WILL NOT RECEIVE A BILL FROM MESSENGER

Said It Must be First Presented to Sergeant-at-Arms—Senators
Have Good Laugh.

When the Senate met this forenoon, the clerk explained that Senate bill 33 had been sent to the House but that the clerk of that body had refused to accept it. Mr. Kalanokalani explained that, when he had heard of this matter yesterday, he had gone to the clerk of the House and asked him what he meant by this kind of action. The clerk had replied that the House was not in session when the messenger of the Senate arrived with the bill; therefore he could not accept it.

The messenger on being asked for a statement regarding the transaction, said: "I went to the House yesterday and handed the clerk the bill. He said he could not accept it because I did not hand the bill to the sergeant-at-arms. I asked him if this was the rule of the House at the present time and he answered in the affirmative. I stated that the rules must have been changed very recently for, up to the present time, the clerk had received all of the matters from the Senate that I had handed him. He replied that the rules now were as he had just stated. He could not accept the bill. I then said I had better take back the bill to the Senate. The sergeant-at-arms was far back in the mauls end of the hall."

This explanation caused the Senators to laugh heartily. The clerk of the House had evidently taken umbrage at the action of the Senate in sending back to him various House bills that had not been properly certified. His story to Mr. Kalanokalani is noticeably different from that told by the messenger.

The bill was finally sent back to the House by the messenger of the Senate with instructions that he place it in the hands of the sergeant-at-arms of the House.

A communication from the House submitting House bill 34, relating to the Great Seal of the Territory of Hawaii, and being identical with the Senate bill on that matter, was read. The bill passed first reading. Third reading was set for Monday.

On motion of Mr. White, the report and resolution, relating to the pay of the stenographer, and adopted yesterday, was brought up for reconsideration and laid on the table.

This motion having carried, Mr. C. Brown, the chairman of the committee submitting the report and resolution, moved that the services of the stenographer be dispensed with. This was seconded by Mr. Carter who suggested that there was "something" under the whole thing that had been sprung on the Senate. However, he was glad that it had been done as it would give the impression on the part of the Senate of economy in all matters in which it happened to be concerned. The proceedings of the Senate, said Mr. Carter, would only cause ridicule, if printed.

He hoped that this laying on the table of the resolution would be the turning point and that the Senate would now get down and do some work for the people instead of wasting the time in useless bickerings. Mr. Carter then said that the Senate would not have got along as far as it had if it had not been for the assistance rendered by the minority.

Mr. Brown's motion was declared out of order.

Mr. Kaohi introduced a resolution to the effect that all those males who had been imprisoned up to the year 1900 and who had been freed and not had their civil rights returned to them, be pardoned and their civil rights returned to them. It was pointed out to the Senator that the resolution was contrary to the provisions of the Organic Act so he withdrew it.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Kaohi read by title, bills that they had previously given notice of. A number of bills were read the second time and referred to various committees.

The Senate adjourned at 11:30 o'clock.

Bond of W. O. Smith for $10,000, as trustee under the will of John H. Wood, deceased, was approved.

SALUTES WITH HER JIB.

A new wrinkle has appeared on the water front to worry those who know ships and their ways from stem to stern and from keel to truck. The cause of worryment is the way the Austrian warship Donau does her saluting.

In firing, with the report of the first gun, the jib on the Donau is hoisted and, at the sound of the last gun, it is hauled down.

It was noticed the first time when the Governor's secretary went aboard. However, as the sail has been hoisted every time she salutes, this could not have been the reason.

Amendment to Ewa Charter.

Petition was filed with Treasurer Lansing today by the officers of the Ewa Plantation Company, asking for an amendment to the Ewa charter. The amendment is for the purpose of more definitely describing the powers, responsibilities and liabilities of the directors.

The proposed change rests the election of officers in the board of directors. The board is elected by the stockholders. This matter was agreed to at the annual meeting of the stockholders.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Edward Francis Ward took place Thursday afternoon from St. Clement's chapel. The pall bearers were: Dr. Geo. Herbert, M. W. Gilbert, C. M. White, Henry Davis, Edgar Halstead, Frank Halstead, L. C. A. Pariah and N. E. Gedgo. Rev. John Osborne conducted the services at the chapel and the Rev. Macintosh at the grave. The last rites were attended by a large number of friends.

Strike Was Hatched in the Councils of the Machinists Union—Ultimatums Back and Forth.

The machinists at the Honolulu Iron Works have gone out on a strike. The number of men who refused to go to work this morning was between 45 and 50. This includes the entire machinist force at the works. Employees in all other departments are working as usual.

The strike is on at the order of the Hawaiian Lodge, No. 341, International Association of Machinists. A committee representing this union, called upon Superintendent C. Hedemann, at his office Thursday and presented a list of demands. The committee consisted of Messrs. L. Jamieson, Thos. Kimball and Wm. Allen. An extended conference was held between these men and afterwards, the officers of the Iron Works canvassed the subject carefully. Yesterday, an answer was given to the men refusing all their most important demands. On receipt of the reply, at a meeting of their union last night, the machinists decided to walk out.

When seen by a Bulletin reporter this morning Mr. Hedemann said that a formal strike had occurred this morning for the first time in the thirty years history of the institution. He said there was no hard feelings aroused and that while he regretted the action of the machinists, yet he was hopeful that they would reconsider their demands and come to see how it was utterly impossible for the company to concede. The strike is the outgrowth of the formation of the machinists' union a few months ago," said Mr. Hedemann. "We cannot think that any of our employees can complain of the treatment they receive. Since moving to the new shops, wages in all departments have been raised an average of 10 per cent. We are willing to pay the highest possible rate but there is a limit."

"The strikers have demanded that the company must employ only machinists who belong to their union, and that we recognize their union and treat through it instead of directly with the men. We will not bind ourselves to do this and cannot allow the constitution and by-laws of their order to govern our relations with machinists. They also want to fix the minimum rate of wages and the average rate. They leave us no liberty except the liberty of raising their pay. We have raised wages during the past month but cannot go higher. We aim to pay one dollar more per day of nine hours than is paid for the same class of labor on the Coast for a day of ten hours. We recognize the cost of living is high in Honolulu and are liberal with our men for that reason. We make discrimination in wages according to ability and cannot allow the union to take away this right."

"The men ask too that all disagreements be referred to an arbitration committee, and demand an eight-hour day on all government work. We told them we would try to comply with this demand but that the government makes its own rules. They also demand that men laid off in slack times, be given the first chance to resume work. This is a custom we have always followed."

"We have asked the men to reconsider their demands at their next meeting and I believe the matter will be settled amicably."

The president of the Machinists' Association was seen by a Bulletin reporter and asked for a statement of the laborers' side of the trouble. His reply was that there is no pillkita and that the machinists are merely taking a holiday.

"We are preparing to go on a picnic," he continued, "but I have no use for the newspapers and do not want my name used and there is no story."

"Are the machinists not out on a strike?" he was asked.

"No," he replied, "there is no strike. 'When will you return to work?'"

"In the course of human events," said the president, and he turned on his heel and walked away.

A leading feature of the House session this morning was the vigorous calling down given the Advertiser in its efforts to hold the legislators up to ridicule. Beckley brought up the matter on question of privilege and the Advertiser was let off on the warning that repetition of the offense would be followed by the expulsion of its representative from the House.

The business session opened after recess. Resolutions had been made by Mr. Beckley in the minutes.

The clerk read a communication from Clerk Caspless of the Senate in relation to the rejection of House bill No. 10. The House then transmitted the communication again to the clerk of the Senate, as he had neglected to attach his official title as clerk.

Swallow of the Committee on Military Veterans' report relative to the invitation of Adjutant Soppe to attend the drill tonight. The committee favored the acceptance of the invitation and the report was adopted.

A running debate took place on the report on House bills Nos. 21 and 22. The committee report on House bill No. 21 which was a substitute bill, was adopted. House bill No. 22 was received to be considered with the report and substitute bill No. 21.

Robertson produced an act to prevent the destruction of food fishes. Read by title first time and passed its first reading.

House bill No. 25, an act providing for judgments by default in suits upon contracts before District Magistrates, was reported upon by the Committee on Judiciary with several amendments with recommendation that it pass. Report tabled to be considered with the bill.

Beckley arose to a question of privilege to give the Advertiser a hauling over the coals for a lengthy article which appeared in that journal this morning occupying the front page.

Beckley read the article in true Lewis Morrison style, saying that the article was a damnable lie, and that the reporter of that paper was on the floor of the House by courtesy of the members, and the chair, and that it was a slur upon every member of the House. He then quoted from various passages of the article, one in particular in which he was compared to the character of "Dick Deadeye" in the opera of "Pinafore." Mr. Beckley was very much offended by the article and appealed to the chair for future protection.

Several members then took the floor and in no unmeasured terms stated their views relative to such newspaper attacks upon the individual members of the House.

Mossman called the attention of the chair to a passage in the Organic Act, and said that further publication of such articles would mean the expulsion of the press from the floor.

Makekau arose and aired his views upon the article in question and wanted the reporter of the Advertiser adjudged guilty of contempt and sent to the reef for thirty days as provided for in the Organic Act.

Beckley, who appealed to the chair as the injured party in the publication of the article, did not desire to have the reported expelled from the House, but simply to be reprimanded by the chair.

Aylett seconded the motion of Makekau which was in substance to fire the Advertiser reporter bodily. The remarks of Aylett caused a whole lot of fun among some of the members when he referred to the expression "Dick Deadeye" in the article whom he characterized as the one eyed man of "Pinafore" fame, and thought that the House should punish the press for such violations of respect and decency to the House and the chair.

The Beckley statement was then taken up to the Speaker, who stated that his attention was called a week ago to a statement in the same paper when the chair went to the Advertiser office personally and requested them not to make statements of this kind. The chair then took action in the Beckley affair and warned not only the Advertiser but the press in general relative

MATERNITY HOME LUAAU.

The fair and luau at the Kapiolani Maternity Home has begun under most favorable circumstances and crowds of people are thronging to the place. The Senators and Representatives will attend this afternoon. At 8 o'clock, dancing will begin and at 10 o'clock, the festivities will end. Those who have already been out to the Home, say the affair is an immense success.

ONE PIECE ALONE BRINGS IN $85,500

Hotel and Union Street Corner Sold to Armitage for $22,400—One Large Piece Withdrawn.

The event of the day in real estate circles was the sale of valuable property belonging to the C. K. C. Rooke estate at the auction rooms of Jas. F. Morgan. When the 12 o'clock whistles blew, there was a great crowd in the rooms. From estimates made by one who is well acquainted with the financial standing of the various interests of the city, there was in the neighborhood of $20,000,000 of capital represented.

Among those present at the sale were the following: C. Hedemann, Judge Humphreys, Bruce Cartwright, Harry Armitage, R. W. Shingle, Henry Waterhouse, A. W. Carter, F. M. Swaney, W. F. Allen, E. A. Mott-Smith, Harold Mott-Smith, Cecil Brown, J. F. Colburn, Prince David Kawanakoa, W. C. Weedon, C. S. Desky, A. C. Lovelock, Willard Brown, J. A. Magoon, J. Mendonca, S. T. Damon, T. H. Walker, W. W. Hall, H. M. Dow, J. H. Fisher, J. J. King, P. M. Pond, J. Dowsett, Fred Macfarlane, Larry Dee, P. A. Schaefer, G. R. Carter, J. M. Monsarrat and Q. H. Barry.

Previous to the sale of the Rooke property, Mr. Morgan sold the leases of the Brenig block on Nuuanu street and a number of small lots on Nuuanu, Queen and Maunaloa streets as follows:

Brenig block—Frontage on Queen and Nuuanu streets. Rental to begin from June 1, 1900, at upset monthly rental of $125 per month. The upset price was forthcoming at once but the figures soon rose by jumps of five dollars until the lease was knocked down to Harry Evans for the sum of $175.

Lot 1—Frontage of over 27 feet on Queen street. Upset rental of $35 per month. Sold to Chong Wai at $35.

Lot 2—Frontage on Nuuanu street. Upset rental of $25. Privilege of Lot 4. Both lots sold to Yong Ah Nin at $40 rental per month, apiece.

Lot 7, with privilege of lots 6 and 8—Upset rental of $25 per month. This sale was the most exciting of the lot. P. H. Burnette was pitted against F. M. Swaney and the bids were run up to $112.50 and then knocked down to the latter.

Lots 6 and 5—Upset rental of $25 per month. Sold to S. W. Lederer for $75.50 apiece.

Lot 8—Upset rental of $25 per month. Sold to Honolulu Iron Works (C. Hedemann) for $77.50.

Lot B of the Rooke property was next put under the hammer. This piece of property is at the junction of Union and Hotel streets, next to King Bros' art store. It has a frontage of 99.9 feet on Union street, 14.6 feet on Hotel street, 82 feet rear boundary, 70.2 feet depth and contains an area of 3284 square feet.

The upset price was $15,000 this did not last long. Judge Humphreys and Harry Armitage were the bidders. The former stopped bidding at $22,400 and the lot was knocked down to Mr. Armitage.

Lot A, property between Hotel and Beretania streets, having a frontage of 108 feet on Fort street, 171 feet running through to Union street, 184.3 feet on Union street and containing 28,621 square feet, was put under the hammer at the upset price of $85,000. No one would bid at this price. Henry Waterhouse wanted to make a start at $50,000 but Mr. Morgan smiled, saying he already had a $75,000 bid. The price was finally reduced to $80,000 and, no one bidding, it was placed at $75,000 and started. C. Wolters bid $75,000 but no one seemed anxious to raise him. After about five minutes, the bidding was taken up again and C. S. Desky bid $77,000. The bidding then continued to $80,500 when it was knocked down to Mr. Wolters.

The sale of the property at the corner of Nuuanu and Beretania streets, formerly used by the kindergarten, was withdrawn, no one caring to bid at the upset price of $95,000.

Mr. Kaunha presented the following resolution relating to rooms for committee meetings and the giving of notices of committee meetings:

Whereas, there is a large amount of committee work accumulated and fast accumulating, and no committee rooms having been provided for the use of the Senate, and

Whereas, it is the usual custom at the nation's capital and at the capital of every other State and Territory in the Union to provide the most important committees with a room for regular place of meeting, for which place, notice may be given of committee meetings and where, not only the members of the committee and its necessary assistants shall meet but, where citizens of the Territory may meet with the committee, at stated times, upon notice given, to express their views and arguments for or against proposed legislation by which many good ideas are obtained and incorporated into the public laws, therefore

Be it further resolved, That the President appoint a committee of three members to wait upon the Secretary of the Territory and make known the desire of the Senate for at least three such committee rooms, and

Be it further resolved, That when a meeting of a standing committee is determined and ordered by the members thereof, that the chairman of such committee shall send to the President's desk a written call, stating the name of the committee to meet and the time and place of meeting and the President shall make the announcement of committee meetings, each day before adjournment.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

DAVID KANUHA.
Senator from the 3d District.

Senate bill 5 was brought up for consideration on the order of the day. There was a disposition on the part of the majority to postpone consideration and a motion to allow it to pass by until Monday was finally passed.

When Senate bill 32, relating to the Great Seal of the Territory of Hawaii was taken up in third reading, there was immediately precipitated quite an argument. Mr. White insisted that the Roman numerals on the seal should be changed for Arabic numerals. Mr. Crabbe explained that the seal which was proposed in the bill was the same that had been used by the Territorial government since the time of annexation.

Mr. White said that this action on the part of the Territorial officials was a little "too previous." Mr. Carter explained that the Territory had to have some kind of a seal in order to transact business. In fact, the order had come from Washington that some manner of a seal should be adopted, pending the session of the Legislature.

Mr. Carter said that there could not possibly be any objection to the bill as it stood. Mr. White had simply suggested a useless amendment to the bill just for the purpose of showing his thumb mark. Mr. White thanked the member for his remarks but denied that there was any intention on his part to register his thumb mark. He wanted it understood that he was working for the good of the people. He said that if the minority did not like the change, they could go up and see the Governor. Mr. C. Brown was on his feet in a second, objecting to the members dragging in the name of the Governor. He said Mr. White had no right to indulge in such personalities. Mr. White said that he would then leave the Governor in his sacred position, unscathed, and proceed to business.

The bill was finally laid on the table to be taken up on Monday.

Other bills were read second and third time and disposed of in the regular way.

At 3:30 o'clock, the Senate adjourned.

PROBLEMS FOR THE CHESS ENTHUSIASTS

The Chess Editor regrets that through accident rather than fault the conditions of Problem No. 1 were not given. However, any adept in problem solving would soon see that the conditions were, white mates in two moves. Solution is held over till next week. Games given in this column are chosen to show the advantages and disadvantages of certain openings, in order to assist the young player as much as possible. They are selected with that purpose in view and the editor hopes thereby to be instructive as well as entertaining. A study of the game given this week will repay any one who wishes to advance in chess theory. As this column is more for the purpose of arousing a keener interest in chess among the novices, their interests will have precedence over those of older players, although we shall do our best to interest the veterans as well. Local games, however, containing meritorious play will have precedence over all others. The editor hopes the chess players in the community will do their best to help him out. Problems and games are earnestly requested.

The purpose of this move which was introduced by Tichgorin, is to maintain the pawn at K4.

If White had played here PxB, Black's answer would have been Kt (B3) xP with a good game. If, however, 6 BxKt, PxB; 7 PxB, then PxB, followed by B-Q3, and Black obtains an attack which compensates for the weak Queen's side Pawns.

A desperate move, apparently. But White threatened P-Kt5, followed by P-B6 and eventually Q-R5. It seems that White might have answered PxB, and if then BxP, 18 Q-Kt5ch winning a Pawn.

Chess Notes.

The great tournament at Monte Carlo has been unfortunate in not securing either Lasker or Pillsbury, although England and America are well represented by Blackburne and Marshall. The latter, however, seems a little erratic in his performances. If he is "in form" he should come out near the top—but from previous records he is not the reliable player that Pillsbury has proven himself to be and even at his best he is a long, long way behind the champion.

Dr. Lasker did not participate probably on account of lack of sufficient remuneration—at present he is engaged by a chess club in England to lecture on and teach chess to its members. Pillsbury is on his honeymoon, having been married on January 20. Neither, however, needed any glory; they have won sufficient laurels in the past to let the minor lights have their innings. From the list, Blackburne ought to come out on top, although he has already lost a game to Gunsberg; with Janowski, Tachigorin and Marshall close seconds. Alapin seems to be playing in better form than usual. At the end of the first week the score was:

Ply'd.	Won.	Lost.	Drew.
Alapin	4	2	2
Blackburne	4	3	1
Didier	4	4	1
Gunsberg	3	2	1
Janowski	4	3	1

MANY A MOTHER'S WISH.

Many a mother of a peevish, restless sickly child has wished that her little one was as strong and rugged as an Indian babe. Such mothers can make their children strong and well, if they rid the child's system of worms, which cause nine-tenths of children's troubles. Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer will do it. For centuries the Indians used it to make their babes rugged, powerful, fearless. What it has done for the child of the forest it will do for the child of the civilized—cure. That is what it has been doing for years. You can get it of your druggist for 25 cents. Be sure to get the genuine. The child's life is too precious to trifle with worthless substitutes. Customs Officers Win Their Fight

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—The customs officials have scored a victory in their effort to board the naval transport Solace and search her for dutiable goods.

One of the inspectors stationed at Mare Island today notified Surveyor of the Port Spear by telegraph that the Secretary of the Navy had instructed Commander Winslow to permit the customs officials to search his vessel.

Mr. Spear was not officially notified of the ruling and Collector Stratton did not receive a reply to his telegram sent to the Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon. He expected to hear from Washington this afternoon.

A force of customs officers will leave for Mare Island this evening, and Surveyor Spear will go up tomorrow morning. The work of thoroughly searching the Solace will go on under his direction.

Although Commander Winslow stated that there were no dutiable goods on the Solace, the customs officers have sixty-six packages in their possession. Twenty-nine were secured yesterday, and, judging by their bulky appearance, the contents are more valuable than the first consignment secured. The team hauling the goods taken yesterday could not get through the mud, and it was necessary to secure two extra horses.

Two hundred and fifty packages of sorghum seed were received this week by Wray Taylor, Commissioner of Agriculture. This seed is for free distribution and any one wishing to experiment with sorghum may have a bag of seed on application.

LEGISLATORS AND TEMPERANCE

The introduction of the Gillilan liquor license resolution Tuesday forenoon gave rise to some of the most spirited discussion of the session. Many members put themselves on record on the temperance question which will likely occupy an important place later in the session. Some of the more pointed remarks were as follows: MAKKAU—In looking over the different applications for liquor licenses a great deal of favoritism has been shown by those granting the licenses. It looks to me that the policy that is being pursued is depriving the Territory of needed revenues. I therefore move the rejection of this resolution till the question of liquor license comes up. EMMELUTH—I consider that the government has been granting licenses on conditions unheard of and to parties upon a mere request. If the statements of Makkaeu are correct which I believe them to be, it only urges upon us the necessity of adopting this resolution. We have got to direct the moral situation of these islands and I have made up my mind after careful observation that I will work to lessen the evil of the saloon business of this city. I am simply stating my views on the liquor question and I heartily endorse the resolution. MONSARRAT—Makekau wants to stop the discrimination practiced in its giving licenses whereby a man who is "in touch with the gang" could provide a license to those not in touch with the powers. MOSSMAN—Opposed to the resolution and the present system of issuing licenses. This resolution is the forerunner of opposition to ultimate prevention of liquor sale in the Territory. EWALIKO—Resolution is not introduced upon the proper foundation. A person should have the right to drink when and where he pleases. KANIHO—Did not believe in restricting licenses to a favorite few. Adoption of such a resolution was depriving the Territory of revenue. AYLETT—Favored the resolution. It gave an opportunity to learn if officials were doing their duty. Referring to the one-sided way of granting licenses, the first time I noticed this was when the Bee Hive saloon was burned out. The owner was not allowed to occupy the same site but was forced to occupy another locality. In the face of this several saloons have been granted licenses in the territory where the Bee Hive saloon was denied a location. A committee should be appointed to learn the reason for such action. PRENDERGAST—Advanced several instances where the Treasurer had extended privileges in the case of saloons on Oahu. Not one-tenth the Hawaiian applications for liquor licenses have been granted and there is strong evidence to show unjust discrimination.

TRIALS OF THE AUDITOR.

Auditor General Austin in his report to the Governor says: The year under review has been a peculiarly trying one for this department. Commenting in the midst of the most disastrous epidemic financially which has ever visited these islands, and covering the period of transition in the form of local government from the "Republic" to the Territory of Hawaii, many new questions were raised which had to be decided in accordance with the law and precedence when any case existed applicable to the case, or by the exercise of the limited discretionary powers reserved in the Auditor, when no direct provision could be found. In all decisions and rulings necessitated by these unusual conditions, I have endeavored to correctly construe the law, and at the same time to facilitate public business.

SUGAR GOOD FOOD.

New York, March 2.—A cable to the World from Berlin says: Dr. Gustav Jaeger contributes an article to a Stuttgart magazine on the subject of dancing, especially as to the clothes to be worn and the food to be eaten by dancers. He has found that women are more indefatigable dancers than men not because they are stronger, but because men's clothes are so ridiculous. In mountain climbing the costume is a loose garment around the neck, with stockings and knickerbockers. Were a somewhat refined edition of this costume worn in the ballroom, men would be better and lustier dancers. Then, too, men drink beer and wine and smoke, while the women eat sweets. "If," says Dr. Jaeger, "you want to spur a horse to extra exertions give him sugar. It is exactly so with men."

A PRACTICAL JOKE ON A WAIKIKI BATHER

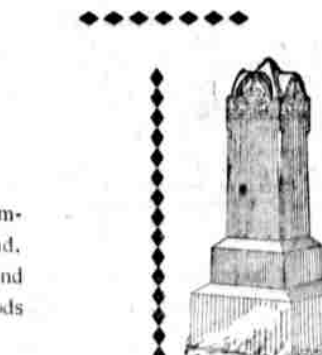

A practical joke, the victim of which had too much good sense to get mad over it, was perpetrated out at the beach on Sunday. As is usual with all practical jokes, it was lots of fun for everybody "in" on it but not for the victim. A party of young people went out for dinner at the beach. There were several in the party and some of the young men decided to go in swimming. The bathers left their valuables with the ladies of the party who did not care to bathe. While one of the young men was disporting in the water, a companion procured a large piece of wrapping paper and, going to his friend's bathroom, appropriated his trousers and wrapped them up tidily in the paper. Then taking a pencil, he wrote on the package, "Fannie, keep this until I come and get it from you, John."

The package was given to a Chinese servant who, in turn, gave it to the young lady. All unsuspecting of the joke or the contents of the package, the young lady put it carefully away. It got to be dinner time and the bathers came out of the water. They all hurried to dress except John who is very particular about his toilet and took his time. The party had all assembled near the dining room and, dinner being called, they went in. The young lady waited a little for John but he did not appear. Pretty soon, she grew tired of waiting, and also a little annoyed at the delay and so she went in to the table. When the meal was nearly finished, a message was delivered to the host by the Chinese servant who was sent to look for the missing guest. The message was "Mr. John no can come in. Some man steal him pants."

LEGISLATORS AND SUNDAY LAW

One of the most extensive discussions of the House arose Thursday afternoon over a bill relating to Sunday laws. The ideas of the more important speakers were expressed as follows: PUIKI—God made the laws and not man. He said that there were no mistakes in the Territorial laws. When men got to be wiser than God, then they would be able to realize the beauties and extent of the Sunday laws. Relative to the plantation on Kauai working on Sunday, he thought it was a great mistake that the owners were not prosecuted for performing labor on Sunday. ROBERTSON—Laws will become dead letters unless honestly applied. Sometimes the legislative branch of the government will run ahead of the thoughts of the people and then again, will be backward. Under what was termed at one time the old "Blue Laws" the people were afraid to venture out of doors. The laws of 1886 were somewhat in advance of that previous to it, which set forth that things that were prohibited on Sunday. As years pass by we find that many of the laws have become dead letters. The last speaker, who made the statement that the laws were all wrong, was mistaken. The lack of enforcing the laws was where the trouble came in. The laws are flagrantly violated and no one seems to take interest enough to see that the laws are properly carried out. Relative to the band concerts, public sentiment largely controlled the playing of music on Sunday, notwithstanding the laws bearing upon the subject at the time had been violated. The Sunday measure should be framed and adopted so as to meet with public sentiment. Mr. Robertson then offered the following: Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that the Sunday laws may very properly be made more liberal, that a special committee of five members be appointed to recommend amendments, and that House bill 37 be referred to such committee. PRENDERGAST—The law is like a spider watching for the small fly and gobbling him up. The poor man is usually made to feel the weight of the Sunday law. He regretted of course to have the old laws repealed. In some parts of the United States they had Sunday laws and in some places they have not. The great responsibility was in the fact that the present Sunday law was thrown upon the poor man and not upon the rich. I was brought up under the Sunday laws. I left my home in Molokai, a good church member and came to Honolulu where, in January, 1893, I jumped the traces and have not been in church since. The reason I did not keep up my church connections was brought about by the actions of those who introduced Sunday laws, into the country. Since then I have not attended church but once or twice. Now that we are under one flag with the United States and all men are equal and alike, we should all be alike in every sense. One reason why I want to adopt a bill of the kind is because I told the people that I would assist in the amending of the Sunday Laws. MAKANAI—Under the laws of the American Government, one could see that the laws were being trampled under foot. In former days Sunday was strictly kept but now, one can see many laws violated that were kept sacred in the past. One could go down to the water front on Saturday and see labor being performed that is strictly prohibited under the present law. KAAUWAI—The different arguments of the members could be compared with the Chinawoman with small feet who cannot stand upon them. In framing the Organic Act, it was thought best not to interfere with the present Sunday Laws. However, as these old laws were still being repealed, it could not be said the Hawaiians were still Christians. MAKKAU—The American people who introduced these laws here have led us blindly by a direct violation of the laws they are desirous of now forcing upon us. This is the cry of the Christian people of the land, to repeal a law of this kind. I think that if we repeal these old laws, we are doing things contrary to the actions of God. Violation of the present laws by the rich people is not sufficient reason for repealing the existing law. The only reason that our country was taken from us was the superior force of numbers shown. We can well understand that the object of taking our country from us was to take affairs out of our hands. We had no firearms to fight back with. The Hawaiians went down on their knees and prayed for relief from the conditions in which they had been placed. It is the very people who took the country away from us who are now getting it in the neck. I think it was God who made these Sunday Laws for our protection and, in order to back up my view against the repealing of these Sunday Laws, I feel that it is the presence of God that keeps us together and, even if the laws are violated by the officials of this Territory, let the man with the red skin stand by the present laws and hope for relief with the aid of God.

GOVERNMENT NURSERY WORK.

Commissioner Taylor in his report to the Governor says: Considerable improvement has been made at the government nursery on King street. A new fence has been built entirely around the grounds and necessary repairs have been made to the house. It is from here that the distribution of plants, palms, shade and wind break trees is made to the general public, and for the beautifying of the government school grounds. That this free distribution is a boon to the community is shown by the number distributed. By first obtaining an order from the office, the bearer is entitled to one, two, three or four more dozen of selected plants on condition that they are planted and well taken care of. A large number of new building lots have been opened out during the year, in and around Honolulu, and the government, through its nursery, has been able to assist people in beautifying them with trees and plants which are most suited to this tropical climate. Plants and trees have also been sent to the other islands.

OBITUARY OF MR. LUTTED.

James Lutted, proprietor of the New England Bakery, has had the pleasant privilege of reading his obituary in the Buffalo News. This all came about through the Rio disaster and a letter written by Mr. Lutted to his relatives which led them to believe he would be a passenger on that ship. Although his name did not appear in the list of those saved or lost, the letter received by his brother-in-law about the time of the disaster convinced his friends that Lutted must have been on the boat. The genial candy manufacturers obituary reads as follows: Mr. Lutted was one of the most widely known men in Buffalo during his residence here. For many years he ran a large wholesale candy business on Elliott street. He employed several traveling salesmen and had a business extending over a large territory. After making a fortune he sold out this business and engaged in other lines among which was real estate. He made unfortunate investments and lost practically all of his money. In order to make a living he went back into the candy business and opened a retail store on Main street near Seneca. This business was not as profitable as it might have been and when an opportunity came he sold out. While out of business he heard of an opportunity to get a candy factory in Honolulu, and thinking the future there would give him an opportunity to recoup his losses here, he bought the factory on credit and went there and re-engaged in the manufacture of candy with his old time vigor. His trade increased to such an extent that he had to secure larger quarters and incorporate his firm under the name of "The New England Bakery and Candy Company."
