THE BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

The breach of promise suit of Flora H. St. Clair vs. Walter M.

Gibson, was called at 1 p. m. yesterday.

The following jurors were called: H. S. Tregloan, H. Loe, T.

W. Rawlins, William Robson,

T. G. Thurum, T. F. Lansing, A. L.

Smith, H. J. Hart, A. Mossman, W.

Unger, E. O. White, and C. W.

Nicoll.

Mr. Kinney stated that it was in order for any of the jury to say whether they had any reasons for not sitting on the case.

H. J. Hart said he might be called as a witness.

Mr. Neumann—I object to his being excused.

Mr. Kinney—Have you formed any opinion, Mr. Hart?

Mr. Hart—I have. I could not try the case. My opinion is fixed.

The Court excused him and Thomas Lindsay was called in his place.

Mr. Kinney—Have you any reason for not sitting on the case, Mr.

Lindsay?

Mr. Lindsay—None.

Mr. Kinney—The jury is satisfactory to the plaintiff.

Mr. Hatch asked that the jury be sworn, which was done by His Honor.

Mr. Hatch then proceeded to put a number of questions to Lindsay, which elicited the following answers:

I have no personal feeling or hostility that would affect this case. I took part in the late movement for good government as a member of the League. I am a member of an organization known as the League.

One object of it was to remove incapable officers. It was not directed particularly to Mr. Gibson.

Mr. Kinney here objected to counsel going into an investigation about the League. He had no particular feeling about it, and it was no disgrace to belong to that League.

Mr. Hatch thought the objection premature. He then asked Lindsay if that organization was formed to remove Mr. Gibson?

Mr. Kinney—I object.

Mr. Hatch—Our client is entitled to be tried by unprejudiced jurors.

When that organization was largely directed against the defendant we have a right to question the witness as to whether he belonged to it. We want to find out whether there was an hostile action by this organization against the defendant. I allow the examination to go on.

Mr. Kinney—This jurymen should not be saddled with the feelings of every other man in the organization.

He is only responsible for what he thinks to-day.

His Honor—Lindsay has said he was a member of the League. It was not the object of other men but what effect the object of the organization had upon the jurymen's mind to prejudice the defendant. I allow the examination to go on.

Mr. Hatch—We note exceptions to the ruling. Turning to Lindsay, he asked—Was this organization directed against Mr. Gibson as an individual?

Mr. Lindsay—No it was not.

Mr. Hatch—Is it a secret society?

Mr. Kinney—I object. There is a law against secret societies. It is a question that may criminate him.

His Honor—There is unquestion-ably a law against secret societies, that have not obtained a charter from the Privy Council the objection is well taken.

Mr. Kinney—The witness can answer it or not.

Mr. Neumann—What does counsel want now?

Mr. Kinney—I object to the question. He has a right to be instructed by the Court that he can either answer or not.

His Honor—The juror is under oath, and entitled to protection.

Mr. Neumann—We object to the ruling. I will ask Mr. Kinney to come and help me to frame the objection.

Mr. Kinney—My experience with the learned counsel is that I would rather deal with the Court.

His Honor—I am writing it myself, and when furnished will read it.

Mr. Neumann—Thanks, Your

Honor. I hope it will satisfy my dissatisfied friend.

His Honor then read the objection.

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

RAINS continue at Pahala, Kau,

Col. M. Thompson has our thanks for a file of late United States papers.

Two condemned spur wheels from Princeville Plantation came by the Waialeale to-day.

Two hundred and ninety-four hogs came by the barkentine Planter today for Messrs. Burke & Winston.

THURSDAY, Friday, and Saturday of this week are the days of Mr. C.
J. Fisher's grand millinery opening.

SIXTY Chinese passengers, among whom was one woman, left for Hongkong by the bark Alden Bessie this afternoon.

THE Road Supervisor had four men working in the pond at the foot of Fort street to-day, trying to run off the water.

THE BULLETIN is greatly indebted to Captain Perriman, master of the barkentine Planter, for late San Francisco papers.

A new painting of Halemaunau by C. Furueux and a water color picture of Honolulu by Barnesfield, may be seen at King Bros.

A target shooting contest between a team from the Junata and one from the Mohican is being held at the H. R. A. range this afternoon.

The pilot who brought in the barkentine Planter this morning, had a sketch of Col. Norris hauling in a large dolphin and then losing it overboard.

Mr. Lewis J. Levey's regular cash sale, which will commence at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, will embrace a great variety of necessary and useful goods.

FOLLOWING are the officers elect of the Waimea Sugar Mill Co.—H. W.
Schmidt, President; W. D. Schmidt, Vice-President; E. Muller, Treasurer; H. Lose, Secretary; and H. F. Glade, Auditor.

THE annual meeting of the W. C.
T. U. will take place at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, in the parlors of Fort Street Church. In the evening a Sociable will be held in the same place, to which all are cordially invited.

IN the St. Clair-Gibson breach of promise case, the Court asserted this morning that a statement in one of the morning papers, to the effect that the Court ordered the reporters not to publish evidence in the case, until the trial was over, was erroneous. It was not an order of the Court, but a request from the counsel.

COLONEL Norris returned by the Planter this morning, looking hale and hearty. True to his old instincts, the Colonel supplied the BULLETIN with a file of late San Francisco papers, for which he has our best thanks.

TO-DAY, Thursday, Friday and Saturday is the Grand Opening of Fall Millinery Goods, at each store; French Pattern Hats, and Bonnets, and latest novelties will be exhibited.
Ladies should not miss this opportunity to call and inspect.

THE "Gazette" reports the death of Mr. C. Kirkwood, of Lahaia. He died on Saturday and was buried on Sunday. Kirkwood was an old sailor, but left the sea many years ago, and had resided at Lahaia ever since.
For the past ten years or so he kept a general store there. He was well known in the district as a good-natured, kind-hearted man.

CAPTAIN Perriman, master of the Planter, reports that he had to refuse tons of freight in San Francisco, the vessel being unable to carry all of it.
As it was he had about 200 tons of cargo on deck and the hold "chock-a-block." The steamer Mariposa is expected to have a large list of freight for Honolulu, and the Winkelman and Hattie S. Bangs, now on the way, are probably full.

THE Captain of the Waialeale, which arrived this morning from Kauai, reports having caught about one dozen genuine mackerel at Hanalei last Saturday. Two of the fish, dried, were brought to Honolulu and shown to a man thoroughly acquainted with mackerel. This man after handling the fish for a few minutes, pronounced it to be the true mackerel. This, if correct, is the first mackerel known to have been caught in these waters.

It has been explained at this office that the stoppage of Mr. Morse's passport yesterday, occurred in this way: A gentleman to whom Mr.
Morse was indebted, naturally supposed that as the steamer was within an hour or two of departure and his bill unpaid, Mr. Morse intended to leave without liquidation, and consequently stopped his passport. While this was being done, and without a knowledge of the fact, the bill was paid. When the gentleman returned to his office, and was informed of it, he immediately withdrew the stoppage.

THE COMING REGATTA.

The annual regatta coming off on November 16th, the anniversary of the King's birthday, promises to be the most successful ever held in Hawaiian waters. The programme will be so arranged as to give an opportunity to all the ships of war in port to enter every class of boat in their possession. It is understood that there will be five races in which the boats of the men-of-war will participate. This in itself will be an attractive feature of the programme, and ensure a variety of aquatic sport to which our people are not accustomed. There will only be two boat club races, all the other events being open. It is to be hoped the regatta committee will be liberally supported in the matter of funds by the public.

JAPANESE Y. M. C. A. MONTHLY MEETING.

There are now 49 members in this new organization. Officers and committees have been chosen to serve for the next six months. President Rev. C. M. Hyde; Vice-president, F. W. Damon; Treasurer, K. Nakayama; Secretary, M. Hibino; Committee on Religious meetings, S.
Ando, T. Takechi, G. Ouchi; Educational, M. Hibino, C. Nikiuni, Shirahata; Finance, K. Nakayama, Wakawa, Shimazaki; Literary and Social, T. Torii, Dr. Iwai, T. Fujita.

The arrangements for future meetings were perfected at the meeting held Saturday night. The regular business meeting is to be held on the first Saturday evening of each month. The various committees are to report in regard to their work, numbers in attendance, exercises at each meeting, new members added, books taken out, classes taught, expenditures and receipts, etc. An essay in Japanese and one in English on subjects connected with the promotion of the object of the Society, are to be read, and a short address given by the meeting. On the third Saturday evening of each month, there is to be a public entertainment under the direction of the Literary and Social Committee. A recitation is to be given in English, one in Japanese also, and a colloquy by two of the members presenting the opposing opinions held on some scientific or literary question. A "Japanese Monthly News" is to be read, giving editorial articles, correspondence, and items of interest about Japanese affairs in the Islands. Tea and cakes are to be served, and the ladies invited. Every Tuesday and Thursday evening instruction is given in English. Friday evenings Mrs.
Hyde teaches singing. The Committee on Religious Meetings proposed to change the hour of the Sunday morning service to 10:30 a. m., so that those engaged in household service can have the hall at 11:30.

Our Japanese residents seem to be actively enlisted in doing what they can for their mutual improvement and benefit during their stay in these Islands.

A Committee of Safety has been formed at San Francisco for the suppression of crime.

A DEDICATION OF A STOLEN CHESTNUT TO JOHN.

You may get through the world, but you'll be very slow.
If you listen to all that is said as you go:
You'll be worried and fretted, and kept in a stew.
For meddlesome tongues must have something to do.
And people will talk in Honolulu.

If quiet and modest, you'll have it presented.
That your humble position is only assumed.
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool:
But don't get excited—keep perfectly cool:
For people will talk in Honolulu.

And then, if you show the least boldness of heart.
Or a slight inclination to take your own part.
They will call you an upstart, conceited and vain:
But keep straight ahead—don't stop to explain:
For people will talk in Honolulu.

If threadbare your dress, or old fashioned your hat.
Some upstart will surely take notice of that.
And hint rather strong that you can't pay your way:
But don't get excited, whatever they say:
For people will talk in Honolulu.

If you dress in the fashion, don't think to escape.
For they criticize then in a different shape:
You're ahead of your means, or your tailor's unpaid:
But mind your own business—there's naught to be made:
For people will talk in Honolulu.

Now, John, the best is to do as you find.
For your mind, if you have one, will then be at ease.
Of course you will meet with all sorts of abuse:
But don't think to stop them—it's of no use:
For people will talk in Honolulu.

But still it is better to bear this in view.
Especially as you in the church have a pew.
To call your neighbor a fool or a liar.
Exposes your soul to everlasting fire.
Thus people will talk in Honolulu.
A CONVERT.

SAN DIEGO TO CHICAGO.

Denver, Oct. 12.—A Santa Fe special to the "Republican" says: It is learned here to-day from official sources that negotiations have been closed between Spreckels' Oceanic Steamship Company and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road whereby the latter will by June next begin running through passenger trains between San Diego and Los Angeles and Chicago and St. Louis, the trip to be made in four days.

Vice-President Smith says a contract has been given the Pullman Company to furnish costly equipments for this contemplated new service. There are to be eight trains of seven cars each, and the contract stipulates that they shall be vestibule trains with all the modern appointments.

Late Foreign News.

By the Planter which arrived this morning from San Francisco, we have news to the 13th inclusive, from which we compile the following summary:—

IRISH AFFAIRS.

London, Oct. 12.—After all the evidence submitted in the Mitchel-town inquest to-day, Harrington asked that a verdict of willful murder be returned against Head Constable Brown Rigg and the five policemen who fired under his order. Harrington accused Rigg of deliberately planning the murder.
The jury returned a verdict of murder against Rigg, Sergeants Ker-wan, Ryder and Brennan and Constables Gavan and Dorrance.

FRENCH WAR OFFICE SCANDAL.

A great scandal has been dragged to light in Paris, compromising members of the President's household and other high and distinguished personages. General Boulanger is also said to be implicated. The sale of the Star of the Legion of Honor is charged. It may end in the resignation of the President, whose son-in-law, M. Wilson, is deeply compromised.

The present status of the case is this: General Caffarel, the Countess Beauregard and Madame Limouzin are in prison. General d' Andlau is wanted by the police, and it is feared that he has committed suicide. M. Wilson, who has been implicated, denies any knowledge of the affair. General Boulanger who is said to be an especial friend of Caffarel, is sorrowful and indignant at the scandal. He thinks Caffarel ought to be allowed to shoot himself, and protests that there is too much hounding of innocent and guilty.

This exposure ought to depress French spirits more than the success of the recent mobilization stated them. In spite of the wrath and contempt it has brought upon the guilty, it is doubtful, even yet, whether the French realize the full gravity of the event. That an honorable decoration should be made the subject of a sordid traffic is bad enough, but the worst thing is the relation of all this corruption to the efficiency of the army. Officers who would sell the cross of the Legion of Honor would combine with shoddy contractors, stuff pay-rolls and betray plans to the enemy.

Would a new campaign on the Alsatian frontier be a repetition of the collapse of 1870?

BRITISH AFFAIRS.

London, Oct. 12.—The epidemic of scarlet fever continues to spread.
There are 1,900 cases in the hospitals.

At Newmarket to-day the race for the Middle Park plate was won by Sir F. Johnston's c. c. Friar's Balsam; Lord Londonderry's c. c. colt Hazel Hatch second, Lord Calthorpe's c. f. Seabreeze third.
There were five starters.

Lady Brassey died on board the Sunbeam, her husband's yacht, while bound from Australia. She was buried at sea.

AMERICAN ITEMS.

President Cleveland and Mrs.
Cleveland were at Kansas City on the 12th, on their Western trip.

Robert Garrett has resigned the presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio railway.

Miss Helen Dauvray, the actress, has been married to John M. Ward, the famous short-stop of the New York Club, and a lawyer as well.

The Preller murder case is not yet decided. An appeal has been taken to the United States Supreme Court in Washington.

A railroad collision on the Chicago and Atlantic railroad resulted in the death of from nine to thirteen people. The sleeper was telescoped and the wreck took fire. The railroad company is trying to suppress the facts.

The murderer of J. W. Barron, treasurer of the National and State Savings Bank, Dexter, Maine, has been arrested through the investigation of a New York World reporter. The murder took place in 1878. Barron was discovered in the Bank vault, gagged and bound, with a rope around his neck and wounds on his head. It was charged that he committed suicide to enable his family to get his life assurance.

Suit has been brought by Lizzie F. Ralston, widow of the late Wm.
Ralston, founder of the Bank of California, to recover the Palace and Grand Hotels and other property, which she alleges she was tricked out of by the late Wm. Sharon. The amount involved is about $50,000.

CANADIAN AFFAIRS.

Halifax, (N. S.), Oct. 12.—The schooner Haulette, hitherto employed as a Canadian fisher cruiser, has been purchased by Captain Grant of British Columbia, and will proceed immediately to the Pacific to engage in the Alaska fisheries.
It will be remembered that the American Fishery schooner Highland Light was captured by the Haulette. It is not improbable that the Haulette herself may become the prize of American cruisers in Alaskan waters.

MOROCCO'S ANXIOUS FRIENDS.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The "Journal des Debats" says: France does not desire to take possession of Morocco or to injure the material interests of Spain.

Moorish waters will soon witness an assembling of men-of-war of all countries, in which event America will be represented. The precise objects of this assemblage, the "Journal" continues, is unknown, and it is possible that the participants are animated by widely divergent intentions.

If the object be to guarantee the equilibrium of the Mediterranean that programme is extremely vague and very dangerous to France and Spain, who alone have direct and positive interests there, the chief of which is to prevent Morocco from becoming a second Bulgaria, and they should establish a mutual understanding.

The "Journal" expresses the hope that the Sultan will recover and that the men-of-war will leave, which will be the best thing that can happen for Morocco.

NOW PILLS ARE MADE.

The Custom of taking medicine in the form of pills dates far back in history. The object is to enable us to swallow easily in a condensed form disagreeable and nauseous, but very useful, drugs. To what vast dimensions pill-taking has grown may be imagined when we say that in England alone about 2,000,000, 000 (two thousand million) pills are consumed every year. In early days pills were made slowly by hand, as the demand was comparatively small. To-day they are produced with infinitely greater rapidity by machines especially contrived for the purpose, and with greater accuracy, too, in the proportions of the various ingredients employed.

No form of medication can be better than a pill, provided only it is intelligently prepared. But right here occurs the difficulty. Easy as it may seem to make a pill, or a million of them, there are really very few pills that can be honestly commended for popular use. Most of them either undershoot or overshoot the mark. As every body takes pills of some kind, it may be well to mention what a good, safe and reliable pill should be. Now, when one feels dull and sleepy, and has more or less pain in the head, sides, and back, he may be sure his bowels are constipated, and his liver sluggish. To remedy this unhappy state of things there is nothing like a good cathartic pill. It will act like a charm by stimulating the liver into doing its duty, and ridding the digestive organs of the accumulated poisonous matter.

But the good pill does not gripe and pain us, neither does it make us sick and miserable for a few hours or a whole day. It acts on the entire glandular system at the same time, else the after-effects of the pill will be worse than the disease itself. The griping caused by most pills is the result of irritating drugs which they contain. Such pills are harmful, and should never be used. They sometimes even produce hemorrhoids. Without having any particular desire to praise one pill above another, we may, nevertheless, name Mother Seigel's Pills, manufactured by the well-known house of A. J. White, Limited, 35, Farringdon Road, London, and now sold by all chemists and medicine vendors, as the only one we know of that actually possesses every desirable quality. They remove the pressure upon the brain, correct the liver, and cause the bowels to act with ease and regularity. They never gripe or produce the slightest sickness of the stomach, or any other unpleasant feeling or symptom. Neither do they induce further constipation, as nearly all other pills do. As a further and crowning merit, Mother Seigel's Pills are covered with a tasteless and harmless coating, which causes them to resemble pearls, thus rendering them as pleasant to the palate as they are effective in curing disease. If you have a severe cold and are threatened with a fever, with pains in the head, back, and limbs, one or two doses will break up the cold and prevent the fever. A coated tongue, with a brackish taste in the mouth is caused by foul matter in the stomach and bowels produces sickness, nausea, &c. Cleanse the bowels with a dose of these pills, and good health will follow.

Unlike many kinds of pills, they do not make you feel worse before you are better. They are, without doubt, the best family physic ever discovered. They remove all obstructions to the natural functions in either sex without any unpleasant effects.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 26, 1887.

A CHAPLAIN AFLOAT!

BEING THE ACCOUNT OF THE CRUISE OF H. B. M.'S SHIP OF WAR THE "BLUNDERBUSS" FROM PANAMA, U. S. OF C. TO HONOLULU, H. I.

Extracted from the Records of the Archæological Club.

To say that the Chaplain listened to the reading of this article with any degree of complacency would be a libel on truth his usually serene brow grew troubled and clouded, and the dedicated white annointed fingers clinched then tightly together, whilst an incoherent remark, that might with equal truth be taken for either a curse or a benediction escaped from between his ashy lips. The company stared at each other in wonderment, then with one accord turned their eyes upon the object of the terrible scourge.

All the Saxon blood of the ancient Chockers ran through his veins like streams of molten lava, and an anger giant-like in its intensity so took possession of him, that entirely lost to all sense of reason, he became simply and acted simply like a man. With his clenched fist he struck the table a blow, that made the glasses rattle, and caused the unsuspecting waiter to jump some inches out of his slippers, he fiercely exclaimed: "The scoundrel! And this to me! A wandering Jew forsaken!" In vain were the efforts of his friend to pacify him. The terrible lion of insulted honor was roused within him, and nothing but blood could cool it down. He would see the writer of that article, and instantly. So his friends could not go with him, he would go alone. They could abide him at the Cafe.

The English bulldog was angered, and nothing could pacify it.

CHAPTER THIRD.

In an elegantly appointed office, sat a small and highly intellectual looking gentleman, busily engaged in perusing a huge pile of stuff that lay in a basket beside him. The personage was none other than Senior Juan de Cordora, the rabid and fearless Editor of "La Peruana," the most rabid and advanced sheet in the Republic. A smile played gently around his well and aristocratic mouth, and the small, white and jeweled hand contemptuously crushed the offending piece to a shapeless mass, and lightly tossed it aside, then resting his scented head upon his hand for the moment rested into a contemplative mood. During this let us take a survey of the sanctum of this nestor of Editor. The room was large and admirably proportioned. The ceiling presented a study for an artist, it was a painting from the brush of a celebrated artist, and represented a field in Arcadia, where a host of Amazons were preparing for battle. On the wall directly before him was suspended a huge and heavily framed gem, depicting the wisdom of Solomon. To the right of him was another painting wherein Clio was drawn teaching to a group of aged men the art of making history, whilst to the left, still another one was hung, of an allegorical nature showing Thespis explaining the mysteries of the drama, Aeschylus, Sophocles and Aristophanes were seated at his feet, intently drinking in the magical flow of eloquence, that issued from his lips. Directly back of him, and suspended near the ceiling a huge arm of bronze, whose brawny, sinewy fingers were crushing the globe, typical of the all reaching and terrible power of the Press. The centre of the highly polished floor was decorated by a rug of the softest Turkish texture, on which sat a desk of inlaid woods and mosaics before which in a chair of polished brass, over which was thrown a leopard's skin sat the editor. The three large windows of the room were gracefully hung with curtains of rich brown velvet, from beneath whose warm and ample folds peeped under curtains of Valenciennes, of a texture fine enough to deck the head of an imperial bride. Between these windows were three pedestals of polished marble, and bronze-holding busts of Pizarro, Shakespeare and Calderon de la Barca. The table of the editor, besides innumerable necessary and unnecessary articles was ornamented by a magnificent lamp of Ormolu and pearl.

Thus sat the fire eating newspaper editor, silently contemplating the fate of another victim Fate had destined him to crush.

The Spanish Bloodhound was in his den when the door flew open and the English Bulldog, his hair all bristling with anger, sprang across the threshold. Advancing to the table the Chaplain threw down the offending sheet, and with a voice almost choked with excitement, exclaimed "Are you the editor of this sheet?" The perfumed intellectual head was slowly raised from the delicate jeweled hand, and the calm beautiful eyes, leisurely surveyed the questioner, the low, ravishing voice musically said "I am the editor of the sheet."

"Are you the author of that article?" said the English Bulldog, pointing to the offending lines. "I am," sweetly answered the Spanish Bloodhound.

"Then, Sir, it is a scurilous thing, and the author a contemptible liar," sternly and awfully ejaculated the English Bulldog.

The Bloodhound sprang to his feet, and the two for a moment stood gazing at each other, the awful fire of revenge shooting out.

As with one impulse they sprang at each other, and grasping fell to rolling over the floor, over and over they turned, kicked and rolled. Now crash tumbles the bust of Shakespeare, the result of a thrust from the editor's legs. Now quickly follows Pizarro, the accomplishment of the Chaplain's lungs. For a few minutes they thus clinched and rolled, until tired nature requiring resuscitation they separated, and stood breathlessly glaring at each other. Shortly the combat was renewed; the editor aimed a blow at the Chaplain's head, but that gentleman throwing himself into the regulation ring position, and warding off the blow with his left, sent a stinging return with his right, which catching the editor between the eyes raising him completely off the ground, and landed him a huddled mass beneath the desk.

Surveying the ruin before him for a few minutes, the Chaplain waited not upon the order of his going but went.

The noise of his adversary's abrupt departure awakened the editor to life, and hastened to the door to call the Chaplain, but all that met his gaze was the Envoy's coat tails, which seemed to bid him an affectionate though hasty farewell.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Under the above heading the Dunsmuir Reporter of July 6th, 1887, publishes the following in its editorial columns—

Our readers may recall the circumstance of a young clerk, named Arthur Richard, falling insensible on the Weatley Lane in this town some time ago, and being picked up, as he continued perfectly helpless, and taken in a cab by two gentlemen to the office of F. W. Fisher, Esq; the solicitor who employed him. On restoring him to consciousness it was ascertained that he was afflicted with what seemed to be an incurable disease. When he was able to speak he said he had been to his dinner and was on his way back to his work, when suddenly his head was in a whirl and he fell in the street like a man who is knocked down. On coming to his senses in the solicitor's office he thought what this might mean, and feared he was going to have a fit of illness, which we all know is a very dreadful thing for a poor man with a family to care for.

With this in his mind he at once sought the best medical advice, telling the doctors how he had been attacked. They questioned him, and found that his present malady was exhaustion of the nervous system resulting from general debility, indigestion, and dyspepsia of a chronic nature. This in turn had been caused by confinement to his desk and grief at the loss of dear friends by death. The coming on of this strange disease, as described by Mr. Richard, must be of interest both to sick and well. He had noticed for several years previously, in fact, that his eyes and face began to have a yellow look; there was a sticky and unpleasant slime on the gums and teeth in the morning; the tongue coated; and the bowels so bound and costive that it induced that most painful and troublesome ailment—the piles. He says there was some pain in the sides and back and a sense of fullness on the right side, as though the liver were enlarging, which proved to be the terrible fact. The secretions from the kidneys would be scanty and high-colored, with a kind of gritty or sandy deposit after standing.

These things had troubled Mr. Richard a long time, and after his fall in the street he clearly perceived that the fit of giddiness was nothing more than a sign of the steadily and deadly advance of the complaint, which began in indigestion and dyspepsia. His story of how he went from one physician to another in search of a cure that his wife and little ones might not come to want is very pathetic and touching. Finally he became too ill to keep his situation and had to give it up. This was a sad calamity. He was appalled to think how he should be able to live. But God raised up friends who helped to keep the wolf from the door. He then went to the seaside at Walton-on-the-Naze, but neither the change, nor the physicians who treated him there, did any good. All being without avail he visited London, with a sort of vague hope that some advantage might happen to him in the metropolis. This was in October, 1885.

How wonderful, indeed, are the ways of Providence, which dashes down our highest hopes and then helps us when we least expect it. While in London he stated his condition to a friend, who strongly advised him to try a medicine which he called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, saying it was genuine and honest, and often cured when everything else had failed. He bought a bottle of a chemist in Piccadilly, and began using it according to the directions. He did this without faith or hope, and the public, may therefore judge of his surprise and pleasure when after taking a few doses he felt great relief. He could eat better; his food distressed him less; the symptoms we have named abated; the dark spots which had floated before his eyes like smuts of soot, gradually disappeared, and his strength increased. Before this time his knees would knock together whenever he tried to walk. So encouraged was he now that he kept on using Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup until it ended in completely curing him.

In speaking of his wonderful recovery Mr. Richard says it made him think of poor Robinson Crusoe, and his deliverance from captivity on his island in the sea; and added, "But for Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup the grass would now be growing over my grave."

Our readers can rest assured of the strict truth of all the statements in this most remarkable case, as Mr. Richard (now residing at Swiss Cottage, Walton-on-the-Naze) belongs to one of the oldest and most respected families in the beautiful village of Long Melford, Suffolk, and his personal character is attested by so high an authority as the Rev. C. J. Martyn, rector of that parish, besides other excellent names. We have deemed the case of such importance to the public as to justify us in giving this short account of it in our columns.

A PAUPER'S DYING REQUEST.

An amusing and yet pathetic incident in what the poet Gray called "the short and simple annals of the poor," is told by Mr. John J. R. Micklejohn, one of the Inspectors of the Poor, at Sherwick, Shetland Islands. He says that some time ago an old woman, named Barbara Smith, came under the notice of the Board. She was extremely ill, and it did not look likely that she would long need care of any kind. "She did not reside on the main land, but on a small island a few miles distant, and there being no parochial institutions in that place, Barbara necessarily occupied the position of a pauper living out. The trouble from which she suffered dated back many years. In better and more prosperous days she had in some way laid the foundation for Chronic Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and out of this had sprung other complaints as age and bodily infirmities crept apace upon her.

Barbara was not ignorant, albeit she had fallen into poverty. In earlier life she somehow obtained the advantage of a fair education, and this, added to native shrewdness, enabled her to use good judgment in respect to her own situation and state of health. Although she had long suffered from asthma and a bronchial affection, Barbara was wise enough to see that these ailments arose from the disordered stomach and digestion, and that if the main trouble could be cured the others would soon leave her. It is probable that her disease began as others do, with the usual symptoms: headaches, bad breath, the rising of sour fluids in the throat, oppression and faintness at the pit of the stomach, loss of sleep, coated tongue, dull eyes, bad taste in the mouth, &c., and finally became chronic and hopeless through her not being able to find any remedy. The Inspector states that she had been under medical treatment for years, but to no effect. In this strait she one day made the following touching appeal to the Inspector: "I have been swallowing medicines for months. They do me no good. I am going on from worse to worse. I can endure it no longer. I feel that in a week or two I shall be dead. There is one last request I would make of you: give me a bottle of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup; it is my only hope. If it proves a failure and does me no good I will die in peace, and make no more expense to the parish."

It seems she had got hold of one of Mother Seigel's Almanacs and read of the great cures wrought by the Syrup in cases like hers.

The Board pitied the poor lone woman and granted her petition, believing, however, the syrup would prove as useless as the other medicines she had already taken. What was their astonishment to find, in the course of a few days, that she had not only been able to get out of bed, but to move about outside the house, and had taken journeys to a considerable distance, and was actually enjoying better health than since she was first taken ill. The asthma and bronchitis, which were no more than symptoms of her true disease (indigestion, and dyspepsia), rapidly abated, and it now seems that Barbara will soon be as hale and hearty as the Inspector himself, and be one of the hosts of living witnesses to the power of Mother Seigel's Syrup to save the thousands who were just ready to perish.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is for sale by all chemists and medicine vendors, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, 35 Farringdon Road, London, E. C.
