PILIKIA IN SUGAR.

"It never rains but it pours" in this climate. And there is some reason to think that the adage may be quoted commercially as well as meteorologically to the Hawaiian staple industry. The rains of adversity have fallen during the past few years on the sugar trade so thick and fast as almost to offset the benefit of the natural liquid element upon the cane fields. Hawaiian sugar has had beet sugar in Europe and America, together with cheap labor in Manila, the West Indies and the Southern States to contend against, and now it appears that our planters are to be called on to fight the coal mines which, so far as geologists have been able to decide, are practically inexhaustible.

A chemist in the February number of Chambers' Journal tells us that saccharine extracted from coal tar out-sugars cane sugar both in the cheapness with which it can be produced and in its superior qualities as a sweetening agent. It is described as a white crystalline powder, easily soluble in warm water, and possessing two hundred and thirty times the sweetening power of the best cane or beetroot sugar. One part of it in ten thousand parts of water gives it a perceptibly sweet taste. The substance is chemically named dextro-saccharine. Adding one part of this saccharine to from 1,000 to 2,000 parts glucose, the product is said to be scarcely distinguishable from ordinary sugar. The bitterest quinine solution or acid drink is rendered so sweet by a small quantity of it that not the least trace of bitterness or acidity is left. In small quantities it has no injurious effects upon the human system, and it may be used with impunity by persons suffering from maladies which are injuriously affected by other sugars. It is prepared from a constituent of coal-tar called toluene. The toluene is put through a series of chemical processes, in which it is operated on by sulphuric acid, chalk, filtration, carbonate of soda, phosphoric pentachloride, solid ammonium carbonate, permanganate of potash and dilute mineral acids, a formidable array of big-named preparations, after going through which something wonderful ought to result.

The discoverer of this strange product was Dr. Constantine Fahlberg, and the discovery was accidental. The doctor had been experimenting upon compound radicals and substitution products of coal tar, and coming to the supper table in haste without washing his hands, he caught the first taste from a goblet he had handled, and describes it as one of unspeakable sweetness. It appears that he lost his supper by the excitement into which he was thrown, for he reached back to the laboratory and tasted so many of the decoctions with which he had been working that he afterwards was thankful that none of them happened to be poisonous.

Should the manufacture of saccharine be developed into a permanent industry, it may become a dangerous rival to the cane raising business, as coal tar is produced in immense quantities in gas works. It has in fact been a nuisance in those establishments, and various experiments have been suggested and tried to enable manufacturers to get the gas out of coal without having so much of the tar to make room for and to get out of their way. There is at least this consolation in the prospect: electricity and cheap kerosene are threatening in many places the annihilation of the gas works.

We regret to hear that Dr. Brodie was very ill yesterday.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An Eastern paper of March 1st has the following in its telegraphic news:—Professor Curtis, a prominent microscopist, gives it as his opinion that the pellets of ashes and mud which fell over the section of country round Cincinnati, last week, emanated from the Mauna Loa volcano on the Sandwich Islands, which is now in a state of eruption.

The professor is probably mistaken. At that time the eruption was too far past for any of its ejecta, in such coarse form as that stated, to be in the air. Besides, the prevailing winds would scarcely have carried the material to America.

FOREIGN NEWS.

EUROPE.

Miscellaneous.

At an enthusiastic meeting, the annual one, of the Royal Thames Yacht Club, at which the Prince of Wales presided, the Secretary announced that the money had all been subscribed for the 1,000 guinea prize in the Jubilee yacht race. This race will start on the 14th June, the course being northward up the east coast of England, around Scotland and Ireland to Dover. The Prince of Wales promised to act as starter, and to enter his own schooner as a competitor.

Pacific Coast.

An official statement on behalf of the city of Los Angeles says that since the first appearance of the small-pox there, out of a total population of 95,000, including both city and county, there have been but forty-one cases, and only four deaths. The health authorities, both State and local, apprehend no epidemic.

A site for a sugar refinery has been selected at San Diego.

The Pacific railroads are reported to be much alarmed over the report that Barclay Henley may receive an appointment on the Investigating Committee provided by Congress.

UNITED STATES.

Death of Henry Ward Beecher.

Henry Ward Beecher died at New York March 8th, at 9:45 a.m. Most of the members of his family were present. Instead of crape, a gorgeous wreath of flowers tied with a white ribbon was fastened to the door of the house, in accordance with the ideas often expressed by the famous preacher.

Various Items.

A discovery has been made that heavy shipments of opium have been smuggled through Detroit, labelled "glassware," "drugs," and "Chinese curios."

The strike of switchmen on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railroad is becoming serious, and trouble all along the line is feared.

The trans-Atlantic race between the yachts Coronet and Dauntless started from New York for Cork harbor, Ireland, on March 12th. From Sandy Hook the Coronet was reported leading by a quarter of a mile.

Hon. John C. New, whose peculiar autograph on American treasury notes will be remembered by many, is seriously ill at Washington.

Some Snow.

The Chicago "Times" Winona, (Minn.), special says: The superintendent of the Winona railroad states that between Mankato and Tracy the snow drifts are, in many places, six feet above the telegraph poles, and that the linemen have had to splice scantlings to the tops of the poles to get the lines up to where they could be used. Many drifts are twenty-five feet deep and packed hard. Over 1000 men are now at work shoveling snow between Mankato and Tracy.

As soon as Congress adjourned Senator Stanford of California was going to New York and Boston to consult with Francis A. Walker in regard to the plans for his university. He expects to begin five of the Moorish buildings this summer. Senator Stanford said that one of the more important things he was considering was the selection of a President. He wants a man of affairs as well as a scholar. After he has selected a President he intends to call the Trustees together to select a corps of professors.

General Boulanger has decided that in the future no officer in the French Army shall be allowed to have in his service any foreigner of either sex. The decree is aimed at the governors of General Davoust's children, who has been discovered to be the wife of a Prussian officer.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

No hand-book excels the Hawaiian Almanac and Annual for reliable statistical and general information relating to these Islands. Price 50 cents.

If you want a good smoke for your money, patronize home industry and call at J. W. Hingley's, Crystal Soda Works, 69 Hotel street, next door to Horn's Bakery. Island orders solicited and promptly filled. There is no license required to sell these cigars.

It is prepared from a constituent of coal-tar called toluene. The toluene is put through a series of chemical processes, in which it is operated on by sulphuric acid, chalk, filtration, carbonate of soda, phosphoric pentachloride, solid ammonium carbonate, permanganate of potash and dilute mineral acids, a formidable array of big-named preparations, after going through which something wonderful ought to result.

The discoverer of this strange product was Dr. Constantine Fahlberg, and the discovery was accidental. The doctor had been experimenting upon compound radicals and substitution products of coal tar, and coming to the supper table in haste without washing his hands, he caught the first taste from a goblet he had handled, and describes it as one of unspeakable sweetness. It appears that he lost his supper by the excitement into which he was thrown, for he reached back to the laboratory and tasted so many of the decoctions with which he had been working that he afterwards was thankful that none of them happened to be poisonous. Should the manufacture of saccharine be developed into a permanent industry, it may become a dangerous rival to the cane raising business, as coal tar is produced in immense quantities in gas works. It has in fact been a nuisance in those establishments, and various experiments have been suggested and tried to enable manufacturers to get the gas out of coal without having so much of the tar to make room for and to get out of their way. There is at least this consolation in the prospect: electricity and cheap kerosene are threatening in many places the annihilation of the gas works.

We regret to hear that Dr. Brodie was very ill yesterday.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An Eastern paper of March 1st has the following in its telegraphic news:—Professor Curtis, a prominent microscopist, gives it as his opinion that the pellets of ashes and mud which fell over the section of country round Cincinnati, last week, emanated from the Mauna Loa volcano on the Sandwich Islands, which is now in a state of eruption.

The professor is probably mistaken. At that time the eruption was too far past for any of its ejecta, in such coarse form as that stated, to be in the air. Besides, the prevailing winds would scarcely have carried the material to America.

The Chicago "Times" Winona, (Minn.), special says: The superintendent of the Winona railroad states that between Mankato and Tracy the snow drifts are, in many places, six feet above the telegraph poles, and that the linemen have had to splice scantlings to the tops of the poles to get the lines up to where they could be used. Many drifts are twenty-five feet deep and packed hard. Over 1000 men are now at work shoveling snow between Mankato and Tracy.

LOCAL NEWS.

Band concert to-night.

Our thanks are due to Mr. George McLane, purser of the S. S. Zealandia, for late San Francisco papers.

An amateur entertainment was given in Victoria, B. C., March 10th, for the wrecked seamen of the Hawaiian bark T. R. Foster.

A chime of eight bells for Kaumakapi church, together with a large tower bell, arrived from West Troy, New York, yesterday by the Zealandia.

Emperor William of Germany will be ninety years of age to-morrow. Mr. Berger signals the remarkable event in the programme for to-night's band concert.

Captain Macaulay, of the schooner Kaulilua, saw three pieces of cane measuring 27 feet in the Waianae mill. One of the pieces branched out in three prongs.

Elder William D. Curtis, of Topeka, Kansas, who has delivered a series of addresses from the Seventh Day Adventist ground in this city, left with Mrs. Curtis for their destined mission to New Zealand by the Zealandia yesterday.

It is with deep regret that we record to-day the death of Mrs. William Turner wife of the well-known watchmaker of King street. She died on Saturday evening at the early age of twenty-nine, after a severe illness of about twenty days, and was interred yesterday.

The Blue Ribbon League entertainment on Saturday evening was up to the high standard of those preceding it. Excellent music was one of the features. Mrs. Hopper brought down the house with a humorous reading. Chief Justice Iudd delivered an able address.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild refuses to instruct the Collector of Customs at San Francisco to admit into the United States the wife and child of a Chinese laborer who now reside at New Haven, Conn. Mr. Fairchild says their original entry is prohibited by law, and the department has no power to grant a request for their admittance.

Desirable Houses.

Mr. A. J. Cartwright in this paper gives a list of very desirable houses to let by him. Every one of them is in an eligible and pleasant locality, convenient to one or other of the omnibus lines and in a neighborhood most respectable. He also offers for sale a residence in Nuuanu Valley with enough ground to make a valuable homestead. Persons desirous of renting or buying a comfortable home should not let the opportunity slip.

The Amateurs.

Saturday night the Opera House was crowded to standing room at the second performance of the Honolulu Mirel Company. Messrs. J. M. Bright, C. M. Denaveux and W. G. Armstrong were loudly recalled after singing their numbers. Mr. Armstrong repeated "Mary's gone with a coon" from the first night, in response to his recall for "Keep a movin'." In both he made big hits.

Mr. J. M. Dowsett gave "Sweet Chiming Bells" in a beautiful style and was rewarded with a bouquet. The imitation of Japanese balancing by E. Low and W. G. Armstrong in the second part was provocative of great amusement. "Chun Hook" was given with palpable improvement over its first production on "the boards" the other night. The public will be glad to know that the company purpose giving another evening before long.

SIDE LIGHTS.

Gold paint for the million at King Bros.' art store.

Smoke the "Little Dudes," to be found at C. J. McCarthy's.

Mr. S. M. Carter has just received a very superior stock of firewood at his fuel and feed establishment, 82 King street.

A fresh supply of the famous John Wieland Philadelphia Beer has been received at the Criterion Saloon, 104 ft.

The Canadian Dominion Minister of Customs is preparing a bill which, it has been stated, will be presented to Parliament in case the United States Congress should pass the retaliation measures. The bill will largely increase the duties on American imports.

It is reported that as soon as a parliamentary vacancy occurs Sir George Trevelyan will stand as a Gladstonian candidate.

RATS!

Midnight Raid by the Marshal—Haul of Illicit Liquor—Sunday Surprise to a Swipes Shop.

Marshal Kaulukou having suddenly discovered the notorious fact that the Kapiolani bath house has been devoted to purposes far other than the innocent objects for which it purported to have been built, laid a plan to have the place gone through when the nocturnal revelry was at its height. Accordingly on last Saturday night the Marshal had policemen stationed to guard the approaches, when, a few minutes past midnight, he entered the house, accompanied by Officers Hopkins, Mikakolo and Kamana, also Mr. A. P. Peterson, Deputy Attorney General.

There was a ludicrous stampede of the frequenters of the house on the entry of the guardians of law and order. Some dudes clad in fine raiment leaped from the second story into the harbor and escaped that way. One man, not so fortunate as to be on the deep water side, was about to jump out of a window overlooking the stairs, when the Marshal seized him by the leg and dragged him back to take his name as a witness against the house.

Charles Molteno, keeper of the resort, was arrested and entered at the Station on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. He was liberated before the day grew very old on $500 bail. A large and varied store of wines and liquors was captured, to bear silent witness against the house. Besides the drink, with glasses to take it in, part of the haul consisted of a hula dancer's flossy fringed skirt, indicating diversion of the Hawaiian regal order, furnished on demand to patrons of the establishment.

Yesterday forenoon the Marshal made a descent on the premises occupied by Frank May, on Queen street. His officers seized an immense lot of strong drink, on the presumption that it was kept for sale. There were 400 bottles of "swipes," a barrel of American beer, a chest of full bottles, three demijohns and a sack of bottled whiskey. It took two or three trips of a hand-cart to take all the stock to the Station. May is charged with selling liquor without a license and is also out on bail.

Accidental Death.

On the last trip of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's steamer Mikahala, the first officer, a man named Harrington, met with an accident. Kapapa, which resulted in his death two days afterward. Harrington was standing between the winch and the tackle while the freight was being discharged. Owing to a guy being rather short, and the vessel rolling a good deal, the packages as they were hoisted had too much swing. One package of machinery weighing about fifteen hundred pounds was swinging inwards, when Harrington tried to check it with his hands. Although he was a powerful man, the weight and momentum of the package were too great for his resistance, and, being flung back on the winch his body was pinched between it and the heavy parcel, producing internal ruptures from which he died, as stated above. The resident doctor did all he could to relieve the unfortunate man's agony, but the injuries were of such a nature that no medical skill could avail to prevent them resulting fatally. Harrington belonged to Massachusetts, but, as if he did not know how badly he was hurt, he declined in his few conscious hours to give the address of, or any message for his friends. His age was 28 years. He was buried at Kilauea.

Arrests for Cattle Stealing.

A complaint against two men for cattle stealing at Waialua was sworn at police headquarters on Saturday. Officer Waipaa, of the mounted police, was dispatched to that place with a warrant at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He arrived at Waialua at 7, and half an hour later arrested Jim Crow, one of the accused. Finding that the other fellow had departed in the direction of Honolulu, he communicated that fact to the Station by telephone, and acting on it the police arrested William Woolham in the city at half-past 8. Waipaa returned to town with his prisoner at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Band Concert.

There will be a moonlight concert this evening at 7:30 at Emma Square. The following is the programme:

Sailed from San Francisco: March 6th—Schooner Anna, Williams, Kahului. March 9th—Bark Ferris S. Thompson, Potter, Kahului. Bark Caibarien was to sail on the 17th for this port.

Bark Caibarien had a hard time of it on the passage to San Francisco, which occupied 35 days. Sailed January 29th; had strong trades from N. E. to N. N. E. with very high sea to 34 N., ending in a gale from the eastward lasting two days; from thence to 38 N., 143 W., light S. and S. E. winds, with a heavy sea; took a severe gale from the eastward; blew away topsails, foresail and storm sails; shipped several very heavy seas; stove star-board bulwarks and sprung the rudder-head; had S. E. winds and cross seas for 10 days, ending in a gale from the northward; last four days N. N. W. winds.

Barkentine Jane Falkenberg, Clinger, sailed from Puget Sound March 2nd with 270,000 feet lumber for Honolulu.

A San Francisco paper says that the crew of the brig W. H. Meyers, for Hilo, Hawaii, forced the captain to return to Port Townsend and discharge part of the cargo, the brig being overladen. The vessel had been out over a week. She had 320,000 feet of lumber on board, and another report says was for Kahului.

Our Kahului, Maui, correspondent writes March 18th: Schooner Rosario, Christiansen, sailed for San Francisco March 16th, with 1,581 bags Waihee plantation, 1,100 bags Waikapu plantation, and 936 bags H. C. & S. Co. sugar; a total of 502,376 pounds. Vessels expected: Anna about the 20th; bark Ferris S. Thompson about the 26th.

The British bark Glengaber did not sail on Saturday. Her deserting sailors had not been caught by the police. She will probably sail to-day, taking about 19,000 bags of sugar for San Francisco. The report in another paper that the Glengaber was assured a charter to return was incorrect.

The Oceanic S. S. Zealandia arrived yesterday morning, about 6 days and 18 hours from San Francisco. She sailed again for the Colonies at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Steamer Kinahu brought 4,817 bags sugar, 100 bags potatoes, 4 horses, 300 goat skins, 18 hides, 13 bundles awa, and 64 packages sundries.

Col. Thompson, the well-known lawyer, has introduced an innovation that is likely to prove very advantageous to persons who may avail themselves of it. It is a recognized branch of the legal profession in England and elsewhere, namely, the furnishing of written opinions of law upon facts stated. The colonel announces his new departure in a card elsewhere, and the public may depend upon careful despatch of any professional business of the nature in question entrusted to him.

It is announced that Frank Siddals of Philadelphia has increased his offer for Maud S. to $125,000.

DIED.

In San Francisco, March 20th, Hugh McIntyre, of Honolulu, aged 73 years.
 At Honolulu, March 19th, Mary Ada, the wife of Mr. William Turner, watchmaker, King street, aged 29 years. San Francisco papers please copy.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Death of Mr. Hugh McIntyre, in San Francisco.

The steamship Zealandia, that arrived yesterday from San Francisco, brought a sad surprise to the wife and family of Mr. Hugh McIntyre, no less than the dead body of the husband and father himself. Mr. McIntyre only left Honolulu for a visit to San Francisco by the Zealandia on her last trip from the Colonies. By his last letters he was in his usual health, and enjoying the cooler climate. He was, however, taken ill on the 7th instant, two days after the last mail left for Honolulu, and died on the 9th. Mr. A. P. Everett, a former resident of these islands, and now a merchant at San Francisco, remained by his old friend and brought Dr. Tisdale from Oakland to attend him during his illness. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased, on King street. Rev. J. A. Cruzan conducted services at the house, and Rev. E. C. Oggel at the cemetery.

The late Hugh McIntyre was a native of Greenock, Scotland, coming to the Hawaiian Islands on the 17th of March, 1846. He went away to the Coast in the fall of 1847, but returned in 1850. Going into business in Honolulu, he founded the successful grocery trade now conducted by his sons. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. Hugh E. and George compose the firm of H. E. McIntyre & Brother, alluded to above, and the third son, William, lives at Kohala, Hawaii. Mr. Everett, mentioned previously, came to the islands the same day of 1846 as did the late Mr. McIntyre. But very few of his associates of those days survive the subject of these words. Such as do will mourn his loss as that of a brother, while the whole community will miss his kindly presence, and feel that an old and esteemed landmark has been removed.

THE EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society

OF THE UNITED STATES.

Total Assets, Dec. 31, '86, $75,510,472.76

Total Liabilities, including legal Reserve on all existing policies (4 per cent Standard) $59,154,497.00

Total Undivided Surplus over Four per cent Reserve, $16,355,975.76

Of which the proportion contributed (as computed) by Policies in general class, is $ 5,728,761.76
 Of which the proportion contributed (as computed) by Policies in Tontine class, is 10,627,114.00

Upon the New York State Standard of 4 1/2 per cent interest, the Surplus is as computed, $20,495,175.76

New Assurance written in 1886, $111,540,203

Total Outstanding Assurance, $411,779,098

Increase of Premium Income, $2,810,475.40
 Increase of Surplus (Four per cent basis), $2,409,636.63
 Increase of Assets, $8,957,085.26

In actual Surplus (namely the excess of accumulated funds over liabilities); in Premium Income; in the amount of Assurance in force on its books, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States exceeds every other life assurance company, and may be justly regarded as the largest and strongest life assurance organization in the World.

EXAMPLE

Of Policy No. 67,389. Life. Issued Jan. 22, 1872, on the life of W. H. C. Date of expiration Jan. 22, 1887.

Amount of Policy, $10,000. Tontine Period, 15 years. Age 53. Annual Premium, $543.10

Total premiums paid in 15 years, $8,146.50

1. CASH VALUE, Consisting of Reserve, $3,856.30 and Surplus, 4,199.80 $9,056.10

2. PAID-UP VALUE. If the policy-holder select this settlement, as the paid-up value is larger than the original amount of assurance, a satisfactory certificate of good health must be furnished, or the excess must be drawn on a cash basis.

3. CASH SURPLUS, $5,199.80

Under this settlement, the policy holder withdraws the surplus in cash, and retains the original policy, continuing the payment of premiums, less annual dividends.

Three other options are available under this Policy.

The policies with 10-year Tontine periods do not show results as satisfactory as those above given. Policies with 20-year periods, on the other hand, will show much larger results than those with 15-year periods; but for purposes of illustration the 15-year policies—those of the intermediate period—are given as fair illustrations.

The longer period of accumulation which the 20-year policies enjoy renders them the most desirable for those who, seeking absolute protection at the lowest "Life" rate, desire also the largest returns in cash.

Hence the Best Free Tontine "Ordinary Life" Policy is One with a

TWENTY-YEARTONTINE PERIOD

The Free Tontine Policy of the Equitable Life Assurance Society is unrestricted after one year, incontestable after two years, and is then PAYABLE in the event of death, immediately upon the receipt of satisfactory proofs of death.

It guarantees a full share of the surplus earned, and being issued by a Society holding a Larger Surplus than any other Assurance Company,

May be expected to show larger profits than the policies of any other company.

FOOD AND EXERCISE.

AN ATHLETE GIVES SOME RULES FOR MUSCULAR DEVELOPMENT.

Exercise should be avoided early in the morning. Bad Effects of Training on an Empty Stomach—Weight and Height.

A reporter asked Professor J. M. Laffin, the athlete, about some of the rules for muscular development and the food and exercise necessary. He said: "A man must not impose upon his stomach; it is the boiler, the engine, as it were, that supplies strength to the body. People of bilious lymphatic temperaments are apt to use drastic medicines to excess and ruin their constitutions. Once let the insidious use of strong drugs undermine the health and then nine times out of ten the system never rallies to its pristine condition. Exercise is food, it is health, it is life. I have given my life to the study of the development of human strength and endurance."

"How and when should a person exercise to be healthy and not overdo the thing?"

"Exercise should be avoided early in the morning before breakfast on an empty stomach. The air is very unwholesome early in the morning, and until the sun has purified it with its generous beams to breathe it freely is injurious. Malarial and chest diseases are liable to be taken, hence the imperative necessity of avoiding early morning exercise. People who are not professional athletes cannot stand the fatigue of exercise before breakfast, and it even weakens the regular professional ones who are ignorant. The system is weaker when a person rises than at any other period during the day. I well remember that I was forced to walk twenty miles before breakfast when I began to train. I came back weak and exhausted. It was wrong and did me more harm than good. The athlete who trains on an empty stomach is merely devitalizing himself. The proper way is to rise an hour or so after the sun is up, take a light breakfast, and after the meal has been thoroughly digested then take the exercise. Then good work can be done without harm."

"There are many points of practice among oarsmen and other professionals that are absolutely pernicious. An oarsman when he comes in from practice will devote a few minutes to his boat before he rubs himself down. He should not permit himself to cool down before he has wiped away the refuse matter. The pores of the skin are open then, but a few minutes' rest closes them and the scrub doesn't do so much good. It is common sense that is needed more than anything else. Then another fatal error is the shock and reaction theory. The young oarsman while heated jumps into a cold bath. Coming out to the natural temperature of the air there is a shock without any reaction. Young Maxwell, a promising oarsman, killed himself in this way. He leaped into the water from his boat, took a congestive chill and died in the hospital. The proper way to cool off a man is the same as that of a race horse. Rub him slowly, cautiously, and in the man's case use plenty of salt in the water with which he is sponged. A pint of salt should be used to a pint of water, thoroughly dissolved. During the cooling process moderate walking should be taken under a blanket. There should never be a sudden change from intense exercise to perfect rest; the process should be gradual. The great cardinal principles of all training are simply common sense and temperance in exercise."

DIET OF ATHLETES.

"Do all athletes agree upon the subject of diet?"

"No, for I differ materially from my brother athletes. I deprecate the use of rare meat. Many suppose it is more strengthening than well cooked meat, but it is a great mistake, it requires a cast iron stomach, one with great tone and strength, to digest rare meat, and the beginner, as a rule, is not able to do it. Nothing is well digested in the stomach against which the palate revolts. I cannot eat rare meat unless I spice it up highly with condiments, and they are positively impervious to digestion. Meat should neither be rare nor too well done, but a medium that retains its natural juices. The rare meat idea has done a great deal of harm, and the sooner it is exploded the better. Without physical vitality the greatest accomplishments amount to nothing. The American scholar, as a rule, is a dyspeptic. He is a razor faced, lantern jawed, thin, nervous man. The old regimen for the student is obsolete and almost as fatal as yellow fever, long morning walks before breakfast, reduction of diet, little sleep and frequent cold baths without well supported vitality. It is a wonder how many students live, any way."

"Is there a special weight in proportion to a man's height for him to perform athletic feats?"

"Yes. If a man is 5 feet high he should weigh from 103 to 108 pounds to be athletic in proportion. The proportions are arranged as follows, and they are accurate unless on account of some abnormal defects: Height 5 feet 4 inches, weight from 119 to 125 pounds; height 5 feet 7 inches, weight from 133 to 140 pounds; height 5 feet 8 inches, weight from 140 to 150 pounds; height 5 feet 9 inches, weight from 150 to 163 pounds; height 5 feet 10 inches, weight from 163 to 173 pounds; height 5 feet 11 inches, weight from 173 to 182 pounds; height 6 feet, weight from 180 to 192 pounds. It will be found the above figures show what the weight of a man should be in good condition according to the size of his bone, neck, chest, wrist, ankle and height, and, as a rule, if his measurement does not compare closely with these figures, he must be considerably out of proportion."—New York Mail and Express.

Theory of Coal Formation.

A new theory of coal formation has been advanced by M. De Grand Eury, which, a French journalist points out, is opposed to the idea that large trees and shrubs produced coal. A calculation, he maintains, of the accumulation of trees, etc., necessary for the conversion into even a thin coal bed, of a forest suddenly buried under water, or gradually letting its residue gather on the ground, leads to an evidently erroneous result, so greatly is it necessary to exaggerate either the mass of vegetable matter or the duration of the process of coal formation. He considers that the coal beds were formerly beds of naphtha and bituminous petroleum, produced by the decomposition of inferior aquatic vegetation under the influence of heat and dampness. This theory also, he thinks, will serve to explain the formation of petroleum, asphalt and other bituminous springs.—Boston Budget.

Night Thunderstorm Out West.

The most thrilling incident in the life of the cowboy occurs on the occasion of a thunderstorm at night. Such an occurrence is thus described from personal observation by Mr. William A. Baillie Grahman, an English writer:

"On the approach of one of these violent outbursts the whole force is ordered on duty; the spare horses—of which each man has always three, and often as many as eight or ten—are carefully fed and tethered, and the herd is 'rounded up' that is collected into as small a space as possible, while the men continue to ride around the densely massed herd. Like horses, cattle derive courage from the close proximity of man. The thunder peals, and the vivid lightning flashes with amazing brilliancy, as with lowered heads the herd eagerly watch the slow, steady pace of the cow ponies, and no doubt derive from it a comforting sense of protection. Some, however, a wilder will be unable to control his terror, and will make a dash through a convenient opening. The crisis is at hand, for the example will surely be followed, and in two minutes the whole herd of 4,000 head will have broken through the line of horsemen and be away, one surging, bellowing mass of terrified beasts."

"Fancy a pitch dark night, a pouring torrent of rain, the ground very broken and treacherous to the men but very broken and full of dangerously deep watercourses and hollows, and you will have a picture of cowboy duty on such a night. They must head off the leaders. Once fairly off, they will stampede twenty thirty and even forty miles at a stretch, and many branches will stray from the main herd. Not alone the reckless rider, rushing headlong at breakneck pace over dangerous ground in dense darkness, but also the horses, small, insignificant beasts, but matchless for hardy endurance and willingness, are perfectly aware how much depends upon their speed that night, if it kills them. Unused till the last moment remains the heavy cowhide 'yulst,' or whip, and the powerful spurs with rovels the size of five shilling pieces. Urged on by a shout the horses sped alongside the terrified steers until they manage to reach the leaders, when, swinging around, and fearless of horns, they press back the following brutes till they turn them. All the men pursuing this maneuver the headlong rush is at last checked, and the leaders, panting and lashing their sides with their tails, are brought to a stand, and the whole herd is again 'rounded up.'—Joseph Nimmo, Jr. in Harper's Monthly.

The Island of Grimsey.

On the map of Iceland may be seen a speck of an island called Grimsey. It is the most northern, and consequently the coldest, of the Iceland group. Eighty-eight people—or more—live on it. They have tried to keep a few cows, but the winters are too hard for them. Two horses and a few sheep with very coarse fleeces are the only animals of the kind on the island. A good minister, Peter Gudmundsson, lives in this remote place. He is a poet and an astronomer, and is employed to make observations for the Meteorological Institute at Copenhagen. Once or twice a year some of the islanders visit the mainland, but the stormy seas, covered with icebergs, make the passage always dangerous.

On one side of the island, which is a high precipice, countless birds build their nests, and the collection of eggs is one chief means of living for the little settlement. Men are let down over the face of the rock by ropes. They wear suits thickly padded with feathers to save themselves from being hurt on the sharp rocks. Each man carries a pole to help himself with and a ladder for scooping up nests that he cannot reach with his hands. There is in his flock a great pocket in which he can put 100 eggs. These he works with the sea roaring beneath him. Many accidents occur and many lives are lost in this business.

"Guth's" Capacity for Work.

In speaking of book writing, Mr. Townsend once told me that it did not pay. "The Entailed Hat" had already been published a year and he said that his receipts from the same were less than $1,000. It had taken him as much work in its composition as a year's newspaper writing, and he had been able to do it only by rising early in the morning and writing at it before he commenced his news work for the day.

Townsend has a wonderful capacity for work. He writes 5,000 or 7,000 words regularly every day, and on a spur can increase the amount to two or three times this number of words. He says, however, that he grows tired after two or three hours' dictation and requires rest. He can get along with very little sleep, and has wonderful recuperative powers. He does more newspaper work than any other man in the United States, and his letters are published in half a dozen different papers. With it all he finds time to write poetry, deliver lectures, send out a magazine article now and then, and write a novel. He is a great student, and he is probably as well posted upon the times with which his new work deals as any other man in the world.—Frank G. Carpenter in Cleveland Leader.

Beecher's Opinion of the English.

"Does the Englishman continue to be a distinctive type of man?"

"Regarded as a whole they are squarely built, less delicately organized, less graceful in bearing, but more sturdy than Americans. Their dress is distinctively English; you know, noticeable there as it is here. You can always tell an Englishman when you see him, but I was particularly interested in noticing that up to the years of 15 and 16 the children are sturdier. They have fine complexions. The charming health of the English children is one of the most delightful features of English life; but we have nothing here, thank God, that can represent in any sense a large number of people in London. Small of stature, emaciated from birth, they become by want of nourishing food a feeble race in everything except their passions. The wife of an English clergyman much interested in missionary effort said to me concerning their endeavors and work among this class: 'The highest we can even attempt with them is to induce them not to steal and to keep clean. That is our highest attainable aim.' Now we have nothing like that here."—Henry Ward Beecher in New York World.

Improving on Nature.

"You can't improve on nature," said old Hardhead. "O, yes you can," said Young Hyson; "a man may be born a natural fool, but if he keeps on, like some men I know, by the time he's 50 he's a bigger fool than all the babies in the world. Nature can't make a fool equal to the man who makes a fool of himself." And then old Hardhead growled that he wasn't talking politics, but art.—Burdette.

PILIKIA IN SUGAR.

"It never rains but it pours" in this climate. And there is some reason to think that the adage may be quoted commercially as well as meteorologically to the Hawaiian staple industry. The rains of adversity have fallen during the past few years on the sugar trade so thick and fast as almost to offset the benefit of the natural liquid element upon the cane fields. Hawaiian sugar has had beet sugar in Europe and America, together with cheap labor in Manila, the West Indies and the Southern States to contend against, and now it appears that our planters are to be called on to fight the coal mines which, so far as geologists have been able to decide, are practically inexhaustible.

A chemist in the February number of Chambers' Journal tells us that saccharine extracted from coal tar out-sugars cane sugar both in the cheapness with which it can be produced and in its superior qualities as a sweetening agent. It is described as a white crystalline powder, easily soluble in warm water, and possessing two hundred and thirty times the sweetening power of the best cane or beetroot sugar. One part of it in ten thousand parts of water gives it a perceptibly sweet taste. The substance is chemically named dextro-saccharine. Adding one part of this saccharine to from 1,000 to 2,000 parts glucose, the product is said to be scarcely distinguishable from ordinary sugar. The bitterest quinine solution or acid drink is rendered so sweet by a small quantity of it that not the least trace of bitterness or acidity is left. In small quantities it has no injurious effects upon the human system, and it may be used with impunity by persons suffering from maladies which are injuriously affected by other sugars. It is prepared from a constituent of coal-tar called toluene. The toluene is put through a series of chemical processes, in which it is operated on by sulphuric acid, chalk, filtration, carbonate of soda, phosphoric pentachloride, solid ammonium carbonate, permanganate of potash and dilute mineral acids, a formidable array of big-named preparations, after going through which something wonderful ought to result.

The discoverer of this strange product was Dr. Constantine Fahlberg, and the discovery was accidental. The doctor had been experimenting upon compound radicals and substitution products of coal tar, and coming to the supper table in haste without washing his hands, he caught the first taste from a goblet he had handled, and describes it as one of unspeakable sweetness. It appears that he lost his supper by the excitement into which he was thrown, for he reached back to the laboratory and tasted so many of the decoctions with which he had been working that he afterwards was thankful that none of them happened to be poisonous.

Should the manufacture of saccharine be developed into a permanent industry, it may become a dangerous rival to the cane raising business, as coal tar is produced in immense quantities in gas works. It has in fact been a nuisance in those establishments, and various experiments have been suggested and tried to enable manufacturers to get the gas out of coal without having so much of the tar to make room for and to get out of their way. There is at least this consolation in the prospect: electricity and cheap kerosene are threatening in many places the annihilation of the gas works.

We regret to hear that Dr. Brodie was very ill yesterday.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An Eastern paper of March 1st has the following in its telegraphic news:—Professor Curtis, a prominent microscopist, gives it as his opinion that the pellets of ashes and mud which fell over the section of country round Cincinnati, last week, emanated from the Mauna Loa volcano on the Sandwich Islands, which is now in a state of eruption.

The professor is probably mistaken. At that time the eruption was too far past for any of its ejecta, in such coarse form as that stated, to be in the air. Besides, the prevailing winds would scarcely have carried the material to America.

FOREIGN NEWS.

EUROPE.

Miscellaneous.

At an enthusiastic meeting, the annual one, of the Royal Thames Yacht Club, at which the Prince of Wales presided, the Secretary announced that the money had all been subscribed for the 1,000 guinea prize in the Jubilee yacht race. This race will start on the 14th June, the course being northward up the east coast of England, around Scotland and Ireland to Dover. The Prince of Wales promised to act as starter, and to enter his own schooner as a competitor.

Pacific Coast.

An official statement on behalf of the city of Los Angeles says that since the first appearance of the small-pox there, out of a total population of 95,000, including both city and county, there have been but forty-one cases, and only four deaths. The health authorities, both State and local, apprehend no epidemic.

A site for a sugar refinery has been selected at San Diego.

The Pacific railroads are reported to be much alarmed over the report that Barclay Henley may receive an appointment on the Investigating Committee provided by Congress.

UNITED STATES.

Death of Henry Ward Beecher.

Henry Ward Beecher died at New York March 8th, at 9:45 a. m. Most of the members of his family were present. Instead of crape, a gorgeous wreath of flowers tied with a white ribbon was fastened to the door of the house, in accordance with the ideas often expressed by the famous preacher.

Various Items.

A discovery has been made that heavy shipments of opium have been smuggled through Detroit, labelled "glassware," "drugs," and "Chinese curios."

The strike of switchmen on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railroad is becoming serious, and trouble all along the line is feared.

The trans-Atlantic race between the yachts Coronet and Dauntless started from New York for Cork harbor, Ireland, on March 12th. From Sandy Hook the Coronet was reported leading by a quarter of a mile.

Hon. John C. New, whose peculiar autograph on American treasury notes will be remembered by many, is seriously ill at Washington.

Some Snow.

The Chicago "Times" Winona, (Minn.), special says: The superintendent of the Winona railroad states that between Mankato and Tracy the snow drifts are, in many places, six feet above the telegraph poles, and that the linemen have had to splice scantlings to the tops of the poles to get the lines up to where they could be used.

Many drifts are twenty-five feet deep and packed hard. Over 1000 men are now at work shoveling snow between Mankato and Tracy.

As soon as Congress adjourned Senator Stanford of California was going to New York and Boston to consult with Francis A. Walker in regard to the plans for his university. He expects to begin five of the Moorish buildings this summer. Senator Stanford said that one of the more important things he was considering was the selection of a President. He wants a man of affairs as well as a scholar. After he has selected a President he intends to call the Trustees together to select a corps of professors.

General Boulanger has decided that in the future no officer in the French Army shall be allowed to have in his service any foreigner of either sex. The decree is aimed at the governors of General Davoust's children, who has been discovered to be the wife of a Prussian officer.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

No hand-book excels the Hawaiian Almanac and Annual for reliable statistical and general information relating to these Islands. Price 50 cents.

If you want a good smoke for your money, patronize home industry and call at J. W. Hingley's, Crystal Soda Works, 69 Hotel street, next door to Horn's Bakery. Island orders solicited and promptly filled. There is no license required to sell these cigars.

LOCAL NEWS.

Band concert to-night.

Our thanks are due to Mr. George McLane, purser of the S. S. Zealandia, for late San Francisco papers.

An amateur entertainment was given in Victoria, B. C., March 10th, for the wrecked seamen of the Hawaiian bark T. R. Foster.

A chime of eight bells for Kaumakapili church, together with a large tower bell, arrived from West Troy, New York, yesterday by the Zealandia.

Emperor William of Germany will be ninety years of age to-morrow. Mr. Berger signalizes the remarkable event in the programme for to-night's band concert.

Captain Macaulay, of the schooner Kaulilua, saw three pieces of cane measuring 27 feet in the Waianae mill. One of the pieces branched out in three prongs.

Elder William D. Curtis, of Topeka, Kansas, who has delivered a series of addresses from the Seventh Day Adventist ground in this city, left with Mrs. Curtis for their destined mission to New Zealand by the Zealandia yesterday.

It is with deep regret that we record to-day the death of Mrs. William Turner wife of the well-known watchmaker of King street. She died on Saturday evening at the early age of twenty-nine, after a severe illness of about twenty days, and was interred yesterday.

The Blue Ribbon League entertainment on Saturday evening was up to the high standard of those preceding it. Excellent music was one of the features. Mrs. Hopper brought down the house with a humorous reading. Chief Justice Iudd delivered an able address.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild refuses to instruct the Collector of Customs at San Francisco to admit into the United States the wife and child of a Chinese laborer who now reside at New Haven, Conn. Mr. Fairchild says their original entry is prohibited by law, and the department has no power to grant a request for their admittance.

Desirable Houses.

Mr. A. J. Cartwright in this paper gives a list of very desirable houses to let by him. Every one of them is in an eligible and pleasant locality, convenient to one or other of the omnibus lines and in a neighborhood most respectable. He also offers for sale a residence in Nuuanu Valley with enough ground to make a valuable homestead. Persons desirous of renting or buying a comfortable home should not let the opportunity slip.

The Amateurs.

Saturday night the Opera House was crowded to standing room at the second performance of the Honolulu Minstrel Company. Messrs. J. M. Bright, C. M. Denaveux and W. G. Armstrong were loudly recalled after singing their numbers. Mr. Armstrong repeated "Mary's gone with a coon" from the first night, in response to his recall for "Keep a movin'." In both he made big hits.

Mr. J. M. Dowsett gave "Sweet Chiming Bells" in a beautiful style and was rewarded with a bouquet. The imitation of Japanese balancing by E. Low and W. G. Armstrong in the second part was provocative of great amusement. "Chun Hook" was given with palpable improvement over its first production on the boards the other night. The public will be glad to know that the company purpose giving another evening before long.

SIDE LIGHTS.

Gold paint for the million at King Bros.' art store.

Smoke the "Little Dudes," to be found at C. J. McCarthy's.

Mr. S. M. Carter has just received a very superior stock of firewood at his fuel and feed establishment, 82 King street.

A fresh supply of the famous John Wieland Philadelphia Beer has been received at the Criterion Saloon, Fort street.

The Canadian Dominion Minister of Customs is preparing a bill which, it has been stated, will be presented to Parliament in case the United States Congress should pass the retaliation measures. The bill will largely increase the duties on American imports.

It is reported that as soon as a parliamentary vacancy occurs Sir George Trevelyan will stand as a Gladstonian candidate.

RATS!

Midnight Raid by the Marshal—Haul of Illicit Liquor—Sunday Surprise to a Swipes Shop.

Marshal Kaulukou having suddenly discovered the notorious fact that the Kapiolani bath house has been devoted to purposes far other than the innocent objects for which it purported to have been built, laid a plan to have the place gone through when the nocturnal revelry was at its height. Accordingly on last Saturday night the Marshal had policemen stationed to guard the approaches, when, a few minutes past midnight, he entered the house, accompanied by Officers Hopkins, Mikakolo and Kamana, also Mr. A. P. Peterson, Deputy Attorney General.

There was a ludicrous stampede of the frequenters of the house on the entry of the guardians of law and order. Some dudes clad in fine raiment leaped from the second story into the harbor and escaped that way. One man, not so fortunate as to be on the deep water side, was about to jump out of a window overlooking the stairs, when the Marshal seized him by the leg and dragged him back to take his name as a witness against the house.

Charles Molteno, keeper of the resort, was arrested and entered at the Station on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. He was liberated before the day grew very old on $500 bail. A large and varied store of wines and liquors was captured, to bear silent witness against the house. Besides the drink, with glasses to take it in, part of the haul consisted of a hula dancer's flossy-fringed skirt, indicating diversion of the Hawaiian regal order, furnished on demand to patrons of the establishment.

Yesterday forenoon the Marshal made a descent on the premises occupied by Frank May, on Queen street. His officers seized an immense lot of strong drink, on the presumption that it was kept for sale. There were 400 bottles of "swipes," a barrel of American beer, a chest of full bottles, three demijohns and a sack of bottled whiskey. It took two or three trips of a hand-cart to take all the stock to the Station. May is charged with selling liquor without a license and is also out on bail.

Accidental Death.

On the last trip of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's steamer Mikahala, the first officer, a man named Harrington, met with an accident. Kapaa, which resulted in his death two days afterward. Harrington was standing between the winch and the tackle while the freight was being discharged. Owing to a guy being rather short, and the vessel rolling a good deal, the packages as they were hoisted had too much swing. One package of machinery weighing about fifteen hundred pounds was swinging inwards, when Harrington tried to check it with his hands. Although he was a powerful man, the weight and momentum of the package were too great for his resistance, and, being flung back on the winch his body was pinched between it and the heavy parcel, producing internal ruptures from which he died, as stated above. The resident doctor did all he could to relieve the unfortunate man's agony, but the injuries were of such a nature that no medical skill could avail to prevent them resulting fatally. Harrington belonged to Massachusetts, but, as if he did not know how badly he was hurt, he declined in his few conscious hours to give the address of, or any message for his friends. His age was 28 years. He was buried at Kilauea.

Arrests for Cattle Stealing.

A complaint against two men for cattle stealing at Waialua was sworn at police headquarters on Saturday. Officer Waipaa, of the mounted police, was dispatched to that place with a warrant at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He arrived at Waialua at 7, and half an hour later arrested Jim Crow, one of the accused. Finding that the other fellow had departed in the direction of Honolulu, he communicated that fact to the Station by telephone, and acting on it the police arrested William Woolham in the city at half-past 8. Waipaa returned to town with his prisoner at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Arrived at San Francisco March 6th:—Bark Caibarien, Perkins, 35 days hence; March 11th—Barkentine John Smith, Kustel, 24 days hence; barkentine Discovery, Lee, 24 days hence; schooner Ida Schnauer, Robertson, 27 days from Kahului.

Sailed from San Francisco: March 6th—Schooner Anna, Williams, Kahului. March 9th—Bark Ferris S. Thompson, Potter, Kahului. Bark Caibarien was to sail on the 17th for this port.

Bark Caibarien had a hard time of it on the passage to San Francisco, which occupied 35 days. Sailed January 29th; had strong trades from N. E. to N. N. E. with very high sea to 34 N., ending in a gale from the eastward lasting two days; from thence to 38 N., 143 W., light S. and S. E. winds, with a heavy sea; took a severe gale from the eastward; blew away topsails, foresail and storm sails; shipped several very heavy seas; stove starboard bulwarks and sprung the rudder-head; had S. E. winds and cross seas for 10 days, ending in a gale from the northward; last four days N. N. W. winds.

Barkentine Jane Falkenberg, Clinger, sailed from Puget Sound March 2nd with 270,000 feet lumber for Honolulu.

A San Francisco paper says that the crew of the brig W. H. Meyers, for Hilo, Hawaii, forced the captain to return to Port Townsend and discharge part of the cargo, the brig being overloaded. The vessel had been out over a week. She had 320,000 feet of lumber on board, and another report says was for Kahului.

Our Kahului, Maui, correspondent writes March 18th: Schooner Rosario, Christiansen, sailed for San Francisco March 16th, with 1,581 bags Waihee plantation, 1,100 bags Waikapu plantation, and 936 bags H. C. & S. Co. sugar; a total of 502,376 pounds. Vessels expected: Anna about the 20th; bark Ferris S. Thompson about the 26th.

The British bark Glengaber did not sail on Saturday. Her deserting sailors had not been caught by the police. She will probably sail to-day, taking about 19,000 bags of sugar for San Francisco. The report in another paper that the Glengaber was assured a charter to return was incorrect.

The Oceanic S. S. Zealandia arrived yesterday morning, about 6 days and 18 hours from San Francisco. She sailed again for the Colonies at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Steamer Kinau brought 4,817 bags sugar, 100 bags potatoes, 4 horses, 200 goat skins, 18 hides, 13 bundles awa, and 60 packages sundries.

Steamer Likelike brought 3,646 bags sugar; Jas. Makee, 2,415; Iwailani, 5,933 sugar and 40 packages sundries; Waialeale, 2,928 sugar, 50 rice; Mokolii, 945 sugar, 70 green hides and 30 bags potatoes; schooner Kaulilua, 1,280 bags sugar.

Steamer Mikahala brought 5,065 bags sugar, 50 pia, 13 green hides, 13 bales wool and 34 head cattle. Steamer Kinau makes the volcano trip this week leaving at four this afternoon.

All the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co.'s steamers are in port.

SUPREME COURT.

AT CHAMBERS.

Before Judge Preston, Saturday, March 19th. The admiralty case of Thomas H. Patterson vs. the bark Kalakaua, reported in Saturday's issue, was argued by counsel. The decision of the Court is reserved and will be given at 12 o'clock to-day.

Police Court.

At Saturday's session Mr. Rosenthal, charged on the 26th ult. with selling goods of foreign products without a license, was sentenced to a fine of $75 and $3 costs; and appealed to a jury. Josepa paid the $6 for drunkenness. Lau Sung, on a charge of gross cheat, is remanded to the 24th. Ah See and Ah Chuck, for larceny of two towels, are remanded to the 22nd.

Dio, a Japanese girl in service at Hon. A. S. Cleghorn's, was up for larceny of jewelry, silks and other articles to the value of about $75, belonging to H. R. H. Kaulani, and remanded for trial to-day.

A. B. Hoomanawanui is, on the testimony of Dr. Webb, committed to the insane asylum.

Col. Thompson, the well-known lawyer, has introduced an innovation that is likely to prove very advantageous to persons who may avail themselves of it. It is a recognized branch of the legal profession in England and elsewhere, namely, the furnishing of written opinions of law upon facts stated. The colonel announces his new departure in a card elsewhere, and the public may depend upon careful despatch of any professional business of the nature in question entrusted to him.

It is announced that Frank Siddals of Philadelphia has increased his offer for Maud S. to $125,000.

DIED.

In San Francisco, March 9th, Hugh McIntyre, of Honolulu, aged 72 years.
 At Honolulu, March 19th, Mary Ada, the wife of Mr. William Turner, watchmaker, King street, aged 29 years. San Francisco papers please copy.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Death of Mr. Hugh McIntyre, in San Francisco.

The steamship Zealandia, that arrived yesterday from San Francisco, brought a sad surprise to the wife and family of Mr. Hugh McIntyre, no less than the dead body of the husband and father himself. Mr. McIntyre only left Honolulu for a visit to San Francisco by the Zealandia on her last trip from the Colonies. By his last letters he was in his usual health, and enjoying the cooler climate. He was, however, taken ill on the 7th instant, two days after the last mail left for Honolulu, and died on the 9th. Mr. A. P. Everett, a former resident of these islands, and now a merchant at San Francisco, remained by his old friend and brought Dr. Tisdale from Oakland to attend him during his illness. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased, on King street. Rev. J. A. Cruzan conducted services at the house, and Rev. E. C. Ogel at the cemetery.

The late Hugh McIntyre was a native of Greenock, Scotland, coming to the Hawaiian Islands on the 17th of March, 1846. He went away to the Coast in the fall of 1847, but returned in 1850. Going into business in Honolulu, he founded the successful grocery trade now conducted by his sons. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. Hugh E. and George compose the firm of H. E. McIntyre & Brother, alluded to above, and the third son, William, lives at Kohala, Hawaii. Mr. Everett, mentioned previously, came to the islands the same day of 1846 as did the late Mr. McIntyre. But very few of his associates of those days survive the subject of these words. Such as do will mourn his loss as that of a brother, while the whole community will miss his kindly presence, and feel that an old and esteemed landmark has been removed.

FOOD AND EXERCISE.

AN ATHLETE GIVES SOME RULES FOR MUSCULAR DEVELOPMENT.

Exercise Should be Avoided Early in the Morning—Bad Effects of Training on an Empty Stomach—Weight and Height.

A reporter asked Professor J. M. Laffin, the athlete, about some of the rules for muscular development and the food and exercise necessary. He said:

"A man must not impose upon his stomach; it is the boiler, the engine, as it were, that supplies strength to the body. People of bilious lymphatic temperaments are apt to use drastic medicines to excess and ruin their constitutions. Once let the insidious use of strong drugs undermine the health and then nine times out of ten the system never rallies to its pristine condition. Exercise is food, it is health, it is life. I have given my life to the study of the development of human strength and endurance."

"How and when should a person exercise to be healthy and not overdo the thing?"

"Exercise should be avoided early in the morning before breakfast on an empty stomach. The air is very unwholesome early in the morning, and until the sun has purified it with its generous beams to breathe it freely is injurious. Malarial and chest diseases are liable to be taken, hence the imperative necessity of avoiding early morning exercise. People who are not professional athletes cannot stand the fatigue of exercise before breakfast, and it even weakens the regular professional ones who are ignorant. The system is weaker when a person rises than at any other period during the day. I well remember that I was forced to walk twenty miles before breakfast when I began to train. I came back weak and exhausted. It was wrong and did me more harm than good. The athlete who trains on an empty stomach is merely devitalizing himself. The proper way is to rise an hour or so after the sun is up, take a light breakfast, and after the meal has been thoroughly digested then take the exercise. Then good work can be done without harm."

"There are many points of practice among amateurs and other professionals that are absolutely pernicious. An oarsman when he comes in from practice will devote a few minutes to his boat before he rubs himself down. He should not permit himself to cool down before he has wiped away the refuse matter. The pores of the skin are open then, but a few minutes' rest closes them and the scrub doesn't do so much good. It is common sense that is needed more than anything else. Then another fatal error is the shock and reaction theory. The young oarsman while heated jumps into a cold bath. Coming out to the natural temperature of the air there is a shock without any reaction. Young Maxwell, a promising oarsman, killed himself in this way. He leaped into the water from his boat, took a congestive chill and died in the hospital. The proper way to cool off a man is the same as that of a race horse. Rub him slowly, cautiously, and in the man's case use plenty of salt in the water with which he is sponged. A pint of salt should be used to a pall of water, thoroughly dissolved. During the cooling process moderate walking should be taken under a blanket. There should never be a sudden change from intense exercise to perfect rest; the process should be gradual. The great cardinal principles of all training are simply common sense and temperance in exercise."

DIET OF ATHLETES.

"Do all athletes agree upon the subject of diet?"

"No, for I differ materially from my brother athletes. I deprecate the use of rare meat. Many suppose it is more strengthening than well cooked meat, but it is a great mistake. It requires a cast iron stomach, one with great tone and strength, to digest rare meat, and the beginner, as a rule, is not able to do it. Nothing is well digested in the stomach against which the palate revolts. I cannot eat rare meat unless I spice it up highly with condiments, and they are positively impervious to digestion. Meat should neither be rare nor too well done, but a medium that retains its natural juices. The rare meat idea has done a great deal of harm, and the sooner it is exploded the better. Without physical vitality the greatest accomplishments amount to nothing. The American scholar, as a rule, is a dyspeptic. He is a razor faced, lantern jawed, thin, nervous man. The old regimen for the student is obsolete and almost as fatal as yellow fever, long morning walks, before breakfast, reduction of diet, little sleep and frequent cold baths without well supported vitality. It is a wonder how many students live, any way."

"Is there a special weight in proportion to a man's height for him to perform athletic feats?"

"Yes. If a man is 5 feet high he should weigh from 103 to 108 pounds to be athletic in proportion. The proportions are arranged as follows, and they are accurate unless on account of some abnormal defects: Height 5 feet 4 inches, weight from 110 to 125 pounds; height 5 feet 7 inches, weight from 133 to 140 pounds; height 5 feet 8 inches, weight from 140 to 150 pounds; height 5 feet 9 inches, weight from 150 to 163 pounds; height 5 feet 10 inches, weight from 163 to 173 pounds; height 5 feet 11 inches, weight from 173 to 183 pounds; height 6 feet, weight from 180 to 193 pounds. It will be found the above figures show what the weight of a man should be in good condition according to the size of his bone, neck, chest, wrist, ankle and height, and, as a rule, if his measurement does not compare closely with these figures, he must be considerably out of proportion."—New York Mail and Express.

Theory of Coal Formation.

A new theory of coal formation has been advanced by M. De Grand Eury, which, a French journalist points out, is opposed to the idea that large trees and shrubs produced coal. A calculation, he maintains, of the accumulation of trees, etc., necessary for the conversion into even a thin coal bed, of a forest suddenly buried under water, or gradually letting its residue gather on the ground, leads to an evidently erroneous result, so greatly is it necessary to exaggerate either the mass of vegetable matter or the duration of the process of coal formation. He considers that the coal beds were formerly beds of naphtha and bituminous petroleum, produced by the decomposition of inferior aquatic vegetation under the influence of heat and dampness. This theory also, he thinks, will serve to explain the formation of petroleum, asphalt and other bituminous springs.—Boston Budget.

Night Thunderstorm Out West.

The most thrilling incident in the life of the cowboy occurs on the occasion of a thunderstorm at night. Such an occurrence is thus described from personal observation by Mr. William A. Baillie Grohman, an English writer:

"On the approach of one of these violent outbreaks the whole force is ordered on duty; the spare horses—of which each man has always three, and often as many as eight or ten—are carefully fed and tethered, and the herd is 'rounded up' that is, collected into as small a space as possible, while the men continue to ride around the densely massed herd. Like horses, cattle derive courage from the close proximity of man. The thunder peals, and the vivid lightning flashes with amazing brilliancy, as with lowered heads the herd eagerly watch the slow, steady pace of the cow ponies, and no doubt derive from it a comforting sense of protection. Sometimes, however, a wild steer will be unable to control his terror, and will make a dash through a convenient opening. The crisis is at hand, for the example will surely be followed, and in two minutes the whole herd of 4,000 head will have broken through the line of horsemen and be away, one surging, bellowing mass of terrified beasts."

"Fancy a pitch dark night, a pouring torrent of rain, the ground not only entirely strange to the men but very broken and full of dangerously deep watercourses and hollows, and you will have a picture of cowboy duty on such a night. They must head off the leaders. Once fairly off, they will stampede twenty thirty and even forty miles at a stretch, and many branches will stray from the main herd. Not alone the reckless rider, rushing headlong at breakneck pace over dangerous ground in dense darkness, but also the horses, small, insignificant beasts, but matchless for hardy endurance and willingness, are perfectly aware how much depends upon their speed that night, if it kills them. Unused till the last moment remains the heavy cowhide 'lumpy,' the whip, and the powerful spurs with reveals the size of five shilling pieces. Urged on by a shout the horses sped alongside the terrified sters until they manage to reach the leaders, when, swinging around, and fearless of horns, they press back the bellowing brutes till they turn them. All the men pursuing this maneuver the headlong rush is at last checked, and the leaders, panting and lashing their sides with their tails, are brought to a stand, and the whole herd is again 'rounded up.'—Joseph Nimmo, Jr. in Harper's Monthly.

The Island of Grimsey.

On the map of Iceland may be seen a speck of an island called Grimsey. It is the most northern, and consequently the coldest, of the Iceland group. Eighty-eight people—or more—live on it. They have tried to keep a few cows, but the winters are too hard for them. Two horses and a few sheep with very coarse fleeces are the only animals of the kind on the island. A good minister, Peter Goodmanson, lives in this remote place. He is a poet and an astronomer, and is employed to take observations for the Meteorological Institute at Copenhagen. Once or twice a year some of the islanders visit the mainland, but the stormy seas, covered with icebergs, make the passage always dangerous.

On one side of the island, which is a high precipice, countless birds build their nests, and the collection of eggs is one chief means of living for the little settlement. Men are let down over the face of the rock by ropes. They wear suits thickly wadded with feathers to save themselves from being hurt on the sharp rocks. Each man carries a pole to help himself with and a ladder for scooping up nests that he cannot reach with his hands. There is in his flock a great pocket in which he can put 150 eggs. There he works with the sea roaring beneath him. Many accidents occur and many lives are lost in this business.

"Guth's" Capacity for Work.

In speaking of book writing, Mr. Townsend once told me that it did not pay. "The Entailed Hat" had already been published a year and he said that his receipts from the same were less than $1,000. It had taken him as much work in its composition as a year of newspaper writing, and he had been able to do it only by rising early in the morning and writing at it before he commenced his news work for the day.

Townsend has a wonderful capacity for work. He writes 5,000 or 7,000 words regularly every day, and on a spur can increase the amount to two or three times this number of words. He says, however, that he grows tired after two or three hours' dictation and requires rest. He can get along with very little sleep, and has wonderful recuperative powers. He does more newspaper work than any other man in the United States, and his letters are published in half a dozen different papers. With all he finds time to write poetry, deliver lectures, send out a magazine article now and then, and write a novel. He is a great student, and he is probably as well posted upon the times with which his new novel deals as any other man in the world.—Frank G. Carpenter in Cleveland Leader.

Beecher's Opinion of the English.

"Does the Englishman continue to be a distinctive type of man?"

"Regarded as a whole they are squarely built, less delicately organized, less graceful in bearing, but more sturdy than Americans. Their dress is distinctively English, you know, noticeable there as it is here. You can always tell an Englishman when you see him, but I was particularly interested in noticing that up to the years of 15 and 16 the children are sturdier. They have fine complexions. The charming health of the English children is one of the most delightful features of English life; but we have nothing here, thank God, that can represent in any sense a large under class of people in London. Small of stature, emaciated from birth, they become by want of nourishing food a feeble race in everything except their passions. The wife of an English clergyman much interested in missionary effort said to me concerning this class: 'The highest we can even attempt with them is to induce them not to steal and to keep clean. That is our highest attainable aim.'—Henry Ward Beecher in New York World.

Improving on Nature.

"You can't improve on nature," said old Hardhead. "O, yes you can," said Young Hyson; "a man may be born a natural fool, but if he keeps on, like some men I know, by the time he's 50 he's a bigger fool than all the babies in the world. Nature can't make a fool equal to the man who makes a fool of himself." And then old Hardhead growled that he wasn't talking politics, but art.—Burdette.
