to Australia. They are announced for two concerts only.

The reserved seats will be on sale tomorrow morning at the Hobron Drug Company.

Blood Poisoning

13 Running Sores Gave Way to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Gentlemen—Thirteen years ago I was in Cour De Alene, now called Fort Sherman, Idaho. While there I went in swimming one day and caught cold, chilling the bone in my leg, causing a fever sore on my limb. The sore continued about three months, continually rotting my leg until it got up to my knee, when I had the limb amputated. My leg was so rotten that after the limb was amputated the foot dropped off. From this state I got blood poisoning and had Thirteen Running Sores on my body. These sores continued from three to four years, my blood being in a terrible condition. After this I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. I used three bottles and found it did me good, so I kept on until I had used ten bottles or more. My blood was completely cleansed. The sores stopped running and have not troubled me any now for six years. My appetite and digestion are good and I am perfectly well. I owe my cure to Hood's Sarsaparilla.' P. S. The delivery wagon of the California Fruit Market ran away from upper Emma street late yesterday. The wagon was demolished by the horse attempting to jump the fence at the company's stable.

Rudolph Spreckels arrived in Chicago on June 18th and left the same evening for San Francisco. His Eastern trip to Philadelphia and New York for two weeks was on purely personal business.

Claims against J. N. Bickel as contractor for Oahu railway extension must be delivered to the company by July 15th, otherwise the railway company will not be held responsible for the payment of any such claims.

The Leland Stanford team will not come to Honolulu this year. It was hoped to have them come in September on account of the local schedule being already made out, but since Leland Stanford will re-open at that time such a plan is out of the question.

At the meeting of Y. P. S. C. E. last evening officers for the ensuing six months were elected. The feasibility of keeping the society open during the summer months was discussed without definite action. Report of various committees were read and approved.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD—June 24, 10 p.m.
—Weather, cloudy; wind, fresh N.E.

The Likeli left for Hawaii yesterday.

The S. G. Wilder took the Iwalani's cargo yesterday.

The Lehua left for another cruise shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

The bark Martha Davis will leave for San Francisco today. The C. D. Bryant goes tomorrow.

Repairs on the Claudine have been completed. The steamer leaves for her usual run this afternoon.

Captain Curtis expects to get away today. He does not anticipate that the Starbuck will make better time than the Kenilworth.

The Australia got away yesterday afternoon about 4:45 o'clock with a heavy passenger list. The freight from this port was valued at $26,008.

The missionary steamer Morning Star will leave for the South Seas on Thursday morning. The farewell exercises will be held at 9 o'clock and as soon as they are over with the steamer will depart.

The Warrimoo resumed her voyage yesterday afternoon. She took but one passenger from this port. On the present trip she will stop at Auckland to land J. C. Ward, the post-master general of New Zealand.

The steamers leaving today are the Kaala for ports on Oahu at 9 a.m., Kinau for Hilo and way ports at 2 p.m., James Makee for Kapaa at 3 p.m., Iwalani for Hana at 4 p.m., Mikahala and Claudine, both at 5 p.m.

The schooner Olga, Captain Epsen, arrived yesterday, 16 days from Eureka. She brought 20 passengers and about 440,000 feet of lumber for Wilder & Company and Allen & Robinson. The captain reports a very pleasant trip down.

The British ship Earl of Burgess, from Swansea, Wales, for San Francisco, which was reported ashore at English Bank, on the coast of Uruguay, has been floated, and towed into Montevideo. She was leaking badly and will remain at that port until repairs are completed.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Nearly every father who uses tobacco, realizes that he is enslaved to a habit which he dreads to see his child form, and yet his will power is so weakened by this poison, that he does not feel strong enough to break the chains that bind him, and thus demonstrate to his child that he is true to all his convictions. How needful, then, to work for the prevention of the tobacco habit among the youth! That tobacco is among the most powerful of narcotic poisons, no intelligent person will deny; and yet because some men have used the vile stuff for years, and in spite of it lived to a good old age, comparatively little attention has been given the subject, and the evil is of such magnitude now, as to alarm the most indifferent. Without doubt the tobacco habit is the most universal scourge in America; for while few men use alcohol who do not use tobacco, thousands of Christian gentlemen use tobacco who would not use alcohol in any form. When their sons are appealed to, they often reply, "My father uses it, and I do not propose to be better than my father." Fathers what do we say to this? The officials in the United States navy tell us that the first question asked a boy who would enter the navy school is, "Do you use tobacco?" They usually answer no, and yet an examination of the fingers betray the smoker, and a medical examination develops the truth that ninety-nine out of every hundred applicants use the weed in some form, and are rejected because this nicotine poison has already affected the heart. We are told that 1,500,000 cigarettes are smoked every year in New York city alone. Our boys and girls are being ensnared in the coils of this vile invention of Satan, and it is time we should realize our danger.—Mrs. Helen L. Bullock.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)
Prof. W. H. Pecke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cures of 20 years standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who will send their P.O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, P. O. 4 Cedar St., New York.

Pretty good odds, aren't they. If you can get as good odds on the races June 11th, you ought to "smash the books."

But we are not giving these odds on the races, but to all who need good first-class clothes.

Get a nice Derby Suit and pick a winner and you will be a "red hot plunger."

Now is your chance if you want to get dressed in fine style for little money.

Note That the War

Is over, and it is the duty of every citizen to support the existing form of government. Although things may not move with the cordiality that would insure an everlasting peace, still they may be allowed to subside into that indifference without animosity, that would allow either party to work out their best interests.

All things considered it may be for the best, but time, the only arbitrator in such cases, must alone decide that. J. G. STEWART is a plumber, and will do your work in a shape and at figures that will give satisfaction.
