Business Houses of Maui Fall In Line To Make Opening of Fair Big Success

Holiday Plans Go Forward; Busy Scenes at Grounds Indicate Preparations Are Entering Upon the Last Stages And Fifth Fair Will Excell All of Its Predecessors.

Larger business houses of Central Maui and East Maui are joining with the plantations to make next Thursday "Fair Holiday," it is indicated by the responses to the proposal received by the Fair management. Some of the smaller concerns, too, are joining in the movement. Not all will close for the whole day, some being open only long enough to handle the early mail, others shutting down at noon, so that all employees may get within the gates at the Kahului grounds on the opening day of the Fifth Annual Maui County Fair.

Special transportation arrangements by the Kahului railroad have been asked and Superintendent William Walsh says they will be put on, and the schedule announced before the Fair.

Exhibitors have been arriving all this week and are busy getting up booths in the Commercial Building in which to display their exhibits. Three automobile concerns are working together concertedly so that "Auto Row" may be properly represented. The three are von Hamm-Young Co., Royal Hawaiian Sales Co. and Maui Motors, Limited.

In every exhibit department there is promise of an excellence over past years. This is especially true in the fruits and flowers departments, ever full of interest. Cattle will be especially fine and the poultry show will maintain the evidence of the superiority of Maui birds. The school exhibit is larger and more comprehensive than in the past.

Rough riding, broncho busting American Indians will participate in the free entertainments that are to be presented before the grand stand. The Jack Burrows outfit promise to show some "Bulldozing" of wild animals that will bring the spectators to their feet. Director Harold Rice says that some wild steers are being brought down from the upper ranges of Haleakala that will be sure to make things interesting. Several other attractions for the free entertainment are coming to Maui and between races and between entertainment events the splendid U. S. Naval band will play.

Owing to the tying of the Haikuus and American Chinese nines for the Maui baseball championship the national game will enter into the sports program that has been arranged. The teams will play their first game of the three deciding ones Sunday and the other games during the Fair. The second game of the series is to be played on Thursday, the opening day of the Fair and, if a third game be necessary, it is scheduled for Saturday.

Races of Thursday are in charge of the Japanese community, only Japanese owned horses to compete and the racing officials to be Japanese. The committee reports the interest keen and full cards for all of the races.

Friday is "Children's Day" and, as usual, transportation arrangements will be made to get them to the grounds from all parts of the island. Saturday will be "All Maui Day" and the all important day of the three. In the floral building it will be hibiscus day, the day for the display of the Territorial flower.

Recently Governor Farrington said he hoped to be over for the Fair but in case anything should happen to prevent him, arrangements will be made to have an opening address delivered by him and broadcast to Maui by radio.

In the agronomy section a start was made late but H. B. Penhallow has worked with a rush and a vim and that section will be typically Maui as usual. The display will be large and varied.

Noted Indian Coming
A letter from Edwin Fernandez says that Chief Big Tree, one of the American Indians who will be here during the Fair is the same man who posed in "The End of the Trail" for the San Francisco exposition and that it is a picture of his head which appears on the five cent (nickel) coin now in circulation.

Three thoroughbred bulls from the coast came on the Wilhelmina this morning and will be seen in the livestock show.

Enter Andrews' Home; U. S. To Investigate

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—As the result of the searching of the home of R. M. Andrews, prominent American, and the confiscating of numerous private papers, the American embassy here was today keeping a careful eye on possible developments in the case. It is said the embassy believes the search was unjustified. Andrews is charged by Japanese authorities with operating a motorboat without a license.

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Oct. 5.—Alexander Hume Ford who has just arrived from the Orient, today declared that China, Japan and the Philippines are sending some of their greatest business leaders and government officials as delegates to the Commercial Congress which opens October 25.

Haiku Fruit Co. To Enlarge Its Capital $500,000

Proposed Increase Will Be Used For the Extension of The Operations of the Company Into Hana.

Haiku Fruit and Packing Company purposes to increase its capital from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 for the purpose of expanding into the Hana district. A letter has been sent out to the stockholder from the directors laying the proposal before them.

Of the additional capital sought $175,000 is proposed to be used in the purchase of the Kipahulu Sugar Co., property, the sale of which to Haiku Fruit Company had already been reported.

Subscribers to the stock of the proposed new company that purchased the Drummond property would receive one share of Haiku stock of the new issue for each two shares for which they subscribed.

Payments for the proposed stock issue would be spread over the year 1923.

It is regarded as assured that the stockholders of the company will vote the increase.

While the letter does not say what it is proposed to expend for the erection of a cannery in Haiku there will be a surplus in the $500,000 increase after the payment for Kipahulu and the issue of stock to the subscribers for shares in the company that was to have been organized.

Despite reports that the output of the Haiku cannery was much smaller than estimates apparently authentic reports tell of the earning of a very handsome and substantial income from this year's business.

Psychologist Opens Wailuku Class; Next Meeting October 11

With an attendance of approximately 100 residents of Wailuku and surrounding communities, Miss Evelyn Whitell, widely known psychologist opened the first of a series of six lectures at the Grand Hotel Thursday evening.

Miss Whitell, who recently completed a similar series in Honolulu and who expects to visit the other islands before her return to the mainland, characterized her audience as "attentive in the extreme" and declared the attendance was proportionately much greater than she had enjoyed on Oahu.

"The island of Maui is the garden spot of the islands," Miss Whitell said. "I am delighted with your people and their spirit; overwhelmed by your hospitality."

The lecturer has been engaged in the teaching of applied psychology for some years throughout the United States and in Canada. She is an associate of Dr. D. V. Bush, said to be the world's greatest psychologist and expects within the near future to continue his work on a gigantic tour across the continent.

Dates for the five remaining lectures and their subjects are:

October 11, "The Psychology of Health;" Oct. 13, "The Story Your Face Tells—How to Keep Love and Harmony in the Home—Thought Transference;" Oct. 18, "Healing the Sick;" Oct. 20, "The Aura—How to be Protected From Outside Influence;" Oct. 25, "Is Communication With the Other Side Possible."

MEAT PRICES LOWER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The meat packing business, greatest single industry in the United States, has returned to normalcy, according to Thomas E. Wilson, president of the American Meat Packers. Wilson said that wholesale meat prices were back to a pre-war basis and the meat values were becoming practically stable.

MOSCOW, Oct. 5.—Nikolai Lenine, president of the council commissioners last night made his first public appearance since his illness last spring.

ORDER AT ONCE

Large numbers of orders for the Fifth Annual Maui County Fair edition of Maui News which will issue next Tuesday are coming in. The cover is of coated book stock and is the first color work ever turned out on Maui. It was designed by Gillis of Honolulu and in coloring ranks with the best that is shown in magazines. There will be four newspaper sections filled with illustrations of Maui places and scenes and special articles on Maui subjects.

Double the usual issue will be printed but the demand is practically certain to exhaust the supply early.

Orders may be booked now.

Last Rally of Primary Will Be Held Tonight

Lahaina Voters Heard Last Words of Candidates on Thursday Night; Ballots Fall Tomorrow.

Last words in the primary campaign on Maui will be spoken tonight in Wailuku at the usual Market street political meeting place by the Republican legislative candidates. Then they will have put their cases into the hands of the voters and tomorrow will be cast the ballots that will tell the story.

Yesterday most of the candidates went over to West Maui and last night the closing big rally was held in Lahaina.

So far as the legislative candidates are concerned they have generally observed the "rules of the game," but with the delegate candidates it has been different. King has been responsible for the "slush fund talk" which will do the party no good no matter who may be nominated for the delegateship. Such charges will be repeated by the Democrats in the general election.

Lyman has shown that he is not in full support of the Republican administration in what has been done by the Hawaiian Homes Commission and in that way he also has furnished "ammunition to the enemy." Wise has been unable to campaign on his own behalf but is known to be in accord with the Republican nomination.

For the short term senatorship on Maui Goodness is as confident as others and up to yesterday afternoon appeared to have an advantage over Kaunehewa and Walsh. Then came the "Forester card episode" and his opponents were not slow to take advantage of it and put Goodness on the defensive.

Too many factors enter into the contest for places on the representative ticket to warrant even the most daring political dopesters to name a list of which they are confident every member would win. Paschoal and Clark, however, are generally looked upon as certainities.

Maui News expects to receive the returns as to the delegate from the outside islands by Associated Press tomorrow evening with some of the more outstanding in interest results as to the legislature. Returns will also be received and compiled at the Court House.

Childs Confers With Governor on Welfare Workers Convention

Clinton S. Childs, head of the Alexander House Settlement and recently appointed chairman of the program committee for the Territorial Welfare Workers by Governor W. R. Farrington, left for Honolulu Wednesday night for a conference with the executive.

During his stay in the Oahu city, Childs will discuss various problems to be placed before the convention of Welfare Workers' next March. Governor Farrington is general chairman of that organization.

The new official of the association returned to Wailuku this morning on the Wilhelmina. He was accompanied by Mrs. Childs and their baby.

Makawao Ladies Will Hold Annual Bazaar Tomorrow Evening

Charmingly decorated booths, laden with articles of beauty and for use, for the table, for the bedroom, for baby, for mother, for all, things substantial and things dainty, all suitable for use or for gifts as desired, balloons and toys for the little folk, too, and with the booths attended by matrons and maids more charming and dainty than the goods they sell from the booths, will be at Paia Community House tomorrow evening. There will be candies and sweets and more substantial things, too, and lots of other things to attract young and old. The occasion is the annual bazaar, entertainment and dance of the Makawao Ladies Aid.

There will be an entertainment, largely musical, in which between 30 and 40 persons will participate and after the entertainment there will be a delightful dance. During the evening the election returns will be received by telephone and the figures displayed on a board on bright lights so that "he who dances may read."

Makawao Ladies Aid annual bazaar and entertainment and dance is an institution on Maui that draws to the Paia Community House island residents from Wailuku and farther away. Those who have been there previously know what to expect and look forward to a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

Foresters Repudiate Inference Court Is Endorsing Goodness

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED that COURT VALLEY ISLAND NO. 9239, A. O. F., repudiates the inference that has been spread throughout the community that this COURT is engaged in political activity and is endorsing any political candidate for office, and that it resents the attempt made to use the name of this COURT for political purposes and gain.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this RESOLUTION be published in the Semi-Weekly Maui News of October 6, 1922.

JOHN MARTINS, Chief Ranger
JOHN E. GARCIA, Financial Secretary.

The foregoing resolution was passed by Court Valley Island last night at its regular meeting.

Secretary John E. Garcia this morning asked Maui News to disclaim for him any participation in the printing, mailing or other distribution of the cards apparently advocating the candidacy for the senate of Peruvia J. Goodness.

Attempts to use the name of Court Valley Isle No. 9239 Ancient Order of Foresters in advocacy of the candidacy for the territorial senate by or on behalf of Peruvia J. Goodness caused indignation among members of that order yesterday when cards with the name of the order and the picture of Goodness appeared. One of the cards came to the attention of J. Garcia and he was indignant.

He said it was an evident attempt to use the order to further a political candidate and that the laws of the order forbade such act.

On the card which appeared yesterday at the right side is a picture of Goodness. At the top of the card in large type are the words: "Court Valley Islands." Under in smaller letters "No. 9239 A. O. F." Still further down in italics is the word "Brother" and lower in large letters: "Peruvia J. Goodness;" under it and in smaller type in parenthesis is the word Kukaneki and opposite these is a cross such as used to mark candidates for whom one votes on an election ballot.

YANKEES SHUT OUT IN THIRD GAME OF WORLD SERIES

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 6.—Waite Hoyt, the Yankee's hero of the 1921 world's series, fell before the smashing attack of the Giants while Deacon Scott, a comparatively unknown hurler, blanked the heavy hitting Yankee's allowing only four hits. The Giants won by the score of three to nothing.

The Giants went after Hoyt from the beginning of the game, getting two hits in each of the first four innings but scoring only in the third when two singles, a sacrifice fly and Ward's error gave the Giants two runs. The other score came in the seventh. Bancroft walked and Groh advanced him to third by singling. Frisch was signalled for the hit and run play but his attempt was a clean single, scoring Bancroft.

The Giants got a total of 12 hits, 11 being made off Hoyt who was removed from the mound in the eighth inning and replaced by Jones.

Young of the Giants was today's batting star with three singles to his credit. The Yankee's fast fielding kept the Giants from scoring heavily while they were hitting Hoyt.

The batteries for the game were: Giants—Deacon Scott and Smith; Yankees—Hoyt and Schang.

Yesterday's attendance set a new mark for world's series games attended. Gross proceeds were $120,550 and will be contributed towards the rehabilitation project for disabled veterans of the world war.

The Game

First Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—No runs, two hits, no errors. A double play saved the Yankee's from a certain score.

Second Inning, Yankee's—No runs, one hit, no errors; Giants—No runs, two hits, no errors. Wonderful fielding in the pinches is a feature of the Yankee's game today.

Third Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—Two runs, two hits, one error.

Fourth Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, one error; Giants—No runs, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning, Yankee's—No runs, one hit, no errors; Giants—No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning, Yankee's—No runs, two hits, no errors; Giants—One run, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning, Yankees—No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—Jones won, no hits, no errors; Yankees—No runs, one hit, no errors.

FLASH—Ninth Inning—Giants win 3-0.

Agreement May Be Reached In Near-East Allies Hope

Situation Still Serious, However. Kemalists Reported In Neutral Zone; Turks Are Bitter.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—Allied generals left at noon today for Mudania to resume negotiations for peace in the Near East. The situation is considered extremely serious, but as yet there is some hope that an agreement may be reached. This report followed one earlier in the day declaring the conference to be at a deadlock.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—The success of the Mudania conference, upon which hopes for a settlement of the Near East problem have been based, seemed threatened here today.

It has been found impossible to reach an agreement regarding the evacuation of Constantinople and the question of the evacuation of Thrace combined with the bellicose attitude of the Turks against the Greeks has temporarily halted negotiations, it is feared.

General Harrington, representing Great Britain has declared he will return to the conference only after the peace treaty has been signed, it is reported here. M. Bouillon, French delegate issued an announcement declaring he had been instructed to support Turkish demands.

In any event, experts assert, the evacuation of Constantinople will not be accomplished for some time.

Reports received from the British headquarters declare that Kemalists cavalry have appeared at Kandra, 65 miles east of Constantinople and with in the neutral zone.

SMYRNA, Oct. 5.—With the expiration of the evacuation time limit today, Turkish authorities refused any more refugees the right to leave. About 30,000 have already fled and the remainder are to be taken into the interior.

Scores Die Fleeing Forest Fire; 5000 Rendered Homeless

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NORTHBAY, Ont., Oct. 5.—Between 50 and 100 persons lost their lives by drowning when they were crowded off the pier here while endeavoring to board a vessel arriving to rescue them from forest fires in this district, according to reports.

Four towns have been completely wiped out, property valued in the millions destroyed and the fires are still raging. It is estimated more than 5000 persons have been made homeless with probably 30 casualties. There is no immediate prospect of rain, weather experts declare.

Flight Endurance Records Smashed

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 6.—All previous records for aviation endurance were broken here at eight o'clock today when the huge Monoplane T-2 was still in the air after 26 hours and 34 minutes of continuous flying.

The machine, piloted by army Lieutenants J. A. Macready Oakley and Kelly, smashed the previous record hung up by Eddie Stinson at Mineola, N. Y., of 26 hours, 19 minutes and 36 seconds.

SURVEY SCHOOL QUESTION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Oct. 5.—Governor Wallace R. Farrington today called a meeting for Friday of the members of the joint committee on textbook revision for a survey on the entire language school question.

WANT LIGHT WINES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

LONG BEACH, Cal., Oct. 6.—A resolution asking a modification of the Volstead Act, was passed by the State Labor Federation in session here today. The federation recommends the legal use of light wines.

Second Series Game Ends With Sunset

Tables Are Turned, Yankee's Tie Lead Taken In First Inning; Game Called On Account Darkness

POLO GROUNDS, New York City, Oct. 5.—One of the most sensational exciting and hardest fought games in the history of the world's series came to an end after ten innings when darkness caused it to be called off with the score at 3-3.

Thrills started in the first inning when Emil Meusel of the Giants drove a home run into the left field bleachers, scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him. The Yankee's came back in the latter half of the same inning with one run when Dugan scored on Pipp's single. In the fourth inning, with two down, Ward drove a home run into left field and the Yankee's tied the score in the eighth when Ruth doubled and scored on a like hit by Meusel.

Maui "World Series" Opens Sunday P. M.

The first game of the three game series for the Maui baseball title will be played at the Fair Grounds diamond at Kahului, Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

The second game will be played Thursday morning, the first day of the Fair on the same diamond and should a third game be needed to determine the issue it will be played on Saturday morning, the last day of the County Fair.

Both teams are having daily workouts in view of the coming titular series and both managers express confidence of gaining the Island title.

University Boosts Maui County's Fair

September is "Fair Month" through out the United States. These are gala days for the country folk and for many of their city cousins. Possibly no other institution has done so much to bring together the interests and understanding of rural and urban peoples as have our best conducted state and county agricultural fairs.

Hawaii has a splendid example of the possibilities and opportunities in this direction in the Annual Maui County Fair, the fifth of which is to be held at Kahului on the Valley Isle, October 12, 13 and 14. No finer permanent county fair grounds exists in any of the states of the Union than that on Maui, and none in which the community takes a greater pride.

Nothing has given better evidence of the progress in Hawaii's agricultural diversification and rural institutions, nor more forcibly revealed the trend of our intellectual and industrial life and activities generally than did the Territorial Fair held in Honolulu several years ago.

Well conducted fairs are not merely expositions displaying farm products and other wares showing the resources and advantages enjoyed by certain individuals and districts, which is the more or less mercenary view, but rather a great educational institution for the masses, informative in every branch of agricultural practice, in the advances and improvements made in the arts and manufactures and the educational and intellectual life of the communities of the State.—(F. G. K.) in Extension Letter of Sept. 26.

Boy Scout Notes

Girl Scout Day at the Fair is Friday, October 13th. All girls will wear their uniforms and other scout insignia.

A short demonstration of thirty minutes will be given for the afternoon program.

At one o'clock a general assembly of all troops with their leaders will be held on the lawn between the Territorial and Agricultural Buildings. Final instructions will be given at this time and every scout is expected to be present.

Troop News

Lahaina troops and Puukoli troop held a joint meeting last Friday on the Baldwin House lawn. Much important business transacted.

Miss Leandro of the Pauwela school is to be the captain of the Daisy troop. Their regular meeting will be on Monday's at 2:15 p. m., at the school house.

Wailuku has another troop. Mrs. Bernie Williams of the Alexander House Settlement is captain and Miss Sadie Whitehead is lieutenant. The first meeting was held at the Settlement Gymnasium. It was an organization meeting. Bella Pomba was elected treasurer and Irene Moura, secretary. The girls have the Ginger for their flower and name. Hence we welcome the "Ginger Troop."

Hamakua-poko

The first meeting of the year for this troop was held at the Hamakua-poko public school. Miss Buell and Miss Johnson (high teachers) met with the girls for the first time. This is an interested group of scouts and we prophesy a happy and profitable year for them.

ACCUSE TOBACCO MEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The American Tobacco Company and nine whole sale organizations were today formally charged by the federal trade commission with improper methods of maintaining wholesale prices. The accused concerns are all of Chattanooga, Tenn.

RECOGNIZE RUSSIA—BORAH

POCATELLO, Idaho, Oct. 4.—Recognition of Russia's Soviet government by the United States was advocated here today by Senator William E. Borah. The legislator said that such recognition would result in great benefit to this country. "There is everything to gain and nothing to lose," he said.

Giants Take Edge On World's Series

Three Run Rally In Eighth Frame Discounts Two Run Lead Held By Yankee's and Wins Game

POLO GROUNDS, New York City, Oct. 4.—The Giants won the first game of the 1922 world's series by concentrating a savage batting attack on the Yankee's star pitcher, Joe Bush, driving him from the box in that stanza. The Giants came from behind in the eighth inning, overcoming a two runs to nothing lead with four consecutive smashing hits that scored two tallies and followed with a long sacrifice fly that brought in the winning run.

Approximately 35,000 spectators witnessed the first game of the series. The weather was ideal, being warm and sunny.

Yankee's—Witt, center field; Dugan, third base; Ruth, left field; Pipp, first base; Meusel, right field; Schang, catcher; Ward, third base; Scott, short stop; Bush, pitcher. The Giants won the toss and will be the home team.

The Game

1st Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, no errors; Ruth fanned at his first time at bat; Giants—No runs, two hits, no errors.

2nd Inning, Yankee's—No runs, one hit, no errors; Giants—No runs, no hits, no errors.

3rd Inning, Yankee's—No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—No runs, one hit, no errors. Groh, the Giants third sacker tripled, his second hit of the game.

4th Inning, Yankee's—No runs, one hit, no errors; Giants—No runs, one hit, no errors.

5th Inning, Yankee's—No runs, one hit, no errors; Giants—No runs, no hits, no errors.

6th Inning, Yankee's—Witt tripled but was caught out at third when Dugan grounded, Dugan taking second on the play. Babe Ruth singled, scoring Dugan, one run, two hits, no errors; Giants—No runs, no hits, no errors.

7th Inning, Yankee's—Meusel singled, Nehf threw Schang's intended sacrifice into centerfield in an attempt to catch Meusel at second, Meusel, going to third. He scored when Young fumbled Ward's drive to right field. It was Young's second error in the game. One run, one hit, two errors; Giants—Three singles filled the bases Smith batting for Nehf hit into a double play ending the inning. Giants—No runs, three hits, no errors.

8th Inning, Yankee's—Ryan now pitching for the Giants. No runs, no hits, no errors; Giants—Bancroft and Groh singled in succession. Frisch singled and Meusel's hit scored Bancroft and Groh. Frisch scored after the catch of Young's long sacrifice fly. Hoyt replaced Bush in the Yankee pitcher's box. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

9th Inning, Yankee's—Pipp opened the ninth inning with a single but the Yankee's ray of hope was blanked when he was doubled out on Meusel's liner to Frisch.

Summary—Yankee's, two runs, 7 hits, no errors; Giants, three runs, eleven hits, three errors.

Japanese Wrestling Okinawa Inter-Island Championship Bouts

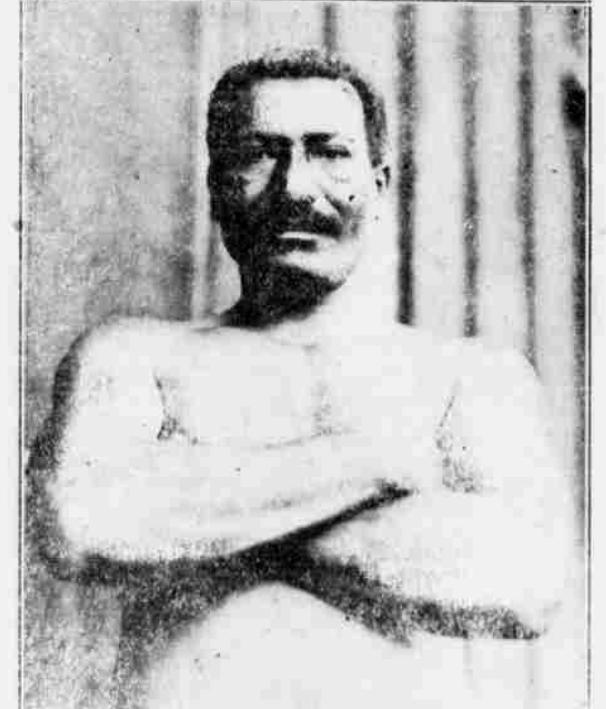

AT MAUI COUNTY FAIR

Every Night October 12-13-14 in Skating Rink

CHALLENGERS who have issued a defy to the Okinawa grapplers and will meet the best the Islands can produce on the mat during the three day fair.

SAM SNIFFEN

WILLIAM MORRIS

Okinawa is the American form of wrestling. No jiu jitsu methods are allowed. Opponents to secure a fall must, as in American bouts, pin both shoulders securely to the mat.

Thirty wrestlers from this Island will compete. Five or six of Oahu's best will be sent here during the Fair to take part in the tournament. Other men from Hawaii and Kauai.

MAUI'S SECOND MONDAY SPECIAL SALE

COMMENCES MONDAY, OCTOBER 9th
And Will Continue Until Wednesday Noon
AT THE

GRAND HOTEL, WAILUKU

Under the Direction of
MRS. MARION DRAKE

A Group of DESIRABLE FROCKS

at $8.00

JERSEY

Only a few models left. Well made, extremely practical—and smart. Two styles: Bramley and collarless. Contrasting trimming.

FIGURED GEORGETTE

Foundations of real silk. Picot-edged throughout. Taffeta girdles. Bright figures on subdued backgrounds of mauve, navy or brown. For afternoon or informal evening wear.

DOTTED SWISS

You won't believe that these frocks can be sold for so little. Charming, dainty, colorful—and trimmed with real filet, Irish or Val! Brown and navy blue, too.

TWILL AND TAFFETA

Poirot twill is one of the season's favored fabrics. A slip-on style with novel belt and patch pocket. Plaid taffeta blouse; Bramley collar. Good-looking and serviceable.

NEW SPORTS SKIRTS

$5.50

These have not yet been shown at any of our Honolulu sales. Home spun or tweed. Alternating wide and narrow pleats; self colored buttons. Rose, tan, French blue, and sand.

WOMEN'S SPORTS COATS

OF JERSEY

$4.95 and $8.00

These coats are incomparable to any other sports coat because they are smart-looking, they wear well and they are inexpensive. Mrs. Drake is bringing a few of each price. The styles are very similar, but they differ a bit in weight and quality. Either is a good investment! Choice of green, tan, navy, brown, yellow and blue.

Our first Monday Special Sale in Maui, the latter part of August, was such a success and of such mutual benefit both to you and to us, that we are going to repeat it.

This will be welcome news to you, we hope, especially to those who have been urging us to put on another sale for some time.

We call it a "Monday Special Sale"—even though it will last more than one day—because it is a direct outgrowth of our famous Monday Special Sales in Honolulu, and modeled along the same lines.

In other words, we are giving you Maui-folk the same opportunity to secure the splendid values that we offer our Honolulu patrons every Monday in the year.

However, since we are making the effort to bring the sale to you, which means time and money, we find it advisable to continue it more than one day. Those who cannot come Monday will thus be able to attend it later.

But remember "the early bird—!"

Mrs. Marion Drake, the head of our Mail Order Department and Personal Shopping Bureau, will again take charge.

MEN'S DRESSING ROBES Special $9.00

They are light-weight and comfy...

They are full length...

They are well-tailored

AND

They are equally suitable for bath, beach or lounging. Obtainable in dark, mannish colors, and both wool and wool-and-silk materials.

SPECIAL AT $1.95

English Wool Scarfs

Soft and pleasant feeling, with up-and-down stripes in warm fall tones, tempered with white.

Fibre Silk Scarfs

Roman-striped in bright hues.

Our Maui customers would not forgive Mrs. Drake if she failed to bring down some of our new, regular stock merchandise.

THE SPORTS SCARF

dances into the season in a variety of fabrics, weaves and colors.

Hand-Loomed Wool Scarfs

$8.50

They bear that desirable hand-made look and are of delightfully blended colors.

"Bygo-silk" Scarfs

$8.50

Deliciously silky-soft. An open weave. Long fringe.

Darning-Stitch Scarfs

$4.25

Woven in squares over a fine knitted silk. Double-faced. Odd and interesting.

Imported Wool Angora Scarfs

$12.50

27 inches wide. Very soft. Quaint-colored plaids.

A SURPRISE

We are bringing to Maui a few of our very newest hats and frocks of the season.

Some will be street costumes...

Others are for more formal wear.

But you are to learn nothing more about them in this announcement than that they are coming.

Because

We want you to see them for yourselves.

POOR POLITICAL TACTICS

Candidates who accuse their rivals at the primary election of seeking to influence voters with cash, who make charges of the raising and spending of a "slush fund" have no place, rightly, in any party. They place their own will to power at a higher valuation than the fair name of their party and furnish to the enemy ammunition which may be used against the party at the general election if the rival or rivals against whom they direct their attacks be the nominee.

In the party election the candidate should remember that it is a primary and the success of the party at the general election which is to follow depends largely on what he may say in his public utterances, whether or no he is to be eventually its nominee. In his speeches it is proper for him to set forth his own claims to suffrage, to make clear his own ability and capacity but in fairness to his party and its chances he should ever remember that if he directs attacks against the ability, honesty or integrity of his rivals he is faithless to his party allegiance since he may fail of nomination. The man who is a traitor to his party is unworthy of its support at election.

And again, the candidate for a nomination on the ticket of the party that is in power who criticizes the administration which his party is giving the people, who finds fault with the acts of that party, is seeking to sacrifice it in his own interests. On the one hand he is seeking its support. On the other hand he is pointing out its weaknesses to the enemy party.

There are few men in public life who are better than their party. If they consider themselves better than the party then they stultify themselves by belonging to it and in claiming allegiance to an organization which they assert is unworthy. They are responsible for the being placed in office of the incumbents and must shoulder that responsibility. As well might an organization in convention condemn its own acts of the past and promise to undo them if returned to office.

In this campaign such a course has been followed by some candidates. Voters who are party men and women can hardly be true to their allegiance to the organization if they countenance it and ballot for the man who puts his own wishes against what is or has been the policy or policies of that organization.

What has been said may be considered open to criticism by some but so long as there shall be party organizations it is sound political sense.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH.

While the long sought for fountain of youth was a fable so far as it related to the existence of a flowing liquid which when imbibed or laved, revived banished age and restored the body to its condition of years before, there is a fountain of youth, one for which it is unnecessary to go upon long journeys to find, one that is right at hand and within the reach of all.

The fountain of youth is not something physical and material. It is merely a mental attitude, the will to seek the cup of opportunities for clean, wholesome pleasure and to drink from it. In physical appearance the man or woman who drinks from that fountain ages and alters less than does he or she who refuses so to do. In mind, the drinker from the fountain ages hardly at all, merely gains strength and wisdom.

Next week will be fair week on Maui. All should attend the "Big Show" for there the fountain of youth awaits them. They can, if they will, throw off the burden of years. They have but to let themselves go, to enter into the spirit of the Fair and to take and enjoy all that has been prepared with so much arduous care for their entertainment, instruction and enjoyment. They have only to enter into events or to gaze upon the sights that will be there with a zest, and they will find they are young again.

In the Fair grounds one will meet one's friends. It is not hard with them to live again earlier days with the renewal of earlier associations. With them it is not hard to be thrilled by a close and exciting finish in a race, to be keenly interested in the improvements that are seen in articles in the commercial exhibits, the better fruits, the finer vegetables, the finer class in the livestock that is thoroughbred and so much more attractive than the mongrels of older days.

For the time being, too, dignity can be cast aside and levity given rein. And by following the course suggested, those who visit the Fair will find themselves years younger for days and weeks to come.

MAUI COUNTY FAIR

(By LORRIN A. THURSTON, in the Advertiser)

(I know what I am talking about in this article, because I was "raised" on Maui; can find my way in the dark anywhere on or in Haleakala and have attended and studied the Maui Fair organization and operation.)

Maui holds its fifth annual county fair on the 12th, 13th and 14th of this month; that is, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

I earnestly advise every one who can possibly do so to attend this fair, for several reasons.

In the first place, it will be an eye-opener as to what can be produced in the Territory of Hawaii, in the way of diversified agricultural products and live stock, big and little—including pigs and chickens as well as horses and cattle.

It will give a conclusive answer to those who assert that small farming cannot be profitably conducted in Hawaii—if it is done intelligently and under favorable conditions.

Maui is practically a demonstration station as to what can be done in diversified farming. The homesteads around Haiku, and the ranches being carried on by Grove Ranch, Harold Rice, Sam Baldwin and others, are exhibits.

A second reason is, that the Fair premises themselves are a whole chapter on cooperation in securing a community asset.

Splendid grounds of ample area have been secured, graded, laid out into race course, ball fields, drives and walks; planted with trees, lawns and shrubs—including one of the best exhibits of hibiscus in the islands.

Buildings of all kinds, for exhibitions, grand-stand, skating rink, auditorium with stage, for lectures, concerts or dancing, are provided.

The plant has cost in the vicinity of $200,000.00, and is being steadily added to and improved.

All this has been called into existence thru the medium of a private corporation, managed by the best executive and financial talent on the island; but at no private profit. All receipts of the corporation are devoted to carrying it on, any surplus going toward paying for or improving the plant or promoting its objects.

A third reason is that the executive management of the organization is an object lesson in personal community cooperation. In no other section of Hawaii is there such hearty and cordial cooperation between all classes and nationalities.

In particular it is an inspiration to see the full spontaneous and cordial participation in all forms of community entertainment, taken by the native Hawaiians—especially the women—more so than is found in any other part of the Territory.

A fourth reason is that, as a whole, the roads of Maui are in better condition than on any other island; automobiles are good and plentiful and prices reasonable. Incidentally to attendance at the fair a birdseye acquaintance with the surrounding country can be made.

It is diversified to the last degree, ranging from the grandeur of Iao Valley and the little known but spectacular "Kahakuloa Drive," to the seaside drives along the coast from Kahului both ways; along the bluffs overhanging the sea between Wailuku and Lahaina, and from Lahaina along the Molokai Channel to the Honokohau gorge, the bottom of which is planted from bank to bank with taro.

In contrast with this natural scenery there are the most extensive cane fields; artificial forestry development; intensive production of forage crops—including the Krauss pigeon pea—"the wonder crop"—developed on Maui and destined to revolutionize the stock industry of Hawaii, if not of the tropical world.

Miles of pineapples planted "up hill and down dale," on steep hills hundreds of feet high and in gulches hundreds of feet deep, vary the landscape in far more picturesque style than on Oahu.

In a few minutes after riding thru the highly cultivated pineapple fields, one rises up and up thru the homestead region to the Olinda section, where from an elevation of 4,000 feet, middle Maui lies spread out like a raised map, with the deep gorges and peaks of West Maui forming the background of a magnificent stage setting.

Returning down the mountain through the Haleakala Ranch, and thence thru the Kula section the broad rolling, almost lawn-like grassy fields, cause the involuntary exclamation—"this is surely God's country!"

The wonderful Kula sanitarium—another remarkable illustration of community effort—is directly en route and visitors are welcome!

The old Makee Plantation—now the "Raymond Ranch," is just beyond and the upper view from the end of the auto road, of the tangle of lava flows at the south end of Haleakala, is among the unique scenes of Hawaii.

The drive to Makena at the beach below the Raymond Ranch, thence via a new and practically unknown drive, along the coast, thru an algaroba forest and fishing village after village, across the last lava flow on Maui—as fresh appearing as the Alike flow of two years ago, in Kona, leads to the delightful little village and picturesque perfectly protected harbor of Ke-o-ne-o-i-o.

Every point that I have mentioned can easily be reached by auto in two days, and all within reach of the hotels at Wailuku, which are among the best in the Islands.

By all means visit the Maui Fair and draw inspiration therefrom and enjoy the surrounding scenery; and while about it, take in the trip to the top of Haleakala—the greatest sight in Hawaii, and return thru the crater and the "ditch trail," which Jack London has immortalized as the greatest and most beautiful in the world. Good horses, guides and accommodations can be arranged for, enabling this wonderful trip to be made in comfort and without care or worry.

Yes! By all means take in the Maui Fair.

It is reported that counterfeit 20 and 50 dollar bills have reached the banks of Honolulu but none of them have been seen on Maui, probably because the average Mauiite who goes to Honolulu does not bring that much home with him in his pockets.

Your legislators, if rightly selected, can do more for your county than can the county officials. As the voters sow tomorrow, they will reap in home benefits, or lack of home benefits, for two years to come.

3800 Americans To Die Tomorrow

Statistics show that in America 3800 persons die daily, as an average. This year nearly a million four hundred thousand will pass on. You may be one of them but there is no use worrying and the best way to end worry as to what may become of your dependents if you should go is to take out a policy of life insurance now.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

In the Dark Night
By DADDY

Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

Judge Owl calls Jack and Janet out of their beds and offers to show them secrets of the night. Wrapped in blankets and sheets and riding their ponies, followed Judge Owl further into the dark woods. The night was so black they could not see the Judge, but apparently the ponies could, for they went on swiftly and securely.

"Can't we help that poor mother get food for her hungry children and sick husband?" asked Jack, speaking into the darkness.

"Who! Too-who! A secret bad I'll show to you," hooted Judge Owl in answer. "The secret bad explains the secret sad, and perhaps you can turn them both into a secret glad."

"Hiss-ss-ss!" warned Judge Owl out of the darkness. The ponies stopped short in their tracks. "Do you see that hidden camp?" whispered Judge Owl. Jack and Janet couldn't see a thing.

In the hidden camp were two rough men

"Huh!" grunted Judge Owl. "I forgot that humans can't see a thing in the dark. I'll have to find you some night glasses." Judge Owl fluttered away, but he came back almost at once. He carried two pairs of glasses in his beak. One pair he gave to Jack and one to Janet.

Jack put the glasses on and got a surprise. He could see plainly in the dark. And what he saw gave him a fright. Right in front was a scary figure in white, staring at him from big, hollow eyes.

"Oh, it's a ghost," gasped Jack. The figure gave a frightened squeak. Jack knew the squeak. It was made by Janet. And the ghost wasn't a ghost at all. It was Janet wrapped in her white sheet and wearing Judge Owl's night glasses. Jack chuckled in relief.

"My, I thought you were a ghost!" whispered Janet, who had made the same mistake that Jack had.

"Hush-sh-sh!" warned Judge Owl.

"Don't you see what I see?"

They looked ahead, and then with their night glasses they saw what had made Judge Owl halt. In a hidden hollow was a camp, and in the hidden camp were two rough men. The two rough men were putting masks over their faces.

"Oh-h-h! They look like robbers!"

whispered Jack.

"Hush-sh-sh! They are robbers," replied Judge Owl. "We had better hurry away before they hear us."

The ponies trotted carefully, while Judge Owl fitted silently through the dark woods. Soon they felt they were at a safe distance from the robbers.

"Were those robbers the secret bad you were telling us about?" asked Janet of Judge Owl.

"No," answered Judge Owl. "They are a different secret bad from the one I am taking you to see. These robbers have some evil job in mind."

Judge Owl hurried them along until they came to the edge of the wood. Before them were farm buildings—a huge barn and a small tumble-down house. The house was in an unkempt yard in which the bushes and weeds grew high.

"That looks like a haunted house," whispered Janet.

"Hush-sh-sh. Folks say it is," warned Judge Owl. "Creep to the window, look within and you will see the secret bad."

The room was lighted by a lamp hung above a table. At the table sat an old man. Before him was a heap of golden coins. The old man was playing with these coins, lifting them up by handfuls and letting them run through his fingers. In his eyes was a gleam of evil glee.

"It a miser," whispered Judge Owl.

"A miser with his gold."

THE HOME IN GOOD TASTE

By Harold Donaldson Eberlein
Joint Author of "Practical Book of Interior Decoration," Etc.

No. 22—Remember the Floor

The floor is the foundation of the room, both physically and from the decorative point of view. As the foundation it should be in keeping with the rest of the room. An otherwise well-furnished room with a neglected floor will look just as uncouth as a person well dressed except for his shoes, which are uncleaned and down at the heel.

To be good a floor need not be expensive. Hardwood and parquet, floors, or tiled floors, are very desirable when one can have them, but they are by no means indispensable to good furnishing. An ordinary pine or cypress floor, with a little care bestowed on it, can be made perfectly acceptable. If there are cracks between the boards, fill them with putty, or, better still, with a filler specially prepared for the purpose and sold at paint shops.

When the surface is thus made smooth, the floor can be either stained or painted. If it is stained it can then be shellacked, if a high polish is desired, or it can be given a coat of flat floor varnish if a dull surface is preferred. For painting floors, deck paint is advisable, because it is both hard and elastic and stands wear. If some other sort of paint is used, give it a coat of either spar varnish or of flat floor varnish.

Tuesday—"The Color of the Floor."

At the Wailuku Hippodrome, Tuesday, October 17, the opening bill will be "The Gold Diggers," and on Wednesday, October 18, "Kempy" will be presented at Kahului Theatre. Further particulars will be announced in the next edition of this paper.

Interesting arguments upholding the use of the supernatural on the screen and in drama are offered by Agnes Ayres, Paul Powell and Milton Sills, respectively star, director and leading man of "Borderland." Miss Ayres' new Paramount picture which is said to utilize psychic phenomena as an integral feature of the plot.

"It's not necessary to believe in 'ghosts' to enjoy such a story," says Miss Ayres. "Whether or not you believe that the dead can communicate with the living, cannot interfere with your enjoyment of what might happen were it possible for souls passed on to warn the living against making mistakes."

"The fanciful will always attract," insists Milton Sills, leading man. "I know two great scientists who do not believe in spirits, but whose favorite plays are respectively 'Lilith' and 'Peter Pan,' two of the most successful stories using the supernatural for dramatic purposes."

"The success of the supernatural in drama," says Director Powell, "cannot be disputed with such box-office triumphs as 'The Return of Peter Grimm,' 'Earthbound,' 'The Tempest' and 'Peter Pan.'"

It is said that "Borderland," which next Saturday, will attract patronage not only because of its novelty but because of its plot. An excellent cast includes Milton Sills, Casson Ferguson and Bertram Grassby.

PRISCILLA DEAN

The thread of romance that carries the interest through the plot of "Wild Honey" the Universal-Jewel attraction at Maui theatres is based on the independence of spirit of Lady Vivienne, the English lady of rank who is the heroine of Cynthia Stockley's novel, from which the picture was filmed. Priscilla Dean portrays the character.

How many women would brave the dangers of a trip through the barren spaces of the Transvaal, alone and unacquainted with the nature of the country and its people? Lady "Viv" does it for the sake of looking up the land which represents the only wealth she possesses, and which every one says isn't worth the paper on which the deed is printed.

An independent spirit in a woman is one thing men always admire—until they get better acquainted with it. But it can lead to happiness, for the woman who has an indomitable spirit is sometimes the more easily dominated by "the right man."

"The right man" in "Wild Honey" is impersonated by Robert Ellis. Noah and Wallace Beery enact the chief roles of "villainish" hue. Other players are Lloyd Whitlock, Raymond Blatway, Helen Raymond, Harry DeRoy, Carl Stockdale, C. J. Frank and Landers Stevens.

GOOD PROVIDER

If your father complains that he is not appreciated in his own home, that your mother and your sisters and brothers overlook the fact that he is supporting them, that his love for you all falls on deaf ears, just advise him to go to the Hippodrome Theatre next week, when there will be presented a photoplay that will make up for Dad all of the gratitude that he thinks he has missed for years. It will make him happy, make Mother happy and you happy, too.

"The Good Provider," written by Fannie Hurst and directed by Frank Borzage, is father's own picture. "Humoresque" revealed the beautiful quality of a mother's love. "The Good Provider"—written by the same author and directed by the same director—shows that father isn't such a bad skate, after all.

Vera Gordon and Dore Davidson are the featured players in this new Cosmopolitan Production released by Paramount. Everyone who saw "Humoresque" knows what an inimitable Papa and Mama they make. And Miriam Battista, who was the little girl in "Humoresque," plays a similar part in "The Good Provider."

As usual with Cosmopolitan Production, the cast is particularly noteworthy. Vivienne Osborne, William (Buster) Collier, Jr., John Roche, James Devine, Blanche Craig, Ora Jones, Edward Phillips, Muriel Martin and Margaret Severn, the dancer.

FOUR HORSEMEN

Some plain facts about this great picture that will be shown on the screen of Maui theatres during the coming week.

Upwards of 12,000 persons were engaged.

More than 125,000 tons of masonry, steel, lumber, furniture and shrubbery—in excess of the material used in the Woolworth building—were used in constructing the massive settings. A costume factory was erected on the Metro studio grounds for "dressing" the production.

Two machine shops were incidentals of the other building operations. More than 500,000 feet of raw film was exposed in the taking of the picture, which when shown on the screen will not exceed 10,000 feet.

Fourteen camera men were employed to "shoot" the big scenes from every angle, and Rex Ingram, the director, at times had fourteen directors assisting him. It required weeks to weed out and assemble the complete scenes from the eighty-five miles of film exposed. The mere running of 500,000 feet of film through a projection machine at the rate of sixty feet a minute, consumes eighteen days of eight working hours each.

A collection of art treasures from galleries and private sources, valued beyond price, was used in dressing the handsomer interior settings. The insurance alone on these art works was $375,000.

The cast interpreting the roles in the most widely read book of all time, excepting the Bible, contains fifty principal players who in other productions would be rated as stars.

Island Guards Open Annual Training at Camp Farrington

The 1922 training encampment for Company "A" of Lahaina commanded by Captain Samuel K. Mookini, and Company "D" of Wailuku, commanded by Captain Frank Hinton, both of the 2nd Infantry, Hawaii National Guard, opened Saturday, September 30.

The camp is situated about fifteen miles from Wailuku on the breeze swept slopes of the old Enos homestead, now a part of the ranch belonging to Senator Harold Rice, who is supplying all the water necessary for the camp in addition to the camp site.

The site, on a gentle slope close to the road was well chosen. All preparations were made in advance for the comfort and convenience of the troops, water piped from a considerable distance, shower baths erected, etc.

Both companies arrived well up to strength in men and under the guidance of their officers quickly imparted to the grounds the appearance of neatness which always distinguishes a military camp.

The camp, which has been named "Camp Wallace R. Farrington" in honor of the Governor of the Territory, is commanded by Capt. Hinton, under whose guiding hand the preliminary arrangements were made. Capt. Mookini in addition to his other duties has been appointed summary court officer.

Lieutenant Peter W. Eichinger is camp adjutant and supply officer. A serious accident just two weeks ago resulting in a broken shoulder has failed to prevent his appearance at camp.

Lieutenant Joseph Hinai of Co. "A" is acting as mess and range officer.

The regular army is represented in camp by Lt. Col. Edwin J. Nowlen, senior instructor, assisted by Lieut. L. E. Mabius, 27th Infantry and two instructors, Sergt. J. L. Nash and Sergt. K. J. Williams.

The training covers a wide range. In addition to the ordinary drill calisthenics and setting up exercises there are numerous lectures on military courtesy, customs of the service, care and making up of personal equipment, personal hygiene and first aid, performance of riot duty, interior guard duty, instructions in the care and handling of fire arms and other weapons, map reading, sketching and many other subjects.

Up to the present there has been but one incident which might have had serious results. A sentry, imbued with a superabundance of zeal, refused to permit the contractor to come into camp with the "kaukau." Fortunately the officer of the day, by timely action, was able to avert the catastrophe.

Pertinent Paragraphs

Supervisors Meet Wednesday.—The regular October meeting of the Maui County supervisors comes next week and the first session will be held next Wednesday.

San Carlos Earnings.—Honolulu reports say that San Carlos Company will show a profit of $400,000 for the year as result of the sale of the last crop for $1.15.

Special Services.—Special services will be held in the Church of the Good Shepherd at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Holy communion. The Reverend Frank Cockcroft will officiate.

Rains Are Welcome.—Good showers and cloudy weather have prevailed in Central Maui for the past several days and have been most welcome to the growing crop and the lawns and flowers.

Home Work Starts.—No time has been lost by the contractor for the building of the Children's Home. The ground has been staked out and work actually started on the land mauka of the hospital.

Chamber Meeting Postponed.—Owing to the fact that the date for the regular meeting of the Maui Chamber of Commerce falls on Thursday next, the first day of the Fifth Annual Maui County Fair, the meeting is postponed for one week and will be held at the chamber of Commerce rooms on Thursday, October 19.

Liberty House Sale.—Announcement is made in this paper of the second Liberty House Monday Sale at the Grand Hotel next Monday.

Mrs. Marion Drake is again in charge and judging from the offerings made at the first sale the coming one should be highly attractive. It is opportune, also, coming immediately before the Fair when the average person needs some extras.

Baseball Returns Given.—Calls on Maui News telephone have been coming in thick and fast this week and a large proportion are to inquire "What's the score."

Maui News has been receiving the results in inning by inning with the final result known by or before noon. When it is considered that the game of yesterday was called on account of darkness in New York and Maui knew it before going to lunch it can be seen that the Valley Island is getting real service.

Why Lei Day? Asked

(Contributed)

Certainly not the grass skirt and it's a question if the ukulele is as typically Hawaiian as is a flower lei "with or without greens," as reads the program that is gotten out by the Flower Committee of Maui's Fifth County Fair. For Friday, October 13, is Lei Day.

So because it is so typically Hawaiian and lest our kiddies that are growing up shall forget how to properly make and generally use this beautiful symbol of our free Hawaii lei, it was thought best to have one day of the flower show set aside for Lei Day.

Anyone is eligible to make and enter their leis for prizes. In fact it is to be hoped that some of Maui's very best lei makers do compete for the prizes on this occasion, because the children should see how best to construct their leis. Paper flowers are tabu in this instance, as it is the desire of the flower committee that leis be made as much as possible as they were made in the days of long ago. Judges of this competition who are to be Mrs. Sam Kalama, Mrs. Emma MacFarlane and Mrs. Henry P. Robinson, will judge workmanship first and beauty second, so make your leis well don't worry if some one else seems to have nicer flowers. Make a lei for Lei Day.

"Managers Night," the first theatrical innovation of its kind ever presented on the island of Maui made its debut at the Wailuku Hippodrome last night before a capacity house.

The program was prepared by Manager Dick P. Harris of the Maui chain of theaters and the cast was comprised entirely of local talent.

While the crowds thronged the lobby in an effort to obtain seats, the program was opened with an overture, "The Thunderer" by the Community Orchestra, Dr. J. V. Ting directing. A two reel comedy, "Excuse me Sheriff" formed a second number on the program.

Third feature of the evening was "Moments of Melody," Diamond Holenihini, Eddie Santos, Manuel Rodriguez, Miguel Koani, Louis Rodriguez and James Koani were members of the sextette presenting this enjoyable number.

"Pop" Hutton, of Boy Scout fame, and Frank Lanza presented "From Soup to Nuts." Leland Lewis gave character readings from Kipling and Service, and Sid Blank rendered "The Whistling Kid."

"Bring Me a Rose" a song and dance novelty, including Mrs. P. H. Ross, Miss Alma Ross, Alice Bevins, Mildred Bevins, Patsy Lougher and Irene Moura in stellar exhibitions.

The crowning feature of the entertainment was the part portrayed by Dick Harris in "His Father's Pride," a one act playlet by Leland Lewis. Mr. Harris was ably supported by Mrs. Dan T. Carey and Floyd Brown. Episode 7, the "Miracles of the Jungles" concluded the program.

"Tiger Born Race" Does Little Hunting But Tills The Soil

RANGOON — (Associated Press Mail)—The Lahus are one of the hitherto little known tribes described by Ralph Henderson, an American wayfarer, whose travel pictures have been appearing in The Rangoon Gazette. These sturdy, yet sociable people live mostly in the Chinese province of Yunnan, a wild country bordering on the northeast frontier of Burma. Referring to their life and customs, Mr. Henderson writes:

"We met more Lahus than any other tribesmen, I think. Lahu is the tribe's name for itself, and means the 'tiger-born' race. The tribe is a big one and spills across into Yunnan, or rather, spills from Yunnan into Burma, since they originally came from China. The Lahus live by agriculture, the men doing a little hunting on the side when they can get hold of a gun that shoots forward, instead of backward or in all directions at once. Every hill man who considers himself of any importance at all must have his gun. There is a factory in Kengtung where muzzle-loading guns are manufactured. A few carpenters and blacksmiths sit beneath a big banyan tree and make them. When a gun is made, some bold workman fires it to see if it will go off. If it does, it is sold at once.

"But not all hill men are so fortunate as to be able to secure one of these 'Hsamun' guns. Many of them, therefore, make their own. Then they make their own powder and shot, and, when all is finished, have the self-confidence or temerity to go hunting with their creation. I carried a repeating shotgun up there, and it is not surprising that they regarded it with an awe that amounted almost to reverence. A friend of mine carried an old revolver. He had paid three dollars for it in America and, since that time the handle had become broken. He was offered the equivalent of $65 for it, broken handle and all, by a friendly robber chief.

"The Lahus have a formal and impersonal way of making love. The young men build a fire, and the maidens another, these fires within a stone's toss of each. Then each group sits about its own fire, and the courtships begins. The groups sing love songs to each other in turn. This may continue for hours. Then at last comes a song saying the time has come for parting, and with that the two groups rise from about their fires and come together for a moment. In this moment, a youth may exchange turbans with the lady of his heart. These exchanged turbans are worn for several days and the whole proceeding serves the same purpose as our engagement and engagement ring. If either party regrets the compact, he or she may demand a return of turbans, and there's an end to everything. Otherwise, marriage follows.

"Lahus commonly have large families, and to save a great deal of mental effort on the part of the parents in devising names for their progeny, they employ an ingenious scheme—a kind of calendar of names. They have a cycle of 12 days in their week: dog day, pig day, rat day, cow day, tiger day, ass day, death day, crocodile day, sheep day, pony day, chicken day and house day. A child born on dog day is called Master or Miss Dog; on rat day, Master or Miss Rat; on sheep day, Master or Miss Sheep.

"It might be supposed that a child born at midnight (a rather vague and inclusive term in a land without timepieces) would catch the baptismal wheel on dead center, and would be in a fair way to get two names or none. Not so. The child is merely Master or Miss Midnight. What more simple! To introduce a comfortable amount of variety, the first born is usually called Master or Miss First. Commonly the name derived from the day is also added and the result is such a name as Master First Ass, or Miss Second Pig.

"The child whom its parents expect to be the last may likewise be called Master or Miss Last. It must be annoying to the inventors of the system that there is at least a medium of uncertainty in bestowing the name of Master or Miss Last on a child. The future cannot be surely foretold, and consequently it is not uncommon to find in a family two, or even three children bearing the name Last."

Old Scores

"Now I've had my revenge," said the shoe-shop proprietor to his friend, as a customer left.

"Revenge? How so?"

"Well, the young lady who just went out is a telephone operator. I gave her the wrong number."—Kasper (Stockholm).

Taking No Chances

"Why do you insist on shaking hands with me before every drink?" asked Mr. Jagsby.

"A man never knows what's going to happen to him nowadays," replied Mr. Bibbles, solemnly, "and if I drop in my tracks I want you to know that we part friends."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Castles In The Air

"What is your idea of the height of futurity?"

"A woodpecker trying to build a nest in a concrete pole."

Has Maui Hibiscus?

(Contributed)

This question arises because of the very meager display of our Territorial flower at last year's Fair, due no doubt to many being unaware that such a display was called for on the program. But now that the Fifth Maui County Fair is upon us, what are we going to do about this Hibiscus Day that the Flower Committee has set for Saturday, October 14?

They say that John Walker, "the Hibiscus King," producer of the famous double white hibiscus and originator of more varieties of double hibiscus by far than all the rest of the producers of Hawaii put together, is going to leave his business cares behind him and come from Honolulu to be the judge for Hibiscus Day. More than that, he planning for himself an especial treat. He will remain on Maui for some ten days after the Fair is over for no other reason than because, as he puts it, he wants others to become acquainted with the fascinating pastime of cross breeding hibiscus. He says, "I will be more than pleased in the few days that I will be with you to demonstrate to all who may be interested my methods of pollenization, selection of sexes, planting, budding, etc. That is busy John Walker's idea of a pleasant holiday to come to Maui and teach us how we may derive pleasure from the spare moments of our day in producing more varieties of our wonderful territorial flower, the hibiscus, of which there are now probably between 5000 and 6000 varieties.

Of course the people of Maui will bring their very best blooms of hibiscus for John Walker to see and judge on Saturday, October 14. Equally of course as many as can will see him and talk with him on the subject that has been nearest to his heart during the past twelve years. Perhaps an occasional "fan" will even make arrangements to have Mr. Walker visit his garden and let Mr. Walker show "how it is done" hibiscus. Those who want to know further about that part of it can talk with his ardent admirers and friends, Mrs. J. T. Fantom, who has one of his prettiest blossoms named for her, and Grant Bailey, to whom he has presented a large collection of his best slips to be grown and distributed as John says, "to my friends on Maui."

Now what is John Walker going to see in the floral building when he enters it Saturday morning to judge our hibiscus display? If we do not bring the really fine blossoms that we have, we can imagine that he will be sure to remark "some show." Bring a Hibiscus for Hibiscus Day.
