The Paradox of Time.

Time goes, you say? Ah no!
Alas, Time stays, we go;
Or else, were this not so,
What need to chain the hours?
For Youth were always ours.
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

Ours is the eyes' deceit
Of men whose flying feet
Lead through some landscape low;
We pass and think we see
The earth's fixed surface flee—
Alas, Time stays—we go!

Once in the days of old,
Your locks were curling gold,
And mine had shamed the crow.
Now, in the self-same stage,
We've reached the silver age;
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

Once, when my voice was strong,
I filled the woods with song
To praise your "rose" and "snow;"
My bird, that sang is dead;
Where are your roses fled?
Alas, Time stays—we go!

See, in what traversed ways,
What backward fate delays
The hopes we used to know;
Where are our old desires?—
Ah! where those vanished fires?
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

How far, how far, O Sweet!
The past behind our feet
Lies in the even-glow!
Now, on the forward way,
Let us fold hands, and pray;
Alas! Time stays—we go!

—Austin Dobson.

Miscellaneous.

To love is to make a compact with sorrow.

The independent candidate is never quite independent until he is elected.

If a good face is a letter of recommendation, a good heart is a letter of credit.

A party of Russian savants has started from the Baltic on a scientific voyage round the world.

The feeble tremble before opinion, the foolish defy it, the wise judge it, the skillful direct it.

To prevent hair falling out, wet it thoroughly once or twice a week with a weak solution of salt water.

Every man has three characters: That which he exhibits, that which he has and that which he thinks he has.

When Clara was asked what she would do if a nice young gentleman should ask her hand in marriage, she naively replied, "I don't think I'd no."

A little glue if dissolved in skim-milk and water will restore the stiffness and luster to crape, and make it look like new.

Mulcahy says the statement that John Roach's ship is the first iron vessel launched in America is a mistake, as Mrs Mulcahy frequently launches iron vessels at him.

Over $15,000 have been expended by the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue hotel, in New York, trying to get water by means of an artesian well, thus far unsuccessfully.

The vocabulary of Milton comprised eight thousand words, that of Shakespeare fifteen thousand. Not less than seven thousand five hundred are found in Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" alone.

Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Post-mortem kindnesses do not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary days.

"Do you like candy, mother," asked a small boy.

"No, my son, it makes me sick."

"I am so glad to hear it. Now I can trust you to hold my candy for me until I'm done playing."

The conversation was about bishops, and one fervent dame said: "How good the dear Bishop of Peterborough is! What a good man!" Instantly a gentleman replied: "There is no merit in that. Bishops ought to be so. They get five thousand a year for being good, while we are expected to be good for nothing."

To make steak tender.—Put three teaspoonfuls of salad oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar, well mixed together, on a large flat dish, and on this lay the steak. Salt must be put on the steak before it is cooked. The steak must lie on the tender-making mixture for at least half an hour to a side; the toughest steak will succumb to this and be perfectly tender when cooked.

London Truth says: "The amount of building going on in Great Britain is an every day matter of conversation, but I doubt if many people realize how large that amount is. Forty years ago we built 40,000 new houses a year in Great Britian; now we build more than 80,000. During the last forty years we have erected two and a quarter million houses, which are estimated to be worth double the amount of the National debt."

Over-crowding of fowls is the cause of nearly all diseases that occur among them. There is too much strife and competition among them when kept in large numbers, and the same is true of animals. The largest breeder of fowls in the world, Hawkins of Lancaster Massachusetts, divides his large flock into many smaller ones. He keeps ever two thousand hens on the same farm, and finds them profitable. In addition to this number of hens, thousand of chicks are annually hatched and sent to the large cities.

A clergyman says: On passing out of church, one evening, I said to a young man who frequently came to my church, "Glad to see you out to-night; come often, and bring your 'Dulcinea' with you." A few days after, I was interviewed by him, when he very crossly asked me what I meant by calling his betrothed a "Dull Sinner," and informed me that she had been a member of the church, in good standing, for some time, and would like to know my reason for calling her a sinner!

A series of experiments has been made by Messrs Vigier, Laborde and Rondeau upon the effects of compounds of boracic acid when used for preserving food. The results prove that pure boracic acid is not injurious, even in large doses; but it must be quite free from salts of alumina and lead, and from carbonate of soda, the impurities generally present in commercial borax. Boracic acid is so long retained in the system that it is believed to be well adapted to combat infectious diseases.

This story is told of two well-known southern clergymen, one of whom undertook to rebuke the other for using tobacco: "Brother G.," he exclaimed, without stopping to ask any other questions, "is it possible that you chew tobacco?" "I must confess that I do," the other quietly replied. "Then I would quit it, sir," the old gentleman energetically continued; it is a very unclerical practice and a very unclean one. Tobacco! Why, sir, even a hog won't chew it." "Father C., do you chew tobacco!" responded the amused listener. "I? No, sir!" he answered gruffly, with much indignation. "Then, pray, which is the most like the hog, you or I?" The old doctor's fat sides shook with laughter as he said: "Well, I have been fairly caught this time."

The London Engineer says that there is a strong prejudice in England against the use of any metal but copper in the construction of brewing-coppers. On the continent they are often made of iron. It is thought by some that the use of the latter is liable to impart a dark color to the worts, but such, says the Engineer, is not the case, for the tannic acid of the hops at once forms a coating of insoluble tannate of iron, which protects the metal from oxidation, and analyses made of worts boiled in iron prove that they do not contain more iron than worts boiled in the copper vessels contain of copper; in fact, says the Brewers' Guardian unless copper is kept absolutely clean it soon corrodes and dissolves to an appreciable extent in a slightly acid fluid like beer wort.

Editorial conventions are (says the Standard) an institution in the United States. At one recently held at New York some generally interesting information was afforded in the course of an address by Mr. Chauncey M. Depew. The first American editor not only wrote leading articles, but took down reports of passing events in his locality, set his own types, read his own proofs, worked himself upon his press his edition, and distributed his paper in person. 123 years have passed, and now the great machines which are the marvels of modern invention throw off 4,000,000 copies of daily journals and 28,000,000 of weeklies. It is 98 years since the first daily organ of public opinion was started in New York city, and at present there are 115 in the State and 1000 in the country at large. The declaration of independence had been proclaimed in Philadelphia three weeks before it received the benediction of type in Thomas Jefferson's newspaper at Williamsburg. To-day the poet's dream of Puck's girdle compassing the world in 40 minutes is almost realised, and the fantasies of an airy imagination are frequently excelled by sober fact. The story of the universe for the previous 24 hours appears in the morning journal; a Sunday sermon by Mr. Spurgeon in his Tabernacle in South London can be read in full in Philadelphia on Monday; and interviews with Popes, Kings, and Chinese ambassadors are cabled under the broad Atlantic, and form topics of conversation in Broadway the very day they take place.

THERE IS NO IDLE GOSSIP HOWever, that the undersigned will take Portraits in any style or views to order in the best style of the Photographic Art, and on the most Reasonable Terms —but it is idle gossip which says "he will not try to please." Do not listen to gossip, but come and see for yourself—there is always two sides to a story. (990 6m) H. L. CHASE.

Fremont Street, San Francisco.
THE INDIA RICE MILLS, AFTER 21 years of Practical Experiment, and with their Capacity Greatly Enlarged by Recent Improvements, are now the superior in perfection of any Rice Mills known. For Thoroughness and Perfection of Work they stand unrivalled. The yield at these Mills is 75 pounds of Merchantable Rice from 100 pounds of Paddy, according to quality of the Paddy, which is 3 to 5 per cent greater than that of any other Mills. Recent Improvements have enabled the Proprietor to Reduce the Price
FOR HULLING AND CLEANING
To 50cts. for 100 pounds.
AMONG THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF SHIPPING PADDY TO SAN FRANCISCO and having it Cleaned at the San Francisco Mills, the following may be named:
1st—Superiority of Work at the San Francisco Mills.
2nd—Saving in the yield of Merchantable Rice.
3rd—Saving in Rates for Hulling and Cleaning.
4th—Freshness and Evenness in Quality of Rice.
5th—Uniformity and Cleanliness of Packages
6th—Lesser Liability to Weevil.
7th—Entire Freedom from "Ship Smell," often complained of in cleaned Rice shipped with sugar cargo.
AND 8th—The Better Rates it always commands over Island Cleaned, particularly in Eastern Markets

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE.
Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the true palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.
[illegible]
CAUTION.—The Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

Independent Ticket of Representatives FROM HONOLULU, LEGISLATIVE SESSION OF 1884.

J. O. CARTER.
J. U. KAWAINUI.
A. P. KALAUKOA.
A. K. KUNUIAKEA.

The Platform of the Government Party.

As set forth in the Nuhou of April 21, 1874, W. M. Gibson, Editor and Proprietor:

"A Representative Government and a responsible ministry are favorite ideas with some of our political tyros, who think in repeating the truisms of their own political education, they are introducing into Hawaii the ideas of advanced statesmanship. * * * * *

King Koffee may be as wise a Statesman in Coomassie as D'Israeli is in Westminster. * * * * *

And we say, that they were only political school boys who imposed all this cumbrous unadapted law we have upon the simple semi-barbarous Polynesians of Hawaii.

If you can become strong enough to abolish Constitution and Parliament, you may be able to do something radically beneficial for Hawaiians."

This is obviously addressed to the Crown.

With such inspectors of election as we have in Honolulu, we may feel assured that the provisions of the act of 1876, relative to setting apart of a sufficient space around the polling place, and only allowing within that space six electors at a time who shall be actually engaged in voting, will be faithfully carried out. For the benefit of those who may not be acquainted with the act we republish it this morning:

"Section 15. The inspectors of election shall previously to opening the polls, set apart a sufficient space around the polling place to prevent persons not therein authorized from interfering with the conduct of the election, and no person other than the inspectors of election, their clerk and any electors not exceeding six in number being actually engaged in voting, to be designated if necessary by the presiding officer, shall be permitted at any one time to enter or remain within the polling room or the space so set apart during the taking of the poll."

The letter which we publish in another column from a Portuguese at Waialua, shows the relation between the planter and laborer on that plantation, and is a very decided answer to the calumnies published by the S. F. Chronicle and papers which have followed in its wake. A perfect cordiality and good feeling exists between this laborer and his master, and what is true in this case, is true in the majority of cases. The tales of harsh treatment of laborers are almost entirely fabrications. Here and there, there may have been an isolated case of wrong done, but redress has always been at hand either by appeal to the courts or to the consuls. The value of this letter lies in the fact that it has come entirely unsolicited, and that it is published not only in English, but in Portuguese, and can be commented on in that language.

The Hawaiian Government, as conducted by the self sufficient Premier has got into deep water. The Moloeo muddle, over which the official organ was so facetious some time back, is looming up as a very serious question. Diplomatic and legal powers have it is said lately arrived here and serious complications with Great Britain may be impending. There is no doubt whatever that a heavy claim is going to be brought against the country backed by the influence of Great Britain. The result of this will be that the tax payers will have to foot an enormous bill: for what? For the official mismanagement of the Premier. Can voters hesitate what they shall do, when they see into what a position the country has been brought? Get rid of these men as soon as you can, citizens of Honolulu and of the Hawaiian Islands at large. You have to pay a heavy bill now, but there is no knowing how heavy the bill will be if the present misrule is continued much longer. The present Premier has plunged the country into "a sea of trouble," and the chickens are only just beginning to come home to roost. Stop this unpleasant arrival of fowl, by your votes, citizens!

How often have we in the past read appeals in the P. C. Advertiser to race prejudices! That journal, on the eve of the election, came out last Friday with another of those insidious charges against the white people residing in these Islands, laying to their dislike and distrust of the Hawaiians, the entire blame for the present state of things. The opposition to the present Ministry has been owing wholly to "disappointed office-seekers," and to an ungenerous sentiment towards the native population! This the reply which is made in behalf of the Ministry, to the criticism which has been made upon its course for the last two years. The planters and others, whether residing in Oahu or elsewhere in the group, who are known to have deplored the way in which public affairs have been conducted, many of whom have openly expressed their disapproval of and want of confidence in the Premiers doings, are to be assured forsooth, that they are only seeking after office! Those who for years have been the true friends of the Hawaiian race, who have pleaded in vain for its preservation from an alcoholic doom and from the ravages of leprosy, are to be taunted with prejudice against those for whom they have labored. The Advertiser will search in vain in our columns, and as we believe in the columns of our other cotemporaries, for any foundation for its libellous charges.

It is reported, and the report seems to have good foundation, that Judge Kauai who was running as government candidate at Waimea, Kauai, has been ordered by the government to withdraw. We pointed out last week that the President of the Board of Health had been writing down to the Island to make inquiries if the statements published in the Gazette were correct; he received a reply substantiating what had been published in this paper. But the government should not stop at merely withdrawing its support at the elections from this man; after the President of the Board of Health has found out that it is really a fact that Mr. Kauai in one of his election addresses announced himself as a leper, he should go a step further and have Mr. Kauai examined to see if he is a leper or not. We have no information at hand that the Premier-President has done anything of the kind. To the faithfulness of our correspondent in Kauai is due any action that the government may have taken in this matter.

Our correspondent at Waimea further points out that the authorities are shamefully lax in allowing acknowledged lepers to be at large. That scoundrel who nearly murdered his sister the other day, has for a long time been an acknowledged leper; but being a violent man, the police are afraid of him, and he comes into Waimea almost with impunity. No doubt the example set by Mr. Kauai has had its due effect upon petty officials around Waimea. See to it Mr. Minister that these things be changed, and that proper investigations be held.

"This gentleman, Mr. J. O. Carter, is eminently fitted to represent the city and he has authorized us to say that he has no sympathy with the party—a noisy but not a large one—whose sole bond of union is the desire to overturn the present administration." P. C. A., Feb. 2. The half truth in the above quotation stamps it as the "suggestion" of the Premier, it is in just such misstatements, such turnings and twistings that he used to revel when he edited a newspaper himself. A talk with Mr. Carter revealed the following: In the course of a private conversation with a gentleman connected with our cotemporary, Mr. Carter said that his object in going into the house was not primarily to try and turn out the ministry, but to investigate. If the ministry could show that all the charges which have been made against them were untrue, he would not move against them, at the same time, seeing the kind of evidence already brought forward, it was plainly almost impossible for them to clear their skirts. In plain words Mr. Carter, like a sensible man, will if elected, go to the house with an unbiased mind, but with a thorough determination to investigate fairly, and to act on the results of his investigation. No better spirit could be asked from a member. Mr. Carter gave no "authorization" to the Advertiser to say anything about his views with regard to any party here. But his views do entirely accord with the views of that very large section of the community which desires a change of administration, because the present holders of power have been wasteful, foolish and extravagant, and on the complete proof of this in the Legislature he will act.

If the voters of Honolulu to day desire a full investigation of the acts of the Government during the past two years they will vote the Independent ticket. What a poor team the government ticket presents. Mr. Kaulukou, full of windy rhetoric, whose stentorian lungs have been called into play to shout electioneering addresses, but who will make a very poor statesman. Should this gentleman be elected, we may look for a lengthy session, he will howl, shout and gesticulate in the House, to the ennui of all who are desirous of getting through the business of the country quickly. Mr. John T. Baker, known to the Honolulu public as the brother of the nominal author of a silly pamphlet which he did not write; a man full of vanity, who knowing but a smattering thinks he knows everything. Mr. Lilikalani lays his claim to legislative honors as the father of the liquor bill and the author of the $10,000,000 loan act; not that he was the author of either of these measures, but he likes to put the lion's skin over his own; but like the celebrated animal in the fable, he cannot hide those melodious tones which betray him so thoroughly. Mr. Kean is a hard working man we believe, but that in itself, without other qualifications, does not constitute a claim for representing the intelligence, commercial ability and wealth of the capital.

On the other hand let the electors look at the men that are put forward on the Independent ticket.

Mr. J. O. Carter, (Keo Kaaka) who heads the ticket has the confidence of the whole community, native and foreign. A thoroughly honest man, in whom even his opponents cannot find a thing to cavil at, a Hawaiian born, a man whose record is before the public, since his earliest days of manhood, a tried man in official work, he is the man we need, and we hope to see his name at the head of the poll.

Mr. J. U. Kawainui has shown himself a fearless exponent of wrong doing in official high places, he has suffered for his freedom of speech; he has been unjustly ousted from the Privy Council and from the Board of Education, because he, a Hawaiian dared to say home truths, and we may expect the same fearlessness of speech and examination when he reaches, as we hope he will do, the Legislative Chamber.

Mr. Kalaukoa, is an excellent speaker, and is an honest and upright man; he commands influence and respect among his own race and those of other nationalities that are acquainted with him.

Lastly there is A. K. Kunuiakea; an Alii. The government partizans talk as if there were no Aliis left. Kunuiakea, an Alii stands for the Independent ticket. He is a well known protege of Queen Emma, and on these grounds he is a most acceptable candidate to all.

The Government ticket can show no such qualifications in the four acknowledged candidates that it puts forward.

The Independent Ticket combines men of broad views, of varying interests. It is no party clique. Religion forms no stumbling block. Protestants and Roman Catholics alike will find their interests supported by its members. The present government may promise, and promise wildly as drowning men do, but if our citizens of all shades of thought, of all religious beliefs wish for sound government and proper and just recognition of the rights of all, they will vote only one way, without scratching a name, and that way is The Independent Ticket!

Mr. Kaulukou, one of the leading candidates on the Government ticket, at the meeting which was called to nominate a people's ticket, in answer to a rather personal question, retorted in substance that he might have been Attorney General of the Kingdom now if it had not been for the with holding of education in the English language by the American missionaries in former years, which he put forward as though it were a personal grievance. The idea is not new. The same cry has been heard frequently before. But it is surprising to hear a man of his intelligence, who might be expected to know something of the history of his own people during the past half century, taking up this second hand assertion as though he really believed it. Possibly he was actually persuaded of its truth, as many another has been. But whatever may have been the cause in this instance, it is perhaps as well that the facts in the case should be stated as matter of historic truth.

We have lying before us at this moment a number of works published by the American missionaries for the express purpose of teaching the English language to Hawaiians, and used in the advanced schools as long ago as 1837. The first is a spelling and reading book in English for the instruction of Hawaiians. It is called the "Kumu Kahiki" was prepared by the Rev. J. S. Emerson, and published at Lahainaluna in 1837. It consists of sixty one lessons and occupies thirty six pages. Next is a grammar of the English language for Hawaiians, prepared by the same person, and published at Lahainaluna about the same time. Then comes an English phrase book for the use of Hawaiian learners, prepared also by Mr. Emerson, and published at Lahainaluna in 1841, a second edition of which was published in 1844. This consists of twenty-eight pages of English phrases divided into fourteen lessons, with a glossary of twelve pages at the end.

Then comes a speller and reader of sixty pages in English published by the Mission Press at Honolulu in 1845, and an English Hawaiian Dictionary of one hundred and eighty-four pages, prepared mainly by Rev. J. S. Emerson, with the assistance of Rev. A. Bishop and Rev. W. P. Alexander and published at Lahainaluna in 1845.

At the request of the King and chiefs, the "Royal School" was established in 1839, and was taught by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke of the A. M. Mission, aided by other competent teachers, as long as its distinctive character was kept up. It was finally merged in what is now known as the "Royal School," its present name being derived from its past history. In that school our present King, Kalakaua, and his sister, the Princess Royal, received a thorough grounding in the knowledge of the English language. The general advance of the mass of the people in education had not, previous to 1848, reached the point where the English language could be taught to advantage in the common district schools. Nor previous to that time, could the teachers or the means be had for such a purpose, even if it had seemed desirable to substitute the English for the vernacular in those schools.

In 1848 the care and management of the public schools passed out of the hands of the mission and was assumed by the government; as was eminently proper. English schools have since then multiplied as rapidly as circumstances have seemed to warrant, and Hawaiians have had the same access to their privileges as others. If therefore Mr. Kaulukou or any other Hawaiian has failed to use those advantages, let him put the blame where it belongs, and not falsify history by repeating at second hand an old and stale cry which has been put in his mouth by those who to serve a purpose, either deliberately misrepresent the facts, or else arrogantly ventilate their own ignorance.

The inquest on the remains of the late Honorable Wm. F. Buckle has altogether failed to account satisfactorily as to how he came to an untimely end. Let it be allowed that he died by a fall from the top of the prison, though even that is incompletely proven, the remainder of the finding of the jury is eminently unsatisfactory. The fall was occasioned, say the jury by "some cause unknown." This is perfectly true, and it is hard to see how the jury could have reported otherwise. But if this finding justifies the jury it certainly seems to incriminate the officials concerned. The removal, cleaning, reclothing of the body, the hasty obliteration of the traces of the accident before any examination by experts, was all wrong and could not have taken place had the actors in the scene known their duties; the first turnkey, Malaihi, ought to have known better and should have acted otherwise. To what purpose is it that a jury visit the scene of a fatal accident, and find that broken glass has been cleared away, a window sill cleaned and the ground carefully raked over, and why was the holding of an inquest and a second examination of the body an afterthought. If the finding of the jury result only in "from some cause unknown," the evidence all goes to show a most discreditable state of indiscipline. From early in the evening till 4 o'clock in the morning, the Governor of the jail goes to and fro between the prison he is in charge of, and a friend's house. Then hear this "Chief turnkey." "I went," he says, "to the feast between 11 and 12 o'clock p.m., I stopped a few minutes and returned to the jail." Paahana "a guard" says "the guards do as they like about relieving one another. We do not obey the regulations. We can go around outside, and leave our place of watch." "Nobody gave me permission to go on watch at 2 o'clock, I gave the other guard permission to go." "Did not see Buckle go out," neither did Kaehi on guard at the upper gate from 3 to 6 a.m., but he saw Buckle come back after 4 a.m. Testa saw the deceased at the feast between 8.30 and 9 p.m., again between 1.30 and 2 a.m. the next morning, and left him there at 4. This is a revelation of the interior economy of a prison.

Of the female prisoners, Mary says "the first I heard was of Buckle's death—went into Malaihi's room to fix it up—there was blood on the sill and some dirt—cleaned it off," from whom did she hear of the accident, and by whose direction did she fix the room and clean the window sill?

The evidence of Maria Rose is more startling, but was not corroborated, and—she is a felon.

However the whole enquiry such as it was, showed a degree of incompetence and indifference to duty almost incredible.

The authorities outside the jail make no better appearance than those within. The funeral is announced to take place thirty-six hours after the accident. The jurors were not called together or sworn till about twenty-eight hours after death, and then adjourned till the following afternoon.

The jurors were duly sworn in the presence of the remains, but did not visit the scene of the accident until the afternoon of the 28th, two and a half days after the occurrence and the day after the funeral.

In all cases of violent death promptitude of action is imperatively necessary if any satisfactory result is intended or sought for.

If the coming election gives us a House of Representatives, it is to be hoped that the method of appointment of coroner may be reconsidered and the instructions of the officer remodeled.

In the United States and in Great Britain coroners are elected, in England for life. Opinions differ as to whether a member of the legal or of the medical profession be the more suitable, probably a combination of the two in the person of a properly qualified medical man who has made a special study of medical jurisprudence would be the best.

As the matter stands here now it needs alteration and cannot well be altered but for the better.

To-day in Honolulu the Independent voter will have the opportunity of showing his strength. Considering the means that have been used of late by the Government Party to get in their candidates it will be a matter of no surprise, if the announcement this evening should be that the Independent ticket has not been elected in full. Those who wish to see how elections can be carried on in this country had better be at the polls and watch to see if the military and police are marched up to the ballot boxes as they were two years ago. Public opinion made itself heard upon this point after the election of 1880, and it will do so again and even more forcibly, should like tactics be repeated to-day.

But it is not upon its influence over the military, the police and the salaried officials of the government that the Government Party has relied for carrying the present election. Intimidation has been used. We are informed upon credible authority that natives occupying government lands, or lands over which certain members of the Government Party have control, have been told that unless they vote for the government ticket, they need not look for a quiet continuance in their little homes. Tax receipts have been demanded and the unfortunate voters, not strong enough to withstand the pressure brought to bear upon them, have delivered them up. In all cases where the voter is considered doubtful, it will be found that his tax receipt is not forthcoming on the day of the election, and in this way he will be deprived of his vote. How strong the influences brought to bear on voters have been may be judged from the fact that many have gone to Mr. Carter and asked him to take charge of their tax receipts, knowing that though they were anxious to vote for him, they would be unable to stand the threats and the wheedling they would be subjected to: in point of fact knowing the power that would be brought to bear, they distrusted themselves. Honorably has Mr. Carter refused to acquiesce in their request; he has told them that to do so would be at variance with the political teachings he has tried for years to instil into the native race; he has striven to make Hawaiian electors vote as men, and the votes that will be cast for him will be cast by men. He feels, and all good citizens must feel, that it were better to be beaten having a clear conscience, than to win, with the consciousness of having stooped to impure and disreputable means to do so.

By means of influence and threats and cajolery, as far as can be ascertained, the government have the assured control of 500 voters. But what of that: Honolulu has a voting population of about 2,000, and one fourth of that population cannot carry the election. Even of the 500 voters whom the government have locked up as it were, they cannot count upon getting all the votes, for a considerable proportion of these will be men who are to be kept from voting by means of retaining their tax receipts.

In spite then of the various methods used, among which, by the way, was race prejudice, some one very high in office, who, to a choice selection of electors, called together to hear his statements, stated that he was surprised and pained to see white men coming forward as canditates for the legislature, where they would want to make laws for the Hawaiians, (and the Advertiser dared to say that the Independent Party was antagonizing the races), in spite of all such tactics and of so much influence; the prospects of the Independent Party to-day are good. The Hawaiian is by no means as stupid as the Government Party would have the world believe, and apart from all foreign voters, there is a solid phalanx of Hawaiians who have weighed the Premier and have found him wanting: who have found in this man, with his cheap clap-trap and his half dozen honeyed phrases nothing for the pure patriot of Hawaii to hope. To a number of Hawaiians the Premier is now represented by Moreno's celebrated simile of a squeezed orange. He has been thoroughly squeezed and there is mighty little juice left. All these Hawaiian voters need is a solid support from the foreign voters. Intelligent Hawaii understands clearly how ill-advised, and how destructive of the future of the country the course of the present government has been; but it will require the full support of the foreign vote to make the intelligent Hawaiians masters of the situation.

That their support will be given we sincerely hope. Jobbery, mismanagement of public funds, autocratic use of power, danger to our commercial and financial prosperity, have been the result of tolerating the present men in power. If this country is to prosper in a healthy manner, this must be changed. Hawaiian prosperity cannot last forever, the evil day, the rainy day is coming on apace, and the manner in which we shall be able to weather the storm depends almost entirely upon the manner in which we prepare ourselves to weather it. At present the ship of state is in a bad fix, it has neither good captain nor officers, neither good pilot nor proper physicians for the crew. It rests with the crew at this moment to determine whether they shall be led to destruction or not. What will be gained on the whole by any man, if a few dollars come to his purse for the moment, and the business of the country is ruined. And a continuation of the rule of the present ministry means ruin.

To what end will it be that government contracts for a hundred and one things are obtained, if the government is to be conducted in a manner which will reduce the gains of those contracts to nil. Even those selfish men who hope for something from the government, will gain by voting the Independent ticket. For if the Independent ticket is elected in sufficient strength a change which will give Hawaii the respect instead of the charity of the world may be looked for.

Let every thinking man, then, determine to come to the polls to-day, let him cast his vote for the Independent Candidates, and when he has done that, he may rest assured that he has done a good turn to Hawaii as a nation. The platform of the Independent Party is before the voters. Economical administration of the finances of the Kingdom. Reform in the maladministration of public affairs. A thorough reform in the Board of Health, which, in place of windy rhetoric or scissors and paste books, will give our wives and children that proper protection from disease and lingering death which they do not have now. Finally, the Independent Party most emphatically propose to support true constitutional government, and to strongly resent the efforts that have been recently made to override popular rights.

With such a platform the Independents ought to win. It appeals to the common sense of all voters. If the Independent Party fails, it will only be because of undue coercion and that, as we have shown has been used. Voters, turn the tables!

NOTES.

Woman suffrage has won its battle in Washington Territory. The legislature there has voted to strike the word "male" from the election laws.

The American Register quotes the following words of Daniel Webster, which come with great force at the present moment in Hawaii. The argument used is one which has again and again been used in the columns of the Gazette. Webster said: "The circulating medium of a commercial community must be that which is the circulating medium of other commercial communities, or must be capable of being converted into that medium without loss. It must be able, not only to pass in payments and receipts among individuals of the same society and nations, but to adjust and discharge the balances of exchanges between different nations. It must be something which has value abroad as well at home, and by which foreign as well as domestic debts can be satisfied."

In one of our San Francisco exchanges we find the following: "not a few of our citizens will feel a pang of regret to learn of the dissolution of the connection which has existed since the very inception of the Merchants' Exchange, between its Secretary, Mr. J. A. Coolidge, and itself. Since 1866, nearly eighteen years, Mr. Coolidge has been closely identified with all the material interests of the Exchange, and the practical management of its affairs has been in his hands. That his administration of the multifarious duties which fall to the lot of a Secretary of such an institution has been an able one, is universally conceded by all who have come in contact with Mr. Coolidge, and in testimony of this and of his industry, intelligence, probity and capabilities, the patrons of the exchange (not the association) presented him on his retirement from the office, with a very handsome testimonial. Although much regret has been expressed at the change made by the Trustees, and the removal of Mr. C., yet there is some consolation in the fact that his successor, Mr. J. C. Patrick, is a gentleman who is highly popular with all who know him, and is admittedly well qualified to fill the position. It is a pity that the needs of the Exchange should not require the services of both gentlemen.

A Mass Meeting of the Independents.

A TALK TO THE POINT.

Last evening the Independent voters met at Kaumakapili Church and were addressed by the members of the Independent ticket. Mr. Swinton was unanimously elected Chairman and Mr. R. W. Kawainui Secretary. The meeting was most orderly and also most enthusiastic; the speeches of the Independent candidates were applauded to the echo. Mr. Kunuiakea spoke first, Mr. Kawainui second, Mr. Kalaukoa third and Mr. J. O. Carter last. The remarks of each of the candidates were loudly applauded, and as the periods rolled forth denouncing or ridiculing the position of the government candidates, the house containing more than six hundred people took the points and laughed and applauded alternately.

Mr. S. Kaai, who was surrounded by certain Government servants, tried to disturb the meeting, but the assent was against him, and after hearing some good home truths the meeting adjourned with enthusiastic cheers for the Independent candidates and a determination to vote the ticket! It was a meeting that would do honor to any nation under the sun. Hawaii has need to be proud of herself. Mr. Carter's speech is reported elsewhere.

We give a translation of Mr. Carter's address to the electors yesterday. Unfortunately we have been unable to obtain translations of all the speeches made. The meeting was most enthusiastic:

My Fellow Countrymen, Citizens of the District of Honolulu:

You have gathered here this evening to hear from the candidates for the position of representatives to the Legislative Assembly, upon the independent or citizen's ticket, some expressions of opinion on the questions of the times. Upon this ticket, which we believe has your sympathy and support, are found the names of

J. U. KAWAINUI,
KALAUKOA,
ALBERT KUNIUAKEA,
and your humble servant,
J. O. CARTER.

You have heard from all these candidates for your support, and it only remains for me to say a few words. You will pardon me if in my remarks I shall appear to say something for myself. Most of you have known me as a child, youth, and as a man among you. I was born in this city and therefore have a right to say that I am a child of this land we love so well. I am as much a Hawaiian as any person in this kingdom and I feel safe in challenging any person to stand up if he can and say that I have ever oppressed or abused a Hawaiian or for that matter any person. You have known me as a government officer, having charge of the monies of the government. While in that office did I not do my duty faithfully? Was not the Treasury well managed, and when I left it was it not full of money? Were you not always well treated when you came to me? Did I not serve the Chief Nahaolelua and our friends Kaai and Kapena faithfully? Did they ever have trouble by reason of my wrong doing? I ask these questions because I hear that there are some in this land who say to you not to vote for me.

WHY NOT VOTE FOR ME?

Can an honest man who loves his country, our king and chiefs, give you any good reason why you should not vote for me as your representative? I say to you that no honest officer of our government has any reason to fear me in the Assembly. No—But if there has been wrong doing—if money has been stolen or wasted—they have reason to fear exposure. I say to you that if I find wrong doing I will expose it, and I believe that Kawainui, Kunuiakea and Kalaukoa will support me. I was your representative in 1872 and no one worked harder for your rights than I did. I was also in the Assembly that made the kindly Lunalilo, King of our land and cast my vote for him.

Some of the persons whose names are upon the other tickets have also served as representatives, and I have to ask you what did they do for our land, or for you? What has Kaulukou done that he should ask you to vote for him. He was the servant of the ministers—not of the people—and he received his pay, spending your money on a visit to Japan. What has he done that he should ask you to vote for him and refuse me. Will he, or can he, search out the wrong doing of the ministers. Will he expose their wrong acts, or will he support any other person who tries to expose the wrong doings of the ministers. No, he will not, neither will Baker or Lilikalani or the turn-coat Kean.

I hear that Kaulukou says that his is the chief's ticket, and that if you do not take his ticket and vote it our chiefs will be set aside. Do not believe this talk. I am as true a friend of our King and chiefs as this young courtier—Kaulukou.

There are weighty things to come before the Assembly, and you should send to consider these matters, men who are true to you, not those who are the servants of the ministry. Never send as your representative to the Assembly any person who is a government officer. The questions of the Bonds of the government. The money we should borrow. The government lands. The question of taxes. The waters of Nuuanu, Makiki and Manoa. Wise public improvements; all these and others of equal importance will have to be considered. I promise you that if you, by your ballots put me in the Assembly, I will stand firm for equal rights for Hawaiians. And I ask you to send to help me my friends who are upon the ticket with me. We will stand together for the rights of our king and chiefs and our country. Look well to your ballots before putting it in the box—vote with your eyes open.

My friends, as you go from here remember what I have said to you. Do your duty to-morrow without fear, whether you are soldiers or police or citizens you have a right to vote as you please. No one has a right to force you to vote the government ticket or any other. You are free men. Let it be said from Hawaii to Nihau that the voters of Honolulu voted without fear and sent no government officers to the Assembly of 1884.

The government ticket tried to have a meeting last night but failed dismally. In spite of all the money that has been poured out the Hawaiians mean to be Independent charm the Premier never so wisely.

COMMERCIAL.

HONOLULU, FEBRUARY 6, 1884.

Since last writing business has again retrograded and stands at present, in lines of general trade, utterly inactive, the prevailing dulness probably being induced by the general election of representatives to the Legislature, which takes place today. Aside from this particular reason however, there have been other causes which, combined, have secured for the month of January the unenviable record (from statements made by some of our best business men) of being the dullest in trade for a number of years past. Commercially, although large quantities of our staple product are arriving now from other island ports, yet there is not the same profitable division and extent of business in shipping circles as at the same time last year. News from the Coast per late arrivals was not as cheering as hoped for at all, although the plantation sugars are all, or practically, contracted for the planters and not the contractor, have been the [illegible] of low rates, and other drawbacks which feeling has also its influence in trade circles in this city.

The only arrival consists of the American bark Ceylon, from Boston with a full cargo of assorted merchandise.

The departures consist of the brig Hazard with returned laborers to the South Seas, the Hesperian and steamer Alameda with cargoes of domestic products for San Francisco and the Kikitat in ballast for the Sound.

The O. S. S. Mariposa is due here from San Francisco [illegible], with news dates to the 1st inst. The W. G. Irwin sails today from here for San Francisco.

Praise for a Plantation Manager.

The following portions of a translation of a letter by a Portuguese laborer, which has been written for the Luz Hawaiiana has been forwarded to the GAZETTE for publication, and we gladly give space to it as showing how the Portuguese at Waialua feel towards their employer:

WAIALUA, Jan. 29, 1884.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Christmas and New Year's days passed off in a pleasant and spirited manner on the Waialua Plantation on this Island. A great many of the Portuguese employed on said plantation called on Mr. R. Halstead and wished him the compliments of the season. He received them with satisfaction and pleasure, and responded generously to them.

Of all the plantations on these islands this one is perhaps the best.

Firstly. Because neither Mr. Halstead nor his son have yet used any bad language towards a single Portuguese.

Secondly. Because they give their instructions to their lunas in regard to their daily labours.

Thirdly. Because this plantation has a healthy climate, about the same as we are used to at home, though it be a little warmer, still after 10 o'clock in the evening it always becomes cool, and our countrymen feel first rate here.

Mr. Halstead and his son make their appearance at the work in the morning to see whether all are at work, or whether any one has become sick during the night.

Finally. They never refuse to grant any favor provided it does not interfere with the work of the plantation. They also grant leave to all the Portuguese to raise chickens and pigs, and have their own horses.

This plantation owner has enlarged his dwelling house, so that now it is quite a neat little place, and the plan shows very good taste. It is to be hoped that Mr. Halstead and family may enjoy it for many prosperous years. A new chimney is to be erected here. It is to be built of rough stone and will have a height of from 80 to 90 feet when finished and is round. The mason who is building it is a Portuguese who was one of the best at his trade in St. Michael's. Mr. Halstead is quite satisfied with the work which the man designed.

Respectfully Yours, JOSE CAETANO PACHECO.

The Princeville Plantation Case.

The case of Chulan & Co. vs. Princeville Plantation, just decided by the full Court, was this: March 1st, 1880, an agreement was signed by both parties, by which the plantation "agreed to rent to Chulan & Co. certain lands at Hanalei for the purpose of cultivating rice." Both parties agreed "to sign, seal and execute a lease in duplicate to be hereafter prepared upon the terms and conditions" named in the agreement, viz: "The plantation to lease from 300 to 700 acres of land to be used only in the cultivation of rice, and put Chulan & Co. in possession of all lands over 300 acres as soon as the manager elects to do so, the 300 acres to be taken possession of immediately," for five years with privilege of extension for five years more, at a yearly rent of $20 an acre. No land at Hanalei to be leased to any one else for rice culture without Chulan & Co.'s consent, the latter to have dead wood for fences, etc. The plantation "to furnish all the water necessary for the cultivation of said land with rice," also pasturage for cattle, and two acres out of every 100 rent free for houses. Chulan & Co. not to sublet or assign, nor interfere with plantation labor." Rent was paid up to April 1st, 1882, on 302 58-100 acres. At that date Chulan & Co. had procured a survey of the land planted by them, showing it to be 302.58 acres, and declined to pay rent for more. The plantation then brought proceedings to eject them for non-payment of rent. They hereupon brought their Bill in Equity against the plantation, asking for an injunction against the ejectment, for a decree that $2,845.72 be refunded to them as overpaid rent, and that the plantation be ordered to execute the agreed lease, (for 302.58 acres.) The answer set up that the defendants had placed the plaintiffs in possession of 371 acres of rice land. The hearing was before Judge McCully in January, 1883, who gave a decree in favor of the plaintiffs, holding that Chulan & Co. were chargeable with only the land shown by their survey to be under cultivation, also that the plantation was bound to furnish water for the land.

Upon the appeal, the defendant was allowed to present further evidence as to the nature of the land, and the full Court held that the plaintiffs were chargeable with all the land which the plantation had placed at their disposal, less a few acres as too swampy for rice; also that the agreement did not require water to be brought upon the land; that the written agreement amounted to a lease, and that, as contended by the defendant's counsel, the fact that Chulan & Co. had not asked that water be conducted upon the land showed that they did not construe the agreement to require that to be done. The grounds taken by the plaintiff's counsel, that the agreement for all over 300 acres was not binding upon the plaintiffs as they did not agree to take it, and that clause to deliver possession "as soon as the manager elects" was void for vagueness; and that until a lease should be made as agreed, they were liable only for use and occupation, also that they had the option to determine what was suitable rice land, were not sustained by the full Court, but the defendant was ordered to execute a lease.

ISLAND LOCALS.

ABOUT TOWN.

Heavy rain shower at noon, yesterday in town.

Voters, see that you carry your tax receipts to the polls.

The proper meat for government candidates would be the cold shoulder.

There will be a fulness of the moon, quite visible to the naked eye, on the 11 inst.

Prison and police reform are needed. The Independent members will see to it that this is not a farce, but a reality. Vote the Independent Ticket.

The comet is now plainly visible to sky gazers and is falling into the usual bad habits of its erratic brethren, viz: staying out late o' nights.

Lightning has been noticeable on every evening of the past week, chiefly in the north and northwest. The weather of evenings has been cool and pleasant.

The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society will hold its regular meeting at Rev. Dr. Hyde's, 122 Beretania street, on Saturday, February 9th, at 7:30 p. m.

The afterglow was visible on two different occasions on the same evening during several evenings of the past week, viz: after the sun had set and after the moon had set.

His Majesty took a trip to Kalihi on the 3rd inst. in one of his whaleboats. The party went thither from His Majesty's boathouse at about 9:30 a. m. and returned at 5 p. m.

Quite a pleasurable entertainment took place at Knights of Pythias Hall on the evening of the 4th inst. under the auspices of members of a local temperance organization.

Pastor Cruzan resumes the teaching of his Bible class to-night. The hour of meeting is changed to 6:45. A general invitation is extended and promptness is expected.

The Bulletin is responsible for the statement that the Planter beat the Kinau two hours and forty minutes on the last trip up, the victor arriving that time ahead at Maalea bay.

Who want to pay increased taxes? The men who vote the Government Ticket. There are heavy enough bills to pay already, and these will be largely increased if the present men stay in office.

There was a good attendance of young men at the Y. M. C. A. prayer meeting Sunday afternoon. It is specially desired that all who can attend will come to the meeting next Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Hotel street.

The haste in which the Hazard put to sea caused three who expected to take passage in the vessel to the southern seas, in charge of Capt. Turney, to be left behind. They will probably reship with their present employer.

The Amateur Musical Society met last Friday for their usual fortnightly practice, and a good evening's work was got through. Owing to the absence of Mr. Berger, the leader, the concert will be postponed for a month.

The son-in-law seems to be very busy just now, and a quantity of liquor is about. Some may connect the two ideas together, and they do say that considerable quantities of liquor are being distributed by some one.

Medals awarded to Hawaiian exhibitors at the Boston Exhibition have been received in this city by Messrs Bolles & Co. and J. W. Robertson & Co. Their Majesties received special medals.

"Emperor of the Pacific" is to be another title, besides that of King of Hawaii, and another consistent scheme is being projected by the "Palace party." Happy the man who owns no taxable property!

Domestic staple products have been arriving in large quantities from the other islands, during the past week. On last Sunday no less than five schooners heavily laden passed into port within two hours of arrival of the first, and last.

If you don't want a dearth of water, and if you do want a proper water supply, vote the Independent ticket. Its members are pledged to see that the government is properly carried on.

Mr. J. Emmeluth has kindly furnished a statement relative to the rainfall in Manoa valley during the month of January by which it appears that, during the first three weeks of the month there was no rain, but between the 21st and 29th, 2½ inches fell.

F. H. Hayselden constituted himself the special guardian of the ministerial meeting on the evening of the 4th inst., and objected to any talk in favor of the Independent candidates, in fact going so far as to call the police to his assistance to keep "papa's" house from being defiled.

News from the other islands relative to the prospects of elections for the Independent party is good. From almost every district, intelligence comes that the people mean to assert themselves, and to topple the candidates of our venal, corrupt and unpatriotic ministry into the mud.

Do you want leprosy to invade your homes, and desolate them as some homes have been here? If you do, vote for the government candidates who will strive to hush any clamor. The Independent men go in to investigate and investigation is sorely needed.

Serious charges are made relative to the unclean condition of the Oahu prison; there being stated, amongst other things, that a number of the inmates are badly diseased, and all, Portuguese, Chinese, Hawaiians and others, wash in two tubs. The resident attendant should look to this.

A jury consisting of Messrs. Nolte, Adams, Brash, Ashford, A. Marquis and E. S. Ward, have been appointed by and requested to meet the Marshal of the Kingdom on the 8th inst., at 2 p.m., in front of the Music Hall, to take the necessary steps towards having Merchant street widened.

E. Preston, Esq. has moved from his old office in Fort Street to the office formerly occupied by Cecil Brown, Esq. on Kaahumanu Street. Mr. Brown will occupy an office in the new Campbell block, and Mr. Preston's old office will be occupied by Mr. Eckart, the jeweller.

All voters should remember that they have the privilege of taking all the whiskey and money they can get and then vote as they please. This statement does not injure the Independent party ticket, that crowd not being in the whiskey or coin business.

The usual Saturday afternoon concert, was given by the Band at Emma Square on the 2nd inst. The selections played on the occasion were from the works of Suppe, Verdi, Coote and Andrews, well rendered by the instrumentalists, under the leadership of assistant-bandmaster Nane.

Signor Crespini whose wonderful manipulation of the Xylophone and Verrophone has attracted the attention of the public in many of the large cities of the East, intends to give an exhibition of his abilities to-morrow evening at the Music Hall. The box plan is now open at the office of Wiseman & Ashley.

Messrs. Hyman Bros. will soon occupy the large and commodious premises on Queen street formerly occupied by the California Furniture Manufacturing Co.; changes are now being made in the interior arrangements of the store and the removal will be made thither by the first about April 1st.

Improvements are being made and nearly completed in the premises formerly occupied by Max Eckart the jeweler, on Fort street and by which Messrs. Benson, Smith & Co. the well known druggists will be enabled to present to their patrons the largest and most comfortable drug, perfumery and fancy articles establishment in this city.

Rev Father Bouchard will preach in the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Sunday evening at 7.30. The subject of his discourse will be Grace. As the Reverend Father intends to leave on the 15th, it will be probably the last opportunity the public will have to hear him for some time; hence we hope that this eminent and popular preacher will be favored with a good audience.

The sailors on board the Reindeer were quite busy all day Sunday, painting and cleaning the vessel. On the cattle wharf was also a gang of the ship's crew engaged in painting boat and gun covers, and doing other work which could not be regarded as a necessity; yet they were not disturbed by the vigilant (?) harbor police.

An order having been issued against the use of liquor at the barracks, the free and independent voters and military were treated to a free drunk at the house once occupied by the Transit of Venus Party. An eye witness states that he saw at least 100 dead drunk bodies lying about the grounds, and in this way the government party hope to secure votes!

The carelessness manifested by those in charge of Emma Square in leaving large and deep holes uncovered on moonless nights is most reprehensible. After some child has fallen in one, and broken a limb or killed itself, then probably the matter will be attended to and a verdict rendered of culpable carelessness, on the part of the child. This matter has been spoken of before; look to it Messrs Commissioners.

At Fort St. Church this (Wednesday) evening there will be a study of the Fiji Islands, with many lesson, addresses and essays. These monthly "studies" of mission-lands are becoming intensely interesting, as the large audiences present bear witness. The invitation to attend is general, and the pastor and his people will accord a warm welcome to all.

The premises connected with the residence of that astute, intelligent and Honorable Noble James Kane was the ground upon which a number of the supporters of the Government ticket met on a late occasion, and in the enthusiasm occasioned by the presence of sundry liquors present exchanged the voting passport, their tax receipt, for that bane of Hawaiians, gin!

The Oceanic S. S. Alameda, Capt Morse, sailed from this port for San Francisco at noon of the 1st inst., taking as passengers several well known residents, amongst who were noticed Mrs J. D. Castle, Mrs M. R. Merritt, Mrs D. Lightner, Mrs C. H. Judd, Mrs Captain Turner and son, Rev N. W. Lane and family, S. Magnin and family, S. Selig, and H. S. Tregloan.

On Saturday, Messrs. Kaunakea, J. Kawainui and Kalauokea addressed a number of the electors at the residence of the former. Some four hundred voters were present and lustily cheered their favorite candidates. The Independent ticket meets with a response in the hearts of the independent voters, and in spite of cliques and rings it is going to do its best to win the day.

Thomas Russel, a prisoner confined at Oahu Jail, escaped from that institution between 3 and 4 p. m. on the 28th instant, and has not yet been found. Patrick Flynn, another prisoner under sentence for theft, escaped from a gang at the quarry a few days previously. The authorities have endeavored to cover up both cases and there seems to be no great endeavor to re-capture. This demands the attention of the Attorney-General.

The cartoons displayed at the office of the Hawaii Pae Aina, continue as biting as ever. Last Saturday the ministry, a very broken down looking crowd indeed, were represented as looking through a telescope at four very brilliant comets, the members on the Independent ticket. There is little doubt but that the Independent ticket will completely dazzle and overthrow the ministry.

A cartoon exhibited yesterday depicts H. M. the King on his throne upheld by four individuals. On the left of the throne are seen all the monarchs of the earth eagerly proffering their stars and decorations, on the right side are the various opposition elements tugging at ropes fastened to the crown which surmounts the royal seat, while one individual, presumably the Premier, &c., and sundry wooden props, are striving to keep the king's seat in a perpendicular position. The cartoon may be accepted save for the opposition offered being applied to the overthrow of the throne. The rope in their hands (the opposition) should have been attached somewhere else.

The Advertiser is adopting the trick of advertising its own productions "at the best in the market," claiming to be the only paper that had official reports of the late inquiry. Yet strange to say it omitted the direct examination of seven witnesses, the cross examination of three, and presents Mr. Davidson's remarks in a "made" form. Can't get no increase of patronage on that showing, Messrs. Editors!

Captain Hayley yesterday made the first step towards the compliance with the law relating to the location of the mounted police and took a dozen of his force forward, per steamer Kilauea Hou, to Wailuku, Maui. The men and horses appeared well trained and showed that both time and labor had been expended on their instruction, but this late action on the part of the officials looks like an attempt to dodge the wrath of the coming Legislature.

The position of Jailor at Oahu Prison is authoritively spoken of as being held at the disposal of the chief member of the South Sea embassy, and who is expected to shortly return here. Marshal Parke has the power to make the appointment subject to the approval of the Minister of the Interior, so the law reads, but there is considerable doubt relative to either of those persons having had much to say about the present candidate.

Rev. Father Bouchard, the Jesuit priest who has been conducting the mission services held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral during the past two weeks, has ended his labors and gone on a visit to the Volcano on Hawaii. Before his departure the English speaking Catholics of the diocese tendered the reverend gentleman their thanks for the services rendered and also presented him with a purse of about $300 to cover his expenses.

So a fine restaurant is to be erected on a portion of the land belonging to the Premier, near Aliiolani Hale. The lines upon which the siege of independent members of the State Legislature of California was carried on a few years ago, seem as if they were going to be repeated here. What was the name of the establishment near the State House in Sacramento? was it the Rooster's Roost? or what was it?

The Pacific Commercial Advertiser, already notorious for the many proprietary and editorial changes, has now been changed itself and made its appearance on the 2nd inst., in a quarto form of twelve pages. The old volume ends with No. 36, and Vol. XXIX commences with the above alterations. Neither names of publishers, proprietors, printers or editors appear now in the columns of our contemporary, so we compliment the paper itself on its improved appearance.

The following officers were installed last Monday night Feb. 4th at the K of P Hall by Lodge Deputy J. R. Atherton of Algaroba Lodge I. O. G. T.: P. W. C. T., William Clark; W. C. T., N. F. Burgess; R. H. S., D. Collins; L. H. S. Miss A. Carter; W. V. T., Miss E. J. Walker; W. S., J. H. Hare; W. F. S. Miss Frances Lock; W. T. R. F. Burgess; W. M., Jas. McGuire Jr.; W. D. M., Minnie Bolster; W. I. G., Miss E. Carter; W. O. G., Jas. McGuire Jr.; Chaplain, Mrs. A. J. Burgess.

Sr Carter gives an unqualified denial to the statement in the "organ" that he was prepared to support the ministry. What Mr. Carter said was that if it could be proved to him that the ministry was innocent of all charges then, and then only would he give it his support. He was against their measures in point of fact, but held no personal hostility. He added however, that with evidence in his possession it would be impossible to show a clear record.

The Kinau will return on Friday, and will be put on the Marine Railway on Saturday. Though the steamer has only been running since Nov. 23d, her bottom is covered with grass and barnacles. If there had been no marine railway it would have been impossible to continue running the steamer, and the project was one which the Premier was pleased to deride, or at least object. This, like many another project for the advancement of the commercial interests of Hawaii, which he has set his hand against, has proved a thorough boon to the country.

The saintly quartette Baker, Lilikalani, Keau and Kaulukou, called a meeting at the new Ministerial meeting on the evening of the 4th inst., which was attended by about 150 people, not over one-third of whom were voters. The proceedings were opened by prayer by John Akina, sexton of one of the churches of the city (which fact alone tends to prove more ominous towards the death of the party than to the obtaining of new life) after which, political pabulum was dispensed by the well known (bad) Lilikalani and Kaulukou. But little enthusiasm prevailed.

A very large and pleasant gathering of people took place at the residence of Mr. Thomas Campbell, Nuuanu valley, on the evening of the 31st ult., the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter Miss Addie Campbell to one of Honolulu's master mechanics, Mr. Joseph Howie. The happy pair were joined in the holy bonds by Rev. Dr. Damon, the bride being seconded by Miss Lizzie Campbell and Miss Lillie Baldwin as bridesmaids, Messrs J. E. Wiseman and Thomas Buchanan performing groomsman service for the blushing groom. The bridal pair were the recipients of numerous elegant and costly presents and it is hoped that their future will be as happy as was desired by the expressed wishes of their assembled friends.

HAWAII.

The schr. Emma Claudina left Hilo for Papaiku, on Monday morning Jan. 28, to take in sugar from Hitchcock's plantation.

A gilded five cent piece was palmed off on a native, at Hilo, on Sunday Jan. 27, by a stranger, for a five-dollar gold piece. The piece resembles strongly the U. S. five dollar piece on one side, but the reverse side has the unmistakeable V, instead of the eagle.

Chinese New Year commenced at Hilo on Friday Jan. 25, by a great firing off of crackers and Chinese bombs. Saturday was a rainy day—especially the evening. Sunday was very quiet, not a firecracker to be heard, the day being spent by the Celestials in sucking and receiving calls. Monday morning's light was ushered in by the unmistakable Chinese fire-cracker and bomb.

The Buckle Inquiry.

The death of William Buckle, Governor of Oahu Jail, on the 27th inst., has greatly disturbed people in general during the past week on account of the somewhat incompatible testimony presented before the jury convened by Coroner Dayton to make an inquiry into the case. There is no hesitation, by those present during the examination, in condemning the manner in which the witnesses were provided, as it were, with answers to questions, promulgated by the Coroner. The Marshal was present during a great portion of the time but a capable law officer from the Attorney-General's department, was conspicuous by his absence. The inquiry, considering the official bungling which preceded it should have been watched over by a competent legal officer on the part of the Crown who could make a report as to the manner in which the inquiry had been conducted. Below is given a summary of the testimony taken:

Summary of the Testimony

DR BRODIE said that, he was called by a telephone message to the Prison, at between 5 and 6 o'clock on the morning of the 27th. Went there and then found that Mr Buckle had been injured and that the body was being conveyed to his home on Liliha street. The doctor went thither; found the injured man dead, and on a cursory examination found some bruises on the head; he probed them but could not find that the skull was fractured. At the post mortem examination (held at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 27th) he examined the head of deceased, in company with Dr McKibbin. Thought that the injuries could have been made with a blunt instrument. Did not examine the body or hands.

DR MCKIBBIN. Examined the body of deceased at 4 p.m. on the 27th, in company with Dr Brodie. Thought from the bruise on the cheek and the nature of the wounds on the head that they were more apt to be caused by a fall on the coral rocks, where deceased was found, than by a blunt instrument. The brain would have appeared the same whether death was caused by a fall or by a blow of a blunt instrument. In apoplexy, death would not have resulted so quickly.

MRS KEALA GLOVER. Was one of those present at the luau at Henry Kaia's house on the night of the 26th and early morning of the 27th. The deceased and his children were there. Did not see deceased when he left. She left there about 11 o'clock in company with daughters of deceased and went with them to the Jail. Inside met deceased and Malaihi the head turnkey. She drank some "sour mash whiskey" with Malaihi but deceased did not drink. She left the prison at about 11.30 o'clock in company with Malaihi to return to the feast. Deceased was sober when she left his company at that hour.

MALAIHI. This witness is the head turnkey of the Jail: he stated, that he left the Jail in company with Mrs. Glover, accompanied her to the luau, and returned again to the prison. When he arrived back he went up stairs to the dining-room, deceased was there with his daughters. Stood a few moments and then went down to the hall. Deceased came down shortly and both went into the office of the Jail to transact some unimportant business. Witness and deceased afterwards went up stairs to the dining-room and had a glass of wine together. It was a little past midnight when witness retired, he having left deceased in the dining-room, and that was the last time that he saw him alive. He was awoke from sleep by hearing the noise of breaking glass, thought first one of the pictures in his room had fallen, on examination found that it was from the window. Called a guard, Pahana, told him of the circumstance and thinking that it was some drunken person outside who had broken the window by throwing something in, the guard went out to see. Witness followed soon after and met the guard returning and who told him that "Buckle was dead." Both witness and the guard then returned to the place where deceased was lying. Deceased was lying on his left side, with his head on the curbstones, and his hands extended. A "curious feeling" came over witness, he returned to the prison and gave an alarm. Witness went out again in company with Charles Clark (son-in-law of deceased) and others, picked up the body, brought it into the prison, and afterwards sent it to the family residence. He was of opinion that deceased had fallen from the roof. Charles Clarke had awoke the witness about 3.30 a.m. but he went to sleep afterwards and was awoke by the crash of the glass.

PAHANA. A guard, on duty in the hallway from 3 to 6 a.m. on the morning of the occurrence. He did not know whether Mr. Buckle was in or out when he went on watch. Afterwards heard from the guard at the gate that deceased was out. [If this witness' testimony is to be believed as interpreted, the jail regulations are a farce, he stating that he relieved the guard at 2, (when the regular hour is 3 o'clock,) did it of his own accord, no authority, rules are there, printed, but the guards do as they please. Can go around outside when they are on watch if they desire to, etc., etc.] The deceased came in the prison after 4 o'clock and spoke to witness. Called Charles Clark at 3.45. When deceased came in he had on a coat, pants and smoking cap. Witness judged deceased had been drinking rum. Deceased came in a little after 4 a.m. It was dark; he went up stairs alone. After the crash the first person seen by witness was Malaihi; he (M.) came from his own room, he was only partly dressed. Malaihi said to him that a picture was broken; Waiola was also present. Saw the glass broken in Malaihi's room; went to see who had broken the window. Witness was the first at the body of deceased; came back and told Malaihi and then Malaihi went out with him. Think the bell was struck at 5 o'clock, afterwards heard the crash.

WAIWAI, another prison guard, on duty from 12 to 3 a. m. Was stationed in the hall, Pahana relieved him. Witness saw the deceased at 1 a. m. he went out of the prison, alone. Deceased said he was going "knocking". Did not see deceased return. Was in his bed when he heard of death of deceased. Went out with others to the body. In answer to questions by lawyer Davidson, witness stated: deceased had woolen coat and pants on and slippers when he went out. Deceased came from up stairs, and was under the influence of liquor but not staggering. The prison regulations are strict. Witness was not relieved from duty until 3 o'clock; he saw the clock.

WAIALOA, the lamp boy of the jail; saw deceased when he came in, it was past 4 o'clock, came in alone. Deceased spoke to Pahana, a guard, and then went up stairs. Heard a noise after 5 o'clock; sounded like glass breaking; Malaihi told witness and Pahana that his window was broken. Found glass on the floor of Malaihi's room. Pahana went outside to see who broke the window.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Malaihi was not dressed, had no pants nor drawers on. Saw deceased go up stairs, he was not staggering but appeared to have been drinking. Witness called Charles Clark when he heard the alarm and that Mr. Buckle was dead.

KEAHI. A guard on duty at the gate from 3 to 6 a.m. Saw deceased when he came in on the morning of the 27th. It was past 4 o'clock. Deceased said he had been enjoying Chinese New Year and had just returned. That was the last time witness saw him alive. I heard a noise after 5 o'clock. The inner guard Pahana was the first who asked me if I heard it. He then went in and came out with a lantern and went outside the jail. He came back and said deceased was lying outside. I did not leave the gate. Malaihi gave the alarm by ringing the bell.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Deceased did not stagger when he came in. He had on a coat and pants.

POLICE CAPTAIN J. A. MEHRTENS who seemed to have examined the body more carefully than the two medical experts, stated that he washed and dressed the deceased at the house. Saw two cuts on the left side of the head, a jagged scratch on the left cheek, the left ear badly torn, the flesh on the second and third fingers of the right hand were cut into the bone and the second finger was broken. The little finger on the left hand was also broken.

CHARLES CLARK. (Son-in-law of deceased and who was sleeping in the jail on the morning of the occurrence.) Was called by Pahana at 3.15 a. m. on the 27th; dressed and let out two stewards, a lamp boy, and a prisoner named Andreas. Took in the meat. Was told by the guard that Malaihi had left orders to let his men out. Went and asked Malaihi and then let the men out. Then went to bed and slept until the alarm was given on the finding of the body of deceased. I went to the body, took deceased's watch from his pocket, there was blood on the watch. Witness acknowledged being very much excited. Malaihi brought a bier on which the body was placed and taken into the prison, and afterwards took the body to the family residence. Met Dr. Brodie between the bridge and the prison and told him to go to the house. Witness' wife had telephoned for the doctor.

(To Mr. Davidson.) Have heard a dispute between Malaihi and deceased. Can't say whether they were on good terms or bad terms. Have known Pahana to answer deceased impudently. Heard no noise before the alarm. There were quite a number of coral stones where the body lay. The doctor probed the wounds and said that the skull was not fractured.

MAKI KALEIHEHAWA. A prisoner, under a life sentence for murder. Heard a noise at broad daylight. Was in my cell at the time. Heard that Mr. Buckle was dead. After my cell door was opened went into Malaihi's room and found two panes of glass in the window broken and one cracked and the glass all over the floor. The sash of the window was broken. All the pieces were inside. There was blood on the lower corner of the sill. Witness washed it off.

(To Mr. Davidson.) My cell door is locked every night. Malaihi opened the cell doors that morning. Told a Portuguese woman (a foreigner) that Mr. Buckle was dead. Prisoners in the hall told witness. The turnkey told her. Witness did not see the body brought in; only heard of it.

MARIA ROSA, a female prisoner, confined for theft. Was awake at the hour of the occurrence, had a baby in arms which kept her awake. Heard the noise of the breaking of the window and then the falling of the body. Before hearing the noise of the window heard noises on the roof. Heard some one moving about after the fall of the body. It was about 4.30 a.m. Saw Malaihi about ten minutes after, he had on black pants and had on a shirt. I saw him after the bell rang.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Heard the voices of persons on the roof. Think it was 3.30. Recognized deceased's voice. Heard a struggle on the roof before I heard the glass breaking or the fall. Am sure that the struggle or noise was not in Malaihi's room. Saw Mary cleaning away the blood and dirt from Malaihi's room and window. Malaihi sent a man to see what was the matter before he opened the door. Saw the lamp-boy (Waiola) sitting near the place he keeps his lamps. Did not see Malaihi go out of his room. Mary was the only one I saw go in. Saw Pahana down stairs.

ANNE (another female prisoner.) Was in the jail that morning. Heard footsteps overhead before the crash. Afterwards heard footsteps returning to the dining room. Malihi told me afterwards that his window was broken. Heard him speak or call out a few moments after the crash.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Heard no commotion on the roof before the fall. Heard no struggling. First heard steps going out on the roof, then the crash, then the footsteps coming back.

MR. DUNN, operator in the telephone office testifies to receiving a message from the jail at 5.20 o'clock on the morning of the 27th. Received only one call from there.

HOOKIKEI, an engine driver, said that he was coming from his house mauka of the prison at 5 a. m.; saw Andreas a prisoner with a lantern standing about where the deceased was lying. Andreas walked toward the upper end of the prison, witness kept on towards King street. Saw Malaihi come out; heard Malaihi ask Andreas "is he dead, sure?" (make loa) Was only a short distance from them at the time; heard conversation distinctly; saw something lying on the footpath.

ANDREW CAMICHEN, a prisoner serving sentence for murder, stated, Clark let me out in the morning about 4.30 o'clock, went to the stable, and did work there. Malaihi came for a board and told me "Buckle was dead." I had a lantern and looked around for a board. Got one and then went with it to where deceased was lying.

(By Mr Davidson.) I passed the place when I first came out at 4.30. Deceased was not there then. There was a lot of blood, and, after the body was removed, witness and another prisoner washed it away by order of Malaihi.

KAUMIKE, was at the luau and came homeward with deceased on his last return to the jail. Parted with deceased some distance this side of the mauka entrance. Deceased was not then drunk.

HENRY KAAIA, at whose house the luau was held, stated that the deceased came there at two different times; only saw him take one drink; deceased left with Kaumake after 4 o'clock; deceased had liquor in him but was not drunk.

MALAIHI was recalled and testified that there was no ill-feeling between deceased and himself.

COUNSEL DAVIDSON'S REMARKS.

Mr. Davidson at the close of the taking of the testimony, addressed the jury as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury: This has been an unusually protracted trial. No one was suspected to an extent that would require their being brought before you to testify as to their guilt, but the law requires and makes it the duty of the Coroner that when a sudden death occurs there should be an inquiry to ascertain if any foul means have been adopted. Mr. Buckle was well known, and in perfect health on Saturday. He was well enough to go to a friend's entertainment, and went again because he could not rest at home from the noise of the Chinese New Year. He was highly esteemed, and it is not known that he had any enemies. The fact of finding the body being reported to the Coroner, he has summoned you six gentlemen to inquire into the case. Much time would have been saved by not moving the body or its surroundings until a jury had inspected them. As nobody is accused of using violence, it does not become me to comment upon the testimony. I came on behalf of the family to assist the Coroner in having a full and thorough investigation. It now behooves you to return a verdict, upon the facts before you, according to your best reason and judgment."

At 7 p.m. on the 29th, the jury retired to make their verdict, having patiently heard the testimony taken through the two protracted sittings, the first sitting commencing at 2 p.m. on the 28th and closing at 3 a.m. on the 29th and the second sitting commencing at 1.30 p.m. and ending at 6.30 p.m. on the 29th. After three hours of deliberation, (over an hour of which was spent in endeavoring to obtain native words that would convey their idea of "unknown cause") the following verdict, subscribed to by all, was returned, viz. "That the said William Buckle came to his death from injuries received by a fall from the top of the wall of the jail, said fall occurring by some cause unknown to the jury."

The verdict thus rendered has added to, instead of diminishing the feeling existing amongst a great many persons that there had been foul play and a GAZETTE representative was specially detailed to work up the various rumors afloat. After forty-eight hours hard work during which fourteen people, whose names do not appear in the list of witnesses, were questioned, including five prisoners in the jail, a personal examination of Malaihi for signs of leprosy, and a personal trial of the possibility of the window being reached from the parapet, the following opinion is reported, that, the deceased arrived at the jail at 4.45 that he was under the influence of liquor, that he first went to his room and then to the roof, (probably) walked on the roof, instead of the platform which leads direct to a turret, and fell through one of the openings. "Dead men tell no tales" an earlier inquiry would have probably resulted more satisfactorily to the family and friends of the deceased and the general public.

Ancient Roads on Maui.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—I do not intend to enter into a newspaper controversy, but a statement made by "Vis" in the Advertiser of the 28th ult., viz: that the plantations west of Maliko Gulch, have fenced all the ancient roads," should not go unchallenged. "Vis" there speaks of one closed ten years ago. As that was before my time, I can only say that had it been important that the public should have a road at that place, surely something would have been done about it ere this.

As to the others, five years ago, this part of the district was all open and any person desiring to fish or swim wended his way according to his own sweet will to any part of the beach that suited him. Jurors going to Lahaina, started straight across the commons and as so doing year after year made quite an "ancient road." A man wishing to put up a mill or build a foundation, looked along the sea beach until he found sand that suited his purpose, sent his carts for it and if it were rainy weather they made one of those "ancient roads." Cattle herded all around here and in going to and from water made more "ancient roads," and so on until as "Vis" says they were "numerous."

But about government roads, yes, there were those too and they are fenced out, recognized and marked by the government to the extent of more than 50 miles in this district, only one that I am aware of having been closed, viz: the Makawao and Kahului road, and that by Spreckels' plantation, temporarily with gates, which have since been removed.

As I have said there were trails, or, as "Vis" calls them—"ancient roads" running in all directions, one the Lahaina trail, running clear across the commons, another to the sea via. "McCoppin's house," another just below the "Waihee pasture," and so on; yet, who would think of asking Mr. Spreckels to spend thousands of dollars to fence out those old trails, or the government to mark them. There was no road however, "ancient" nor modern to the railway terminus, simply because there was no railway; but after it was built the people of Makawao found it more convenient to get their goods and ship freight there than to go to Kahului, and to accommodate them Mr. Baldwin allowed them to go through his land until they could arrange to get a government road, putting up gates, building bridges and keeping the road passable.

The government would not, nor did not work the road, and when a couple years ago the road supervisor, seeing the bad condition of the road, told the luna to work it, the luna told him that the supervisor in chief who lived in the district, said it was not a government road and not to work it, and so it was not worked.

Now it is important that the people of Makawao should have access to Paia on a public road that will be kept up by the government, and they can have it by opening about one and a half miles of road from Paia and intersecting the Makawao and Kahului at the public school house, which will answer all purposes. But notwithstanding that there are already more than 50 miles of roads in this district, and the money appropriated for working them spent, and work ordered stopped. "Vis" proposes opening about 17 miles more of roads, and one of them 5 miles long, to start at a rock and to terminate at a patch.

Trusting this account about "ancient roads" may be satisfactory, I remain yours truly, Eno.

Makawao, Feb. 1st, 1884.

Bi-metallism

From Bradstreet's is clipped the following article on the subject of bi-metallism, which is well worthy the perusal of those who favor the double standard:

"Theodore Mommsen, the celebrated professor of history at the University of Berlin, and an opponent of the bimetallists, has lately published in a German journal (Die Nation) an essay showing how the experience of ancient Rome may be applied to the question at issue. Drawing his illustrations from an edict published at the time of the Emperor Julian fixing the pay of lawyers in measures of wheat or their equivalent, he says that this shows how, in its dotage and decline, Rome was forced to adopt the same measures of value which had been in use in those early days when coin had not become available. In the best days of Roman rule, when gold was the measure of value, the coins of Rome had conquered the ancient world quite as much as its sword. They were strictly equal in value to the amount stamped on them, and from the eastern to the western confines of the empire they were accepted as the standard measures of value. But the unfortunate policy of the empire in fixing by law the relative values of gold and silver without confining the use of silver to the payment of small sums led to a slow and gradual but certain debasement of the coinage. Julius and Augustus Cæsar had not the same difficulties to contend with as the Germans of to-day. No other state then existing could dispute the universal supremacy of Rome in commerce as well as arms, and the coinage of gold had been so plentiful that for a time silver was only used in small amounts. Owing, however, to the mistaken policy referred to, silver gradually drove gold out of circulation, and the silver coin was debased by alloys, and at last became but little more than plated copper. The commercial world became in consequence slaves of dishonest money-changers, and as we see from the documents which have come down to us from the times of Julian, coin finally ceased to be recognized as a measure of value and was replaced by the cumbrous wheat. Professor Mommsen argues that this was the consequence of a policy of bimetallism under the most favorable circumstances in Rome, the same policy would lead to still more disastrous results in the complicated arrangements of modern commercial and international relations."

Submarine Eruption off Hawaii.

A submarine eruption occurred on the 22d of January, off the east Cape of Hawaii, which was witnessed by Charles N. Spencer and others. It consisted of a terrific explosion, by which a column of water was thrown six hundred feet into the air, accompanied with most terrific detonations, as if a battery of cannon had been discharged. These noises were so loud as to be distinctly heard forty miles away, and continued for several hours, and it is probable that the water was disturbed during the whole day. But as dense smoke and steam, which came from the submarine eruption, filled the air and prevented any further observations, nothing was afterwards seen of it during the day. The occurrence was followed by a storm of wind and rain, which lasted only a few hours. The next day was clear and pleasant.

A Warning to the Young.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In November an article appeared in the local papers in regard to two young men, Mr. Chessman and Dr. Craig. Chessman, as the article stated, is highly connected in Chicago, being the only son of wealthy parents, he had been indulged and his slightest wish humored till leaving home he turned out as the people of Honolulu know. Chessman went from here to San Francisco, thence to Chicago where he arrived Dec. 20th, to the once happy home he had left only one year previously. But, alas! what a change. The home was no more, the kind, indulgent father having died on Nov. 18, only one month prior to his son's return. Not knowing where their son was at the time, his friends telegraphed all over the States for him, but the poor mother and little sister had to bear their sorrow alone. Mr. Chessman (the father) was a thorough Christian, a prominent member of the 1st Presbyterian Church, Supt. of the Sunday school and a leader in all good works. Young Chessman has had a hard lesson taught him, may it prove a lesson to other young men who willfully leave their homes in a similar manner. MONITOR.

Our New York Letter.

COMMERCIAL. A BOOM AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

NEW YORK, January 14, 1884.

The year 1883 closed with an unbroken record of decline in prices of leading staple food products and leading articles of merchandise. The period of liquidation which began early in 1882 has continued for twenty months. The topic of the hour among business men now is, whether we have reached the bottom. The causes of enforced economy in production due to restricted purchases on all hands, have been too frequently outlined to require elaborate explanation. The latter half of 1879 had witnessed several seasons of good crops at home and correspondingly short harvests in Europe. The United States had been selling abroad freely of its surplus produce and this, in connection with the six preceding years of moderate purchases by consumers had brought the country as a whole to a degree of well-to-do-itiveness which showed itself in rapidly increasing demands for almost every article of commerce, and, by the aid of the still remaining high protective war tariff on imported products, stimulated our native industries in a marked degree. The country had outrun itself, somewhat, in the so called boom of 1870-72. From 1873 to 1879 it had paid the penalty and aided by favoring weather and fertile soil had laid the foundations for another spurt. This began in the mid-summer and fall of 1879. Of the enormous increase in industrial producing capacity from 1880 to 1882 it is unnecessary to speak at length. The great railway building era is comprised in that period and steel rail mills were constructed which enabled the railway kings to lay from 7,000 to 12,000 miles of rails per annum. All other industries to a considerable extent kept pace with this, and in two or three years greatly exceeded the home requirements. Railway building had fallen far behind its own records, cotton and woollen mills had increased their annual output until the goods remained in the warehouses in sufficient quantity to warn the proprietors that for the time being the public were stocked. To complicate this, there came the new cotton mills at the south where the raw material was to be obtained without paying the freight which entered perforce into the accounts of the New England mills. In this way competition injured the business and prospects of the northern and eastern mills employed on the class of fabrics undertaken at the south. Failures were not unknown as a result, and the several mammoth cotton goods auction sales taking place at New York during the year just past constituted the means taken to turn surplus, and not readily saleable stocks into cash. The blanket sales during the same season and of kindred proportions tells of the pinch which came to the woollen industry. In raw iron there was an enforced stoppage of about eighty-five furnaces between January 1st, 1883, and January 1st, 1884. Prices had declined during the year from $25.50 to $20, and many of the less efficient stocks found it impossible to do business profitably. Some few steel rail mills have shut down—or practically so. One, at Joliet, Ill., and the Vulcan at St. Louis. While the latter may not have actually banked its fires it is known to be turning orders—at market rates, over to other mills.

LOOKING UP.

But since the first of the year there has been sufficient modification of some of the vital elements in the trade situation to at least warrant the inquiry whether a change for the better has not finally begun. It appears to rest mainly on a slight gain in the pig iron, and a still greater improvement in the steel rail situation. The tradition that the iron trade is a gauge to the general business situation, and the record of that industry apparently justifies the relation between it and commerce in most leading lines. Iron is generally first to feel an approaching decline, and likewise earliest in the field with symptoms of something better. At present, reports from most of the western pig iron producing centers mention a somewhat increased inquiry and a noticeably improved feeling among producers and dealers. At some points prices are quoted fairer, and at all fewer concessions in prices can be obtained on cash orders. It is especially noteworthy that some moderately large contracts for delivery, month by month during the year, have been contracted in New York at $20 per ton. This is significant as indicating the existence—even the growth of the opinion, that bottom prices in iron have been reached, and that no better bargains are to be gained by waiting. Once let this opinion prevail throughout the trade, and the turn will have been made. Demand will increase and prices advance. Production is now about equal to the hand-to-mouth species of consumption which has been current so long. Steel rails have been quoted at $35 per ton since last fall. Sales have been made at lower figures, in a few instances. Now $35 is more firmly asked. One small sale has been made at $37. This however, is hardly to be taken as a warrant to higher prices at once.

HOW THE MARKET WAS STRENGTHENED.

At the risk of being somewhat personal I may as well relate to you how this fact was used during the week in market manipulation. From unquestioned authority in the steel rail producing trade I learned of the sale on Friday last (January 11th) and mentioned the small sale of rails at 37 in the market report of a leading New York commercial and financial weekly journal, adding as well that it was an exceptional transaction and of small volume. Said iron trade report was telegraphed in advance of publication here, to the Philadelphia Press and published in that journal simultaneously with its public appearance in New York. The trade in the quiet old Quaker town were evidently interested by the statement and it was retelegraphed to New York, (on Saturday, day before yesterday) to the Stock Exchange. There it appeared in the shape of "a Philadelphia dispatch stating that steel rails had advanced to $37, a gain of $2 per ton. This, and "rumors" of a more satisfactory solution of the north western railway pool troubles than had been expected, was considered probable "strengthened the market" in the afternoon. At least the New York Evening Post said so.

A SMALLER VOLUME OF TRADE.

The volume of general trade—i. e. the distribution of merchandise is smaller than in a like period in 1882. Railway earnings of the roads centering at Cincinnati and at Chicago distinctly show this. The severe cold weather since the opening of the year, has decreased cattle shipments, and the heavy fall of snow has delayed railway transportation in various portions of the east and west. The sudden change in temperature during the week melted the snow fast and the Ohio and other rivers tributary thereto have risen so high as to interfere with navigation and cause damage from overflow; but this will not account for all the decrease in the movement of goods noted.

A SENSATION.

The sensation in commercial circles has been the perverse decline in wheat. Two houses failed yesterday owing to the persistent decline in the price of that grain when it should, if foreign food buyers would only send over their orders for it—materially advance. Saturday wheat dropped 2¼ cents per bushel to about $1.04½ and two cents more again this morning. On December 15th, it stood at about $1.13½. The aggregate of stocks of wheat in the United States—the so-called visible supply is over 35,000,000 bushels, larger than ever before. We have been banking this supply in the expectation that by January 1st the United Kingdom would have eaten pretty well into what she had on hand three months ago and would want more. The Russian ports being closed at this time, and the Indian shipment being interrupted, it was calculated that the heavy supplies in the United States would be wanted abroad, and at our own prices. But British stocks are larger than they were three months ago. That tells the whole story.

TARIFF TALK.

In Congress there is much tariff talk and little present prospect of much being done in the way of reducing the excessive revenue by cutting down rates of import duties. The protectionist element of the democracy appears to be strong enough, if voting with the republicans to block any action which the Carlisle or revenue reform democrats may attempt.

PERRY BELMONT.

Perry Belmont, second instead of first best man on the Committee on Foreign Affairs, was pointed out to me from the gallery of the House of Representatives the other day. I wish he could go out to Honolulu so that you might all take one look at the little toy who stirred up so much commotion out your way with allegations as to sugar frauds. With him, it is a clear case of doing business on his father's reputation. He is the most over rated young man who has had an opportunity to fill so large a share of the public eye, so young in life.

SOCIAL PLEASURES.

New York has been very gay of late. The grand annual charity ball was given at the new Metropolitan Opera House, and was much the same success that its predecessors have been. The representatives of New York's best society were nearly all there and the affair went stiffly and properly and formally and luxuriously on from about eleven in the "evening" until a good deal later. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the old gentleman, gave the swell entertainment, for the house of Vanderbilt, this year. William has at last been swallowed, so to speak, by the class of "real select" New York society who once scouted at the idea of receiving or being received by the "Many Millioniare of railroad fame." He is too recently from the walks of trade, or commerce, or both. In the case of the "real select" referred to, it is only fathers or grandfathers who have worked for them. The gilded pill, or "Bill" as you choose, was however too tempting not to be swallowed, and so as stated above, at William's "party" they all went, danced, ate and doubtless had a good time, but found fault with it the next morning (noon?) for the want of taste in this, that and the other direction. The generally accepted opinion as to the cost of the Vanderbilt ball is $100,000. From this you may readily infer that $50,000 would be nearer the exact sum.

DELMONICO.

Charles Delmonico, the last of the series of "original" Delmonicos, who have for years conducted the world renowned restaurants in this city which bear that name, has been notoriously of deranged mind for many months. It was the mistaken kindness of his friends and relatives, that he was not placed in charge of some institution where they attempt systematically to cure such diseases. His whereabouts have been unknown for over a week and the police of three cities in this vicinity as well as the ablest detectives have been on the alert for him night and day without avail. The belief gains ground that he has committed suicide and that his body may or may not be found in some of the canals, rivers or other bodies of water in New Jersey, where he has been traced. The daily papers have published likenesses of the man and much space is given over to discussing the mysterious disappearance of one of a noted and very popular family. Mr. Delmonico is, (or was) worth considerably in excess of $1,000,000. Kidnapping has been suggested, but is not received as probable.

A. C. STEVENS.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands—January Term 1884.

THE KING VS. MAHUKALULU.

Judd, C. J., McCully and Austin, J. J.—Opinion of the Court by McCully, J.

Bill of exceptions from the third Judicial Circuit Court.

The defendant was convicted on an indictment charging forging and uttering an instrument of which the following is a copy.

$70.00. Honolulu, Sept. 14, 188_.

......after date......promise to pay to the order of...... Mahukalulu ...... Seventy ......Dollars, at...... Mr. Hyman B. Value Received.

No. 134. Due...... Geo. Willyon.

The words in italics form the printed blank which is filled. The testimony shows that the name intended to be the signature was Geo. Willing. The note was offered by the defendant to the proprietors of a Chinese store who cashed it.

The defendant's first exception is based on the provision in the chapter on forgery. Penal Code, Chap. XXX, Sec. 7 "Provided however, that it is essential to constitute forgery, that the false instrument should carry on its face the semblance of that for which it was counterfeited and it should not be obviously invalid, void and of no effect."

In the King vs. Heleliilii, heard on exceptions at the last July Term, the Court considered a case precisely parallel to this, and the reasoning and authorities there employed need not be repeated here.

The line discriminating between such false instruments as do not bear the semblance of that of which they are counterfeits and those which do bear it, must be determined by the complexion of each case as it arises, and it is not likely to exclude from the class of forgeries, papers which are intended for forgeries and which have been successfully uttered.

The next exception is to the admission of evidence of the defendants having another draft for $100, about a week before his arrest and his statements concerning it. This was offered to show guilty knowledge and to rebut the presumption of innocence through ignorance. This is established doctrine in cases of forgery and counterfeiting. See Greenleaf's Evidence, Vol. 3, Secs. 111 and 111 A, where many authorities are cited, also 115 Mass. 481 Com. v. Coe.

The third exception, to the question what prisoner did with the said $100, note comes under the ruling on the foregoing exception.

And finally we do not find that the verdict was against the weight of evidence.

The exceptions are overruled.

Attorney-General Neumann, W. C. Jones for defendant.

Honolulu, Jan. 28, 1884.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands—January Term. 1884—In Banco.

JOHN ROBELLO VS. WONG QUING.

Judd C. J., McCully and Austin J. J.—Opinion of the Court per Judd C. J.

This is an appeal by the defendant to the Supreme Court in Banco, on a point of law, from a judgment in the Police Court of Honolulu.

The action purports to be brought in pursuance of the Statute entitled "Of summary proceedings to recover possession of land in certain cases." Civil Code, Art. 40, and amendment in 1864.

There is in evidence a mortgage upon certain premises on Liliha street, in Honolulu, dated 29th July, 1881, executed by Naukana, (w.) and David Kanae her husband, to one Maria Lowrey, securing the payment of $500 and interest, in two years from date.

Also a lease of the same premises from the said mortgagors to Wong Quing, (defendant) dated March 20th, 1882, for ten years from date, at the annual rental of $65, by which the lessees covenants to pay the rent at Mr. W. R. Castle's office until the mortgage is paid. The inference would be that Mr. Castle represented the mortgagee. There is also the following covenant: "This lease is made subject to the aforesaid mortgage, and if the land should be sold upon foreclosure of the mortgage, then this lease can be annulled."

There is in evidence further, a deed dated 24th Sept., 1883, from F. C. Lowrey, describing himself as heir of Maria Lowrey the mortgagee first mentioned, to John Robello, (plaintiff) conveying to him upon foreclosure all the interest which he possessed by the mortgage.

The defendant urges that there is no relation of landlord and tenant existing between him and the plaintiff and that therefore the statutory proceeding to dispossess a tenant does not apply. He claims that if the plaintiff as the mortgagor's assignee adopts the lease, then he is bound by it and as the lease has not expired the defendant is entitled to judgment. And if the plaintiff claims the lease to be void as being subsequent to the mortgage, then there is no relation or tenancy between the parties and the defendant is a trespasser.

This Court held in Kaaihoe vs. Crabbe, 3 Hawn. R. 776, that the statute we are now considering applies "only where the relation of landlord and tenant confessedly exists." This was affirmed in Coney vs. Manele 4 Hawn. R. 154.

In Taylor's Landlord and Tenant, Sec. 720, the author says, in discussing a similar statute in New York State: "This statute applies to cases where the conventional relation of landlord and tenant subsists and not where it is created by operation of law. Therefore a mortgagor cannot be turned out of possession of the mortgaged premises under this statute."

In Evertson vs. Sutton, 5 Wend., 281, Savage C. J. says: "This statute is applicable between landlord and tenant only. No such relation existed between J. and T., the whole proceedings therefore from beginning to end, have been without jurisdiction and void.

"The statute was clearly designed to afford a speedy remedy where the conventional relation of landlord and tenant existed and not where that relation is created by operation of law. The legislature never intended that the mortgagee should have a right to proceed under this statute to obtain possession of the mortgaged premises after forfeiture."

This is undoubtedly good law. But the relation of landlord and tenant in the matter before us is not created by operation of law, as in the case of a mortgagor and mortgagee. It is created by the lease itself and the lessee is estopped to deny this. The tenant agreed in his lease that it should be forfeited if the premises were sold under foreclosure of the mortgage.

Our statute, as amended, differs from that of New York in that it confers jurisdiction upon the court when the tenant is holding over "without right after the determination of such tenancy either by efflux of time or by reason of any forfeiture under the conditions or covenants in any such lease."

It seems to us that, if it be true as conceded in argument that the grantee of a lessor can bring summary proceedings under the statute to dispossess a tenant who persists in remaining on the land after the determination of the tenancy, for any statutory cause, there is no reason why the grantee of a mortgagee, succeeding to all the rights of the mortgagor, who was also grantor and lessor, cannot do the same.

The method of transferring the estate from the lessor to the defendant is only a little more circuitous than a direct sale from lessor to defendant. It was a condition in the lease that it should be annulled if the premises were sold under foreclosure. The defendant lessee entered the premises by virtue of this lease and covenanted to pay the rent to the mortgagee and he cannot now say that it is void and that he is a trespasser. The assignee of the title now claims that the lease is void by reason of the happening of an event which was contemplated both by the lessor and the defendant, and we think the plaintiff, is, on these facts, entitled to judgment for the possession of the land.

The defendant's attorney called the Court's attention to the fact that the summons does not allege a tenancy between the parties. An omission of this character was held in Coney vs. Manele (supra) to be fatal. But in that case the motion to dismiss the summons on this ground was made in the District Court. In the case before us the motion was not only not made in the lower Court so that the defendant could cure the defect by amendment, but the case was proceeded with as if the allegation of tenancy had been in the summons. The proofs all conformed to such a case. We think it is too late to dismiss the case on such grounds on appeal, and allow the plaintiff to amend his summons in this respect, and he may then have judgment.

C. Brown for plaintiff; E. Preston for defendant.

A new explosive has been invented by M. Turpin, a Parisian chemist. It is said to be very powerful, and unlike nitro-glycerine, dynamite and gun-cotton, it has the highly important property of not being affected by concussion. It is made by the combination of two liquids, which can be transported like ordinary chemicals, and need only be mixed when the explosive is about to be used. It can be employed in a liquid form or when absorbed by siliceous earth. Frost does not affect it. At Cherbourg experiments have been made with this substance upon slaty rocks containing quartz, and also upon old cement work, and the report of the engineers praises it very much.

Our New York Letter

COMMERCIAL. A BOOM AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

New York, January 14, 1884.

The year 1883 closed with an unbroken record of decline in prices of leading staple food products and leading articles of merchandise. The period of liquidation which began early in 1882 has continued for twenty months. The topic of the hour among business men now is, whether we have reached the bottom. The causes of enforced economy in production due to restricted purchases on all hands, have …

Honolulu so that you might all take one look at the little toy who stirred up so much commotion out your way with allegations as to sugar frauds. With him, it is a clear case of doing business on his father's reputation. He is the most overrated young man who has had an opportunity to fill so large a share of the public eye, so young in life.

SOCIAL PLEASURES.

New York has been very gay of late. The grand annual charity ball was given at the new Metropolitan Opera House, and was much the same success that its predecessors have been. The representatives of New York's best society were nearly all there and the affair went stiffly and properly and formally and luxuriously on from about eleven in the "evening" until a good deal later. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the old …

the court when the tenant is holding over "without right after the determination of such tenancy either by afflux of time or by reason of any forfeiture under the conditions or covenants in any such lease."

It seems to us that, if it be true as conceded in argument that the grantee of a lessor can bring summary proceedings under the statute to dispossess a tenant who persists in remaining on the land after the determination of the tenancy, for any statutory cause, there is no reason why the grantee of a mortgagee, succeeding to all the rights of the mortgagor, who was also grantor and lessor, cannot do the same.

The method of transferring the estate from the lessor to the defendant is only a little more circuitous than a direct sale from lessor to defendant. It was a condition in the lease that it should be annulled if the premises were sold under foreclosure. The defendant lessee entered the premises by virtue of this lease and …

GRAND OPENING!

OF

A Courteous Manner.

Brusk people underrate the importance of a pleasant manner. Look beneath the surface, they say, to the roots of character; pay no attention to outward appearance, to voice or gesture, tone or manners, they may be all deceptive, and they must be all superficial; it is what is said or done and not how it is said or done, that is alone deserving of notice. On the other hand, there are some to whom manner is everything. Each new acquaintance has to pass the ordeal of their criticism. Is he polished, courteous, graceful, dignified? Then they are ready to receive him without further question; he bears the stamp of their order. Is he rough, awkward or shy? Then they are not to examine the kernel that may be hidden under so unattractive a shell. Both these views are imperfect and mistaken, though each contains enough of truth to make it plausible. To depreciate or ignore fine manners is essentially absurd. Their charm is irresistible, even to those who fancy themselves proof against them. Yet it is not so much in themselves or for their own sake that they delight us as in the promise of something better and deeper. They are signs or symbols of character, feelings, affections, thoughts, and it is to this that they owe their value and their charm.

TARIFF TALK.

In Congress there is much tariff talk and little present prospect of much being done in the way of reducing the excessive revenue by cutting down rates of import duties. The protectionist element of the democracy appears to be strong enough, if voting with the republicans to block any action which the Carlisle or revenue reform democrats may attempt.

PERRY BELMONT.

Perry Belmont, second instead of first man on the Committee on Foreign Affairs, was pointed out to me from the gallery of the House of Representatives the other day. I wish he could go out to …

… where that relation is created by operation of law. The legislature never intended that the mortgagee should have a right to proceed under this statute to obtain possession of the mortgaged premises after forfeiture."

This is undoubtedly good law. But the relation of landlord and tenant in the matter before us is not created by operation of law, as in the case of a mortgagor and mortgagee. It is created by the lease itself and the lessee is estopped to deny this. The tenant agreed in his lease that it should be forfeited if the premises were sold under foreclosure of the mortgage.

Our statute, as amended, differs from that of New York in that it confers jurisdiction upon …

The Paradox of Time.

Time goes, you say? Ah no!
Alas, Time stays, we go;
Or else, were this not so,
What need to chain the hours?
For Youth were always ours,
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

Ours is the eyes' deceit
Of men whose flying feet
Lead through some landscape low;
We pass and think we see
The earth's fixed surface flee—
Alas, Time stays—we go!

Once in the days of old,
Your locks were curling gold,
And mine had shamed the crow.
Now, in the self-same stage,
We've reached the silver age;
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

Once, when my voice was strong,
I filled the woods with song
To praise your "rose" and "snow;"
My bird, that sang is dead;
Where are your roses fled?
Alas, Time stays—we go!

See, in what traversed ways,
What backward fate delays
The hopes we used to know;
Where are our old desires?—
Ah! where those vanished fires?
Time goes, you say?—ah no!

How far, how far, O sweet!
The pass behind our feet
Lies in the even-glow!
Now, on the forward way,
Let us fold hands, and pray;
Alas! Time stays—we go!

A party of Russian savants has started from the Baltic on a scientific voyage round the world.

To prevent hair falling out, wet it thoroughly once or twice a week with a weak solution of salt water.

Every man has three characters:That which he exhibits, that which he has and that which he thinks he has.

When Clara was asked what she would do if a nice young gentleman should ask her hand in marriage, she naively replied, "I don't think I'd no."

A little glue if dissolved in skim-milk and water will restore the stiffness and luster to crape, and make it look like new.

Mulcahy says the statement that John Roach's ship is the first iron vessel launched in America is a mistake, as Mrs Mulcahy frequently launches iron vessels at him.

Over $15,000 have been expended by the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue hotel, in New York, trying to get water by means of an artesian well, thus far unsuccessfully.

The vocabulary of Milton comprised eight thousand words, that of Shakespeare fifteen thousand. Not less than seven thousand five hundred are found in Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" alone.

Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Post-mortem kindnesses do not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary days.

"Do you like candy, mother," asked a small boy.

"No, my son, it makes me sick."

"I am so glad to hear it. Now I can trust you to hold my candy for me until I'm done playing."

The conversation was about bishops, and one fervent dame said: "How good the dear Bishop of Peterborough is! What a good man!" Instantly a gentleman replied: "There is no merit in that. Bishops ought to be so. They get five thousand a year for being good, while we are expected to be good for nothing.

To make steak tender.—Put three teaspoonfuls of salad oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar, well mixed together, on a large flat dish, and on this lay the steak. Salt must be put on the steak before it is cooked. The steak must lie on the tender-making mixture for at least half an hour to a side; the toughest steak will succumb to this and be perfectly tender when cooked.

London Truth says: "The amount of building going on in Great Britain is an every day matter of conversation, but I doubt if many people realize how large that amount is. Forty years ago we built 40,000 new houses a year in Great Britian; now we build more than 80,000. During the last forty years we have erected two and a quarter million houses, which are estimated to be worth double the amount of the National debt."

Over-crowding of fowls is the cause of nearly all diseases that occur among them. There is too much strife and competition among them when kept in large numbers, and the same is true of animals. The largest breeder of fowls in the world, Hawkins of Lancaster Massachusetts, divides his large flock into many smaller ones. He keeps ever two thousand hens on the same farm, and finds them profitable. In addition to this number of hens, thousand of chicks are annually hatched and sent to the large cities.

A clergyman says: On passing out of church, one evening, I said to a young man who frequently came to my church, "Glad to see you out to-night; come often, and bring your 'Dulcinea' with you." A few days after, I was interviewed by him, when he very crossly asked me what I meant by calling his betrothed a "Dull Sinner," and informed me that she had been a member of the church, in good standing, for some time, and would like to know my reason for calling her a sinner!

A series of experiments has been made by Messrs Vigier, Laborde and Rondeau upon the effects of compounds of boracic acid when used for preserving food. The results prove that pure boracic acid is not injurious, even in large doses; but it must be quite free from salts of alumina and lead, and from carbonate of soda, the impurities generally present in commercial borax. Boracic acid is so long retained in the system that it is believed to be well adapted to combat infectious diseases.

This story is told of two well-known southern clergymen, one of whom undertook to rebuke the other for using tobacco: "Brother G.," he exclaimed, without stopping to ask any other questions, "is it possible that you chew tobacco?" "I must confess that I do," the other quietly replied. "Then I would quit it, sir," the old gentleman energetically continued; it is a very unclerical practice and a very uncleanly one. Tobacco! Why, sir, even a hog won't chew it." "Father C., do you chew tobacco?" responded the amused listener. "I? No, sir!" he answered gruffly, with much indignation. "Then, pray, which is the most like the hog, you or I?" The old doctor's fat sides shook with laughter as he said: "Well, I have been fairly caught this time."

The London Engineer says that there is a strong prejudice in England against the use of any metal but copper in the construction of brewing-coppers. On the continent they are often made of iron. It is thought by some that the use of the latter is liable to impart a dark color to the worts, but such, says the Engineer, is not the case, for the tannic acid of the hops at once forms a coating of insoluble tannate of iron, which protects the metal from oxidation, and analyses made of worts boiled in iron prove that they do not contain more iron than worts boiled in the copper vessels contain of copper; in fact, says the Brewers' Guardian unless copper is kept absolutely clean it soon corrodes and dissolves to an appreciable extent in a slightly acid fluid like beer wort.

Editorial conventions are (says the Standard) an institution in the United States. At one recently held at New York some generally interesting information was afforded in the course of an address by Mr. Chauncey M. Depew. The first American editor not only wrote leading articles, but took down reports of passing events in his locality, set his own types, read his own proofs, worked himself upon his press his edition, and distributed his paper in person. 123 years have passed, and now the great machines which are the marvels of modern invention throw off 4,000,000 copies of daily journals and 28,000,000 of weeklies. It is 98 years since the first daily organ of public opinion was started in New York city, and at present there are 115 in the State and 1000 in the country at large. The declaration of independence had been proclaimed in Philadelphia three weeks before it received the benediction of type in Thomas Jefferson's newspaper at Williamsburg. To-day the poet's dream of Puck's girdle compassing the world in 40 minutes is almost realised, and the fantasies of an airy imagination are frequently excelled by sober fact. The story of the universe for the previous 24 hours appears in the morning journal; a Sunday sermon by Mr. Spurgeon in his Tabernacle in South London can be read in full in Philadelphia on Monday; and interviews with Popes, Kings, and Chinese ambassadors are cabled under the broad Atlantic, and form topics of conversation in Broadway the very day they take place.

IDLE GOSSIP.
THERE IS NO IDLE GOSSIP HOWever, that the undersigned will take Portraits in any style or views to order in the best style of the Photographic Art, and on the most Reasonable Terms—but it is idle gossip which says "he will not try to please," for he always was and will be willing to please everyone who can be suited; and never treated anyone out of the way, and never will treat anyone otherwise than in a proper manner. Do not listen to gossip, but come and see for yourself—there is always two sides to a story. (992 2m) H. L. CHASE.

Independent Ticket of Representatives FROM HONOLULU, LEGISLATIVE SESSION OF 1884.

J. O. CARTER,
J. U. KAWAINUI,
A. P. KALAUKOA,
A. K. KUNUIAKEA.

The Platform of the Government Party.

As set forth in the NUHOU of April 21, 1874, W. M. Gibson, Editor and Proprietor:

"A Representative Government and a responsible ministry are favorite ideas with some of our political tyros, who think in repeating the truisms of their own political education, they are introducing into Hawaii the ideas of advanced statesmanship. * * * * *

King Koffee may be as wise a Statesman in Comassie as D'Israeli is in Westminster. * * * * *

And we say, that they were only political school boys who imposed all this cumbrous unadapted law we have upon the simple semi barbarous Polynesians of Hawaii.

If you can become strong enough to abolish Constitution and Parliament, you may be able to do something radically beneficial for Hawaiians!"

This is obviously addressed to the Crown.

WITH such inspectors of election as we have in Honolulu, we may feel assured that the provisions of the act of 1876, relative to setting apart of a sufficient space around the polling place, and only allowing within that space six electors at a time who shall be actually engaged in voting, will be faithfully carried out. For the benefit of those who may not be acquainted with the act we republish it this morning.

"SECTION 17a. The inspectors of election shall previously to opening the polls, set apart a sufficient space around the polling place to prevent persons not thereto authorized from interfering with the conduct of the election, and no person other than the inspectors of election, their clerk and any electors not exceeding six in number being actually engaged in voting, to be designated if necessary by the presiding officer, shall be permitted at any one time to enter or remain within the polling room or the space so set apart during the taking of the poll."

THE letter which we publish in another column from a Portuguese at Waialua, shows the relation between the planter and laborer on that plantation, and is a very decided answer to the calumnies published by the S. F. Chronicle and papers which have followed in its wake. A perfect cordiality and good feeling exists between this laborer and his master, and what is true in this case, is true in the majority of cases. The tales of harsh treatment of laborers are almost entirely fabrications. Here and there, there may have been an isolated case of wrong done, but redress has always been at hand either by appeal to the courts or to the consuls. The value of this letter lies in the fact that it has come entirely unsolicited, and that it is published not only in English, but in Portuguese, and can be commented on in that language.

THE Hawaiian Government, as conducted by the self-sufficient Premier has got into deep water. The Madras muddle, over which the official organ was so facetious some time back, is looming up as a very serious question. Diplomatic and legal powers have it is said lately arrived here and serious complications with Great Britain may be impending. There is no doubt whatever that a heavy claim is going to be brought against the country backed by the influence of Great Britain. The result of this will be that the tax payers will have to foot an enormous bill: for what? For the official mismanagement of the Premier. Can voters hesitate what they shall do, when they see into what a position the country has been brought? Get rid of these men as soon as you can, citizens of Honolulu and of the Hawaiian Islands at large. You have to pay a heavy bill now, but there is no knowing how heavy the bill will be if the present misrule is continued much longer. The present Premier has plunged the country into "a sea of trouble," and the chickens are only just beginning to come home to roost. Stop this unpleasant arrival of fowl, by your votes, citizens!

How often have we in the past read appeals in the P. C. Advertiser to race prejudices! That journal, on the eve of the election, came out last Friday with another of those insidious charges against the white people residing in these Islands, laying to their dislike and distrust of the Hawaiians, the entire blame for the present state of things. The opposition to the present Ministry has been owing wholly to "disappointed office-seekers," and to an ungenerous sentiment towards the native population! This the reply which is made in behalf of the Ministry, to the criticism which has been made upon its course for the last two years. The planters and others, whether residing in Oahu or elsewhere in the group, who are known to have deplored the way in which public affairs have been conducted, many of whom have openly expressed their disapproval of and want of confidence in the Premiers doings, are to be assured forsooth, that they are only seeking after office! Those who for years have been the true friends of the Hawaiian race, who have pleaded in vain for its preservation from an alcoholic doom and from the ravages of leprosy, are to be taunted with prejudice against those for whom they have labored.

The Advertiser will search in vain in our columns, and as we believe in the columns of our other cotemporaries, for any foundation for its libellous charges.

IT is reported, and the report seems to have good foundation, that Judge Kauai who was running as government candidate at Waimea, Kauai, has been ordered by the government to withdraw. We pointed out last week that the President of the Board of Health had been writing down to the Island to make inquiries if the statements published in the GAZETTE were correct; he received a reply substantiating what had been published in this paper. But the government should not stop at merely withdrawing its support at the elections from this man: after the President of the Board of Health has found out that it is really a fact that Mr. Kauai in one of his election addresses announced himself as a leper, he should go a step further and have Mr. Kauai examined to see if he is a leper or not. We have no information at hand that the Premier-President has done anything of the kind. To the faithfulness of our correspondent in Kauai is due any action that the government may have taken in this matter.

Our correspondent at Waimea further points out that the authorities are shamefully lax in allowing acknowledged lepers to be at large. That scoundrel who nearly murdered his sister the other day, has for a long time been an acknowledged leper; but being a violent man, the police are afraid of him, and he comes into Waimea almost with impunity. No doubt the example set by Mr. Kauai has had its due effect upon petty officials around Waimea. See to it Mr. Minister that these things be changed, and that proper investigations be held.

"THIS gentleman, Mr. J. O. Carter, is eminently fitted to represent the city and he has authorized us to say that he has no sympathy with the party—a noisy but not a large one—whose sole bond of union is the desire to overturn the present administration." P. C. A., Feb. 2. The half truth in the above quotation stamps it as the "suggestion" of the Premier, it is in just such misstatements, such turnings and twistings that he used to revel when he edited a newspaper himself. A talk with Mr. Carter revealed the following. In the course of a private conversation with a gentleman connected with our cotemporary, Mr. Carter said that his object in going into the house was not primarily to try and turn out the ministry, but to investigate. If the ministry could show that all the charges which have been made against them were untrue, he would not move against them, at the same time, seeing the kind of evidence already brought forward, it was plainly almost impossible for them to clear their skirts. In plain words Mr. Carter, like a sensible man, will if elected, go to the house with an unbiased mind, but with a thorough determination to investigate fairly, and to act on the results of his investigation. No better spirit could be asked from a member. Mr. Carter gave no "authorization" to the Advertiser to say anything about his views with regard to any party here. But his views do entirely accord with the views of that very large section of the community which desires a change of administration, because the present holders of power have been wasteful, foolish and extravagant, and on the complete proof of this in the Legislature he will act.

IF the voters of Honolulu to-day desire a full investigation of the acts of the Government during the past two years they will vote the Independent ticket. What a poor team the government ticket presents. Mr. Kaulukou, full of windy rhetoric, whose stentorian lungs have been called into play to shout electioneering addresses, but who will make a very poor statesman. Should this gentleman be elected, we may look for a lengthy session, he will howl, shout and gesticulate in the House, to the ennui of all who are desirous of getting through the business of the country quickly. Mr. John T. Baker, known to the Honolulu public as the brother of the nominal author of a silly pamphlet which he did not write: a man full of vanity, who knowing but a smattering thinks he knows everything. Mr. Lilikalani lays his claim to legislative honors as the father of the liquor bill and the author of the $10,000,000 loan act: not that he was the author of either of these measures, but he likes to put the lion's skin over his own; but like the celebrated animal in the fable, he cannot hide those melodious tones which betray him so thoroughly. Mr. Kean is a hard working man we believe, but that in itself, without other qualifications, does not constitute a claim for representing the intelligence, commercial ability and wealth of the capital.

On the other hand let the electors look at the men that are put forward on the Independent ticket.

Mr. J. O. Carter, (Keo Kaaka) who heads the ticket has the confidence of the whole community, native and foreign. A thoroughly honest man, in whom even his opponents cannot find a thing to cavil at, a Hawaiian born, a man whose record is before the public, since his earliest days of manhood, a tried man in official work, he is the man we need, and we hope to see his name at the head of the poll.

Mr. J. U. Kawainui has shown himself a fearless exponent of wrong doing in official high places, he has suffered for his freedom of speech; he has been unjustly ousted from the Privy Council and from the Board of Education, because he, a Hawaiian dared to say home truths, and we may expect the same fearlessness of speech and examination when he reaches, as we hope he will do, the Legislative Chamber.

Mr. Kalaukoa, is an excellent speaker, and is an honest and upright man; he commands influence and respect among his own race and those of other nationalities that are acquainted with him.

Lastly there is A. K. Kunuiakea: an Alii. The government partizans talk as if there were no Aliis left. Kunuiakea, an Alii stands for the Independent ticket. He is a well known protege of Queen Emma, and on these grounds he is a most acceptable candidate to all.

The Government ticket can show no such qualifications in the four acknowledged candidates that it puts forward.

The Independent Ticket combines men of broad views, of varying interests. It is no party clique. Religion forms no stumbling block. Protestants and Roman Catholics alike will find their interests supported by its members. The present government may promise, and promise wildly as drowning men do, but if our citizens of all shades of thought, of all religious beliefs wish for sound government and proper and just recognition of the rights of all, they will vote only one way, without scratching a name, and that way is THE INDEPENDENT TICKET!

MR. KAULUKOU, one of the leading candidates on the Government ticket, at the meeting which was called to nominate a people's ticket, in answer to a rather personal question, retorted in substance that he might have been Attorney General of the Kingdom now if it had not been for the with-holding of education in the English language by the American missionaries in former years, which he put forward as though it were a personal grievance. The idea is not new. The same cry has been heard frequently before. But it is surprising to hear a man of his intelligence, who might be expected to know something of the history of his own people during the past half century, taking up this second hand assertion as though he really believed it. Possibly he was actually persuaded of its truth, as many another has been. But whatever may have been the cause in this instance, it is perhaps as well that the facts in the case should be stated as matter of historic truth.

We have lying before us at this moment a number of works published by the American missionaries for the express purpose of teaching the English language to Hawaiians, and used in the advanced schools as long ago as 1837. The first is a spelling and reading book in English for the instruction of Hawaiians. It is called the "Kumu Kahiki" was prepared by the Rev. J. S. Emerson, and published at Lahainaluna in 1837. It consists of sixty-one lessons and occupies thirty-six pages. Next is a grammar of the English language for Hawaiians, prepared by the same person, and published at Lahainaluna about the same time. Then comes an English phrase book for the use of Hawaiian learners, prepared also by Mr. Emerson, and published at Lahainaluna in 1841, a second edition of which was published in 1844. This consists of twenty-eight pages of English phrases divided into fourteen lessons, with a glossary of twelve pages at the end.

Then comes a speller and reader of sixty pages in English published by the Mission Press at Honolulu in 1845, and an English Hawaiian Dictionary of one hundred and eighty-four pages, prepared mainly by Rev. J. S. Emerson, with the assistance of Rev. A. Bishop and Rev. W. P. Alexander and published at Lahainaluna in 1845.

At the request of the King and chiefs, the "Royal School" was established in 1839, and was taught by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke of the A. M. Mission, aided by other competent teachers, as long as its distinctive character was kept up. It was finally merged in what is now known as the "Royal School," its present name being derived from its past history. In that school our present King, Kalakaua, and his sister, the Princess Royal, received a thorough grounding in the knowledge of the English language. The general advance of the mass of the people in education had not, previous to 1848, reached the point where the English language could be taught to advantage in the common district schools. Nor previous to that time, could the teachers or the means be had for such a purpose, even if it had seemed desirable to substitute the English for the vernacular in those schools.

In 1848 the care and management of the public schools passed out of the hands of the mission and was assumed by the government; as was eminently proper. English schools have since then multiplied as rapidly as circumstances have seemed to warrant, and Hawaiians have had the same access to their privileges as others. If therefore Mr. Kaulukou or any other Hawaiian has failed to use those advantages, let him put the blame where it belongs, and not falsify history by repeating at second hand an old and stale cry which has been put in his mouth by those who to serve a purpose, either deliberately misrepresent the facts, or else arrogantly ventilate their own ignorance.

THE inquest on the remains of the late Honorable Wm. F. Buckle has altogether failed to account satisfactorily as to how he came to an untimely end. Let it be allowed that he died by a fall from the top of the prison, though even that is incompletely proven, the remainder of the finding of the jury is eminently unsatisfactory. The fall was occasioned, say the jury by "some cause unknown." This is perfectly true, and it is hard to see how the jury could have reported otherwise. But if this finding justifies the jury it certainly seems to incriminate the officials concerned. The removal, cleaning, reclothing of the body, the hasty obliteration of the traces of the accident before any examination by experts, was all wrong and could not have taken place had the actors in the scene known their duties; the first turnkey, Malaihi, ought to have known better and should have acted otherwise. To what purpose is it that a jury visit the scene of a fatal accident, and find that broken glass has been cleared away, a window sill cleaned and the ground carefully raked over, and why was the holding of an inquest and a second examination of the body an afterthought. If the finding of the jury result only in "from some cause unknown," the evidence all goes to show a most discreditable state of indiscipline. From early in the evening till 4 o'clock in the morning, the Governor of the jail goes to and fro between the prison he is in charge of, and a friend's house. Then hear this "Chief turnkey." "I went," he says, "to the feast between 11 and 12 o'clock p.m., I stopped a few minutes and returned to the jail." Paahana "a guard" says "the guards do as they like about relieving one another. We do not obey the regulations. We can go around outside, and leave our place of watch." "Nobody gave me permission to go on watch at 2 o'clock, I gave the other guard permission to go." "Did not see Buckle go out," neither did Kaehi on guard at the upper gate from 3 to 6 a. m., but he saw Buckle come back after 4 a. m. Testa saw the deceased at the feast between 8.30 and 9 p. m., again between 1.30 and 2 a. m. the next morning, and left him there at 4. This is a revelation of the interior economy of a prison.

Of the female prisoners, Mary says "the first I heard was of Buckle's death—went into Malaihi's room to fix it up—there was blood on the sill and some dirt—cleaned it off," from whom did she hear of the accident, and by whose direction did she fix the room and clean the window sill?

The evidence of Maria Rose is more startling, but was not corroborated, and—she is a felon.

However the whole enquiry such as it was, showed a degree of incompetence and indifference to duty almost incredible.

The authorities outside the jail make no better appearance than those within. The funeral is announced to take place thirty-six hours after the accident. The jurors were not called together or sworn till about twenty-eight hours after death, and then adjourned till the following afternoon.

The jurors were duly sworn in the presence of the remains, but did not visit the scene of the accident until the afternoon of the 29th, two and a half days after the occurrence and the day after the funeral.

In all cases of violent death promptitude of action is imperatively necessary if any satisfactory result is intended or sought for.

If the coming election gives us a House of Representatives, it is to be hoped that the method of appointment of coroner may be reconsidered and the instructions of the officer remodeled.

In the United States and in Great Britain coroners are elected, in England for life. Opinions differ as to whether a member of the legal or of the medical profession be the more suitable, probably a combination of the two in the person of a properly qualified medical man who has made a special study of medical jurisprudence would be the best.

As the matter stands here now it needs alteration and cannot well be altered but for the better.

TO-DAY in Honolulu the Independent voter will have the opportunity of showing his strength. Considering the means that have been used of late by the Government Party to get in their candidates it will be a matter of no surprise, if the announcement this evening should be that the Independent ticket has not been elected in full. Those who wish to see how elections can be carried on in this country had better be at the polls and watch to see if the military and police are marched up to the ballot boxes as they were two years ago. Public opinion made itself heard upon this point after the election of 1880, and it will do so again and even more forcibly, should like tactics be repeated to-day.

But it is not upon its influence over the military, the police and the salaried officials of the government that the Government Party has relied for carrying the present election. Intimidation has been used. We are informed upon credible authority that natives occupying government lands, or lands over which certain members of the Government Party have control, have been told that unless they vote for the government ticket, they need not look for a quiet continuance in their little homes. Tax receipts have been demanded and the unfortunate voters, not strong enough to withstand the pressure brought to bear upon them, have delivered them up. In all cases where the voter is considered doubtful, it will be found that his tax receipt is not forthcoming on the day of the election, and in this way he will be deprived of his vote. How strong the influences brought to bear on voters have been may be judged from the fact that many have gone to Mr. Carter and asked him to take charge of their tax receipts, knowing that though they were anxious to vote for him, they would be unable to stand the threats and the wheedling they would be subjected to: in point of fact knowing the power that would be brought to bear, they distrusted themselves. Honorably has Mr. Carter refused to acquiesce in their request: he has told them that to do so would be at variance with the political teachings he has tried for years to instil into the native race: he has striven to make Hawaiian electors vote as men, and the votes that will be cast for him will be cast by MEN. He feels, and all good citizens must feel, that it were better to be beaten having a clear conscience, than to win, with the consciousness of having stooped to impure and disreputable means to do so.

By means of influence and threats and cajolery, as far as can be ascertained, the government have the assured control of 500 voters. But what of that; Honolulu has a voting population of about 2,000, and one fourth of that population cannot carry the election. Even of the 500 voters whom the government have locked up as it were, they cannot count upon getting all the votes, for a considerable proportion of these will be men who are to be kept from voting by means of retaining their tax receipts.

In spite then of the various methods used, among which, by the way, was race prejudice, some one very high in office, who, to a choice selection of electors, called together to hear his statements, stated that he was surprised and pained to see white men coming forward as canditates for the legislature, where they would want to make laws for the Hawaiians, (and the Advertiser dared to say that the Independent Party was antagonizing the races), in spite of all such tactics and of so much influence; the prospects of the Independent Party to-day are good. The Hawaiian is by no means as stupid as the Government Party would have the world believe, and apart from all foreign voters, there is a solid phalanx of Hawaiians who have weighed the Premier and have found him wanting: who have found in this man, with his cheap clap-trap and his half dozen honeyed phrases nothing for the pure patriot of Hawaii to hope. To a number of Hawaiians the Premier is now represented by Moreno's celebrated simile of a squeezed orange. He has been thoroughly squeezed and there is mighty little juice left. All these Hawaiian voters need is a solid support from the foreign voters. Intelligent Hawaii understands clearly how ill-advised, and how destructive of the future of the country the course of the present government has been; but it will require the full support of the foreign vote to make the intelligent Hawaiians masters of the situation.

That their support will be given we sincerely hope. Jobbery, mismanagement of public funds, autocratic use of power, danger to our commercial and financial prosperity, have been the result of tolerating the present men in power. If this country is to prosper in a healthy manner, this must be changed. Hawaiian prosperity cannot last forever, the evil day, the rainy day is coming on apace, and the manner in which we shall be able to weather the storm depends almost entirely upon the manner in which we prepare ourselves to weather it. At present the ship of state is in a bad fix, it has neither good captain nor officers, neither good pilot nor proper physicians for the crew. It rests with the crew at this moment to determine whether they shall be led to destruction or not. What will be gained on the whole by any man, if a few dollars come to his purse for the moment, and the business of the country is ruined. And a continuation of the rule of the present ministry means ruin.

To what end will it be that government contracts for a hundred and one things are obtained, if the government is to be conducted in a manner which will reduce the gains of those contracts to nil. Even those selfish men who hope for something from the government, will gain by voting the Independent ticket. For if the Independent ticket is elected in sufficient strength a change which will give Hawaii the respect instead of the charity of the world may be looked for.

Let every thinking man, then, determine to come to the polls to-day, let him cast his vote for the Independent Candidates, and when he has done that, he may rest assured that he has done a good turn to Hawaii as a nation. The platform of the Independent Party is before the voters. Economical administration of the finances of the Kingdom. Reform in the maladministration of public affairs. A thorough reform in the Board of Health, which, in place of windy rhetoric or scissors and paste books, will give our wives and children that proper protection from disease and lingering death which they do not have now. Finally, the Independent Party most emphatically propose to support true constitutional government, and to strongly resent the efforts that have been recently made to override popular rights.

With such a platform the Independents ought to win. It appeals to the common sense of all voters. If the Independent Party fails, it will only be because of undue coercion and that, as we have shown has been used. VOTERS, TURN THE TABLES!

NOTES.

WOMAN suffrage has won its battle in Washington Territory. The legislature there has voted to strike the word "male" from the election laws.

THE American Register quotes the following words of Daniel Webster, which come with great force at the present moment in Hawaii. The argument used is one which has again and again been used in the columns of the GAZETTE. Webster said: "The circulating medium of a commercial community must be that which is the circulating medium of other commercial communities, or must be capable of being converted into that medium without loss. It must be able, not only to pass in payments and receipts among individuals of the same society and nations, but to adjust and discharge the balances of exchanges between different nations. It must be something which has value abroad as well at home, and by which foreign as well as domestic debts can be satisfied."

In one of our San Francisco exchanges we find the following: "not a few of our citizens will feel a pang of regret to learn of the dissolution of the connection which has existed since the very inception of the Merchants' Exchange, between its Secretary, Mr. J. A. Coolidge, and itself. Since 1866, nearly eighteen years, Mr. Coolidge has been closely identified with all the material interests of the Exchange, and the practical management of its affairs has been in his hands. That his administration of the multifarious duties which fall to the lot of a Secretary of such an istitution has been an able one, is universally conceded by all who have come in contact with Mr. Coolidge, and in testimony of this and of his industry, intelligence, probity and capabilities, the patrons of the exchange (not the association) presented him on his retirement from the office, with a very handsome testimonial. Although much regret has been expressed at the change made by the Trustees, and the removal of Mr. C., yet there is some consolation in the fact that his successor, Mr. J. C. Patrick, is a gentleman who is highly popular with all who know him, and is admittedly well qualified to fill the position. It is a pity that the needs of the Exchange should not require the services of both gentlemen.

"JOE" CARTER STATES HIS PLATFORM.

Patriotic Speeches

A Mass Meeting of the Independents.

A TALK TO THE POINT.

Last evening the Independent voters met at Kawaiahao Church and were addressed by the members of the Independent ticket. Mr. Swinton was unanimously elected Chairman and Mr. B. W. Kawainui Secretary. The meeting was most orderly and also most enthusiastic; the speeches of the Independent candidates were applauded to the echo. Mr. Kunuiakea spoke first, Mr. Kawainui second, Mr. Kalaukoa third and Mr. J. O. Carter last. The remarks of each of the candidates were loudly applauded, and as the periods rolled forth denouncing or ridiculing the position of the government candidates, the house containing more than six hundred people took the points and laughed and applauded alternately.

Mr. S. Kaai, who was surrounded by certain Government servants, tried to disturb the meeting, but the assent was against him, and after hearing some good home truths the meeting adjourned with enthusiastic cheers for the Independent candidates and a determination to vote the ticket! It was a meeting that would do honor to any nation under the sun. Hawaii has need to be proud of herself. Mr. Carter's speech is reported elsewhere.

We give a translation of Mr. Carter's address to the electors yesterday. Unfortunately we have been unable to obtain translations of all the speeches made. The meeting was most enthusiastic MY FELLOW COUNTRYMEN, CITIZENS OF THE DISTRICT OF HONOLULU:

"You have gathered here this evening to hear from the candidates for the position of representatives to the Legislative Assembly, upon the independent or citizen's ticket, some expressions of opinion on the questions of the times. Upon this ticket, which we believe has your sympathy and support, are found the names of

J. U. KAWAINUI,
KALAOKOA,
ALBERT KUNIUAKEA,

and your humble servant,

J. O. CARTER.

You have heard from all these candidates for your support, and it only remains for me to say a few words. You will pardon me if in my remarks I shall appear to say something for myself. Most of you have known me as a child, youth, and as a man among you. I was born in this city and therefore have a right to say that I am a child of this land we love so well. I am as much a Hawaiian as any person in this kingdom and I feel safe in challenging any person to stand up if he can and say that I have ever oppressed or abused a Hawaiian or for that matter any person. You have known me as a government officer, having charge of the monies of the government. While in that office did I not do my duty faithfully? Was not the Treasury well managed, and when I left it was it not full of money? Were you not always well treated when you came to me? Did I not serve the Chief Nahaolelua and our friends Kaai and Kapena faithfully? Did they ever have trouble by reason of my wrong doing? I ask these questions because I hear that there are some in this land who say to you not to vote for me.

WHY NOT VOTE FOR ME?

Can an honest man who loves his country, our king and chiefs, give you any good reason why you should not vote for me as your representative? I say to you that no honest officer of our government has any reason to fear me in the Assembly. No—But if there has been wrong doing—if money has been stolen or wasted—they have reason to fear exposure. I say to you that if I find wrong doing I will expose it, and I believe that Kawainui, Kunuiakea and Kalaukoa will support me. I was your representative in 1872 and no one worked harder for your rights than I did. I was also in the Assembly that made the kindly Lunalilo, King of our land and cast my vote for him.

Some of the persons whose names are upon the other tickets have also served as representatives, and I have to ask you what did they do for our land, or for you? What has Kaulukou done that he should ask you to vote for him. He was the servant of the ministers—not of the people—and he received his pay, spending your money on a visit to Japan. What has he done that he should ask you to vote for him and refuse me. Will he, or can he, search out the wrong doing of the ministers. Will he expose their wrong acts, or will he support any other person who tries to expose the wrong doing of the ministers. No, he will not, neither will Baker or Lilikalani or the turn-coat Kean.

I hear that Kaulukou says that his is the chief's ticket, and that if you do not take his ticket and vote it our chiefs will be set aside. Do not believe this talk. I am as true a friend of our King and chiefs as this young courtier—Kaulukou.

There are weighty things to come before the Assembly, and you should send to consider these matters men who are true to you, not those who are the servants of the ministry. Never send as your representative to the Assembly any person who is a government officer. The questions of the Bonds of the government; The money we should borrow. The government lands. The question of taxes, The waters of Nuuanu, Makiki and Manoa. Wise public improvements; all these and others of equal importance will have to be considered. I promise you that if you, by your ballots put me in the Assembly, I will stand firm for equal rights for Hawaiians. And I ask you to send to help me my friends who are upon the ticket with me. We will stand together for the rights of our king and chiefs and our country. Look well to your ballots before putting it in the box—vote with your eyes open.

My friends, as you go from here remember that I have said to you. Do your duty to-morrow without fear, whether you are soldiers or police or citizens you have a right to vote as you please. No one has a right to force you to vote the government ticket or any other. You are free men. Let it be said from Hawaii to Niihau that the voters of Honolulu voted without fear and sent no government officers to the Assembly of 1884.

The government ticket tried to have a meeting last night but failed dismally. In spite of all the money that has been poured out the Hawaiians mean to be Independent charm the Premier never so wisely.

Remember that a little Hop Bitters saves big doctors' bills, and cures when all else fails. Read ad.

COMMERCIAL.

HONOLULU, FEBRUARY 8, 1884.

Since last writing business has again retrograded and stands at present, in lines of general trade, utterly inactive, the prevailing dulness probably being induced by the general election of representatives, to the Legislature, which takes place to-day. Aside from this particular reason however, there have been other causes which, combined, have secured for the month of January the unenviable record (from statements made by some of our best business men) of being the dullest in trade, for a number of years past. Commercially, although large quantities of our staple product are arriving now, from inter-island ports, yet there is not the same profitable division and extent of business in shipping circles, as at the same time last year. News from the Coast per late arrivals was not as cheering as hoped for and, although the plantation sugars are all, or nearly all, contracted for the planters and not the contractor, has to bear the evils of low rates, and other drawbacks, which feeling has also its influence in trade circles in this city.

The only arrival consists of the American bark Ceylon, from Boston with a full cargo of assorted merchandise.

The departures consist of the brig Hazard with returned laborers to the South Seas, the Hesperian and steamer Alameda with cargoes of domestic products for San Francisco and the Klikitat in ballast for the Sound.

The O. S. S. Mariposa is due here from San Francisco to-morrow, with news dates to the 1st inst. The W. G. Irwin sails to-day from here for San Francisco.

Praise for a Plantation Manager.

The following portions of a translation of a letter by a Portuguese laborer, which has been written for the Luso Hawaiiano has been forwarded to the GAZETTE for publication, and we gladly give space to it as showing how the Portuguese at Waialua feel towards their employer:

WAIALUA, Jan. 29, 1884.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Christmas and New Year's days passed off in a pleasant and spirited manner on the Waialua Plantation on this Island. A great many of the Portuguese employed on said plantation called on Mr. R. Halstead and wished him the compliments of the season. He received them with satisfaction and pleasure, and responded generously to them.

Of all the plantations on these islands this one is perhaps the best.

Firstly. Because neither Mr. Halstead nor his son have yet used any bad language towards a single Portuguese.

Secondly. Because they give their instructions to their lunas in regard to their daily laborers.

Thirdly. Because this plantation has a healthy climate, about the same as we are used to at home, though it be a little warmer, still after 10 o'clock in the evening it always becomes cool, and our countrymen feel first rate here.

Mr. Halstead and his son make their appearance at the work in the morning to see whether all are at work, or whether any one has become sick during the night.

Finally. They never refuse to grant any favor provided it does not interfere with the work of the plantation. They also grant leave to all the Portuguese to raise chickens and pigs, and have their own horses.

This plantation owner has enlarged his dwelling house, so that now it is quite a neat little place, and the plan shows very good taste. It is to be hoped that Mr. Halstead and family may enjoy it for many prosperous years. A new chimney is to be erected here. It is to be built of rough stone and will have a height of from 80 to 90 feet when finished and is round. The mason who is building it is a Portuguese who was one of the best at his trade in St. Michael's. Mr. Halstead is quite satisfied with the work which the man designed.

Respectfully Yours, JOSE CAETANO PACHECO.

The Princeville Plantation Case.

The case of Chulan & Co. vs. Princeville Plantation, just decided by the full Court, was this: March 1st, 1880, an agreement was signed by both parties, by which the plantation "agreed to rent to Chulan & Co. certain lands at Hanalei for the purpose of cultivating rice." Both parties agreed "to sign, seal and execute a lease in duplicate to be hereafter prepared upon the terms and conditions" named in the agreement, viz: "The plantation to lease from 300 to 700 acres of land to be used only in the cultivation of rice, and put Chulan & Co. in possession of all lands over 300 acres as soon as the manager elects to do so, the 300 acres to be taken possession of immediately," for five years with privilege of extension for five years more, at a yearly rent of $20 an acre. No land at Hanalei to be leased to any one else for rice culture without Chulan & Co.'s consent, the latter to have dead wood for fences, etc. The plantation "to furnish all the water necessary for the cultivation of said land with rice," also pasturage for cattle, and two acres out of every 100 rent free for houses. Chulan & Co. not to sublet or assign, nor interfere with plantation labor." Rent was paid up to April 1st, 1882, on 363 58-100 acres. At that date Chulan & Co. had procured a survey of the land planted by them, showing it to be 303.06 acres, and declined to pay rent for more. The plantation then brought proceedings to eject them for non-payment of rent. They hereupon brought their Bill in Equity against the plantation, asking for an injunction against the ejectment, for a decree that $2,445.72 be refunded to them as overpaid rent, and that the plantation be ordered to execute the agreed lease, (for 303.06 acres.) The answer set up that the defendants had placed the plaintiffs in possession of 371 acres of rice land. The hearing was before Judge McCully in January, 1883, who gave a decree in favor of the plaintiffs, holding that Chulan & Co. were chargeable with only the land shown by their survey to be under cultivation, also that the plantation was bound to furnish water for the land.

Upon the appeal, the defendant was allowed to present further evidence as to the nature of the land, and the full Court held that the plaintiffs were chargeable with all the land which the plantation had placed at their disposal, less a few acres as too swampy for rice; also that the agreement did not require water to be brought upon the land; that the written agreement amounted to a lease, and that, as contended by the defendant's counsel, the fact that Chulan & Co. had not asked that water be conducted upon the land showed that they did not construe the agreement to require that to be done. The grounds taken by the plaintiff's counsel, that the agreement for all over 300 acres was not binding upon the plaintiffs as they did not agree to take it, and that clause to deliver possession "as soon as the manager elects" was void for vagueness; and that until a lease should be made as agreed, they were liable only for use and occupation, also that they had the option to determine what was suitable rice land, were not sustained by the full Court; but the defendant was ordered to execute a lease.

Heavy rain shower at noon, yesterday in town.

Voters, see that you carry your tax receipts to the polls.

The proper meat for government candidates would be the cold shoulder.

There will be a fulness of the moon, quite visible to the naked eye, on the 11 inst.

Prison and police reform are needed. The Independent members will see to it that this is not a farce, but a reality. Vote the Independent Ticket.

The comet is now plainly visible to sky gazers and is falling into the usual bad habits of its erratic brethren, viz: staying out late o' nights.

Lightning has been noticeable on every evening of the past week, chiefly in the north and northwest. The weather of evenings has been cool and pleasant.

The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society will hold its regular meeting at Rev. Dr. Hydes', 122 Beretania street, on Saturday, February 9th, at 7:30 p. m.

The afterglow was visible on two different occasions on the same evening during several evenings of the past week, viz: after the sun had set and after the moon had set.

His Majesty took a trip to Kalihi on the 3rd inst. in one of his whaleboats. The party went thither from His Majesty's boathouse at about 9.30 a. m. and returned at 5 p. m.

Quite a pleasurable entertainment took place at Knights of Pythias Hall on the evening of the 4th inst. under the auspices of members of a local temperance organization.

Pastor Cruzan resumes the teaching of his Bible class to-night. The hour of meeting is changed to 6:45. A general invitation is extended and promptness is expected.

The Bulletin is responsible for the statement that the Planter beat the Kinau two hours and forty minutes on the last trip up, the victor arriving that time ahead at Maalea bay.

Who want to pay increased taxes? The men who vote the Government Ticket! There are heavy enough bills to pay already, and these will be largely increased if the present men stay in office.

There was a good attendance of young men at the Y. M. C. A. prayer meeting Sunday afternoon. It is specially desired that all who can attend will come to the meeting next Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 p. m., in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Hotel street.

The haste in which the Hazard put to sea caused three who expected to take passage in the vessel to the southern seas, in charge of Capt. Tierney, to be left behind. They will probably reship with their present employer.

The Amateur Musical Society met last Friday for their usual fortnightly practice, and a good evening's work was got through. Owing to the absence of Mr. Berger, the leader, the concert will be postponed for a month.

The son-in-law seems to be very busy just now, and a quantity of liquor is about. Some may connect the two ideas together, and they do say that considerable quantities of liquor are being distributed by some one.

Medals awarded to Hawaiian exhibitors at the Boston Exhibition have been received in this city by Messrs Bolles & Co, and J. W. Robertson & Co. Their Majesties received special medals.

"Emperor of the Pacific" is to be another title, besides that of King of Hawaii, and another coronation scheme is being projected by the "Palace party!" Happy the man who owns no taxable property!

Domestic staple products have been arriving in large quantities from the other islands, during the past week. On last Sunday no less than five schooners heavily laden passed into port within two hours of arrival of the first, and last.

If you don't want a dearth of water, and if you do want a proper water supply, vote the Independent ticket. Its members are pledged to see that the government is properly carried on.

Mr. J. Emmeluth has kindly furnished a statement relative to the rainfall in Manoa valley during the month of January by which it appears that, during the first three weeks of the month there was no rain, but between the 21st and 25th, 2½ inches fell.

F. H. Hayselden constituted himself the special guardian of the ministerial messroom on the evening of the 4th inst., and objected to any talk in favor of the Independent candidates, in fact going so far as to call the police to his assistance to keep "papa's" house from being defiled.

News from the other islands relative to the prospects of elections for the Independent party is good. From almost every district, intelligence comes that the people mean to assert themselves, and to topple the candidates of our venal, corrupt and unpatriotic ministry into the mud.

Do you want leprosy to invade your homes, and desolate them as some homes have been here? If you do, vote for the government candidates who will strive to hush any clamor. The Independent men go in to investigate and investigation is sorely needed.

Serious charges are made relative to the unclean condition of the Oahu prison, there being stated, amongst other things, that a number of the inmates are badly diseased, and all, Portuguese, Chinese, Hawaiians and others, wash in two tubs. The medical attendant should look to this.

A jury consisting of Messrs. Nolte, Adams, Brash, Ashford, A. Marquis and E. ff. Ward, have been appointed by and requested to meet the Marshal of the Kingdom on the 8th inst., at 2 p.m., in front of the Music Hall, to take the necessary steps towards having Merchant street widened.

E. Preston, Esq. has moved from his old office in Fort Street to the office formerly occupied by Cecil Brown, Esq. on Kaahumanu Street. Mr. Brown will occupy an office in the new Campbell block, and Mr. Preston's old office will be occupied by Mr. Eckart, the jeweller.

All voters should remember that they have the privilege of taking all the whiskey and money they can get and then vote as they please. This statement does not injure the Independent party ticket, that crowd not being in the whiskey or coin business.

The usual Saturday afternoon concert, was given by the Band at Emma Square on the 2nd inst. The selections played on the occasion were from the works of Suppe, Verdi, Coote and Andrews, well rendered by the instrumentalists, under the leadership of assistant-bandmaster Naone.

Signor Crispini whose wonderful manipulation of the Xylophone and Verrophone has attracted the attention of the public in many of the large cities of the East, intends to give an exhibition of his abilities to-morrow evening at the Music Hall. The box plan is now open at the office of Wiseman & Ashley.

Messrs. Hyman Bros. will soon occupy the large and commodious premises on Queen street formerly occupied by the California Furniture Manufacturing Co.; changes are now being made in the interior arrangements of the store and the removal will be made thither by the firm about April 1st.

Improvements are being made and nearly completed in the premises formerly occupied by Max Eckart the jeweler, on Fort street and by which Messrs. Benson, Smith & Co., the well known druggists will be enabled to present to their patrons the largest and most comfortable drug, perfumery and fancy articles establishment in this city.

Rev Father Bouchard will preach in the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Sunday evening at 7.30. The subject of his discourse will be Grace. As the Reverend Father intends to leave on the 15th, it will be probably the last opportunity the puplic will have to here him for some time; hence we hope that this eminent and popular preacher will be favored with a good audience.

The sailors on board the Raisbognik were quite busy all day Sunday, painting and cleaning the vessel. On the cattle wharf was also a gang of the ship's crew engaged in painting boat and gun covers, and doing other work which could not be regarded as a necessity; yet they were not disturbed by the vigilant (?) harbor police.

An order having been issued against the use of liquor at the barracks, the free and independent voters and military were treated to a free drunk at the house once occupied by the Transit of Venus Party. An eye witness states that he saw at least 100 dead drunk bodies lying about the grounds, and in this way the government party hope to secure votes!

The carelessness manifested by those in charge of Emma Square in leaving large and deep holes uncovered on concert nights is most reprehensible. After some child has fallen in one, and broken a limb or killed itself, then probably the matter will be attended to and a verdict rendered of culpable carelessness, on the part of the child. This matter has been spoken of before; look to it Messrs Commissioners.

At Fort St. Church this (Wednesday) evening, there will be a study of the Fiji Islands, with many lessons, addresses and essays. These monthly "studies" of mission-lands are becoming intensely interesting, as the large audiences present bear witness. The invitation to attend is general, and the pastor and his people will accord a warm welcome to all.

The premises connected with the residence of that astute, intelligent and Honorable Noble Junius Kaae was the ground upon which a number of the supporters of the Government ticket met on a late occasion, and in the enthusiasm occasioned by the presence of sundry liquors present exchanged the voting passport, their tax receipt, for that bane of Hawaiians, gin!

The Oceanic S. S. Alameda, Capt Morse, sailed from this port for San Francisco at noon of the 1st inst, taking as passengers several well known residents, amongst who were noticed Mrs J. B. Castle, Mrs M. R. Merritt, Mrs D. Lighiner, Mrs C. H. Judd, Mrs Captain Turner and son, Rev N. W. Lane and family, S. Magnin and family, S Selig, and H. S. Tregloan.

On Saturday, Messrs. Kunuiakea, J. Kawainui and Kalankoa addressed a number of the electors at the residence of the former. Some four hundred voters were present and lustily cheered their favorite candidates. The Independent ticket meets with a response in the hearts of the independent voters, and in spite of cliques and nays it is going to do its best to win the day.

Thomas Russel, a prisoner confined at Oahu Jail, escaped from that institution between 3 and 4 p. m. on the 26th instant, and has not yet been found. Patrick Flynn, another prisoner under sentence for theft, escaped from a gang at the quarry a few days previously. The authorities have endeavored to cover up both cases and there seems to be no great endeavor to re-capture. This demands the attention of the Attorney-General.

The cartoons displayed at the office of the Ko Hawaii Pae Aina, continue as biting as ever. Last Saturday the ministry, a very broken down looking crowd indeed, were represented as looking through a telescope at four very brilliant comets, the members on the Independent ticket. There is little doubt but that the Independent ticket will completely dazzle and overthrow the ministry.

A cartoon exhibited yesterday depicts H. M. the King on his throne upheld by four individuals. On the left of the throne are seen all the monarchs of the earth eagerly proferring their stars and decorations, on the right side are the various opposition elements tugging at ropes fastened to the crown which surmounts the royal seat, while one individual, presumably the Premier, &c., and sundry wooden props, are striving to keep the king's seat in a perpendicular position. The cartoon may be accepted save for the opposition offered being applied to the overthrow of the throne. The rope in their hands (the opposition) should have been attached somewhere else.

The Advertiser is adopting the trick of advertising its own productions "at the best in the market," claiming to be the only paper that had official reports of the late inquiry. Yet strange to say it omitted the direct examination of seven witnesses, the cross examination of three, and presents Mr. Davidson's remarks in a "made" form. Can't get an increase of patronage on that showing, Messrs. Editors!

Captain Hayley yesterday made the first step towards the compliance with the law relating to the location of the mounted police and took a dozen of his force forward, per steamer Kilauea Hou, to Wailuku, Maui. The men and horses appeared well trained and showed that both time and labor had been expended on their instruction, but this late action on the part of the officials looks like an attempt to dodge the wrath of the coming Legislature.

The position of Jailor at Oahu Prison is authoritively spoken of as being held at the disposal of the chief member of the South Sea embassy, and who is expected to shortly return here. Marshal Parke has the power to make the appointment subject to the approval of the Minister of the Interior, so the law reads, but there is considerable doubt relative to either of those persons having had much to say about the present candidate.

Rev. Father Bouchard, the Jesuit priest who has been conducting the mission services held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral during the past two weeks, has ended his labors and gone on a visit to the Volcano on Hawaii. Before his departure the English speaking Catholics of the diocese tendered the reverend gentleman their thanks for the services rendered and also presented him with a purse of about $300 to cover his expenses.

So a fine restaurant is to be erected on a portion of the land belonging to the Premier, near Aliiolani Hale. The lines upon which the siege of independent members of the State Legislature of California was carried on a few years ago, seem as if they were going to be repeated here. What was the name of the establishment near the State House in Sacramento? was it the Rooster's Roost? or what was it?

The Pacific Commercial Advertiser, already notorious for the many proprietary and editorial changes, has now been changed itself and made its appearance on the 2nd inst., in a quarto form of twelve pages. The old volume ends with No. 36, and Vol. XXIX commences with the above alterations. Neither names of publishers, proprietors, printers or editors appear now in the columns of our cotemporary, so we compliment the paper itself on its improved appearance.

The following officers were installed last Monday night Feb. 4th at the K of P Hall by Lodge Deputy J. B. Atherton of Algaroba Lodge I. O. G. T: P. W. C. T., William Clark; W. C. T., N. F. Burgess; R. H. S., D. Collins; L. H. S, Miss A. Carter; W. V. T., Miss E. J. Walker; W. S., J. H. Hare; W. F. S., Miss Frances Lack; W. T., B. F. Burgess; W. M., Jas. McGuire Jr.; W. D. M., Minnie Bolster; W. I. G., Miss E. Carter; W. O. G., Jas. McGuire Jr.; Chaplain, Mrs. A. J. Burgess.

Mr Carter gives an unqualified denial to the statement in the 'organ' that he was prepared to support the ministry. What Mr. Carter said was that if it could be proved to him that the ministry was innocent of all charges then, and then only would he give it his support. He was against their measures in point of fact, but held no personal hostility. He added however, that with evidence in his possession it would be impossible to show a clear record.

The Kinau will return on Friday, and will be put on the Marine Railway on Saturday. Though the steamer has only been running since Nov. 23d, her bottom is covered with grass and barnacles. If there had been no marine railway it would have been impossible to continue running the steamer, and the project was one which the Premier was pleased to deride, or at least object. This, like many another project for the advancement of the commercial interests of Hawaii, which he has set his hand against, has proved a thorough boon to the country.

The saintly quartette Baker, Lilikilani, Keau and Kaulukou, called a meeting at the new Ministerial messroom on the evening of the 4th inst., which was attended by about 150 people, not over one-third of whom were voters. The proceedings were opened by prayer by John Akina, sexton of one of the churches of the city (which fact alone tends to prove more ominous towards the death of the party than to the obtaining of new life) after which, political pabulum was dispensed by the well known chefs Lilikilani and Kaulukou. But little enthusiasm prevailed.

A very large and pleasant gathering of people took place at the residence of Mr. Thomas Campbell, Puoao valley, on the evening of the 31st ult., the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter Miss Addie Campbell to one of Honolulu's master mechanics, Mr. Joseph Howie. The happy pair were joined in the holy bonds by Rev. Dr. Damon, the bride being seconded by Miss Lizzie Campbell and Miss Lillie Baldwin as bridesmaids, Messrs J. E. Wiseman and Thomas Buchanan performing groomsman service for the blushing groom. The bridal pair were the recipients of numerous elegant and costly presents and it is hoped that their future will be as happy as was desired by the expressed wishes of their assembled friends.

HAWAII.

The schr. Emma Claudina left Hilo for Papaika, on Monday morning Jan. 28, to take in sugar from Hitchcock's plantation.

A gilded five cent piece was palmed off on a native, at Hilo, on Sunday Jan. 27, by a stranger, for a five-dollar gold piece. The piece resembles strongly the U. S. five dollar piece on one side, but the reverse side has the unmistakeable V, instead of the eagle.

Chinese New Year commenced at Hilo on Friday Jan. 25, by a great firing off of crackers and Chinese bombs. Saturday was a rainy day—especially the evening. Sunday was very quiet, not a firecracker to be heard, the day being spent by the Celestials in making and receiving calls. Monday morning's light was ushered in by the unmistakable Chinese fire-cracker and bomb.

The Buckle Inquiry.

The death of William Buckle, Governor of Oahu Jail, on the 27th inst., has greatly disturbed people in general during the past week on account of the somewhat incompatible testimony presented before the jury convened by Coroner Dayton to make an inquiry into the case. There is no hesitation, by those present during the examination, in condemning the manner in which the witnesses were provided, as it were, with answers to questions, promulgated by the Coroner. The Marshal was present during a great portion of the time but a capable law officer from the Attorney-General's department, was conspicuous by his absence. The inquiry, considering the official bungling which preceded it should have been watched over by a competent legal officer on the part of the Crown who could make a report as to the manner in which the inquiry had been conducted. Below is given a summary of the testimony taken:

Summary of the Testimony.

DR BRODIE said that, he was called by a telephone message to the Prison, at between 5 and 6 o'clock on the morning of the 27th. Went there and then found that Mr Buckle had been injured and that the body was being conveyed to his home on Liliha street. The doctor went thither; found the injured man dead, and on a cursory examination found some bruises on the head; he probed them but could not find that the skull was fractured. At the post mortem examination (held at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 27th) he examined the head of deceased, in company with Dr McKibbin. Thought that the injuries could have been made with a blunt instrument. Did not examine the body or hands.

DR MCKIBBIN. Examined the body of deceased at 4 p.m. on the 27th, in company with Dr Brodie. Thought from the bruise on the cheek and the nature of the wounds on the head that they were more apt to be caused by a fall on the coral rocks, where deceased was found, than by a blunt instrument. The brain would have appeared the same whether death was caused by a fall or by a blow of a blunt instrument. In apoplexy, death would not have resulted so quickly.

MRS KULAA GLOVER. Was one of those present at the luau at Henry Kaia's house on the night of the 26th and early morning of the 27th. The deceased and his children were there. Did not see deceased when he left. She left there about 11 o'clock in company with daughters of deceased and went with them to the Jail. Inside met deceased and Malaihi the head turnkey. She drank some "sour mash whiskey" with Malaihi but deceased did not drink. She left the prison at about 11.30 o'clock in company with Malaihi to return to the feast. Deceased was sober when she left his company at that hour.

MALAIHI. This witness is the head turnkey of the Jail: he stated, that he left the Jail in company with Mrs. Glover, accompanied her to the luau, and returned again to the prison. When he arrived back he went up stairs to the dining-room, deceased was there with his daughters. Staid a few moments and then went down to the hall. Deceased came down shortly and both went into the office of the Jail to transact some unimportant business. Witness and deceased afterwards went up stairs to the dining-room and had a glass of wine together. It was a little past midnight when witness retired, he having left deceased in the dining-room, and that was the last time that he saw him alive. He was awoke from sleep by hearing the noise of breaking glass, thought first one of the pictures in his room had fallen, on examination found that it was from the window. Called a guard, Paahana, told him of the circumstance and thinking that it was some drunken person outside who had broken the window by throwing some thing in, the guard went out to see. Witness followed soon after and met the guard returning and who told him that "Buckle was dead." Both witness and the guard then returned to the place where deceased was lying. Deceased was lying on his left side, with his head on the curbstones, and his hands extended. A "curious feeling" came over witness, he returned to the prison and gave an alarm. Witness went out again in company with Charles Clark (son-in-law of deceased) and others, picked up the body, brought it into the prison, and afterwards sent it to the family residence. He was of opinion that deceased had fallen from the roof. Charles Clarke had awoke the witness about 3.30 a.m. but he went to sleep afterwards and was awoke by the crash of the glass.

PAAMANE. A guard, on duty in the hallway from 3 to 6 a.m. on the morning of the occurrence. He did not know whether Mr. Buckle was in or out when he went on watch. Afterwards heard from the guard at the gate that deceased was out. [If this witness' testimony is to be believed as interpreted, the jail regulations are a farce, he stating, that he relieved the guard at 2, (when the regular hour is 3 o'clock,) did it of his own accord, no authority, rules are there, printed, but the guards do as they please. Can go around outside when they are on watch if they desire to, etc., etc.] The deceased came in the prison after 4 o'clock and spoke to witness. Called Charles Clark at 3.45. When deceased came in he had on a coat, pants and smoking cap. Witness judged deceased had been drinking rum. Deceased came in a little after 4 a.m. It was dark; he went up stairs alone. After the crash the first person seen by witness was Malaihi; he (M.) came from his own room, he was only partly dressed. Malaihi said to him that a picture was broken; Wialoa was also present. Saw the glass broken in Malaihi's room; went to see who had broken the window. Witness was the first at the body of deceased; came back and told Malaihi and then Malaihi went out with him. Think the bell was struck at 5 o'clock, afterwards heard the crash.

WAIWAI, another prison guard, on duty from 12 to 3 a. m. Was stationed in the hall, Pahaana relieved him. Witness saw the deceased at 1 a. m. he went out of the prison, alone. Deceased said he was going "konohiing". Did not see deceased return. Was in his bed when he heard of death of deceased. Went out with others to the body. In answer to questions by lawyer Davidson, witness stated: deceased had woolen coat and pants on and slippers when he went out. Deceased came from up stairs, and was under the influence of liquor but not staggering. The prison regulations are strict. Witness was not relieved from duty until 3 o'clock; he saw the clock.

WAIALOA, the lamp boy of the jail; saw deceased when he came in, it was past 4 o'clock, came in alone. Deceased spoke to Paahana, a guard, and then went up stairs. Heard a noise after 5 o'clock; sounded like glass breaking; Malaihi told witness and Pahaana that his window was broken. Found glass on the floor of Malaihi's room. Pahaana went outside to see who broke the window.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Malaihi was not dressed, had no pants nor drawers on. Saw deceased go up stairs, he was not staggaring but appeared to have been drinking. Witness called Charles Clark when he heard the alarm and that Mr. Buckle was dead.

KEAHI. A guard on duty at the gate from 3 to 6 a.m. Saw deceased when he came in on the morning of the 27th. It was past 4 o'clock. Deceased said he had been enjoying Chinese New Year and had just returned. That was the last time witness saw him alive. I heard a noise after 5 o'clock. The inner guard Paahane was the first who asked me if I heard it. He then went in and came out with a lantern and went outside the jail. He came back and said deceased was lying outside. I did not leave the gate. Malaihi gave the alarm by ringing the bell.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Deceased did not stagger when he came in. He had on a coat and pants.

POLICE CAPTAIN J. A. MEHRTENS who seemed to have examined the body more carefully than the two medical experts, stated that he washed and dressed the deceased at the house. Saw two cuts on the left side of the head, a jagged scratch on the left cheek, the left ear badly torn, the flesh on the second and third fingers of the right hand were cut into the bone and the second finger was broken. The little finger on the left hand was also broken.

CHARLES CLARK. (Son-in-law of deceased and who was sleeping in the jail on the morning of the occurrence.) Was called by Paahana at 3.15 a. m. on the 27th; dressed and let out two stewards, a lamp boy, and a prisoner named Andreas. Took in the meat. Was told by the guard that Malaihi had left orders to let his men out. Went and asked Malaihi and then let the men out. Then went to bed and slept until the alarm was given on the finding of the body of deceased. I went to the body, took deceased's watch from his pocket, there was blood on the watch. Witness acknowledged being very much excited. Malaihi brought a bier on which the body was placed and taken into the prison, and afterwards took the body to the family residence. Met Dr. Brodie between the bridge and the prison and told him to go to the house. Witness' wife had telephoned for the doctor.

(To Mr. Davidson.) Have heard a dispute between Malaihi and deceased. Can't say whether they were on good terms or bad terms. Have known Paahana to answer deceased impudently. Heard no noise before the alarm. There were quite a number of coral stones where the body lay. The doctor probed the wounds and said that the skull was not fractured.

MARY KALEIHINEWA. A prisoner, under a life sentence for murder. Heard a noise at broad daylight. Was in my cell at the time. Heard that Mr. Buckle was dead. After my cell door was opened went into Malaihi's room and found two panes of glass in the window broken and one cracked and the glass all over the floor. The sash of the window was broken. All the pieces were inside. There was blood on the lower corner of the sill. Witness washed it off.

(To Mr. Davidson.) My cell door is locked every night. Malaihi opened the cell doors that morning. Told a Portuguese woman (a foreigner) that Mr. Buckle was dead. Prisoners in the hall told witness. The turnkey told her. Witness did not see the body brought in; only heard of it.

MARIA ROSE, a female prisoner, confined for theft. Was awake at the hour of the occurrence, had a baby in arms which kept her awake. Heard the noise of the breaking of the window and then the falling of the body. Before hearing the noise of the window heard noises on the roof. Heard some one moving about after the fall of the body. It was about 4.30 a.m. Saw Malaihi about ten minutes after, he had on black pants and had on a shirt. I saw him after the bell rang.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Heard the voices of persons on the roof. Think it was 3.30. Recognized deceased's voice. Heard a struggle on the roof before I heard the glass breaking or the fall. Am sure that the struggle or noise was not in Malaihi's room. Saw Mary cleaning away the blood and dirt from Malaihi's room and window. Malaihi sent a man to see what was the matter before he opened the door. Saw the lamp-boy (Waiola) sitting near the place he keeps his lamps. Did not see Malaihi go out of his room. Mary was the only one I saw go in. Saw Paahana down stairs.

ANNE (another female prisoner.) Was in the jail that morning. Heard footsteps overhead before the crash. Afterwards heard footsteps returning to the dining room. Malihi told me afterwards that his window was broken. Heard him speak or call out, a few moments after the crash.

(By Mr. Davidson.) Heard no commotion on the roof before the fall. Heard no struggling. First heard steps going out on the roof, then the crash, then the footsteps coming back.

MR. DENNY, operator in the telephone office testifies to receiving a message from the jail at 5:30 o'clock on the morning of the 27th. Received only one call from there.

HOOKAIKA, an engine driver, said that he was coming from his house makai of the prison at 5 a. m.; saw Andreas a prisoner with a lantern standing about where the deceased was lying. Andreas walked toward the upper end of the prison, witness kept on towards King street. Saw Malaihi come out; heard Malaihi ask Andreas "is he dead, sure?" (make loa) Was only a short distance from them at the time; heard conversation distinctly; saw something lying on the footpath.

ANDREW CAMACHES, a prisoner serving sentence for murder, stated, Clark let me out in the morning about 4.30 o'clock, went to the stable, and did work there. Malaihi came for a board and told me "Buckle was dead." I had a lantern and looked around for a board. Got one and then went with it to where deceased was lying.

(By Mr Davidson) I passed the place when I first came out at 4.30. Deceased was not there then. There was a lot of blood, and, after the body was removed, witness and another prisoner washed it away by order of Malaihi.

KAUHANE, was at the luau and came homeward with deceased on his last return to the jail. Parted with deceased some distance this side of the mauka entrance. Deceased was not then drunk.

HENRY KAAIA, at whose house the luau was held, stated that the deceased came there at two different times; only saw him take one drink; deceased left with Kauhane after 4 o'clock; deceased had liquor in him but was not drunk.

MALAIHI was recalled and testified that there was no ill-feeling between deceased and himself.

COUNSEL DAVIDSON'S REMARKS.

Mr. Davidson at the close of the taking of the testimony, addressed the jury as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury: This has been an unusually protracted trial. No one was suspected to an extent that would require their being brought before you to testify as to their guilt, but the law requires and makes it the duty of the Coroner that when a sudden death occurs there should be an inquiry to ascertain if any foul means have been adopted. Mr. Buckle was well known, and in perfect health on Saturday. He was well enough to go to a friend's entertainment, and went again because he could not rest at home from the noise of the Chinese New Year. He was highly esteemed, and it is not known that he had any enemies. The fact of finding the body being reported to the Coroner, he has summoned you six gentlemen to inquire into the case. Much time would have been saved by not moving the body or its surroundings until a jury had inspected them. As nobody is accused of using violence, it does not become me to comment upon the testimony. I came on behalf of the family to assist the Coroner in having a full and thorough investigation. It now behooves you to return a verdict, upon the facts before you, according to your best reason and judgment."

At 7 p.m. on the 29th, the jury retired to make their verdict, having patiently heard the testimony taken through the two protracted sittings, the first sitting commencing at 2 p.m. on the 28th and closing at 2 a.m. on the 29th and the second sitteng commencing at 1.30 p.m. and ending at 6.50 p.m. on the 29th. After three hours of deliberation, (over an hour of which was spent in endeavoring to obtain native words that would convey their idea of "unknown cause") the following verdict, subscribed to by all, was returned, viz. "That the said William Buckle came to his death from injuries received by a fall from the top of the wall of the jail, said fall occurring by some cause unknown to the jury."

The verdict thus rendered has added to, instead of diminishing the feeling existing amongst a great many persons that there had been foul play and a GAZETTE representative was specially detailed to work up the various rumors afloat. After forty-eight hours hard work during which fourteen people, whose names do not appear in the list of witnesses, were questioned, including five prisoners in the jail, a personal examination of Malaihi for signs of leprosy, and a personal trial of the possibility of the window being reached from the parapet, the following opinion is reported, that, the deceased arrived at the jail at 4.45 that he was under the influence of liquor, that he first went to his room and then to the roof, (probably) walked on the roof, instead of the platform which leads direct to a turret, and fell through one of the openings. "Dead men tell no tales" an earlier inquiry would have probably resulted more satisfactorily to the family and friends of the deceased and the general public.

Ancient Roads on Maui.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—I do not intend to enter into a newspaper controversy, but a statement made by "Via" in the Advertiser of the 28th ult., viz: that the plantations west of Maliko Gulch, have fenced all the ancient roads," should not go unchallenged. "Via" there speaks of one closed ten years ago. As that was before my time, I can only say that had it been important that the public should have a road at that place, surely something would have been done about it ere this.

As to the others, five years ago, this part of the district was all open and any person desiring to fish or swim wended his way acording to his own sweet will to any part of the beach that suited him. Jurors going to Lahaina, started straight across the commons and in so doing year after year made quite an "ancient road." A man wishing to put up a mill or build a foundation, looked along the sea beach until he found sand that suited his purpose, sent his carts for it and if it were rainy weather they made one of those "ancient roads." Cattle herded all around here and in going to and from water made more "ancient roads," and so on until as "Via" says they were "numerous."

But about government roads, yes, there were those too and they are fenced out, recognized and marked by the government to the extent of more than 50 miles in this district, only one that I am aware of having been closed, viz: the Makawao and Kahului road, and that by Spreckels' plantation, temporarily with gates, which have since been removed.

As I have said there were trails, or, as "Via" calls them—"ancient roads" running in all directions, one the Lahaina trail, running clear across the commons, another to the sea via. "McCoppin's house," another just below the "Waihee pasture," and so on; yet, who would think of asking Mr. Spreckels to spend thousands of dollars to fence out those old trails, or the government to mark them. There was no road however, "ancient" nor modern to the railway terminus, simply because there was no railway; but after it was built the people of Makawao found it more convenient to get their goods and ship freight there than to go to Kahului, and to accommodate them Mr. Baldwin allowed them to go through his land until they could arrange to get a government road, putting up gates, building bridges and keeping the road passable.

The government would not, nor did not work the road, and when a couple years ago the road supervisor, seeing the bad condition of the road told his luna to work it, the luna told him that the supervisor in chief who lived in the district, said it was not a government road and not to work it, and so it was not worked.

Now it is important that the people of Makawao should have access to Paia on a public road that will be kept up by the government, and they can have it by opening about one and a half miles of road from Paia and intersecting the Makawao and Kahului at the public school house, which will answer all purposes. But notwithstanding that there are already more than 50 miles of roads in this district, and the money appropriated for working them spent, and work ordered stopped, "Via" proposes opening about 17 miles more of roads, and one of them 8 miles long, to start at a ranch and to terminate at a gulch.

Trusting this account about "ancient roads" may be satisfactory, I remain yours truly, ESO.

Makawao, Feb. 1st, 1884.

Bi-metallism.

From Bradstreet's is clipped the following article on the subject of bi-metallism, which is well worthy the perusal of those who favor the double standard:

"Theodore Mommsen, the celebrated professor of history at the University of Berlin, and an opponent of the bimetallists, has lately published in a German journal (Die Nation) an essay showing how the experience of ancient Rome may be applied to the question at issue. Drawing his illustrations from an edict published at the time of the Emperor Julian fixing the pay of lawyers in measures of wheat or their equivalent, he says that this shows how, in its dotage and decline, Rome was forced to adopt the same measures of value which had been in use in those early days when coin had not become available. In the best days of Roman rule, when gold was the measure of value, the coins of Rome had conquered the ancient world quite as much as its sword. They were strictly equal in value to the amount stamped on them, and from the eastern to the western confines of the empire they were accepted as the standard measures of value. But the unfortunate policy of the empire in fixing by law the relative values of gold and silver without confining the use of silver to the payment of small sums led to a slow and gradual but certain debasement of the coinage. Julius and Augustus Cæsar had not the same difficulties to contend with as the Germans of to-day. No other state then existing could dispute the universal supremacy of Rome in commerce as well as arms, and the coinage of gold had been so plentiful that for a time silver was only used in small amounts. Owing, however, to the mistaken policy referred to, silver gradually drove gold out of circulation, and the silver coin was debased by alloys, and at last became but little more than plated copper. The commercial world became in consequence slaves of dishonest money-changers, and as we see from the documents which have come down to us from the times of Julian, coin finally ceased to be recognized as a measure of value and was replaced by the cumbrous wheat. Professor Mommsen argues that this was the consequence of a policy of bimetallism under the most favorable circumstances in Rome, the same policy would lead to still more disastrous results in the complicated arrangements of modern commercial and international relations."

Submarine Eruption off Hawaii.

A submarine eruption occurred on the 22d of January, off the east Cape of Hawaii, which was witnessed by Charles N. Spencer and others. It consisted of a terrific explosion, by which a column of water was thrown six hundred feet into the air, accompanied with most terrific detonations, as if a battery of cannon had been discharged. These noises were so loud as to be distinctly heard forty miles away, and continued for several hours, and it is probable that the water was disturbed during the whole day. But as dense smoke and steam, which came from the submarine eruption, filled the air and prevented any further observations, nothing was afterwards seen of it during the day. The occurrence was followed by a storm of wind and rain, which lasted only a few hours. The next day was clear and pleasant.

A Warning to the Young.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In November an article appeared in the local papers in regard to two young men, Mr. Chessman and Dr. Craig. Chessman, as the article stated, is highly connected in Chicago, being the only son of wealthy parents, he had been indulged and his slightest wish humored till leaving home he turned out as the people of Honolulu know. Chessman went from here to San Francisco, thence to Chicago where he arrived Dec. 26th, to the once happy home he had left only one year previously. But, alas! what a change. The home was no more, the kind, indulgent father having died on Nov. 19, only one month prior to his son's return. Not knowing where their son was at the time, his friends telegraphed all over the States for him, but the poor mother and little sister had to bear their sorrow alone. Mr. Chessman (the father) was a thorough Christian, a prominent member of the 1st Presbyterian Church, Supt. of the Sunday school and a leader in all good works. Young Chessman has had a hard lesson taught him, may it prove a lesson to other young men who willfully leave their homes in a similar manner. MONITOR.

Our New York Letter.

COMMERCIAL. A BOOM AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

NEW YORK, January 14, 1884.

The year 1883 closed with an unbroken record of decline in prices of leading staple food products and leading articles of merchandize. The period of liquidation which began early in 1882 has continued for twenty months. The topic of the hour among business men now is, whether we have reached the bottom. The causes of enforced economy in production due to restricted purchases on all hands, have been too frequently outlined to require elaborate explanation. The latter half of 1879 had witnessed several seasons of good crops at home and correspondingly short harvests in Europe. The United States had been selling abroad freely of its surplus produce and this, in connection with the six preceding years of moderate purchases by consumers had brought the country as a whole to a degree of well-to-do-itiveness which showed itself in rapidly increasing demands for almost every article of commerce, and, by the aid of the still remaining high protective war tariff on imported products, stimulated our native industries in a marked degree. The country had outrun itself, somewhat, in the so called boom of 1870–72. From 1873 to 1879 it had paid the penalty and aided by favoring weather and fertile soil had laid the foundations for another spurt. This began in the mid-summer and fall of 1879. Of the enormous increase in industrial producing capacity from 1880 to 1882 it is unnecessary to speak at length. The great railway building era is comprised in that period and steel rail mills were constructed which enabled the railway kings to lay from 7,000 to 12,000 miles of rails per annum. All other industries to a considerable extent kept pace with this, and in two or three years greatly exceeded the home requirements. Railway building had fallen far behind its own records, cotton and woollen mills had increased their annual output until the goods remained in the warehouses in sufficient quantity to warn the proprietors that for the time being the public were stocked. To complicate this, there came the new cotton mills at the south where the raw material was to be obtained without paying the freight which entered perforce into the accounts of the New England mills. In this way competition injured the business and prospects of the northern and eastern mills employed on the class of fabrics undertaken at the south. Failures were not unknown as a result, and the several mammoth cotton goods auction sales taking place at New York during the year just past constituted the means taken to turn surplus, and not readily saleable stocks into cash. The blanket sales during the same season and of kindred proportions tells of the pinch which came to the woollen industry. In raw iron there was an enforced stoppage of about eighty-five furnaces between January 1st, 1883, and January 1st, 1884. Prices had declined during the year from $25.50 to $20, and many of the less efficient stocks found it impossible to do business profitably. Some few steel rail mills have shut down—or practically so. One, at Joliet, Ill., and the Vulcan at St. Louis. While the latter may not have actually banked its fires it is known to be turning orders—at market rates, over to other mills.

LOOKING UP.

But since the first of the year there has been sufficient modification of some of the vital elements in the trade situation to at least warrant the inquiry whether a change for the better has not finally begun. It appears to rest mainly on a slight gain in the pig iron, and a still greater improvement in the steel rail situation. The tradition that the iron trade is a gauge to the general business situation, and the record of that industry apparently justifies the relation between it and commerce in most leading lines. Iron is generally first to feel an approaching decline, and likewise earliest in the field with symptoms of something better. At present, reports from most of the western pig iron producing centers mention a somewhat increased inquiry and a noticably improved feeling among producers and dealers. At some points prices are quoted fairer, and at all fewer concessions in prices can be obtained on cash orders. It is especially noteworthy that some moderately large contracts for delivery, month by month during the year, have been contracted in New York at $20 per ton. This is significant as indicating the existence—even the growth of the opinion, that bottom prices in iron have been reached, and that no better bargains are to be gained by waiting. Once let this opinion prevail throughout the trade, and the turn will have been made. Demand will increase and prices advance. Production is now about equal to the hand-to-mouth species of consumption which has been current so long. Steel rails have been quoted at $35 per ton since last fall. Sales have been made at lower figures, in a few instances: Now $35 is more firmly asked. One small sale has been made at $37. This however, is hardly to be taken as a warrant to higher prices at once.

HOW THE MARKET WAS STRENGTHENED.

At the risk of being somewhat personal I may as well relate to you how this fact was used during the week in market manipulation. From unquestioned authority in the steel rail producing trade I learned of the sale on Friday last (January 11th) and mentioned the small sale of rails at 37 in the market report of a leading New York commercial and financial weekly journal, adding as well that it was an exceptional transaction and of small volume. Said iron trade report was telegraphed in advance of publication here, to the Philadelphia Press and published in that journal simultaneously with its public appear in New York. The trade in the quiet old Quaker town were evidently interested by the statement and it was retelegraphed to New York, (on Saturday, day before yesterday) to the Stock Exchange. There it appeared in the shape of "a Philadelphia dispatch stating that steel rails had advanced to $37, a gain of $2 per ton. This, and "rumors" of a more satisfactory solution of the north-western railway pool troubles than had been expected, was considered probable "strengthened the market" in the afternoon. At least the New York Evening Post said so.

A SMALLER VOLUME OF TRADE.

The volume of general trade—i. e. the distribution of merchandise is smaller than in a like period in 1883. Railway earnings of the roads centering at Cincinnati and at Chicago distinctly show this. The severe cold weather since the opening of the year, has decreased cattle shipments, and the heavy fall of snow has delayed railway transportation in various portions of the east and west. The sudden change in temperature during the week melted the snow fast and the Ohio and other rivers tributary thereto have risen so high as to interfere with navigation and cause damage from overflow; but this will not account for all the decrease in the movement of goods noted.

A SENSATION.

The sensation in commercial circles has been the perverse decline in wheat. Two houses failed yesterday owing to the persistent decline in the price of that grain when it should, if foreign food buyers would only send over their orders for it—materially advance. Saturday wheat dropped 2¼ cents per bushel to about $1.04¼ and two cents more again this morning. On December 15th, it stood at about $1.13¼. The aggregate of stocks of wheat in the United States—the so-called visible supply is over 35,000,000 bushels, larger than ever before. We have been banking this supply in the expectation that by January 1st the United Kingdom would have eaten pretty well into what she had on hand three months ago and would want more. The Russian ports being closed at this time, and the Indian shipment being interrupted, it was calculated that the heavy supplies in the United States would be wanted abroad, and at our own prices. But British stocks are larger than they were three months ago. That tells the whole story.

TARIFF TALK.

In Congress there is much tariff talk and little present prospect of much being done in the way of reducing the excessive revenue by cutting down rates of import duties. The protectionist element of the democracy appears to be strong enough, if voting with the republicans to block any action which the Carlisle or revenue reform democrats may attempt.

PERRY BELMONT.

Perry Belmont, second instead of first best man on the Committee on Foreign Affairs, was pointed out to me from the gallery of the House of Representatives the other day. I wish he could go out to Honolulu so that you might all take one look at the little toy who stirred up so much commotion out your way with allegations as to sugar frauds. With him, it is a clear case of doing business on his father's reputation. He is the most overrated young man who has had an opportunity to fill so large a share of the public eye, so young in life.

SOCIAL PLEASURES.

New York has been very gay of late. The grand annual charity ball was given at the new Metropolitan Opera House, and was much the same success that its predecessors have been. The representatives of New York's best society were nearly all there and the affair went stiffly and properly and formally and luxuriously on from about eleven in the "evening" until a good deal later. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the old gentleman, gave the swell entertainment, for the house of Vanderbilt, this year. William has at last been swallowed, so-to-speak, by the class of "real select" New York society who once scouted at the idea of receiving or being received by the "Many Millioniare of railroad fame." He is too recently from the walks of trade, or commerce, or both. In the case of the "real select" referred to, it is only fathers or grandfathers who have worked for them. The gilded pill, or "Bill" as you choose, was however too tempting not to be swallowed, and so as stated above, at William's "party" they all went, danced, ate and doubtless had a good time, but found fault with it the next morning (noon?) for the want of taste in this, that and the other direction. The generally accepted opinion as to the cost of the Vanderbilt ball is $100,000. From this you may readily infer that $50,000 would be nearer the exact sum.

DELMONICO.

Charles Delmonico, the last of the series of "original" Delmonicos, who have for years conducted the world renowned restaurants in this city which bear that name, has been notoriously of deranged mind for many months. It was the mistaken kindness of his friends and relatives, that he was not placed in charge of some institution where they attempt systematically to cure such diseases. His whereabouts have been unknown for over a week and the police of three cities in this vicinity as well as the ablest detectives have been on the alert for him night and day without avail. The belief gains ground that he has committed suicide and that his body may or may not be found in some of the canals, rivers or other bodies of water in New Jersey, where he has been traced. The daily papers have published likenesses of the man and much space is given over to discussing the mysterious disappearance of one of a noted and very popular family. Mr. Delmonico is, (or was) worth considerably in excess of $1,000,000. Kidnapping has been suggested, but is not received as probable.

A. C. STEVENS.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands--January Term 1884.

THE KING vs. MAHUKALULU.

Judd, C. J., McCully and Austin, J. J.—Opinion of the Court by McCully, J.

Bill of exceptions from the third Judicial Circuit Court,

The defendant was convicted on an indictment charging forging and uttering an instrument of which the following is a copy.

$70.00. Honolulu, Sept. 14, 1883.

..................after date....promise to pay to the order of....Mahakalilili..............
..........Seventy.....................Dollars.
at....Mr. Hyman B.................................
Value Received.
No. 131 Due...........Geo. Willyon.

The words in italics form the printed blank which is filled. The testimony shows that the name intended to be the signature was Geo. Willfong. The note was offered by the defendant to the proprietors of a Chinese store who cashed it.

The defendant's first exception is based on the provision in the chapter on forgery. Penal Code, Chap. XXX, Sec. 7 "Provided however, that it is essential to constitute forgery, that the false instrument should carry on its face the semblance of that for which it was counterfeited and it should not be obviously invalid, void and of no effect."

In the King vs. Heleliiiji, heard on exceptions at the last July Term, the Court considered a case precisely parallel to this, and the reasoning and authorities there employed need not be repeated here.

The line discriminating between such false instruments as do not bear the semblance of that of which they are counterfeits and those which do bear it, must be determined by the complexion of each case as it arises, and it is not likely to exclude from the class of forgeries, papers which are intended for forgeries and which have been successfully uttered.

The next exception is to the admission of evidence of the defendants having another draft for $100, about a week before his arrest and his statements concerning it. This was offered to show guilty knowledge and to rebut the presumption of innocence through ignorance. This is established doctrine in cases of forgery and counterfeiting. See Greenleaf's Evidence, Vol. 3, Secs. 111 and 111 A, where many authorities are cited, also 115 Mass. 181 Com. v. Coe.

The third exception, to the question what prisoner did with the said $100. note comes under the ruling on the foregoing exception.

And finally we do not find that the verdict was against the weight of evidence.

The exceptions are overruled.

Attorney-General Neumann; W. C. Jones for defendant.

Honolulu, Jan. 28, 1881.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands--January Term. 1884--In Banco.

JOHN ROBELLO vs. WONG QUING.

Judd C. J., McCully and Austin J. J.,—Opinion of the Court per Judd C. J.

This is an appeal by the defendant to the Supreme Court in Banco, on a point of law, from a judgment in the Police Court of Honolulu.

The action purports to be brought in pursuance of the Statute entitled "Of summary proceedings to recover possession of land in certain cases." Civil Code, Art. 40, and amendment in 1864.

There is in evidence a mortgage upon certain premises on Liliha street, in Honolulu, dated 29th July, 1881, executed by Naukana, (w.) and David Kanae her husband, to one Maria Lowrey, securing the payment of $500 and interest, in two years from date.

Also a lease of the same premises from the said mortgagors to Wong Quing, (defendant) dated March 20th, 1882, for ten years from date, at the annual rental of $65, by which the lessee covenants to pay the rent at Mr. W. R. Castle's office until the mortgage is paid. The inference would be that Mr. Castle represented the mortgagee. There is also the following covenant: "This lease is made subject to the aforesaid mortgage, and if the land should be sold upon foreclosure of the mortgage, then this lease can be annulled."

There is in evidence further, a deed dated 24th Sept., 1883, from F. C. Lowrey, describing himself as heir of Maria Lowrey the mortgagor first mentioned, to John Robello, (plaintiff) conveying to him upon foreclosure all the interest which he possessed by the mortgage.

The defendant urges that there is no relation of landlord and tenant existing between him and the plaintiff and that therefore the statutory proceeding to dispossess a tenant does not apply. He claims that if the plaintiff as the mortgagor's assignee adopts the lease, then he is bound by it and as the lease has not expired the defendant is entitled to judgment. And if the plaintiff claims the lease to be void as being subsequent to the mortgage, then there is no relation or tenancy between the parties and the defendant is a trespasser.

This Court held in Kaaihue vs. Crabbe, 3 Hawn. R. 776, that the statute we are now considering applies "only where the relation of landlord and tenant confessedly exists." This was affirmed in Coney vs. Manele 4 Hawn. R. 154.

In Taylor's Landlord and Tenant, Sec. 720, the author says, in discussing a similar statute in New York State: "This statute applies to cases where the conventional relation of landlord and tenant subsists and not where it is created by operation of law. Therefore a mortgagor cannot be turned out of possession of the mortgaged premises under this statute."

In Everston vs. Sutton, 5 Wend., 281, Savage C. J. says: "This statute is applicable between landlord and tenant only. No such relation existed between J. and T., the whole proceedings therefore from beginning to end, have been without jurisdiction and void.

"The statute was clearly designed to afford a speedy remedy where the conventional relation of landlord and tenant existed and not where that relation is created by operation of law. The legislature never intended that the mortgagee should have a right to proceed under this statute to obtain possession of the mortgaged premises after forfeiture."

This is undoubtedly good law. But the relation of landlord and tenant in the matter before us is not created by operation of law, as in the case of a mortgagor and mortgagee. It is created by the lease itself and the lessee is estopped to deny this. The tenant agreed in his lease that it should be forfeited if the premises were sold under foreclosure of the mortgage.

Our statute, as amended, differs from that of New York in that it confers jurisdiction upon the court when the tenant is holding over "without right after the determination of such tenancy either by efflux of time or by reason of any forfeiture under the conditions or covenants in any such lease."

It seems to us that, if it be true as conceded in argument that the grantee of a lessor can bring summary proceedings under the statute to dispossess a tenant who persists in remaining on the land after the determination of the tenancy, for any statutory cause, there is no reason why the grantee of a mortgagee, succeeding to all the rights of the mortgagor, who was also grantor and lessor, cannot do the same.

The method of transferring the estate from the lessor to the defendant is only a little more circuitous than a direct sale from lessor to defendant. It was a condition in the lease that it should be annulled if the premises were sold under foreclosure. The defendant lessee entered the premises by virtue of this lease and covenanted to pay the rent to the mortgagee and he cannot now say that it is void and that he is a trespasser. The assignee of the title now claims that the lease is void by reason of the happening of an event which was contemplated both by the lessor and the defendant, and we think the plaintiff, is, on these facts, entitled to judgment for the possession of the land.

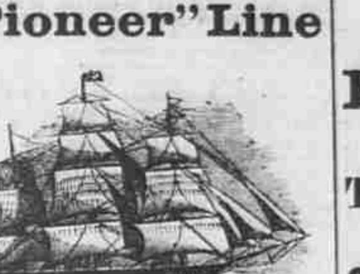

The defendant's attorney called the Court's attention to the fact that the summons does not allege a tenancy between the parties. An omission of this character was held in Coney vs. Manele (supra) to be fatal. But in that case the motion to dismiss the summons on this ground was made in the District Court. In the case before us the motion was not only not made in the lower Court so that the defendant could cure the defect by amendment, but the case was proceeded with as if the allegation of tenancy had been in the summons. The proofs all conformed to such a case. We think it is too late to dismiss the case on such grounds on appeal, and allow the plaintiff to amend his summons in this respect, and he may then have judgment.

C. Brown for plaintiff; E. Preston for defendant.

A new explosive has been invented by M. Turpin, a Parisian chemist. It is said to be very powerful, and unlike nitro-glycerine, dynamite and gun-cotton, it has the highly important property of not being affected by concussion. It is made by the combination of two liquids, which can be transported like ordinary chemicals, and need only be mixed when the explosive is about to be used. It can be employed in is liquid form or when absorbed by silicious earth. Frost does not affect it. At Cherbourg experiments have been made with this substance upon slaty rocks containing quartz, and also upon old cement work, and the report of the engineers praises it very much.

FROM BREMEN.

merchandize. The period of liquidation which began early in 1882 has continued for twenty months. The topic of the hour at the new Metropolitan Opera House, and was much the same success that its predecessors have been. The representatives ceeding to all the rights of the mortgagor, who was also grantor and lessor, cannot do the same.

C. J. FISHEL'S

A Courteous Manner.

Brusk people underrate the importance of a pleasant manner. Look beneath the surface, they say, to the roots of character; pay no attention to outward appearance, to voice or gesture, tone or manners, they may be all deceptive, and they must be all superficial; it is what is said or done and not how it is said or done, that is alone deserving of notice. On the other hand, there are some to whom manner is everything. Each new acquaintance has to pass the ordeal of their criticism. Is he polished, courteous, graceful, dignified? Then they are ready to receive him without further question; he bears the stamp of their order. Is he rough, awkward or shy? Then they are not to examine the kernel that may be hidden under so unattractive a shell. Both these views are imperfect and mistaken, though each contains enough of truth to make it plausible. To depreciate or ignore fine manners is essentially absurd. Their charm is irresistible, even to those who fancy themselves proof against them. Yet it is not so much in themselves or for their own sake that they delight us in the promise of something better and deeper. They are signs or symbols of character, feelings, affections, thoughts, and it is to this that they owe their value and their charm.
