THE DAILY HERALD.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1887.

A PUBLIC ANALYST.

Hawaii stands in need of so many institutions that have become indispensable to civilization in other countries, yet is living in such a hand to mouth fashion in respect to even the bare necessities of civilized existence, that it seems a hopeless, if not a thankless task to suggest anything new. Still there is one consolatory aspect in the situation which must appear to the view of the public journalist, and that is that a good time may be coming when this Kingdom may be less impetuous in respect to providing for necessities and not so lavish in procuring show and luxury. In that period hoped for, those things that have been made conspicuous in the times preceding as national wants will stand the best chance of early adoption. This thought is reassuring to the advocate of improvements now lacking.

Without fear of having its types thrown into the bay by an angry mob, the HERALD would suggest the necessity of adding a very useful official to the grand army of office-holders, the usefulness of many of whom is in inverse ratio to the august magnitude of their titles and the sublime height of their rank. The suggested official is a public analyst, whose report on the food and drink supplies of the people, based on samples procured at random or on certified submission, should be one of the most important documents laid before the Legislature. This official might be attached to the Board of Health and might have useful occupation in its service outside of his analytical operations. It is well known that these Islands are made a dumping ground for a good deal of trash of various sorts, but peculiarly deleterious commodities in the shape of food and drink. Representatives of an unscrupulous class, the pests of other countries, have also found their way here, plying nefarious industry and traffic in furnishing spurious and poisonous compounds under names of innocent articles of dietary. We have recently been shown the receipts for popular drinks that once had a brisk run here, showing that, instead of the wholesome articles the products purported to be, they were the most villainous combination of extracts and poisons. A short time ago it was reported that agents were on the ground trying to sell the formula for bogus milk, and possibly some of the poorer classes of residents are now being starved or sickened to their death from the mixture. Then there is no doubt that much of the solid food supplies put on the market here are unfit for human food—it is needless to suggest particulars of which to a community in possession of eyes, noses and palates. With a public analyst and a vigilant Board of Health staff to procure him material, the community might be saved untold imposition in the form of spurious and unwholesome victuals.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

If one or two of our enterprising carriage companies would keep a hack on call at any hour of the night, and make the fact generally known, they might find it paid better than some of the day carriages, especially as the rates are double between eleven at night and five in the morning. Often people with very honest business wait a carriage late at night but cannot get one.

Since receiving the communication published in another column, we have not had time to make enquiries regarding the $200,000 Government bonds deposited in the Hawaiian treasury as security to depositors in Spreckels' Savings Bank. There was, however, no special legislation for that bank, and our impression is that the security was given voluntarily, and that it was advertised as an inducement to depositors. In that case, as our correspondent suggests, the withdrawal of the bonds is a matter that wholly concerns those depositing money in the bank. Still there is no doubt that there should be a law requiring savings banks to give security to their depositors.

THE FLOODS.

Great Freshet at Kalihi—The Official Interpreter Has an Adventure—Stores and Plantations Deluged—Telephone Wires Down.

Last evening the HERALD office was notified of a carriage being wrecked in a flood over the road at Kalihi, and Mr. W. Luther Wilcox was mixed up in the news so as to give the impression that his extensive taro plantation was being devastated. Our reporter at once engaged one of the Hawaiian Hotel carriages and was soon speeding up the Ewa road. Rain was beating on the carriage roof and brilliant lightning flashed up ahead over the Ewa hills. So heavy had the downpour been nearly all the previous day and night, however, the road was for the most part washed of its deep mire and the back went along gaily.

Reaching Nuhelewai bridge, above the Reformatory School, Palama, the rice and taro patches on both hands were seen to be transformed into lakes. The water was up to the bridge parapets and a carriage length beyond the structure was rushing in a wide torrent several inches deep over the road. Fortunately there is no rice planted for the coming year in the extensive plantations at that point, or they might have more irrigation than would be for the advantage of the crop.

On approaching the What Cheer House a scene of unusual excitement came in view on the road crossing the gulch just this side of that old wayside hostelry. There was a roar of rushing waters, mingled with the voices of many people. Lanterns flashed here and there, the road for a hundred yards ahead was one rushing sea, and two or three score of men, women and youth, up to their thighs in water, surrounded some object in the road, and were apparently exerting themselves in some common and very earnest purpose. All this was visible in the moonlight several rods away, but grew with the approach. Now our carriage was up to the hubs in the flood and the crowd of workers began shouting and gesticulating to the driver. They were only telling him to keep in the middle of the road, as there was a bank at the side, indicated only by the roll of waters into the low land beyond. He was driving through the crowd, having been engaged to go to Mr. Wilcox's place, when he descried that gentleman himself directing the workers.

Mr. Wilcox came into the carriage and related particulars of an exciting adventure in which he had just figured. When ready to leave town last evening, after completing his day's service at the Supreme Court, it was raining hard, and he sent his son ahead in his brake, while he engaged a carriage of the Hawaiian Stables, Lele, to take his wife and himself home. When they reached the gulch at Kalihi, mauka of Mr. Hough-talling's place, the road was overflowed. Still the carriage proceeded until the water came over the dashboard. Just then the fence on the right hand side of the road came away with a crash, the horse began to flounder and the carriage to go over. Mr. Wilcox sprang out and called on his wife to follow him, and as she did both were in water to their armpits. He got Mrs. Wilcox safely to the high ground at the What Cheer House and then returned to help the hackman. The horse had broken partly clear and was struggling in the flood with only his head above water. With much difficulty the people of the neighborhood, who flocked to the assistance of the derelict conveyance, rescued the animal from drowning.

The catastrophe was seen coming by Mr. Wilcox in the shape of a regular wall of water, with a jagged crest like a breaker on the reef, rolling swiftly down the gulch. Young Wilcox in a brake had passed the point in safety not more than two or three minutes before. When our reporter was at the spot about nine o'clock, the water had subsided several feet. The volume of the great rush may be imagined when the fact is stated that the three lower boards of the fence were carried away at a point fifty yards from the middle of the stream. There was such a stream rushing down the lane running seaward from opposite the What Cheer House that a guiding rope had to be stretched across the road to enable the people to get over in safety. The water was waist deep in the Chinese stores and houses on the lower side of the road. Chinamen's patches of cane, bananas and market vegetables were subject to the flood and must be heavily damaged. Two or three of the Bell Telephone Company's poles were thrown down. The Hawaiian Stables carriage was completely wrecked, both shafts being broken and the front part all smashed. There is a small culvert over the gulch, altogether insufficient to carry off the water in even an ordinary freshet. Against such a flood as that of last night scarcely any bridge that could be built there would avail anything.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Meeting of the Board of Representatives.

Last evening the Board of Representatives of the Honolulu Fire Department held its monthly meeting at the Central Station. There were thirteen members present. Three bills were ordered paid. China Engine Co. No. 5 communicated the result of its election of officers held last month.

The Jubilee Committee made its final report. Receipts were $400 from the Jubilee general committee and $183.96 from the funds of the Department, making $583.96. Disbursements were $50 to each of the six adult companies, $25 to the Volunteer hose boys of No. 2, $55 for horses, $100 for illumination and $103.96 for sundries, balancing the receipts. Engine Co. No. 2's donation of $100, its proportion of the Inter-Island S. N. Co.'s gift, to the sick fund of the Department was accepted, and the thanks of the Department ordered to be conveyed to the Company.

John Reese, watchman at the Bell Tower, was granted $7.50 relief for medical attendance.

Foreman J. H. Boyd, of Co. No. 4, made an application for means to provide horses for hauling that company's engine to and from fires. He made a strong speech in favor of his request, saying the men did not so much object to taking the machine to fires as dragging it back when exhausted with work at a fire. Besides that No. 5 was stationed in a quarter of the city that no other engine could reach in time to save a building, and it was necessary that it should have means of getting to fires in its neighborhood in the quickest possible time.

Mr. W. E. Herrick supported the claim, urging that the firemen, working for no compensation, should have every facility for the performance of their services.

Mr. C. B. Wilson, Chief Engineer, stated that there was a standing authorization to foremen of companies to procure all necessary assistance, but it would be impossible with present means to keep horses for each engine.

This explanation satisfied Mr. Boyd and the matter dropped.

Foreman Boyd, seconded by Foreman Norton, of Hook & Ladder Co., moved that the Department hold its annual parade on February 12th.

Mr. Henry Smith, Secretary, thought they should stick to the established anniversary, Feb. 3rd. Mr. Herrick was of opinion that having the parade on the 3rd would involve an extra day of idleness on men belonging to the brigade, as the 12th being a national holiday, Accession Day, would interrupt their avocations anyway. He was a member of the Department ten years before it discovered its birthday, and he urged his objections when the anniversary was established, although it was his own birthday.

The motion passed and the meeting adjourned.

Week of Prayer.

The subject at the Friday morning meeting of the week of prayer will be "Prayer for Missions." The meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. hall at 11 o'clock, and conducted by Mr. F. Damon. Topics suggested by the Evangelical Alliance of the United States.—That the Church of Christ may recognize the glory of the commission to "preach the Gospel to every creature," and may feel it a privilege to make sacrifices that it may be fulfilled; that far greater zeal for the Divine glory, and far more pity for the perishing, may be imparted by the Holy Ghost to all the people of God; that faithful laborers may be greatly multiplied, and that all converts may be comforted, upheld, guided, and made useful; that the hearts of the unconverted may be opened to receive the truth; that Christian missionaries may be favorably received by heathen rulers and peoples, and that native Christians among the heathen may be kept steadfast and made zealous in seeking the salvation of their countrymen; that God's ancient people, Israel, may acknowledge Christ as the Messiah; that the time may soon come when, according to prophecy, the Spirit shall be "poured out like floods upon the dry ground," and "the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."—Acts ii. 20-41; Isa. xlv. 1-8; Matt. ix. 36-38; Rom. xi. 25-36; Isa. xxxv; Eccles. xi; Isa. xli. 1-17; Acts x. 34-48.

No paper has yet been so ungallant as to hint that the President's illness is due to a cursory glance he obtained at some of the bills incident to Mr. Cleveland's Christmas shopping.—St. Paul Globe.

Some of these day a newspaper man, used to putting two columns of copy into half a column of space, will get elected President and then the country will see a model message.—St. Paul Globe.

The Best Tonic.

Mr. Henry Billings, Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used your Dolly's Pure Malt Whisky for medicinal purposes. As a tonic I consider it superior to the hundreds of concoctions which are now flooding the land as stimulant liquors."

"As a true tonic, effective invigorator and genuine purifier, Dolly's Malt Whisky is unexcelled."

SUPREME COURT.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

The Court opened at 9 A. M. yesterday. Chief Justice Judd on the bench and Hawaiian jury present. The trial of Paulo for the murder of Koa at Hamakua on the 16th October was resumed. On motion of counsel for the defense pleading jurisdiction, the Court discharged the jury and ordered the defendant remanded to the next May Term of the Third Judicial Circuit. Attorney-General and F. M. Hatch for the Crown; J. T. Dare and J. M. Poepeo for the defense.

INTERMEDIARY DIVISION.

Thursday, Jan. 6th, before Judge Preston.

Ah Chew vs. Wong See, assumpsit. Heard, argued and submitted. Smith for plaintiff, Castle for defendant.

The King vs. Ah Toy, opium unlawfully in possession. Conviction of lower court confirmed—one month hard labor and $50 fine. Attorney-General for the Crown, Smith for defendant.

Kaioiwoa vs. Ah Fat, damage. Judgment of $1 rendered for plaintiff. Kaiwi for plaintiff, Castle for defendant.

EQUITY DIVISION.

Before Judge McCully. S. G. Wilder vs. Wm. G. and Helen Rowland. Heard and decision reserved. C. W. Ashford for plaintiff, F. M. Hatch for defendant.

In re-estate of P. Kanoa, deceased. His Honor the Chief Justice filed his decision yesterday, disallowing the item of $628 in the administrator's account disputed by the heir, that amount being paid for lumber and other building material for a house built on land belonging to decedent's widow. The Court ordered the amount to be charged to the representatives of the widow, she having since deceased. (W. A. Whiting for the administrator, L. A. Thurston for the heir contestant.)

Insurance Again.

To the Editor of the Herald: I read your interview with Mr. C. O. Berger and beg to reply to two of his remarks. 1st, he says, "the rates here are lower than the San Francisco rates."

Now, this may be true, but the risk is very much greater there than in this city. Buildings in San Francisco are from six to twelve stories high, while here the buildings are, except in a very few instances, only two stories high, and are therefore more accessible in case of fire. It would appear to most every man that each story adds to the risk of fire, and he says "the rates have not been raised; they have only been equalized." In the building occupied by C. Brewer & Co., which stands alone within 50 feet of the harbor, the rate was formerly 1 percent; now it is 1.30. The buildings of Mr. J. T. Waterhouse on Queen street have "iron shutters." The rate paid formerly by him was 1 percent; he now pays 1 1/4 percent. We formerly paid 3/4 percent insurance in the O. S. S. warehouse: the rate charged now is 1 percent. Allen & Robinson paid on their warehouse partly over the water, (wooden frame covered with corrugated iron) 1 percent; the rate now fixed is 3 percent per annum. A gentleman, who does not want his name mentioned, used to pay upon his dwelling house 2 percent for 3 years, but is now charged 2 percent per annum. I might go on and give a hundred instances where the rates have been advanced, but the foregoing seems to me sufficient to show that the rates have been increased. If "increased" is not the correct word to use, I must say that I don't understand English.

I admit I am at a loss to understand Mr. Berger and this reminds me of a transaction I had with him some years ago. I applied to him at his earnest solicitation for a Tontine policy for 10 years for $5,000 on my own life, and paid him the premium at the time the application was made. When the policy was received it was for $10,000 for 20 years. As an explanation I was informed that the company refused to take the risk on my life as I applied for, I of course declined to accept the policy and puzzled over the matter for a long time. The only solution I could make out was that the agents, commissions on the premium for a $10,000 policy for 20 years were nearly four times those on $5,000 for 10 years.

P. C. JONES.

Fair Notice.

If our reporter had known that a gravel walk was going to be made where people were forbidden to walk on the grass in the Government yard, he would have saved himself many a long tramp round. Hereafter he will break every tabu in the two codes which may interfere with his comfort—drive fast over bridges, disturb the quiet of the night whenever he feels like snoring, neglect to disconnect when done with the telephone, receive communications for the paper without the real names of the writers being appended, not for good faith but as an evidence of publicity, and be a common nuisance whenever he has advertising bills to collect.

Mr. Finger is a defeated candidate for the Legislature in Fort Worth, Texas. Scratching did it, says an exchange, and another asserts that Finger will probably be on hand at the next election.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Suspension of Proceedings.

Yesterday morning just after the opening of the Court, an important point was raised by Mr. John T. Dare, counsel appointed for the defense of Paulo, the alleged murderer, to the effect that the Court had no jurisdiction over the prisoner and that he was improperly indicted. It appeared by the commitment in the Hawaiian language of the District Justice of Hamakua, a translation of which was only furnished to Mr. Dare at that time, that the prisoner was committed by the district magistrate to be tried for manslaughter in the first degree, but was indicted for the crime of murder at the November term of the Third Judicial Circuit, from whence a change of venue to the Supreme Court was granted. The law on the matter having been referred to, the motion to discharge the jury was granted and the prisoner remanded for trial at the May term of the Third Judicial Circuit.

Spreckels' Savings Bank.

To the Editor of the Herald: Depositors in the Savings Bank of Spreckels & Co. have received a notice that the Government bonds, amounting to $200,000, placed in the Hawaiian Treasury to secure deposits had been withdrawn. Can you, without too much trouble, inform me whether the deposit of bonds was made under a provision of the Statutes of the Kingdom, and, if so, whether there has been any repeal of the Statute. A change of the conditions under which depositors placed money in the bank, of so grave a nature as the withdrawal of security for repayment, ought not to pass without public notice. It is only fair to say that the bank circular advises depositors that they are at liberty to withdraw deposits.

If, as may be the case, the deposit of Government bonds was made simply as an advertisement, not compulsory, individuals only are concerned and my communication is of no interest to the public as a whole.

THE CIRCULAR.

BANKING HOUSE CLAUS SPRECKELS & CO.
HONOLULU, Jan. 1st, 1887.

DEAR SIR: We beg to inform you that we have withdrawn from the Hawaiian Treasury the $200,000 of Government Bonds, alluded to on the second page of your Savings Deposit Book; and hereby notify you that if, on account of this change, you wish to withdraw your deposits from our Savings Bank, you are at liberty to do so, at any time, within sixty days from this date.

You, however, have option of letting your deposits remain bearing interest and subject to the rules and regulations already published.

CLAUS SPRECKELS & CO.

Honolulu Rifles.

The yearly election of officers of the Honolulu Rifles was held at their Armory last evening. The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: Captain, V. V. Ashford; 1st Lieut., H. F. Hebbard; 2nd Lieut., Wm. Unger; Recording Secretary, J. H. Reist; Financial Secretary, A. Robertson; Treasurer, E. F. Bishop. The following committees were then appointed: Finance, J. H. Reist, J. Gibson and J. W. Pratt. Armory, H. F. Hebbard, C. W. Ashford and G. C. Stratemeyer; Committee on arrangements, J. W. Pratt, W. Unger and J. Torbert. Recruiting Committee, Wm. Unger, J. Wood and J. A. McGrew.

The report of the Treasurer was then submitted to the meeting, and was accepted. The report showed that the amount due for the year past was $965.25, of which $362.75 had been collected. The amount of $379.00 was still due from delinquent members, and the balance on hand for the year amounted to $223.00, making the total amount of cash on hand $900.

Washed Ashore.

A telephone message was received at the Police Station between four and five o'clock yesterday afternoon, stating that the body of a white man had been washed ashore at Kaalawai, between Diamond and Coco Heads. The Marshal immediately dispatched 3 officers with a wagon to bring the body to town. They returned about midnight, leaving the body at Makiki in charge of two policemen. The body is that of an unknown and elderly man, with grayish hair and whiskers, dressed in pants and shirt, with sleeves rolled up, and is some days advanced in decomposition.

A procession of Catholics in the Irish town of Durgan recently was attacked by Orangemen. After a fight of several hours with sticks, stones and revolvers the disturbance was quelled by a troop of dragoons.

Police Court.

The Police Justice was occupied all day yesterday in hearing two cases. The first, a man named Hose, charged with larceny of a valise and clothing, was remanded for judgment until 1:30 P. M. to-day. The second case called was that of Manuel Perry, charged with larceny of liquors and money from the Royal Saloon on the morning of the 1st inst. Two witnesses, Mr. Freeth, of Freeth & Peacock, and Mr. Wolters, manager of the saloon, were examined for the prosecution. The case occupied the Court until 5 o'clock last evening, at which time it was continued until this morning. During the cross-examination of Mr. Wolters, the counsel on both sides of the case became slightly heated over some question of law. Mr. Wolters will take the stand at the re-opening of the case to-day. Marshal Kaulhoku prosecuted and Mr. Neumann defended the prisoner.

STAGE IMMORALITY.

EXTRACTS FROM A MAGAZINE ARTICLE BY FANNY DAVENPORT.

The Conscientious Actress Has No Time, She Says, for Silly Nothings, Disparagement or Nonsense—Advice to the Public—Rachel's Letter.

All arts, all professions are more generously treated (perhaps I should say more leniently) than the stage. Its detractors are legion. Few seem to have thought for themselves upon the subject; all appear cramped and enveloped in the opinions of others. Daily we hear the question, "Is the stage immoral?" and upon this subject have I been tempted to fly to the ink bottle and put upon paper my humble opinions. Is the stage immoral? Not are these upon the stage immoral? Some are, perhaps, as in every other calling or art under the sun; but are all to be condemned for the sins of the few? That the stage breeds immorality I most emphatically deny. That a vicious person will develop vice as quickly in other professions I am not prepared to say, but that there is less real immorality upon the stage than in many other callings I have no hesitation in saying.

Certain it is that if an actress works conscientiously during the time she is in the theatre she has no time either for silly nothings, disparagement or nonsense. No one who has won name and fame honestly and possesses talent could retain either if her nights were passed in dissipation and her days in bed. We have living instances of the youth and enduring talent in good, pure lives before us to-day. People say: "How wonderfully young she looks for her years!" "Isn't she a marvel?" "Why, she is not a day over 20!" When you hear these remarks, believe me, they imply true praise, and bespeak a pure, good life.

I believe that why the stage is called immoral is because those that call it so are ignorant of it. If the foundation, progression and gradual development of the stage and drama were taught in our schools, as other branches of history are taught—touching all the good that has been in it—to the pupils, and showing how its light has been a steady one, shining forth through all these years, enlightening, amusing and cultivating—if this were done time would soon effect bigotry, and the habit of condemnation would grow less and less, and the stage would be judged as other arts and callings are judged.

ADVICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Let the drama second the efforts of the pulpit, and it will be found an active and powerful ally in the cause of virtue. It is the public who can do this. Let those who are all-powerful, recent vice and drive it from the stage. As in your churches you would not entertain guilt, so in the theatre condemn it, not by slander and talk, but by acts, which ever speak the loudest. That the stage has defects, crying ones, I frankly admit; but they are not irreparable; they disgrace, but cannot destroy the trunk.

How few to-day know of Rachel save as the great actress! All think her to have been selfish, miserly, and immoral! Selfish! Listen to the last few lines of a letter written by her, and now before me. "Unfortunate man! He leaves four children, and had the courage or the cowardice to die. Find out where the children are. I wish to send them 500 francs, the products of last night's performance. I feel sad and depressed over it all." Again when she felt that all hope was over, she says at the end of almost her last letter: "But no, I will find my two guardian angels, my blessed sons. I hear their dear voices calling me. I have been too long away from their kisses, their love. I do not regret the money lost, the fatigue I have undergone; I have carried my name as far as I could, and I bring my heart to these I love dearly." She, said of the stage: "My calculations did not succeed in making me immoral. God loved me, since He gave me children. The justice of God is greater toward weak mortals than the justice of men. I do not fear Him!" Again: "God protects the brave, and He seems to have created for me expressly a little corner named on any map, where I can forget troubles and fatigue—my home in my children's hearts." These letters show us the woman, loving and true.

There is as much, if not more, real honor, purity, domestic happiness, and charity in the dramatic profession than even its best friends in their most generous moments give it credit for. Were the good in it cited oftener, the little bad would sink into oblivion. Believe me, no living soul is as bad as it is reported, and when an unjust, cruel thing is said of an artist, let us not repeat it, but remember that the penalty of a public life is to be traduced. Let us seek for some good thing the person has done or said, and by ventilating that, the memory of the blow will be forgotten, leaving not the faintest bruise behind it.—Fanny Davenport, in Brooklyn Magazine.

Civil Service Examinations Made Easy. "Civil service examinations, ten cents, book stores," were the words in flaming letters painted on white oil cloth and swung over an antiquated colored man's back who paraded the sidewalks throughout the city. The reappearance of the civil service examination sign was somewhat of a surprise, however, as it was supposed that that scheme had failed.

"You must not think for a moment that our officers to applicants under the civil service examination are a failure," said the professor, when questioned on the subject. The book stores sell more of my books than ever before, and I give many men and women instructions. I have twenty persons in the course of teaching now. A great many men are appointed to the higher positions nowadays after special examinations by the commissioners. They are generally not well educated, and could not get through without such assistance as I give them. I know the general style and kind of the questions, and do much for them in an afternoon or night.—Baltimore American.

Five Thousand Mistakes in Webster. "Is incident, may not be generally known to our readers, and we venture to reprint it. When the unabridged edition of Webster's Dictionary first appeared (without a definition of the word "unabridged"), that great scholar, Caleb Cushing, wrote a criticism on the stupendous work, saying that, for its size, it had as few errors as could be expected. This puzzled the editors, who asked an explanation of Mr. Cushing's information on the subject of those errors. In reply Mr. Cushing marked 5,000 mistakes in the volume which had been presented to him and sent it back.—Boston Gazette.

A Train for Drummers. The latest railroad novelty is a Canadian Pacific "commercial train," in which "half-car spaces are sold to drummers, who may spread out their wares there. The train will be side-tracked at all places along the line, and a store will be opened."—The Argonaut.

Consumption of Pretzels. It is estimated that 200,000 pretzels are devoured in this city daily, or 730,000,000 a year, costing the saloons and stands over $160,000 and the public twice that sum.—New York Tribune.

THE DAILY HERALD.

A PUBLIC ANALYST.

Hawaii stands in need of so many institutions that have become indispensable to civilization in other countries, yet is living in such a hand to mouth fashion in respect to even the bare necessities of civilized existence, that it seems a hopeless, if not a thankless task to suggest anything new. Still there is one consolatory aspect in the situation which must appear to the view of the public journalist, and that is that a good time may be coming when this Kingdom may be less impecunious in respect to providing for necessities and not so lavish in procuring show and luxury. In that period hoped for, those things that have been made conspicuous in the times preceding as national wants will stand the best chance of early adoption. This thought is reassuring to the advocate of improvements now lacking.

Without fear of having its types thrown into the bay by an angry mob, the HERALD would suggest the necessity of adding a very useful official to the grand army of office-holders, the usefulness of many of whom is in inverse ratio to the august magnitude of their titles and the sublime height of their rank. The suggested official is a public analyst, whose report on the food and drink supplies of the people, based on samples procured at random or on certified submission, should be one of the most important documents laid before the Legislature. This official might be attached to the Board of Health and might have useful occupation in its service outside of his analytical operations. It is well known that these Islands are made a dumping ground for a good deal of trash of various sorts, but peculiarly deleterious commodities in the shape of food and drink. Representatives of an unscrupulous class, the pests of other countries, have also found their way here, plying nefarious industry and traffic in furnishing spurious and poisonous compounds under names of innocent articles of dietary. We have recently been shown the receipts for popular drinks that once had a brisk run here, showing that, instead of the wholesome articles the products purported to be, they were the most villainous combination of extracts and poisons. A short time ago it was reported that agents were on the ground trying to sell the formula for bogus milk, and possibly some of the poorer classes of residents are now being starved or sickened to their death from the mixture. Then there is no doubt that much of the solid food supplies put on the market here are unfit for human food—it is needless to suggest particulars of which to a community in possession of eyes, noses and palates. With a public analyst and a vigilant Board of Health staff to procure him material, the community might be saved untold imposition in the form of spurious and unwholesome victuals.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

If one or two of our enterprising carriage companies would keep a hack on call at any hour of the night, and make the fact generally known, they might find it paid better than some of the day carriages, especially as the rates are double between eleven at night and five in the morning. Often people with very honest business wait a carriage late at night but cannot get one.

Since receiving the communication published in another column, we have not had time to make enquiries regarding the $200,000 Government bonds deposited in the Hawaiian treasury as security to depositors in Spreckels' Savings Bank. There was, however, no special legislation for that bank, and our impression is that the security was given voluntarily, and that it was advertised as an inducement to depositors. In that case, as our correspondent suggests, the withdrawal of the bonds is a matter that wholly concerns those depositing money in the bank. Still there is no doubt that there should be a law requiring savings banks to give security to their depositors.

LOCAL NEWS.

Sailors' Home Society meets at ten this morning.

The steamer Surprise is expected this morning with a full cargo of sugar.

Two marriages will be solemnized on Wednesday evening next—so says report.

"A Scrap of Paper" will not be given at the Opera House until Monday evening.

Very little has been done in the line of discharging vessels since the heavy rains set in.

The hackmen about town have done a good business during the last few days, all on account of the rains.

Mr. C. J. Fishel gave a New Year's present of forty trimmed hats to the female inmates of the Kakaako leper hospital.

The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society will meet at the residence of Mrs. E. C. Damon on Saturday evening at half-past seven.

Last evening Hon. Paul Neumann and wife entertained at their residence, Capt. Goni and officers of the Chilean training ship Pilcomayo.

The steamer W. G. Hall was lowered from the Marine Railway yesterday afternoon, and will sail on her regular route this morning.

The British steamship Explorer was hauled onto the Marine Railway yesterday, where she will receive a general overhauling.

Several complaints have lately been made of the prisoner who is supposed to supply the vessels in port with water, saying that he is never to be found when wanted.

Workmen were engaged yesterday fitting up rooms for Judges Bickerton and Foran in the apartment just vacated by the Marshal in the Government building.

The late W. G. King was buried at the Makiki cemetery Wednesday afternoon, Rev. E. C. Ogden conducting the services and the United Carriage Company bearing all the expenses.

On the suspension of the murder trial yesterday morning, the Supreme Court adjourned till one o'clock, there being no other business ready. At that hour, there being still nothing before the Court, it adjourned for the day.

Engine Co. No. 2, at its meeting Wednesday night, decided to place the $100 received from the present of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. in the Department's sick fund. Nominations for officers to be elected at next meeting were made. Mr. Henry Smith, treasurer, was authorized to put $100 of the company's funds out at interest on mortgage.

The Bulletin announces that Miss Maud Wodehouse, eldest daughter of Major J. M. Wodehouse, British Commissioner, will leave for Chili, by the steamship Mariposa for San Francisco on the 14th. Her mission to Chili is to be married to Mr. Lambert, owner of a large stock ranch in that country, who secured the promise of Miss Wodehouse's hand while visiting Honolulu in the yacht Wanderer five years ago. She will be accompanied by her brother Guy Wodehouse.

THE FLOODS.

Great Freshet at Kalihi—The Official Interpreter Has an Adventure—Stores and Plantations Deluged—Telephone Wires Down.

Last evening the HERALD office was notified of a carriage being wrecked in a flood over the road at Kalihi, and Mr. W. Luther Wilcox was mixed up in the news so as to give the impression that his extensive taro plantation was being devastated. Our reporter at once engaged one of the Hawaiian Hotel carriages and was soon speeding up the Ewa road. Rain was beating on the carriage roof and brilliant lightning flashed up ahead over the Ewa hills. So heavy had the downpour been nearly all the previous day and night, however, the road was for the most part washed of its deep mire and the back went along gaily.

Reaching Nuhelewai bridge, above the Reformatory School, Palama, the rice and taro patches on both hands were seen to be transformed into lakes. The water was up to the bridge parapets, and a carriage length beyond the structure was rushing in a wide torrent several inches deep over the road. Fortunately there is no rice planted for the coming year in the extensive plantations at that point, or they might have more irrigation than would be for the advantage of the crop.

On approaching the What Cheer House a scene of unusual excitement came in view on the road crossing the gulch just this side of that old wayside hostelry. There was a roar of rushing waters, mingled with the voices of many people. Lanterns flashed here and there, the road for a hundred yards ahead was one rushing sea, and two or three score of men, women and youth, up to their thighs in water, surrounded some object in the road, and were apparently exerting themselves in some common and very earnest purpose. All this was visible in the moonlight several rods away, but grew with the approach. Now our carriage was up to the hubs in the flood and the crowd of workers began shouting and gesticulating to the driver. They were only telling him to keep in the middle of the road, as there was a bank at the side, indicated only by the roll of waters into the low land beyond. He was driving through the crowd, having been engaged to go to Mr. Wilcox's place, when he described that gentleman himself directing the workers.

Mr. Wilcox came into the carriage and related particulars of an exciting adventure in which he had just figured. When ready to leave town last evening, after completing his day's service at the Supreme Court, it was raining hard, and he sent his son ahead in his brake, while he engaged a carriage of the Hawaiian Stables, Lele, to take his wife and himself home. When they reached the gulch at Kalihi, mauka of Mr. Hough-tailing's place, the road was overflowed. Still the carriage proceeded until the water came over the dashboard. Just then the fence on the right hand side of the road came away with a crash, the horse began to flounder and the carriage to go over. Mr. Wilcox sprang out and called on his wife to follow him, and as she did both were in water to their armpits. He got Mrs. Wilcox safely to the high ground at the What Cheer House and then returned to help the hackman. The horse had broken partly clear and was struggling in the flood with only its head above water. With much difficulty the people of the neighborhood, who flocked to the assistance of the derelict conveyance, rescued the animal from drowning.

The catastrophe was seen coming by Mr. Wilcox in the shape of a regular wall of water, with a jagged crest like a breaker on the reef, rolling swiftly down the gulch. Young Wilcox in a brake had passed the point in safety not more than two or three minutes before. When our reporter was at the spot about nine o'clock, the water had subsided several feet. The volume of the great rush may be imagined when the fact is stated that the three lower boards of the fence were carried away at a point fifty yards from the middle of the stream. There was such a stream rushing down the lane running seaward from opposite the What Cheer House that a guiding rope had to be stretched across the road to enable the people to get over in safety. The water was waist deep in the Chinese stores and houses on the lower side of the road. Chinamen's patches of cane, bananas and market vegetables were subject to the flood and must be heavily damaged. Two or three of the Bell Telephone Company's poles were thrown down. The Hawaiian Stables carriage was completely wrecked, both shafts being broken and the front part all smashed. There is a small culvert over the gulch, altogether insufficient to carry off the water in even an ordinary freshet. Against such a flood as that of last night scarcely any bridge that could be built there would avail anything.

A London lady died lately, leaving £10,000 to the Dogs' Home at Battersea, while to her executor, a poor clergyman with a large family, was left £100 as a legacy.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Meeting of the Board of Representatives.

Last evening the Board of Representatives of the Honolulu Fire Department held its monthly meeting at the Central Station. There were thirteen members present. Three bills were ordered paid. China Engine Co. No. 5 communicated the result of its election of officers held last month.

The Jubilee Committee made its final report. Receipts were $400 from the Jubilee general committee and $183.96 from the funds of the Department, making $583.96. Disbursements were $50 to each of the six adult companies, $25 to the Volunteer hose boys of No. 2, $55 for horses, $100 for illumination and $103.96 for sundries, balancing the receipts.

Engine Co. No. 2's donation of $100, its proportion of the Inter-Island S. N. Co.'s gift, to the sick fund of the Department was accepted, and the thanks of the Department ordered to be conveyed to the Company.

John Reese, watchman at the Bell Tower, was granted $7.50 relief for medical attendance.

Foreman J. H. Boyd, of Co. No. 4, made an application for means to provide horses for hauling that company's engine to and from fires. He made a strong speech in favor of his request, saying the men did not so much object to taking the machine to fires as dragging it back when exhausted with work at a fire. Besides that No. 5 was stationed in a quarter of the city that no other engine could reach in time to save a building, and it was necessary that it should have means of getting to fires in its neighborhood in the quickest possible time.

Mr. W. E. Herrick supported the claim, urging that the firemen, working for no compensation, should have every facility for the performance of their services.

Mr. C. B. Wilson, Chief Engineer, stated that there was a standing authorization to foremen of companies to procure all necessary assistance, but it would be impossible with present means to keep horses for each engine.

This explanation satisfied Mr. Boyd and the matter dropped.

Foreman Norton, of Hook & Ladder Co., moved that the Department hold its annual parade on February 12th.

Mr. Henry Smith, Secretary, thought they should stick to the established anniversary, Feb. 3rd.

Mr. Herrick was of opinion that having the parade on the 3rd would involve an extra day of idleness on men belonging to the brigade, as the 12th being a national holiday, Accession Day, would interrupt their avocations anyway. He was a member of the Department ten years before it discovered its birthday, and he urged his objections when the anniversary was established, although it was his own birthday.

The motion passed and the meeting adjourned.

Week of Prayer.

The subject at the Friday morning meeting of the week of prayer will be "Prayer for Missions." The meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. hall at 11 o'clock, and conducted by Mr. F. Damon. Topics suggested by the Evangelical Alliance of the United States.—That the Church of Christ may recognize the glory of the commission to "preach the Gospel to every creature," and may feel it a privilege to make sacrifices that it may be fulfilled; that far greater zeal for the Divine glory, and far more pity for the perishing, may be imparted by the Holy Ghost to all the people of God; that faithful laborers may be greatly multiplied, and that all converts may be comforted, upheld, guided, and made useful; that the hearts of the unconverted may be opened to receive the truth; that Christian missionaries may be favorably received by heathen rulers and peoples, and that native Christians among the heathen may be kept steadfast and made zealous in seeking the salvation of their countrymen; that God's ancient people, Israel, may acknowledge Christ as the Messiah; that the time may soon come when, according to prophecy, the Spirit shall be "poured out like floods upon the dry ground," and "the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."—Acts ii. 20-41; Isa. xlv. 1-8; Matt. ix. 36-38; Rom. xi. 25-36; Isa. xxxv; Eccles. xi; Isa. xlii. 1-17; Acts x. 34-48.

No paper has yet been so ungallant as to hint that the President's illness is due to a cursory glance he obtained at some of the bills incident to Mr. Cleveland's Christmas shopping.—St. Paul Globe.

Some of these day a newspaper man, used to putting two columns of copy into half a column of space, will get elected President and then the country will see a model message.—St. Paul Globe.

The Best Tonic.

Mr. Henry Billings, Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used your Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky for medicinal purposes. As a tonic I consider it superior to the hundreds of concoctions which are now flooding the land as stimulant liquors."

"As a true tonic, effective invigorator and genuine purifier, Duffy's Malt Whisky is unexcelled."

SUPREME COURT.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

The Court opened at 9 A. M. yesterday. Chief Justice Judd on the bench and Hawaiian jury present. The trial of Paulo for the murder of Koa at Hamakua on the 16th October was resumed. On motion of counsel for the defense pleading jurisdiction, the Court discharged the jury and ordered the defendant remanded to the next May Term of the Third Judicial Circuit. Attorney-General and F. M. Hatch for the Crown; J. T. Dare and J. M. Poepe for the defense.

INTERMEDIARY DIVISION.

Thursday, Jan. 6th, before Judge Preston.

Ah Chew vs. Wong See, assumpsit. Heard, argued and submitted. Smith for plaintiff, Castle for defendant.

The King vs. Ah Toy, opium unlawfully in possession. Conviction of lower court confirmed—one month hard labor and $50 fine. Attorney-General for the Crown, Smith for defendant.

Kaowiloo vs. Ah Fat, damage. Judgment of $1 rendered for plaintiff. Kaui for plaintiff, Castle for defendant.

EQUITY DIVISION.

Before Judge McCully. S. G. Wilder vs. Wm. G. and Helen Rowland. Heard and decision reserved. C. W. Ashford for plaintiff, F. M. Hatch for defendant.

In re estate of P. Kanoa, deceased, His Honor the Chief Justice filed his decision yesterday, disallowing the item of $628 in the administrator's account disputed by the heir, that amount being paid for lumber and other building material for a house built on land belonging to decedent's widow. The Court ordered the amount to be charged to the representatives of the widow, she having since deceased. W. A. Whiting for the administrator, L. A. Thurston for the heir contestant.

Insurance Again.

To the Editor of the Herald: I read your interview with Mr. C. O. Berger and beg to reply to two of his remarks. 1st, he says, "the rates here are lower than the San Francisco rates." Now, this may be true, but the risk is very much greater there than in this city. Buildings in San Francisco are from six to twelve stories high, while here the buildings are, except in a very few instances, only two stories high, and are therefore more accessible in case of fire. It would appear to most every man that each story adds to the risk of fire. 2nd, he says "the rates have not been raised; they have only been equalized." In the building occupied by C. Brewer & Co., which stands alone within 50 feet of the harbor, the rate was formerly 1 percent; now it is 1.30. The buildings of Mr. J. T. Waterhouse on Queen street have "iron shutters." The rate paid formerly by him was 1 percent; he now pays 1 1/4 percent. We formerly paid 3/4 percent insurance in the O. S. S. warehouse: the rate charged now is 1 percent. Allen & Robinson paid on their warehouse partly over the water, (wooden frame covered with corrugated iron) 1 percent; the rate now fixed is 3 percent per annum. A gentleman, who does not want his name mentioned, used to pay upon his dwelling house 2 percent for 3 years, but is now charged 2 percent per annum. I might go on and give a hundred instances where the rates have been advanced, but the foregoing seems to me sufficient to show that the rates have been increased. If "increased" is not the correct word to use, I must say that I don't understand English.

I admit I am at a loss to understand Mr. Berger and this reminds me of a transaction I had with him some years ago. I applied to him at his earnest solicitation for a Tontine policy for 10 years for $5,000 on my own life, and paid him the premium at the time the application was made. When the policy was received it was for $10,000 for 20 years. As an explanation I was informed that the company refused to take the risk on my life as I applied for. I of course declined to accept the policy and puzzled over the matter for a long time. The only solution I could make out was that the agents, commissions on the premium for a $10,000 policy for 20 years were nearly four times those on $5,000 for 10 years.

Fair Notice.

If our reporter had known that a gravel walk was going to be made where people were forbidden to walk on the grass in the Government yard, he would have saved himself many a long tramp round. Hereafter he will break every tabu in the two codes which may interfere with his comfort—drive fast over bridges, disturb the quiet of the night whenever he feels like snoring, neglect to disconnect when done with the telephone, receive communications for the paper without the real names of the writers being appended, not for good faith but as an evidence of publicity, and be a common nuisance whenever he has advertising bills to collect.

Mr. Finger is a defeated candidate for the Legislature in Fort Worth, Texas. Scratching did it, says an exchange, and another asserts that Finger will probably be on hand at the next election.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Suspension of Proceedings.

Yesterday morning just after the opening of the Court, an important point was raised by Mr. John T. Dare, counsel appointed for the defense of Paulo, the alleged murderer, to the effect that the Court had no jurisdiction over the prisoner and that he was improperly indicted. It appeared by the commitment in the Hawaiian language of the District Justice of Hamakua, a translation of which was only furnished to Mr. Dare at that time, that the prisoner was committed by the district magistrate to be tried for manslaughter in the first degree, but was indicted for the crime of murder at the November term of the Third Judicial Circuit, from whence a change of venue to the Supreme Court was granted. The law on the matter having been referred to, the motion to discharge the jury was granted and the prisoner remanded for trial at the May term of the Third Judicial Circuit.

Spreckels' Savings Bank.

To the Editor of the Herald: Depositors in the Savings Bank of Spreckels & Co. have received a notice that the Government bonds, amounting to $200,000, placed in the Hawaiian Treasury to secure deposits had been withdrawn. Can you, without too much trouble, inform me whether the deposit of bonds was made under a provision of the Statutes of the Kingdom, and if so, whether there has been any repeal of the Statute. A change of the conditions under which depositors placed money in the bank, of so grave a nature as the withdrawal of security for repayment, ought not to pass without public notice. It is only fair to say that the bank circular advises depositors that they are at liberty to withdraw deposits.

If, as may be the case, the deposit of Government bonds was made simply as an advertisement, not compulsory, individuals only are concerned and my communication is of no interest to the public as a whole. INVESTOR.

THE CIRCULAR.

BANKING HOUSE CLAUS SPRECKELS & CO.

HONOLULU, Jan. 1st, 1887.

Mr. —, Deposit Book No. —.

DEAR SIR: We beg to inform you that we have withdrawn from the Hawaiian Treasury the $200,000 of Government Bonds, alluded to on the second page of your Savings Deposit Book; and hereby notify you that if, on account of this change, you wish to withdraw your deposits from our Savings Bank, you are at liberty to do so, at any time, within sixty days from this date.

You, however, have option of letting your deposits remain bearing interest and subject to the rules and regulations already published.

CLAUS SPRECKELS & CO.

Honolulu Rifles.

The yearly election of officers of the Honolulu Rifles was held at their Armory last evening. The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: Captain, V. V. Ashford; 1st Lieut., H. F. Hebbard; 2nd Lieut., Wm. Unger; Recording Secretary, J. H. Reist; Financial Secretary, A. Robertson; Treasurer, E. F. Bishop. The following committees were then appointed: Finance, J. H. Reist, J. Gibson and J. W. Pratt. Armory, H. F. Hebbard, C. W. Ashford and G. C. Stratemeyer; Committee on arrangements, J. W. Pratt, W. Unger and J. Torbert. Recruiting Committee, Wm. Unger, J. Wood and J. A. McGrew.

The report of the Treasurer was then submitted to the meeting, and was accepted. The report showed that the amount due for the year past was $965.25, of which $362.75 had been collected. The amount of $379.00 was still due from delinquent members, and the balance on hand for the year amounted to $223.00, making the total amount of cash on hand $900.

Washed Ashore.

A telephone message was received at the Police Station between four and five o'clock yesterday afternoon, stating that the body of a white man had been washed ashore at Kaalawai, between Diamond and Coco Heads. The Marshal immediately dispatched 3 officers with a wagon to bring the body to town. They returned about midnight, leaving the body at Makiki in charge of two policemen. The body is that of an unknown and elderly man, with grayish hair and whiskers, dressed in pants and shirt, with sleeves rolled up, and is some days advanced in decomposition.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

The editor of Murray's Magazine is to be Edward A. Arnold.

The Sultan of Turkey is said to be in constant dread of assassination.

There's not a jollier diner-out in Germany, they say, than that same grim-visaged Bismarck.

Police Court.

The Police Justice was occupied all day yesterday in hearing two cases. The first, a man named Hose, charged with larceny of a valise and clothing, was remanded for judgment until 1:30 p. m. to-day. The second case called was that of Manuel Perry, charged with larceny of liquors and money from the Royal Saloon on the morning of the 1st inst. Two witnesses, Mr. Freeth, of Freeth & Peacock, and Mr. Wolters, manager of the saloon, were examined for the prosecution. The case occupied the Court until 5 o'clock last evening, at which time it was continued until this morning. During the cross-examination of Mr. Wolters, the counsel on both sides of the case became slightly heated over some question of law. Mr. Wolters will take the stand at the re-opening of the case to-day. Marshal Kaulikou prosecuted and Mr. Neumann defended the prisoner.

The Czar has conferred the Cross of St. George, with his thanks, on the cavass of the Russian Consulate at Philippopolis who was picked up drunk in the street, and who threatened with a revolver the policemen arresting him.

STAGE IMMORALITY.
EXTRACTS FROM A MAGAZINE ARTICLE BY FANNY DAVENPORT.

The Conscientious Actress Has No Time, She Says, for Silly Nothings, Disparagement or Nonsense—Advice to the Public—Rachel's Letter.

All arts, all professions are more generously treated (perhaps I should say have been) than the stage. Its detractors are legion. Few seem to have thought for themselves upon the subject; all appear cramped and enveloped in the opinions of others. Daily we hear the question, "Is the stage immoral?" and upon this subject have I been tempted to fly to the ink bottle and put upon paper my humble opinions. Is the stage immoral? No! Are those upon the stage immoral? Some are, perhaps, as in every other calling or art under the sun, but are all to be condemned for the sins of the few? That the stage breeds immorality I most emphatically deny. That a vicious person will develop vice as quickly in other professions I am not prepared to say, but that there is less real immorality upon the stage than in many other callings I have no hesitation in saying.

Certain it is that if an actress works conscientiously during the time she is in the theatre she has no time either for silly nothings, disparagement or nonsense. No one who has won name and fame honestly and possesses talent could retain either if her nights were passed in dissipation and her days in bed. We have living instances of the youth and enduring talent in good, pure lives before us to-day. People say: "How wonderfully young she looks for her years!" "Isn't she a marvel?" "Why, she is not a day over 20!" When you hear these remarks, believe me, they imply true praise, and bespeak a pure, good life.

I believe that why the stage is called immoral is because those that call it so are ignorant of it. If the foundation, progression and gradual development of the stage and drama were taught in our schools, as other branches of history are taught—teaching all the good that has been in it—to the pupils, and showing how its light has been a steady one, shining forth through all these years, enlightening, amusing and cultivating—if this were done time would soon efface bigotry, and the habit of condemnation would grow less and less, and the stage would be judged as other arts and callings are judged.

ADVICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Let the drama second the efforts of the pulpit, and it will be found an active and powerful ally in the cause of virtue.

It is the public who can do this. Let those who are all-powerful, recent vice and drive it from the stage. As in your churches you would not entertain, guilt, so in the theatre condemn it, not by slander and talk, but by acts, which ever speak the loudest. That the stage has defects, crying ones, I frankly admit; but they are not irreparable; they disgrace, but cannot destroy the trunk.

How few to-day know of Rachel save as the great actress! All think her to have been selfish, miserly, and immoral! Selfish! Listen to the last few lines of a letter written by her, and now before me. "Unfortunate man! He leaves four children, and had the courage or the cowardice to die. Find out where the children are. I wish to send them 500 francs, the products of last night's performance. I feel sad and depressed over it all." Again when she felt that all hope was over, she says at the end of almost her last letter: "But no, I will find my two guardian angels, my blessed sons. I hear their voices calling me. I have been too long away from their carresses, their kisses, their love. I do not regret the money lost, the fatigue I have undergone; I have carried my name as far as I could, and I bring my heart to this I love dearly." She said of the stage: "My calumniators did not succeed in making me immoral. God loved me, since He gave me children. The justice of God is greater toward weak mortals than the justice of men. I do not fear Him!" Again: "God protects the brave, and He seems to have created for me expressly a little corner unnamed on any map, where I can forget troubles and fatigues—my home in my children's hearts." These letters show us the woman, loving and true.

There is as much, if not more, real honor, purity, domestic happiness, and charity in the dramatic profession than in any other. Friends in their most generous moments give it credit for. Were the good in it cited oftener, the little bad would soon sink into oblivion. Believe me, no living soul is as bad as it is reported, and when an unjust, cruel thing is said of an artist, let us not repeat it, but remember that the penalty of a public life is to be traduced. Let us seek for some good thing the person has done or said, and by ventilating that, the memory of the blow will be forgotten, leaving not the faintest bruise behind it.—Fanny Davenport, in Brooklyn Magazine.

Civil Service Examinations Made Easy. "Civil service examinations, ten cents, book stores," were the words in flaming letters printed on white oil cloth and swung over an antiquated colored man's back who paraded the sidewalks throughout the city. The reappearance of the civil service examination sign was somewhat of a surprise, however, as it was supposed that that scheme had failed.

"You must not think for a moment that our pointers to applicants under the civil service commission are a failure," said the professor, when questioned on the subject. The book stores sell more of my books than ever before, and I give many men and women instructions. I have twenty persons in the course of teaching now. A great many men are appointed to the higher positions nowadays after special commissions by the commissioners. They are generally not well educated, but could not get through without such assistance as I give them. I know the general style and content of the questions, and do much for them in an afternoon or night.—Baltimore American.

Five Thousand Mistakes in Webster. "Is incident may not be generally known to our readers, and we venture to reprint it. When the unabridged edition of Webster's Dictionary first appeared (without a definition of the word "unabridged"), that great scholar, Caleb Cushing, wrote a criticism on the stupendous work, saying that, for its size, it had as few errors as could be expected. This puzzled the editors, who asked an explanation of Mr. Cushing's information on the subject of those errors. In reply Mr. Cushing marked 5,000 mistakes in the volume which had been presented to him and sent it back.—Boston Gazette.

A Train for Drummers. The latest railroad novelty is a Canadian Pacific "commercial train," in which "half-car spaces are sold to drummers, who may spread out their wares there. The train will be side-tracked at all places along the line, and a store will be opened."—The Argonaut.

Consumption of Pretzels. It is estimated that 200,000 pretzels are devoured in this city daily, or 730,000,000 a year, costing the saloons and stands over $100,000 and the public twice that sum.—New York Tribune.
