WARRANT ISSUED FOR ABRAMS AS BOND EMBEZZLER

City and County Attorney Brown Files Complaint in Circuit Court This Morning

JUDGE ASHFORD ISSUES WARRANT FOR ARREST

Alleged That Secretary of Hawaiian Trust Company Embezzled Kauai Railway Bond
From Cordelia C. Hartwell

Louis Abrams, secretary and a director of the Hawaiian Trust Company, apparently has not made to the other directors of the company the satisfactory explanation of an alleged shortage of $25,000 which brought him back from the coast last Tuesday.

A warrant for his arrest was issued shortly before noon today.

It is understood that Abrams will be up before Judge Ashford next Monday, though the warrant ordered him produced at 1:30 this afternoon. This was said to be not obligatory.

Abrams was given 24 hours, it has been reported, after his return from the coast to prove his innocence to the trust company. He arrived on Tuesday. That night the company made a brief statement in which it stated its position as wishing to give its trustee ample full opportunity to clear himself. Since Tuesday neither the trust company nor Abrams' attorney, Robert W. Breckons, has given out any news of developments, but the issuance of the warrant today is taken to mean that Abrams failed to satisfy the company on the score of the alleged shortage.

It was known last Tuesday that one of the accounts in which shortages were apparent was that of the Galbreath estate. The trust company announced that the accounts of only two clients were involved. The complaint filed in circuit court today gives the name of the other as Cordelia C. Hartwell, who is a sister of former Governor George R. Carter. Mr. Carter is a member of the directorate of the Hawaiian Trust Company.

In the complaint, which was filed in circuit court by Arthur M. Brown, city and county attorney, at 11:30 o'clock this morning, Louis Abrams, secretary of the Hawaiian Trust Company, is charged with embezzlement. It is alleged that he fraudulently disposed of a Kauai Railway bond valued at $1000, the proceeds of which he has not accounted for.

Several weeks ago the Hawaiian Trust Company discovered in Mr. Abrams' accounts a shortage believed to aggregate about $25,000. Mr. Abrams, who then was on the main-

GARDEN ISLAND ALL READY FOR GUESTS TO LAND

Maui and Hawaii Delegations to Big Convention Arrive; Make Start Tonight

With the departure of the Kinau but a few hours distant, interest in the Kaula Civic Convention is today growing intense. When the Mauna Kea dropped anchor at her wharf this morning she carried with her a lively group of people—representatives from both Hawaii and Maui.

The Kinau which also got in this morning from Kaula brought, as one of her passengers, L. D. Timmons, secretary of the Kaula Chamber of Commerce, who has come over to spend the day here looking for the final details necessary to make the convention a complete success.

Mr. Timmons will accompany the crowd back tonight and when the boat docks at Nawiliwili in the morning, a large delegation of committee-men, civilians, and bandmen will be at the landing to welcome their brothers from the three other islands.

Mr. Timmons says that everything has been done on the Garden Island that can be done to make the convention a success and he believes that a good time is assured to all who go.

"We believe that the discussions on civic questions will all be helpful," says Mr. Timmons, "and then for recreation after the talks are over we have various trips and excursions planned. A large number of automobiles will be constantly on hand for the use of the visiting delegates."

"The excursion trips," says Mr. Timmons, "have been planned to include practically all the available sights of the island. We will visit the spouting horn, Kukulano park, Olokele and Waimea canyons, and the barking sands. One trip is planned to Hanaui for those that care to participate. These trips will be made on Sunday afternoon and Monday morning."

Mr. Maui delegation has expressed the desire to cooperate with the local Ad Club in any stunts in which it can be of help. "We brought along 15 delegates, just to show you we could."

MORE OFFICERS' QUARTERS GO UP AT KAMEHAMEHA

Cablegram From Washington
Last Night Authorizes Spending $25,000

ONE POUND "POM-POMS" TO BE GIVEN TRY-OUT

Vickers-Maxim Field Piece Be-
danelles to Have Test Here

Work will be started at once on the construction of eight new officers' quarters, storehouses and other buildings at Fort Kamehameha, the construction of quarters at the office here announced today, following the receipt last night of a cablegram from the war department, authorizing the work which will cost the government nearly $25,000.

According to Lieut. Col. B. Frank Cheatham, who has been closely in touch with the situation, although his successor, Lieut. Col. James B. Houston, who arrived on the last transport, is now in charge of the office, the additional buildings will be constructed by purchase and hire, so that no bids will be advertised for.

The quartermaster's office will supervise construction, and no work will be done on the buildings by soldiers of the fort.

"We will probably start the placing of foundations at once," said Lieut. Col. Houston this morning. "No contract will be let for the work, as we will hire men who can do it and get it done as soon as possible."

As soon as the "made" land back of Fort Armstrong is filled in as a result of the harbor dredging operations, it is expected that the war department will provide better and larger quarters for the men stationed at this fort, as the present quarters are cramped and far from ideal. The new buildings will probably not be built at Armstrong for at least a year, however.

Practice With "Pom-Pom" Guns.
Extensive target practice with the "one-pounders," the Vickers-Maxim field piece which was dubbed the "pom-pom" in the Boer war, and which military strategists claim enabled Great Britain to conquer the Boers, will be held next month at Fort Armstrong, about October 15. Capt. F. M. Hinkle, commandant of the fort, announced today.

"These guns are automatic, and throw a bullet weighing one pound, and a little over one inch in diameter," said Capt. Hinkle. "They fire an explosive shell and are really a big machine gun, their chief advantage being in repelling landing parties, shelling small boats, and the like. They can fire as high as 60 shots a minute and are a mighty effective weapon."

For two weeks preliminary to target practice with the one-pound rifles, which weigh, with their limbers and carriages, about a ton each, the men of Fort Armstrong will be trained in special preliminary drill. The shots will be fired at a moving target out at sea 3000 feet from the fort, and only one day, perhaps two, will be devoted to actual firing.

The rifles fire a belt of cartridges at a time and can be adjusted so they will shoot without the necessity of pulling the trigger at each shot. They are now being used by British expeditionary forces in the Dardanelles and elsewhere and are said to be doing highly efficient work.

Only a week's more work of mine planting practice remains at the fort, before the mine planter Major Ringgold gets ready to go back to her home station at Seattle. From Monday until Thursday Capt. Hinkle and the two officers who have assisted him in practice operations, Lieuts. T. D. Sloan and H. Zornig, will have the 10th company at Pearl Harbor, where mine practice similar to that held off the fort here will be carried on, to familiarize the men with working conditions there.

"This year's practice has been very successful," said Capt. Hinkle today. "In service mine practice last Thursday the company made a record of 100 per cent. 'We will keep on with practice until the Ringgold has to prepare for her voyage homeward.'"

U. S. SHARPLY INSISTS DR. DUMBA BE RECALLED

QUEEN RECEIVES
FIFTEEN FLAGS AND BAND PLAYS

Nations, States and Colonies Bordering on West Oceans Represented at Ceremonies

Despite a day of showers and lowering flags, the first part of the Pan-Pacific Flag Day exercises—the formal presentation of flags of Pacific states and nations on the capitol grounds, is being held this afternoon.

At 2 o'clock the Australian contingent marched down to the capitol steps from the main gateway and presented the first flag to Queen Liliuokalani. The Australian women represented the stars of the Southern Cross, and the young girls representing the states were loudly cheered as they presented the first flag to the queen. The delegation from the southern continent was followed by representatives of other states and countries bordering the Pacific, carrying the flags of their homes.

Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, assisted by Princess Kaiulani, Mrs. John Lane and Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson received the flags as they were presented to her by the delegations as they reached the throne on the steps of the capitol building. Among the male dignitaries who assisted were Governor Pinkham, Chief Justice Robertson, Mayor John Lane, Hon. Charles Chillingworth, Admiral Boush and Maj. Gen. Carter.

Flags from 15 different states and countries were presented and the representatives in the national costumes of their homes furnished a charming and unique setting as they marched to the throne to the tune of their national airs, played by the Hawaiian band.

Washington delegates were dressed as Indians, the New Zealand contingent dressed as Maoris, and the men of Japan were represented by the cadets of the Taisei Maru. Hawaii was represented by the Kamehameha cadets and as they marched to the throne the Mary Becking Hawaiian flag was unfolded. The Portuguese presented a pretty picture as the young ladies, dressed in the style of Madeira, presented the flag while the band played the Portuguese national air.

Among the flags presented to the queen this afternoon were those of Australia, New Zealand, Japan, China, the Philippines, Korea, Washington, Oregon, California, Pan-America, Canada, Spain, Portugal and Hawaii.

Mayor Lane, who looked after the arrangements, and assisted in the work, was thorough in his efforts to make the flag presentation a success from every viewpoint. As the different delegations marched to the steps to the music of the Royal Hawaiian band the crowd expressed its approval with lusty cheers.

The flag will be formally presented to the Pan-Pacific Club at the dinner to be given at the Y. M. C. A. this evening, when a five-minute talk will be made by a representative of each nationality giving a flag to the club. The banners are to be taken to the Kaula Civic Convention.

LETTERS THANK HONOLULANS FOR AID TO CHINESE

Relief Funds Cabled to Flood-Swept Districts This Summer
Helped to Fight Famine

Acknowledging receipt of approximately $5100 sent from the Chinese Christian Union during the summer to the relief of the sufferers in the flood-swept districts of China, two letters have been received recently by the Bank of Hawaii and by Bishop & Company.

The letter to the Bank of Hawaii, which institution sent out about half of the $5100 through Yap Kwai Pong, was sent from China by Yee Wah Sun, a Chinese in Canton who has been doing much in aid of his suffering countrymen.

To Bishop & Company who sent an equal sum through Ho Fon, one of the tellers, acknowledgment of the money was forwarded by C. A. Nelson, who with his family saw much of the floods in Canton and helped in the case of those who suffered from the high water.

A third letter and one of more personal interest, has just been received from Mr. Nelson by C. E. Al, manager of the City Mill Company. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Al have long been warm friends, Mr. Nelson having visited in Honolulu two different times when going to and from the Orient. He is a prominent and much respected missionary in Canton.

Mr. Nelson's letter follows:

Says Majority of Teuton Front is Moving Deeper Into Slav Territory Elsewhere

The following cablegram from official German sources was received today:

"German Army Headquarters, Report for September 24.—Southwest of Hemmewalen the villages of Rose and Strigge, which were temporarily evacuated by the Germans, were reconquered. Near Duenaberg and northeast of Snelina further Russian positions were stormed. About 1000 Russians were taken prisoner.

"The German forces near Wilejka operating on the flank of the retreating Russians have met fierce fighting and the strong Russian attacks had a temporary success there. Some guns were lost, the crews of which worked until the last moment.

"The German front is in hot pursuit of the enemy beyond Soly Olszanytraki. Prince Leopold's armies have broken the enemy's resistance along the whole front and reached in the pursuit near Sereth and toward Korellini and Szczara. Northwest of Krasim and further south there is fighting with the enemy's rear guard, where 100 Russians were taken in outpost positions.

"Gen. von Mackensen's armies, northeast and east of Logishin were taken back behind the Oginski canal at Ja-

LEADERS ALL WIN.

For the first time in two months all six leaders of the two leagues won their games on the same day, and Detroit who is making a vain effort to win out, won a doubleheader from Washington. In the National League, New York who occupied last place this morning won today, and thereby jumped to a tie for fourth place in the race. The finish of the cellar leaders should be the best in the history of the games as few teams are separated by only a few points, and the team in fourth place the day before the season ends may go to the last position on the close of the race.

"Darling" Dies When Deserted By His Mistress

Toy Dog Smuggled in By Mrs.
Wakefield Grieves Because Not Taken on Honeymoon

"Darling" is dead. The tiny Japanese "toy dog" owned by Mrs. Frank Wakefield, who was Mrs. Edith Spreckels of California, died at the animal quarantine station, Ala Moana road, on September 15. There were no services. Mrs. Wakefield was not there. The remains went where the remains of all good dogs go who die at the animal quarantine station.

The keeper of the quarantine station said today that "Darling" died of internal trouble, brought about because the "toy dog" had refused to eat. Others believe that the dog died of plain loneliness, from the fact that, after it was placed in the station, its mistress failed to pay any attention to it.

When Mrs. Wakefield, then Mrs. Spreckels, arrived in Honolulu last July, a few weeks before her marriage last month, she smuggled "Darling" ashore in a handbag, which is against the quarantine law. Local officials joined in a lively chase to the Moana hotel and there took the dog from Mrs. Wakefield and placed it in the animal quarantine station.

"Darling" was an affectionate pup and seemed to miss his mistress keenly," said the keeper of the station today. "After the dog was placed in the station Mrs. Wakefield did not come near the place. She did not even telephone and inquire about 'Darling.' On many occasions 'Darling' refused to eat. About the only time he would eat was when my wife would feed him."

Mrs. Wakefield and her husband left for the Orient on August 28. The former did not even go to the station and bid goodbye to her pet, let alone endeavor to make arrangements to take "Darling" with her on her honeymoon. Probably she forgot all about the dog.

WASHINGTON NOT SATISFIED WITH A "LEAVE OF ABSENCE," GREECE RAPIDLY MOBILIZES

ATHENS CENTRAL RALLYING POINT FOR THOUSANDS OF SOLDIERS, CALLED BY BULGARIAN MENACE—RUSSIANS IMPROVE POSITION AT VILNA BUT SUFFER REVERSES FURTHER NORTH—BRITISH WARSHIPS BOMBARD ZEEBRUGGE—FRENCH ARTILLERY ACTIVITY SUCCESSFUL

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—The United States with sharp insistence is repeating its representations to the Austrian government that Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, is persona non grata to this country and must be recalled.

Following the revelation of Dr. Dumba's implication in plots to harass American munitions and manufacturing, the United States requested the recall of the ambassador. Dr. Dumba cabled to the foreign office a request that he be granted a leave of absence. Now the American ambassador at Vienna, Frederick Courtland Penfield, has been instructed to make it entirely clear to the Austrian government that the United States insist on the recall of Dr. Dumba. Ambassador Penfield is ordered to state that a leave of absence for the ambassador will be thoroughly unsatisfactory to the American government.

Russians Try to Hold Enemy Back

LONDON, England, Sept. 25.—The Russian position in the Vilna salient has improved in the past two days, due to the vigorous counter offensive the Slavs have launched in several places. Furthermore three simultaneous victories are reported on the Galician frontier, where the Slavs and Austrians are battling. These victories are mitigating the supposed success of the Teutonic Allies in winning over Bulgaria, but further north from Vilna the situation is less favorable. It is feared that Gen. von Hindenberg's strong army has reached the outer positions of Novo Alexandrovsk.

German Damage in England Estimated

LONDON, England, Sept. 25.—A special committee reported to the treasury department as to the extent of the damage and loss of life of the aerial raids made by the Germans previous to June 15, and also including the bombardment of Hartlepool, Scarborough and Whitby by German cruisers many months ago. The committee reported 697 claims for personal injury, of which 178 were fatalities, and over $100,000 claims for property damage already investigated.

British Warships Bombard Zeebrugge

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Sept. 25.—British warships have again bombarded the Flanders coast in the vicinity of Zeebrugge, where the Germans have been trying to develop a naval base. Three warships are engaged in the bombardment. The flash of the guns last night was visible along the Dutch coast.

Greece Rapidly Mobilizing Troops

TAYLOR'S LETTER ABOUT ROADS STIRS WRATH OF SUPERVISORS

"Impertinence," Says Logan, "Stop His Salary," "Who is Taylor?" asks Larsen

Not once perhaps since that long ago July evening when a hand grenade was thrown into the trenches of the supervisors by blunt warning of a certain road junction suit—not once since that time until last night's meeting has a communication from an outsider caused such commotion among the city fathers as was caused last night by the reading of a certain letter from P. Taylor, secretary of the Promotion Committee, relative to the bad condition of roads around the island.

A grim smile settled upon the faces of the "seven wise men" as Clerk Buford announced the letter. The smile lessened, taking on the semblance of a frown as the reading proceeded, and as the clerk reached the "young lady" of the letter, Benjamin Hollinger rose to his feet.

"I think that we have already fixed that part of the road to which Mr. Taylor refers," he said with fine scorn, "and I suggest that we write and tell Mr. Taylor to 'wise up' on a few things."

"It is true," said Supervisor Arnold, taking up the drift of Mr. Hollinger's talk. "Undoubtedly Mr. Taylor has not been around the island as much as he might have been in years long past. That part of the road which he says was once a motorist's paradise never has been a paradise, and it is just now thanks to our employees—beginning to deserve such a name. By the end of October the road will be one in truth."

Mr. Taylor says today that he fears his letter was wrongly taken by the board last night, and that he wishes to assure the supervisors that they always have the backing of the Promotion Committee at all times in their work for the improvement of the highways of the county.

"I do not know just why remarks were made which included the idea that my letter was 'impertinent,' because, for the life of me, I can't see it that way, nor do I understand how the members of the board can interpret it that way. My letter was written the day before Mr. Shingle's road policy was made public.

"Mr. Larsen stated that there has been too much criticism about the roads," says Taylor. "I am sorry to hear that has been the case, but I was not aware of criticisms beyond those which were voluntarily given across our office counter by tourists. We thought it a wise thing to convey the sense of the suggestions of tourists to the Board of Supervisors, and there was no idea whatever of impertinence on our part in conveying this information to the board which, I believe, is the proper recipient of suggestions on anything which pertains to the welfare of the city and county."

"We have no quarrel with the board and do not wish any, and are ready to back up the board in its policy for good roads which I see has been adopted. Furthermore, I know that the committee was ready to approve the board's new policy as outlined recently by Mr. Shingle."

PLANTATION MEN MAKING CAGE TO HOLD MURDERER

In connection with a wild-eyed rumor today to the effect that the Spanish murderer, Moliers, had been smuggled here from Mahukona on the steamer Mauna Kea in a big box, the rumor later proving to be baseless, U. S. Marshal J. J. Smiddy, who brought over a couple of prisoners on the Mauna Kea, brought news that laborers on the Honolulu plantation are making a strong box to imprison the murderer in when he is captured.

"Every laborer within miles of the plantation, has contributed knives, strips of iron bars, locks, knobs, rivets and everything else commonly going to make a box," said Smiddy this afternoon. "They call it 'Moliers' box,' and when they get it done a regiment couldn't break into it, much less an ordinary man force his way out."

Moliers last month murdered a man on Hawaii, and has since been at large in the cane fields, terrorizing the rural districts of the Big Island.

The action of the police magistrate in sentencing Ahuna, a Chinese, to pay a fine of $150 for assisting in maintaining a chiao lottery, was affirmed by Circuit Judge Ashford today, to whose court the case was appealed.

land, was notified of the supposed shortage. He cabled that he was innocent, and that he would return to Honolulu immediately. He arrived in Honolulu last Tuesday in the steamer Lurline.

Matter Referred to Brown. "The matter was referred to me officially and I was asked to take any steps which I might deem right," said City Attorney Brown to the Star-Bulletin today. "I feel that this is the proper thing to do under all circumstances."

The complaint was sworn to by City Attorney Brown before J. A. Dominis, clerk of the local circuit court. To the complaint was attached a warrant of arrest, signed by Circuit Judge C. W. Ashford. A postscript added to the warrant, also signed by Judge Ashford, fixes bail in the sum of $5000.

The complaint in full is as follows: "That, Brown, city and county attorney, being first duly sworn, says: That Louis Abrams, as Honolulu city and county attorney, territory of Hawaii, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1915, being then and there intrusted with and by the consent and authority of the owner thereof, having the possession, control, custody and keeping of a certain thing of value, to wit, one certain bond No. 120 for the sum of $5000 of the Kaula Railway Company, issued by the Kaula C. Hartwell, their owner thereof and entitled thereto, did, without the consent and against the will of the said Cordelia C. Hartwell, fraudulently convert and dispose of the same to his own use and benefit, and did abscond with and thereby commit the crime of embezzlement, contrary to the action 2924 of the revised laws of Hawaii, 1915.

SAMPANS TO BE ORDERED OUT OF HARBOR AT ONCE

Many Fishing Craft, Mostly Owned and Manned By Japanese, Must Go

What will constitute one of the largest moving deals in the history of the local waterfront will take place some time soon, presumably early next week, when an order is to be issued for the removal of all sampans from the harbor of Honolulu. The order is to be sent out by the board of harbor commissioners.

According to Charles R. Forbes, chairman of the commission, there are at present from 300 to 400 sampans in the harbor, almost all owned and manned by Japanese. The small boats are to be put out because of the fact that the harbor is needed for larger shipping purchases, and especially because room is needed for the construction work upon the new piers, Nos. 8, 9 and 10, which will soon be under way.

The contract for the piers was awarded to the Lord-Young Engineering Company for $285,000 on Thursday, and the work is to begin at once. Mr. Forbes says that the harbor commission will begin on the first of the week the erection of temporary sheds for the accommodation of its own inspectors who will be on hand when the work commences.

Asked today if he did not consider it somewhat of a task to carry out the removal of so many boats from the harbor, and if he did not anticipate some difficulty in bringing the work about, Mr. Forbes answered that he did not.

Issue Order Next Meeting. "The order," he said, "will be issued by the harbor board at its next meeting, and will be carried out as we direct. We anticipate that when we tell these boat owners to go they will go without further question."

Mr. Forbes says that no definite decision has been reached yet as to where he will have the boats placed, but that the Kewalo harbor, which has been dredged out is now under consideration.

"If Kewalo is not satisfactory," he says, "we will look about to find another. I do not doubt at all that such a place can be found for the boats." Of the hundreds of sampans to be found tied here and there about the harbor, by far the largest number belong to Japanese fishermen, these men having almost the entire control of the fishing industry about the islands. Most of them have looked for a long while at the foot of Fort Street, and between the boat houses and Fort Armstrong. They go out generally in fleets of a half dozen or more, some of the fleets staying over night, and some for as long as a week or more at a time.

CHICAGO BALL TOSSERS VICTORS OVER WASEDA. (Special Cable to Nippon Jiji). TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 25.—The University of Chicago baseball team won the first game of their Japanese series here yesterday afternoon when they defeated the East University of Waseda team by a score of 5 to 3. The visitors will meet the Kelo team in a series of games beginning the first of next week.

"BIG SURPRISE" HOLDS OVER. A. M. Brown, city and county attorney, did not spring his promised "big surprise" in Circuit Judge Ashford's court. When the case of John T. Scully and J. J. McGrath, charged with first degree robbery, was called up last Saturday, Mr. Brown asked that it go over until today, saying that a "big surprise" might be forthcoming. When the case was called today, Mr. Brown asked for further continuance. The matter was thrown into the discard until moved on.

"The reason I cannot give you any data is because ill health has prevented me from assisting in the famine relief, though I am on a committee. The chairman of the famine relief committee in Canton is Rev. R. E. Chambers, D. D. I shall send your letter to Lye Moon, Wa On Dispensary, Canton."

"Sincerely, "C. A. NELSON."

Mr. Nelson's letter to Bishop & Company, to which he refers in the foregoing letter, is as follows: "Canton, China, Aug. 6, 1915. "Bishop & Company, Honolulu.

"Dear Sir:—The $2000 and the $4000 Hongkong currency from the Honolulu Christian Union has been received and paid over today.

"Enclosed please find receipt of the treasurer of the Canton Christian Union, also his card. Pardon delay, but I was on the sick list, and in Hongkong, and have just come up to Canton for a few days. The contribution is much appreciated, as the suffering is great.

"Sincerely, "C. A. NELSON."

ENGELS COPPER PROSPECT GOOD, SAYS FLEMING

Honolulu Returns From Visit to California Mine Impressed With Work There

Engels Copper Company, in which Hawaii investors are heavily interested and which is managed by a former Honolulu, Elmer E. Paxton, is likely to be paying dividends along about the first of 1916, in the belief of John L. Fleming, the local broker. Fleming returned on the Lurline this week from a vacation trip. It was not all spent in pulling rainbow trout out of British Columbia streams, however. He went down to California and visited the Engels plant and comes home much impressed with the company's prospects.

On the visit to the plant he was the guest of Manager Paxton and made a thorough inspection of the entire mechanical equipment and much of the ore property.

"When I was there, about the first of September," he said yesterday, "I was simply amazed at the work, the size of the plant and the plans of the company. My visit was about the first of September. Up to this time the company had depended on water power, on a little steam power and on two gasoline engines at the bottom of the valley, so that its power supply was neither satisfactory nor particularly cheap. Now a 30-mile power line has been run from the Great Western Power Company at Big Meadows and was being completed. By this time the Engels people have this power and are independent of the water supply, which in dry times is apt to be merged.

"One thing possibly some Honolulu people haven't understood is that up to now the company has been developing bodies of ore as development or preliminary work, all the ore taken out being in this nature, leaving the big operations to come. The preliminary work of reaching the big bodies is being completed.

"By November or the first of December at the latest the management expects to have a credit balance after paying for its new machinery and advancing $20,000 to the Great Western Power Company as a guarantee that it would take the power. This $20,000 will be returned. The company is getting its power at eight-tenths of one per cent per kilowatt, which is less than one-third what power costs in Honolulu.

"I was much impressed also with the personnel of the force in charge. Mr. Paxton is surrounding himself with alert and capable men.

"Speaking only for myself, and after talking with Manager Paxton, it seems probable to me that about the first of the year the company will be paying dividends, unless wet weather this winter stops the hauling of concentrates."

COMMITTEE WOULD HAVE HONOLULU GO BACK TO WARD ELECTION PLAN

Features of All Submitted Drafts Included in the Preliminary Measure Last Night

As was expected, the sub-committee of five representing the charter convention's committee of 15, did not draw up any revolutionary plans at its meeting last night, but adopted a compromise course which promises many changes in the present charter, but advocates no "disturbing" innovations.

"The statement that we are practically taking over Harry Murray's charter suggestions is wrong," said Chairman Lorrin Andrews, this morning. "We have indeed taken many valuable ideas from him, especially the so-called ward system and the establishment of a new officer to be called the superintendent of city works. But we have also incorporated whole paragraphs of Acha's plan for a commission government.

"In fact the plan we will report back to the committee of 15 will be decidedly in the favor of the commission plan. You may notice, however, that the most important innovation is probably the establishment of the superintendent of city works. While his title and the exact definition of his duties comes from Harry Murray, still in spirit he is the city manager proposed by the Research Club in their model charter. I think that their plan was too new, too violent a change from what the city has been accustomed to, but if the superintendent of city works proves to be a success, there is no telling how far his powers may be expanded.

"All of the mechanical and technical parts of the city work lie in the hands of this official, and he will supervise all work upon the sewers, streets, plumbing, and things of a similar nature. He will also have the appointment and removal of the city engineer. In a word, he is the corporate head of a great firm in which the voters are the stockholders.

"According to the plan of the committee of five the heads of department ments will be elected directly by the people instead of being appointed. They will be subject to the recall in an elastic form which will keep the power of public opinion as a judge over them, say committee members. Approve of Ward Plan.

The supervisors will probably be elected from nine wards, Murray's idea of the short ballot. Instead of voting for all the supervisors, the citizen will pick out only one man to represent his district.

Together with the heads of the departments the supervisors will meet as a board of equalization and estimate. Before this body the department heads will appear and submit their estimates of the sums which they will need for the running of their departments. After the appropriation has been made they will be absolutely free from the supervisors. They will receive appropriations twice a year and will appoint all the members of the departments.

The same body will overlook the work of the treasurer and equalize the taxes.

All county officers will hold offices for four years.

The mayor will appoint the city physician, superintendent of parks, bandmaster, chief of the fire department, and will be chairman of the local board of health.

The city will have absolute supervision of all matters of food supply and sanitation, excepting only cases of leprosy, quarantine and contagious diseases in general, which go into the hands of the territorial government.

The auditor will appoint his own purchasing agent, and will make an annual report of the expenditures and finances. He will install a uniform system of bookkeeping throughout all the departments.

A deputy of the treasurer will hold the office of public administrator. The treasurer, as usual, will assess and collect taxes.

The offices of attorney and clerk will be practically unchanged.

Under the new plan all administrators will have absolute power and will be responsible to public opinion only.

Word has just been received by Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the sub-committee of five members, appointed to secure data on freight and passenger traffic from the local steamship companies that the report from the American-Hawaiian people is not forthcoming. The reports from the Matson Navigation Company and the Oceanic Steamship Company have already been received by the committee.

Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the sub-committee of five members, appointed to secure data on freight and passenger traffic from the local steamship companies that the report from the American-Hawaiian people is not forthcoming. The reports from the Matson Navigation Company and the Oceanic Steamship Company have already been received by the committee.

One of the principal reasons why the three submarines have been ordered to Mare Island navy yard for radical repairs and alterations to their engines and batteries, is that in this way materials can be shipped from the east in a few days, where, if the boats were given such repairs here, months might elapse before the required material could reach here from New York.

By sending the submarines to Mare Island, the navy department also saves money, as it avoids the charge of approximately $80 a day made by the island for every day each submarine is in drydock. For the F-4 alone, nine days in drydock cost the navy department $720, and the present temporary repairs are costing the department more money every day the boats are out of water.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

A New Discovery. Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food does not work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of this folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and tummy sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now, and eat with every one of them a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy "fat there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh, new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive. ## CABLE EXPECTED TO SECURE RELEASE OF YOUNG HENRICKSON

Relative to the case of Alfred Henrickson, the Honolulu boy who is being held as a prisoner of war in one of the German camps in England, a cable stating the facts of young Henrickson's birth and parentage was sent late yesterday afternoon to the authorities at Washington.

The text of the cable message was not made public today, but Secretary of the Territory Wade Warren Thayer seems confident of the fact that Henrickson will be released within a short time. The message was sent to Francis Polk, acting secretary of state.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1915.

REACTIONARY, NOT PROGRESSIVE.

It is incredible that the sub-committee of five of the charter convention, or any responsible part of that convention, should favor a charter plan which is nothing but that plausible scheme proposed by Harry E. Murray.

What Mr. Murray proposes is so thoroughly reactionary that it is impossible to reconcile it with his platform utterances when he ran for the nomination for mayor last year and proclaimed himself in favor of progressive, businesslike city government.

He now proclaims this charter plan progressive, but that is merely to conceal its true type. It is a reversion to the outworn, vicious, discredited ward system which has been the shame of American cities and which outraged public opinion is fast forcing into the discard. It is a reversion to the political opportunism of the past, which ruled too many mainland cities, encouraging corruption of officials and looting of treasuries.

The scheme to divide the city into nine districts or wards, each ward to elect a supervisor, and to restrict the duties of the supervisors to legislation only—this scheme he calls observing the short ballot idea. Yet in addition he proposes to elect the mayor, county auditor, county clerk, county treasurer, county sheriff, county attorney and superintendent of municipal public works. That would make a total of sixteen elective offices on a ballot in place of thirteen on the present municipal ballot. And yet he has the nerve to call his plan a short-ballot plan!

The great claim he puts forward for his plan is that by electing a superintendent of public works a city manager could be secured who would have "full control of all construction work." As a matter of fact, the superintendent under this plan would be plunged into politics from the beginning of his term to the end; he would have to curry favor with the supervisors, who would control appropriations; he would, throughout his term, be working with a view toward re-election. This adaptation of the city manager scheme would first amaze and then amuse those who know what a city manager really should be!

Members of the sub-committee of five which met last night appear to favor the Murray scheme. Of course they say that the ideas are not Murray's, but the coincidence in the charter forms is a little bit too much. Either they have swallowed the Murray scheme or else some of them have been working with Murray from the outset, which perhaps is not a bad guess, either.

If any such reactionary plan as this gets by the convention, if it is put up to the whole people two years from now, it should be voted down overwhelmingly. And it will be to the everlasting discredit of the charter convention if a reversion to the vicious ward system is set before the people of Honolulu as a "progressive charter." Save the mark!

GERMAN DEED FOLLOWS GERMAN WORDS

Those who doubted the sincerity of Germany's recent assurances to the United States upon the subject of submarine war may well be convinced by the fact that a sea-raider is now reported as having chased a British steamer eighty miles, overhauled it, allowed the crew, including six Americans, to take to their boats, and then—and only then—torpedoed the steamer.

In some respects it was an extreme case. The British steamer in the first place was not a passenger ship, so that there was little likelihood of neutrals being aboard unless they were engaged in the service of the enemy. In the second place, the steamer carried what under the conditions was contraband of war—a cargo of horses, doubtless for cavalry and artillery use. If Germany had sunk the steamer without warning and the six American members of the crew had been lost, the United States would have had a doubtful case at the best.

The sinking would have been an entirely different matter from the destruction of the Lusitania and the Arabic. These were passenger vessels, sunk without warning for the passengers to take to the boats.

That the British horse-ship was chased 80 miles and then not torpedoed until the crew could take to the boats is pretty good proof that this particular German commander has been ordered to be very careful. And it is pretty good proof that other German commanders have been told not to repeat the "unfortunate mistakes" of the past.

There are, it is true, people unkind enough to say that Germany yielded to the United States because the submarine war wasn't accomplishing much anyway, and its military results were not sufficient to warrant a break with Uncle Sam. But that view is beside the point so far as America is concerned.

Now that Germany is going to considerable length to safeguard neutral lives at sea; now that her submarine warfare has been distinctly modified, the United States may renew its protests against the British commercial blockade which is quite as law-breaking as the German submarine methods, though directed against property instead of life.

CITIES GAINING IN EFFICIENCY.

That "the government of American cities today, in the main, is far superior to the government of American states" is not the common opinion. Elihu Root's statement in just those words to the New York constitutional convention, if he is correctly quoted, seems daring. So much of discussion of city government, and so much of criticism of forms and manner of administration, has gone on in recent years that, quite possibly, there has been a lack of attention to that of the state. Meanwhile, the criticism has counted. The cities of the United States are unquestionably better administered than they were a few years ago. How much better is not fully realized. The abolition of the parliamentary form and the focusing of responsibility has brought a great advance in efficiency. Is it now time for the states to learn lessons from the city experience? Probably so, and therein lies the strength of the agitation for the short ballot, a step in the direction of closer accountability. Christian Science Monitor.

A PATRIOTIC BUSINESSMAN'S ARTICLE.

In another column today is an extremely interesting article by President Gillett of the Mitchell Wagon Company, embodying a proposed plan for buying on a huge scale in case the United States should get into war. Local army officers who have seen the article are much impressed with it. It illustrates, as one of them comments, "the interest our great businessmen are taking in the proper preparedness of the country." It is in line with the general committee recently appointed by the president for the navy.

The short ballot means less patronage pie to be passed around—and that is why the well-known professional politicians and peanut-manipulators are against it.

All the supervisors need to do now is to create a few more parks so there will be enough superintendents' jobs to go around.

Transferring the idle road men to park jobs is an illuminating example of municipal efficiency. Will it be "put over"?

John Wanamaker's billion-dollar bid for Belgium just about meets that billion plunks the Allies want as a loan.

It is with some wistfulness that the Colonel remarks the greatest role in the world is that of a mother.

Russia would make a great ad for a well-known branch of auto-supply: Time to Retire!

The Turks' "holy war" is a joke to the military leaders but not to the Armenians.

SETOS' LUMBER CARGO COST $80,000 WHEN LOADED LAST YEAR

"I can't announce just yet how my efforts to dispose of the Setos' lumber cargo are progressing," said A. W. Standen, agent here for the owners of the refugee German steamer's cargo, W. B. B. & Co., Ltd., of Sydney and London, this morning.

Bulletin, the department of commerce has remitted the penalty of seizure which would ordinarily have applied to ships of warring powers seeking to discharge their cargo here after taking refuge in this port. This allows the Setos to unload and sell its lumber here.

The Setos has 3,400,000 feet of undressed lumber, mainly Oregon pine, on board. Mr. Standen said that the actual cost price of the big cargo was $80,000, when it was loaded at Wellington in July, 1914. "If I stay here much longer I may become a naturalized citizen," Standen commented ironically this morning. "I have been here since the middle of August, killing time while waiting for some action. There has been so much red tape to go through that I don't know when I will be through with it all."

Wheat supply in Berlin are said to be abundant.

PAUL BARTLETT TO REMAIN HERE IN LAW PRACTICE

Former Honolulu Newspaperman Has Attractive Opportunity With Local Firm

Paul R. Bartlett, former city editor of the Evening Bulletin and later graduate of the Yale law school, has decided to practice his profession in Honolulu, an attractive opportunity with Holmes & Olson having presented itself since his arrival here a few weeks ago on some personal business. Mr. Bartlett made a splendid record in law school after leaving here in 1911 and had intended to practice on the mainland but now expects to make his home here permanently. He is already busy with his new duties and continuing to meet the many friends he made while in the "news-paper game" here.

A PROTEST AGAINST CHEAPNESS

"Greenacres," Sept. 24, 1915. Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Sir: I notice in the morning paper a request, or suggestion, that the Cherniavsky Brothers play more "homey" music—in other words "the sort of thing we all know." May I be allowed space to enter my protest against this attitude toward the masters of music whom we in Honolulu so rarely have the opportunity to hear? Is it not a pity, when musicians like Harold Bauer or Mischa Elman or these unknown Russian prodigies come to us, that any one should ask them to give us the commonplace that lesser performers do so well, or subjects that have become hackneyed through daily practice?

Let us rather, for the few times in a lifetime that we may listen to the real masterpieces, the things that lay hopelessly and forever beyond our young musical students' and ambitious amateurs. It is true that no one not a trained musician can expect to grasp fully and properly and appreciate such a work as the A minor trio of Tchaikovsky at the first hearing. But even in large mainland cities the opportunity to hear a work like this is so rarely rendered that it comes many times to the average person. In this small, isolated community to hear it once is a privilege that everyone with a passing interest in music or appreciation should be deeply grateful for.

It is pointed out that even Melba sings "Comin' Thro' the Rye." Yes, but what is gained by training a nightingale to sing the robin's note? I stoutly maintain that it does not require a Melba to sing "Comin' Thro' the Rye" quite as well as it is meant to be sung. As a matter of fact I have heard a Southern negro girl with a moderate musical training sing that time-honored ditty with more genuine and moving effect, to my ears, than lay in Melba's gracious attempt to be simple and naive. I do not know what may be the violin equivalent to "Comin' Thro' the Rye," but I am sure it would be a waste of Leo Cherniavsky's time and powers to play it for us when he might be playing the exquisite and unfamiliar things he has chosen for his encores.

There is, indeed, a pleasure in hearing familiar and well-loved things superlatively well done, but the man who does not know Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" or Schubert's "Ave Maria" or Dvorak's "Humoresque" well enough to find in them that pleasure, however estimable a citizen he may be, is not the man for whom music programs should be made.

Let us, I pray, have from the Cherniavsky brothers for their remaining concerts such programs as they have already given us—beautiful, musicianly and memorable for the great things in them.

MRS. FRANCIS J. GREEN.

Marshal Smiddy returned from the Big Island today, bringing with him Barteleon Basques and Rufina Elbers, charged with having committed a statutory offense in Hilo. The court appointed Attorney C. A. Long as counsel for the defendants. The case was continued until next Wednesday morning for plea. Basques' bond was fixed at $250, and that of the woman in the same amount.

Personal Mention

GEORGE COOPER of Hana, Maui, has been a visitor in Honolulu during the last week.

S. B. DOLE and family have moved to their Diamond Head residence, at Waikiki to stay indefinitely.

E. C. COINTE of the mechanical department of the Advertiser left for Hilo today on a week's vacation.

DR. GEORGE J. AUGUR and Mrs. Augur left Honolulu in the steamer Selyo Maru at noon today for the Orient, where they expect to remain a year.

R. B. WESTCOTT, city editor of the Advertiser, will leave for Kauai tonight with the Oahu delegation to the civic convention, accompanied by Mrs. Westcott.

MANUEL C. DE MELLO, the well known Democrat of Kona, Hawaii, arrived in Honolulu yesterday on a business trip. He expects to return to the Big Island next Tuesday.

MRS. M. E. MENEZES of Kaimuki will return to Honolulu in the Wilhelmina next Tuesday morning. She has been visiting the exposition at San Francisco and at other points in California.

MRS. ROBERT DAY WILLIAMS and her mother, Mrs. Hayes, will be guests of honor at an at home given by the ladies of Mills school and Kawalahao Seminary at Kawalahao Seminary, Friday, October 1, at 4 p. m.

SISTER IDA GREAVES, who has many relatives in this city, is the first English woman to receive the Royal Red Cross for services rendered to England in the great war. A paper published recently in Adelaide near the home of Miss Greaves, said: "Sister Ida Greaves, matron of the Australian hospital in France, mentioned in despatches by Sir John French as having rendered distinguished service, comes from Newcastle, where she was head of the local hospital for four years. She was in England when the war began and at once volunteered her service."

INTERVIEWS

A. P. TAYLOR: Some one asked last night at the board of supervisors, "Who is A. P. Taylor, anyhow?" Well, he's been in the islands seventeen years, having previously been secretary to the Hawaiian annexation commission at Washington, D. C. For about fourteen years he was a local newspaper man, was chief of detectives or Honolulu for two years and homes he did the city some service during that period, was twice secretary of the Hawaii exposition commission, was the representative of the Promotion Committee for more than a year on the Pacific coast and was asked to return to Honolulu to take charge of the Promotion Committee work. He has endeavored to be a citizen in good standing and take an interest in public affairs, and as such will put his shoulder to the wheel to help wherever possible, and will be found backing up the board of supervisors in its efforts to give us good roads. I believe I have earned the right to the designation of Kamaaina, and expect always to make Hawaii my home.

HAS OLD MEDAL GIVEN TO KAUAI GOVERNOR HALF CENTURY AGO

An unusual and precious relic is in possession of Capt. Winfield L. Bowers of the Merchants' Patrol. It is a medal presented more than 50 years ago to the governor of Kauai by the Japanese government. The medal has been in the family's possession for two generations, and is in the shape of a Maltese cross with white enamel background, gold mounted, and suspended at the end of a long ribbon.

The cases of the following applicants for naturalization have been continued one month: John Francis Daly, Herbert Riley, Takao Ozawa, Harold John Anell, Edward Desnoes, Edward Iskov, Thomas Joseph Ward, Rupert Matthews and A. W. T. Bottemley. The petition of Jacob Kahn was continued until October 22, for hearing, and the petition of Alberto de Santos was continued until September 28 for disposition.

Hans Scholz, a native of Germany, and Willy Watson, honorably discharged from the U. S. navy, were admitted to citizenship today by taking the oath before Judge C. F. Clemons.

Russian Trio Will Play Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite

Grieg's famous Peer Gynt Suite is included in the program which the Cherniavsky Trio will give at the Opera House this evening at the third of their series of Honolulu concerts. The fourth and last concert will be given Monday night and on Tuesday the gifted musicians depart for the mainland. Each audience has been larger and more enthusiastic than its predecessor, and tonight the "S. R. O." sign is expected. The program for this evening follows, in full:

- (1) Trio for piano, violin and violoncello, D. minor. . . . . A. Arensky
- Allegro moderato. Scherzo allegro. Elegia-adagio. Finale non troppo.
- Leo, Jan and Michel Cherniavsky

GARDEN ISLAND ALL READY FOR GUESTS TO LAND

Worth O. Aiken of the Valley Island this morning smilingly to Mr. Timmons.

Mr. Aiken says that the entire Maui delegation is heart and soul in the wish to make this convention the best one yet held. A passenger on the Mauna Kea, who saw the Maui delegation board the steamer last night between midnight and 1 o'clock at Lahaina, says that they have with them a large amount of suspicion paraphernalia which seems to hint of the rumored stunts they intend to pull off at Lihue.

Then there is the Hawaii group, rather quiet about all of their plans, but undoubtedly having something up their sleeves. Several musicians from Hilo are in the party.

The Ad Club choir practices last night was a great success, and the school are now an assured feature. Charles R. Frazier is enthusiastic over the prospects of good music on the trip. Again he urges all the delegates who can, to meet with the Ad Club

FISCHER CHARGE IS TAKEN FROM COURT CALENDAR

The nearly two-year-old case of John T. Scully, Wilmore R. Chilton and J. H. Fischer, charged with conspiracy, was partially deleted from Circuit Judge Ashford's court calendar today when City Attorney Brown entered a nolle prosequi in the case of Fischer. The cases of Scully and Chilton were continued until next Saturday morning.

"This case is growing whicker," remarked Judge Ashford. "It is time to dispose of it."

The charge against Scully and Chilton is that they attempted to "spin" away a witness from a meeting of the board of liquor license commissioners about two years ago. It is reported that when the alleged conspiracy was entered into, the board was probing the affairs of the then notorious Waikiki Inn, of which Scully was manager.

NOTED BUSINESS LEADER OUTLINES PLAN FOR REAL PREPAREDNESS

Head of the Mitchell Wagon Company Suggests a Practical Scheme to Utilize Country's Men of Brains and Industry —Would Have President Create Honor Board and Divide Businessmen Into Groups, Each Taking Care of a Feature

A plan for national preparedness which has been heard of with much interest by army men on Oahu and to business men has been suggested by Martin J. Gillen, president of the Mitchell Wagon Company of Racine, Wis., and one of the West's brainiest men of industry.

This plan he summarizes as follows: "A plan which will organize the nation for defense on broad and comprehensive lines, taking full advantage of the existing factors which have made this country what it is today, inherent in it is an organization which will immediately marshal the resources of the nation, prevent confusion, provide immediate delivery of things now wanting, and save this nation hundreds of millions of dollars and at the same time immeasurably strengthen our national position at home and abroad."

The plan in detail is given in a printed letter which President Gillen has sent out and which mentions many big businessmen of the country. He says:

Racine, Wis., Aug. 10, 1915.
A plan for the United States Government, for the mobilization and supply of army material, beyond that used for the present standing army, which will provide the materials within 90 days from the date that the order is given, prevent confusion in the purchase of materials, which has occurred in the case of the Allies, save this government hundreds of millions of dollars; and relieve many army officers from this line of duty and permit them to centralize on the training and handling of troops.

To bring this plan forcibly to the attention of those who have the right and power to put it into effect I cite as an illustration the following amount of material that could be completely delivered within 90 days after the order was given:

Sixty thousand 3-ton motor trucks, for trucking supplies or equipping with machine guns; 10,000 to 15,000 two to five-ton motor trucks, for trucking machine guns, armored cars, etc.; 2000 to 5000 motor buses, carrying from 15 to 19 passengers each; 10,000 25 to 30-horsepower tractors; 50,000 U. S. army wagons, and all other material needed by the United States Government to supply the army as rapidly as it is mobilized, excepting only the supply of guns, cartridges, shells and explosives, which supply, however, would be greatly facilitated under this plan, without interfering with the war orders that are now placed and being carried out in this country.

It is proposed to have the President of the United States create a General Honor Board of the business men of the United States and use their creative power and business ability in providing ways and means for the aid of the government. This board shall be created at once and maintained in times of peace, and the men on it shall be "Legion of Honor" men. There shall be one man from each of the following industries and companies, which will, of necessity, supply the different materials needed by the government:

Railroads, water works, sewerage, motor trucks, motor-pleasure, motor buses, motor trailers, tractors, aeroplanes, wagons, horses, mules, harness, tents, cooking utensils, knapsacks, blankets, shoes, stockings, underwear, shirts, belts, caps, meat, flour, bread, produce, medical supplies, small firearms, large guns, armor plate, shells, cartridges, explosives—and a representative from each of the other industries supplying needed materials not enumerated.

The President of the United States shall appoint not less than five representatives from each of the above industries, which will constitute the group in that particular industry when appointed. As an illustration of how a single group would work, take the Wagon Group; appoint eight representatives, a representative from the International Harvester Corporation, the Studebaker Corporation, the John Deere Wagon Co., the Mitchell Wagon Co., the Mandt Wagon Co., the Bain-Wagon Co., the Peter Schutler Co., and the Kentucky Wagon Co. These men shall all be Honor men and shall be known as the "Wagon Group," and this group shall elect one member from its board who shall become a member of the General Honor Board above named.

The government shall present to the "Wagon Group" plans and specifications of all forms of wagon conveyances used or required by the government. This group shall then examine these plans and specifications and report to the government within 30 days such changes in the plans and specifications of the present army equipment which cannot be readily manufactured in our wagon factories, either because of the present factory equipment or because of raw material stock. In a word, standardize the different types of army wagons to the factory equipment and raw material available in this country.

Plans and specifications should be immediately corrected and each wagon manufacturer in America should then be provided with the new plans and specifications, and a sample wagon should be built by each wagon manufacturer, and at least four sets of dies should be manufactured by the government for the irons used in the manufacture of these wagons. The samples and the dies should be paid for by the government and should be the property of the government. The sample wagons should be kept at the factories and the dies kept at one of the factories where the Wagon Group can instantly use them.

The Wagon Group should investigate and report in writing to the government (a) the capacity of every wagon factory in this country, (b) the names of the wagon manufacturers who will build samples under government specifications, and (c) the delivery that can be had within 90 days from each of these factories on the samples provided. This education of each of the wagon manufacturers in the plans and specifications that will be used by the government will prevent all confusion, save weeks of time, and will enable this government to get good competitive prices from the industry, and at the same time at most unheard-of deliveries. Within 30 days of the placing of an order this government will begin to receive initial deliveries, and within 60 days thereafter it would receive from 50,000 to 60,000 wagons, and thereafter, if required, wagons faster than troops could be mobilized. The War Department should determine its points of mobilization of troops, so that when the initial order is placed no delay will occur in shipping to the points of mobilization a the United States.

The government should call for bids on its war needs from each of the groups every six months for enough, say of wagons, to supply from one-half to a million of troops—the prices fixed by the manufacturers to bid them for six months and until the next bids are asked for—thus the government will get fair competitive prices and can follow the cost of the articles purchased. The trouble with the Allies today in getting supplies in this country and the terrific prices they are paying, with slow delivery and confusion, is due in a great measure to the fact that the materials ordered are not easily made by the tools and equipment of American manufacturers and from the raw material stock available, and to the fact that all the manufacturers in the different groups are not able to get the plans and specifications in sufficient time to acquaint themselves with the actual cost to them of manufacturing the goods, prior to making their bid. To my personal knowledge, a number of manufacturers have made 50 per cent over the cost that they had figured, in order to "play safe" on the orders contracted for.

This plan can be worked out within the different groups of manufacturers supplying war materials, and where, as in the supply of shells, firearms and explosives there is in this country today a very limited group of manufacturers, the War Department, working with the Central Honor Board, can devise ways and means to interest manufacturers in other groups, with their big factories, under some bonus plan, so as to acquaint themselves with the plans and specifications of those materials and equip their factories so that they can produce. The Central Honor Board, with the War Department, should make close investigation of the materials that go into explosives and the government should then control under law the raw materials that go into explosives, and should lay plans to get as soon as possible large stores of these raw materials, so that they are available at once to the government for manufacturing purposes. After one year of war we find that the Allies have induced one manufacturer after another to make war materials in his factory along lines he never dreamed of.

Why wait until we have war, when the American manufacturer, who is as loyal and patriotic as any other man in this Union, would be pleased now to put himself and his organization in a position to help his government in case of war?

Under this plan this Central Honor Board, with its Honor Groups, would be a perpetual organization, and the War Department would present to them from time to time its needs, and the Groups would take those needs and with their engineering department plan to make those needs most effective for government use.

An annual exhibition by the War Department might be had at some central point in the United States at which there might be displayed all the new creations that would come from the different groups, and honor prizes might be offered by this government, one for each group, to be awarded to the member of the group who could produce anything really worth while, either in the shape of a material object, or any idea or plan. The patent laws should be changed so that in event of war, all patents should be suspended so war material, or the right of license to manufacture be granted by the government and the question of royalties to be paid by the government worked out now, under some plan with the owners of patents.

Under this plan hundreds of millions of dollars would be saved to this government, first because it would not be necessary for the government to carry in its warehouses supplies much greater than the needs of the present standing army, with the exception of (a) materials that take a long period to construct, and (b) materials which are supplied by only a limited number of manufacturers, such as arms and explosives, and of these the government should start to build up a substantial reserve.

There will be no need to have a reserve of motor trucks, motor lorries, trailers, tractors, wagons, harness, horses, clothing, produce, supplies and the like. The organization and plans perfected, the War Department

VENTURA CARRIES MERE HANDFUL FROM SOUTH

VENTURA CARRIES MERE HANDFUL FROM SOUTH

The bottom seems to have dropped out of travel from Australia to San Francisco, according to advices received today by C. Brewer & Company, Oceanic agents, which stated that the Ventura, which left Sydney yesterday and is due here October 7, will have room for 125 passengers from this port to San Francisco.

To date only 35 passengers are booked out from here for the midland on this ship. Although passenger business is light, the Pacific Mail's withdrawal has given a big impetus to the company's banana-carrying trade.

Brewer & Company's shipping department has 4000 bunches of bananas offered for shipment to the mainland on the Ventura, and a wireless from the boat as to the space available is anxiously awaited. If the Ventura's hold space is not too crowded with hides and wool shipments and copra, she can accommodate between 5000 and 6000 bunches. Bananas are ripening fast, and growers wish to get the fruit to market with the least possible delay.

HARBOR NOTES

Bound for Seattle, the U. S. army transport Dix is expected to arrive here between October 7 and 10.

The U. S. army transport Thomas is due here from Manila and Nagasaki the night of October 3, bound for San Francisco. She left Nagasaki September 20.

Bring 5000 tons of coal for the Inter-Island from Musoran, Japan, the Japanese freighter Kunajiri Maru is due in the offing at daylight tomorrow morning.

The lumber schooner Annie Larsen, 22 days out from Aberdeen, Washington, arrived this morning with 480,000 feet of lumber for Allen & Robinson. Her captain is P. H. Schluter.

After several hours' delay the British steamer St. Dunstan sailed from port late yesterday. She was unable to leave sooner because two of her crew failed to show up until located by Harbor Officer A. E. Carter.

Decorated with leis presented them by their friends, several Japanese passengers from Honolulu for the Orient were taken out to the T. K. K. steamer Seiyo Maru this morning in the tug Makapala. The tug left from Pier 6.

At noon today the Japanese freighter Seiyo Maru sailed from her anchorage in the offing for Japan. She carried a large quantity of mail for the Orient. Passengers were taken out to the boat in a launch by Castle & Cooke, T. K. K. agents.

A varied cargo was brought in today by the Mauna Kea from Hilo. The steamer unloaded 600 bags of sugar, 212 sacks of corn, 69 pieces of oil and numerous pieces of general merchandise. She reported the Annie Johnson and Kaulaui to be at Mahukona.

The mysterious ship, which anchored off port Friday night and sailed early yesterday morning was the Japanese freighter Kaituku Maru, according to Harbor Master William R. Foster. The ship turned back to make minor repairs to her pumps. The Kaituku was off port several days.

From a cablegram received late yesterday by Theo. H. Davies & Company, Canadian-Australasian line agents, it is believed the Makura will not be taken out of the Australia-Honolulu-Vancouver run at present. It was rumored this boat would be taken by the British government for transport use.

Pan-Pacific Flag Day exercises today were participated in by the crew of the Japanese mercantile training ship Taisei Maru. At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon Capt. M. Kanno will receive invited guests, including army and navy, territorial, federal and city officials. The ship sails Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock for Japan.

Members of the Neptune Club, which includes men of the submarine fleet and the submarine tender Albatross, will give a dance tonight in the National Guard armory. President W. Prather of the organization, and his committee, have arranged an enjoyable program. Music will be furnished by the 2nd Infantry band. Dancing will start about 8:15 o'clock.

At 7 o'clock Monday morning the American-Hawaiian freighter Texan is due off port from Seattle, bringing the biggest cargo reaching here in some months. She has 9000 tons aboard of which, 6500 tons are through cargo from New York. It is expected the Texan will bring a mail from Seattle. She has 400,000 feet of lumber and numerous hogs and sheep, also horses and cows, on board.

The last call here of a Pacific Mail liner will be made Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock, when the Manchuria is due off port from the Orient. Hackfeld & Company, agents, received a wireless today stating that she is bringing 202 first-cabin, 55 second and 266 Asiatics. Of this number, 6 first-cabin, 8 second and 92 Asiatics are for Honolulu, also 2700 tons of freight. The Manchuria will not sail for San Francisco until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. She has room for 50 passengers from here.

ment, with its officers, could then devote all its energies to the mobilizing, training and use of troops.

To give another illustration, take the Railroad Group. It should consist of at least 14 divisions, as follows: Howard Elliott, New Haven Railroad, for New England; Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Alfred H. Smith of the New York Central for the states of New York and Pennsylvania; Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and W. J. Harahan of the Seaboard Air Line for the Eastern and Southern states; Fairfax Harrison of the Southern Railroad and Milton Smith of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad for the Southern Division; Marvin Hughes, Jr., of the Chicago & North Western Railroad, C. H. Merriam of the Illinois Central Railroad and Hale Holden of the C. B. & Q. for the Mississippi valley; Julius Krutchnitt for the Southern Division, Texas and Pacific slope; with James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad and Joseph Ripley of the Santa Fe for the Transcontinental Division westward from the Mississippi valley.

Nearly every one of these men have risen from the ranks and they are ripened products of experience in railroad work. No problem of transportation could be solved as they could solve it, and the executive force with which they would surround themselves for the transportation Department of the Government would become effective at once. They would handle troops, supplies, the sick and wounded, and lay general plans for transportation for the War Department that would prevent confusion. Overnight the War Department would have control of the railroads for war uses with the most efficient board of operators that could be devised.

Another illustration—take waterworks and sewerage. The War Department has many strong men who have been studying this question, yet in the event of war they would be absolutely limited in their efforts because there are so few of them to take care of the large forces of troops in different sections of the country. A "Waterworks and Sewerage Group" to be appointed from among such men as George Hoffmeister of the American Waterworks & Electric Company, who own and operate 37 large waterworks and sewerage plants from coast to coast in different parts of this country; John W. Alvord of Chicago, the best known waterworks and sewerage engineer in the Middle West; Allen Hasen, New York, a member of the Panama Commission, who built the filter plants at Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Albany, N. Y., and who was chairman of the commission which advised the Catskill supply for New York City; George A. Johnson of New York, who built the New Orleans, La., and the Columbus, O., sewerage plants, and many others. From the different waterworks and sewerage organizations of America, where troops would be centralized, the "Group" could appoint men who know this business, and in their hands could be placed the rules and regulations of the United States Army. They would be educated now, and all appointees of this group would be known as "honorary men," and from time to time, with the War Department, this "Group" could lay down new plans. These men, working under the "Group" would know the selection of campsites in the several parts of the United States where troops were either temporarily or permanently quartered, and much would be done for the health of the troops and great aid rendered to the army itself.

Today all the big motor truck factories are working on orders for the Allies, and it would be almost impossible to get any supply of motor trucks in the event war was declared. It would, likewise, even in times of peace, be difficult to get a large supply of motor trucks quickly for the United States Army, so the following supply is pointed out:

A greater percentage of the Ford pleasure cars after three years' use are converted into motor trucks carrying 500 pounds by taking the body off and putting a light delivery truck body on. It has been found that after three years' use the Ford pleasure car becomes a most effective small truck, and it has a life thereafter as such of from two to three years—in some cases longer. This is equally true of practically all the pleasure cars manufactured in America, with 135-inch wheel base and upwards, and with a carrying capacity for truck purposes of from 1500 lbs. to 2000 lbs. without straining the chassis or engine of the car. There are thousands of these cars in use in this country today. The War Department, by going to the secretaries of the several states of the Union can get a complete list of these cars, as they are all registered and a license issued. It should then compile a list of these cars made in 1913, 1914 and 1915. A list of these cars in use in every state of the Union should then be filed with the chiefs of police in the several cities of the Union, and in the event of war the order for their confiscation and the number of each car required by the War Department could be made over-night through the Associated Press. The chief of police of a given city would then order all cars to a certain spot, the pleasure bodies would be taken off, and the cars would then be sent each to its respective factory. For example, a Packard car taken at Minneapolis, Minn., would have the body taken off, be put aboard a freight car and taken to the Packard factory at Detroit, Mich. Assuming that 4000 cars had been selected under the plans of the War Department from different parts of the United States as the quota of Packard cars to be confiscated, the Packard Company would be notified by the government to be ready to receive these cars. They would come to the factory, and at the rate of 100 a day they would be overhauled and a light truck body with a light tarpaulin cover put on them. The War Department would order all the Packard cars to be sent to one particular division of the United States Army—say a division located at St. Louis, Mo. The War Department would appoint from the forces of the Packard Company four men who would each have the title of Captain; four other men who would have the title of First Lieutenant, and four other men who would have the title of Second Lieutenant—these men to be selected from the operating force of the Packard Company. A Packard captain, first lieutenant and second lieutenant would be put in charge of 1000 Packard cars, and thus all confusion as to spares and the upkeep of these cars would be eliminated, for these Packard men from the Packard factory would know just what to do with them in the event of a break-down and would know where to get the spares. The same method would be pursued with the Mitchell, Pierce-Arrow, Peerless, Cadillac and other cars of like nature, and thus there could easily be supplied to the War Department under this plan without any prior or standing investment in money, within 90 days, from 50,000 to 60,000 1500-lb. trucks with a speed capacity of 20 miles an hour.

The same method could be employed to gather in the big motor buses of this country, of which there are about 5000 each with a carrying capacity of from 15 to 20 men. The same method also could be employed to gather in from 10,000 to 15,000 2-ton to 5-ton trucks which are now being operated in this country, and to gather in from 5000 to 10,000 tractors of from 25 h. p. to 60 h. p. each. The government should list the men who run the motor trucks and tractors in this country today, so that when motor trucks and tractors are confiscated efficient drivers will be at hand.

There is only one way that this country can effectively prepare for war so far as its land troops are concerned, without confusion, without a terrific waste of money, and in a short time, and that is by calling upon the manufacturers, business men and experts of this country to do their share of the work now as a "Legion of Honor," and it should not take more than two months to complete this honor board. In silent readiness there would be marshaled behind the word of this government, grim and efficient forces, in tested and tried "groups," such as no other nation could provide, and all this readiness with hardly the cost of a dollar to this nation. This much can be done now to solve one of the problems confronting this Nation. It would help, too, in a small way, the solution of other two problems—(a) "the making of soldiers" and (b) "creating a proper defensive navy."

SHERIFF GIVEN SLEUTH TO KEEP TAB ON HUNTERS

Sheriff Rose was, last night given power by the supervisors to appoint a special agent for rounding up persons hunting in the county without a license, the agent to serve without pay from the city.

The sheriff appeared in person and discussed with the members of the board the feasibility of asking deputies to hunt for hunters on Sundays and holidays. He explained that the deputies are generally busy at such times, keeping tab on joy riders and others. He said he liked the plan of having a man appointed for the sole purpose of carrying out the hunting work on these days.

Mr. Larsen thought that the best plan would be to compel hunters to show their licenses when they bought shotguns or ammunition, but no one else seemed to think that this was feasible.

At the end of the month it is supposed that the sheriff will report back to the board on the results of the plan.

A number of French cities, owing to the scarcity of coin, have, with the sanction of the government, issued bank notes for a franc (20 cents) and half a franc. Now the town of Epernay, in the Champagne district, has issued a note for 25 centimes, or 5 cents.

OFFICERS GIVE SHOW TO RAISE FURNITURE FUND

Vaudeville Program at Schofield Tomorrow Night for Benefit of Library

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 25.—For the first time in nearly two years the theatrical talent among the officers at Schofield has been gathered together for an entertainment, which bids fair to be full of amusement and diversion, and will be given at the large 1st Infantry theater tomorrow night.

The object of the entertainment is to obtain funds with which to furnish the new post library that has just been completed near the entrance to Casner, and is now ready to receive the 6000 or 7000 volumes that have been obtained by subscription through the efforts of Maj.-Gen. William H. Carter, the department commander. In fact, the idea of the library originated with Gen. Carter, who obtained generous subscriptions and donations from many of the large firms and business houses in Honolulu, and from many on the mainland who were interested in this project to furnish the largest garrison of the United States army with a much needed library.

Sufficient funds were obtained to build this library, which now stands as the only edifice of real architectural beauty at Schofield, and to equip the library with some 6000 volumes of standard fiction and military literature. Very little financial assistance was required of the government, but when it came to furnishing the library with chairs and tables and other essentials, it was found that the funds had been exhausted and the officers of the garrison, offered to do their mite by giving an entertainment to supply this much needed demand.

Capt. W. D. Chitty, 4th Cavalry, was called upon to get up the entertainment, and with the enthusiastic support of the best local talent among the officers and ladies at Schofield, he has been able to announce a program that should fill the theater to its full capacity. Three days ago the

Facsimile Reproduction of Ford Profit-sharing Check

For the last year the Schuman Carriage Company has experienced great difficulty in satisfying the demand for Ford cars. It seemed that the Ford company was shooting at a very high mark when they announced their intention of making 300,000 cars during the year, but immense as was this output it fell far short of what the buying public required. At the close of the year, August 31, the company had sold close to 350,000 cars and was still many thousands behind in their deliveries. The above profit-sharing check for $50 is one of many being received here from the Ford company, and in reality constitutes interest for the year on an investment of $600. The Ford company is sending these checks to every purchaser of a Ford car in 1915, and will pay out a total of something over $15,000,000.

DOORBELL

To many minds the expression "beautifying Honolulu" has practically the same significance as "painting the lily," for Honolulu is already beautiful; it was "born so," and it is but for Honolulu to keep it beautiful and to remove the things which the hand of man has erected to detract from the natural beauties of the Paradise City.

The ladies of the Outdoor Circle worked with unceasing vigor and have given many valuable hours to this work. Their only compensation is the knowledge that they have made it a cleaner and more attractive city. Though there have been many stumbling blocks in the way of the circle's removing many of the unsightly fences and other defacements, this fall the ladies are going to take up their work with the same enthusiasm they have displayed in former years.

On Tuesday the executive committee and chairmen of the various section committees were invited to luncheon at the Country Club, where plans were discussed whereby the work they have already started can be finished. Committees reported on the work of the past year and submitted plans for the coming year. Those who were present at the luncheon were Mrs. Frederick J. Lowrey, Mrs. Arthur G. Smith, Mrs. A. E. Murphy, Mrs. W. L. Moore, Mrs. Frances Day, Mrs. C. S. Holloway, Mrs. W. L. Emory, Mrs. C. T. Wilder, Mrs. Edward Dekum, Mrs. A. P. Taylor, Mrs. Charles Atherton, Mrs. John Lane, Mrs. F. W. ## "Honolulu Society Takes City by Storm."

"Honolulu society has quite taken us by storm this week, many prominent and wealthy Honoluluans having arrived to take in the sights of the Jewel City. Among the most prominent citizens of our island possessions who are here are Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Gay, Jr. Mr. Gay is a wealthy sugar grower of Hawaii, who owns one of the finest homes in Honolulu. Mrs. Gay is always exquisitely groomed. The Gays are at present sojourning at Byron Hot Springs, but expect to return to the St. Francis again for a few days before returning to the Paradise of the Pacific.

Engagement in Washington.

Local service folk will be interested in the announcement of the engagement of a popular young society woman of Washington society and Lieut. Benjamin F. Tilley, U. S. N. The Washington Post says of the engagement:

"Several interesting engagements have been announced this week. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Buchanan have announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet, to Benjamin F. Tilley, Jr., U. S. N., son of the late Rear Admiral B. F. Tilley, U. S. N., and Mrs. Tilley of Annapolis, Md. The wedding is to take place some time this fall. Miss Buchanan came out in society two years ago and is much admired, being one of the most graceful dancers in the younger set."

To Make Her Debut At the White House.

It has been some time since a young girl has made her debut in society at the White House, but this winter Washington society is looking forward to the "coming out party" which is to be given for Miss Alice Wilson at the capitol.

Miss Wilson is a very charming young woman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson and a niece of the President. She is a favorite with the young people and her friends, many of whom made formal debuts last season, are planning parties for her. It has been rumored that the affair which will formally introduce the young belle to society is to be an elaborate function to which many invitations are to be issued.

Miss Peggy Center a Hostess.

Miss Peggy Center was hostess on Friday evening at a delightful moonlight luncheon party. The party started at about eight o'clock and cruised around Diamond Head and returned at about 11 o'clock for supper. Chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lodge there were Miss Betty Case, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Edith Sutton, Miss Anor Hall, Miss Mary von Holt, Miss Hilda von Holt, Miss Peggy Center, Dickson Nott, Mr. H. Morris, Ensign Elroy Vanderkloot, Lieut. Kelly, Vivian Dyer, Francis Brown, Bob White.

Mrs. Carter Harrison In Southern California.

Mrs. Carter Harrison, Miss Edith Ogden Harrison and Miss Gertrude McCarthy, who visited in Honolulu recently, have been heard from in Southern California. The Harrisons spent a few days at the exposition and about San Francisco, then en route to their Chicago homes they stopped at Los Angeles, where they have been guests at the Potter. During their brief stay in the southern city Mrs. Harrison and the two beautiful girls who make up her party were entertained extensively.

About the Christian de Guignes.

From Southern California comes the following word of the Christian de Guignes who visited here last year: "Mr. and Mrs. Christian de Guignes who have been centers of many gay society events during the past few months, have returned to their San Mateo home until September 20."

Miss Katharine Schmidt, popular society girl of York, Pa. She is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Cowell Fauntleroy, wife of Maj. Fauntleroy, and stopping at the Plessantons.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay on the Mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay, who have been visiting in San Francisco, have attracted much attention in mainland society. A recent edition of a San Francisco paper says:

Dinner at Naval Station.

Public Works Offices Parks of the naval station, Pearl Harbor, and Mrs. Parks entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening at their home at the naval station in honor of Admiral Boush, commandant, and Mrs. Boush, their guests being Governor Pinkham, Admiral and Mrs. Boush, Madame Clinton, Miss Boush, Miss Gray, Miss Fraser, Col. Cooper, Surgeon-General, N. G. H., Civil Engineer Smith and Civil Engineer Burrell.

Popular Society Girl to Visit Here.

Miss Elizabeth Sears, who has been visiting Mrs. Preston W. Smith for several days, has been charmingly entertained recently by a large coterie of friends. Miss Sears has been living in New York for the past few years, previous to which she made her home with her brother, Lieut. Robert Sears, at Vancouver Barracks, Lieut. and Mrs. Sears (Marguerite Hume) are now stationed in Honolulu, and Miss Sears left Thursday for San Francisco, from whence she will sail for Honolulu for the winter.

During her visit here she has been entertained by a number of prominent matrons, including Mrs. Smith, who gave a small tea for her houseguest Saturday afternoon; the same evening Mrs. R. A. Leiter was hostess for a dinner party at the Waverly Country Club. Miss Elizabeth Creadick presided at a pretty dinner Wednesday night in her honor. Mrs. H. C. Wortman also entertained for her with a charming informal tea, and Miss Isabelle Gauld presided at a small luncheon Thursday, the guests in practically all instances being only old friends of the visitor.

Miss Sears also shared honors with Miss Katherine Ecob of New York Wednesday, when Mrs. Joseph N. Teal presided at a luncheon, the guests numbering nine.

Miss Ecob also was one of the much-feted visitors during the week, her sister, Mrs. Harold M. Sawyer, with whom she is visiting, giving a charming tea for her Tuesday afternoon. About 75 matrons and maids called during the hours of 4 to 6. The first hour the tea table was presided over by Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. Leroy Parker, and Mrs. H. C. Wortman. The second hour, the following matrons took charge of the samovars: Mrs. Preston W. Smith, Mrs. Louis H. Tarbley and Mrs. Fletcher Linn.

Receiving with Mrs. Sawyer and her sister were Miss Elizabeth Sears and Mrs. E. T. Allen. Assisting about the rooms were Misses Genevieve Church, Mary Meldrum, Elizabeth Creadick and Fay Nichols.—Portland Oregonian.

Mrs. Floyd Emmans Complimented At a Bridge Party by Mrs. Bolton.

Mrs. Floyd Emmans was the inspiration for a pretty bridge party given by Mrs. T. L. Bolton at her home on Monday afternoon. Pink and white was the color scheme chosen by the hostess and was carried out effectively to the remotest detail. Suspended from the chandelier in the dining room was a huge basket of Boston lace fern in the center of which stood a dainty pink butterfly fashioned of tulle. Graceful pink streamers were extended from the butterfly to cut-glass vases filled with pink carnations.

In the center of the table stood a basket filled with forget-me-nots. Pink carnation leis were given to each of the guests.

Among Mrs. Bolton's guests were: Mrs. Floyd Emmans, Mrs. Emmans, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Mrs. John Maher, Mrs. Winn, Mrs. French, Mrs. Andrus, Mrs. A. S. Prescott, Mrs. L. H. Underwood, Mrs. Henry Chipley, Miss Edith Galtfield, Mrs. S. D. Barnes, Mrs. Arthur Spitzer, Mrs. Lawrence Clarke, Mrs. Charles Hall, Miss Myrtle Schuman, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Cyril Hoops, Miss Judson, Mrs. Charles Crane, Miss Knowles, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Tackabury and others.

As a guest prize, Mrs. Emmans received a pink hug-pillow with a beautiful hand embroidered cover and a like prize was awarded to Miss Edith Galtfield for the highest score. Two dainty glove handkerchiefs were given to Miss Florence Hoffman for the second prize. Mrs. Andrus captured the booby prize, which was one glove handkerchief.

Passing Through Honolulu.

The Chitoy Maru, arriving here early in October, will bring among its passengers a party of well known society folk from Los Angeles, who are on their way to the Orient. A clipping from the Los Angeles Times says:

"A splendid trip to the Orient has been planned by the following well-known Angelenos, who have booked passage on the new Japanese liner, Chitoy Maru, from San Francisco: Col. and Mrs. Frank Green, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Layton, Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Pratt, Mrs. Edna F. Lowe, Miss Catherine Arthurs, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kohler, Rev. J. Simon, Rev. G. G. briel, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Spence, Dr. and Mrs. N. Bercovitz and Mrs. D. F. Robertson. After visiting the Coronation Durbar at Kyoto, Japan, the party will proceed to the Philippines, and China, returning home via Man churia, Korea and Japan."

Mrs. Montague Cooke Leaves for the Mainland.

En route to California and the East, Mrs. Montague Cooke was among the passengers to leave for the mainland in the Matsonia last Wednesday. Laden with brightly colored leis, gifts of her many friends, Mrs. Cooke left for the coast with the expectation of remaining there until the first of the year.

Those familiar with the sentiment of the Hawaiian noticed with pleasure that Mrs. Cooke sailed from the islands wearing every one of her floral gifts. For years it has been the custom of the stranger visiting Hawaii to throw the leis back to friends on the dock; the Hawaiians, however, keep those last gifts until the ship's officers order all perishable blossoms into the ocean. No haole has been able to give the reason for the Hawaiians keeping their gift unless perhaps it is because they consider it quite as much a breach of etiquette to return a flower as to return a more substantial gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay to Return.

After an absence of several months Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay are expected home in the Wilhelmina next week. Mr. and Mrs. Gay have been entertained extensively on the mainland.

Mrs. Gay has often been mentioned in the San Francisco papers as one of the most handsomely groomed women partaking in the social affairs of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spaulding, Jr. Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spaulding, Jr., who have been spending a part of their honeymoon in Honolulu, entertained delightfully at dinner at the Pleasanton, where they have been guests, on Monday evening. An attractive centerpiece of red and white daisies interspersed with maidenhair fern and tied with tulle of the same shade of red adorned the table, at which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Duisenberg, Lieut. and Mrs. Kirby Crittenden, Mrs. Crim, Mrs. Girard, Mr. George Butz and Mr. Walter Duisenberg. A Hawaiian quintet furnished music during dinner and later for dancing. When the party tired of dancing at the hotel they motored out to Kahala to the Isenberg home and danced there.

The von Holt Sisters Entertain.

Responding to a unique invitation to a picnic along the Waimea beach on Saturday afternoon last, a number of the younger set enjoyed the hospitality of the Misses Mary and Hilda von Holt. Motoring over in the late afternoon the guests went swimming and after a delightful supper returned to Honolulu by moonlight. There were present Miss Bud Carter, Miss Phoebe Carter, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Edith Sutton, Miss Alice Cooke, Miss Thelma Murphy, Miss Anor Hall, Miss Peggy Center, Miss Betty Case, Miss Ethel Glade, Messrs. Bert Clark, Ronald von Holt, Bob White, Ensign A. S. Walton, Philip Spaulding, Francis Brown, Dickson Nott, Frederick Wichman and others.

Returned to California from Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher and two daughters, Doreen and Natalie, have returned from Honolulu, where they spent several weeks. It is understood that the Fishers will not remain in Redlands this season, but that they will make a trip to South America or the Philippines to be gone about six months. In their absence they will leave the beautiful home on Highland avenue.—Los Angeles Times.

Attend Navy Belle's Wedding.

Numbers of Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco people went up to Mare Island yesterday to attend the picturesque wedding of Miss Marion Brooks to Dr. Ernest O. J. Eyring which was celebrated at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the navy yard chapel, with Rev. J. T. O'Brien officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by several hundred guests, including representatives from nearly every leading army and navy family of the nearby posts, and was unusually pretty, the predominant colors, mauve and yellow, providing a distinctive background for the more brilliant hues of many uniforms and the bride's conventional white gown. Miss Martha Tuttle of New York was maid of honor and Lieut. Daniel Gardner assisted as best man.

After a ceremony a large reception was held at the commodious quarters of Paymaster and Mrs. Jonathan Brooks, where only cool white flowers and greenery were used as decorations. The bride, who has been one of the most popular belles in the navy set, and the groom, are both members of families that have been connected for generations with the service.—Oakland Tribune.

To Kamehameha on Horseback.

The baseball game between the officers of the town posts and the officers of Fort Kamehameha, which is to take place at the latter post this afternoon, has interested a number of the ladies of Fort Shafter to the extent that they rode to Kamehameha on horseback this morning. The party was invited to the out of town post for luncheon and shortly before 10 o'clock they started for the country in chic riding costumes and mounted on some of the best of the army horses. Among those who made the trip were Mrs. "Tod" Sloan, Miss Anna Halloran, Miss Catherine Lenihan, Miss Dorothy Harker and Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum.

Off to the Mainland.

When the China left for the mainland on Tuesday there was a large coterie of the service folk at the dock to say aloha to Miss Maggie Mae Richardson, who has spent the summer at Fort Shafter. Miss Richardson made numerous friends at the post who entertained for her in a number of charming ways.

Acquisitions to Honolulu's Social Set.

The Lurline, arriving here Tuesday, brought among other passengers Miss Madeline Madsen and Miss Dagmar Madsen, two Oakland society girls who are to make their home in Honolulu. Prior to their departure for the islands the Madsen girls were entertained extensively by their many friends in the Bay City. And again at the departure of the steamer there was a large contingent of Oakland's younger set at the pier to bid them bon voyage.

Miss Gladys Lee Holland of Los Angeles, who is visiting in Honolulu with Miss Irma Mackenzie of Boston. They will voyage from here to the Orient.

Mrs. Charles S. Bromwell, wife of Col. Bromwell, a charming society matron who left in the Matsonia on Wednesday for an extended visit in the East.

En Route to Honolulu.

Mrs. Turner Elmer Weatherholt, one of the best known of the society women in Los Angeles, is en route to Honolulu in the Wilhelmina, which will arrive here next Tuesday. Mrs. Weatherholt is a leader in the social affairs of the southern metropolis and prior to her departure for the islands was entered at a number of smart affairs. From the Los Angeles Times comes word of Mrs. Weatherholt's intended trip to the islands:

"To Mrs. Turner Elmer Weatherholt, upon her return to this city from an extended cruise to the Hawaiian Islands, will fall the honor of presiding as hostess at the first important social function of the fall season."

In honor of Mrs. Robert William Vernon of Dallas, Mrs. Weatherholt and Mrs. Harry Chapman Williams, both of the Bryson apartments, and two extremely handsome young matrons, will entertain with a ball of a character so elaborate that preparations for it are already under way. Invitations will be sent to life guests for the function, which is to be held in the ballroom of the Bryson. Mrs. G. Alexander Bobrick and Mrs. Donald Keeler will assist Mrs. Weatherholt and Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Vernon will reach Los Angeles from her Texas home on the same day that Mrs. Weatherholt and her party return to this city from Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Weatherholt and their friends are leaving today for San Francisco to join eastern friends and visit the Jewel City until the 22nd inst., when they will embark on the Wilhelmina for their cruise to the islands.

Mrs. Weatherholt gave a farewell luncheon to a coterie of friends and fellow-members of the 'Palms Club' at the Nat Goodwin cafe at the beach recently, the ladies enjoying a swim in the surf during the afternoon.

"The past week has witnessed many lovely farewell functions given in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Weatherholt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Ranger giving the most elaborate—a dancing party attended by nearly one hundred guests. Sharing honors were Mrs. Samuel S. Pingree of St. Louis and the latter's winsome debutante daughter, Miss Grace Pingree, who were here briefly, en route to Glenwood Mission Inn, where they went the day following the party. The Pingrees and Rangers formed a warm friendship in Paris last year."

Charming Visitors in Honolulu.

For a few weeks Honolulu is to entertain two very charming mainland girls who are to remain in Honolulu some time before sailing for the Orient, where they will witness the Cherry Blossom Festival. They arrived on the Lurline. From Los Angeles comes the following word of Miss Gladys Lee Holland and Miss Irma Mackenzie: "Miss Gladys Lee Holland of Rampart boulevard, with her stunning houseguest, Miss Irma P. McKenzie of Boston, left Wednesday for San Francisco—the first stage of a very delightful trip which will take them to the Hawaiian Islands and later the Orient. The young ladies are sailing Tuesday on the Lurline for Honolulu, where they are to be house-guests of Miss Holland's sister, Mrs. William Seaman, wife of Lieut. Comdr. Seaman, who is in charge of the Pearl Harbor naval station. They are to be much feted in army and naval circles. They are to witness the cherry blossom festival in Japan and extensively tour the East.

"Miss McKenzie's father is a noted physician of Boston, where the family is prominent. She is a pronounced beauty of the brunette type, and in her eastern home has taken active part in private theatricals and the smart set's festivities. It was in Boston, in fact, that the two girls became such intimate chums. Miss Holland making her debut there. The latter was born and bred in the eastern city of culture, coming with her family to our own sunny Southland but last November, but in that short time has become very popular with a large circle of friends. She is a wonderful swimmer and will find the Honolulu beach a strong attraction. The young ladies are to stay away until December. They are enjoying a round of galathea in the north, incidental to 'exposition' ing."

Memorial for Mrs. Wilson.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Sept. 4.—Mrs. R. J. Reynolds, state president for North Carolina of the Ellen Wilson Memorial, is making plans for the organization of committees of leading women of the state for the purpose of raising funds for the permanent memorial to the wife of President Wilson, the education of mountain youth. It is hoped to have the movement indorsed by the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Colonial Dames, church societies and other social and patriotic orders of women.

The movement of the memorial, although it originated in the South, is national in its scope, and it is expected that soon women all over the country will be working for it and will make it a great national enterprise.—Washington Post.

Miss Helen Dewey Entertained.

Miss Helen Dewey, who is spending some time in Honolulu after a visit to the exposition, was on Thursday the seventeenth the guest of Civil Engineer and Mrs. Parks at their home at the naval station, Pearl Harbor.

After luncheon the party, escorted by Civil Engineers Parks, Smith and Burrell, enjoyed a boating trip through the beautiful Pearl lagoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cartwright Entertain Informally.

One of the delightfully informal affairs which closed the social activities of last week was the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cartwright. The guests danced on the lanais at the Cartwrights' attractive home, and later in the evening refreshments were served. Among those present were Miss Abbie Buchanan, Miss Marion Chapin, Lieut. and Mrs. "Tod" Sloan, Miss Edith Williams, Mr. Cannon, Al-paki Smith, Mr. Friedman, Lieut. Albert Lyman, Bob Purvis and Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright.

Complimenting Henrietta Schwartz. Miss Henrietta Schwartz was the complimented guest at a delightfully informal tea given by Miss Myrtle Schuman at her home on Keeaumoku street on Tuesday, the day before Miss Schwartz's departure for the coast in the Matsonia. The tea room was daintily decorated with ferns and cut flowers. Miss Schuman's guests included Miss Henrietta Schwartz, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Marion Chapin, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss W. W. Richards, Miss Laura Atherton, Miss Hazel Buckland, Miss Geraldine Berg, Miss Dorothy Guild, Miss Helen MacLean, Mrs. Reynolds McGrew and others.

Capt. and Mrs. Cochran Entertain. Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Cochran were host and hostess at a charming dinner party on Friday evening when they entertained for a few members of the service set. An attractive arrangement of flowers and ferns ornamented the center of the table at which covers were laid for Maj. and Mrs. Michael Lenihan, Mrs. Randolph, Capt. and Mrs. John Randolph, Capt. and Mrs. George Jamerson, Col. and Mrs. B. W. Atkinson, Mr. Bayard Randolph and Capt. and Mrs. Cochran.

FROM PEGGY TO POLLY.

Dearest Polly! Polly! Polly!

Zip—boom—bang and the curtain falls on the summer. And verily, I say unto you, Polykins, if many more people behave themselves off for the joy zone and other foreign lands, Honolulu will have to close her harbor gates and hang out the sign "Nobody Home!"

On Wednesday at the sailing of the Matsonia the wharf was fairly jam-packed with people, tearful ones and happy ones and the good ship seemed crowded to her timbers. And the last that glorious mass of color—the band played all the parting songs that make you want to cry and some of them old and it reminded me of "Ere, the sunbeams and the stars in thine eyes." Then the boat started to move slowly, they slowly and there was a mingled "Goodbye"—"You'll surely write"—"We'll see you next summer"—"Give my love to"—and the voices trailed out in the distance for us and for them Honolulu slipped away into the mist.

Although the diaphanous skirt has gone out, way out, we still see some of it, and the other day a vision in pink and white passed along the main street and caused a titter from the bystander. She wore a thin linen skirt which was quite narrow, and over her waist a very heavy pink silk sweater. The incongruity of the get-up was capped by a tiny velvet hat trimmed with fur.

There has been another acquisition to the younger set in Honolulu and quite a nice one at that. Miss Louise Richards, a striking brunette from Vallejo, is entertaining and being entertained by the young people. Miss Richards is visiting Lieut. and Mrs. C. J. McLeod and she spends a part of the time with Ensign and Mrs. Lowry of the U. S. S. Alert. New girls, new people in fact, are always welcome for they bring vim and vigor and new ideas. In other words "more pep." Miss Richards expects to be here until the latter part of October.

There is a new violin master at Nahou Academy who is making quite a hit. In the first place he is young and the second really a good violinist. I overheard some of the boys talking after the first appearance of Mr. Edward Ideier in the assembly hall. "I think the master of music had just finished an interpretation of the 'Meditation' from Thaïs, anyway this is the way the conversation ran:

"Ose, that fiddle has the girls plump, looked already. I just heard it fiddle away something about his being a true artist; that his music was so filled with soulful expression."

"Well, do you wonder?" said the first speaker's companion. "He hadn't seen the girls before and every time his orbs roamed the room and rested on a pretty one he fairly scintillated with that adagio, compassionate stuff. Wait till they start twining up violin—the cuss has red hair."

Mr. Edward Ideier expects to give a concert at Punahou somewhere about October 2. I guess it is bound to be a success.

Letters have been received from Miss Ruth Soper and her sister, Blanche, telling of the wonderful time and experiences they are enjoying. The two Honolulu girls have apartments at the Charmagne and are with Mona and Margaret Hind. Pauline Schaefer, another of the popular Honolulu girls who has gone a visiting, is also going to spend some time with the Soper girls before returning.

Laura Low and Eloise Wichman have spent the summer at Telawakeet girls' camp at Rockbury, Vt., where they declared they were having the time of their young lives. The two Honolulu girls were rooming together and when last heard from were tearing to ride horseback standing up. Both of the young girls are skilled horsewomen, having spent their summers in the islands on ranches on Hawaii. Eloise expects to resume her study of music in Boston but will return to the islands next summer.

"Bud" Carter, the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter, left in the Matsonia and is going to spend her first winter "out" between Boston and New York. "Bud" was quite the sensation here after her debut and the island girl's very politeness has won many friends for her in the East.

There were a number of witnesses to perhaps the last of a summer flirtation at the departure of the Matsonia. He is an island boy. She is an island girl. All summer long he has motored to one of the fashionable residence districts at the unearthly hour of 5 a. m. to walk with the dainty Miss Webb through woody dells. Love-making by moonlight is altogether too old-fashioned. The rising sun is far more original. It seemed as though it was a very hard thing for those two to say goodbye and as the band struck up the familiar strains of "Aloha" the little girl bowed her head in the mass of forget-me-nots (his gift) and gave vent to tears. Just as she was done in the beginning of the summer on leaving the East in a Pullman.

A number of the popular army officers whose service in the islands had come to a close left for their new stations on the U. S. S. Maryland last month. The landlubbers had taken a few trips between the islands and felt themselves good sailors. They, or some of them, thought that the navy men would rather step back for the men of higher rank and on the whole the officers were expecting one grand holiday, something to be remembered. But a twist and a turn and the trip turned out to be something they will surely remember but would rather forget. One 20th century Adonis who expected such a fine trip turned his toes to the pale blue skies after the second day at sea and fairly died. Another found it very hard to eat the delicacies of the famous Maryland cook and thereby arrived in San Francisco a walking skeleton. And still a third, whose self-opinion was rather "copious," was really a fine fellow. On Neptune could cut as many capers as he chose, they did not affect him. The third day out the man went investigating things he "hadn't oughter" and took a tumble, falling into a store-room amongst potatoes and other things. This put him in the hospital for the rest of the trip. How strangely some things do shape themselves.

PEGGY.

Capt. and Mrs. Phistler's dinner party.

An enjoyable party of this week was the dinner at which Capt. and Mrs. Frederick Phistler entertained at the Country Club on Wednesday evening. The table was prettily decorated with red African daisies arranged with tulips. Covers were laid for Admiral and Mrs. Clifford Boush, Miss Geraldine Boush, Col. and Mrs. E. W. Atkinson, Col. and Mrs. Wilmet E. Ellis, Paymaster and Miss Gray, Miss Lucy Webb, Capt. E. E. Hatch, Maj. Ragan, Col. George Blakeley and the host and hostess.

Miss Marie Ballentyne entertains.

Miss Marie Ballentyne entertained informally at her home on Monday afternoon at tea. Miss Helen MacLean captured a lovely basket of flowers as a prize in a guessing game which created great enjoyment. Miss Ballentyne's guests were Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Dorothy Guild, Miss Geraldine Berg, Miss Helen MacLean, Miss E. E. Farnes, Miss Harriet Young, Miss Ruth Richards and others.

Engagement is announced. Mr. Howland Odney Gary of Boston announces the engagement of his niece, Miss Lucy Gary Webb, to Lieut. Woodfin Gray Jones of the 2d Infantry, Fort Shafter.

Miss Webb has been visiting Lieut. and Mrs. Duffel Swan for the past few months. Her engagement comes as a surprise to the majority of her many friends. She is a southern girl. Miss Webb has been extensively entertained during her visit.

Lieut. Jones is one of the most popular of the service men.

The wedding, which is to take place this fall, is the culmination of a romance begun in Boston.

Golf Over in Del Monte.

The summer season is over at Del Monte. At least it is over so far as the golfing and other out-of-door things are concerned, for society has gone back to San Francisco and on to the East.

Perhaps the most noticeable of the San Francisco contingent were the Templeton Crockers, who are quite as well known in Honolulu as they are on the mainland. The Crockers had with them during the golfing season the Harrimans, the Charles Alexanders and the Henry Tatts. There was a gay series of dances and dinner parties given in honor of these people and on all of the occasions of their appearance at these affairs the costumes worn by the women attracted the attention of everyone.

Mrs. Harriman and her daughter, Miss Ethel Harriman, are likely to come to Honolulu during the winter, according to mainland papers; and it is expected they will be quite the favorites here that they were in California. Mrs. Harriman is in moderate and is never seen in any of the bright colored gowns; on the contrary her costumes are unusually simple and of black and white.

Miss Ethel Harriman, however, has appeared all summer in the rayest of frocks. She wears her clothes with a boyish indifference.

Miss Harriman, too, has favored the black and white scheme which is very becoming to her. Says a San Francisco admirer of the eastern beauty:

"Miss Ethel Harriman is also beautiful, a broad-shouldered, out-of-door girl with masses of golden-blond hair pulled about her head, and bright coral. She wore her clothes with a boyish indifference, usually a white linen skirt, white wool sweater, black tie, black stockings and a rather large soft black straw hat pulled well down on her mop of hair."

Another member of the younger set summering in Del Monte was Miss Marie Tyson, who has visited Honolulu on two occasions. This summer blue was the predominating color in her costumes. During the hours of the tournament she wore a delicate blue sweater over her white shirtwaist and skirt, and the evening saw her attractively costumed in tulle, tulle and satin of the same shade.

Miss Marie Ballentyne entertains. Miss Marie Ballentyne entertained informally at her home on Monday afternoon at tea. Miss Helen MacLean captured a lovely basket of flowers as a prize in a guessing game which created great enjoyment. Note—The telephone number of the Society Editor is 2799.

The summer visiting at Fort Shafter and other army posts, is leaving for the mainland in the next transport. Miss Halloran has been entertained extensively during her stay here and has made many friends who regret that she is to leave the islands.

A New Amusement for Fort Shafter Folk.

The officers and ladies at Fort Shafter are delighted. An electric piano, one of the nicest in the slot affairs, has been installed at the Officers' Club and now the damasks are quite in vogue at the post. Tea and sandwiches are served at the club during the late afternoon hours and the tango, maxixe and fox-trot are "madly the rage."

Fort Shafter is now quite like the posts in story books, where good-looking officers and pretty girls dance in the afternoons. Authors of fiction have in almost every instance managed to create romantic courtships at just such entertainments and Dame Rumor says that it would need but little imagination to picture a "glittering cupid hovering about the club house with his ever-ready bow and arrow." Madame R. has even gone so far as to say that since the piano has been installed one or two of the golden missiles have been aimed truly. Amen.

The First of a Series of Concerts at Punahou.

The Punahou School of Music is inviting the public to a violin and piano recital on Saturday, October 2, in Charles R. Bishop hall at 8 o'clock. This is the first of a series of Saturday evening concerts which are to be a feature of the music department this year. Mr. Edwin Ideier, the new violin master at the academy, is to play before his first Honolulu audience, and his success is most assured, having played to audiences both in America and abroad. Miss Clarke will accompany Mr. Ideier and Mr. French, and will render a number of piano solos.

Glowing Supper at Outrigger Club.

A number of the members of the academy set themselves down to the Outrigger Club last evening for a swim, a bite and a twirl in the new pavilion. A Hawaiian quartet furnished delightful music during dinner and afterwards music for dancing. This has become the regular weekly form of entertainment for the students and is most popular. The party was championed by Mr. and Mrs. William Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker Rietow and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. S. Hawk. The guests included Miss Margaret Hawk, Miss Dorothy Hawk, Miss Peggy Richards, Miss Sybil Carter, Miss Gertrude Ripley, Miss Mildred Chapin, Miss Miriam Stacker, Miss Dorothy Walker, Miss Kathleen Walker, Miss Ruth Seybold, Miss Marion Lightfoot, Miss Gladstone Gifford, George Bromley, Ernest Mott Smith, John Gifford, Gray Zoritskie, Gustave Ballentyne, Francis Dodge, Shirley Bush, LeRoy Bush, Gordon Gibb, Gordon Brown, Sam Carter, Edwin Ideier, Harry Priddle, Billy Noble, Rae Meisner, Ernest Podmore, Donald Brown, "Buster" Brown and others.

Society Personals

Many letters of congratulation have been received by the Dan McCorrissons this week for on Tuesday the stork visited their home, leaving a delightful little baby boy.

Mrs. Charles I. Leas and Miss Harriet I. Leas are leaving for the mainland Tuesday in the Matsonia. They will spend six or six months in San Francisco and will visit the exposition. They expect to be there when the gates of the fair are closed on the fourth of December.

Ensign and Mrs. F. J. Lowry entertained at a launch cruise on Thursday evening when the moon was at its full. At about 11 o'clock the party returned and a Dutch supper was served aboard the Alert. Ensign and Mrs. Lowry's guests included Lieut. and Mrs. Paul Bates, Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Cross, Lieut. and Mrs. J. O'Hara, Farnes and Mrs. C. C. Cord, Miss Louise Richards, Miss Pitt Marshall and Mr. Shirley Bush.

Many vegetables can be canned as easily as fruits for winter use.

Ladies will be interested in an announcement by Whitney & Marsh which will appear in The Sunday Advertiser and The Sunday Advertiser. The Wednesday Star-Bulletin and The Wednesday Star-Bulletin.

MODART CORSETS. Give the Modart Corset the Fitting-Room Test. FRONT adjustment means right adjustment. That is one of the reasons for MODART supremacy. A better fit—truer comfort—more perfect poise—are the result of MODART designing and quality manufacture. The boning in MODARTS will not rust or make a permanent bend at the waist line. The Lindsey supporter, used on MODARTS, has a felt button which does not injure the hosiery. These are details to show the care and quality maintained throughout. The only way to properly judge a corset is to try it on. Give the MODART Corset the fitting-room test. You will be surprised—delighted—in the new corset style, comfort and fit you will find.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, Sept. 24.—Socially Fort Shafter has been very quiet this past week, all of the new arrivals being so busily engaged arranging their quarters that they have had no time for gaieties. Mrs. Thomas R. Harker received at the 2nd Infantry Club Monday evening, and there were five tables of bridge. Mrs. B. W. Atkinson, having the highest score, won the prize, which was a nest of Canton bowls. A month those playing cards were Capt. and Mrs. C. H. Lincoln, Capt. and Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. B. W. Atkinson, Capt. and Mrs. Parker, Lieut. and Mrs. Greene, Mrs. M. J. Leatham, Lieut. and Mrs. John B. Richardson, Lieut. and Mrs. Joseph M. McAndrews, Capt. and Mrs. T. R. Harker and Lieut. and Mrs. F. F. Black.

At a recent meeting of the board of governors it was decided to extend the privileges of the 2nd Infantry Club to the ladies of the garrison in the afternoon between the hours of 4 and 10. An electric piano has recently been installed in the hop room and it is hoped that from now on the club rooms will be more popular and advantage of the music will be taken for many impromptu dances in the evening. As soon as arrangements can be made tea will be served every Friday afternoon before parade. One of the ladies of the garrison being hostess. It is expected that these informal affairs will be well attended by the officers and ladies of the post and add more gaiety to the life at Fort Shafter.

Capt. and Mrs. Cochran entertained at a most delightful dinner on Friday evening in their attractive quarters in the main garrison, covers being placed for 12. Capt. and Mrs. Cochran's guests included Col. and Mrs. Benjamin Atkinson, Capt. and Mrs. Randolph, Mrs. Randolph, Major and Mrs. M. J. Leatham, Mr. Bayard Randolph and Capt. and Mrs. Jamerson.

Lieut. Clyde R. Abraham will sail for San Francisco Tuesday on the Lurline to take advantage of a six weeks leave recently granted him. From San Francisco Lieut. Abraham will go East to be married to Miss Maud Williams at Asheville, N. C., October 18th, and will sail with his bride for Hawaii on the November transport.

Lieut. and Mrs. John B. Richardson entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in their attractive quarters in the cantonment in honor of their houseguest, Miss Margie Mae Richardson. Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson's other guests were Major and Mrs. Dashiell and Capt. and Mrs. Cochran.

The many friends of Mrs. Robert McCleave deeply regret to hear that she is a patient in the department hospital. Capt. and Mrs. McCleave recently moved to Honolulu where they have taken quarters and will remain there until they sail for the mainland in the near future.

Capt. and Mrs. Cochran have received word that Capt. Cochran's mother will arrive on the October transport. Mrs. Cochran has many friends at the post and they will be delighted to welcome her to Fort Shafter.

Miss Margie Mae Richardson, sister of Lieut. John B. Richardson, who has been spending the past few months at Fort Shafter, sailed for the mainland Thursday on the China.

Last Sunday Capt. and Mrs. Lincoln and Capt. and Mrs. Cochran motored out to Kahuku and after a picnic supper on the beach they returned to the post by moonlight.

Capt. and Mrs. Cochran entertained informally at dinner Wednesday evening at their quarters in the main garrison in honor of Lieut. and Mrs. Douglas T. Greene.

Capt. and Mrs. James E. Bell were hosts at a most delightful dinner Thursday evening in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Day of Schofield Barracks. Later Capt. and Mrs. Bell took their guests to the opera house.

Miss Peggy Richards, a member of the younger set in Vallejo and well-known in San Francisco and transbay society. She is visiting Honolulu with Lieut. and Mrs. Charles G. McCord of the navy.

to hear the Cherniavsky concert.

Chaplain and Mrs. William Reese Scott entertained informally at dinner last Saturday evening at their quarters in the cantonment.

Lieut. Cohen, who has been the house-guest of Lieut. and Mrs. Harding, has moved into his quarters in the bachelor building.

Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Calder entertained at dinner on Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths of Pangloss.

SOCIETY AT COAST ARTILLERY POSTS

Capt. and Mrs. Frederick Phisterer of Fort Ruger entertained with a beautifully appointed dinner at the Country Club Wednesday evening in honor of Admiral and Mrs. Boush. Later the party enjoyed the monthly moonlight dance. Mrs. Phisterer's table was stunning with a large center piece of African daisies. The place cards were fetching little opened Japanese umbrellas, and marked place for Admiral and Mrs. Boush, Miss Gertrude Boush, Capt. and Mrs. Clinton Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Ellis, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Atkinson, Major and Mrs. Ragan, Paymaster and Miss Gray Capt. and Mrs. Crittenden, Miss Lucy Webb, Lieut. Col. Blakely, Capt. Hatel and Capt. and Mrs. Phisterer.

Lieut. and Mrs. Rollin Tilton commimented their houseguest, Mrs. Daniel Swan, with a dinner party Saturday evening in honor of her birthday. The table was daintily decorated with a centerpiece of pink and white asters. Lieut. and Mrs. Tilton's guests were Lieut. and Mrs. Daniel Swan, Miss Lucy Webb and Lieut. Woodruff G. Jones of Fort Shafter.

Sunday Mrs. Frederick Phisterer of Fort Ruger and her houseguest, Mrs. Tuttle, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Ragan, Miss Ann Halloran and Mrs. Rollin Tilton motored out and had

HAKIPUU ROAD WORK TO BEGIN BY OCTOBER 1

Following directly upon the announcement made by the road committee of the supervisors, and backed by the rest of the board, relative to an entire change in policy on road work and road expenditures to begin on October 1, Supervisor Shingle last night presented to his fellow board members three proposed plans for the construction of the Hakipuu road.

The road will start at Waihole bridge and run for a distance of three and one-half miles to Kualoa point. From that point a coral road runs to Kahuku.

Upon a motion from Mr. Shingle and following a thorough argument of the question the board decided to place the work in the hands of City and County Engineer L. M. Whitehouse, and under the direct supervision of the supervisors themselves.

The three plans which the engineer has drawn up after an examination of the road are as follows:

Telford base, asphalt macadam top, five inches thick, four inches on sides, six inches in center, $43,030.50.

Concrete road, six inches on edges, eight inches in middle, 15 feet wide, grade 21 feet wide, $56,321.50.

Telford base, concrete top, four inches on sides, six inches in middle, 15 feet wide, $62,943.50.

Upon recommendation of the engineer, the board voted to construct the second, or concrete road, Mr. Whitehouse giving it as his opinion that this type of road would last longer and prove the most satisfactory.

The vote, however, was made subject to a revised estimate of cost and specifications by the engineer. Preliminary work on the road will start October 1.

TRAFFIC RULES TOO STRICT, IS LARSEN'S PLEA

Supervisor Larsen is at work upon more traffic amendments. An ordinance to amend Ordinance 56, known as the traffic ordinance, was introduced by him at the meeting last night and succeeded in passing the other six supervisors.

The purpose of the ordinance, as stated by Supervisor Larsen, is to shorten that period in each day during which vehicles are not allowed to stand on the street for more than half an hour at a time. Mr. Larsen would shorten the period in the traffic district, making it from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. instead of from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. as it now is.

"My idea of an ordinance," says Mr. Larsen, "is not to oppress the people, but to benefit them. I do not think there is traffic enough on the streets after 6 p. m. to warrant us keeping up this restriction for four hours longer."

The ordinance is as follows: "During the hours from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., no owner, driver or person in control of any motor vehicle, motor cycle, horse-drawn vehicle or other vehicle, shall allow the same to remain standing in any street in the special traffic district for a time longer than 30 minutes."

"During the hours from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. no owner, driver or person in control of any motor vehicle, motorcycle, horse-drawn vehicle or other vehicle shall allow the same to remain standing in Hotel street between Fort street and River street for a time longer than 30 minutes."

MODISTE AT THE PLEASANTON

Janet M. Holt, who has been spending her vacation at the Pleasanton hotel, has decided to make up permanent residence there, where ladies desiring gowns may avail themselves of the services of a competent modiste.

A good rule for the size of thread in making buttonholes is to have it 20 coarser than that used for making the garments.

Sewing machines should be kept immaculately clean. Kerosene is a good thing to use for taking off "gummed" oil.

The outside rind of pineapple should be cut off and squeezed with a lemon squeezer and added to the sliced pineapple.

A good thing to keep an evening dress in is a cheesecloth bag with a hanger in the top.

Dancing Classes

Madame Lester, who gave exhibition dances at social functions at the Moana hotel in July, will return to Honolulu about October 1 and arrange a select dancing school for instruction in ballroom and the newest society dances of New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Full particulars later.

Address Madame Lester, care of Adv. Mgr., Star-Bulletin, pending arrival.

B.F. Ehlers & Co. HONOLULU CORSETS

Special Gossard corsets for informal and evening wear in the new Fall styles are now being shown. These corsets come in different materials, some of them being of a very light weight batiste, while others are made up in boroche, silk and figured batiste. An open work net material shown in one of the new models is most suitable for this climate.

For the school girl we advise our new "Junior or Misses" corset which comes in a light weight material, the boning being very flexible, giving absolute freedom of movement to the growing girl.

Brassieres—another necessity—are also being shown in a wide assortment of styles for the small, medium and full bust figures.

Clean and fresh as new

CHINA TOO GREAT TO BE ENSLAVED, TOO STRONG TO BE SELF DESTROYED

Bishop Bashford Points Out Reasons for Hope of Continuation of Republic

That no wise nation will lightly attempt the conquest or dismemberment of China and that the Chinese will ultimately establish a stable democratic government, though they may first "spend forty years in the wilderness," is the opinion of Bishop J. W. Bashford, who a few weeks ago passed through Honolulu en route to the Orient after a visit to the mainland during which he is said to have exchanged views with President Wilson over the Chinese question.

Bishop Bashford, for many years Methodist Episcopal bishop of Peking, is considered one of the best informed Americans on Chinese topics and his opinions bear weight. The following article from his pen was published in the San Francisco Chronicle on September 9 under the title "What, Actually, is to Become of China?"

Strong As Other People.
"The western world underestimates the strength of the Chinese. They have maintained a civilization and an independent government for over three thousand years, and they have grown to a population of from three to four hundred million people. Man for man, in industry and trade, they are as strong as any other people upon the globe. During 98 per cent of their history the Chinese have been stronger politically and as a military power than the Japanese. It is not incredible that, during two thousand years of history even a strong nation might suffer from illness and a smaller nation might temporarily excel her in military power. But it is quite incredible that a people so strong and virile as the Chinese and now rapidly mastering modern civilization, should remain permanently inferior, even in military strength, to a people not one-sixth as numerous as themselves.

"The Chinese are not the peaceable, easily governed people they are commonly represented to be. During the last two thousand years of history they have averaged a war, either external or internal, every fifteen years. In the Taiping rebellion, 1852 to 1865, the loss was twenty millions, according to Wells Williams, perhaps the best American authority upon China.

"No wise nation will enter lightly and hastily upon the conquest of a nation as large as China with such a capacity for fighting; and it is doubtful if any modern nation ultimately will survive the attempt to conquer and rule the Chinese. While China may be facing today disasters and wars and even a temporary overthrow of the government, the Chinese people are not facing permanent conquest by any foreign nation.

Have Had Self-Government.
"As to the type of government, the Chinese have been accustomed, to a large extent, to local self-government for more than two thousand years.
Even during the long centuries in which the government of China has been in form and, to some extent, in reality, a despotism, that despotism has not gone below the Hsien, or district city. The Hsien official was the lowest official appointed by the emperor; and his duties were largely limited to the collection of taxes and the preservation of peace throughout his district—a district averaging the size of a county in the United States, but with the average population of a congressional district. Local self-government, beginning with the family and advancing to the clan, to the wards and the villages, met the descending imperial authority in the Hsien city. If the people paid the taxes and did not start a rebellion they were free to make their own local regulations.

"In these local regulations the authority of the family rested largely with the father. As the family multiplied and became a clan the local authority rested nominally with the oldest father. But, as his clan was always in competition with and sometimes in an open struggle against neighboring clans, the nominal ruler was accustomed to select the man most acceptable to the strong men in the clan as his representative; and this lieutenant exercised the real authority. Sometimes the clan leader was selected openly by vote, as in a New England town meeting. More generally his selection was determined by conference of the father and the strongest men in the clan or village.
"Alongside of the clans were the gilds. Every business in China, save farming, is organized into a gild, and the officers of the gilds are selected by the members of the gild. Gild government, therefore, is purely democratic; and the gilds and clans in every district in China formulate all regulations governing business interests, local improvements, crimes and offenses against society. Hence, the Chinese people, despite the despotic form of their government, have been accustomed for more than two thousand years to a large degree of local self-government. In 1911 they extended this self-government to the provinces, and to the nation at large; and the world was astonished at the ease with which this extension was made and at the self-control and moderation which characterized the new government of the provinces and of the nation.
"The Chinese, having resisted successful conquest by any foreign nation for over three thousand years; having exercised a large measure of local self-government for over two thousand years, and now having extended self-government to the provinces and the nation, are experiencing a remarkable increase of patriotism. They are not likely to drop back for any considerable period to the despotism. A reasonable forecast, therefore, indicates that China will maintain her integrity and her independence and that her government will consist either of a constitutional monarchy or, more probably, of a republic. The Chinese may face a forty years' journey in the wilderness, and severe conflicts either among themselves or against other nations. But having now started on the journey, with the numbers they possess and with the qualities which characterize them, probably they will not cease the journey until they reach the promised land of democracy."

CALLS REFUSAL OF CROWN YUAN'S CLEVER TRICK

Col.-Gen. D. J. Wudan Declares Selected Parliament Will "Force" Him to Accept

"It's one more trick in a long and clever game," said Col.-Gen. D. J. Wu-dan this morning, referring to the message which President Yuan Shih-Kai of China has given out stating that he is opposed to the idea of imperialism. "It reminds me of that old story of how Caesar sat before the people and had Mark Anthony offer him the crown three times, and each time refused it because the people cherished his refusal.

"But Yuan Shih-Kai has gone Caesar one better. He intends that not enough man but a crowd shall force the imperial crown upon his reluctant head.
I know as if I had read it in ancient history that when the Chinese parliament meets at the close of this year they will offer the crown to Yuan Shih-Kai. And the world will say: 'He refused it as long as refusal was possible, and only accepted it when the people raised him by acclamation. He will be a benevolent despot.'

"But the world does not know this man nor the depth of his craft. The world does not know that the parliament which will assemble will be a mock parliament. It was elected in the following manner: Yuan sent secret messengers to governors of provinces all over China saying, 'Elect this man or that man as your delegate.'

"The governors then sent other men sneaking throughout the provinces demanding that the people vote according to direction—and this was done.
The parliament will be merely a picked group of Yuan's supporters.
Will Refuse Like Bashful Girl.

"And the parliament will offer Yuan the throne. They will offer it several times insistently—and several times he will refuse like the bashful girl.
And in the end he will accept, and the world will be hoodwinked, and the great comedy will be over and the stage set for the tragedy—the tragedy of an oppressed and hopeless people.

"Even now Yuan is playing the game. While he himself announces that he is against imperialism, it is rumored that he has his American adviser, Dr. Goodnow, the man from the home of freedom and republicanism, state that China is not ready for republican government. Yuan knows that the Chinese will not believe him if he should say the same thing, but he feels that they will take the word of a man from the home of freedom.

"Throughout southern China great mass meetings are being held every day to protest against Yuan. Already he has removed the governors of Nanking, Hupeh, Kwongsi and Fu-kien—all in south China. He is determined that official China shall stand firm behind him when he mounts the throne.

"He knows that the mob in China is powerless against him. He knows that they are a people new to the thought of liberty. He knows that they fear the army which he controls.
He knows, above all, that he has hoodwinked the world. And there is nothing this side of Confucius that will keep him from his goal unless the countries of the world protest against this outrage upon their intelligence.

"All I can do is take my hat off to his cleverness—and wait!"

The New Haven factory of the Fuller Manufacturing Co., was purchased by the Maxim Munitions Corporation, and will be used as an assembling plant.

CRISCO
For Frying—For Shortening For Cake Making

is the rich, solid cream of the oil

Crisco is an entirely different cooking fat. You never have used anything like Crisco for frying, for shortening or for cake making because the Crisco Process of treating vegetable oil is new.
And only this process can make the Crisco, or cream, from the oil.

Cream represents the richest, or best, of the milk.
Crisco represents the richest, yet most digestible form of food oil.

Crisco is different also in this respect: It remains sweet and pure indefinitely. For the parts of the oil which turn rancid are eliminated by the Crisco Process.

Do not confuse Crisco, therefore, with other cooking fats. Crisco possesses advantages which none other has.

None is of the high quality of Crisco; no more than milk is of the quality of cream.

Try Crisco yourself, for frying, for hot biscuits and for cake. You will be delighted with it.
You will see in an instant why it is so different.
And you then will insist that your cook use Crisco.

COCKROACHES IN THE KITCHEN

How to Exterminate These Pests That Spoil the Food.

Nothing is more repulsive to the neat housewife than to see cockroaches crawling around the kitchen, pantry or closet, spoiling food and injuring clothing. The easiest and most effective way to completely exterminate them is with Stearns Electric Paste, the deadly foe of rats, mice, cockroaches, water bugs and all vermin.

Y. M. C. A. Is Arranging Strong Bible Study Program For Fall

Secretaries of Association Will Be Leaders of Large Number of New Clubs

A strong Bible study program is being set up at the Y. M. C. A. this fall. It is planned along the line of clubs made up of congenial groups of young men with live leaders, who will conduct athletics and social features along with the Bible study.

There will be five clubs in the intermediate department under the direction of William H. Dreier, who is devoting most of his time to the intermediate members, young men between the ages of 18 and 21. Two of the clubs are old-time groups which have been in the Y. M. C. A. for some years.

The Washington club was formed shortly after the new building was opened and last year graduated from the boys' department into the ranks of the intermediates. The club has a fine record in athletics and this year will be under the leadership of Lloyd R. Killam.

The XX Club was the first formed with the organization of the intermediate department over a year ago. This club won the intermediate championship in bowling last year and has always been strong in track athletics. Holla K. Thomas is the leader this year.

Develop Musical Talent. The Knights of Kamehameha, under the leadership of J. Brooks Brown, have already developed some remarkable musical talent and are a well organized club. Two new Bible study clubs have been organized for this year's intermediate department, the "Get Ready" Club, under the leadership of W. H. Pannett with a membership already of 12, and the "El Globo" club, of which Paul Super will be the leader.

Bible study and club meetings have already begun with all of these clubs. The athletics will begin next week, swimming and basketball being the first sports on the calendar. Swimming races will be held on October 9 and basketball practice will begin at the same time. There is room for new members in all of the five clubs and all young men 18 to 21 years of age who want to join an intermediate club are invited to call on Mr. Dreier at the Y. M. C. A.

For men over 21 years old there will be a program of both Bible study clubs with athletic teams and straight Bible classes under strong leaders and teachers. The P. B. C., which has been one of the best clubs in the Y. M. C. A. for the last two years, held its first fall meeting Tuesday night. S. W. Robley will be the Bible instructor and the club has its officers and committees from its own membership.

A new Service Club will be organized under the leadership of Richard S. Whitcomb. This will be open to all men of the army and navy who are members of the Y. M. C. A. or who wish to join. It will have athletic teams in all sports and social features. There will also be a dormitory club with a strong local business man as leader. This club will also have appropriate athletic and social features. A club for gymnasium men will be organized by Physical Director Glenn Jackson next month.

Arthur Edwin Larimer of the association staff, who is engineering the formation of new Bible study classes for fall season.

Athletic Sports Planned. The first athletic sports for men over 21 will be swimming and basketball. It is expected that the Y. M. C. A. will be headquarters for these splendid sports this fall and the men of the Bible study clubs will have every chance for good competition.

The leading feature in last year's Bible study program for men was a class for businessmen conducted by A. A. Ebersole, associate pastor of Central Union church. Some 40 men attended last year on Tuesday evenings. It is planned to have Mr. Ebersole conduct a men's class in "The Social Teachings of Jesus," starting early in November.

Special courses of lectures on the Bible by local clergymen and laymen will be held throughout the year. Dr. C. Peters, pastor of the Christian church, has consented to give such a course later in the year. There will be special Bible classes for students in the Y. M. C. A. night school under the direction of Jay A. Urice.

All those who are interested in Bible classes or Bible study clubs for men are invited to call on A. E. Larimer, secretary of the men's department, who is in general charge of the Bible study program.

NOTED VASSAR PROFESSOR TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. William Bancroft Hill, D. D., Will Deliver Address at Central Union Church

Rev. William Bancroft Hill, D. D., professor of Biblical literature at Vassar college, will speak at Central Union church on Sunday evening.

Professor Hill has the reputation of being a most brilliant speaker and the community is fortunate in being able to hear him. His subject will be "Modern Scholarship and the Life of Jesus." Special announcements have been made to the college men and women of the city and it is hoped that the public in general will avail itself of this opportunity to hear a notable speaker on this most interesting theme.

Dr. and Mrs. Hill are stopping at the Moana hotel. Doctor Hill received his degree of A. B. from Harvard university and later studied at the Columbia and Radcliffe law schools. He was graduated from the Union Theological Seminary in 1888 and has since devoted his time to the pastorate and to Biblical literature.

For a short time before taking his theological studies he practiced law in Baltimore, but his decided bent for the church soon led him to abandon the legal profession for that of the ministry. Since 1902 he has been professor of Biblical literature at Vassar. He is the author of "Present Problems in New Testament Study," "Guide to the Lives of Christ," and "Introduction to the Life of Christ."

At the morning service the associate minister of the church, Rev. Amos A. Ebersole, will speak on "The Mind of Jesus."

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

It is safe to say that many thoughtful observers, including friends as well as opponents of national prohibition, have asked themselves whether the recent unmistakable progress of the prohibition cause is essentially permanent in its character, or will prove to have been but spasmodic and transitory. He would be a bold prophet who should venture to answer the question of hand. So many considerations enter into the reasoning, and so wide a range of interpretations is given to the term "permanent," that the most that can be said with genuine assurance on the subject is that old John Barleycorn has received more severe blows in the last ten years than his bitterest enemy had dared hope he would receive in fifty years; that those blows are still coming thick and fast, and that the present tendency, maintained long enough, seems destined ultimately to put the old fellow out of business.

This is no mere sentiment of wild-eyed temperance cranks. It is not a vision in which the wish is father to the thought. It is a conclusion drawn in cold blood from the cumulative evidence already available and in the making. One of the most significant illustrations of the advance against alcohol is found in the action of the committee which is revising the United States pharmacopoeia, in voting to exclude whisky and brandy from the list of medicinal drugs. Heretofore, a druggist who aimed to supply the full list of the pharmacopoeia was obliged to keep whisky and brandy, and to bear the expense of obtaining a government license to do so. Hereafter, it appears, druggists will be relieved of this expense, and also of the necessity for selling alcoholic beverages under the guise of remedies. Without regard to the long-mooted question as to whether or not alcohol is essentially a medicine, here is the fact that whisky and brandy are no longer to have the authority of the United States pharmacopoeia behind them. Discarded there, the natural tendency elsewhere may be to discard them as remedies.

The real significance of this action on the part of the revising committee lies in the fact that it was impelled not by fanaticism or sentiment, but solely by scientific conclusion that whisky and brandy are not medicines nor properly included in a list of drugs designed for the restoration of health. J. Barleycorn entered the fight with some people aver that these have been knocked from under him, one or more at a time, until he has very few remaining. However that may be, he appears to have lost an important prop by virtue of this committee's action. He may limp perceptibly per consequence, or he may not. The fact speaks for itself, and in combination with other significant facts, it speaks loudly—Manchester, N. H., Union.

NEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH ATTRACTING ATTENTION

The beautiful new bungalow church home built by the congregation of the Christian church, in any other church building so far as known, which adapts it to the climate of Hawaii, is attracting a good deal of attention among visitors to Honolulu. The minister reports that the record kept at the church shows that more than 150 tourists visited the church building during the first month the house was open and that these visitors are continuing to come. The building has been open for five months.

What the World Is Doing in Aid of Prohibition

The Bar Versus the Bar.

The high regard in which the prohibition law of North Dakota is held by the lawyers of that state is shown by the fact that at the recent annual meeting of the state bar association it went on record in favor of nationwide prohibition.

A Promotion Asset.
Long Beach, Calif., a widely known resort has only good words for prohibition and its financial effect on the city. In 12 years under prohibition it grew from a village of 2,000 people to a city of 45,000. Its mayor, in a letter dated some months ago, says: "Apart from our climate and unique location we have no greater asset than that of a dry town. I believe 50 per cent of our population came here because no liquor is allowed to be sold."

Liquor Ads Barred.
Liquor advertisements were barred from publication in all college papers in the United States by the unanimous vote of delegates of the Associated College Newspaper Publishers at a meeting at Columbia University last July. The purpose of the meeting was to standardize the work of the 39 college newspapers represented and several important regulations, including a by-law making compulsory the maintenance of advertising rates, were adopted.

Archbishop John J. Keane.
In an address delivered before the Roman Catholic Temperance Union, his lordship Archbishop John J. Keane stated:

"Unfortunately for the liquor saloons and for the saloon people, it is not in our power as Americans to consider their business as one-promotive of public morality and religion, but the very contrary; not as a business tending to the greatest good of the greatest number, but the very contrary; not as a business that should be fostered and favored by legislation, but the very contrary; not as one that should be granted special privileges on Sunday, but the very contrary; not as a public work of necessity or charity, but as a public curse and scourge and menace."

Russia Is Happy.
Jacob B. Conner, former American consul at Peking, made a statement about prohibition in Russia upon his recent arrival in New York.

"Prohibition in Russia is popular. Nobody can get strong drink anywhere, except, perhaps, in the homes of resident Americans. A soft drink called 'krass' has been substituted for vodka and the people are taking kindly to it."

Italy and Alcohol.
A recent Associated Press report from Milan, Italy, says: "The authorities withdrew 1,800 licenses to sell alcoholic drinks. Many bars, inns, saloons and refreshment houses have been closed."

Anti-Treating.
According to a press despatch from Liverpool, England, dated Sept. 10, 1915, "Treating has been made illegal in a new and drastic order regulating the sale of liquor in saloons and clubs here. Credit also has been abolished. The period in which liquor may be sold is limited to five and a half hours per day."

Farmers and Women.
The National Grange has unqualifiedly and emphatically endorsed woman suffrage. Among the state granges which have done the same are California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Oregon, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Vermont and Washington.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYE-GLASSES
A FREE PRESCRIPTION
You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can now read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time—advertisement.

STUDENTS WILL BE INVITED TO DISCUSS BIBLE

Each Sunday at Central Union church this fall sees some new line of activity opening up. This week a new course is offered to young men who are either at present or have been in the past, students at Punahou, McKinley high school and College of Hawaii. The subject of this course is given as "Facts Which Everyone Should Know About the Bible," and the leader is Rev. Amos A. Ebersole.

The plan is to assemble a congenial group of young men of somewhat the same needs and outlook upon life and in fair and frank discussion bring out the salient facts about the Bible. The course will be illustrated with outlines, diagrams and blackboard work and the method will be thorough and searching. Thoughtful young men will find the class very stimulating.

NIGHT SCHOOL WORK IS OUTLINED IN NEW PAMPHLET BY Y. M. C. A.

Work at the Y. M. C. A. night school for the coming year is outlined in new pamphlet entitled "21 Ways." There are 21 courses in the calendar, and the pamphlet gives the student an idea of the work that comes under the head of the different departments. The cost of courses varies from $3.50 to $25 for the school year, and all members of the association are eligible for the school work.

"WOMAN'S DAY" TO BE OBSERVED AT CENTRAL UNION ON OCTOBER 5

The ladies of Central Union church are asked to keep Tuesday, October 5th, free for the interesting program of Woman's Day. The quarterly society meeting of the Women's Society will be held in the morning. At noon a basket luncheon will be served, and in the afternoon the Woman's Board will hold a monthly meeting.

PLAN BENEFIT FOR MONEY TO SECURE ORGAN

For the purpose of raising funds to secure a modern pipe organ, the patrons of the Sacred Hearts Catholic church in Punahou, under the leadership of the church's officials, are planning to stage one of the biggest vaudeville and comedy shows that was ever seen in Honolulu.

Mrs. Cowan, one of the officials of the church, is taking steps toward making the show a success. Rev. Father Stephen Alencastre, pastor of the church, is also making efforts to bring the show about as soon as possible, which, of course, will not be for several months to come. The choice of the place where the show is to be staged has not yet been made.

ROBERT DAY WILLIAMS TO LEAD BIBLE CLASS DURING COMING YEAR

Robert Day Williams, Ph. D., the new principal of Mills School, has consented to lead the Bible class for young men and young women, at Central Union church. This class will meet for the first time on October 10 in the Kilohana building. The subject of the course is "The Social Significance of the Teachings of Jesus," and will follow in the main a course mapped out by Professor Jeremiah Jenks of Cornell university.

MACHINE GUNS HERE.

The Anti-Saloon League of Hawaii has just received a lot of the most modern machine guns, which can deliver more shots per minute than anything yet invented. We are thinking of sending a sample to the contending armies in Europe. One will be donated to the editor of each of our daily papers and we have them on our exhibition in our office, 510 Stangenwald building, where we will gladly in strict recruits in their use.

Although they were presented to us by the Seventh Day Adventist church you may be sure they are loaded and ready for business.

Theatrical & Amusements

DUSTIN FARNUM LIBERTY HEADLINER IDELER WILL BE HEARD IN FIRST RECITAL SOON

"May Blossom" will close a successful engagement at the Liberty theater tonight to be followed tomorrow night by the great Dustin Farnum in "Capt. Courtney."

The Famous Players' cast in "May Blossom," one of David Belasco's stage and photo-play offerings, presents a story of Civil War days that carries a tender appeal. The action of the play is divided between staid old New England and the sunny southland.

Kathlyn Williams in "The Adventures of Kathlyn" in the present episode shows herself without a fear of wild beasts.

"Capt. Courtney," the offering for Sunday evening, has proved one of Dustin Farnum's successes both on the stage and in the silent drama. It will be accompanied by the latest episode of "The Exploits of Elaine."

A new serial is announced for the Liberty in the near future, being "The Diamond from the Sky."

MARIE TELLAR HEADS EMPIRE BILL

Realism is dominant in the film version of the stirring mountaineer drama "Mountain Law," in two parts, to be featured as a headliner at the Empire theater today. Miss Marie Tellar takes the exacting role as the notorious "Firefly."

Hughie Mack, Flora Finch and William Shea are the principals in a fine comedy which centers around the trials of an entertainer who would prepare a feast for his friends only to make the painful discovery that the most essential thing is lacking. The "Just a Kid."

story is told in Arthur J. Lichty's most happy vein.

Another episode in the experiences of Helen, presented by J. P. McGowan, has to do with the remarkable narrow escapes of this adventurous young lady who becomes involved in a railway smashup. "The Flying Freight's Captive," is the sensational vehicle, filled with gripping situations. Several movie stars are given opportunity to display their talents.

Closing the program is a comedy, "Just a Kid."

CAN DANCE, SWIM, FENCE AND DIVE

In a thrilling sword dance, an auto dancer and, of course, as a swimmer and diver, Annette Kellermann, now appearing at the Bijou theater in "Neptune's Daughter," is one of the most graceful artists who has ever appeared in this city. Among her most spectacular work is a swimming exhibition with hands and feet securely tied together. The camera man secured exceptionally good "action" pictures throughout the entire film, and especially in the exhibitions of Miss Kellermann.

The double and triple exposure work in this film is remarkable. The transformation scenes, when Annette turns from a mermaid to a mermaid and back again; the scenes in which Neptune appears suddenly and is as suddenly taken back to the bosom of the sea; the scene in which the wicked Princess Olga becomes a mermaid and later an octopus, are scenes calling for numerous exposures and all are cleverly handled.

Annette Kellermann in "Neptune's Daughter" will continue at the Bijou theater through next Wednesday.

TO RUN BELASCO FILM ON SUNDAY

Manager Bredhoff showed "The Man Who Could Not Lose," and John Bunny, as Mr. Pickwick in "Pickwick Papers," this afternoon to a matinee audience.

The great film adaptation of Richard Harding Davis' great romance of the race track, with Carlyle Blackwell and Ruth Hartman in the leading roles, and an all-star cast supporting them has been a popular feature this week, while Bunny also has proved a drawing card. The same program will be tonight's attraction.

There will be a special Sunday night show tomorrow at the Popular. "The Man Who Could Not Lose" and John Bunny will be the main features, while as an added attraction, Mr. Bredhoff will show moving pictures of the great Corona road and Venice (Cal.) auto races, recently held in connection with the San Diego exposition.

Hazel Dawn, the charming star of "The Pink Lady," has abandoned the stage permanently for the pictures, having joined the Famous Players Co.

Program Announced for Special Concert to Be Given at Punahou Next Saturday

Oahu College will present Edward H. Ideler, Miss Margaret E. Clarke and Lester G. French in a concert next Saturday evening, October 2, at 8:15 o'clock in Charles R. Bishop hall, Punahou campus. This concert will be the first of a series of recitals given by the faculty of the Punahou school of music.

Mr. Ideler, who is now to Honolulu music patrons, will play the violin. He is now teacher of violin in the Punahou music school.

Miss Margaret E. Clarke, who is director of the Punahou music school, will play several pieces on the piano. She has made a tour around the world, studying in Paris, London and New York during the past year.

Mr. French has earned an enviable reputation among the patrons of music by his singing both as a soloist and as a leader of the Punahou Glee Clubs.

The following program will be presented at the concert, the admission to which will be free:

I.
Violin and piano.
Sonata, G minor.....Edward Greig
Sinto doloroso; Allegro vivace.
Allegretto tranquillo.
Allegro animato.

II.
Violin.
Nocturne, E major.....Chopin Romance.....Zarzycki
Danse Coquette.....Tirindelli

III.
Voice.
Ah, Love, But a Day.....Mrs. Beach
From the Land of the Sky-blue Water.....Cadmus Requiem.....Horner
Zaza, piccolo singara.....Leoncavallo

IV.
Violin.
Libesflend.....Kreisler
Thema and Variations.....Tartini-Kreisler
Tainboiyin Chinois.....Wronowski

The music department has received a special boom at Punahou. In fact so many new students have been enrolled

By CLINTON PEDRICK.

Did you know that Mary Pickford and Alice Joyce are sisters-in-law?

Marguerite Snow had to undergo an operation recently, but is reported to be getting along nicely.

Good bye Charlie! Couldn't wait any longer Chaplin has signed up for vaudeville at a mere trifle of $5000 a week.

Elsie Janis, in "Nearly a Lady," the Bosworth feature, should be a hit if she has lived up to the possibilities of the story.

Lou Tellegen, the actor who supported Sarah Bernhardt in America, is being starred in "The Explorer" at the Lasky studios, supported by Dorothy Davenport and Tom Forman.

The Famous Players Co., having sold their Los Angeles studios to Clune, the picture magnate, have removed all operations to their new $1,000,000 miniature city in New York.

John D. Spreckels, the millionaire, has granted the extreme courtesy to a film company to use his yacht "Venetia," during the production of Medall Paterson's novel, "A Little Brother of the Rich."

Anta King of the Jesse L. Lasky Co., called the "Paramount Girl," was found unconscious beside her car near Lovelock, Nev., by prospectors. She is making a transcontinental trip, unaccompanied, in her auto, the "Paramount."

Blanche Ring wears a flock of stunning gowns in "The Yankee Girl," being filmed at the Morosco-Bosworth studios. There is a love of a riding habit, a dream of a bathing suit, and three perfectly darling evening gowns. Some sartorial repertoire.

Fannie Ward has made royalty laugh. You cannot resist her fun. The famous American comedienne has achieved one of the big successes of her career in London. Miss Ward that a new teacher has been engaged, Mrs. Edith Gathfeld. She has been an instructor of music at Kamehameha for a number of years. Miss Clarke, Miss Cadwell and Miss Southerland all have a large number of pupils. Mr. Ideler, the new violin teacher, is meeting with much success in his department. Miss Cadwell and Mr. French have an unusually large number of pupils in voice. Some very promising results are expected from these students.

has occupied a unique place in the American theater through her ability to make people forget their troubles. One of her big comedy successes is "The Marriage of Kitty," to be presented soon in pictures.

Blanche Sweet is billed for Honolulu again next week-end. She is becoming known as "Blanche, the sentimental." Quite appropriate. Her character expressions are particularly adapted to sympathetic situations, and in "The Captive," one of Lasky's best, she is given a supreme opportunity to display her emotional acting.

Geraldine Farrar, before departing from the Lasky studios in Hollywood, Cal., for New York, made it clear to all members of the producing staff of her appreciation of the many favors and courtesies shown her by the distribution of a number of cash gifts, aggregating about $1000—the gifts ranging from $5 to $50. They went to the messenger boys, stage help and practically all technical men, as well as players, directors and others.

Forrest Stanley has new worlds to conquer. After serving a four-year term as matinee idol in Los Angeles, he grew discontented. Not that the theater-going girls of Los Angeles were growing indifferent. No, on the contrary, they were evidently so entranced that the blonde Forrest began to think that it wasn't exactly fair to the rest of girlhood to limit his appearance to the few hundred girls coming to the Burbank theater. Whereupon the Morosco Company convinced him that by entering the picture field he could delight hundreds of thousands of girls a night. And he is.

Dustin Farnum, matinee idol and hero, is presented in Honolulu by the Bosworth Co., on the Paramount program during the first half of next week. He appears as "Captain Courtney," in the play of the same name. In real life, strange to say, he is much the same as he is in the picture—always humble and courteous to women and children, yet with the sterner sex he masters every situation. He is unusually well supported in the cast. Courtenay Foote, already a favorite with Honoluluans, and Miss Winifred Kingston make up a triangle lead that will guarantee a strong bill for the Liberty theater.

Mary Pickford, who has recently moved to the metropolis in preparation of a new feature surprise, will remain there for some time to come. She had contemplated a trip to Japan, but has abandoned the idea for the present, owing to war conditions. Little Mary is still the favorite. Her personality, individuality, her little pout, her curls—well, at any rate she simply makes sunshine out of darkness. Miss Pickford will not appear in Honolulu on the Paramount program until October 17, at which time she is featured in "Fanchon, the Cricket." With Miss Pickford, the Famous Players Co. have an easy lead in popularity over other producers.

Early next year they will construct a studio in the vicinity of Los Angeles, which will surpass anything yet attempted for motion picture work.

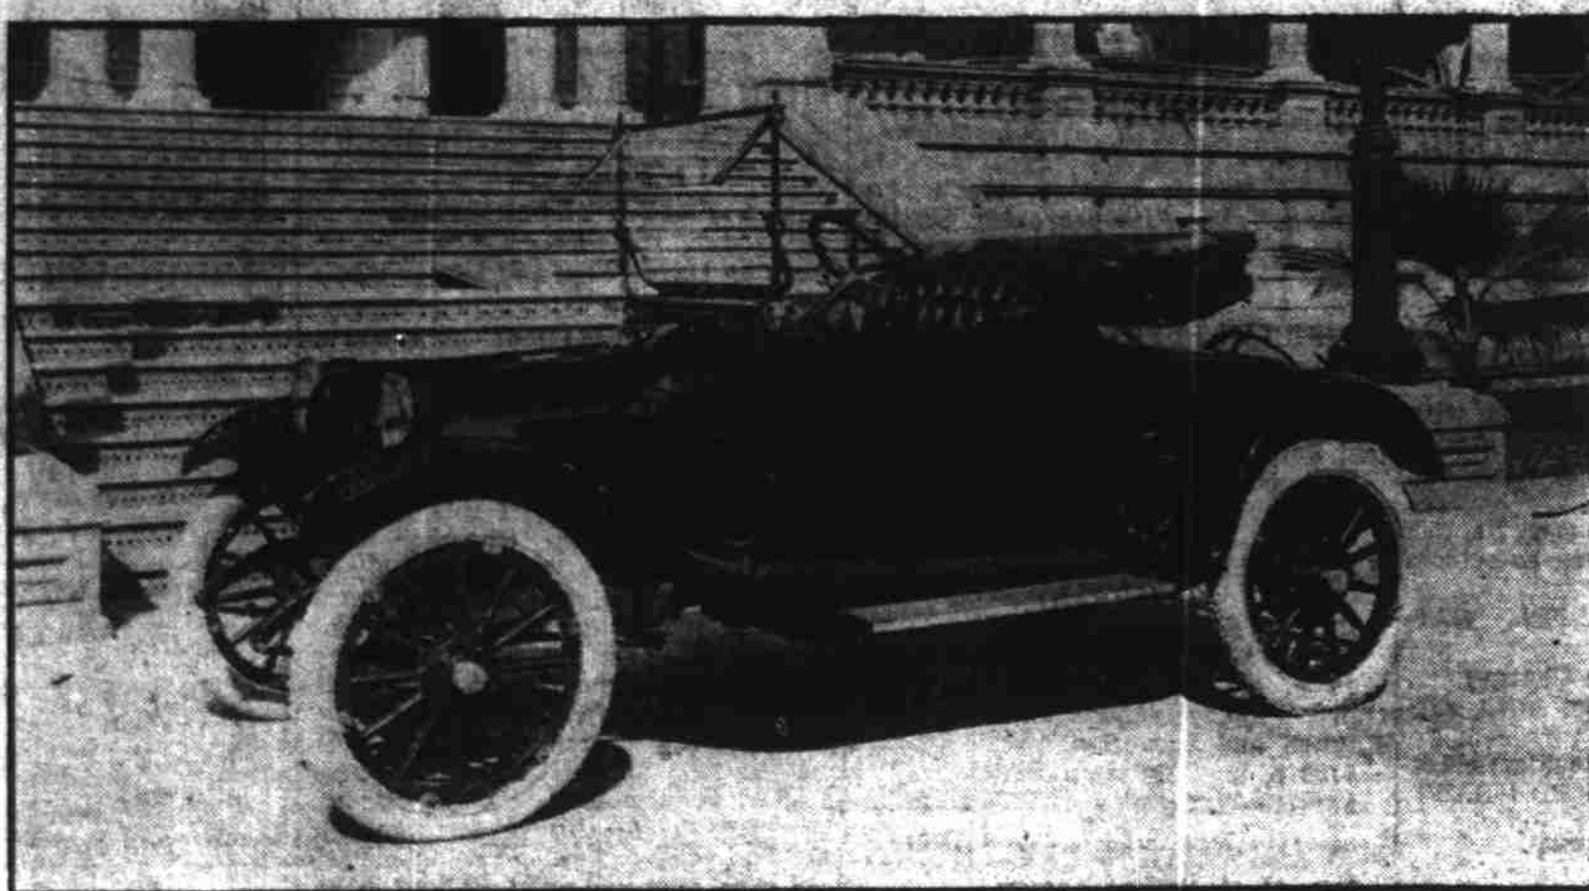

Director William Taylor, Lottie Pickford, Irving Cummings, William Russell, Charlotte Burton and William Tedmarsh, members of the all-star cast, "The Diamond from the Sky," the North American Film Corporation's prize continued photo-play, passed two days recently aboard the Iuna, one of the swiftest and most completely equipped yachts along the Pacific coast. Most of the time spent on board was taken up in the filming of a number of scenes which form part of one episode in the play. Although the trip took them far out into the swells, not a single member of the cast was taken down with seasickness. Miss Pickford, who, as Esther, has the feminine lead in this stupendous screen undertaking, has never been so far out from shore before. Nevertheless, she enjoyed the trip immensely and declared that at the first opportunity she was going to make a trip to Honolulu.

Swimmers Ready For Opening Meet at Y

Fast Time Made in Trial Heats Last Evening in Many Events—50-yard Race Feature of Evening in "Pool"—Krugger Qualifies for Three Events in Tonight's Program—Kahanamoku Will Give Exhibition—Opening Feature "Coming of Neptune"

THEY WILL RACE TONIGHT
50-yard race—Clarence H. Krugger, A. B. Carter, Al. Kahanamoku, 100-yard race—H. Krugger, C. Kane, Wm. Rowat, A. B. Carter, 220-yard race—Wm. Rowat, Clarence H. Krugger, H. Krugger, H. Brundage.

In the trial heat last evening in the Y. M. C. A. pool, Clarence Lane featured the work of the evening by swimming the 50-yard event in 26 seconds. This event proved to be one of the exciting trials of the meet and was closely contested. In the first heat H. Krugger and Wm. Kahanamoku were the contestants for second place and both swam over and Krugger made a sensational start and earned his place in the finals this evening.

In the 100-yard event H. Krugger of the Hawaiian Club, Lane of the Hui Nalu, Wm. Rowat of the Hawaiian and A. B. Carter of the Myrtle finished ahead of the field and will enter this event in the finals this evening. The two Hawaiian representatives also placed in the 220-yard race, with H. Krugger and Myrtle entered, was the only swimmer who finished in the finals in all three events.

Nearly 300 spectators watched the swimmers in the first competition in the new tank, and all were pleased with the performance. Many ladies were present last evening, and a number of parties are being formed to attend the big event this evening. The bleacher seats are placed close to the pool, and last evening every section of the swimmers could be followed. The lighting effects were appreciated by all spectators, as it was "higher than day," as some one said.

One of the "stunts" of last evening was the "change dive." This was novel and created much merriment and wonder among the gathered throng. A diver struck the water with a gray suit on and came to the surface wearing a black one. Inasmuch as this young man was not a lightning change artist it was a considerable feat. It required 42 seconds for the entire change of scenery.

Many Features.
The many feature events are causing much comment around town today and it is expected that fully 700 people will be in attendance at the big meet this evening. The "Coming of Neptune" and the mallet chase ap-

George S. Lyon, the Canadian veteran, broke his driver in his match against Stearns and as he did not have a spare driver in his bag, he had to worry along without one.

Robert Gardner's 1 on the seventh made that hole a sacred spot. "There's the place where Gardner made the one," was the remark heard thereafter whenever a gallery passed by.

J. N. McDonald, Calumet, never had seen the course before he set out on Saturday. He made a 76, but only because he didn't know where the trouble was, according to his own statements.

Bob Gardner took his honors modestly and seemed a little relieved when it was over. He likes to have a royal good time while playing golf and the strain of a championship game does not suit him.

Gardner had the smallest caddy on the course and the little fellow dressed up in his best clothes for the final, despite the rain. Small as he was, he did his work thoroughly and none of the bigger boys did better.

The golf tournament seemed to be a real attraction for the ball players. Ty Cobb was a frequent visitor, and as soon as they reached Detroit, a party of White Sox players, headed by Eddie Collins, set out for the links.

Tom McNamara turned up to watch the amateurs play and spent a good deal of his time in shaking hands with his golfing friends, who were anxious to congratulate him on his victory in the recent western open championship.

The downfall of Travers and Outmet on the same day always remain as one of the big events in American golf. Both matches ended at almost the same moment and the spectators who watched the Travers-Marston match to the end did not have time to hurry back to the 14th hole Stand-

"A Demonstration of Bleacher Rooting"

The 25th Infantry stands as Johnson returned to the bench after his home run hit to the outer garden. That there was considerable excitement in the game between the 1st and 25th Infantry may be evidenced by looking at the throng gone mad. When the 25th won out in the ninth, the stands presented another picture of real "rooting."

PRIZE BONE PLAY

The Central association claims the distinction of producing the prize bonehead play of the season. If there is any league that desires to dispute this honor, say the word.

Waterloo was playing at Muscatine, and Wetzell, Muscatine's right fielder, was on first base, with Sours of the same team at bat. Sours gave the hit-and-run signal and Wetzell started down for second base as soon as the pitcher began to wind up. Sours hit a long fly. Just as he reached second base Wetzell thought he saw Hill, Waterloo's left fielder, reaching up to catch the ball.

Without waiting to see whether the fielder made the catch, Wetzell raced back to first base. Meantime the ball had soared high over Hill's head, and Sours turned first-base and raced for second.

Wetzell passed him at full speed, going in the opposite direction. When Sours reached second he thought that he had made a mistake about seeing the ball fall safe and started back to first.

Simultaneously Wetzell saw Hill chasing the sphere and he again began the dash for second and once more both players passed each other on the dead run, both badly confused.

The result was that a hit that should have been good for a triple and a score went for a double. And all this happened without the umpire being entangled in a bonehead play.

HAWAIIAN TENNIS ASSOCIATION TO PLAN TOURNEY

At a special meeting of the Hawaiian Tennis Association held last evening at A. L. Castle's offices, plans were made to have the annual tennis tournament held during the Mid-Winter Carnival. The tournament will have the sanction of the National Tennis Association and will rank in point of features with the best in the country. President A. L. Castle of the local association will appoint a committee to draw the plans for a successful meeting.

William Johnston, Clarence Griffin, Maurice McLoughlin and G. M. Church have been invited to the tournament, and it is expected that at least three of the stars will send their acceptance of the invitation. Johnston and McLoughlin have played here before, while Griffin and Church have always ranked high in the tennis world.

The tournament will in all probability be held on the Pacific coast again this year, and the new plan is to have the tournament run for two weeks, instead of five days which has been the rule in the past. The Carnival bleachers will be used, and accommodations made for all.

It is expected that the finals of the men's singles will be played off at Washington's birthday, and the men's doubles on February 26. The main-draw players are expected to arrive on February 15 and the tournament will be opened on February 17. Among the prominent players who will be seen in the tournament are A. L. Castle, Argabrite, Hoogs, Eklund, Lowrey, O'Dowda, Hench and Pfleger.

Treasury Controller Warwick ruled that Federal employees may give tips at government expense. Harry J. Cristofers was allowed $7 monthly to tip his table stewards.

Homeless Recruits to Have Athletic Games

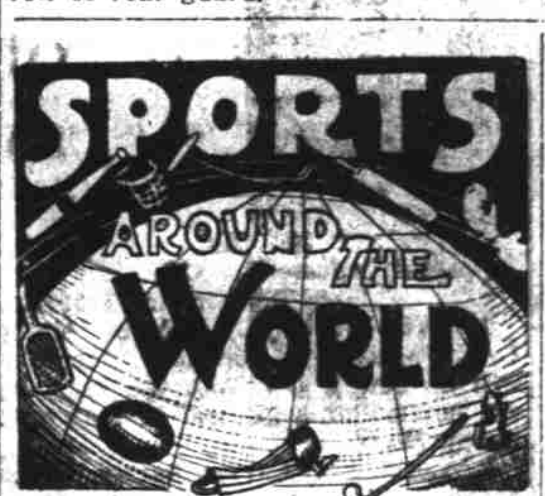

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 25.—The 25th Infantry camp out on the target range where 300 recruits are housed in pyramidal tents has turned into a real little city, with all the comforts of home, including mess halls, an athletic field, and the latest magazines and periodicals.

What is to become of these 300 men is still a question that cannot be answered. The 25th Infantry has its full complement of men and there is no room in the barracks for these additional 300. One hundred and fourteen were originally assigned to the 24th Infantry, and were en route to the Philippines when the 24th was ordered back to the mainland so these men were taken off the transport at Honolulu and assigned to the 25th.

The camp is under the command of 1st Lieut. Charles Wyman, 25th Infantry, who has 25 noncommissioned officers and cooks from the regiment to help him. The men are making excellent progress in their military instruction and when it comes to sports they are more enthusiastic than any other organization at the garrison.

A Baseball League.
Each of the two recruit companies has two baseball teams and these four teams have been organized into a league with Cpl. Thomas Cargill of D Company as president. There have been some excellent games played, and the interest that has been taken in the games has been attested to by the noise that comes from the direction of the recruit camp every afternoon, and can often be heard as far away as Castner. The Royal Giants and the A. B. C's started out to lead the league, but now the Nashvilles have forged ahead and are several games in the lead. The team known as the Columbus Whites is playing the roll of rear guard.

Walter Johnson holds a more commanding position in the batting order than any other pitcher. Griffith has him in sixth place.

Connie Mack and Muggsy McGraw will employ new tactics this season. They are now beseeching some of their stars to jump to the Feds.

Branch Rickey recently signed a bush pitcher by the name of East. After seeing him work for four innings he pointed to the clubhouse and said: "South, East."

Henry Sitten, one of the football stars of the last, recently married Miss Grace Dewey of Pittsburgh. The press marked it Sitten, Down. That's a nice easy combination for a gridiron star.

Ball player, manager, scout, umpire; member of Cleveland, New York, Baltimore and other teams; crack first baseman, catcher and outfielder; hard hitter and fine base runner; nervy, scrappy—the career of Jack Doyle on the diamond has been anything but colorless.

Bill Moran has given Alexander and Killian permission to go to the Northwest with Frank Bancroft's All-Nationals this autumn, after the close

Lieut. Wyman has planned to organize a recruit team to play games with the various organization teams at Schofield that are still playing baseball. He has ordered baseball suits of a blue gray with blue trimmings that are expected to arrive next Tuesday.

Two players stand out as promising candidates for the 25th Infantry regimental team. They are both excellent fielders and good stickers. One is J. J. Bradley, a shortstop, the other Gentry Smith, a third baseman.

Some Good Boxers, Too.
Now that the ban on boxing has been raised, boxing gloves are making their appearance at the camp and some of those who have had previous boxing experience are getting into training.

"Rufus" Williams went out Wednesday evening to look over Frederick Freeman, who came here with a boxing reputation from New York where he was known as "Young" Brown. They put on the gloves and went through some sparring. "He is fast and handy with his mitts," said Rufus, "and I think we can put on a high class exhibition some time in the near future." Freeman's fighting weight is 158, just two pounds heavier than Williams.

Freeman claims to have taken part in 27 bouts and never to have been knocked out. Coming over on the transport Thomas, Freeman twice got the decision on "Bert" Taylor, the champion middleweight of the 24th Infantry.

Another man at the recruit camp who wants to don the gloves is "Dick" Silvester, a bantam-weight who will go into the ring at 110 pounds. Silvester claims to have been staged in a four-round go at the Palace Casino in New York City.

of the world's series, in case "Hughie" Jennings finds that he cannot take charge of the All-Americans, "Dick" Hoblitzel will assume the responsibility.

There was a time when baseball clubs were grabbing wealth and fame. They used to take our bankroll to see a common baseball game.

It used to be a costly thing, but now there comes the time. When you see two games in the Federal League and only pay a dime.

New York scouts were on the trail of George Malsel and made an offer for the brother of the New York third baseman, Detroit had the inside track, however, as Bill Coughlin, present manager of the Scranton club, once played with the Tigers and is very friendly to Jennings, who makes Scranton his home in the off-season.

Jack Ness, first baseman of the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League, who set a world's record by hitting safely in 49 consecutive games, has been named by the Chicago White Sox as the player they want next year under their option to an Oakland player. The option expired on August 18 was given in return for catcher Red Kuhn.

The business management of the Quakers already is beginning to worry about the sale of the world's series tickets and the accommodation of the crowds which always turn out for the baseball classic. The "Phillies" park will seat less than 18,000 and it is so small, with a short right field fence and a bleacher stand encroaching on left field, that it will be difficult to provide for any additional seating capacity.

When Joe Jackson, lately of the luckless Indians, and now of the galant White Sox crew, bumped his salary wing and accumulated a collec-

Connie Mack Building For Another Pennant

Guardian of Cellar Position Working for Pennant Winner in 1917—New Men Show Great Work in Trials with White Elephants—Athletic Leader Wrecked Champions to Build Up Another Contender—Youngsters Called Upon to Win

American League fans who have seen the strange combination now passing off as the Philadelphia Athletics probably never suspected that they were watching a future pennant winner in the early stages of incubation. A future pennant winner is apt to be deceiving in appearance when it is real young, and there is nothing about the Athletics of today to arouse suspicion. Rather, their performance this season indicate that the embryo chick is weak in spots.

However, no less an authority and developer of champions than Connie Mack, their boss, has made a strong prediction for them. To an intimate friend, with whom he was recently discussing the possibilities of his team and his plans for reorganization, he said:

"We will be prominent in the race next year, and in 1917 we will win the pennant."

Thus do we see that while he is taking the dust in the race this year the leader of the Athletics has not just his specs and looked over the top of a couple of years, where he sees his ball club battling for a world's championship as five other clubs have done for him in the past. Two years ahead is a long stretch for the eyes, but the prediction carries weight if for no other reason than that Connie Mack made it. Connie is a reticent man. He seldom talks about himself or his ball club, and he indulges in no idle boasts. In his quiet way he accomplishes things, and he has perhaps seen something in the present motley crew that has escaped general observation. And there are many who will string along with him.

Wrecked Team.
For good reasons I purposely wrecked a ball club that could have gone on winning for five more years," he said. "But I knew I could build another one. I have gathered together some promising players, from which I know now I can develop a winner within two years. Moreover, they are young players, some of them from colleges without previous professional experience, and they will learn and play my kind of baseball. You know some times a player can know too much baseball, or think he does. He gets to thinking he knows more than his manager, and then he is no longer as valuable to his club. It is teamwork, not individual playing, that wins pennants."

"I did not expect to do much this year. I haven't the ball club. But it is not nearly as bad a club as you think. It is my fault that we have not won more games. For instance, I have let young pitchers stay in the box when they were being hit unmercifully. I could have lifted such a pitcher, sent in another man and perhaps checked the rally and won out. But you can't win games and experiment with young ball players, too. I have lost many games, but I have found out a lot about my new man, which is all important to me just now. We will win the games some other time when the developing stage is over."

New Stars in Lineup.
Connie proceeded to wreck his team with deliberation, but since then he has been reconstructing with caution. Since the season opened he has tried out upward of twenty new players, and of these about a dozen remain. He has a collection of six new pitchers who made their big league debut since April. They are Crowell, Knowlton, Hans, Sheehan, Fillingim and Nabors. Nabors is from the Georgia and Alabama League. He is six feet three inches tall and the same size as his neck all the way down.

WOMAN SWIMMER BREAKS RECORD AT PHILADELPHIA

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 25.—This afternoon the officers from Schofield Barracks will play the town officers at Fort Kamehameha. The last game of baseball between these two teams resulted in a disastrous defeat for the Schofield team, but with Lieuts. Gosner, Riley, Schneider and Bonesteel, all ex-West Point players, who have just joined the 1st Infantry, the Schofieldites believe they have a good chance to get revenge.

The team played a practice game with Company H, 1st Infantry, yesterday afternoon, the officers winning 2 to 1. They will probably line up this afternoon the same as they did yesterday: Batting—J. Tomorrow's Game.
The attraction at the post baseball park tomorrow will be a game between the All-Chinese team of the Onge League and the 1st Field Artillery. Judging from the game played against the 4th Cavalry last Thursday, Ferrie's Braves ought to put on a game that will give the Orientals something to think about.

CALL FOR 1ST INF. CANDIDATES.

Lieut. Fred W. Wichman, manager of the 1st Infantry, N. G. H. football team, has issued a call for candidates to be present at the armory this evening. All members of the infantry who have played football, or want to play football are requested to be present at 7:30 when the names of the players will be taken and formed into squads. Will Ross, who will be captain this year, will be present and the men will be given an idea of the plan of campaign outlined for the coming year.

The story tellers are relating a yarn about preachers who had a bitter battle at golf recently. Rivalry was intense. Best of all, I couldn't miss the putts," exclaimed the minister. "Then he added as an afterthought, 'And I wasn't swearing.' "Ah, well, dinna be discouraged," soothed the little pro. "It'll come in time."

HAVE HARD TIME GETTING HORSES OUT TO BARRACKS

Many of New Army Steeds Not Even Halter Broke; Landed in Polo Corral

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 25.—A detail of 60 men from the 1st Field Artillery and 4th Cavalry under the command of 1st Lieut. W. S. Martin, 4th Cavalry, arrived at the post yesterday morning at 10 o'clock with 112 of the 119 horses recently purchased on the island of Hawaii by a board of officers consisting of Lieut. Col. B. Frank Cheatham, Q. M. C.; 1st Lieut. R. H. Kimball, 4th Cavalry; 2nd Lieut. L. A. Beard, 1st Field Artillery, and Veterinarian A. L. Mason, 4th Cavalry.

Thirty-five of these horses are assigned to the 1st Field Artillery, 77 to the 4th Cavalry and the remainder to the infantry regiments.

Lieut. Martin reports a trip full of hard work and excitement. The horses are pretty wild and many of them not even broken to the halter. It took three hours to catch all the horses at the quartermaster corral in Honolulu and to get them in line for the trip.

The detachment left Honolulu at 11:30 a. m., Thursday, and arrived at Pearl City at 3:00 p. m., where they spent the night at the camp of the engineer detachment. It was a terrible trip. Many of the horses would not lead and were continually breaking away. "I must say a word," said Lieut. Martin, "about the courteous way in which the automobiles from Honolulu stopped and allowed us to get by with these wild and excitable animals. I cannot say the same about several machines driven by officers and soldiers of the army." One horse was injured in a collision with a motor cycle and had to be sent back to the quartermaster corral in the new horse motor truck.

The engineer detachment made excellent hosts, and the Schofield men were very grateful for the royal way in which they were entertained Thursday night.

Yesterday on the final lap to Schofield Lieut. Martin decided to herd the horses instead of leading them, which proved a much better way of proceeding, and no difficulties of any kind were encountered. Leaving Pearl City at 7:30 a. m., the horses were driven into the corral at the polo stables at 10:30 a. m. to begin their military career. Many officers were on hand to look the horses over when they arrived and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that they are a mighty fine bunch.

SOLDIER LIFE AT SCHOFIELD SHOWN BY FILM

Showing the life of the soldier, at drill and at play, a reel of motion picture films taken by R. K. Bonine at Schofield Barracks will be exhibited tomorrow evening at the barracks during the vaudeville show to be given there to raise funds for furnishing the new library building. They will be flashed on the screen in this city later. Last night a private exhibition of the films was given by Mr. Bonine, before Maj.-gen. W. H. Carter, commanding the Hawaiian Department; and 1st Lieut. R. H. Kimball, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Kimball were present. Infantry, cavalry and artillery drills and the daily life in barracks are shown in detail. Review marching, manual of arms, making and breaking shelter camps, bayonet fencing and charges, machine gun action, range finding, field wireless station work and views of field games and sports are among the more interesting features.

TRAINING CAMP FOR ILLINOIS AT SHERIDAN

Another military training camp for business and professional men opened Monday of this week at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, based on the lines of the widely advertised Plattsburg camp. According to the Army and Navy Journal, the camp is being held under the supervision of officers of the United States army, under exactly the same conditions as the Plattsburg camp, its object being to offer an opportunity for business and professional men of military age, to qualify themselves for efficient service to the country in case of need. Those attending camp are citizens of the United States, and the total cost for uniform and rations is about $40 to these participating. Applicants paid their own transportation.

Fort Shafter Notes

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) FORT SHAFTER, Sept. 24.—According to orders from the Hawaiian department, Private Julius Smajnsner, Company B, 1st Infantry, has been relieved from further duty at the school for cooks and bakers at this post, and will proceed to Schofield Barracks without further delay and report to his commanding officer for duty.

A demonstration of the prompt action of the Fort Shafter fire department was given today when the garage adjoining the quarters of 1st Lieut. John B. Richardson, 2nd Infantry, in the cantonment suddenly broke into flame. Within a few minutes of the time that the fire was discovered, a call was turned in and immediate response was made. Except for a large portion of the side of the garage being burned no damage was done as the machine was quickly removed. Due to the fact that the houses in the cantonment are so close together it might have resulted in a very serious fire.

First Class Private Herbert E. Ramsey, Company I, Third Battalion of Engineers, Fort Shafter, has been ordered on special duty at department headquarters, in the office of the department engineer, until on or about October 20. Corporal Benny Witt, Troop I, 4th Cavalry, was sent as guard to Fort Shafter for the purpose of conducting Private Edward C. McNary, Troop I, 4th Cavalry, who has been in confinement at Fort Shafter to Schofield Barracks.

A telegram from Major Houston, Department Quartermaster, stated that there will be no reservations for the first or second class transportation from Shafter on the transport sailing for San Francisco on October 4. The matter of troops transportation will be taken up as soon as the Department Quartermaster can get in wireless communication with the ship and the post commander will be notified later.

Leave of absence for two months to take effect upon arrival in the United States, has been granted Col. Francis H. French, Col. French, who until recently was in command of the 2nd Infantry, sailed for the mainland on the September transport.

1st Class Private Walter L. Coleman, Company I, 3rd Battalion of Engineers, has been detailed on special duty in the Quartermaster Corps for transport as blacksmith with view to his transfer to the Quartermaster Corps.

Upon the recommendation of the commanding officer, Company C, 2nd Infantry, the following appointment has been made in that organization: Lance Corporal Mike Kajtanik to be corporal, vice Oliver, discharged.

According to the latest San Francisco papers, Major Peter Marguaret, 12th Infantry, who was an officer in the 2nd Infantry for twenty-two years, has recently been detailed in the Quartermaster Corps.

Upon the recommendation of the commanding officer, Company A, 2nd Infantry, the following appointment has been made in that organization: Corporal Sam Rose to be corporal, vice Dellinger reduced.

DETAILS OF BIG NAVY SHAKE-UP AT ANNAPOLIS

Further details of the sweeping shake-up at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, reached Honolulu this week. The changes are already in effect, having become active last Monday. Heads of nearly all departments are detached on duty elsewhere, and Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels said at Washington those transferred include men who have been on duty at the academy two years or more.

Officers who have been here less than two years have not been changed, except in the case of Commander F. A. Traut, who takes command of the battleship Wisconsin. The secretary declined to state whether the reorganization was a direct result of the recent investigation of affairs at the academy, which grew out of dismissal of cadets on charges of cribbing at examinations and hazing.

Capt. Eberle, former commandant of the Washington navy yard, succeeds Rear Admiral Pullam as superintendent of the academy. Other officers detached are: Commander C. P. Preston, English department, ordered to command the battleship Missouri; Commander F. A. Traut, modern language department, to command battleship Wisconsin; Commander H. D. Price, to command destroyer tender Melville; Commander J. T. Tompkins, electrical engineering department, to command battleship Ohio; Lieut. Commander Chauncey Shackford, senior aide to commandant, to become navigator of battleship Wyoming; Lieut. M. E. Manly, aid to superintendent, to become aid to commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet. Besides these Commanders Hilary Williams and Roger Williams, both now on cruise, are detached, the former to be executive officer of the battleship Rhode Island and the latter to be navigator of the battleship New Jersey.

The new department heads announced are Commander H. H. Hough, Commander Ralph Carlo, Commander W. T. Chivers, Commander G. P. Lincoln, Commander H. H. Christy, Commander John Halligan, Lieut. Commander T. R. Kurtz.

Honolulu Rifle Club to Resume Practise Soon

Shafter Range Placed at Disposal of Organization By Army Officers

The officers of the Honolulu Rifle Club desire to announce a resumption of rifle practice at the Fort Shafter range, the following schedule of dates having been arranged: October 2, 17 and 31, and November 14 and 28.

Shoots will be held for record on November 5 and 19. Those qualifying will be entitled to the badges given by the war department.

F. B. Dunwell will act as range officer during the absence of Mr. McOrnick. The club's secretary, William Harvey, having resigned, Robert S. Chase has been appointed to fill the unexpired term.

Owing to the fact that the National Guard will soon have their own range on Punchbowl, the Fort Shafter range will be open to the rifle club the greater part of the year. The army officers of Fort Shafter have extended every possible courtesy to the Honolulu Rifle Club. This hearty cooperation is deeply appreciated by the club members.

Applications for membership in the Honolulu Rifle Club may be obtained from Messrs. Chase, Dunwell and Ramey, or from the president, F. A. Goble.

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS

A business meeting of the Non-commissioned Officers' Club, N. G. H., and the National Guard band was held last night in the armory.

Several promotions have been made in Company C, as follows: V. M. Bettencourt, Joe Pereira, Antonio Goveira and J. R. Freitas, to be sergeants; J. K. Kawanui, J. S. Alves, Frank Rodriguez, Manuel Olson, A. C. Olivera and M. J. Garrido, to be corporals.

Drill nights of various National Guard companies have been designated. The companies will have the following nights for use of the armory: Companies A, B, C and D, every Wednesday night; Companies E, F, G, H and K and the First Separate Company, every Thursday night.

For the purpose of locating the camp of Company E, 25th Infantry, Lieut. Wallace C. Philson of the company and Lorrin A. Thurston left today in the Mauna Kea for Hawaii. This company will build the rest houses and trail up Mauna Loa. The two men will also locate the main trail up the mountain, blazing the route to be followed.

Although the bureau has had four or five calls for Filipino house boys and yard help, there are 110 on the waiting list at the National Guard's free employment bureau, and Chief Clerk J. K. Evans of the armory office force asks Honoluluans to give preference wherever possible to these men, who are willing workers and need employment. The men needing work are mainly members of the 3rd recruit company, consisting of Filipinos.

With seven separate organizations in evidence, last night was a busy evening at National Guard headquarters. There were Companies C, D, B, E and the Filipino recruits, all at drill at the same time. Company K had its number changed to Company L. The new company, K, composed of the Kamehameha cadets, was present to the 40 men, arranging preliminary details. Lieut. Alfred J. Booth, U. S. A., military instructor at the school, was present, and 25 of the cadets were with him.

For the purpose of inspecting the present companies on Hawaii, Col. Samuel L. Johnson, the adjutant-general, National Guard of Hawaii; Lieut. W. C. Whitener, the inspector-instructor, and Sgt. Instructor M. D. Maddux leave today on the Inter-Island steamer Mauna Kea for Hilo and other places on the Big Island. It is their plan to organize and bring to efficiency six new National Guard companies. They took along two machine guns, it being their intention to organize machine gun companies on Hawaii.

Eleven companies of the national guard are now established in the territory of Hawaii, according to information given out by national guard headquarters. They are distributed as follows: Kona, 78 men enlisted; Puna, 116; Oahu, 76; Waikaele, 83; Hilo, 85; Laupahoehoe, 85. Honolulu contains the other five companies, which vary in strength from 60 to 102 men in the three recruit companies, and from 69 to 80 in the regular companies. Kohala is interested in national guard activities, and a company of 80 men is expected to be mustered in soon.

JAPANESE AVIATOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE

(Special Cable to Hawaii Shinnu) TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 25.—Lieut. Iwamoto, an army aviator, had a narrow escape from death yesterday at the Tokorogawa aviation field, when his aeroplane was caught in an air pocket and dashed to earth. The lieutenant was severely shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

Commenting on Dr. Osler's assertion that "England is full of the spirit of Washington and Lincoln" the Florida Times-Union says: "Thanks—we have missed the spirits and are glad to know they have turned up."

PROOF FIRING OF NEW 14-INCH GUN WILL BE DELAYED

Nov. 1 Soonest Date at Which De Russy's New Rifle Will Be Tried Out

Proof firing of the new 14-inch defense rifle at Fort De Russy will not be held until November 1 or later. Capt. C. G. Mettler, ordnance officer, C. A. C. and armament officer of the Hawaiian armament district, announced today.

This later date has been selected according to Capt. Mettler, because of the annual inspection ordered every year by the war department. This year it is to take place beginning October 1, and an ordnance inspection will be required to enable him to make the inspection.

Among the equipment to be looked over and its condition ascertained is seaward defense material, all mobile artillery and all machine guns. Capt. Mettler will make this inspection an armament officer of the Hawaiian armament district.

After the seaward artillery inspection is completed, Capt. Mettler will make armament inspection of all field artillery at Schofield Barracks and the machine guns of the infantry and cavalry regiments on Oahu.

In anticipation of the terrific impact which will result from firing the big new rifle at Fort De Russy, a number of officers' quarters are to be moved to a safe distance from the huge weapon. They are now in the rear of the rifle, and it is feared that the detonation might demolish the wooden structures. Hence they are being moved out of the way of possible damage.

Civilians living within half a mile radius of the rifle will also be warned in advance to keep their windows and doors open while proof firing is going on, or take the risk of having them shattered by the concussion.

"SONG OF SECOND" MAKES HIT WITH SHAFTER TROOPS

Song of the Second.
I
Hail, to the "Second!"
Brave in battle, famed in peace.
Hail, sons now reckoned Heroes, as wars cease!
Our grim Revolution;
Graves mid Aztec mound and dell;
And our wounded Nation;
Could her bravest tell.
"Second!" Dear old "Second!"
Quick to serve o'er land and sea.
"Second!" Our own "Second!"
Make us worthy thee.

II
Hail, to the "Second!"
Who helped win our land her best.
Peace! Warriors beckoned
To eternal rest.
They adorned with glory
Our dear regimental flag.
Shall then our life-story E'er those "colors" drag?
"Second!" Dear old "Second!"
Thy brave deeds we love to tell
"Second!" Our own "Second!"
May we serve thee well.

III
Hail, to the "Second!"
Brace the lines! We're on review!
Hail, to the "Second!"
The Past salutes you.
"Touch Me Not"—their slogan.
—On to conquest!—Nor retreat!
For their deeds, let each man Uncover! Stand! Repeat!
"Second!" Praise the "Second!"
Echo hills and firmament;
"Second!" Our own "Second!"

HONOR SALUTE TO IDAHO GOVERNOR ENDS IN FIASCO

Oregon Naval Militia's Powder Fails to Ignite at the Proper Time

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—The naval militia of Oregon attempted to give Governor Alexander of Idaho a salute of seventeen guns yesterday, but failed. The governor was leaving on a steamer for San Francisco. Only four of the seventeen charges exploded. The powder used was made in the United States.

The training ship Boston, on which the militia were stationed, fired the first gun as the governor's boat left the dock. When intermediate shots failed of explosion, the governor's ship slowed down.

By the time the steamer had passed the training ship, however, all seventeen salutes had been attempted and only four charges had exploded.

The militia were unable to use more powder. Their ammunition appropriation had been exhausted, and they were unable to obtain more.

ONE TROOPER, 2 MEXICANS KILLED IN BORDER FRAY

U. S. Cavalry, After Hot Fight, Drives Raiders Across Border Line

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] BROWNSVILLE, Texas, September 25.—A fierce skirmish between a big force of Mexicans and a troop of United States cavalry for the most part a running fight has taken place at Progreso, forty miles west of here.

Two Mexicans and one American soldier were slain. The soldier was Henry W. Stubblefield of Bigstone Gap, Virginia. Capt. A. V. P. Anderson, commanding the American forces, was shot in the arm.

The fight was caused by an invasion of Progreso by the Mexicans. A store was looted and burned by the Mexicans, but before they could seize their booty and escape, Troop B of the 12th Cavalry was upon them.

Upon the approach of the invaders the Progreso police had telephoned to Harlingen, one of the border troop stations nearby, where the marauders had stationed a covering force.

When the troop swept up and fired on the Mexicans, they dropped their loot, and rallied, exchanging the fire. Almost simultaneously a fusillade came from across the river, where the marauders had stationed a covering force.

Their retreat reinforced by the ambushed force across the Rio Grande the Mexicans put up a desperate fight.

SEA GIVES UP ARABIC VICTIM ON IRISH COAST

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, Sept. 25.—A body which has come ashore at Clonsilla has been identified as that of Mrs. Brugulere, one of the two Americans who lost their lives when the liner Arabic was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Troopers estimated that 2000 shots alone were fired by the covering party. They believe this force to have been composed of fifty or more Mexicans.

Raiders Driven Across Line. Troop B stopped when the Mexicans had fled across the border, but its members remained on guard all night at Progreso. They are patrolling the town this morning.

IN WAR ARENA

BALKANS AFLAME AS RESULT OF BULGARIA'S MOVE.

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 25.—All the Balkans are a-burn, following the lead of Bulgaria, which has its army mobilized and held at various strategic points. Yesterday both Greece and Rumania began taking active steps toward placing their armies upon a war footing, while the Grecian admiralty has ordered the fleet provisioned and supplied for active service.

Correspondents say Greece plans to establish a moratorium, which is considered a strong indication that she has decided to enter the war. All steamers, moreover, have been requisitioned. The Greek people are declared back of the government.

GERMAN RESOURCES ARE INEXHAUSTIBLE, SAYS OFFICIAL. BERLIN, Germany, Sept. 25.—Germany is financially able to continue the war indefinitely, according to Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the imperial treasury. Dr. Helfferich said this yesterday in an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press.

"It has been unnecessary for the nation to use force in obtaining subscriptions," Dr. Helfferich declared. "We appealed to the patriotism of the people and financiers only."

"Great Britain is spending daily $25,000,000 in prosecution of the war. Germany is spending only $15,000,000. Germany is able financially to continue the war indefinitely. The people are earning and saving more than they did in time of peace."

UNIDENTIFIED F-4 BODIES EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—The fourteen unidentified bodies of the crew of the submarine F-4 will reach here tomorrow and all arrangements for the joint funeral services over the remains are completed. The eight coffins, with the remains of the fourteen naval men, will be buried in the national cemetery at Arlington on Tuesday. Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt will attend the funeral, while there will be a naval guard of honor.

early in the month. Four thousand prisoners were taken by the Russians when Lutsck fell, according to despatches here. Russians Called to Colors. Coincident with the renewed activity of Russia in its prosecution of the war comes a report from Petrograd that all Russians in China who are eligible for army service have been called to the colors.

Indications are, however, that there is a general movement already under way for bringing back to Russia all subjects fit for army service. Petrograd despatches state that Harbin, a treaty port in Manchuria, which was one of the Japanese objectives in the Russo-Japanese war, and Vladivostok, have been denuded of Russians of military age.

SPAIN AND AMERICA ON FRIENDLY TERMS.

PARIS, France, Sept. 25.—Senor Melquiades Alvarez, leader of the reform wing of the Spanish cortes, who arrived here from Madrid yesterday, states that while the government of Spain is neutral in the war, the Spanish liberals are warmly in favor of the cause of the Allies.

Senor Alvarez states that the relations between Spain and the United States are now very cordial, the differences of the past having been wiped out. Both Spain and America, he said, are working for the reestablishing of harmony amongst the belligerent powers.

INTEREST RATE DISPUTE DELAYS BIG LOAN DEAL

Allies Commission and Investors Deadlocked; Loan May Fall Below Half Billion

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 25.—A hitch has developed in the negotiations of the British and French financiers and the bankers who are floating the big new loan for the Allies. The investors are insisting upon net profits of more than 5 per cent, and the commissioners refuse to provide interest to exceed 5 per cent. Neither side shows an indication of giving up.

It is reported now that the loan may fall below $500,000,000. It is certain not to be above that amount according to Wall Street gossip.

By the use of improved ovens which collected the byproducts, the coke industry of the United States saved $16,070,000 last year, which would have been wasted by old methods of manufacture.

BRITISH READY TO PASS GERMAN PRODUCTS TO U. S.

Ambassador Spring-Rice Announces Blockade Lifted on Millions in Merchandise

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, yesterday announced that the British embassy was ready to receive applications from American importers for permits for the passage through the British naval blockade lines of American-bound cargoes of German and Austrian goods belonging to Americans and held up by the blockade in neutral ports.

It is estimated that there are goods in transit to the United States held up in Rotterdam to the value of $167,000,000. It is learned that the lifting of the British blockade against these bona fide American purchases was brought about through the influence of private persons working in London. The actions of the state department have not yet produced results.

SYNOPSIS.

The New York police are mystified by a series of murders and other crimes. The principal clue to the criminal is the warning letter which is sent the victims, signed "The Clutching Hand." The latest victim is the mysterious assassin, is Taylor Dodge, the insurance president. The police try to unravel the mystery. What Kennedy accomplishes is told by his friend, Jameson, a newspaper man. After many fruitless attempts to put Elaine and Craig Kennedy out of the way the Clutching Hand is at last found to be none other than the Clutching Hand. Elaine's lawyer and the man she is engaged to marry, Bennett, flee to the den of one of his Chinese criminals. The Chinese forces from Bennett the secret of the whereabouts of Jameson. Then he gives the lawyer a position which will suspend animation for months. Kennedy reaches Bennett's side just after he has lost consciousness.

TWENTY-FIRST EPISODE

THE EAR IN THE WALL.

Elaine sat in the library reading one morning when her maid Marie entered, carrying a long pasteboard box, daintily tied with ribbon.

"Some flowers for you, Miss Elaine, I think," she said handing the box to her mistress.

Marie left the room, and Elaine, after contemplating for a moment in keen anticipation what she thought at first was a gift from Craig Kennedy, opened the box. There lay a splendid bunch of long-stemmed red and white roses.

Nestling in the green leaves was a little white note. She picked it up expectantly and tore it open.

Instantly, however, her face blanched. Instead of a billet doux, it was the most fearsome threat yet which the savage Chinese master criminal, Wu Pang, had sent in the vengeance of the vendetta which he had sworn on account of the loss of the Clutching Hand's millions.

Elaine had scarcely time to exclaim at the dire meaning when Kennedy himself entered.

"Good morning," he greeted cheerfully, cutting the greeting short as he caught the horrified expression on her pretty face. "Why, what's the matter?"

"Elaine was too terrified even yet to speak. All she could do was to hand him the note."

"The first victim shall be Craig Kennedy of your aunt. You may choose. Place the red roses in the window for your lover, the white for the silver-haired one."

At the end appeared the mysterious sign of the serpent, darting from his tongue a death more than figurative. "What shall I do?" she appealed.

Craig did not answer directly. He could not. Thoughtfully he walked to the window and gazed out. There was only a dirty, bent cripple standing by the corner selling papers to pedestrians.

Kennedy's forehead wrinkled in thought. He turned and walked back from the window. Mechanically he picked up his hat and cane, then laid them on the table.

"I must look into this at once," he said, lifting the flowers and putting them back into the box carefully, as if he expected trouble to come of the affair.

"You—you'll be very careful," Elaine pleaded Elaine, as they left the library and went into the hall. "I will be—for you," he repeated, with a reassuring smile. "Oh—I forgot my cane."

Quickly he returned to the library, leaving her standing in the hallway. There he had purposely left his stick on the table beside the flowers. He selected some from the bunch of red roses and hastily stuck them in a vase and placed the vase on the window sill. Then he picked up the cane and rejoined Elaine in the hall.

Outside the Dodge house the dirty, bent cripple looked about cautiously for the corner of his eye.

He paused as if he had caught sight of a mendicant officer bearing down on him. There on the window sill of the library was a vase of red roses. Hastily he shuffled off on his way.

As fast as his supposedly bent body could straighten itself safely out he hurried downstairs with one idea—to reach the secret apartment of Wu Pang, the serpent.

Wu, Long Sin and several other henchmen were gathered about a table which was a long oblong oak table, the cover, which was open, was stenciled on the inside two fat, snicker-covered wire. At each end of the box was placed an ordinary size battery, and in a compartment between, besides switches and knobs, were what looked like the heads of wireless operators.

"This," said Wu, holding up a little black disk about as large as a watch, "is the face of the little devil's little mechanical eavesdropper—the telephone—this ear in the wall. By its aid we shall learn all about our enemies, where to strike, when to—"

He stopped short as a servant entered. Almost automatically, at a mere sign from Wu, all the rest of the group disappeared behind screens.

"Bring him in," ordered Wu as the servant announced that a visitor was outside. Then, as the cripple entered, spryly enough now, he added: "Oh—it is you. Well—anything to report?"

"Red roses," was all that the ex-beggar in his awe at the fierce Chinaman could find words to blurt out.

"We nodded. 'It is well. I will call you again when I need you. You may go,' he instructed."

No sooner had he gone than the others reappeared from behind their screens and other hiding places as silently as they had gone.

"You will all follow me," directed Wu, gathering together the paraphernalia and shutting the box. "Here, Tom Ling, carry that box for me—carefully, too."

A moment later Wu left the secret apartment, followed by his henchmen, splitting up inconspicuously as they made their way upstairs.

I had come into the laboratory and, not finding Kennedy, had decided to wait there for him.

Perhaps half an hour later he came rushing in, his face clouded with thought and beads of perspiration standing out on his forehead.

"What's the trouble?" I asked anxiously.

"Trouble enough," he replied, flinging off his hat and coat and throwing on his smock, as he related disjointedly between whistles what had happened. "And now I'm going to prepare for the attack, whatever it may be," he went on, going over briskly to the laboratory table. "Where's that nitrate—oh, here it is."

For the next few minutes he was busily mixing several chemicals while I watched him curiously in silent admiration.

When he had finished he poured one liquid from a tube into an atomizer, then another of the liquids which he had made into a flask.

"Walter," he asked, getting ready to go out and indicating to me to do the same, "I wish you'd bring along that rug over there by my sink."

I placed the rug before our door and he emptied almost half of the contents of the flask on it. Then he entered the laboratory again, taking care not to step on the rug, but over it.

Meanwhile Wu Pang and his henchmen had proceeded to the basement of our apartment house.

First Wu entered the dark cellar cautiously and beckoned to Long Sin and the other Chinamen to follow. One of his followers carried the Big Six detectaphone, which he placed on an old rickety table which the janitor, Jameson, sometimes used.

We opened the oak case and began to look about for a place to install the little listening ear by wires that would run up from this cellar hiding place to our apartment above.

"Ugh! Look!" cried one of the Chinamen, pointing toward a corner of the cellar wall.

Wu turned. There was a rat which had run out of a hole, had seen them and scampered quickly across the floor and away safely.

If interested Wu and he walked over to the rathole and examined it.

"Wait here," he ordered quickly, leaving his men on guard in the cellar.

It was not very many minutes later that Wu returned to the cellar with a large cardboard box under his arm.

"No one has gone in, master," reported one of the Chinamen.

Wu nodded and turned to another who had been engaged in enlarging the rathole in the wall.

"Does it run upstairs?" he asked.

"Yes, master," returned the other.

"Then wait here," ordered Wu, taking up the detectaphone transmitter, the spool of wire and the box.

He left the cellar stealthily and a few minutes later reached the upper hall, which at the time happened to be deserted. Somehow he had obtained a skeleton key which fitted our lock, and with its aid he entered our apartment.

Quickly he looked about the room, then he turned to the corner where the corner of the room was as that nearest to the door.

He placed the transmitter of the detectaphone in the corner, and then he drew the wire from the spool and ran it up the wall, and then he reached into the pocket and drew out a rat.

Next he placed the spool of wire into the pasteboard box, and then he drew the wire from the spool and ran it up the wall, and then he reached into the pocket and drew out a rat.

Then he reached into the pocket and drew out a rat. As he held them, one in each hand, he let the ferret get a good look and smell of the rat as it squeaked in fright.

Finally he pushed the rat into the hole in the plaster which he had made, and an instant later, loosed the ferret after it, as if on a leash of wire. There Wu stood paying out the wire as the ferret scampered after the scared rat.

Wu faithfully paid out the wire, hoping for the result he had calculated carefully.

At last the tugging at the spool of wire ceased. Three sharp jerks told him he had succeeded. Then Wu set the transmitter in the hole in the wall close up to the baseboard, which he had replaced.

Perhaps half an hour after our return into the laboratory after Kennedy had soaked the mat, he decided after much deliberation to attempt to carry the war into the enemy's country. We left the laboratory, he to seek some clue, I to go down to the Star, where I had a little work to do.

Kennedy had scarcely bidden me good-by and turned out of the campus on the avenue, when he happened to see a face in the crowd which interested him.

It was that of the woman who had posed as Elaine—Innocent Inez. He paused a moment as she went by and gazed after her. She had not seen him. This was too good an opportunity to miss. He turned and followed her to the Mandarin, a chop suey joint.

"Is the master in?" she whispered to the proprietor.

"No," he replied, "but Long Sin is in the other place."

A short time afterward, as they still talked, Kennedy after pausing outside the chop suey joint, decided to enter. While Inez and Sam were engaged in earnest conversation he sat down at a table near by with his back to them.

As nearly as he could make out, there was a room somewhere, which was at least one headquarters of Long Sin, if not Wu himself. But it was too risky to remain.

Around on Park row again, he stopped in a drug store where there was a telephone booth and called up the agency whose operatives he had frequently employed on routine matters like shadowing.

"Can you send Chase down here immediately?" he asked, giving the address of the Dodge house that Elaine returned to the library, still thinking about the note which she had received with the flowers. As she entered she hardly noticed that both Marie and Jennings were there.

She had scarcely awakened from her day dream in which she was walking, as it were, when her quick eye caught sight of the vase of red roses on the window sill.

"Who put those flowers there?" she demanded of the astounded butler and maid, as she dashed them to the floor.

Neither of them, naturally, knew a thing about it. Nor did Aunt Josephine, who happened to pass through the room at the moment.

"Oh, I must see him—I must," cried Elaine excitedly, as she hurried out for her wraps. "Who knows what may have happened?"

We returned to our apartment, chagrined, after our flat failure to capture either Long Sin or even get evidence against Wu.

As we entered the apartment, Craig dropped into a chair, scowling to himself. I watched him in gloomy sympathy. Suddenly his face brightened.

"What do you think they—"

He cut me short with his finger on his lips, pantomimic silence. Instead of answering me he wrote on a slip of paper and handed it to me:

"There must be a detectaphone in this room. Talk about the weather—anything—while I locate it."

Finally Craig went over to his desk and took out a small piece of apparatus.

He placed a peculiar telephonelike contrivance attached to one end of it up to his ear, he adjusted the magnet and carried the thing carefully about the room.

"I've found the hangout," he cried excitedly. "It's over that restaurant. You go in by the side entrance and upstairs. I got far as the door of the den, saw Long Sin and that getting ready for an opium jag."

"Fine work, Chase," complimented Craig, seizing the receiver. "Hello—police headquarters? Connect me with the Elizabeth street station, please."

He waited impatiently. "Sergeant," he shouted, "this is Kennedy, Craig Kennedy. You remember I dropped you a few minutes ago and told you I was on the trail of something. Well, I've got it. The place is over the Mandarin. Have it raided at once and we'll get them. Not the Mandarin—the side entrance, one flight up."

He hung up the receiver. "Come, Walter," he cried. "You and Chase can help me now."

While we hurried downtown the police were being detailed for the raid and the patrol wagon was still waiting for the squad.

We drove up in a taxicab just as the wagon swung around the corner. Almost as soon as we, the police were at the side door. Two of them rushed the Mandarin and arrested the taciturn proprietor. The rest battered down the door of the room.

It was bare.

As we looked about in astounded chagrin, I saw a sign on the wall. "Look—what's that?" I exclaimed.

It read mockingly, "FOR RENT." But underneath was that mystic coiled reptile, ready to spring, with fangs extended—the sign of the serpent.

Wu Pang had already plugged in the six receivers of the detectaphone and, though we did not know it, was eagerly listening with the others down in the cellar as Kennedy gave his orders for the raid.

"Tom," muttered Wu, "you must get down there at once."

Inez and Long Sin had scarcely had time to enjoy half a dozen luxurious whiffs before the secret rapping sounded at the door. Long Sin opened it and Tom, usually imperturbable, almost rushed in.

"The master—has learned—the police—raid—here," he announced, breathlessly.

It was some time after Kennedy left the Dodge house that Elaine returned to the library, still thinking about the note which she had received with the flowers. As she entered she hardly noticed that both Marie and Jennings were there.

She had scarcely awakened from her day dream in which she was walking, as it were, when her quick eye caught sight of the vase of red roses on the window sill.

He hung up the receiver. "Come, Walter," he cried. "You and Chase can help me now."

While we hurried downtown the police were being detailed for the raid and the patrol wagon was still waiting for the squad.

We drove up in a taxicab just as the wagon swung around the corner. Almost as soon as we, the police were at the side door. Two of them rushed the Mandarin and arrested the taciturn proprietor. The rest battered down the door of the room.

It was bare.

As we looked about in astounded chagrin, I saw a sign on the wall. "Look—what's that?" I exclaimed.

It read mockingly, "FOR RENT." But underneath was that mystic coiled reptile, ready to spring, with fangs extended—the sign of the serpent.

Wu Pang had already plugged in the six receivers of the detectaphone and, though we did not know it, was eagerly listening with the others down in the cellar as Kennedy gave his orders for the raid.

"Tom," muttered Wu, "you must get down there at once."

Inez and Long Sin had scarcely had time to enjoy half a dozen luxurious whiffs before the secret rapping sounded at the door. Long Sin opened it and Tom, usually imperturbable, almost rushed in.

"The master—has learned—the police—raid—here," he announced, breathlessly.

Wu Pang had outwitted us and saved both Long Sin and Inez by the marvelous little eavesdropper.

It was some time after Kennedy left the Dodge house that Elaine returned to the library, still thinking about the note which she had received with the flowers. As she entered she hardly noticed that both Marie and Jennings were there.

She had scarcely awakened from her day dream in which she was walking, as it were, when her quick eye caught sight of the vase of red roses on the window sill.

"Who put those flowers there?" she demanded of the astounded butler and maid, as she dashed them to the floor.

Neither of them, naturally, knew a thing about it. Nor did Aunt Josephine, who happened to pass through the room at the moment.

A mark with a pencil on the baseboard. It was at that moment that Elaine's car stopped outside the apartment.

"Oh," she cried with an eager sigh of relief at seeing Kennedy all right, as she almost ran toward him. "I'm so glad you—"

She stopped short as Craig motioned to her to be silent. She did not understand, and for the moment stopped nonplused, as he picked up a pencil and began to write on a pad instead of meeting her advance.

An instant later her mobile face looked up at him in wonder as she read:

"Every word we say is being overheard through a detectaphone in the wall. Don't be surprised at anything I say."

Then he walked deliberately over to the wall near which the instrument was concealed and leaned down to insure his words being heard distinctly by those listening.

"I am going over to the laboratory for an hour," he said in a loud, distinct tone. "Jameson, will you escort Miss Dodge home?"

"Why, certainly," I replied with alacrity.

A moment later we all left the room, chatting in forced tones about a hundred inconsequential things. Craig banged the door.

But before we left he reached into his pocket and took out the flask and atomizer which I had seen him place there. He poured the contents of the flask on the rug.

I accompanied Elaine to her car and we drove away while Kennedy left the apartment on foot.

Downstairs, Wu Pang had been listening at the other end of the detectaphone.

Their attention was soon at fever heat when Elaine entered our rooms. Wu, Long Sin and the others listened breathlessly.

The Chinamen waited until they heard us go out. Wu then handed Long Sin a vial and a key. "You understand?"

"Yes, master," nodded Long Sin with an evil leer.

He hastily climbed the stairs from the cellar to our apartment. For a few seconds he stood on the rug as he inserted the skeleton key in the lock. Then, swinging the door open cautiously, he entered. He looked about a minute. The apartment was empty.

Slowly Long Sin walked over to the table and began examining the articles on it. Finally he picked up Kennedy's pipe, and again his inscrutable face lighted with diabolical joy.

He took the vial quickly from his pocket, and, with a small, soft brush painted the mouthpiece of the pipe with the liquid from the vial.

He laid the pipe down as he found it and beat a hasty retreat.

We had scarcely time to drive to Elaine's house when a message reached us from Kennedy directing us to return and meet him several squares below our apartment.

We did so immediately. There was Kennedy with Chase and three or four policemen.

"In ten minutes I want you to raid the apartment," he said, looking at his watch. "I am going in there now."

He entered the building and, as he opened his own door, drew a gun, kicking the door open and retreating a step. No one was there and he went in.

Craig looked about a moment. On the surface, nothing had been disturbed. He went through the bedrooms. Nothing was disturbed there.

Slowly he went back again to the doorway, all the time careful not to step on the rug. Starting near it, he began spraying the floor with the atomizer.

It was one of his own inventions, which he called a "photo-mat."

As the spray fell on the carpet and hardwood it developed Long Sin's footprints exactly.

Carefully Kennedy followed them as the chemicals brought them out. Long Sin had not walked around the room much, evidently, as Craig advanced slowly along the floor, still spraying. As each step came out it was apparent that Long Sin had done little else but go to the table—and then leave.

Craig looked at the table a moment. There seemed to be nothing on it that would attract a man of Long Sin's talents. Mechanically, Craig picked up his pipe lying there and looked at it contemptuously. There was a peachstone smelt.

"Cyanide," he muttered to himself under his breath, laying the pipe down gingerly.

For a moment he thought, then a sudden impulse seemed to seize him. His mind was made up. He moved closer to the marked baseboard. Suddenly he uttered a sharp cry.

"Hello—central! Help! Help! I'm poisoned!"

At the same time he struck the wall a blow as though he were falling.

Down in the cellar the six Chinamen looked at each other in unfeigned delight as they heard the call for help. Quickly Wu pulled the detectaphone receiver off his head.

"Here—take this," he ordered Long Sin, handing him a paper which he drew from under his blouse.

Long Sin took it and looked at it with a smile of satisfaction. He understood. On the paper was drawn Wu's sign of the serpent, with fangs striking viciously and victoriously.

Beckoning to another of the Chinamen, Long Sin went out and upstairs.

Meanwhile Craig, who had been listening at the door expecting some such incursion, heard Long Sin approaching. He seated himself in a chair, sprawling out rigidly, eyes closed.

Without waiting, Long Sin and his servant entered stealthily. The Chinaman stood in the doorway and Long Sin slowly crept over to Kennedy's chair.

As he reached down to pin the sign of the serpent on Kennedy's apparently lifeless body, Craig seemed suddenly to come to life. He seized Long Sin and they struggled fiercely, while Craig, freeing one hand, whipped out his automatic and fired sideways at the Chinaman in the doorway.

The Chinaman fell, lay there a moment, then raised himself up and with fast ebbing strength managed to crawl out of the doorway and down the hall.

It was a death grapple between Craig and the wily Long Sin. At last they had each other face to face. But it was unequal. Short and sharp came the moves.

Craig had in his pocket a newly invented pair of handcuffs which snapped automatically over first one and then the other of Long Sin's bony wrists. Then he pressed the bracelets tighter until even Long Sin winced.

As Craig stood panting over his prisoner, the wounded Chinaman staggered downstairs until he almost fell into the cellar.

"Master," he gasped. "He is alive!" The mere hint of Kennedy's name

"What Shall I Do?" Elaine appealed, as though some word of black magic had been spoken to them. The three other Chinamen fell back as if in fear of an uncanny power.

Wu, white with anger, raised his hand, and they cowered still.

"Is anyone else there with him?" demanded Wu.

The wounded Chinaman had only strength to shake his head in the negative.

"Then there is time yet," ground out Wu furiously. "Follow me."
