TUESDAY, DEC. 14, 1886.

DRAINAGE WANTED.

Probably the main difficulty in the way of making good and durable roads in the lower parts of the town, from Merchant street seaward, is the lack of natural drainage. The land lies so low and the general contour of the surface is so even that drainage requires to be created, and this involves expense. The portion of the town alluded to retains a large proportion of the rainfall until it either percolates or evaporates. The consequence is, that the roadways become thoroughly saturated and softened by moisture during the rainy season, and incapable of bearing heavy weights. Besides this, these are the very streets that are subjected to the most and heaviest traffic. Coral and other soft materials that serve to make comparatively good roads where the conditions are different and the traffic less, are almost useless here. Undoubtedly, the roadways in the vicinity referred to are in an unsatisfactory condition, and demand attention. But the first and most essential matter to attend to in connection therewith is the devising some means of drainage, which nature has omitted to provide in this case.

Chun Hook, the Desperado.

His Third Escape.

False Report of His Recapture.

At 6 o'clock last evening a telephonic message was received at the Police Station from Kaneohe, announcing Chun Hook's capture, a short distance above the Halfway House. In substance, the information was, that on passing over the Pali, a Chinaman apparently dead, was seen being dragged through some long grass by two natives. It was at once concluded that the lifeless looking person was Chun Hook, hence the telephonic message. No time was lost in despatching a posse of police, all well armed, under the command of Officer Hopkins. They proceeded up the Valley on horseback, followed by a hack to convey the prisoner to the Police Station. On reaching the Halfway House, they spread themselves down the valleys and up the mountains. Their search proved futile, all they saw, to give them hopes, was a trail through some long grass leading into some thick brushwood, and there all tracks ended. Darkness setting in, the captain of the squad gave orders for his men to "fall in" and return to town. Nine extra policemen remain in that neighborhood, the authorities being convinced of Chun still hiding around there.

Having failed yesterday, but believing they have a clue to the escaped prisoner, the authorities have again sent a squad of police in charge of Hopkins on a similar mission. They are armed to the teeth and feel sanguine of success.

Prof. O. T. Sherman, for some years in charge of the thermometric bureau of the observatory, has resigned his post at Yale and will presently go to Johns Hopkins University to fill a year's engagement. He has lately made some important discoveries in spectroscopy.

PACIFIC HARDWARE COMPANY.

This morning, our reporter, in making his rounds "about town," was magnetically attracted, or otherwise, to loiter in front of the Pacific Hardware Company's store, on Fort street. His eyes became riveted on a grand display of silverware, and whilst admiring and contemplating over the same he was greeted by a polite and courteous salesman, an employee of the Company, to take a walk round the store, and he, (the salesman), would take pleasure in giving a brief description of the various lines of newly imported goods. Looking overhead, our scribe beheld the finest array of hanging lamps, chandeliers, hall lamps with and without hand painted shades, he had ever seen. His attention was then turned to the windows from within. He there beheld a most magnificent collection of syrup stands, water pitchers and goblets, silver plated bells, pickle stands, napkin rings, vases, coffee urns, tea sets, berry, fruit, butter and pudding dishes. These goods are especially imported from the manufactory of Meriden and Middletown, Connecticut, U. S. A. Turning within again, a showcase of Wostenholm's penknives, Wade and Butcher's celebrated razors, and scissors of all sorts and sizes, but only of one quality, the best. Overhead again, is to be found a most unique collection of birdcages.

The line of the company's hardware comprises everything from a needle to an anchor, so to speak. Being about to leave the premises after this flying visit, our reporter's eye met an extraordinary looking lamp in the window. It required an explanation by the accomplished salesman, our uninitiated scribe failing to ascertain its utility. His bluntness was sharpened by being informed it was a "home-heater," specially adapted for the sick bedside. On a pinch, it could be used for other purposes congenial to the tastes of a convivial party. This brief notice gives but a faint idea of the contents of that magnificent store known as the Pacific Hardware Company.

THE CHUN HOOK HOAX.

"From Kaneohe, the wires flashed forth:
"Chun Hook is caught at last!"
The scoundrel's death it matters not!
His crimes are of the past."

The magnates of the law set forth To escort his corpse to town, Hopkins led, eight sturdy men,
To vindicate the Crown.

They mounted plugs and fiery steeds Armed to the teeth, of course "In case they met the scoundrel's ghost!" They feared they'd come off worse."

"The minions of the law looked well," And so did Horace Crabbe, The mounted corps equipped for war,
To club, to shoot, or stab.

The Pali reached, they searched in vain, For "Chun," alive or dead But all they found, were trucks of one, Who'd to the mountains fled.

Exhausted, tired, well nigh worn out, Hopkins returned to town And there he told a pitiful tale Of his travels up down.

The message sent, turn'd out a hoax.
For once, the Crown was fooled, Chun Hook's fate at large prepared to die Than by a "Tripp" be ruled.

Dollars talk (the natives say)
The reward is much too small, To catch Chun Hook
They first must find his handsome chain and ball.

He's loose, his true on Oahu's Isle,
"His days are numbered now!"
Though David ought to strain a point, And say escapes are pun.

The King vs. Keahi Lilihi Nahina, perjury. Commitment from District Justice for Makawao. Nolle prosequi.

The King vs. Kapa Dom Lin, desertion of husband. Appeal from Police Justice of Lahaina. Messrs. Kinney & Peterson for defendant. It was held by the Court, on the motion of the Attorney-General, that the case was not a criminal case and was improperly entitled.

CRIMINAL CASES--FOREIGN JURY.
The King vs. Charles Bolabola, commitment from Police Justice of Wailuku. Defendant was found guilty and sentenced to two years' imprisonment at hard labor and costs.

The King vs. Geo. C. Williams, appeal from Police Justice of Wailuku. Mr. J. W. Kalua for defendant. On motion of defendant's counsel the case was continued until next June term on the ground of defendant's illness.

The King vs. Miyasaki, assault with a dangerous weapon. Commitment from Police Justice of Wailuku. Hon. Paul Neumann for defendant. Venue changed to Honolulu at January term on motion of defendant's attorney, and with the consent of the Attorney-General.

The King vs. Ah Chong, burglary. Commitment from District Justice of Makawao. Messrs. L. A. Thurston and J. Richardson for defendant. Verdict of guilty.

The King vs. John Enos, arson. Commitment from District Justice of Hana. There was no appearance of defendant up to the 9th instant, when his bond was declared forfeited.

CIVIL CASES--HAWAIIAN JURY.
Kikau and Nika vs. Kekeheha, ejectment. Mr. J. W. Kalua for plaintiffs, Messrs. Kinney & Peterson for defendant. Continued.

Pooiki and Kahele, her husband, vs. Kealaku, ejectment. Mr. J. W. Kalua for plaintiff, Messrs. W. A. Kinney and Richardson for defendant. Continued.

J. W. M. Poeha and Laie (w) vs. Hele (w) and Rawels (k), damages. Appeal from District Justice from Molokai. Continued.

CIVIL CASES--(MIXED JURY.)
Wailuku Sugar Company vs. Pa-iwi, ejectment. Mr. J. W. Kalua for plaintiff, Mr. J. Richardson for defendant. Continued to next term.

Eight divorce suits were also continued to next term for want of proof. — [P. C. Advertiser.]

TEA TRADE VIA CANADIAN PACIFIC.

The leading spirit in the new tea route is Everett Frazier, who has recently been over the road, and who predicts a fine traffic in this and other articles from the Orient. He has seen all the leading importers in Canada and the Western States, and says they are much pleased with the prompt and economical deliveries of freight. Mr. Frazier belongs to a firm that has been established for 27 years in China and Japan, and represents the principal underwriters in the United States in those countries and in Korea. Teas for the Western States leave the Canadian Pacific at Emerson, going down to Glyndon on the Northern Pacific, thence to Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, etc. Teas for New York and other Middle States cross the St. Lawrence at Brookville, thence over the Utica and Black River road to the New York Central at Utica, and thence east, west, north and south. Teas for Boston and the New England States pass over the entire road to Montreal, crossing into the United States at Burlington, Vt. Five vessels have already arrived at British Columbia this season with cargoes of tea for the new route over the Canadian Pacific. It is claimed that these cargoes were valued at $2,000,000, and that this is only an indication of the possibilities of the trade. Another ship is now on the way. From 15,000 to 18,000 bales raw silk, valued at $10,000,000, and on which the freight is $2,000,000, are annually imported into the United States, and a fair portion of this freight is expected. It is proposed to cover the route between Japan and British Columbia with steamers, possibly next season, and to make the trip over in 12 to 13 days. The new route will cut into the Suez tea trade more than into that by way of San Francisco. Wharves and warehouse will be put up at Port Moody to accommodate the traffic. — [S. F. Bulletin.]

WINTER EXCURSIONS.

During the winter there will be seven Raymond excursions from the East to California. The first one started from Boston on November 4th. Others will start December 9th, January 6th, January 20th, February 3d, February 17th and March 10th. The price of tickets, which includes railroad fares, hotel bills and all other necessary expenses, ranges from $443.50 for seventy-two days to $882.50 for 243 days. Excursionists this winter will find another very fine hotel beside the Del Monte, namely the Raymond, at Pasadena. Every member of the excursion parties will visit the Raymond, and have the privilege of remaining as long or as short a time as individual preference may dictate. The same rule will apply to the Hotel del Monte, at Monterey, a round trip ticket from San Francisco to Monterey and return being included in every ticket. Two other celebrated Pacific Coast resorts—Santa Cruz and Napa Soda Springs (the latter being situated in the mountains, above the beautiful Napa Valley)—are included in the same category, round-trip tickets, to be used at any time preferred by the holder, being supplied in every ticket-book. In San Francisco, the famous Palace Hotel will be, as usual, the headquarters of the excursion parties. The first party arrived at the Raymond, Pasadena, Sunday. — [Alta.]

According to Prof. J. Norman Lockyer, the English astronomer, the total number of stars of which some knowledge can be gained with the optical aid now available is from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000. Only about 6,000 are visible to the naked eye—3,000 in the Northern Hemisphere and 3,000 in the Southern.

A CARD.

The undersigned has not been in the habit of foolishly or falsely puffing his goods, having been quite content to rest upon the approbation of his patrons. The large and increasing patronage of the Elite Ice Cream Parlors, together with the growing demand for ice cream and the wholesome and elegant cakes made on the place, has been a satisfactory and sufficient answer to all slurs.

The card in the BULLETIN of the 13th instant, wherein I am charged by a certain Mr. Horn with making false statements regarding some cake of his manufacture, may, however, require some answer and I hereby desire to state to said Horn and to the public, that I have made no assertion or statement regarding his goods, nor is it my intention or desire so to do.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and the evidence regarding the respective qualities of the products of the Elite Ice Cream Parlors and of the said Horn, to the date hereof, has been quite satisfactory to me, and no doubt to an intelligent and discriminating public.

was robbed last night, and 18 chickens stolen. If Chun Hook is the robber he is evidently determined to live high while he can.Look out for "Good news from Home" to-morrow. Christmas congratulations and New Year well-wishes may be anticipated from across the "Deep Blue Sea."Mr. C. Furneaux has presented the Library Association with several library curiosities, including a history of the Popes, with wood cuts of the different pontiffs, published in 1720.Messrs. E. P. Adams & Co. will hold a special cash sale, at their sales-room, at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, on which occasion a special line of goods, specified in an advertisement, will be offered.CAPTAIN Nowlin's voice gives evidence of his having overstrained his vocal powers at the last battalion drill. Sam says he will try and recuperate, ere his turn to give the word of command comes round again.Miss Chillingworth, milliner, is now located on Fort street, just above the shooting gallery, where she is prepared to bestow polite attention on all patrons, and to furnish them with every description of millinery of the latest style and most artistic finish.The billiard match between Morris and McCleery, commenced last Friday night, ended last night in a victory for Morris, the game standing at close, Morris 1,200, McCleery 839.
The play was witnessed by a large, interested, and orderly company.THE reward of $300 offered for the capture of Chun Hook tempted scores of people to go in search last evening. Companies of working men, after ending their day's work, went up Nuuanu valley to try their hands at police work.A VALUABLE dog—black retriever with a large bushy tail—either strayed away or was enticed away from the British bark W. H. Watson,yesterday. The creature was much prized by its owner, Captain Lawrence, who has frequently declined very tempting offers to sell.A JAPANESE prisoner was found dead in Oahu Prison this morning.
The cause of his death is not positively known but it is believed that he committed suicide. Deputy Marshal Dayton is holding an inquest this afternoon.To-morrow at 10 A. M. an auction sale will be held at the Temple of Fashion. The sale will be conducted by Mr. J. Lyons. Goods to be sold are of a most varied and useful nature. No reserve, and everything goes on the fall of Mr. Lyons' magic hammer.SEVERAL hackmen report the lower part of Liliha street almost impossible for carriages, owing to its rutty and rugged condition. One of the most experienced drivers, and who always drives a good team informed our reporter that he would refuse to accept a fare that would necessitate his having to pass up Liliha street.A GENTLEMAN was driving into town with his wife and child, from the suburbs, last night, when some unknown person, riding furiously, came into contact with the buggy, doing it considerable damage and endangering the lives of the occupants.
The rider rode off as quickly as possible, and was not recognized.The Hawaiian Band will play at the residence of Mrs. Dominis, mother of General J. O. Dominis, tomorrow morning, at 8 o'clock. On Thursday at 3 P. M. the band will play at the residence of H. R. H.
Princess Liliuokalani, Palama, where a reception and dance will be held.
On Friday afternoon the band plays at the Queen's Hospital.The installation of officers of the Honolulu Commandery K. T. Saturday night was a very enjoyable event. The installation was performed by the Eminent Commander H. J. Nolte, who after the installation invited the members to a banquet.
The banquet was an elaborate affair and speeches and toasts were numerous and good. The Commandery was organized in 71, and some of the original members were present on this occasion. The feast ended at 10:30 o'clock.

FROM THE VOLCANO HOUSE.

The Wilder S. S. Co.'s report from the Volcano House for the week ending on the 5th inst., gives the rainfall, 2.90; lowest thermometer, 76°; and highest, 82°.
The crater was active on the south side of Halemauana. There was a considerable run of visitors.

PACIFIC HOSE COMPANY.

Pacific Hose Company met in their room, last evening. Five new members were added to the roll.
Reports were made by committees to whom had been entrusted jubilee affairs. The Constitution of the Company was amended so as to provide for a Second Assistant Foreman. A new by-law was enacted, to specify the duties of the newly created office. The Secretary, Mr. A. G. M. Robertson, was presented with an embossed silver badge, in recognition of his services to the company. Mr. Ordenstein making the presentation on behalf of the members.

A DOG GONE.

Yesterday morning an emaciated dog lay itself down to rest against the sidewalk opposite Fort street shooting gallery, and rested there all day. In the evening Johnnie, while standing over the dog, explained to a crowd of natives the dog-gone instincts of a dying dog.
He expounded in voluble terms the dog's grievances and told his pedigree. The dog was dead this morning, but it is not known whether Johnnie talked him to death, or whether restaurant steak killed him. But he was dead nevertheless, and like the children in the woods, he was covered, not with leaves, but with flies.

A SELL.

A conclave of the senior and junior members of the Press met last evening, within the Police Court doors. This unusual gathering was not for the purpose of settling any differences, but it was purely a coincidence. They all went there in a common cause. Viz: to have a look at Chun Hook. They exercised the patience of Job in waiting for the notable's arrival, but were sold. Courtesy was shown to them by the police officers, Mr. Horace Crabbe furnishing chairs on which to rest their weary limbs. They smoked cigars, cracked jokes, exchanged witticisms, (rather dry ones) and finally wended their way homewards, wiser if not better men.
They were all "hoka."

SUPREME COURT.

AT CHAMBERS.

MONDAY, December 13th.

Before Judd, C. J. Kealawai (k) et al vs. Mawae and her husband.
This is an equity suit, in which plaintiffs pray for the setting aside of a deed which they claim was fraudulently made for the purchase of certain land situated in Hamaku-loa, Maui. Four witnesses were examined, and the case being partly heard, was continued till Tuesday.
Messrs. Kinney & Peterson for plaintiffs; His Excellency Mr. Rosa for defendant.Before Preston, S. In the estate of Lam Chock, petition for bankruptcy. Messrs. Ashford & Ashfordfor petitioner. The assets are estimated at $200, consisting of an interest in the partnership business of Quong Sam Kee. The liabilities are $9,487.07, of which twenty-two claims, amounting to $8,508.11, were proved. Hon. W. C. Parke and Lan Chang were nominated as assignees and the votes stand in their favor.

IN ADMIRALTY.

Before the master. S. Ephraim vs. the owner of the bark Forest Queen. The vessel is a trader between San Francisco and Honolulu.
She is owned by Charles Nelson and Ed. Kentfield & Co., the Honolulu agents being Theo. H. Davies & Co.
The grounds of actions are that, whereas 399 hogs were shipped from the Coast for this port, 42 of them died on the voyage, and a claim of $630 is made for damages thus sustained. The vessel was attached on the 4th of December, but released on the 8th upon the agents filing a satisfactory bond. Hon. Paul Neumann for plaintiff; Mr. F. M.
Hatch for defendant. The evidence of several witnesses was taken, owing to their intended departure.

THE HUNGARIAN PREMIER.

A writer in Temple Bar describes Tisza, the Hungarian statesman, who has been Premier of that section of the Austrian Empire for more than ten years, as follows:
"He looks like an old Jew clothes man. Hook-nosed, spectacled, with stooping shoulders, unkempt beard and long gray hair trailing over the collar of a shabby coat, he is no imposing personage. He wears the shabbiest of hats and smokes cheap cigars all day long. He is a man of few words. Disdainful of little courtesies, he never tries to ingratiate himself and does not seem to care whom he offends by his brusqueness. He is not a fine orator, nor a great financier, nor a bold party manager, yet he is the most popular man in Hungary and the most respected. His administration is masterly."A school in Philadelphia is kept in a cellar owing to the overcrowded condition of the building. Two hundred and fifty children are forced to go underground to a room where the ceilings are low and the air, heated by five stoves, is almost unbearable from closeness. The City of Brotherly Love is bound to make martyrs of its children.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

THE QUESTION OF THE DAY.

So we said, since the liquor traffic is too firmly embedded in society and in politics to be eradicated, let us make a profit from it. Let us demand a high premium on the iniquity: let them pay us well for the privilege of destroying the bodies and souls of our brothers and sons, for the ruin of families, for the broken hearts of women, and the 100,000 yearly victims of the traffic. Let us demand a high license and thus regulate the abomination. To our surprise the rum seller smiled at that. Nothing pleases him better than to have his business legalized and made respectable. Said Mr.
Cheezum, a liquor dealer of Indianapolis, "I believe most assuredly that when a saloonman pays for a license, that makes it right for him to sell liquors. If you pay for a steak, do you think you ought to eat it? The license puts it on a legitimate basis."

Another saloon keeper of Cleveland says, "What we are after is a lawful standing as a legitimate line of trade.
We are willing to pay the tax, but we are bound to be protected. I belong to the Liquor-Dealers' League, and I represent the feeling of seven-eighths of the whole membership." Do you object to high license? Some one asks of a liquor seller, "No, if it is not exorbitant." You see it clears out many of the small fry, and does not decrease at all the amount of liquor consumed.
Of course, that is all the brewers and distillers care for. It makes no difference to them how many saloons there are, so they sell just as much liquor. Then restriction curtails some of the features of the traffic which make it offensive. High license meets the views and protects the very men whose business it should be designed to curtail. But that which is acceptable to the traffic is the very thing that should not be acceptable to the mass of the people who oppose the traffic.

There are other fatal objections to high license, at some of which I can only hint briefly.

1st. It is wrong in principle. If whiskey selling is wrong and deplorable at fifty dollars, it cannot become virtuous and commendable at five hundred dollars. If it is criminal, as we believe it is, to give another a poison which will destroy his body and soul, no money paid to license a man to do so, can lessen the crime.
2nd. High license has proved to be a failure in practice. Statistics show this to be so numerous that no one who is willing to be convinced can fail to find them. A high license is usually set at either five hundred or a thousand dollars, the latter is very high. While such a sum may close a few of the lowest groggeries, it enables the gilded saloon to present greater attractions, which more than compensate. Besides, the profits of the business are so great, that no taxation has ever been reached that they could not afford to laugh at.

3rd. High license gives the business an appearance of respectability.
The time was when whiskey selling was considered as respectable a business as any other. But that time has passed. One of the most encouraging features of the present time is that the whole thing—selling and drinking is becoming disreputable. But a license seems to lift the saloon into respectability again.
It sets it upon the same footing with any other legitimate business. And the respectable saloon with its cut glass and mirrors and works of art is as truly the gate to hell as the groggery, and much more attractive.
"Will you walk into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly.

4th. One of the strongest arguments of the friends of high license both here and elsewhere is that the money thus received adds greatly to the revenue of the country. But from whom does the money come which pays the license which is supposed to reduce our taxes? Does it come from the liquor dealer, or from the hard earnings of those who can least afford the expense, and from their already impoverished homes?
Everlasting shame upon a Christian land, be it there or here, which will this consent to become a party in this iniquity which breeds poverty, insanity, idleness and crime, which is an enemy to God and man; which Mr. Gladstone says has slain more than war and pestilence and famine combined!

Since, then, moderate drinking tends always downward; since the beer and the wine fallacy are exploded; since, in spite of our temperance conventions and societies and all efforts to reach the public, the liquor trade flourishes and grows rich and bold; since license low or high is a deception and a snare; what shall we do?

How can we be otherwise than convinced that the only just, the only wise course is to strike at the root of the evil; prohibit instead of license; restrict rather than regulate. While we labor with prayers and tears, and infinite patience to uplift and reform the victim, let us show no mercy toward the mur-derer. The prohibitory element in the high license scheme is its only redeeming quality. Local option, prohibition on a small scale, may serve as a schoolmaster to lead us to something better. But it is national prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating drinks which commends itself to all true reformers as the only solution of the great problem. Wendell Phillips said in 1881: "Wherever it (prohibition) has been tried it has succeeded. Friends who know claim this. Enemies who have been for a dozen years ruining their teeth by biting files, confess it by their lack of arguments and lack of facts." The Supreme Court of the United States in 1878, affirmed in very distinct and unmistakable terms the right of a State to enact laws, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Says Judge Catron, "If the State has power to restrain by license to any extent, she may go to the length of prohibiting sales altogether." To object that "public sentiment" will not sustain such a law, is but a subterfuge. Let it be the aim of all temperance workers, to unite their efforts to obtain good laws by such wise teachings as will uplift the sentiment of those about him. "Ah! but a man's reach should exceed his grasp. Or, what's a heaven for?"

Volcano of Kilauea

The new and staunch

Steamer W. C. Hall

Leaves Honolulu at 10 o'clock A.M. on FRIDAY, December 17th.

The steamer passes along the entire coast of the leeward side of Hawaii, affording tourists a panorama of charming scenery, and will stop at Kealahou Bay, where sufficient time is allowed to visit the Monument of Captain Cook.

Tourists by this route reach Punaluu at 5 o'clock on the day after leaving Honolulu, being only one night on the vessel, making the entire passage in smooth water. At Punaluu there is the FINEST HOTEL ON HAWAII, and from there tourists will be conveyed by railroad to Punaluu, thence by stage coach to Halfway House, where horses and guides will be in attendance to convey them to the Volcano.

Tourists will have two nights and one whole day at the Volcano House.

Tickets for the round trip, $50, which includes all expenses.

Let me have a mild

CIGAR

THE ABOVE REQUEST IS HEARD daily in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undisputed fact that most smokers prefer a mild cigar and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported Maillias, will, after having thoroughly injured the stomach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, if they could find the right kind.

How many thousands of smokers who suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervous irritability, asthma, etc., and who have tried all possible remedies without success, might be cured if they knew that their sufferings were caused by the intemperate use of strong cigars, and that they should only smoke mild and properly prepared ones.

It is a fact that all mild cigars agree well with smokers, for in most cases there is a lack of care in the selection of the tobacco, and often the necessary experience for it is wanting, yet there is one brand which suits the most fastidious smoker, and that is

ENGELBRECHT'S
"Sampler" Health Cigar

Which is made from mild, aromatic and particularly selected and prepared tobacco, and combines all the qualities which may be expected from a health cigar. It causes no bad effect of any kind, is agreeable to the taste, burns evenly to the end and possesses a fine aroma. No smoker should fail to give

Engelbrecht's "Sampler" Cigar

A fair trial, and benefit himself at the same time.
