SELECTED POETRY.

The Prayer-Seeker.

Along the stile where prayer was made,
A woman, all in black arrayed, Close veiled, between the kneeling host,
With gliding motion of a ghost, Passed to the desk and laid thereon A scroll which bore these words alone—
"Pray for me!"

Back from the place of worshiping She glided, like a guilty thing;
The rustle of her draperies, stirred By hurrying feet, alone was heard;
With full of awe, the preacher read,
As out into the dark she sped:
"Pray for me!"

Back to the night from whence she came,
To unimagined grief or shame!
Across the threshold of that door None knew the burden that she bore;
Alone she left the written scroll:
The legend of a troubled soul—
"Pray for me!"

Pass on, poor ghost of war or sin!
Thou bear'st a common need within;
Each heart, like thee, some nameless weight,
Some unimagined, some unnamed,
Some secret sin, some charmed dead,
Some household sorrow all unsaid,
"Pray for me!"

Pass on! The type of all that art,
And witness to the common heart,
With low in veils and on the lip,
In mute and strange companionship Like thee we wander to and fro, Dumbly imploring as we go,
"Pray for me!"

Ah, who shall pray, since he who pleads Our want, perchance hath greater needs?
Yet who shall make their loss the gain Of others not at all in vain,
And heaven bends low to hear the power Of love from lips of self-depair:
"Pray for me!"

In vain remorse and fear and hate Beat with bruised hands against a fate Whose walls of iron only move
And open to the touch of love:
He only feels his burden fall Who, taught by suffering, pities all.
"Pray for me!"

He prays best who leaves unguessed
The mystery of another's need;
Why cheeks grow pale, why eyes grow red,
Or heads are white, thus need not know, Enough to note, by many a sign,
That every heart hath its own shrine.
—John G. Whittier.

It is not a misfortune for a young lady to lose her name if a young man gives her a better one.
Men should not think too much of themselves, and yet a man should be careful not to forget himself.

In proof of the assertion that cattle will stray into strange places, we have seen a cow hide in a shoemaker's shop.

"Does poultry pay?" asked a stranger of a city dealer. "Of course," was the reply; "even the little chickens sell out."

For persons who want to get rich—if you want to get rich, mount a mule, because when you are on a mule, you are better off.

"Mr. D., if you will have my coat done by Saturday I shall be forever indebted to you," "If that's your game, it won't be done," said the tailor.

Not Worth Much: An old hat belonging to Napoleon I. was recently advertised for sale in Paris. We shouldn't be too sure of the value of things, as the Nap and the Crown are gone.

Tommy: "Oh, gran'pa dear, I've been counting what my Christmas presents will cost, and it just comes to ten shillings. I've saved up and all, and I can't give you more than ten shillings. Can you advise me where to get the rest?"

"Everything is as regular as clockwork about my house," said Brown, who was showing the splendors of his new residence to some of his friends. "Yes," said Fogg, "it is tick, tick all the time, I suppose."

An elderly Scotchman went one day to an apothecary's shop with a prescription for two grains of calomel for a child. Seeing the drug-weigh the medicine with scrupulous exactness, and not thinking he did this from anxiety not to get an overdose, but from his penuriousness or desire to give as little as possible for the money, he said, "Dinner is waiting, and I must go."

"Sir," began a creditor who met one of his victims on Grand-street recently. "I sent you a bill in June." "Yes, sir," "And again in September." "Yes, sir," "And I presume you received one the other day?" "I did, sir," "Well, sir—well, sir?" "Dusted the creditor." "Well, you needn't feel so stuck up over it," replied the other, as he lighted a twenty-cent cigar.

"There are firms in this town who send me bills every two weeks in the year, and they never stop me on the street, sir! I don't like it, either! I detect such egotism, sir! Good morning."

A Roper Yarn.
It is doubtful whether there was a happier man in all America yesterday than Captain Alfred Roper of the ocean tramp Anjer Head. In the morning Judge Hoffman gave his decision in the matter of the unlawfully constructed berths, which was favorable to the prosecuted skipper—and elated him beyond bounds. In the afternoon he appeared at the Custom-house to take out his clearance papers. Assistant Surveyor Brown and Pack Kwi were absent on the mail dock, and Captain Roper was therefore spared the annoyance of meeting them in this the happiest moment of his life. The necessary documents were obtained with all possible dispatch. Every clerk and officer who had the good fortune of handling them smiled sweetly upon the happy Briton. The naval officer was especially disposed to proffer everlasting friendship.

Deputy Pattison signed his name with an extra flourish to the cashier broke off in the middle of a column of additions to take a last look upon the ruddy countenance of the happy man, and the officer boy clambered upon a stool and stopped eating the flour paste. Captain Roper descended the stone steps of the Custom-house a thoroughly reconciled man. As he turned to shake hands with his broker, he heaved a great sigh of relief and, sniffing the fresh trade-wind breeze which came howling down from the direction of the seaway, he walked off rapidly to his ship. There all was bustle and activity.—S. F. Chronicle, Aug. 2.

LAKSAMANA; THE GREAT HERO OF THE MALAYS.

A ROMANCE.
By WALTER MURRAY GIBSON.
Originally published in the Hawaiian language, and written especially for the instruction and entertainment of Hawaiians.

CHAPTER XIII.
Laksamana Slay a Tiger, and Encounters the Chief Jahat.

After Laksamana had received the magic bullet from the base of the Gishu, he prepared to depart. His men had satisfied themselves with choice weapons and snary. The Princess Umba had been seated in a grand and beautiful palanquin provided by the rakahaba, and there the great hero adjusted the tiger-skin on his shoulders and marched at the head of his troop into the dense and dangerous forest of S. M. M. and directed his way towards the great cave of Menangkabau; and all day the little troop had marched fatiguingly through a great extent of forest, and at eve entered into an open plain.
A beautiful prospect was now presented to view.
A distant lake reflected the rays of the setting sun. Thick-leaved and fragrant groves of trees bordered this lake, and Laksamana hastened his steps, so that he might have a camp prepared for Umba to pass the night in comfort before darkness had set in. Laksamana and his men were marching along the edge of a jungle that bordered the lake. One of the most active of the men had run on in advance to select a spot for encampment; and he was about to select a spot when a terrible roar burst forth upon the calm air, and a huge striped tiger was seen to leap forth from the bushes and spring upon the ill-fated man. He bent him off in his terrible jaws. The Princess Umba screamed, and terror seized all the company but Laksamana. He rushed swiftly towards the tiger, with his tiger-skin well drawn around him, and he rushed to the rescue of his victim. The tiger stopped in his leaps, still holding him in his jaws; he gazed around fiercely, and beholding a striped-skin like his own, and hearing an angry roar of defiance from a creature like himself—for Laksamana had crouched on all-fours, and imitated the action of the beast about to spring—the angry beast dropped his victim and came towards him with head erect, glaring eyeballs, and lashing the ground with his siney tail that with its nervous action swept away the herbage like a scythe. When within range to spring upon him, the tiger stopped, and gathered his mighty claws feet under his belly, and quivering with the nervous excitement of onslaught, yelled forth a terrific yell, springing in the air, and came down with his mouth open upon Laksamana. The mighty hero had suddenly folded up the tiger skin, and holding it before him, as a shield and barrier received the onset of the tiger, which would have crushed any common man.
But the gigantic strength of the hero held him up, and the tiger tiger skin, saved his own flesh from the lacerating claws of the monstrous cat.
And now, with a flash of lightning, the hero thrust his hand into the open mouth of the furious animal, and grasping with the grip of a vice, the tongue of the tiger, gave it a twist, that made the huge creature roar in agony, and as he retreated, the monster was, however, lessened for himself—(for Laksamana like this has happened, when a furious unbroken horse rushed upon a man to bite him, with tongue lolling out, which the man having seized, heavily brought the horse to the ground, and the tongue being agony-caused by twisting the tongue. Thus a little dog can hold a great bull by the nose.
And thus the tiger's immense power was paralyzed; and he lay, and rolled in agony; as Laksamana twisted his tongue. The Laksamana called to one of his men, who came with his spear and thrust the great beast through the heart, and slew him.

tated the elephants, who have an intense fear of the tiger; and he met the smallest of the brown elephants, that advanced more swiftly than the labor. As the elephant approached Laksamana, swinging his trunk furiously, the Princess Umba screamed, and covered her eyes with her hands, so as not to behold the death of her loved chief.

The hero stood calm, awaiting the approach of the great beast. The men of Jahat in the towers gazed with amazement. Laksamana stooped a little with his hands resting on his knees. His death seemed certain and immediate. In two steps more the huge animal would be crushing down upon him. It held its trunk aloft to strike him;—it is descending to strike him breathless; but he springs aside with the bound of a cat,— springing alongside the flank of the beast; and now crouching like a tiger, he springs into the air, and alights in the midst of the amazed men of Jahat in the tower. With one swift blow of his mighty arm he knocked the conductor from the neck of the beast. The beast in the tower shrank on their knees in terror, at the feet of one they deemed a god; whilst Laksamana cried out, saying: "Men, fear me not. Do my bidding.
Be my men, and win riches and glory." And they cried out, "Oh King, command us." Then Laksamana bade one of the men seize the book of the fallen man, which hung in the ear of the elephant, and turn him round to run against the great elephant of Jahat. And these men under the immediate fear of his terrible presence, did as he commanded, and the elephant charged in the direction of Jahat.

This wicked chief and all his men on the other elephants, had been almost paralyzed with extreme surprise, and had been staring with open mouth astonishment, at the bold and daring action of Laksamana. But now they recovered, as they beheld the strange hero coming to attack them on one of their own elephants. Then at a word from Jahat, they discharged their arrows at Laksamana; but they shot in such haste and under such excitement, that their arrows fell below the mark, and only rattled against the side of the approaching tower. And before they had got to shoot again, the two elephants, the one bearing Laksamana, and the great white one of Jahat were side by side,—and then, the great hero uttering a terrific shout spring from the bulwark of his tower into the very midst of the one that bore Jahat.

The hero now stripped of his garments, appeared as the wild hairy man, excited to the height of battle, and was fearful to behold.
The fierce cry alone, unnered every heart.
The terror of his face, his glaring eyes, made men shrink. The coward Jahat fell on his face.
Then Laksamana cried out in a ringing tone of command, so all the men on the elephants could hear: "Men of Jahat, be men of Laksamana; this slave at my feet, abducted a Princess of Nista the god, hand and foot, and will lead you back to Menangkabau, and will make obedience to your illustrious Lord Sri Rama.

Instantly the men of Jahat impressed with wonder and terror, obeyed Laksamana. They thrust their master Jahat, hand and foot, firmly and he was ignominiously bound to the back of one of the great beasts near its tail.

To be continued.

"The Planter's Monthly" for August.

This is a thoroughly practical number, and the most interesting of any hitherto published, if we except the first, the value of which, however, lessened for local readers by the previous publication in the newspapers of the proceedings which it chronicled. The editors of the "Monthly" Monthly evidently intended that this magazine should maintain itself by its merits and not be dependent on its connection with an influential company for its prolonged existence. If they can maintain the present excellence on the two points of originality and practical utility they will not only ensure the success of their periodical, but will be instrumental in doing a good work for Hawaii.

The first article in this number is apparently and contains an appeal to the directly interested in plantation work and who have personal knowledge of the details of the business, to contribute their views and the results of their experience to the editors of the "Monthly." The contents of this number show that there is a fair readiness on the part of those who have any knowledge to communicate, to respond to the appeal, and in a concluding note the editors thankfully acknowledge that since the number first alluded to were written several valuable communications had been received. Certain recent statements as to the treatment of laborers on Pukaia plantation, made by a correspondent on those islands of the San Francisco Chronicle, are then dealt with, and an affidavit by Mr.
Johnathan A. A. on the subject, and a memorial signed by all the Portuguese on the plantation, are reprinted. It is not often that the defamatory articles so persistently published against the natives and our planters contain any specific charges which can be laid hold of by an individual employer and refuted in detail. In this case the slander is complete—how can it be put to rest? But this they say, which every planter ought to note and respond to. "The experiences of our planters made up in the last letters to the Secretary of the Planters' Labor and Supply Co., or aff-davits setting forth, what they have done or do for their laborers, and the nature of their complaints, the losses and annoyances suffered through the laborers non-adherence to their contracts, would furnish a fair and ready information which can be made useful. Undoubtedly such documents can be made useful, and the more useful the more they are in number, and the more completely they represent the masses and policy, so that they may not be sneered at as being only the beatings of a few white sheep among a flock of black ones.
And we may add that they "can be made useful" precisely in the proportion in which they imitate the documents about Pukaia in strictly dealing with facts alone and avoiding everything in the way of clamor. If the editors of the "Planter's Monthly" can secure a full series of such documents as these they will not find much difficulty in making them useful in various ways, but the proper way to ensure their full usefulness will be to place them in the disposal of the Government, so that our diplomatic representative at Washington may take steps to bring them under the notice of the Executive and Congress of the United States, and circulate their contents far and wide in that country.

An article follows on "Incorporation," with a list of the incorporated sugar companies now in existence in the Hawaiian Islands. These are twenty-two in number.
The list gives no particulars except the names and the dates of incorporation. A statement of the nominal capital of these companies would have been of interest.
Seven of the twenty-two were incorporated in 1880, three last year, three each in the years 1878 and 1879. The Haila Sugar Company dates from 1858, and the Kohala Co. from 1863—all the others are creatures of the Treaty of 1897. Some remarks on the various methods of transporting cane to the mill, and on the refusal of the Legislature to agree to the appointment of district representatives for the other islands, are the editorial articles to a close. Then follow the letters of correspondents, which are of the path and marrow of the magazine.
These include an account of doing away vacuum apparatus and an exposition of the causes of its economy and success; the letter from Mr. C. J. Jameson, dated January, 1882, and signed by Mr. J. M. Smith, of which we have already published a copy; an article by Dr. Mott Smith, entitled "How much per pound?" in which is embodied a valuable communication from Mr. George C. Williams, replying to enquiries put to him by the writer concerning a letter from Mr. A. H.
Smith, about reservoirs, with details of the actual cost of two lately constructed at Grove Ranch; and a capital account of the prok has done with steam plows, by Mr.
Charles Nott, to which some interesting statistics of the subsequent cost of planting are appended. In regard to the last mentioned communication, the editors make the following remark:—"It is a coincidence that the correspondence in this number from Mr. Chas. Nott of Hawaii, and from Mr. James Dunn, Hawaiian Consul at Glasgow, both speak of the advantage of steam plowing in facilitating and lessening the expense of the subsequent cultivation of the crop. The advantage in saving labor, not only in the plowing, but in the cultivation, is well worthy of consideration."

The remainder of the magazine is devoted to a number of personal notes and paragraphs on general matters connected with the sugar interest. We quote the following as being of interest to every one:—
"The following is a statement of three lots of No. 1 sugar from one plantation sold this year in three different markets:
"1. In May, 48 tons at Portland, Oregon, netted in Honolulu 75 cents per lb. One half of the lot was in kegs, and one half in bags. That in kegs sold for 1 cent more per lb. than that in bags.
"2. In April, 27 tons at St. Louis, Mo., netted in Honolulu, 53-5 cents lb. Polarization averaged 97 1/2. It sold in St. Louis for about 8 cents per lb.
"3. In June 38 tons at San Francisco, under refinery contract on N. Y. (Cuba), basis, netted in Honolulu 7 cents. Polarization averaged 96 1/2."

EMIGRATION TO THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

[Extract from Diario de Noticias, Lisbon.] The steamer Hansa, regarding which several notices and advertisements have appeared in the papers, has been in port for the last few days, taking in emigrants for the Sandwich Islands. Yesterday those already on board were taken back to the shore by order of the police authorities, owing to complaints received, and were grouped, to the number of about 200 men, women and children, in the Custom House gardens, and thence marched to the Government offices.

One of these persons, who went on board to see off friends, noted the discontented state of those poor people, and the complaints of promises not being carried out, and that they had been taken back to the
shore by order of the police authorities,
owing to complaints received, and were
grouped, to the number of about 200 men,
women and children, in the Custom House
gardens, and thence marched to the Government offices.

Owing to this circumstance, many kept back who had intended to take passage.
Some are from Algarve, and had come in the night before last. The appearance of the people brought to the Government House, was, as might be supposed, pitiable, as is always the case with poor emigrants —families which desert en masse—compelled by misery, despairing of improvement in their mother country, and attracted by flattering promises of a happier lot and contracts, the value and range of which they in most instances do not measure—seeing their illusions melting away as soon as they step on board ship, because they meet with none of the gentleness, attention, or charity which, notwithstanding their poverty, they never missed at home. Subdued by the fear of misfortune, by the uncertainty of the future, and by the idea of leaving their country for ever, one can understand their affliction, their chagrin, their grief. It was in this condition that they sought shelter under the Government House roof, which is a little better aired, to say the least, than the dark and stifling hold of the emigrant ship.

One of the emigrants came by night to inform us in regard to the bad arrangements made for them, and even brought a piece of biscuit with him, as black as asphalt, or as black as any color. We never sympathized with emigration above all that carried under circumstances which compel the authorities to oppose it, as though rescuing fellow countrymen from disgraceful slavery, yet, in the end, we hear that the promoters have to say. The emigrants were sent, some to the Junqueira, some, and especially the women, to a hotel, and children remained at the Government House, preparatory to returning to their homes. To-day a ration of fish and bread was distributed, and the women of the women have babies at the breast, little older. We repeat that we shall hear before judging, because to take advantage of the misfortune of others, and to be fortunate, and almost defenceless, deserves no hard a qualification that we should be unwilling to apply it without every proof.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Dabbling in the Fountain of Justice.

"The hitherto unstained justice of the Hawaiian Courts is endangered. The District Justices are become creatures of the Crown."
This is an outcry of the old ring, because the appointment and approval of petty justices have been taken out of the hands of judges of the Supreme Court and placed in the hands of the Governors.

It is simply a loss of patronage and influence. Sometimes eight or ten district justices have had seats in the Legislative Assembly, and there has been observed heretofore in connection with these judicial representatives a great deal of unseemly political partisanship, that seriously impaired the justice of the Hawaiian Courts.
The Assembly was evidently anxious to keep judges high and low out of politics.
This change ought to have this effect.

But I cannot fully understand the aggrieved tone of the old ring-writer when he says: "The District Justices are become creatures of the Crown." And I ask what the justices of the Supreme Court are creatures of?

And this, moreover, is said: "The foreigners have their representatives to look to, the natives have now only the nominees of the nominees of the Crown," which is a statement of the judges from the highest court down. And whence these tears and high dudgeon?

Loss of opportunity for political intermeddling—that is all. Box and Cox.

NEW ROLE—NOT TELLING THE TRUTH!

Many years ago, when I was an apprentice in '47 and '48, we shop boys used to go down hunting down on the South Brink of the Barrio River, near Cut's Mills, New Jersey. So one night, we tracked an old coon to a large sycamore or buttonwood tree, we found where the old man went in. The hole was about one hundred and seventy feet from the ground. "Hold on now, don't you take off a few inches of that," No, I don't think I can climb that high. He said, "No, I don't think I can climb up to the hole, so we were puzzled what to do. Finally we went out the hole where the old coon was, as high as the great tree, and we had the grinning countenance of the renowned David Crockett or the musical powers to charm, we resorted to strategy. Yes, as Artemus Ward would say, strategy my boys. These boys were dispatched for a large bundle of petroleum oil. "Hold on, boys, we had no petroleum oil, and five boys went for the large poles to attach together to reach the hole. The bundle of petroleum was hung to the end of the pole, and then raised up to the hole, and thrust partly into it, we then took a shot gun and shot the bottle in the ground, the contents ran down into the hole, but no coon appeared, we then attached a lighted torch and raised it to the hole.

Then came a burst of thundering sound.

That coon, oh, where was he?

Ask of the fumes that lay around

That hole, in the old buttonwood tree.

He came scurrying out with a loud

At an awful leap, he reached the ground,

And found himself in HOLLISTER'S SHOP.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

EGYPT.
ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—Captain Fisher has constructed a shore-going ironclad on rails, similar to those used during the American Civil War. It consists of six trucks protected with iron shields, with an engine in the centre. Nordenfeldt guns look over the bows on the leading trucks.
It is also equipped with three Gatling guns, and will be mounted by three companies of blue jackets. The train is provided with mines, electric gear, and all appliances for laying down or destroying rails. It will proceed to the railway junction within two miles of Arabi Pasha's lines, and will seize, occupy and fortify that important point.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 28.—In the Conference to-day, the representatives of the European Powers assented to the proposal of Lord Dufferin that the Sultan proclaim Arabi Pasha a rebel. Both yesterday and to-day Lord Dufferin sent his Secretary of Legation to the Sultan to insist upon the issue of his proclamation, and declared that it is absolutely impossible to withdraw British troops from Egypt at present.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 29.—The German representative was instructed yesterday from Berlin to recommend the Sultan to issue the proclamation, declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel, demanded by England.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 29.—The Russian Charge d'Affaires has been ordered by his government not to attend any more meetings of the Conference, and he has received further detailed instructions.

ALEXANDRIA, July 29.—The fort at Gabari was destroyed this morning.

PORT SAID, July 30.—It is said that De Lesseps, having heard that Her Majesty's troop ship Orion had stopped at Is-mailia and intended landing there, then started Thursday night for that place.
He is said to have declared that the English should land only after passing over his dead body, and that of his son, Victor. He is condemned by all Europeans here.

Admiral Conrad has telegraphed to the French Government, complaining of behavior of De Lesseps, and stating that he is encouraging the natives and increasing the general excitement, rendering their condition much more critical and the Admiral's task much more difficult than it otherwise would be.

The latest news from the interior is to the effect that the chiefs of the Bedouin tribes, who provisionally favored the Government, have submitted to the rebels, and a perfect understanding exists between them. It is said that the Bedouins have undertaken to furnish 60,000 men, the chiefs remaining as hostages in Arabi Pasha's hands.

ALEXANDRIA, July 30.—The Austrian Consul has arrived here from Port Said.
He states that De Lesseps addressed crowds of Arabi's supporters and spoke in terms hostile to England and France, saying they were strangers on Egyptian soil.

The Aboukir forts command the only sheltered anchorage near available for our largest ironclads. There are four, as yet, unmounted twenty-five-ton guns there, and ten thirteen-ton guns ready for action. Aboukir Lake is now little more than a dried up marsh, and the infantry might escape across it to Arabi Pasha's lines. This would lead to a most interesting movement at Ramleh, for it is thought the enemy would attack our position in order to cover his country-men's retreat across the lake.

The home Government has ordered Admiral Seymour to establish a censorship over the cable messages, in consequence of the repeated dispatch of detailed accounts of the British position.

The houses that escaped pillage during and after the bombardment are now being looted within sight of the British batteries, but not a man can be spared to protect them.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—The British Ambassador ag in sent the Secretary of Legation to ask the Sultan to issue a proclamation denouncing Arabi Pasha a rebel.
The Secretary at the same time gave the Sultan a conciliatory explanation, stating that England did not aim at a protectorate over Egypt. He also asked for a proclamation concerning the composition of the Turkish expedition to Egypt. The Sultan gave no satisfactory answer. It is stated, however, that he is irritated at England's action, and has sent verbal messages through the Secretary that he would do nothing for England but would only yield to the wishes of Europe.

ROME, July 30.—The following is semi-officially published here: England, having asked Italy to co-operate in the restoration of order in Egypt, the Minister of Foreign Affairs replied that in view of the resolution of the Porte to send an expedition to Egypt, he did not consider himself in a position to intervene, except at the sitting of the Conference. No communication has been made to the Conference on the subject.

MADRID, July 30.—The Imperial Secretary of Germany has proposed that Spain co-operate in the protection of the Suez Canal, and it is believed that the Government will accept the invitation.

PARIS, July 30.—In consequence of the rejection by the Chamber of Deputies of a motion for a vote of credit, the original movements of the troops and fleet have been stopped. The Admiral's fleet, comprising the French fleet in Egyptian waters, has been ordered to maintain a strict neutrality.

ALEXANDRIA, July 30.—Arabi Pasha has had publicly the proclamation of the Khedive dismissing him from the Ministry. He has assumed the turban and the robes worn usually by the descendants of the Prophet.

ALEXANDRIA, August 1st.—The state of the town is causing serious disquiet. The natives who have remained are in a state of anxiety, and a majority of those who have returned are looting, looking after their concealed plunder. It is impossible to mistake the bitterly hostile attitude of this class and of the native police.

ALEXANDRIA August 1st.—The Khedive has despatched a native emissary to the camp of Arabi Pasha for the purpose of procuring the release of Midshipman De Chair.

DUBLIN, August 1st.—The Second Batalion of Cold Stream Guards have embarked for Egypt.

MALTA, August 1st.—The Seventy-fifth Regiment have embarked for Egypt.

PARIS, August 1st.—The Suez Canal Company has sent to the press the following telegram from Ismailia dated Monday:
"The Bedouin Chiefs of the eastern region comprised between the Suez Canal and the Nile, have placed themselves at the disposal of De Lesseps. Arabi Pasha ordered them to obey De Lesseps. De Lesseps has volunteered to the commander of the English ironclad to go on horseback into the country around Ismailia, to prove the country safe and that there are no Egyptian troops in that vicinity. With passports signed and sealed by De Lesseps, any one may travel freely in Egypt. The Cairo merchants who had abandoned business will profit by these passports.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 1st.—Russia has sent a circular to the Powers embodying the substance of Onor's declaration to the Conference, and that he was instructed to participate in the deliberations only when the question of the Suez Canal was under discussion. In consequence of this declaration the Conference is considered terminated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 1.—Onor, the Russian representative, has informed the Conference that Russia considers the Egyptian question divided into two distinct parts, and that he was instructed to participate in the deliberations only when the question of the Suez Canal was under discussion. In consequence of this declaration the Conference is considered terminated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 1st.—According to the intelligence received from a diplomatic source, the action of Russia was due to the personal initiative of Czar Alexander, who is dissatisfied with the independent attitude of England and is directly hostile to English pretensions in Egypt.

LONDON, August 1.—A correspondent of the Guardian says that he understands that if the Turkish contingent starts without the Sultan's previously complying with the conditions demanded by England, Admiral Seymour will be ordered to conduct it back again.

The Times says the time has gone by when Turkey could be allowed to take the whole matter on her own hands.
If Turkey goes to Egypt now, she must not do so as an ally, but as a subordinate of England.

ALEXANDRIA, August 1st.—The Governor of Osoiot, with two thousand men is holding the town for the Khedive.
Osoiot is the capital and the largest city in Upper Egypt. It is the most important military station south of Cairo and controls the communication with Darfour and Senaar.

The rebel official telegram says mid-shipman De Chair was taken before Arabi Pasha, who ordered him sent to Cairo and that he be well treated. He is now comfortably lodged there and has been allowed to receive his relatives.
Arabi Pasha has offered £3000 for the head of Morrice Bay.

RAMLEH, August 1st.—Reconnaissance made on the Aboukir Road to-day reported that Arabi Pasha's Videttes are in close proximity to the works. The display of white flags on the forts was a mere farce. The rebels are strengthening their lines near Lake Marouta.
Scouts report seeing Arabi Pasha in camp with several European prisoners.

EIGHT P.M.—Guns on our right have just opened fire.

ENGLAND.
LONDON, August 1st.—The Standard believes the Government will advise the Sultan to refuse absolutely to accept the amendment to the Arraers bill requiring landlords to concur in the application for the settlement of arrears, as the question is not one which admits of a compromise. Speaking of the amendment relating to the tenant's interest the Standard says: "It is probable that some arrangement will be come to."

PERT.
Advices from Panama dated June 29, say: "Peru has in vain asked for an opportunity to bring her Congress together, and to have these conditions submitted to discussion, asking for a truce or armistice to effect this object—at the moment hoping to discover some means of satisfying the demands of Chile without the loss of Tarapaca. But Chile is inexorable. Her war expenses must be paid, her sacrifices must be compensated, and according to the opinion of her leading publicists, the territory of Tarapaca, from its strategic position, as it is alleged, is necessary for the future safety of the conquering Republic, so that the requests of Peru are denied."

The Mercurio says: The arduous campaign in the sierra of Peru has as a result upon a stage which may be fitly termed the beginning of the end. The guerrillas have been routed everywhere.
The renowned army of the famous General Caoceres shows no sign of life.
The revolted Indians are now quiet.
As a result of this state of affairs, the Chilean troops stationed in Huancayo are being distributed in different places.
