No Band for Republicans.
 The Hawaiian band did not play at the Republican convention as has been announced, and the regular concert was given at Emma Square last evening.

Musician was willing enough to play the music for the Republicans, but on consulting with Governor Dole he decided that it would not be advisable to permit the band to play at the functions. The band is a public institution, supported by the people, and to have it play for one political party seemed unfair to the other, particularly as both parties were holding conventions on the same day.

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS GIRD ON THEIR ARMOR FOR THE FIRST AMERICAN ELECTION

Sam Parker Heads The Republican Ticket.

GOOD WORK OF THE DELEGATES

A Central Committee Made up of Best Fighting Material.

Republicans of the Territory of Hawaii have selected Samuel Parker as by one of its leaders echoed the stirring nomination speech of the man who placed the stalwart Hawaiian name before them, and in the end, with one mighty shout and with enthusiasm such as Honolulu has rarely known before, a unanimous vote was cast for Parker as nominee for Congress. The Convention before adjourning selected its Territorial Central Committee. The names of the committeemen were proposed and offered by each district in turn, and they represent a good set of men. There was no discussion over their merits and everyone seemed satisfied with the personnel. In the afternoon, the most important work accomplished was the Republican platform. From beginning to end it had the earnest support of the delegates. There was no dissension. Harmony prevailed throughout. The passage of the planks of the platform, one by one, was hailed with enthusiastic outbreaks. The Central Territorial Committee chosen last night will meet this morning in the Republican campaign rooms in the Elite block, at 9 o'clock, to effect its permanent organization and select its officers. THE MORNING SESSION. The Republican Territorial Convention of Hawaii opened under auspicious circumstances. There was little or no sparring for time after the gavel, wielded by George W. Smith, chairman of the Central Territorial Committee, struck the table. The hall was well filled with the delegates chosen by the representative tee, which was seconded by Judge Kaulukou. W. J. Lowrie of the Third District (Maui) moved the nominations close and that the election of Mr. Hendry be made unanimous. The chair announced the selection of Mr. Hendry as his right-hand man during the preliminary affairs of the convention and the gentleman took his seat on the platform. A. B. Loebenstein of the First District moved that the chair appoint a committee on credentials consisting of one member from each representative district. The committee was appointed as follows: A. B. Loebenstein, First District; H. L. Holstein, Second District; M. H. Reuter, Third District; Andrew Brown, Fourth District; George F. Renton, Fifth District. Upon motion of Judge Kaulukou a recess for five minutes was taken to allow the committee to make up its report. In the time specified Mr. Loebenstein, chairman of the committee, reported as follows:

Vaudeville and politics were mingled at the district convention of the Democrats at the Orpheum last evening. It was rather hard to tell where the politics ended and the vaudeville began, for the proceedings savored of opera bouffe throughout. "To keep the people in a good humor during the recess," a number of the Orpheum stars had been engaged and they danced and sang for a half hour or more to the delight of the convention. It was evident that the proceedings were cut and dried. Scarcely any concealment of that fact was attempted. The nominations had been prepared beforehand by the politicians that control the Democracy of the city. They had even been set down on typewritten sheets; everything went as had been prepared beforehand. The men who had been chosen to make the nominations sat in front close to the platform and they gave out the names, consulting their little leaflets at intervals, while the mass of the convention sat in the rear and took it all without protest. From back in the house W. A. Kinney ventured a mild remonstrance to this sort of machine work, but even then there was little modification of the program and most of the nominees were placed on the ticket by ten or a dozen of the ring.

PLATFORM Of the Republican Party of the Territory of Hawaii.

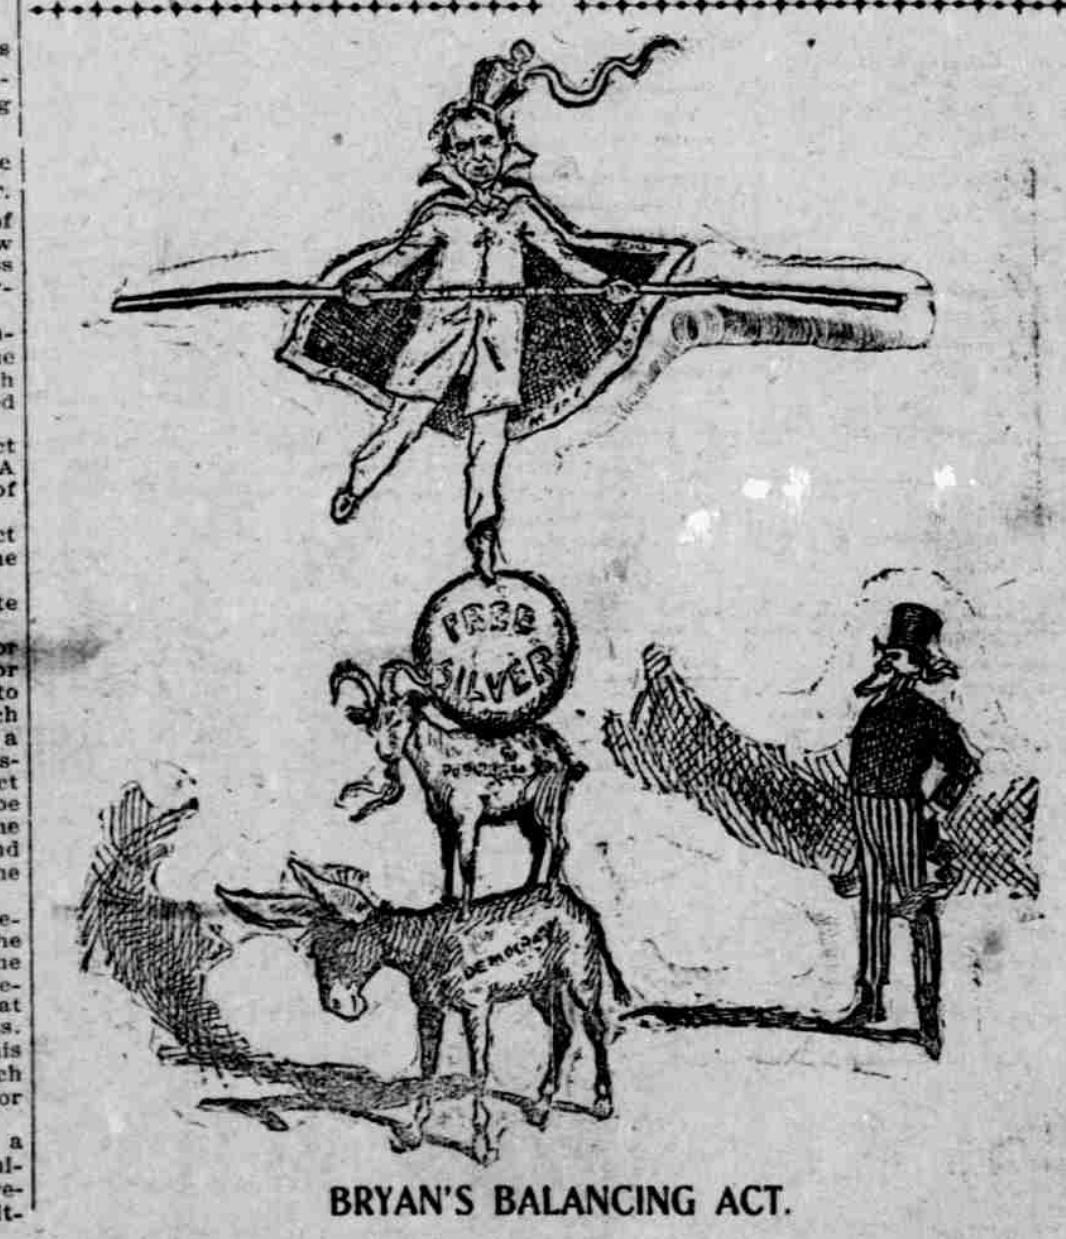

PREAMBLE.
 Hon. H. P. Baldwin, Chairman.—Sir: Your committee on platform beg to submit herewith a draft of a platform which we recommend for adoption. Respectfully submitted, H. P. BALDWIN,
 C. R. BLACOW,
 A. G. M. ROBERTSON,
 W. O. AIKEN,
 HARRY T. MILLS,
 W. C. ACHI,
 JAS. H. BOYD,
 D. KAHAELELO,
 ED. FRASER,
 CHARLES WILLIAMS.

The Republican party of the Territory of Hawaii in convention assembled hereby make the following declaration of principles, to the support of which we and our candidates are pledged:
 We heartily endorse the platform of the National Republican party and the nominations thereupon of William McKinley for President and Theodore Roosevelt for Vice President of the United States.
 We believe in the equality of all men under just laws of their own making and we shall oppose any restriction or limitation of the suffrage which we now enjoy under the Territorial Act.
 We shall, as speedily as possible, endeavor to secure Statehood for this Territory.
 We demand more speedy improvement of our harbors, wharfrage and landing facilities throughout this Territory to meet the requirements of our rapidly increasing commerce, and we shall strive to secure from the National Government appropriations for the improvement of our harbors, the erection of public buildings and for other public needs.
 We recognize the importance to this Territory and to the country of the construction of the Nicaragua canal under governmental ownership and control, and pledge our party's earnest and continued efforts to secure the early commencement and completion of the work, and we urge upon the United States Congress the prompt enactment of such legislation as shall secure the construction of the Pacific cable.
 We favor the employment on all public works of only qualified voters and citizens of the Territory. We believe that eight hours should constitute a legal day's work for all laborers, mechanics and other persons employed on public works.
 We recommend continued liberal appropriation for the maintenance and comfort of our unfortunate fellow citizens at Kalaupapa, Molokai, in order that their segregation may be as small a misfortune as possible.
 We declare ourselves in favor of the extension of the homestead principle and the prompt enactment by Congress of such law as will provide for the early settlement and improvement of our public lands under the supervision of the local authorities, and with the least difficulty and expense to the settler.
 We favor the establishment of county and municipal governments as soon as practicable.
 We oppose all trusts and monopolies and all combinations tending to control supplies and prices.
 We advocate that a liberal allowance be appropriated by the Legislature for the use and benefit of Liliuokalani.
 We earnestly request the Congress of the United States to amend that portion of the Territorial Act which provides that the English language only shall be used in legislative proceedings so as to permit the use of the Hawaiian language.
 We favor the payment of all just claims for losses caused by the action of the Board of Health in suppressing bubonic plague, and in this connection we urge that the Congress of the United States should provide the means for such payment out of the customs receipts collected at the ports of this Territory.
 We recognize the necessity of reforming our system of taxation, and to this end favor careful consideration of the whole subject with a view to adjusting the public burden so that it shall be least felt by the poor.
 Relying upon the wisdom and support of the voters of the Territory of Hawaii and the guidance of divine providence, we shall earnestly strive to carry out the foregoing declarations and to do whatever else may be necessary to perpetuate upon our soil a "government of the people, by the people and for the people."

districts of Hawaii. Six districts were noted by placards, commencing with the First and Fourth directly in front of the platform; next in order were the Second and Fifth, and lastly the Third and Sixth.
 Some surprise was manifested when the seats of the Sixth District were found to be vacant. Not a member of the Republican party from the Island of Kauai was present. Not a proxy was received and Kauai showed plainly that those who represented the Republican party in the first Republican convention held last May had backslided and left their party in the lurch. The following notation on the slip containing the official list of names of delegates evidenced the lack of support which the party leaders have to expect from their Kauai brethren:
 "Sixth Representative District (Islands of Kauai and Niihau)—Entitled to 12 delegates; no official advices of any being elected." Promptly at 10 o'clock Chairman George W. Smith called the convention to order.
 "Gentlemen: The second convention of the Republican party of Hawaii will now please come to order. The first business will be the election of a temporary chairman."
 D. Kahaelelo of the Third District immediately arose and presented the name of Judge J. L. Kaulukou of the Fifth District. The nomination was seconded by Mr. Johnson.
 George Hons of the Third District (Maui) nominated Mr. H. P. Baldwin. A second was found in Harry T. Mills of the Second District (Hawaii).
 C. B. Wilson of the Fourth District moved that the nominations close. The motion was carried unanimously.
 George Hons moved that a rising vote be taken on the nominations.
 The clerk counted the rising vote for Judge Kaulukou, followed by that for Mr. Baldwin. As the chair was about to announce the result of the count, which was clearly in favor of Mr. Baldwin by a large majority, Judge Kaulukou graciously called the chair's attention to the fact that Mr. Baldwin's election should be made unanimous. Mr. McCandless of the Fifth District thought the same way, and Mr. Baldwin was declared elected by the voice of the entire delegation present.
 Chairman Smith appointed D. Kahaelelo and Judge Kaulukou to escort the temporary chairman to the platform. The new chairman was introduced to the retiring presiding officer, and the former at once called for the order of business.
 There was no demonstration over his election. Mr. Baldwin checked any such purpose by at once proceeding to call for the order of business.
 The chair asked for nominations for a temporary secretary. C. B. Wilson nominated E. R. Hendry, the present secretary of the Central Republican Commit-

"Mr. Chairman: Your committee on credentials beg to report as follows: First District, full delegation, 13; present, 7, proxies, 6; total, 13. Second District, full delegation, 12; present, 12, proxies, 0; total, 12. Third District, full delegation, 18; present, 16, proxies, 2; total, 18.  "No official advices from the Sixth Representative District," announced Chairman Loebenstein of the committee.
 The roll call resulted as follows:

MACHINE RUNS THE

There was one attempt to smash the name of John F. Colburn, who wanted to see the name of T. R. Lucas substituted on the list of nominees for the Fourth District. However, and the vote was voted down, however, and the state prevailed.

Probably by the news that the vaudeville entertainment was to form a gathering had assembled. The hall was about two-thirds full, and in all being there. On the stage were portraits of W. J. Bryan, Prince David, with a few palms and a mirror in the center draped with an American and a Hawaiian flag. Up front sat the members of the ring, attending each other at intervals. At the back were a number of gentlemen. A crowd of small boys crowded the gallery.

It was not until 7:45 that Colonel C. McCarthy appeared on the stage and called the meeting to order. He immediately asked for nominations for the Fourth District. John Wise was chosen without opposition.

John D. McManahan then suggested McCarthy's name for permanent chairman and he was seated at once. John Wise to the platform to interpret. Asked for a speech, McCarthy blushed a bit and then said that he should do his best to make the proceedings that wished it. "My business this evening," he said, "is to nominate six senators for the Territory of Hawaii, and six representatives for the Fourth and Fifth Districts, as well as to choose thirty-six delegates to represent us at the Democratic Territorial Convention which will be held in this city at a date not yet settled. And before we get down to business I want to read this letter from Prince David Kawanakoa, so that his name may not be presented for any of the offices tonight."

The letter was the now famous one from Prince David announcing himself as a candidate for Delegate to Congress on the Democratic ticket. It was as follows:

Honolulu, Sept. 21, 1900.

Mr. C. J. McCarthy, Chairman of the Territorial Central Committee of the Democratic Party of Hawaii.
Dear Sir:—I desire to inform you that in the request of the representatives of the business and financial interests of the country, and conceiving the danger attending the non-action on my part in reference to the election of a delegate to Congress to represent our large and varied interests, I have consented to be heavily burdened myself a candidate for delegate for the Territory of Hawaii to the Congress of the United States of America. Sincerely yours, D. KAWANAKOA.

His reading was greeted with great applause, and when John Wise had translated it into Hawaiian there was loud cheering by the natives present.

Nominations were then declared in order for senators for Oahu.

SAM PARKER HEADS THE

ance before the platform was the signal for cheering applause.

"Mr. Chairman and Brother Members of this Convention: I hereby approve the nomination of Samuel Parker to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses of the United States. We were together, as you all know, at the Philadelphia convention. I followed right on his heels (laughter). We delegates came down from Maui pledged to nominate and vote for Samuel Parker. I will go back to Maui and report to them that Sam Parker is the choice of the convention, and I will work day and night, too, for his election on the island of Maui. I hope that you one and all will be as hard workers as I will be. I will begin my campaign on Wednesday morning for the Republican party of Hawaii."

The speaker took his seat amid convulsive laughter and was followed by A. G. M. Robertson, speaking on behalf of the Fourth District (Honolulu).

"I have been requested by my friends of the Fourth District to second the nomination of Samuel Parker to be our delegate to Washington. Mr. Parker has strength because he is a man of all places the utmost confidence. He enjoys popularity and the faith of the people and also the confidence of the authorities at Washington, and he is as much at home in the presence of President McKinley as he is with us of Hawaii. He is the man who should be our choice for the delegateship. With these few remarks I will simply say that the Fourth District will do its work and will labor to its utmost capacity for Samuel Parker. We hope the other delegates will realize that their work is just beginning."

For the Fifth District (Honolulu and Oahu) George R. Carter, president of the Fifth District organization, spoke for his fellow-delegates. "It gives me great pleasure," said he, "to second the nomination of Samuel Parker. I agree with the previous speaker that Mr. Parker is a man of the masses. He is also a massive man. (Laughter.) We are confident of his election. (Applause.) It is a gratifying thing to me that the Republican convention is so unanimous, and that this convention has been without any dissensions."

"I congratulate the Republican party upon starting out in its first campaign in these islands with unanimity of action and unanimity of people. There is no question as to who our leader should be. He is Samuel Parker." (Applause.)

"I move you, Mr. Chairman, that as I am the last speaker, and from the last district here represented, that the secretary be instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the entire convention for Hon. Samuel Parker as Delegate to Congress."

The motion was seconded by Judge Kaula. When the chairman called for the "ayes" a mighty volume of voices arose from the floor of the convention.

Secretary Hendry dropped one ballot into the hat held by Chairman Baldwin. On it was the name, "Sam Parker."

Chairman Baldwin: "Mr. Parker is declared duly nominated by the Republican party of Hawaii as its candidate for Delegate to the Congress of the United States."

The enthusiasm which had been coked up during the time the secretary was depositing the ballot came out in a rush of delegates for a few minutes baffles adequate description.

"Speech! Speech! Parker!" yelled the crowd.

The nominee came to the platform escorted by Mr. Loebenstein and made one of his terse, happy speeches.

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow-Delegates of this Convention: I want to thank you all for the highest honor that I think could be conferred upon an American citizen. (Applause.) If I am elected, 'Of course you will be,' some one yelled, and I hope I will be, and if you help me I know I will be. I will do my best to carry out the principles of the platform which you have laid before the people today, not only for the benefit of the Republican party, but to all those living and breathing Americans. I will not descend to include every friends and our friends, the Democrats (laughter), not forgetting the Independents, either (more laughter). With these few words I think I will wait until I am elected before saying more. I think I had better wait until I am elected. (Laughter.) I will not remember the Democratic party has a delegate out for election, too. He is one of the best friends I have—Prince David—and then there is 'Bob' Wilcox, too. I don't want to give him any points, gentlemen. (Prolonged laughter.) Under the name of 'Loebenstein'—Remember the Maine. (Applause.) I want you to remember what President McKinley said to me on the 12th day of July last. I have witnesses here to prove what I say. He said, 'Colonel Parker, can you defeat Wilcox?' (Laughter.) 'Yes,' said I. 'That's a hard question for me to answer, but I will use my best endeavors to do so.' I want to say that if we can beat Prince David 'Sure thing,' said a wag, 'why we can defeat Wilcox. (Sure thing,' again.) With your assistance we can. With these few remarks I wish to thank you, Mr. Chairman, and you, my fellow-delegates."

The cheers for the nominee were prolonged, and after he had made a Hawaiian speech as well, the house again settled down to wait for what was coming next.

A glee club composed of Cal Melvin, first tenor; W. J. Coelho, second tenor; J. Lovette Rockwell, first bass, and F. W. Beardslee, second bass, was announced to give a song partly composed in honor of the nominee of the party. Its title was "Conrades in Arms." The club made an instant hit, and was heartily encored. In response they sang the "Buzzing Bumble Bee," dubbed for the occasion "Sam Parker's Snap." The humorous selection caught the fancy of the delegates. It was interspersed with political localisms, and a third song was demanded. It was a simple ballad and had a soothing effect on the bubbling excitement of the delegates.

The chairman announced the next order of business was the selection of the Territorial Central Committee, which were to be elected under the rules as adopted in the afternoon. The committee was to consist of thirty members chosen from the respective districts represented. The chairman called for the names of each district in their order:

First District—F. B. McStocker, Gibb, Walker, Estep.

Second District—H. L. Holstein, Wm. McGuire, Geo. P. Kamaouha and J. K. Waipulani.

Third District—H. P. Baldwin, P. N. Kahokuolani, A. N. Kopoikai and Matt McCann.

Fourth District—J. A. Kennedy, B. H. Wright, J. H. Fisher, J. P. Cooke, Chas. Wilcox and Col. J. W. Jones.

Fifth District—W. J. Coelho, Andrew Cox, T. McCants Stewart, Dr. George Huddy, Lewis J. McCabe and George F. Renton.

A. G. M. Robertson of the Fourth District moved that the names read be the business of the committee of the Republican party of Hawaii until the next convention. The motion was carried, and the chairman announced that the above named persons would constitute such committee. Dickey of Maui moved that the Central as possible to elect their officers, so that the same mistake as occurred at the last convention would not again occur, and compel them to send in their proxies.

After discussion it was agreed that the committee meet as soon as practicable. Others desired to wait until this morning. It was stated the steamers would be held until evening for them.

Achi did not think the convention should dictate the hour of meeting for the committee. The latter was a separate body and would regulate its own affairs. J. D. Paris thought Achi was right.

Holstein moved that before adjourning the thanks of the convention should be extended to the chairman of the convention, to the secretary, the assistant secretary, sergeant-at-arms, the interpreter and the glee club for their valuable services. "Music hath charms to soothe," said the member from Hawaii. The vote was carried unanimously.

At 11 o'clock the Territorial convention of the Republican party adjourned sine die.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The central committee provided plenty of cigars and pop beer for the delegates. In this detail of foresight Secretary Hendry is never lacking.

Delegate Coelho of the Fifth District was a busy man. Not content with appointing him as official interpreter for the convention, he also had to serve with the platform committee in translating the planks into the Hawaiian language.

Sam Parker showed his Philadelphia convention training early in the day. As he stood by the coat and came out as a political shirt waist enthusiast.

When Loebenstein was not smoking a fine cheroot de Manila, he was thinking.

The yellow badges which were adopted by the Hawaiian delegates to the Philadelphia convention were numerous on the floor yesterday.

George Hons, the Maui delegate, is strongly of the opinion that if Prince David enters the political field for delegate to Congress, and suffers defeat at the polls in November, it will mean his political death.

"Prince David is not a strong man among his own people. Against Sam Parker on the island of Maui, I am positive he will have no show whatever, nor Wilcox, for that matter. Maui is Parker's old stamping ground."

"When Samuel Parker makes a personal canvass of the island there is sure to be a tidal wave to his side. He will sweep Maui for the Republicans."

"As to Hawaii, I am not thoroughly cognizant of conditions there, but from what I have heard, Parker's chances are splendid. He best knows his people."

Sam Parker threatens to have campaign buttons with his physiognomy emblazoned thereon. The threat will be put into operation at once.

The reporters' table as furnished by Secretary Hendry, was a tactful measure on his part, and the thanks of the press are due him.

The delegates of the Third District will hold their district convention at Wailuku next Wednesday morning, September 25th, at 10 o'clock, to nominate their senators and representatives for the next legislature. It is rumored that the convention may endorse the names of H. P. Baldwin, A. N. Kopoikai and M. H. Reuter for the senate.

The delegates of the Fifth District will hold their meeting at 2:30 o'clock p. m., tomorrow, at the office of the Hawaiian Investment Company, to nominate their candidates as senators and representatives for the next legislature.

INDEPENDENT PARTY NOTES

Mr. Keawehawail, of Kona, one of the Wilcox party candidates for the House from that district, has withdrawn. Bob Wilcox said that Keawehawail went out because it would be expensive for him to attend the Legislature. The leaders of the Home Rule party met yesterday and agreed that J. W. Kellikoa should fill the vacancy. Kellikoa will be notified by the Independent party at the earliest opportunity.

The Independent headquarters is informed from the various party workers on the islands of Hawaii, Maui and Molokai, that the natives are still loyal to the Independent badge.

Judge Kopoikai, P. N. Kahokuolani, and other delegates from Maui, reported that the congressional fight at present lies wholly between Parker and Wilcox.

Robert Wilcox, in his recent speeches, has been declaring that Sam Parker would, later on, withdraw in his favor.

Fred Beckley has received a letter from a friend at the leper settlement dated September 7, 1900, stating that D. H. Kalaulelo was present at the primary election of the lepers there on Saturday, September 1st. The author goes on to say that Mr. Kalaulelo presented himself as a proxy for the three delegates of the settlement at the district convention at Wailuku. The delegates elected being lepers, could not, of course, be present in person, so the request of Mr. Kalaulelo was granted.

D. Kalaulelo also received a letter from the leper settlement, dated September 20th, also stating about D. H. Kalaulelo's visit to Kalaupapa in person. Kalaulelo said that according to his friend's information, Kalaulelo visited the settlement twice this month.

A popular and witty minister, on ascending the steps of the church one Sunday afternoon, saw an old woman struggling against rheumatism to reach the top of the steps, and at once taking her by the arm he gently assisted her up. On reaching the top she asked him who was to preach. "Oh, Rev. B.," he replied, "his own name. 'Oh, gracious!' exclaimed the old woman, 'help me down again. I would rather listen to a man sharpening a saw. Please help me down again. I do not care to go in.' The minister was at first inclined to refuse, but the humor of the situation tickled him, and he remarked as he reached the bottom of the steps, 'You are quite right, my good woman; I would not go in myself if I were not paid for it.'"

The late John J. Ingalls was employed by certain flash newspapers to write accounts of all sorts of events and sign his name to them. In the course of his contact with the sporting fraternity the ex-senator made the acquaintance of John L. Sullivan, and one day, after examining the pugilist's muscles and beating a tattoo on his chest, he asked: "Sullivan, why don't you enter the ring again and try to win the championship from Corbett?" "For the same reason," answered Sullivan, "that you didn't enter the race for senator; I consider one knockout enough."

Among all the horrors of war, humorous situations often occur. An English army surgeon in South Africa tells an amusing story of an Englishwoman of high rank who was engrossed by the charms of amateur nursing. One morning, on approaching the cot of a soldier to whom she had given especial attention, she found him with his eyes tightly closed and a piece of paper pinned on the sheet, on which was written: "Too ill to be nursed today. Respectfully, J. L."

Burlington train No. 1, known as the overland flyer, was held up by a lone highwayman at 2 o'clock, September 12. The robber secured about $500 in coin, and twice the value in diamonds and lockets.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR.

TUESDAY : : : : : SEPT. 25

We trust no one will be so impolite as to ask Prince David to state the difference between Democracy and Republicanism.

Brother Testa was off with his independent coat so quickly that people begin to think that he always wore a Democratic shirtwaist.

For a good old fashioned Democratic anti-trust, anti-expansion and anti-gold standard nomination commend us to that of your Uncle Samuel Damon. If there were any Populists here they would fairly chortle with glee.

Democrats have no objection to slates. They permit the leaders to meet and fix things up whereupon they ratify. If the meek shall inherit the earth the time will come when the Democratic party will be the biggest land trust in history.

People who believe that there are enough anti-Wilcox voters in this Territory to permit their division into two parties and yet enable one of those parties to win, ought to be an easy prey of the gold brick man. They are of the sort to believe anything.

No doubt there are some just fire claims; but the men who caused the plague by letting their property get filthy invited the penalty that came to them. In simple equity very few Chinatown fire sufferers, on balancing accounts, would come out much ahead of the game.

The Germans, for a people who have but lately taken to the sea, are making remarkable progress in shipbuilding. To construct such flyers as the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the Deutschland—the latter the fastest ocean steamship afloat—is a feat worthy of a maritime nation with a thousand years of sea achievement behind it. It is small wonder, in view of the Deutschland's achievement, that the British shipbuilders are getting uneasy.

With the disappearance of the Boer government the Transvaal war becomes a mere matter of guerrilla suppression. It is possible that, instead of fighting any longer, the Boers who are not ready to accept the new order of things may "trek" into German East Africa. Probably that would be the best thing which could happen to all concerned, especially to the German colony, which is sadly in need of settlers who can endure the African climate.

A glimpse of characteristic Russian duplicity is given by returning Peking refugees. It seems that the Russians undertook to steal a march on their allies and get into Peking first, but failing that they managed to get the news agencies to change the date of the capture of the city so as to deprive the Americans and English, who were there first, of the honors they had won. The incident is full of Russian trickery and shows how difficult it is for the world to deal with the Czar's empire on any basis of confidence.

The Democrats met and uncovered their slate last night, exposing several strong names and some weak ones. There is no discounting the significance of S. M. Damon, Paul Isenberg, Jr., J. O. Carter and E. C. Macfarlane on the one hand nor of F. J. Testa, John E. Bush and John H. Wise on the other. The first group are men who count for much in the community; the second are men whose records and capacity for public affairs invoke a melancholy smile. Doubtless the three indifferent nominees were put up for slaughter as it is inconceivable that the friends of good government in the Democratic party could wish to see them in office.

THE SERVANT QUESTION.

The coolie servant question is quite as vital in Hongkong as it is in Honolulu and it presents many of the same phases, a fact which the reading of this extract from an article in the Hongkong Weekly Press sufficiently attests:

Unfortunately, the servants are now unlicensed; and, in consequence, play fast and loose with the many immediate advantages this fact gives them. Native domestics were never so troublesome and unsatisfactory as at the present moment. The servant question is as vexed and acute in Hongkong as it is in London. The convenience of these menials has to be considered to such an extent nowadays that it is becoming a serious question in many households of doing with a smaller number of them. They are insolent and supercilious. If the slightest objection is made to their mode of work, they at once threaten to leave at the end of the month, and in some cases will go away at a moment's notice; or, after some disagreeable incident, they will allege a dead grandmother, demand, and in many cases obtain, wages up to date on condition of supplying a substitute, who is oftener than not bogus, and who, by a judicious smothering of valuable crockery, or by one of the thousand and one methods of torture that such a man has ever ready to hand, will manage to get turned away at the end of the first day. House servants are banded together in gangs or guilds, which no doubt support them in this disreputable work.

In discussing Honolulu experience with the domestic coolie some months ago the Advertiser suggested a system of servant licenses which might not only become a source of revenue but would protect housekeepers from inefficient, disorderly or dishonest help. It is interesting to note that the trouble at Hongkong is due to the lapse of the original license system there. The Weekly Press notes that if one servant is punished by prosecution for theft or by discharge for inefficiency all the other servants leave and a boycott by the hong or guild to which the disciplined servant belongs always follows. "Very obviously," says the Weekly Press, "the remedy for this creditable state of affairs is some practical scheme of effective registration. The local authorities formerly did a system of registration for private servants; but no one, in those good days, cared to go to the trouble it entailed. Servants were then unspolled; there were but few ladies in the Colony, and so the scheme was allowed to die of sheer neglect. A private registry of servants was started about six years ago, but it too fell through, owing to lack of support. It is a thousand pities that the Government system of registration was allowed to die out. He who would get it revived would receive, not undeservedly, the thanks of the heads of every European household on the island."

As the fast-and-loose servant system of Honolulu goes, the housekeeper has no guarantee from a servant either of efficiency or moral character. The coolie or his wife arrives, claims to know everything about cooking and the care of households and begins to work. Possibly both are just off a plantation and are utterly unfit for domestic service. But they argue that they will be kept a week anyhow and the pay for that time will support them in some Japanese boarding house until they discover another victim. In this way they get along. In some cases, and these by no means few, the trusted yet not artless Japanese maid frequents the hotel after her work is done and finally goes there to stay. Changes among such servants all the time occur and the net result to housewives is bitterness and vexation of spirit and an array of broken crockery. Nor must we forget increased bills, for the bogus Asiatic servant has no hesitation in stealing food to carry away. He knows that, if caught and discharged, he can easily get another job.

We know of no way out of the difficulty save through a servant license law. No one, under such a system, could at first get authority to cook without bringing a recommendation from his last or present employer; and after that his license would be his credentials if countersigned by the employer who had hired him on its showing. The licenses would also certify to moral character. One good result would be to keep servants in one place; another to keep them respectful and respectable; and another to assure efficiency. At the same time the price of a certificate would add something to the public revenues.

PARKER FOR CONGRESS.

The nomination of Samuel Parker as Republican standard-bearer in the fight for Congress was a foregone conclusion. As a representative Hawaiian was wanted for the place the name of Parker naturally came up as that of a man who combined all the attributes of local availability. The last premier of the Monarchy he may be expected to suit Hawaiians of the old school who are not hopelessly committed to Wilcox; as the first prominent native leader to come out squarely and permanently for annexation he has the aloha of the men who made the American fight here in 1893; as one who is deeply interested in the material welfare of the group he commands a certain degree of support from the solid business interests; and as a politician who can be friendly with Mr. Sewall without burning the bridge that connects him with the other element, he seems to have a peculiar fitness for Hawaiian Republican leadership at this time. Besides, Col. Parker is one of the few native politicians who is as much at home with the English language as the Hawaiian and he has the advantage of a "pull" at Washington. All these characteristics and acquirements made him the logical candidate for Congress.

Can he be elected? It is far too early to say and one cannot lay too much stress on the folly of naming another anti-Wilcox candidate against him. Still, we are assured that the Republican organization will do its level best to give him a majority or at least a plurality, and with that promise his friends must rest content.

OAHU COLLEGE.

Reception to President and Mrs. Smith on Friday.

Yesterday afternoon the invitations for the reception to be given by the Alumni Association of Oahu College to President and Mrs. Smith on Friday evening were sent out. There are some fifteen hundred of them in all and the association has tried as nearly as possible to invite all the friends of the school.

The reception will be held from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock in the evening of Friday, the 28th instant, in Pauahi Hall. Refreshments will be served in Bingham Hall, in front of which upon the spacious lawn the Quintette Club will be heard. Mr. A. F. Judd, the president of the Alumni Association, has things in charge and a most delightful evening is anticipated. Mr. Balasceus, the new music teacher at Oahu College, will play on the organ and Mrs. Annis Montague Turner, accompanied by F. Egry, the violin virtuoso, and Mr. Ingalls on the organ, will render vocal selections.

ROBBED OF HIS GEMS

Bold Thief Works In Waikiki.

TOOK BATHER'S JEWELS

Hawaiian Hotel's Annex the Scene of a Daring Daylight Crime.

A jewel robbery was perpetrated by some thief or thieves at the Hawaiian Hotel Annex on Sunday afternoon. A well-dressed citizen, seeking a sea bath at the above resort, went to the Annex, prepared himself in bathing attire, left his valuables with the keeper and, receiving in return a check with a number thereon, proceeded to enjoy his swim. When he came back his jewels were gone.

Somebody who went in bathing immediately afterwards came quickly back to the dressing rooms, stole the ticket belonging to the swimmer, which had been left in his clothes, presented the ticket and secured on the strength of it the valuables it called for. The articles stolen were a gold ring, a handsome diamond ring containing two stones, a beautiful garnet ring holding a single gem, a large oxidized silver stickpin with turquoise eyes, and about four dollars in silver. The jewelry is valued at a large sum. The looter does not prize the stolen articles so much for their financial worth as he does for the fact that each and every one of them has associations that renders it very precious to him.

The mystery is at present in the hands of the police and High Sheriff Brown has his most trusted sleuth at work upon the case.

The police officer engaged in looking for the jewel thief or thieves wants to know about two seedy-looking individuals who applied for suits about the time the victim of the robbery entered the water. He suspects one of them and is hot upon his trail.

Whoever the thief was, he had the whole thing evidently well planned, and up to the present writing has escaped the hand of the law. The name of the owner of the stolen jewels and the number of the ticket which was stolen are here withheld, as otherwise the ends of justice might be defeated. The owner of the jewels will not speak of their monetary value. He is willing to give a fitting reward to recover them. It is said, however, that the few pieces of jewelry of which he was robbed are worth over a thousand dollars.

THE PULLING STRENGTH OF ELEPHANTS.

It is difficult to ascertain the pulling strength of an elephant, for the simple reason that the strongest animals we have in captivity are not the possessors of the sweetest tempers; and, accordingly, their keepers are chary of allowing them to be attached to dynamometers, not caring to speculate as to what the end would be were the mammoth to "lose his hair."

Tests which have been made with average-sized animals, however, prove that a healthy young Jumbo of eighteen summers or thereabouts can make a dynamometer register five and a half tons dead weight.

In order to get an idea of what this represents, it may be stated that a pair of powerful horses could only register a ton and a fifth by their united efforts, nor was their performance a poor one.

There has been shark fishing in the past and there will undoubtedly continue to be after the present generation of selachians have been hooked or editorially noticed to death, but it is safe to say that never again will there be such an expedition as set out from Honolulu last Saturday afternoon. No sharks were brought back it is true but the fishermen had an allround good time and can find abundant comfort in the saying that there are just as good sharks in the sea as there are in the newspapers. Apropos of this matter is it not a trifle out to attempt to woo the man-eaters with a rendition of the ballad "Because I Love You," to an ukulele accompaniment?

Reports from the shooting grounds do not show any appreciable improvement.
Plover are staggering in and the main flocks may soon be expected. A said he shot in the underbrush near the

The cricket season comes to an end next Saturday and it is probable that a final match will be arranged. The game will either be between the local club and Theo. H. Davies & Co.'s, or Scotland against the World. No more regular cricket will be played until next May, unless a warship arrives, in which case the season will be temporarily re-opened.

Iolani College will start their football in earnest this afternoon. The players will assemble at the college at 3.30 p.

cordially invited to put in an appearance.

Louis and Punahou colleges, Maile Illima Athletic Club, Young Men's Christian Association and Mills' Institute are all fostering athletics this year and the result should be much healthy and interesting competition.

The Young Men's Christian Association athletic practices at the Drill Shed ground were being well attended, nearly a score of athletes turning out on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The events principally practiced are the jumps, sprints and starts. The idea of these practices is to enable intending competitors in the coming field-day to get into shape.

Horse racing is slack for the time being, but useful work is being done at the track by the Thanksgiving Day candidates.

The following extract is clipped from a recent Examiner and will be read with interest by the numerous friends little Logue made during his visit to the Islands:

The first mishap came while Jimmy Logue, who is a jockey and exercise boy for Mr. Lottridge, was working out Rio Chico, Willie Sink's jumper and sprinter. The intelligent driver of a watering cart started to cross the track just as Chico came breezing through the stretch. Bystanders shouted at him, and of course he did the very worst thing and halted in the middle of the track. Logue got rattled himself and did not pull up. Chico thought the cart was there as a hurdle and went straight at it. He crashed into the tank, injured his shoulder down and threw Logue, who was unconscious for half an hour.

THE SHIRT-WAIST MYTH.

Way back in the East in newspaper land, There's a journal of old renown, Which files a need and a long-felt need,
In a sleepy New England town;

Now it happened one day that copy was scarce—
There wasn't a scrap of news, And the staff, from the Old Man down to the "cub,"

Had the journalistic "blues."

"Not a single sensation; no smell of blood,"

In anguish the Old Man cried,
"No flying machines; no snake of the sea;
We killed him when last we lied;
Not a kissing bug nor an Andree buoy, No halibut big as an egg; Go chase yourselves," he said to the staff,

And get something new, I beg."

The staff looked east and the staff looked west,
And they hunted north and south, But they couldn't dig up a thing that was new,

Neither freak nor word of mouth;
Till at last the society editor cried,
"Great Gals! I've hit a plan; It's strange and new and 'twill see us through;
We'll fix up a shirt-waist man."

They got them back to the office grim, And they told the Old Man just How with plent and tuck and yoke and seam

They would take up a "scoop" or bust;
And the Old Man rose in his chair and yelled—
He saw that the thing was great;
And they fell to work and they made a shirt

Which was graceful and up to date.

They made the waist and they put it on A man that they hired for pay, And he walked the streets and they wrote him up,

And the thing boomed right away;
The newspaper men from sea to sea
To use it for space began.

And thus to the world at large was born
The myth of the shirt-waist man.

NOW HERE'S A PRETTY ROW ON THE ISLE OF MOLOKAI

Editor Advertiser:—I wish to call your attention to the present political situation on the Island of Molokai due to the mismanagement of the so-called Republican organization.

At the first primary election Joel Nazareta and D. H. Kahaulelio were candidates to the district convention. The latter's uncle-in-law, J. Haiku Mahoe, was the chairman of the judges. Mahoe is also district judge of the Island.

At the Pukoo elections Joel Nazareta came out far ahead of Kahaulelio, being the candidate of the people and was declared elected at the counting of ballots.
One of the judges of election, David Kaal, signed his credentials as the duly elected delegate. Mahoe said he had also signed it, when his son-in-law Kahaulelio took possession of it and left the same night for Lahaina, claiming he was the only properly elected one as he had been elected by those qualified to vote under the Republic.
Nazareta did not go over to the district convention as he had no credentials.
Kahaulelio had made representations that only those qualified to vote under the Republic were entitled; and he acted as chairman of the Board of Elections until 3 p. m., the time limited for the introduction of any candidate.
He nominated his father-in-law as chairman of the judges of election, and the family, cousins and uncles, voted him in and no outsiders being present.

One of the original organizers of the Republican party of Molokai held that to be consistent with the principles of that party the greatest freedom should be allowed to voters and it was his representations to the voters that it was the Republican party that gave them unrestricted freedom to vote as their consciences dictated that induced them to register to the number of seventy-two. Kahaulelio stuck to his tactics of obstructing all those whom he had reason to suppose would vote against him until the majority of the voters were so exasperated and a riot was only narrowly avoided by the same person who helped organize the party siding with the natives and voting against Kahaulelio, who had been his own choice.

Kahaulelio on his arrival at the district convention represented that he, Judge Mahoe and Nazareta, were the duly elected delegates, and that he was empowered to act for them as proxy, when in fact Mahoe was disqualified from having been one of the judges of election, and he himself had said that Molokai was entitled to only one delegate.
On account of his disappearance with Nazareta's credentials and the latter's ignorance of the proper methods of conducting American conventions, Nazareta did not dare to present himself to the district convention. And thus Kahaulelio could represent matters to suit himself and get his father-in-law as well as Nazareta appointed delegates to the Honolulu convention.

At the last election for the convention only fifteen voters presented themselves at Pukoo polls as the majority of the people were disgusted with what they considered Republican methods and duplicity, claiming Kahaulelio was acting by direction of the powers that be to continue the natives in the subjection kept by the Provisional and late Republican governments, and that all overtures from the party of that name were to be rejected as false and misleading.

Some of them stated to F. W. Kahapula Beckley, a young Hawaiian possessing their confidence: "If you were to run as delegate we would believe you." He consented to run. Out of those fifteen votes cast he received ten, but five were written F. W. Beckley and the balance F. W. Kahaupula Beckley, including his native name, the only one the non-English speaking natives knew him by, and the one borne by his father before him, a chief greatly beloved by the natives. One ballot in fact had the one name only on it, instead of having those of two other candidates also, and all these ballots were rejected by the judges of election, who were Kahaulelio's and his father-in-law's relatives, although they knew that those names represented one and the same person, and the one by which they all individually addressed him or spoke of him. As a result of Kaha-ulelio's actions the natives on the Island outside of his own immediate relatives won't have anything to do with the Republican party. Even in the leper settlement where Judge Mahoe and his precious son-in-law have had unrestricted freedom, making three visits there on political electioneering and even sleeping over night in the settlement, the majority of the organized registered voters have written down what Independent candidates came up and talked to them.

It is an open question if the powers that be have not hurt themselves by such tactics as permitting a so-called Republican candidate to go freely stumping for the suffrage of the poor unfortunates confined at Kalaupapa and then when he has had all the talking and speechifying he wants to, then at this late day refuse the same privilege to the candidates of the other parties.
It is a policy one would think, that will eventually recoil on the heads of those who connived at or permitted such proceedings.

Great Progress OF THE

Fisher's Pianos

From a small beginning the Fisher Piano has grown to be not only one of the best known pianos made, but its sale has reached a point where it is nearly double that of any piano manufactured in this or any other country. All this has been accomplished, practically speaking, within the past ten years. Not only this, but it has received the highest testimonials from many of the greatest vocalists and pianists that the world has ever produced. It is in daily use in leading schools and colleges everywhere, and has received highest rewards wherever publicly exhibited.—Chicago

FUNNY SIDE OF JUSTICE

FIGHTERS' FATE DEFERRED

Hearing in Testa Ayres Affray Case

Postponed--A Young Lawyer's Maiden Trip.

When Judge Wilcox mounted the bench in the police court to deal out justice, yesterday morning, there was standing room only in the dingy old courtroom. His honor adjusted his spectacles and cast his eyes comprehensively over the sea of faces before him, then let his thoughtful gaze fall upon the neatly typewritten calendar on his desk. The program was an interesting one. The actors represented all nations, as well as almost all the lesser offenses.

One could almost imagine by looking upon the studious countenance of the judge as he bent his head intently over the list of names and crimes thereto appended, waiting for the calling of the first case, that he was murmuring softly to himself a little preliminary invocation. His lips moved slightly as his eyes ran down the list of 32 charges, and he seemed to be saying: "From malicious injury and profanity, from common nuisances and common drunkenness, from assault and battery and cruelty to animals, from heedless driving and affrays, disturbing the quiet of the night, and from violating the regulations of the Board of Health, good Lord deliver us."

"F. J. Testa and H. M. Ayres!" called out Hanchanah, the clerk, raising his 250 pounds of corporeal being from his seat, placing his pen behind his ear, and stopping long enough in the work of curling his heart-breaking mustache to allow the words to escape in thunderous tones from between his well kept teeth.

With that, straight up the aisle there strode

Two mighty men of war:

Both charged with fighting on a road—
And the eye of one was sore.

The elephantine Testa crossed the line in front of the judge's stand first, Ayres was a close second. Side by side before the bar of justice they stood, looking straight before them. Nor would they deign to look upon each other, for indignation burned in the spacious breast of each. They had fought. They were charged with affray. Each thought the other to blame.
Each believed it the duty of the other to apologize.

They were no ordinary prisoners, such as pass before the altar of justice in droves, day by day. They were men of parts—large parts. Some deep, mysterious motive no doubt underlay the cause of their quarrel. Some secret affair of State, some subtle cause unknown to the vulgar mass.

"There's a pair of good heavyweights going to waste," remarked a scraggy looking individual in the second row from the front, borrowing a chew of tobacco from a man who had just come in.

"I'd like to see a go between them fellers. Bettin'd be kind o' even I'm a thinkin'."

"The man with the 'opu nui' would knock the socks off a first-rate-headed bloke," ventured a little sailor with a big head.

"Come off, you!" answered his mate, who had deserted his ship to get drunk.
"He don't wear no socks. Besides he ain't got 'em to give whatever you called him a chance, is he?"

"Did the fat feller pull all the hair off'n the sportin' man's head?" whispered one. "No, that's the way it grows on account of too much thinkin'." Then brainy chaps gets bald early, don't yer see?"

Attorney Creighton appeared for Mr.
Testa. Mr. Ayres appeared for himself. This was Mr. Ayres' maiden trip as a lawyer. He was in fairly good condition, having trained well. Attorney Creighton, having a case in the Supreme Court, moved for a postponement until tomorrow morning, Wednesday. Ayres entered a plea of not guilty.
Lawyers "rubbered" considerably when they discovered the self-defender in the act of speech. Ayres blushed at the sound of his own words. He spoke his piece very well, however, and the attorneys gathered around realized that they were likely to have a competitor in the field of argument.

"May it please your honor," he said, "I plead not guilty as charged. The charge refers to an alleged affray on King street. I know nothing of any affray on King street." Judge Wilcox said that as long as the alleged affray took place within the jurisdiction of the court it made no difference whether it occurred on King street or any other street. Mr. Ayres was willing that the case should be postponed, so the hearing was booked for tomorrow morning.

Messrs. Testa and Ayres bowed and sought their respective seats.
The audience was disappointed. Many witnesses were ready to give evidence on both sides. Mr. Testa had a little army of witnesses, while Mr. Ayres also had several. A tall, ethereal brunette was ready and waiting to testify in behalf of the handsome Ayres. When the case was postponed she arose and fluttered out of the court.

Ayres and Testa had also preferred a charge, each against the other, for using naughty and indelicate phraseology in a public place. These cases, likewise, were postponed until Wednesday.
Then followed the ordinary police court cases.

R. H. Organ on being asked if he was drunk as charged, replied that he guessed so. Judge Wilcox told him that this was not a guessing competition, and added that if it were, the court would have the advantage, inasmuch as it guessed last. Two dollars and costs was finally transferred from Mr. Or-gan's jeans to the coffers of the court.

H. Hansen and John Doyle were next presented at court for affray. One was short and the other was tall. They pleaded not guilty and escaped with reprimand. The short man, on being indicted to question the officer who had been the arrest, displayed diffidence on the grounds that he was afraid the policeman could not understand his "Henglish."

His honor speedily assured him that there was no cause for apprehension, and thereupon the short man shuffled over to the witness box and began whispering to the policeman. The judge took occasion to explain that this was bad form, and the examination proceeded audibly.

When the short man called for his witness, that individual stoutly maintained that he knew nothing about the affair. The long man then started to display some scars alleged to have been sustained in the mix-up, whereupon the short man whispered something to him confidentially, and the judge again reminded him of a point of courtroom etiquette.

Judge Wilcox said that it was a case of beer rather than blows, and told defendants to go, which they did, the long man signifying his approval of the course justice had taken by a dignified military salute.

Madame Paraska, an Austrian, charged with assaulting her daughter by striking her with a piece of wood, appeared in court clad in the picturesque attire of her country. She wore a tight-fitting white bodice with pink polka dots. Her skirt was white, with pale green and red checks. A white apron plentifully flowered with red roses also graced her form, while coquettishly arranged on her head reposed a gay bandana kerchief.

The daughter is fourteen years and six months old, and has been married four months. Judge Wilcox said that as the girl was married her mother had no control over her. It was evident, his honor observed, that the young lady had grown too big to be slipped across her mother's knee, and that to subjugate her with a club was unlawful.

Judge Wilcox reprimanded and discharged defendant, emphasizing the fact that the girl was married, and was therefore, as it were, out of the mother's jurisdiction.

Sam Saiffen, charged with cruelty to animals, was fined $10 and costs. Lee Ling, malicious injury, discharged.

AS TO CONSERVING HAWAIIAN FISH

Secretary Cooper Tells How Hilo Bay is Being Depopulated.

"The reason we are forced to pay such high prices for fish at the present time is the wholesale destruction that is going on constantly in all of our harbors," said Secretary H. E. Cooper yesterday, "and unless we have some legislation soon on the subject there will soon be a scarcity of fish here that will be a matter of surprise to the people who have an idea that the supply of fish in our waters is inexhaustible."

Mr. Cooper returned from Hilo on Saturday and while there he saw the same methods being employed by fishermen that are draining the waters of Oahu of the food fishes.

"In Hilo bay I saw the largest fish net that I had ever seen," he said. "It must have been at least a thousand feet long although it looked much longer.
It was manipulated from two boats, and they went out and in it seemed as though they were sweeping half of the entire bay with that net. It was one of these nets lined with mosquito netting and it captured everything no matter how small that came within it.
Those fishermen must have swept that bay entirely clean of fish to judge from the size of that net and the number in which it was used and the size of the mesh. Not even the very smallest fish in the harbor could have escaped, not even a little wriggler."

"And it is that kind of net that they are using everywhere, capturing the immature fish, little chaps just born as well as the mature kinds, and if it keeps on we will soon have no fish for they are leaving none to propagate, they are taking the little ones before they have a chance to spawn."

"The worst of it is that we can look on but we are powerless to prevent their doing this sort of fishing. There is no law on the statute book that makes fishing in that manner any offense. Of course we shall put through some law on the subject at the next meeting of the Legislature, but it is going to be a difficult matter to draft it. The conditions in Hawaiian waters are peculiar, for many fish mature here when they are very little things, so we cannot pass a law forbidding the use of nets of a certain mesh. The law will have to forbid the taking of fish that have not reached maturity, but when such a law is passed it will be difficult to secure convictions under it I fear."

"I have had no word from the Interior Department concerning the letter I wrote them about sending a representative of the Fish Commission to the Islands to study the situation here.
I ought to have heard long ago for I wrote early in July last."

"I am securing signatures to the agreement which I began circulating some time ago among those interested for the formation of a Fish Association and am meeting with much encouragement from all of the people I have seen. The other day I got a letter from Gerrit Wilder at the Occidental Hotel at San Francisco in which he pled his support to the movement and expressed his entire sympathy with it."

FOOD FOR FAMISHING INDIA.

The biblical story of the supply of manna in the wilderness will be suggested to many minds in the report from India that a substance has been discovered exuding from the bamboo forests in the Central Provinces. It is shown by David Hooper in Nature that the existence of such a substance was known to the ancients and is mentioned in some botanies, altho' it is not recorded by modern travelers. Says Mr. Hooper:

"The strange appearance of manna on the stems of the bamboo was reported last March by the divisional forest officer, Chanda, Central Provinces, and notices of this phenomenon have been published in the local papers.
The bamboo forests of Chanda consists of Dendrocalamus strictus, the male bamboo, a bushy plant from twenty to thirty feet in height, and affecting the cooler northerly and westerly slopes of Central and Southern India. This is said to be the first time in the history of these forests that a sweet and gummy substance has been known to exude from the trees. The gum has been exuding in some abundance, and it has been found very palatable to the natives in the neighborhood, who have been consuming it as a food. The occurrence of the manna at this season is all the more remarkable, since the greatest famine India has known is this year visiting the country, and the districts where the scarcity is most felt are in the Central Provinces."

HILO CASES ARE ARGUED

Supreme Court Hears Appeals.

LITTLE DOING IN COURTS

Some Probate Matters Considered—Appointment for Morris Keohokalo-le—Court Notes.

In the Supreme Court yesterday a number of cases appealed from the courts of the Island of Hawaii were argued so as to give attorneys interested in them an opportunity to return to Hawaii today.

The case of E. N. Holmes vs. I. E.
Ray, an appeal case from the Fourth Circuit, was argued by Charles Creighton for the plaintiff and Carl S. Smith for the defendant. The case fa cases against Young In and Ah Sam were argued by J. M. Kaneakua for the defendants and Deputy Attorney General Cathcart for the prosecution. The bill of exceptions was overruled.

In H. Hackfield & Co. vs. J. R. Wilson, Carl S. Smith appeared for plaintiff and Charles Creighton for defendant.

The appeal of the bankruptcy case of G. McDeacon was dismissed by the Supreme Court yesterday and the case was remanded to the Fourth Circuit.
Carl S. Smith appeared for the creditors.

In the case of E. C. Greenwell vs. M.
G. Silva, a case which began in the District Court of North Kona, Hawaii, and has been prosecuted to the Supreme Court, the appeal was dismissed.

The cases of Kellihuhune vs. C. Vierra, Joseph Scharsch vs. Kilauea Sugar Co., R. B. Hind vs. N. C. Willifong, and Henry Smith vs. Hamakua Mill Co., will be heard in the Supreme Court today.

JURY COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

Judge Estee yesterday appointed Morris K. Keohokaloie as a jury commissioner to act with Walter B. Maling, clerk of the Federal Court, in selecting jurors for the October term. In the order appointing it is announced that Mr. Keohokaloie is a Democrat as was required by law, Mr. Maling being a Republican.

The only other business done by Judge Estee was the naturalizing of the following applicants for citizenship: James W. Wiley of Canada, An-tone F. Tavaroz of Portugal, Joaquin A. Gonsalves of Madeira, Portugal, James Steward of Australia, H. Greg-son of England.

PROBATE MATTERS.

George R. Carter was yesterday appointed by Judge Humphreys administrator of the estate of Robert Halstead under a bond of $185,000. The estate is valued at $213,520.

The accounts of the Bishop trust were referred to George Lucas as master for examination and report.

Keola Paukealani was appointed administrator of the estate of J. Paukealani of Kahuku, Oahu.

In the matter of M. A. Barete's estate, C. C. Bittling was appointed master to examine the report of the executor.

J. A. Magoon was appointed trustee under the will of the late Antone Ro-drigues in place of the late Antone Rosa.
Mr. Magoon was also appointed guardian of Annie and Simon Rodrigues.

WANT CASE REOPENED.

A motion was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court by Kinney, Ballou & Mc-Clanahan for the opening of the default in the case of H. E. McIntyre vs. S. C.
Allen.

With the motion are filed affidavits by Paul Muhlenford and E. B. Mc-Clanahan for the defendant. Muhlenford asserts that the matter was allowed to go to default because he was so occupied with business that he had no time to attend to it. His principal, S. C. Allen, he said, was expected to return to the Islands from San Francisco very shortly. McClanahan, in his affidavit says that he was employed by Muhlenford to look after the case a few days after the default and that it was allowed to go by default purely by mistake.

The amount in controversy is $7,890-65.

THE BECKLEY-NAKUINA SUIT.

Mrs. Emma M. Nakuina has filed an answer to the complaint of George C.
Beckley who began proceedings in the Circuit Court some time ago for certain property scattered about the Islands. The answer consists of a denial of most of the allegations in the complaint. Large property interests are concerned and the parties are quite prominent, Beckley being the pursuer of the "Kinau," and Mrs. Nakuina is commissioner of private ways and water.

THREE DAYS WEDDED.

Mrs. Emily Kapuapala Kuhla has brought suit for divorce in the Circuit Court against William Kuhla, on the ground of desertion. In her libel she states that on Jan. 1st, 1894, she was married to Kuhla by Rev. H. H. Parker and that three days later her husband deserted her and has since that time refused to support her. She asks absolute divorce.

LIEN FILED.

Lewers and Cooke have filed a notice of their lien as material men against H. R. Macfarlane, C. W. Macfarlane and J. M. Dowsett, trustees under the will of H. A. Widemann, for materials furnished to the late I. N. Hayden, who was the contractor building the Pantheon Saloon at Hotel and Fort streets. Their claim amounts to $1,525-04.

INJUNCTION DEMANDED.

Wong But Nam has brought suit against Cheek Sing and Chang Sing for an injunction to restrain them from retaining possession of property at 507 Hotel street, between Nuuanu street and Mechanic street.

FACTS ARE STUBBORN.

If Honolulu People Are Not Convinced by Local Testimony They Differ From Other People.

Our readers will have noticed how in the past two years "Cures" have multiplied in the newspapers very fast, and the public are becoming skeptical.
Facts are demanded, but it has also become essential to know who supplies these facts, where they are from.
People will not now accept incredible cures from the other side of the world.
They want them at home. "Give us some neighbor, then I will believe" is what is asked for. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills do this. Call it what you like, home, local or neighbor's testimony, you can always ascertain the truth of it without leaving the city limits. Here is a case:

Mr. W. J. Maxwell of this town, Truant officer, writes thus: "I suffered with a horrible pain in the small of my back (an almost invariable symptom of kidney trouble) for a number of years. I was advised to take some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, and following the suggestion, I went to the Hollister Drug Co.'s store, Fort street, and got some of these. Having taken them, they relieved me straight away, and are, I may say, the best and in fact the only cure for backache. I have mentioned the virtue of this wonderful remedy to several persons, among whom is my friend, Mr. Frank Metcalf, who found relief, and he is now a firm believer in Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Some of the symptoms of kidney disease are pain in the back, and sides, headaches, nervousness, frequent thirst, hot dry skin, shortness of breath, evil forebodings, troubled sleep, puffiness of the eyelids, swelling of the feet and ankles, loss of flesh, dark colored urine, deposits, etc. If you have any of these symptoms you should lose no time in treating them, for delay is dangerous.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

DIFFICULTIES OF THE FRANC FAMILY

Mrs. Franc Sues for Divorce and Charges Extreme Cruelty.

Mrs. Antonia de Cruz Franc has had enough of wedded life and yesterday she began suit in the Circuit Court against her husband Joseph Franc for absolute divorce. In her libel she recites that she was married to Franc in Honolulu by Father Mathias on May 2nd, 1896, and since then has been living with him. There is now living one child, a boy twenty months old.

For the past two years, Mrs. Franc says, her husband has been continually guilty of extreme cruelty to her by beating, striking and wounding her and by calling her vile names and accusing her of infidelity with all manner of persons. In February last, Mrs.
Franc goes on, her husband brutally assaulted her causing such injuries that blood flowed from her nose and mouth and caused her to be confined to her bed for fifteen days. For two years past Franc has been guilty, she charges, and two months ago he deserted her utterly and had since failed to provide for her, nor has he provided for her for a year past. She asks for divorce and the custody of her child.
Chas. Creighton is her attorney.

RUSSIAN MUSIC.

Catharine II (1762-1796) may be reckoned to have given the first real impetus to this national school of music. It is true that the various musical posts of honor connected with her court were bestowed upon Paisiello, Cimarosa and other distinguished foreigners. At the same time she by no means systematically ignored native talent, after the manner of her predecessor. Opera was the favorite distraction of this re-doubling coverign. Between her constant bickering and diplomatic schemings with her neighbors, she found time to dabble personally in art, and wrote several libretti which were set and performed with eclat by native musicians.
As a result of this encouragement, over sixty Russian operas were produced during her reign. One of them, "Annette," is quoted as the first wholly Russian opera extant, composer, libretlist and theme all being of native origin. The five years' rule of Catharine's fantastic successor, Paul, was too brief and troubled to witness any very appreciable advancement in art. After Paul came Alexander I. During this monarch's supremacy the central figure in Russia's musical life was Caterino Cavos, an Italian who settled at St.
Petersburg in 1798. For over forty years Cavos was immense popular at the Russian court, his pliable Italian nature helping him to thoroughly identify himself with his adopted country, so much so that many writers accepted him as a Russian, spelling his name with a K and a Slavonic termination—Kavos. He was a most industrious manufacturer of opera, employing both Russian text and Russian subject. His best known effort, "Ivan Susanin," dealt with Michael, the first Czar of the house of Romanov, and his wars with the Poles.

CURED OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea, and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Holloway of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Benson, Smith

JEWELERS, GOLD AND SILVERWARE MANUFACTURERS

MARKET AND POST STREETS, SAN FRANCISCO.

Illustrated catalogue and prices furnished upon receipt of request. We have the largest manufactory of jewelry and silverware west of New York City, and are prepared to furnish special designs.

The schooner Aloha, Captain Frey, arrived from Laysan Islands yesterday morning. She brought back with her 300 tons of fertilizer, loaded at Laysan by the vessel's crew. Engineer Luhrs, who, with Captain Joseph Spencer's son, was left on the island when the Ceylon sailed, came back to Honolulu on the Aloha.

Spencer's son and Luhrs didn't "hitch" somehow or other, and rather a queer condition of affairs existed on the island. Two men, the only two men there, cut off from communication with the rest of the world, were still unfriendly. Each of them must have found it an exceedingly lonely experience. Neither wanted to play in the other's yard, and that settled it. The incident goes to show that even in a country whose total population is two, that population will be divided into factions. Perhaps it was a political question that separated these two lonely islanders, who should have been fast friends in their isolation. Very possibly one was a Democrat or a Republican, and the other insisted on being an Independent. Probably each wanted to be governor, and each refused to be the people under the other one.

Now Captain Spencer's son is on Laysan Island with one of the crew, Tom Wain, to keep him company.

Captain Frey was naturally very much surprised on arriving at Laysan to find so small a population there. His surprise increased when he learned from their lips the story of the rising of the Japanese laborers, and how Captain Spencer had defended himself against their attack on the platform on the 11th of August, when two Japanese lost their lives, and three more were wounded. Captain Spencer's son and Luhrs, the engineer, told pretty much the same story about the Laysan Is and shooting affair as was told by Captain Spencer on the witness stand. They were, however, naturally, very reticent in talking on the subject before they knew how the case was going on in Honolulu in the police court.

The Aloha left Honolulu on August 25, and arrived at Laysan Island six days later, about the time that the Ceylon reached here with all hands from Laysan except the engineer and Spencer's son. On the arrival of the Aloha at Laysan, Captain Frey started to work immediately to get a cargo of fertilizer with his crew, since there were no Japanese at hand. The crew worked for over a week until bad weather came on and the winter season showed signs of arriving. Then the Aloha weighed anchor and cleared out for Honolulu. Captain Frey would have secured a full cargo but for the bad weather. The Aloha will not return to Laysan. The Ceylon, which left last week for the guano isle will get there, probably, at the end of this week. She took a force of Japanese down with her. Captain and Mrs. Spencer yesterday received tidings of their son. The Aloha brought them letters from him.

THE SAVED SHIPS.

The British bark Dunreggan will go to the Sound in ballast without any further repairs than have been made by the diver. It will be remembered that the Dunreggan was saved from destruction on the Diamond Head reef not long ago, by the combined efforts of the tugs Fearless, Iroquois and Eleu. She was moved to Channel wharf yesterday, where she will discharge her remaining cargo. She will get away in a few days; is leaking but very slightly, but will carry a gasoline engine for pumping purposes in case of an emergency. As stated before, she will be put on the drydock for repairs on her arrival at the Coast.

The ship Euterpe, which was saved from the Kahului reef by the Fearless a week ago, for which services $10,000 were paid by the agents, is a sister ship of the Antiope, here a year ago, and which left for the Sound last Saturday from Kahului.

A COMMUNICATION.

To the Shipping Reporter, P. C. Advertiser, Dear Sir—More trouble on the water front!

It is about time that captains got on to themselves and stand clear of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, co-workers and mates with Lewis and Turk.

The captain of the bark Ceylon has been in lots of trouble this last week. He shipped a cook from the Coast Seamen's Union, and after the cook signed United States articles and stayed two days, he came to the conclusion that he would leave unless he could get a union crew in her. He, the cook, filled up on alcohol and went up in the sailors' union hall and all his brave union friends applauded his bravery for deserting the ship. Then the job commenced to be put up on the captain.

Turk and Lewis and some of the sailors of the union made the agreement to give him another cook, which they did, and as soon as the ship was ready for sea, they came along and told the captain that the cook wouldn't sail unless they got the amount of money they demanded. The captain sternly refused to give in, and so the second brave cook came ashore. At this time Bill McCarthy, a shipping master, came along and the captain told him his troubles. Bill says: "You heave to for a spell, 'Cap.' I'll set you outward bound inside of an hour with a dozen cooks if you want them." McCarthy jumped on his wheel, and in less than half an hour, he had four or five cooks lined up before the captain. He told the captain to take his pick.

The captain picked out the one he wanted, and Bill told the rest to go ashore, and he'd ship 'em all next week. The captain told Bill McCarthy that he could have the shipping of the Ceylon next time, because he don't want any more Lewis and Turk or the seamen's union. The captain treated everybody on the quarter deck and bid good-bye to Billy and all his friends, and the little bark got under way on time, much to the chagrin of both Lewis and Turk and the Sailors' Union.

All hands in the forecastle spliced the main brace on the strength of it.

Under date of New York, September 6, Willett & Gray's circular says:

RAWS.—The scarcity of raw sugars available for immediate use has caused an advance of 1-16c this week in Centrifugals, a sale of 96 degree test having been made at 4-15-16c. Muscovados remain unchanged, as this description is not specially wanted at this time. The course of prices for the next few weeks depends entirely upon whether the sugars on the way arrive in season for requirement or not. Stock in refiners' hands is reduced to 7,478 tons, the American Sugar Refining Company being relatively better supplied than the independents. The supplies engaged for arrival during the next four weeks include 100,000 tons Javals, about 20,000 tons Hawaiian, and 20,000 tons European and other sugars, or a total of 140,000 tons, which will probably not be sufficient for meltings meanwhile and stocks may be reduced to 50,000 tons during the first week in October, allowing for the safe arrival of the sugars on the way. During the following four weeks, however, there should be received 129,000 tons, August 17th were 7,423 tons, August 17th were 2,523 tons, and say 41,000 tons Hawaiian, European and other sugars, or a total of 160,000 tons, which will doubtless be more than required for meltings during that period. It is evident that the concern of refiners is principally for the September arrivals and this will doubtless cause prices to be maintained with the possibility of even higher figures if necessary to prevent the closing of some refineries. The McCallan refinery which was closed last week for want of raws has just started up again. Meltings were somewhat reduced this week in consequence of the holidays, but will be heavy again next week. With the receipt of more ample supplies next month will come lower prices. August shipment Javals have been largely sold at the equivalent of about 4-7-16c for 96 degree test. There are further offerings on the same basis or even a trifle lower for late October arrival.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.—Exports of sugar from these islands for week ending August 19th were 7,423 tons. August 17th were 2,523 tons.

MANILA. July 22.—Sugar—Absolutely no stocks to make a quotation on. Advances from Iloilo state that the plantings are doing well, but area is small, and next crop will not be much over last one.

With the Change in Tariff

Comes a sweeping reduction in the price of all goods of American manufacture.

We have cut on every piece of jewelry and silverware in the house, and you will be surprised at the great difference from former prices. No fear of comparisons here, where quality and pattern are considerations.

What do you think of full-sized solid silver teaspoons being reduced to $3.00 a dozen, with engraving thrown in, and all articles of silverware reduced in like proportion.

These are by no means catch prices, but regular prices which will prevail here from now on, on all the different lines of goods from the States.

While reducing all our American goods we have not changed the prices on any of our European potteries, glass and chinaware, and although the present cost is forty per cent more than formerly, while out present very large stock lasts we will sell at the old rates. This is a very large saving to you, and we recommend that you make your purchases from these lines now, before an advance becomes necessary.

PAUL SMITH COMMENDED

High Praise From His Commander.

WORK IN PHILIPPINES

Other News at Governor's Council-- Sheriffs Urged to Keep Down Expense.

Captain Paul Smith, formerly of the Hawaiian National Guard, is winning laurels in the Philippines, and yesterday in the Governor's council a letter was read by Governor Dole from Major W. E. Craighill, his commander, speaking in the highest terms of his work with the troops who are fighting the Filipinos.

Governor Dole also read a communication from Col. J. W. Jones, commanding the First Regiment, National Guard of Hawaii, wherein he reported the plans for the new rifle range which is to be erected at Kakaako to replace the one which was used during the plague as a pest house and was recently burned. The Board of Health has the necessary material, he reported, to build the new ranges. The matter was referred to Secretary Cooper and he will advertise for bids.

The Vriedenburg matter, which came up some time ago, was discussed. Mr. Vriedenburg owns land near Hilo and he asked to purchase ten additional acres along the sea for the purpose of erecting a mill. As it is contrary to the policy of the Government to dispose of any land along the sea, it was decided to send a surveyor to Hilo to select another piece of property adjoining the Vriedenburg land which may be disposed of to Mr. Vriedenburg.

A. F. Judd of the Oahu College Alumni Association sent in a request asking for the use of the Hawaiian land at a reception which is to be tendered to the new president of the college very shortly.

A petition was received from one Kolua, who is imprisoned at Kalaupapa for the recent disturbances at the leper settlement, asking to be released. As it did not specify what his offense had been, no action was taken and the matter was referred to the Attorney General.

The following letter, which will be of interest as bearing on the deficiency in the treasury, has been sent to the sheriffs of all the different Islands:

Territory of Hawaii, Office of the Attorney General, Honolulu, Sept. 24.

Dear Sir: The changes incident to annexation have deprived the local Government of a considerable portion of its income, the revenue from the customs house alone amounting to about $1,200,000 a year, the cost of suppressing the plague was enormous, and the increased work which changing conditions are putting upon us tend to a considerable increase of legitimate expenditures.

I know and appreciate the good and honest work which officials of the Department are doing throughout the Territory, and yet, as I go through the monthly bills, the question occurs to me whether it is not possible to substantially reduce miscellaneous expenses without parsimony and without doing any one wrong.

If public improvements are to keep pace with public needs there will have to be in the near future either increased taxation or a very careful consideration of dollars before spending them—perhaps both.

I do not know of any way in which we can serve the public better than along the line of this suggestion, which I am making, directly or through their immediate superiors, to all officials of our Department who have to any considerable extent the contraction and approval of bills.

Very truly yours,
E. P. DOLE,
Attorney General.

THE COMING ELECTIONS.

Governor Dole Issues the Necessary Proclamation.

Governor Dole has issued a proclamation announcing the date of the Territorial election to be held in November. In accordance with the provisions of the Organic Act providing a government for Hawaii requiring that a general election shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, 1900, and that at least forty days before any election, the Governor shall issue an election proclamation. Governor Dole gives notice that a general election for a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States to serve during the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh Congresses, and for Senators and Representatives of the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, will be held on Tuesday, November 8, 1900, throughout the Territory of Hawaii, between the hours of 8 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m.

The Senatorial Districts are as follows: First District, Island of Hawaii. Second District, the islands of Maui, Molokai, Lanai and Kahoolawe. Third District, the island of Oahu. Fourth District, the islands of Kauai and Niihau.

The electors in these districts are entitled to elect Senators as follows: First District, four; Second District, three; Third District, six; and Fourth District, two.

The electors are entitled to elect Representatives as follows: First District, four; Second District, four; Third District, six; Fourth District, six; Fifth District, six; Sixth District, four.

Sorghum Seed for Farmers.

Wray Taylor, Commissioner of Agriculture, has received from Washington a large quantity of sorghum seed which has been sent him by the Department of Agriculture for distribution among the farmers of the Islands. There are two kinds of seed, the "Edgar" and the "Collier," and as these are the best kinds for the use of the farmer for cattle food, they will in all likelihood be glad to receive some. They may have it by calling on Mr. Taylor, or requesting him to forward.

The highest standard is found in Spruance, Stanley & Co.'s celebrated brands of Kentucky whiskeys.

BLOOD AND FIRE

The interest being taken in the Salvation Army special meetings is quite gratifying to these militant Christians. Monday evening is generally an off-night as far as crowds are concerned, but no complaint could be made on this score last night. The brass band and visiting officers proved an attraction which drew a big crowd that listened to the reminiscences of the war given by the different members. The principal speaker were Ensign Lydia Allen and Adj. Maud Sharpe who are the oldest Salvationists in point of service on the Islands; the former has been in the ranks fourteen years and the latter fifteen. Some of the incidents recalled were very amusing. Experiences with rocks and stones and rough, turbulent mobs were quite thrilling and showed the stuff that these Army lassies are made of. Again several persons went forward at the close and professed conversion amidst the shouts of joy which came from the soldiers.

This morning the second session of the conference will be held in the Central Union Church and the matter under discussion will be the Army's work amongst the Hawaiians, Chinese and Japanese. In the evening a banquet will be tendered by the local corps to the visitors followed by a united council.

Must not Dilute Liquor.

In answer to a request from William Haywood, internal revenue collector, the Treasury Department has sent the following ruling which will be of interest to all who deal in liquors: "There being no provision for stamping spirits on the premises of retail liquor dealers, they are not permitted to reduce the proof of spirits by the addition of water except in case of quantities less than five wine gallons."

CEMENT

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED a large shipment of this celebrated cement which is the STONEMAN AND MOST DURABLE CEMENT MANUFACTURED, and will permit the admixture of a larger amount of sand gravel, with less loss of strength, than any other brand; it is therefore the most economical.

ALSEN has no equal in color, fineness and sand carrying capacity. It weighs less per bushel, measuring about 10 per cent more cement to a barrel than other brands, which very materially reduces its cost as compared with other cements. It is therefore an economical cement to use, and especially adapted for fine concrete work.

The following tests, made in actual work by Col. D. C. Houston, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., at the sea wall around Governor's Island, New York Harbor, has never been equalled by other cement. It is as follows: Strength per square inch—One day, 384 pounds; seven days, 600 pounds; thirty days, 815 pounds.

For sidewalks it gives the best color and the most durable wearing surface. A few of the large contracts in which Alsen Cement was used: Col. E. R. Baltimore, 35,000 barrels; Quebec Harbor Improvement, 40,000 barrels; Northern Pacific R. R. Bridges, 20,000 barrels.

Notice to Shipmasters.

U. S. Branch Hydrographic Office, San Francisco, Cal.

By communicating with the Branch Hydrographic Office in San Francisco, captains of vessels who will co-operate with the Hydrographic Office by recording the meteorological observations suggested by the office, can have forwarded to them at any desired port, and free of expense, the monthly pilot charts of the North Pacific Ocean, and the latest information regarding the danger to navigation in the waters which they frequent.

Mariners are requested to report to the office dangers discovered, or any other information which can be utilized for correcting charts or sailing directions, or in the publication of the pilot charts of the North Pacific.
