LOOKS BAD FOR SHERIFF LAUKEA

AMERICANS BEST SHOTS IN OLYMPIC

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

BIRLEY, England, July 11.—In the Olympic games shoot held here and completed today, the American rifle team and revolver team won the world's championship. England came in second and Canada third.

FLAGSHIP SPEAKS SHERIDAN AT SEA

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—A wireless message was this morning received from the flagship Connecticut of the Atlantic fleet en route to Honolulu, having sailed on Tuesday afternoon last, to the effect that she was passing the U. S. Army transport Sheridan which is en route to this port from Honolulu. The Connecticut states also that the fleet is engaged in evolutions during its progress to Hawaii.

CRUISER TO WATCH HONDURAS REBELS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—The cruiser Albany has been ordered to Amagosa to protect American interests which might suffer through the revolution in Honduras.

DEATH FOR REBELS

EL PASO, July 11.—It is reported here that twenty rebels will be executed at Chihuahua.

SUING ON REVOLT

TEGUCIGALPA, July 11.—The Government of Honduras has sued the Governments of Salvador and Guatemala in the Central American Court of Justice, charging that the latter governments are responsible for the promotion of revolt in Honduras.

COMPLETE HOLIDAY FOR DIVISION OF FIRST OF FOURTH

A petition for the closing of all business houses on Thursday, July 16, the day of the fleet arrival, was circulated this morning by F. L. Waldron and Manie Phillips, and they met with success, nearly every business house agreeing to close all day. The government offices will probably follow suit, so as to give everyone a chance to see the ships as they round Diamond Head. Postmaster Pratt has received word that the postoffice is to keep holiday hours, and the day will probably be kept as a holiday throughout.

At the meeting of the Republican Club of the first of the fourth last night, a special order of business for next Friday evening was made of the question of dividing the precinct, so as to leave Waikiki and Moiliili for the first and make a new precinct of Kaimuki and Palolo. Nominations, mostly proving elections of club officers were held in most of the precincts.

JAPANESE PAY $1000

THEY INSIST THAT IT GO TO CAR FARES FOR THE NAVAL SAILORS.

Evidently the Japanese residents believe they have a right to do with their own as they choose. They raised pledges of about $2300 for the fleet entertainment and asked to reserve $500 or $700 for their day fireworks on the arrival and departure of the fleet, which by the way promises to be one of the best features of the entire festivities. As for the balance of $1600 the Japanese stated their desire that it be applied to free street car transportation for the naval sailors.

Yesterday the fleet executive committee voted to place the Japanese balance over the fireworks item in the general fund.

This morning the Japanese committee handed $1000 to the Ways and Means Committee with the express request that it be devoted to the free car object. The balance of $600 will be forthcoming. Dr. Mitamura reported this action to the Entertainment Committee at its sixteenth meeting held this morning, and the committee unanimously passed a resolution that the desire of the Japanese be acceded to.

Mr. Lewis reported 34 automobiles with capacity for 97 persons available for the Pearl Harbor trip. Three more under repairs may also be ready in time. By this mode of transportation, therefore, more than half of the officers can be accommodated.

Besides the direct entertaining of the officers it is intended to make the outing at Pearl Harbor a public excursion. To this end a special train on the Oahu railway will be provided.

Alex. Young informed the committee that all three of the hotels would have dancing and illumination every night of fleet week. He hoped that the different organizations, commercial and social, would each take a night for its own to lend distinctive color to the dances. It would cost them nothing. These nightly dances have nothing to do with the official ball on the 17th. The Waikiki floors will however be available for dancing on all other dates in accordance with Mr. Young's offer of open houses.

The committee did not agree to the proposal, from the Ex. Committee, that it should take part of the ball fund to hire additional musicians for the county band. It considered it had none too much money as it was.

Those present were Chairman F. L. Waldron, Secretary E. A. Berndt, A. Lewis, Jr., Capt. Rees, H. F. Baetzmann, J. O. Lutted, A. W. van Vatterburg, J. M. Levy, H. D. Bowen, Geo. E. Smithies, S. Ozaki, Dr. Mitamura and S. Sheba.

AFTER THE BALL GAME SEE THE MINSTREL SHOW

Tonight the St. Louis Minstrels will appear for the second and last time at the Hawaiian Opera House in one of the best minstrel shows given here.

That the crowds will flock to the show after the ball games to end the day's enjoyment goes without saying.

McKenzie the manager of the Santa Clara baseball team will be seen in one of the olio numbers as a geologist and will have the baseball fans a'going.

If you desire to laugh and spend a most enjoyable evening reserve your seats at Wall, Nichols Co. immediately.

LAST BARGAIN DAYS.
There will be only four more bargain days at Saeba. The annual clearance sale will close after Thursday.

Through his agents in Japan, K. Yamamoto, wholesale merchant, secured the sole agency for Tengu Brand Japanese rice. The sale of this well known brand is daily increasing. Phone 399. Hotel street near Nuanuu.

2,000 MILES BY WIRELESS

EXPERT ISBELL AT KAHUKU HEARS MESSAGE SENT FROM PARALONES AND INTENDED FOR TRANSPORT THOMAS BOUND HERE. ALL PACIFIC RECORDS FOR RECEIVING ARE SHATTERED—ALSO HEARS CONNECTICUT CALL NEBRASKA—LOCAL BUTT-INS.

Isbell's caught a wireless from two thousand miles away and the fact is established that, under favorable conditions, Hawaii can be in communication with the mainland, direct, without relays.

At 10:19 o'clock last night, while Isbell was at the Kahuku receiver, he picked up a portion, evidently the windup, of a message being sent from the Farralones to the United States transport Thomas which is now en route to this port and due here from San Francisco on Monday.

Isbell got this portion of a message from the Farralones: "and J. W. Kern of Indiana was nominated for vice-president on the first ballot. Eberle."

This means that the message from the Farralones which was intended for the transport Thomas and probably received by her, was also received by Kahuku, over 2,000 miles away, a feat that breaks all records, far and away, that have been made by the Kahuku receiver or anything in the Pacific. When Kahuku is equipped with sending apparatus that station will likely send as far.

Expert Isbell, at Kahuku, also received fragments of messages from the flagship Connecticut of the Atlantic fleet; he heard the Thomas signalling Table Bluffs, Cal.; he heard the Connecticut call the Nebraska which left Frisco later than the fifteen other vessels of the fleet, and he heard the Connecticut calling him at 9:24 with a message for the Associated Press, but the supplyship Arethusa and the Naval station butted in and Isbell could not catch the message.

PROHIBITION FOR HAWAII

The following set of resolutions by the Hawaiian Evangelical Association has been handed to this paper:

RESOLUTIONS OF HAWAIIAN EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.
WHEREAS it was the consistent policy of the Kamehameha Sovereigns of Hawaii to prohibit the liquor traffic among their people and,

WHEREAS the association of these islands to the United States brought to them multiplied Saloons, which not only have deluged the people but have effected a steady diminution of their number, and

WHEREAS we believe that the people of the United States neither desire to curse Hawaii and destroy its native people with drink, nor will suffer this to be done, when once they understand our conditions; therefore,

RESOLVED, that the 103 Churches of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association hereby appeal to the Temperance People of the United States to outlaw the liquor traffic in Hawaii.

RESOLVED, that this Association hereby petitions the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States to enact legislation

MAGOON COMPLIES

HE WILL AID IN PROSECUTION OF HIS TENANT IF THE CHARGE IS TRUE.

Elsewhere the answer of the Esau estate trustees to Sheriff Laukea's ultimatum, signifying their compliance therewith by giving warning to their tenants, is reported. J. Alfred Magoon is the second to respond, his letter being here printed:

Honolulu, T. H., July 11, 1928.
C. P. Laukea, Esq., Sheriff, County of Oahu.

Dear Sir: Yours of the 8th inst., notifying me that premises of mine at Iwilei are being occupied for purposes of ill fame, reached me at a time when I was very busily engaged in a criminal trial and this is the first opportunity that I have had to reply to the same.

The land in question was formerly owned by an employe of the Police

WHY TAYLOR DROPS OUT

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN SHERIFF LAUKEA AND CHIEF OF DETECTIVES ON MATTERS OF POLICY—VAGUE RUMORS OF GRAFT—INDISCREET BORROWING OF MONEY ON NOTE FROM JAPANESE IDENTIFIED WITH DISREPUTABLE BUSINESS.

The real reason for the resignation of A. P. Taylor as chief of detectives is now stated to be disagreement between him and Sheriff Laukea in matters of policy in the department, among them being Taylor's disapproval of the strenuous Iwilei campaign which Laukea, backed by the Ministerial Association, is expected to continue to wage.

In this connection also, there are various "graft" reports, though as far as is known there is nothing very definite to support them. Taylor has so far refrained from discussing his disagreements with his former chief. However, it is stated on good authority that there were disagreements, and that it was Laukea's determination to back the Iwilei closing movement to the limit which ended in a resignation of Taylor.

In connection with the graft rumors, a note given by Laukea on May 1, to one of the principal Japanese owners of Iwilei houses, is being talked of among not a few people as a very extraordinary proposition. It appears from reports of the note that the sheriff of Oahu borrowed $100 from this leader in the Iwilei business, just when the agitation for closing Iwilei was at its height. The indiscretion of such a move, to say the least, came as a starter to some of the sheriff's friends who heard of it.

The lender is said to have been one of the leaders in the old "Ten Dollar" Club, and has long been at the head of the red-light district business. The note, it is said, was paid when it became due.

MUNDON'S BIG SUIT

AN ACTION FOR OVER $110,000 IS FILED IN THE COURT AT HILO.

George Mundon's big suit against the Hawaiian Mahogany Lumber Co., of which the Star exclusively gave advance news some weeks ago, has been entered. The following particulars are from the Hilo Tribune:

George Mundon has filed suit in the Fourth Circuit Court against the Hawaiian Mahogany Lumber Co. claiming $110,250 as damages for alleged breach of contract by the lumber company. In his complaint Mundon sets out that he left his home on the island of Kauai and transported his family, servants, horses, mules, tools, etc., to Puna in order to comply with the terms of a contract said to be entered into with the Lumber Company on or about August, 1927; he claims $3,000 for expenses in transporting his family and paraphernalia, $250 per month for nine months waiting for the Company to get ready on its contract; $5,000 for neglected opportunities for contract work, and $100,000 for profits anticipated on the contract with the lumber company. Mundon claims that the Mahogany Company agreed to furnish him with machinery, tools, railroads, etc., and that he was to manufacture sixx six and place them on the Hilo Railroad Company cars at Pahoa, Puna, for 27c each. The Lumber Co. claims no knowledge of any contract whatever, with Mundon and has nothing on its files showing that the company was under any obligations to Mundon, and therefore when the time arrived for the pulling down of the ohia trees to be made into railroad ties to supply the Santa Fe Railroad Company, it entered into a contract with Arlole Bros., who had considerable experience in this work in the Oahu district and for that reason were presumed to be well qualified for such an undertaking. Carl S. Smith is attorney for plaintiff. The complaint was served upon the President of the company in Honolulu.

SPORTS

There's a good time coming
And it's on this afternoon,
When the baseball diamond glitters
And Herr Berger throws a tune;
For the Puna, the proud and perfect,
And the pride of all our land
Will put on their gloves and slippers
For to get themselves Japanned!

Kelo! Kelo!
You are up against the Puna!
Wonder if you'll make a run?
Kelo, don't you know,
That you haven't any show?
Can you hit?
Tell me that!
Tell me, tell me, Kelo!

There's some boys from Santa Clara
And they're California japs,
And will spread themselves like butter
Over each and every Kam,
That is, if Honolulu
Will permit such sacrifice—
For the Kammy-hammer-hammers
Are hard knockers, tho they're nice,
Rah! Rah! Baseball! Here I am
To root for run-Kelo and Santa Kami!

Everything is in readiness for the opening games of the international baseball series this afternoon, and when Bert Lower calls "play ball" at 1:45 probably the largest crowd ever seen at a baseball game here will be on hand to root for their favorites.
The teams have all finished their preliminary practice and when they appear on the diamond this afternoon the enthusiasm of the crowd will be tuned at concert pitch. Secretary Thompson of the league will make a few remarks before the first game is called, and as soon as he finishes he will step in the box and deliver the first ball, opening the series which promises to be the most interesting ever held in Hawaii. The Puna and the Kelo meet in the first game while the Kama and Santa Claras will furnish the amusement for the second.
From all indications the seating capacity of the grounds will be taxed to their utmost by the crowd today, to say nothing of the room which will be taken up by the carriages and autos, Berger and his band will render popular selections from the space along right field, while Jack "Banana" Doyin and Curran Welsh will take care of the noise from the Rwa bleachers. Special cars will be ready to handle the crowds, and the day should go down as a red letter day in the history of baseball.

Enough has been said about the crowds, etc. Let something be said about the teams. Punahou will appear on the field with the strongest team that it has and will certainly make the crack Kelo team go some to win.
Hampton, who is without a doubt the best pitcher in the islands, will do the twirling for his team, while Charley Lyman will do the work at the receiving end. The two new players who have joined the ranks of the White Sax will be seen at short and right field in place of Warren and Desha who will play the game from the benches. Hoops will be at second, Henderson at third, Marcellino at first, Brunn in left and the crack Kia in center, which will make up the Punahou team. The Kama will have the same line-up as they have had the last few games, while the exact line-up of the visitors is not known. The odds seem to favor the Santa Claras and the Kelo, although a large number of the local fans seem to think that the home boys will do the trick. At any rate the games will be well worth going to see.

and for the sake of the sport it is to be hoped that the public will give their assistance by being present in large numbers.

On account of the international baseball series tomorrow no minor league games will be played.

Jack Scully, who returned from the Coast yesterday, promises to have some interesting boxing matches at Independence Hall during fleet week. In addition to the boxing he promises to have some good wrestling matches between the local men and the best men of the fleet.

The Irwin cup for first class yachts has not arrived as yet, but will be here on the return trip of the Alameda.
The first race was to have been held tomorrow, but the regatta committee has postponed it until next Sunday.

The date set for the postponed race for the Heckley cup has not been decided on as yet.

The much talked of golf match between McLaren, Giffard and White will probably be started next week.

No date has been set as yet for the first tournament for the Tansan cup.
The golfers are all anxious to play for this handsome trophy and it is to be hoped that a date will be decided on in the near future.

News was received from the Coast yesterday that Captain Harris of the Hawaii will send up red rockets at night when he approaches Diamond Head to let the watcher know that the home-built racer is off port.

A game of cricket will be played this afternoon at Makiiki between a picked team of the Honolulu cricket club and a team from the English ships in port.

The St. Louis Alumni will present their minstrel show tonight at the Opera House for the last time. The show warrants a crowded house and no doubt will have one tonight.

Tonight at the Midway theater four teams will take part in the first tug-of-war tournament that has been arranged. The first pull tonight will be between the Japanese team and a team composed of employees of the O. R. & L. Co. The second pull will be the Honolulu and the Pooles.

Tomorrow the local golfers will take part in the medal play tournament on the Moanaiua links, under the auspices of the Honolulu Golf Club. Play will start at 10 o'clock. Two prizes have been offered and some good scores are expected.

KING EDWARD STOPS THE SHOW

HE FORBIDS THE OFFICERS OF
A CRACK REGIMENT GIVING SKIRT DANCING.

LONDON, June 27.—King Edward has just absolutely forbidden what he calls one of the most insane exhibitions he has ever heard of. Several officers of one of the crack regiments in London recently went in for skirt dancing, engaging the services of an eminent professional teacher of the art, and a few days ago sent out invitations to all their friends to a forthcoming exhibition of their latest accomplishment. One of the invitations came into the hands of his majesty, who immediately made personal inquiries and finding that it was no joke, but that it was really intended to give the show, placed his ban upon it.

The officers who are concerned are quite indignant over the fact that their little affair has been interfered with and many of their friends, who believe with them that skirt dancing is a commendable activity for an army officer, join with them in a guarded condemnation of the king's action.
One of the army men points out that he has been practicing under the professional coach twice a week for more than three months. It is said that the costumes which were to be worn at the entertainment have already been bought from a well known French shop in Leicester Square, which supplies professional dancers with their dresses. The elaborate outfit of a second lieutenant who was expected to make a sensation by his agility is said to have cost $500.

Not one in England likes a lark better than the king, but he dislikes to see a man play the fool. It is said that his telegram to the senior officers of the regiment concerned forbidding the performance contained a severe reprimand from which they will not recover soon.

WHY ALL WILL PROBABLY COME HERE.

From statements known to have been made by Admiral Sperry, it is not at all likely that the battleship fleet will leave these waters without all sixteen of them having come to Honolulu. The four that first go to Lahaina will probably come here and be replaced by another four, so that the coaling will be half here and half at Lahaina. The reason for this may be to give the men further practice in coaling at sea, one of the objects of the cruise being to get practical experience of all sorts. Though somewhat emphasizing the proposition that the cruise is a business voyage and that there is plenty of work for the men to do, Admiral Sperry lays stress also on the proposition that the men all want to see as much of the islands as possible. The chance to see the world is one of the most potent inducements held out by recruiting officers to get young Americans to join the navy. Figures show that the effects of the present cruise have been to popularize the navy and decrease desertions. In view of all this we do not believe that the fleet will leave here without all on board having an opportunity to visit Honolulu and, as many as possible, Maui as well.

HOW BRYAN MIGHT WIN.

One of the most important political signs of the times is the effort of Bryan to conciliate Hearst. The latter cannot be considered an important factor as a candidate himself, but it is difficult to see that Bryan has any chance worth considering without the aid of Hearst. Hearst ran very near to Hughes for governor of New York last time and in the important state of Massachusetts his Independence League has already shown a strength that is very important. In a dozen other states he has organized and secured a following. There can be no doubt that this following comes from the Democracy. Hence it follows that if he opposes Bryan, Taft should have an easy victory. This may be what Hearst wants. It might prove to be the final blow disintegrating the Democratic party and allowing him to gather its voters into the League. This has been the object of his ambitions for the past few years. It is almost universally admitted that Bryan cannot win without New York. How can he hope to carry New York against Taft with Hearst splitting his party?

Under these circumstances it is natural to see Bryan making overtures to Hearst, and if Hearst swings the Independence League into the Democratic column, it will bring about a situation that will make the whole country sit up and take notice. Bryan stock will boom, and levelheaded politicians will admit that a Bryan victory would not be so surprising. But what would be the price? Would Hearst accept less than Bryan's pledge of support of Hearst for president in 1912? Is Bryan politician enough yet—he has been developing—to win at the cost of offering to try to make Hearst the next president?

WHAT SHALL WE DO ABOUT IT?

It would be idle to deny that a great harm has been done to the community of Honolulu, from a business point of view, by the various discussions of "closing up" the town because an American fleet is about to visit us. The proposition has hurt in two ways—in the first place an impression has been created that Honolulu, morally one of the cleanest cities on earth, is regarded by her own citizens as a den of vice that needs cleaning before it is fit to receive American sailors; in the second place the members of the fleet have been insulted by an implication that when they are about to visit a town it is necessary for that town, first to double its police force, and second to adopt stern new measures to protect sailors from immorality and drink. Both propositions hurt our town beyond measure, and there is no truth in either of them.

If the long cruise round the continent of South America had not been proof enough that American sailors can behave and can look after themselves, the visits to San Francisco and other coast points would have proved it. San Francisco has not lost much in the respect of being a gay, wicked, wide open city—possibly she has gained—since the great fire. But the American sailors have behaved themselves there.

Coming to Honolulu from never-closed San Francisco, the members of the fleet are going to encounter conditions produced by a spasmodic effort to enforce law with a strictness that is absurd in the eyes of most practical men. Moreover, Honolulu, never able in her best days properly to accommodate such a large crowd as is coming, is closing up much needed cafes, and thus reducing already inadequate accommodations. Impossible as it may be for some to see it, the real liquor question and the real moral question do not reasonably enter at all into this discussion. In the words of a lately deceased American, it is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. We do not want our town to be given a black eye in the navy. If we close our town as tightly as a reform school reservation we shall not do anything to change the habits or opinions of twenty thousand sailors and officers who are men enough to be their own masters—and don't want us to look after them.

HOTEL AND FORT ST.

Like every other American community, Honolulu wants to enjoy whatever commercial advantages there are to be had in naval visits as well as army visits. There is no undue commercialism in this. What can we do to counteract bad impressions, and to overcome some of the undesirable reports about Honolulu as a place to visit which followed the call of the "Big Four" not long ago? Where lies the mean between allowing visitors the sort of shore freedom ninety per cent of them expect, and leaving the way too open for our own good? The town of Bremerton not many years ago became so wide open and wicked a resort that the Navy Department took cognizance of its outrageous conditions and practically stopped sending warships there until the citizens took hold and morally cleaned their city—that is, closed scores of bad saloons and got rid of thieves and thugs who plundered sailors. In exactly an opposite direction Honolulu is getting a reputation that keeps vessels away.

It appears that the Republican precinct meetings last night were but to nominate club officers to be elected a week later. The nomination and election of delegates to the county convention will be held next month. What The Star said yesterday about the primaries, though in advance, will bear keeping in remembrance. The primaries should furnish the keynote of a Republican success in November which will be for the best interests of the Territory and the municipality.

Four big teams compete in a sensational tug-of-war contest on the specially constructed platform at the Hawaiian Midway this evening. The O. R. & L. team of strapping negroes, captained by Grace, and the selected Japanese, with the champion wrestler, Mizuka, for anchorman, pull off the first event, to be followed by the celebrated Honolulu team, formerly the Hoads and Bridson men, and the slinky Poodas, or stereocores, boys who sing heavy weights every day of their lives and who declare that there are none able to pull away from them.

There will be an immense crowd and the management has arranged to accommodate all. The Midway will be found below Queen street, between Alakea and Richard street.

ATTITUDE OF ALLIES

ALL OF THE ALSO RANS WILL LOYALLY SUPPORT THE NATIONAL TICKET

(Star Mail Correspondence.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—The "allies" who, at the Chicago convention, were opposed to Taft, but acquiesced in his nomination rather than force a Roosevelt stampede, will give the republican ticket hearty support in the fall campaign. Some will support Taft out of party loyalty; others will take an active part in the campaign in the hope that by so doing they will win the good grace of the republican candidate.

The first of the allies to announce his support of Taft was Senator Foraker of Ohio, Taft's bitterest enemy. No sooner had the news of Taft's nomination reached Washington than the Ohio Senator gave out an interview pledging himself to faithfully support the ticket. Foraker was moved to make his expression from various motives. First and foremost, he wanted to placate Taft in the hope that Taft would not undertake to prevent his re-election to the Senate. Secondly, Foraker has hopes that some time in the future he may be chosen by a republican national convention to lead the party in a presidential campaign, and therefore he must remain loyal. Thirdly, Foraker is usually found with the party organization on party questions, and in times when the party line is clearly drawn. But the main reason why he was so prompt in announcing his intention was to give forth the impression that he was through making war upon Taft, and that he expected Taft to reciprocate.

FORAKER DISTRIBUTED.
No one who knows Foraker believes that he will remain in a peaceful turn of mind if he is re-elected to the Senate, and Taft is elected to the Presidency. In such event Foraker would be as much of a thorn in the side of the incoming administration as he has been in the side of the Roosevelt administration. But Foraker knows when he must be good, and he realizes that now is one of the times. He would have the utmost difficulty being re-elected if Taft should openly oppose him in Ohio; therefore he courts the good graces of the republican nominee, and for the time being is willing to out of his hands. Whether Taft will make peace with Foraker, or whether he will undertake to prevent his re-election, has not yet been announced. Taft has not committed himself on this interesting question.

CANNON A PARTISAN.
Speaker Cannon, in declaring his loyalty to the Taft ticket, is prompted by much the same motives that stirred Foraker into declaring himself. Cannon has not been close to the Roosevelt administration; in fact has been getting farther and farther away from year to year. When the Chicago convention met there was a vast chasm between Cannon and the Roosevelt-Taft forces. Now that the Taft people have shown their strength, Cannon thinks it is high time to make peace, for he is to be a candidate for re-election as Speaker, and the friendship of the President could be of great assistance, just as the opposition of the administration would be a serious obstacle. Cannon, nevertheless, is a rank partisan. He has always been a republican; always voted the republican ticket, and would do so this year, no matter who was nominated. But he promises to do more than vote, and the extent of his enthusiasm can be safely taken as a measure of his concern over his own campaign for re-election as Speaker of the House. If Cannon takes off his coat and "whoops it up" for Taft, it will be a safe guess that "Uncle Joe" is pretty badly scared.

KNOX NO KNOCKER.
None among the "allies" will give Taft more enthusiastic support than Senator Knox. The little man from Pennsylvania had the good sense to know that his presidential boom was never worth anything, unless the convention should become deadlocked, and he did not anticipate a deadlock. From the first he did nothing to force himself to the front; his boom was entirely in the hands of his friends. Being a comparatively young man, Knox knows that the reform wave, rampant for the past few years, will not continue forever, and when a reaction sets in there may be less antipathy to a man of his type than exists in the public mind today. Moreover, he hopes by his course in the Senate, to disabuse the public mind of the present idea that he is a "corporation" man. When these changes come, Knox may loom up as a formidable candidate for the presidential nomination. Entertaining such views, it is very natural that Knox should give hearty support to the Taft ticket. But aside from this, Knox is a great admirer of Taft, and is one of his personal friends; not as close as many, but yet on intimate terms with the nominee. It will give him great pleasure to see Taft in the White House, and he is going to do his utmost to bring about a republican victory in November. In times to come, Taft will remember, and reciprocate, if the opportunity presents. That is the Knox theory.

SAME OLD FAIRBANKS.
As for Fairbanks, he would support any candidate who might be put up. He still regards himself as a presidential possibility, and he wants to have his record regular. He has always been an active campaigner, and if he should let up in his enthusiasm this year, it would be charged against him that he was disloyal to his party ticket, and that ghost would rise to plague him four years hence. Fairbanks is what is known as a practical politician, is always looking to his own future political welfare. Fairbanks, of all the "allies" has no excuse for keeping out of the campaign. When the fight opens up in earnest, "Butterfield Charlie" will be one of the first men to take the stump, and he will be one of the last to come in in November.

HUGHES LOOKS AHEAD.
It is understood that Governor Hughes of New York is looking ahead four years, thinking that he may then stand a real chance of being nominated. That is a very important reason why he will be prominent in his support of the Taft-Sherman ticket this fall. In New York state, Hughes is not regarded as a good party man; as governor he has shown a partiality for democratic appointees in many instances. Nevertheless, if he is ever to be nominated for the presidency, it must be at the hands of the republican party. And that is sufficient incentive to the Governor to get in and help out the ticket this year. He will be on hand when the time comes.

LA FOLLETTE ACQUIESCENT.
Senator La Follette, notwithstanding his republican colleagues in the Senate have listed him as a populist, wants to show the country that he is a republican at heart, though he believes he is away ahead of his party. So he has announced his purpose to support the ticket, reserving to himself the right to denounce the platform. La Follette's support will not make many votes; in fact he may lose more than he makes. But nobody would undertake to tell La Follette what to do, so the Taft managers will let him pursue his way, without interruption or suggestion. La Follette thinks the reform wave is going to continue to increase in volume, the people become more and more radical in their demands, and he has figured it out that by 1912 there will be a healthy demand for a demagogue of about his dimensions. That may account for his attitude this year.

TICKET ABOVE ALL.
But regardless of the motives that actuate various leaders of the late "allies," it is a fact, well recognized by politicians of both parties, that republicans do their fighting before and in the convention; after the ticket is named it is the ticket of all factions. Seldom is this rule broken, and to its faithful observance is due much of the success of the republican party in recent years. It would have been the same had the convention nominated one of the "allies." Even the most cantankerous opponents of Taft do not want Bryan elected; so they all join hands to bring about his defeat. Right after the convention it was said that Governor Cummins of Iowa, because he was not named as Taft's running mate, was going to raise all kinds of trouble. Cummins, after a week's deliberation, announces his intention to give the ticket his heartiest support. And Jonathan Bourne, who did his utmost to offend Taft, in the hope of promoting the Roosevelt stampede, has announced that he, too, is going to help elect Taft. When Bourne joins the Taft movement, the way is open to any man.

POLICE CHANGES

With the retirement of Chief of Detectives A. P. Taylor on the fifteenth of this month, Wednesday next, Kalaikiela, as previously announced, takes the position left vacant. However, it is said, will find some new position in the department or resign for a better position outside. Joe Leai is to take some position other than that of detective, or he may resign.

The meeting for primary nominations in the sixth of the Fourth last night appears to have been a somewhat queer one. There was no meeting at the announced place. A prominent member of the precinct attended until 9 o'clock, but found no one else present, and went home. However, the following list of nominations was announced this morning, and the man who attended is wondering how and where the nominations were made: President, J. C. Quinn; first vice president, E. K. Liliakalani; second vice president, J. K. Nakila; secretary, A. H. Phillips; assistant secretary, J. P. Monaghan; treasurer, H. Klemms.

What a grand family medicine Ayer's Sarsaparilla is! Good for the child, good for the parent, good for the grandparent. Generation after generation has used it. And today it is the one great family medicine the world over. Always keep a bottle of it in the house. Sometimes during the year some member of the family will certainly need it. You can surely trust a medicine that has been used for over sixty years. Tested and tried, and never found wanting.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

is the best family medicine that ever was made. It makes pure blood, and pure blood is the source of good health. As now made, Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains no alcohol. There are many imitation Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get "Ayer's."

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

The wedding of Miss Lotta Kerrigan, daughter of J. P. Kerrigan, and William P. Lehigh, of Honolulu, was the culmination of a romance which originated two years ago, at which time Miss Kerrigan visited the island. The wedding took place at the Westminster Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, Rev. Marcotte officiating. C. E. Hickman was the best man, and the ushers were A. R. Kerrigan and A. Cammack, of Honolulu. The bride made a charming picture in a gown of satin with duchesse lace panels and her hair was styled in the latest fashion. She carried a large bouquet of white and orange blossoms. The bridesmaids were Miss Anna Scott, the maid of honor, and Miss Mabel Messaline and a pink picture hat. The decorations for the church and the home were most elaborate. Following supper numerous telegrams and cablegrams of congratulations were read. After a month's sojourn in California Mr. and Mrs. Lehigh will sail for Honolulu, their future home. Mr. Lehigh is general manager of telephone lines in Honolulu, though he formerly resided in this city.—Sunday Oregonian, June 21st, 1908.

EDITOR STAR.—The question has been raised here whether a lady or a gentleman should be the first to bow after an introduction, and as the failure to act according to established customs has caused many a heartache, and probably many a misunderstanding, I would like to say a word or two upon the subject. In the first place then, it will be known that it's the lady's place to make the first sign of recognition; or to quote Lady Colin Campbell than whom there is probably no greater authority: "It is always the part of the lady to make the first intimation of recognition at their next meeting; and that a gentleman must not either bow or shake hands with a lady until she has made the first movement." Now I am told that the ladies know this well enough, but knowing the men have but poor memories for faces they usually wait to see if they are remembered before they bow to anyone. It is also well known that the great majority of people have to meet a person several times before they can remember one. As a matter of fact, there are a great many persons that have no individuality, that is, there is nothing in their dress, manner, or looks to distinguish them from others, and in consequence it is hard to remember them.

Then again most of us get acquainted with people right and left, and then go about our business and forget all about them; not that we want to, but because the majority of us can't help it. Again a great many people have poor sight, and can't see an inch beyond their noses, and consequently, not being able to see their friends as they pass, they cannot very well bow to them. And there are more of this class than one would imagine.

I notice too that when two persons are walking along the street in conversation, they very seldom see their friends as they pass them; and this applies more particularly to the men. This intimation can perhaps be excused, to a certain extent, excepting when they pass their lady friend, in this way. I will say it's my opinion, that this failure to remember faces and names, is a great misfortune, and that such persons who are guilty of it are rather to be pitied than condemned.

I would also rather think that, in most cases, it is forgetfulness or inattention and not discourtesy that causes most of the mistakes and misunderstandings in this respect, and that we are all more or less guilty of constantly though unconsciously breaking these social rules and observances, which is to be regretted. One of the most funny and perplexing problems to solve is just how some persons may be distinguished from others. And it may not be generally known that quite a few ladies have doubles so near like themselves as to baffle description, or so like one another as to make it impossible to tell one from the other, which no doubt has caused many mistakes and much unfavorable comment.

AN OBSERVEE.

Social Honolulu is preparing for the strenuous week commencing next Thursday, when the Atlantic fleet of our great navy is due to point their white brows around Diamond Head, and from the time they cast anchor outside until the last one clears the bell buoy on July 23, those who seem to live for pleasure will have one gay, glad, joyous week of pleasure. Never before in the history of Hawaii has so many ships of any nation been anchored off her shores, and the most brilliant social week is planned, so I understand, for the officers. Luncheons and dinners will be given every day by those who wish to entertain the after guard, and everyone will be on the go from early morn until late every day that the fleet are in port.

The crowning event of the year will undoubtedly be the ball and reception which will be given next Friday night at the Moana and Seaside hotels. Great preparations have been made by the committee who have this event in hand, and it promises to outdo any like event ever given in Hawaii. The modistes have been working very hard to complete the gorgeous evening gowns that have been ordered for this noted evening, and with the full dress uniform of the officers, the beautiful women and their gowns, the full moon and other lighting effects, the decorations and last but not least the ocean bathed with the silvery light of the moon, will be a scene that will always remain to those that have been fortunate enough to witness it.

GOWN OF MESSALINE

A simple but very smart-looking gown is depicted in the accompanying cut, the model being in white messaline with insertions of wide fllet lace. The bodice also had plaitings of tucked net introduced and the skirt had an insertion of the lace on either side of the front width. The yoke was of thin Chantilly lace.

The many friends of Mrs. E. S. Cunha will be glad to hear that she has greatly improved in health, since she left here. She is at present comfortably quartered at Byron Springs, California.

Miss Clowe, who has been visiting Miss Alice Hedemann for the past few months, expects to leave for her home in California in the near future.

Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Mrs. Clarence Macfarlane and Mrs. Schultz expect to leave for the East next month.

The engagement of a well known young man to a member of the Buhler Company is rumored. Another case of the rich man's son and a maid of the footlights.

Princess Kawananakoa, who has been quite ill for the past few weeks, is much improved, and is able to see her friends for a little while each day.

The Misses Muriel and Beatrice Campbell will return to their school in New York sometime in September.

Among the younger set moonlight riding parties have been quite the rage this past week, and hardly an evening has gone by that some one has not taken advantage of the gorgeous nights to ride along the best roads on their prancing steeds.

The Lamley-Buhler Company playing at the Orpheum have attracted a large number of the smart set every evening this week, as their rendition of the different plays has been a treat.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen were arrivals yesterday morning on the Alameda.

Miss Irene Dickson and Miss Ada Rhodes expect to leave shortly for a tour of the world. Hon. Cecil Brown will accompany them, returning to Honolulu early next year.

A cablegram from the Coast Thursday was received by friends, announcing the birth of a girl to the Charley Elstons. A later cable stated that mother and daughter were doing well.

This past week socially has been a very busy one in many ways. Four ships have come in with large numbers of the smart set on board, among them being a number of the young boys and girls who have been away to schools and colleges on the mainland. The scene on the Hackfeld dock on Monday morning will be one that will remain long in the memory of girls in town among the pommer-set, as her charming manners and wit make her popular wherever she goes. She will probably leave for her home in the fall.

Mrs. Schultz of New York will have a number of her friends at the Macfarlane's Peninsula home for the week end. She expects to return to the mainland next month.

The Misses Schaefer, who have been at school near Boston, returned on the Mongolia.

Miss Alice Kohl, looking prettier than ever after an absence of nearly two years on the mainland and in Europe, arrived home on the Mongolia.

Clifford Kimball, Mrs. Kimball and child, who have been visiting friends in the East, were homecomers on the Mongolia.

S. M. Lowrey, who has been at college on the mainland, returned on the Mongolia.

Guy E. Macfarlane was a home-comer this week.

J. M. Dowsett, Mrs. Dowsett, H. M. Dowsett and D. A. Dowsett were homecomers on the Mongolia.

Miss Catharine Goodale, who has been attending school on the mainland, returned on the Mongolia Monday.

Ralph S. Hosmer of the Bureau of Agriculture and Forestry, returned on the Mongolia this week.

J. B. Hyde-Smith, a brother of Mrs. Harold Dillingham, arrived on the Mongolia Monday. He will make an extended visit here with his sister before returning to his home in California.

W. B. Castle and his son Alfred Castle were returning passengers on the Mongolia this week.

F. T. Dillingham and Mrs. Dillingham were arrivals by the Mongolia Monday.

J. A. Gorman and Mrs. Gorman were arriving passengers on the Mongolia Monday. Mr. Gorman comes to take Fred A. Wickett's place as local manager of the New York Life Insurance Co.

M. Menant, the French Consul, and Mrs. Menant are soon to leave for their home in France. Neither can speak anything but their native tongue and they are anxious to be relieved. Who their successor will be has not yet been announced.

Fred A. Wickett, the popular young bachelor, will leave next Wednesday on the Alameda to take up his duties in Nevada for the New York Life Insurance Co. He is succeeded by J. A. Gorman.

The engagement of Miss Ethelinda Schaefer to Alfred Castle has been announced. This is not very surprising to their many friends, as it was understood before they left last fall that their engagement would be announced this summer.

Mrs. A. C. Keillog, widow of the late Commander Keillog, U. S. N., and a sister of Admiral Robley D. Evans, was a through passenger on the Korea this week.

Tarn McGrew, who has been away from Honolulu a number of years, was a returning passenger yesterday on the liner Alameda.

Word has been received that Bert Peterson is now on his way to South Africa where he hopes to recoup his shattered fortune. When he is expected back is a question that many people are asking.

Hon. T. J. O'Brien, American Ambassador to Japan, and Philippine Commissioner W. Cameron Forbes were through passengers on the Korea. They were entertained at luncheon by J. R. Galt. Governor Frear was also in the party.

Mrs. J. B. Atherton and Miss Kate Atherton, who have been touring Japan and China, arrived home by the Korea Wednesday.

George Brown and Allison Jordan were arrivals from the Orient by the Korea.

Mrs. A. F. Knudsen is in town for a short week.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Cooke have been in town for the last few days.

Miss Dorothy Hartwell was a passenger on the Mauna Kea this week for Hilo.

A. L. C. Atkinson returned this morning from Hilo on the Mauna Kea.

Miss Sargent of New York, who has been here several times before, and who is at present visiting the Princess Kawananakoa, is being extensively entertained by her many friends. Miss Sargent is one of the most popular has trimmed with lavender plumes. An informal wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, after which Mr. Chapman and his bride set for a honeymoon trip to Tahiti.

The bridegroom is a well-known business man of this city, being Pacific Coast agent for the American La France Fire Engine Company of Elmhurst, N. Y., and was formerly surveyor of the Board of Underwriters, a member of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs and of the International Association of Fire-Engineers.—S. J. Chronicle, June 30.

Edward Dunsenber was a departing passenger on the Korea Wednesday. A large number of friends of both sexes were on the wharf to wish him both good-bye.

Miss Grace Hortense Tower, who is well known here, having been one of the members of the Los Angeles party a year or so ago, arrived on the Alameda yesterday and will remain here for several weeks. Miss Tower has Miss Bonnell and Miss Early as her guests.

Mrs. George C. Perkins, wife of Senator Perkins of California, arrived yesterday on the Alameda in hopes of regaining her health.

Dr. Raymond arrived home yesterday from the Coast, during his visit to the mainland he was taken sick, and was prevented from going on East to meet his family.

Harold Spencer, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon Spencer, was a returning passenger on the Alameda yesterday. Harold has returned with great honors from his Alma Mater, receiving the degree of L. L. B. (Bachelor of Laws) and a certificate from the Supreme Court of Connecticut showing that he had been admitted to practice. After a few weeks rest he will resume his chosen profession and his many friends wish him great success.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Lehigh were home-comers on the Alameda after a honeymoon spent on the Coast. As Mrs. Lehigh started down the gangway Wednesday afternoon Berger struck up the wedding march, which made the charming bride smile very sweetly. The happy young couple are settled for the time being at the Young.

Miss Violet Damon is booked for the Alameda next Wednesday. She will visit quite extensively on the mainland before her return, which will probably be late in the fall.

Mrs. R. W. Anderson and her three children will leave for an extended visit on the mainland by the Alameda Wednesday.

Manager Ferdinand Hons and Mrs. Hons, nee Chillingworth, were the hosts at a dance last Saturday night at their Kahului home in honor of the visitors from Honolulu. A special dancing pavilion had been erected and the party thoroughly enjoyed themselves until the wee small hours. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening, and everyone voted the affair a great success.

Governor Frear will be the host at a box party one night at the Opera House when the "Man of the Hour" will be presented for the third time by the best amateur cast that has ever been seen here. Among his guests will be Admiral Sperry, commanding the Atlantic fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Olson entertained at dinner last night at the Pienan-tou in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Powell. Covers were laid for nine. Bridge followed in the evening. The table was prettily decorated with maiden hair ferns and marguerites.

Cards are out for the garden party which will be given next Friday afternoon at the Pienan-tou by Captain and Mrs. Ross in honor of the Admiral and officers of the fleet.

Captain and Mrs. Ross entertained in the private dining room of the Pienan-tou on Thursday night. Covers were laid for eight and after dinner bridge was indulged in until quite late. The table was tastefully decorated with maiden showers.

Mrs. A. J. Gurnow gave a delightful swimming party at the Pienan-tou yesterday afternoon for eight of her friends. After the guests had enjoyed themselves for an hour or so in the tank, dainty refreshments were served on the lawn.

Among the recent arrivals at the Pienan-tou are Mrs. Jones, Miss Jones and Mrs. Tabson of Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Davis of Pittsburg, Pa.

THE IWILEI CRUSADE. Father H. Valentin and Hawaiian Trust Co., trustees under the will of John Eas, have replied to Sheriff Lau-kea's notification regarding property of that estate alleged to be used for unlawful purposes. They state that they have begun an investigation of the charge, asked the lessees to furnish them with immediate information as to the truth of the charge and notified them that, if the charge is true and they continue breaking the law, their leases will be revoked and the trustees will enter and take possession. The lessees so notified are Ching Lum and Loong Kan.

TOWN TALK

By THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Act two in the little drama entitled "If I Can Be Boss," has been played and the curtain is just getting ready to rise on the third spasm. In the last scene the curtain dropped suddenly with the villain (Sheriff Iaukea) cringing humbly before the hero (A. P. Taylor), who points at him with finger of scorn, crying "Back to the den of darkness from which I brought ye. The scion of your race, ye left Frederick did smite my trusty minion, Reeves. I'll have his blo-o-o-d."

I am rather interested in this play. It appears that some time ago there was a large amount of cargo thrown overboard by the Republican party. Henry Vida and others of that ilk belonging to the passengers, who, finding that their baggage had been thrown out on the waters and having bread in their snags which they wished to see return, started out on a still hunt. This left more room for others and it was decided in the secret councils of the Powers that Be, that a revolution would be a success.

It would appear that the man the Advertiser adopted as sheriff, with its own man as coach, had resumed the wear of the "spotted skirts"—which before his adoption as the only one to beat the hated Brown used to make the Advertiser throw regular fits—and now the question arose as to how to dissolve the partnership. Taylor, the aforesaid coach and right bower to the sheriff, must take the initiative. But how? Fate brought the solution in the person of Fred Iaukea, a youth who returned home recently to be fed governmental pap at the expense of the county.

Now Freddie, who may be a very good boy, doesn't like to be handled with a nursing bottle and a stuffed club, which A. P. Taylor soon found out. The result was that he made pillikia in the station. That would never do, because when Taylor got mad he rowed with Papa Iaukea a bit. Freddie was therefore sent below, to the office of the receiving clerk. Now one long, gaunt and hungry looking individual named Reeves, with a nose for everything which he should not know, came into the game. He worried Freddie a little and was smitten mightily in the eye and returned to Taylor with grievous complaint.

Now Taylor is a cautious child and always wants plenty of good advice. He asked, as usual, for words from the oracle which rules the destinies of the morning paper. With an internal or infernal wink, seeing how nicely the plot had unfolded, the oracle suggested that he had stood for this sort of thing enough. The Advertiser would be glad to employ him once more. Would he come? The two sat down and framed such a polite letter to the sheriff, who read about it the next morning in the newspaper.

Will the Advertiser roast its dear friend Curtis from now on? I am not sure about it but I understand that he has offered to lease the asbestos coat which was formerly worn by A. M. Brown.

"Poor William Jennings Bryan," groaned Former Master of the Mails J. M. Oat, "the signs look bad for him."

The remark was perpetrated in the lobby of the Commotion Committee Chamber last evening and was addressed to Colonel Senator McCarthy who was present with Eddie Quinn's proxy.

"What's the sad sign, Captain?" questioned the undefeated Democrat. "Well, you see," wept Oat, stroking his brain, "there were sixteen battleships to have left San Francisco at one time for Honolulu and that was a good sign for Bryan, old 'Sixteen to One,' you know—sixteen ships to one fleet—sixteen pieces of silver to one cross of gold, how you like it; but the magic symbol was broken and one ship staid back, and with scarlet fever at that; and it was the Nebraska, Bryan's own State's ship. Talk about your bad signs for Willie Bryan."

"He still has his statesmanship to be proud of," said the Kernel. "Statesman, nothing!" said Oat, "he's a politician!"

Chief Decident B. Reckons at this moment rapped for order within the Commotion Chamber and the Democratic party and the War Veteran both quit talking and went in to remain with bowed heads while Straight and Narrow Roads led in prayer.

"There is one in our midst who is absent this evening and therefore unable to be present," said Reckons. "The lady is taken up with getting out a fleet edition of the Tra-la-la Chimes."

After a general expression of regrets Reckons asked Link McCandless to take the chair, saying he felt funny. "I swallowed a tintype," he explained, "and I feel like a moving picture." Link took the throne and said that inasmuch as it happened to be his birthday he was going to cut a cake for the crowd.

A dumb waiter from the Balm cafe entered the portal, pushing a great fruit cake on a wheelbarrow. The cake was designed in the form of these Hawaiian Islands and Link satied in with a huge knife with an injunction edge and started cutting up the islets to pass around.

He cut all the islands except Lanai and handed that whole to Ex-Governor Carter.

"Have a piece?" he asked John Emmeloth.

"Thank you, I'll take a Sandwich," said John.

Carter laughed so hard that he choked on Lanai and his temporary distress was like the howlow of the barking sands.

"There's something epidemic here," said Link McCandless, his hand pressed in the region of his vest, "and I must resign the chair in favor of Hi Henry."

"What's the matter?" cried several. "I eat too much of the Panahou section of that cussed cake," said Link.

"Awe!" said Jeremiah W. Doyle, "great political news—Panahou's gone solid for Link!"

Hi Henry had no sooner taken the chair than Billie Cooper and his silk-covered pol-purp, with the anti-luan convictions and an appetite for newspaper clippings and paste, entered the chamber.

Hi at once wanted to know if the dog was licensed and Cooper declared that Sheriff Iaukea had licensed his pup.

"Iaukea's licenses don't go," said Henry, "you'll have to get my certificate."

"I don't believe in Hi license," said Cooper.

"Bow-wow!" agreed the Promotion Pup.

"If I can't be obeyed, perhaps you'd do better in the chair," said Hi Henry.

Cooper took the chair and the purple pup took the Turkish rug at his nether extremities.

"I'm promoting a publicity campaign," said Cooper, "and I want you fellows to lend a legible hand to the good work, see!"

"Specificate!" said Booster, just waking up and lighting an Arab.

"Well, I want you chaps to give me your photographs and your biographies and I'll scatter them among the country papers of the mainland for the edification of the dear mainlanders and the advancement of Hawaii."

"Twing pulled his photograph from his hip pocket and presented it at the mourners' bench.

"Nothing doing," said Cooper, "I saw your picture in Leslie's and that's about enough from you for the present. They had you labelled as a strong supporter of the Chinese movement in Hawaii, when they should have billed you as a Carrie National nuisance and put your face in the Police Gazette."

"Booster handed in his photograph, explaining that he had a better one contracted for, if Cooper would only wait.

"I'm not looking for social leaders," said Cooper; "I want captains of industry."

That settled it, and Detor of the Union Grill, the Flagman of Fort street, Lawyer Atkinson, Frazier of the Panhandle Advertising Company, Honorable Plumber Quinn and Chiffonier Jim Quinn all had their photo-post-card-portraits accepted as being those of the men of Honolulu who are making all the money.

A bell-buoy entered on silent and manieured feet and deposited on the Chief Decident's table a magnificent cluster of blossoms, fresh plucked from the gardens of the Lei Syndicate (Trust Buster Breckons please note.)

Immediately the botanists commenced playing "botan, botan, who's the best botanist?"

"She loves me, she loves me not!" whispered Oilbright and Any More together, both plucking at the same sunflower from opposite sides.

Just then one of the pistils went off and More swore out a warrant, thinking he had been shot by a tug-captain.

"It's all right," said Oilbright, "it wasn't loaded."

"What wasn't loaded? The flower or the tug?" said More, speaking the last word so low that it could not be distinguished.

"Shut up!" cried Loig Ann.

"It's not closing time, yet," said More.

"Sure it is," said Booster, "the bells of the frogmots just struck one."

But the botanists were still examining the beauties of the nosegay presented by the Lei Syndicate.

"This is a Paradise Peony," said one.

"And this," said another, "is a Literary Lilac."

"Here I see a Reportorial Rosary," remarked a third.

"And I have in my hand a Walkiki Winteria," said a quarteter.

"This is a gracious intense flower," remarked a quintetlet, "but I can't make out the name."

"Habitat Pasadena," said a sextuplet. Cooper's canine threw a promotion fit and Cooper had to resign the chair to Molten Air.

There was dire distress.

"Why don't you apply for Taylor's resigned job as Chief of Detectives?" asked Heinrich Wordsworth Kinnie, instead of wasting time decorating the chair of this here Commotion Committee?"

"Segregating your interrogation," said A.B., chewing a Kaimuki coconut. "I can make more glory veadyly the moonlight trail under moon-frosted lanes with angela waiting at the terminal, and can avoid more dynamite criticism and late hours by wielding the typewriter than I could by juggling the truncheon and the search warrant; and as for wasting time in this chair, I would have you know that there is such a proverb as 'waste not, want not,' and there are a whole lot of things I want. Perhaps you can suggest a method of acquisition."

"Be sure you write, then go ahead," said Kinnie.

"Better be a writer than be king," said Satan.

Scared had Satan spoke, ere he trembled and faded from view, for there was a whizz and a smell of incense and Father Valentin, the Flying Priest, dashed by on his motorcycle, hastening to scatter consolation to the sorrowful, advice to the worried and illumination to the absent-minded.

"Where the ordinary automobilist mauls one body the Flying Priest saves a dozen souls," said Matheson.

"Has he a license?" asked Hi Henry.

"For souls or cycles?" inquired Iaukea, patting his son's wrist and frowning at Reeves.

"You can't tag a soul," said Satan recovering.

I had received numerous notes, anonymous and otherwise, asking when and where the Commotion Committee meets and if everything in my reports of the meetings is true. Thanking everybody for favors, would say: The Commotion Committee meets on the Mental Plane, in the middle of the block, upstairs, and when it feels like it and everything therein that is a fact is true.

This is a true story. Not long ago three American travelers on a vacation trip arrived here on a Friday morning, announcing plans to stay a couple of months or so and enjoy their idea of rest. That they were men of somewhat shocking habits, the details of the story will develop, and they didn't stay long. On Saturday morning when they arose the first two had habits were made known—they wanted cocktails, or something or other of that sort, in the early morn, and they wanted to "shake" for them. At the bar they were told that no dice were allowed. They did without the next morning being Sunday, there was no bar, but they were told that thirsts could be replenished at Walkiki. They boarded a car for that delightful resort and were politely told to stop smoking or get off. Early Monday morning they sought the Oceanic office and booked for home on the following Wednesday. The moral of this story is that our little community is better than many of those from which our visitors come.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL

Paragraphs That Give Condensed News of the Day.

The fleet is coming. Let us clean up the city.

A mortgagee's notice of intention to foreclose appears in this issue. The opening of bids for the Alakea St. Shed has been postponed to Monday July 20.

Official ball tickets are $5.00 each admitting gentleman and any number of ladies. The ball is on the night of the 17th.

The annual clearance sale at Sachs, with its sweeping reductions on the entire stock, will positively close on Thursday at five o'clock.

Surgeon Stokes, of the Relief, Lieut. Commr. Patten, of the Colugo, and Lieut. Commr. Bierer, of the Arethusa, called on Governor Frear this morning.

The special machinery at Regal Shoe Store does all sorts of shoe repairing in a jiffy, and does it well, too. Vlecker's Repair Shop is now a part of this concern.

The French consul has announced that the National flag of la belle France will float over the consulate on July 14 in honor of the Fall of the Bastille, but no reception will be held.

The quarterly business meeting of the Chinese Students' Alliance of Hawaii will be held this evening in the Alliance hall at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Sunrise is ready and willing, for $50 up, to race Makaala or Leahi Girl on Saturday, July 18, for a quarter-mile. Answers must be received by Tuesday next.

The official ball in honor of Rear Admiral Sperry and the officers of the fleet will be given on Friday evening July 17, at the Seaside-Moana. Tickets are $5.00 each, admitting gentleman and all ladies accompanied.

In Judge De Bolt's court the motion to show cause in the case of Myhre vs. Myhre was continued for a week this morning. The motion to set ball in the case of Manuel Cruz was also continued till the same time.

For the coming week Lewis & Co. Ltd., offer first quality California Pilot Bread in 50-pound cases at 4 cents per pound and California Soda Crackers in 40-pound cases at 6 1/2 cents per pound. All groceries greatly reduced. Lewis & Co. Ltd., Leading Grocers, 169 King street, Telephone 240.

A demurrer by the defendant has been entered in the suit of Ralph Girveler vs. the Hawaiian Electric Co. in which damages are asked for injuries sustained through the plaintiff's receiving a severe shock from an electric light wire. The motion is on technical grounds.

An appeal to the Supreme Court has been taken by the Hilo Fruit Co. in its suit against Tax Assessor N. C. Willifong of Hawaii. The Territory, although not represented by any attorney in the hearing of the case before the Tax Appeal Court, was sustained in its contention assessing the property for $19,760, and it is from this decision that an appeal was taken.

The attention of the contractors of the city is called to the fact that the date for the opening of bids on the work of building, painting and furnishing the Alakea street wharf shed, has been changed from next Monday to Monday, July 20. This has been done at the request of several of the large firms of the city who wish to submit a figure and who desire a little more time.

Attorney General Hemenway has received a wireless from his deputy, A. D. Larnach, who is in Hilo; stating that the suit of Lopez vs. Pratt had been dismissed. This suit was one brought by a Settlement Association which claimed that it had been prom-

STILL MORE LAW NEEDED

AN OFFENSE DISCOVERED FOR WHICH THERE APPEARS TO BE NO STATUTE.

That a man was guilty of committing a crime but that there is no law by which he may be punished, was the conclusion reached this morning by United States Commissioner A. F. Judd in the case of the United States vs. Sato. Sato is the Japanese steward from the Korea who took fifty-five yen from a steerage passenger bound for this port and returned thirty dollars in Confederate bills.

Both the United States District Attorney and the United States Commissioner appear to be satisfied that the charge made is true, but it happens that there is no provision in the United States statutes which covers such a crime when it is committed on the high seas. As the result Sato was discharged from custody this morning. The hearing was held yesterday but Commissioner Judd reserved his decision till Tuesday, but decided that since he had reached a decision it was hardly right to keep a man in jail so long.

GOOD PLAY FOR FLEET

The interest in the "Man of the Hour" performances is increasing. This fact is shown by the receipts from the sale of tickets which are as good as could possibly be expected. The rehearsal last night showed that the company is ready to go ahead with the play immediately if necessary and that the three rehearsals which will be given from now on, will hardly be needed. Miss McLean, who takes the leading part among the women in the show, is doing better than she ever has up to this time. Her natural manner on the stage is one of the charms which one sees ordinarily only among the best class of professional. Mr. Emory, who takes the part of Mr. Wainright, the financier who tries to force the young Mayor to obey his behests and finally loses out, is as natural in his manners as if he pulled off political deals every day.

W. D. Adams and "Jimmy" Wilder take their parts with the usual excellence which may be expected from actors of such long experience. "Bill" Warren, does his usual work and those who have ever seen him on the stage are sure to approve.

Gus Murphy takes the leading part as a matter of fact, though not the title role. As Horgan, the political boss, he has everything his own way till the end when he finds out that he loses, but still stays with the game, and never shows the white feather for a moment. His part is one taken from life and made strong as the most severe critic could ask.

Mrs. McLennan, in the first two performances which were given, did some of the best acting ever seen on a local stage. In the third act, where she advises her son, the Mayor, to do right, even if he is forced to bring reproach on his father's name, she is very strong and shows the effect of her long training on the professional stage.

The seats at 75, 50 and 25 cents are now on sale at Wall, Nichols, used and which was afterwards withdrawn and sold under another form of sale.

MADAME ARRAL AT THE ORPHEUM

"The Silver King" during its short run at the Orpheum, has attracted good sized houses. Mr. Richard Buler in the title role again demonstrated his ability as an actor of the front rank. The support he received from the Lumley company was first class. The comical parts are very rich.

The enterprising managers, Messrs. Cohen and Lumley, sprung a surprise on the audience last night by engaging Mme. Blanche Arral to sing between the second and third acts of the play as an added attraction. To say that Madame Arral captured the audience is hitting it mildly. The large audience composed of Honolulu's representative citizens, was unstinted with its applause. During the singing of Piquele from "Mignon," "Violetta" and a song in Spanish called "Veritable Monita" for an encore, the auditors were spellbound. As her closing number Madame Arral sang "Home Sweet Home" as it never was sung before in Honolulu, and a great many of the audience were in tears. You could hear a pin drop so intensely interested were the auditors.

Thursday of next week Gus Thomas' great drama "Arizona." Seats are now on sale for all performances one week in advance.

GOVERNOR FREAR SOON TO VISIT HILO. Governor Frear expects to make a start for Hilo within three weeks. This was the information given to the Herald by the Governor's private secretary, Mr. C. H. McBride, on the race track last Saturday.

Mr. McBride came up with the Elks last week, had a look at the races and went to the Volcano on Saturday afternoon. He said that Governor Frear was so shaping his work as to make his trip around the island of Hawaii as soon as possible, hoping to get away from Honolulu in about three weeks. As far as outlined, the Governor's plan had been to come first to Hilo; from here he would probably go to Kau and Kona and thence on to Kohala, back by Waimea and Hanalei to Hilo, thus making this place his point of arrival and departure.—Hawaii Herald.
