OVER MILLION VOTES FOR WINNER MISS PANGELINAN BREAKS RECORD

MOST POPULAR GIRL MAKES HIGHEST SCORE

Mrs. Beggs Takes Lead In Final Contest Hour

Miss McCabe Gets Second District 1 Trip

The names above, the affidavit of the judges and the vote totals tell the result of the final contest made in the Bulletin's Yosemite-California Contest, which ended at 8 o'clock last Saturday evening, but the story of the excitement during the twelve closing hours, the count by the judges, and the congratulations of the winners by the

of her vote campaign, first, to her own constant efforts. Starting early in the contest, she began by securing enough votes to make her friends confident that she would continue until the contest close, and they then began to support her. Through her own efforts Miss Pangelinan received near to five hundred thousand votes. The second step that was made for her success was in the loyal support that A. Junglaus, proprietor of the Palm, gave her. Realizing the educational as well as the pleasure advantages of the trip offered, he began a campaign for subscriptions that brought her thousands of votes.

Added to this, several hundred thousand votes from Mrs. Beggs and her friends helped to bring the sum up to the unexpected and unprecedented total of a million and three hundred thousand votes.

About the Winners.
Mrs. Beggs' huge vote shows that she has the happy faculty of making many friends and through their efforts and her own, she will secure a pleasant summer vacation and the Bulletin party will secure a chaperone who is qualified in every respect. Miss McCabe entered the contest because her physician had advised her to spend a vacation on the mainland. The contest showed her a method of present time the winners have been receiving congratulations from their friends. The unsuccessful contestants were among the first to congratulate some of the winners, showing that the contestants have the best of feeling for all their former competitors.

Campaign of Unsuccessful.
To those candidates who continued trying to the very last and were unsuccessful, much credit is due for their unwavering determination. Many of those ladies felt that as their friends nominated them in the contest it was their duty to remain.

Miss Mary Johnson, a District 1 contestant, who made such good progress at the first part of the contest, owes her gradual falling behind not to lack of friendship but to the fact that she was handicapped by illness and by the withdrawal of the chaperone contestant, Mrs. Zeave, with whom she began the contest work. Mrs. Zeave was unfortunately called back to the mainland at a critical contest period and this necessitated her withdrawal from the race. This of course lessened Miss Johnson's chance of success, but she continued through to the end of the contest.

Miss Rebecca Macy is another unsuccessful candidate who deserves much credit and should be honored at the support friends have given her. She is really a Hawaii girl and should have been nominated from District 2 as she is only at Waiwale during the school term. But her friends thought otherwise and after once starting in a district the rules of the contest prevented any change.

Giving the News to the Public.
Arrangements had been made to notify the different moving picture houses of the result of the count as soon as finished and this was done. The result was announced at the Park by Manager Ed Congdon and at the Empire by Mr. Rose, the singer, as he "had the stage" when the news came in. No announcement was made at the Opera House owing to the lateness of the hour when the count was completed.

Judges Banqueted.
Following the count, the judges were taken to the Union Grill by C. D. Wright of the Bulletin and the contest manager and were served with a splendid dinner such as George Lycurgus alone can create. At a late hour the judges were conveyed to their homes in an automobile.

Contestants Were Busy.
Throughout the closing day the extreme excitement of those most interested, that of their friends, and even of strangers in Honolulu, was never equaled in any past contest. While Honolulu contestants and their workers hurried about gathering subscriptions and votes, contestants from the other islands sent wiregrams to contestants here and to the contest department, asking if votes and orders had been received, and, no doubt, wished they could be present to aid in the campaign of votes to the end.

Double Vote Issue New in Contests.
The double vote issue on each subscription payment—that is, votes for both a trip and a chaperone as planned—was tried for the first time here during this contest. As the contest developed, it became necessary for the two candidates who were working together to depend on the other candidate to have the votes issued for her and deposited as prearranged.

Contestants Were Consistent.
He who wrote of the "inconsistencies of womankind" knew them not in contests, for the contestants were consistent in carrying out their promises of support to each other. After the contest got well started there was not a case where any candidate had votes issued for another candidate than the one with whom she had arranged to work, excepting when the individual who had ordered the paper requested that the losses, can not be told so briefly. Besides, the more-than-a-million vote of popular Miss Pangelinan and the climax during the final hour of the contest, when friends of Mrs. C. J. Beggs appeared at the Bulletin office and turned in subscriptions enough to give her victory, can not be told alone in figures.

How Miss Pangelinan Received the Good News.

When the count was finished and Miss Pangelinan was told what her total was, she delightedly clasped her arms about a friend and her eyes filled with tears of happiness as she exclaimed, "Oh, I am so happy to think that I have so many friends." Then she turned to assure another contestant who was awaiting the result of the count for second place—"Oh! Maybe you'll get the trip, too." And thus, amid the round of congratulations that were being given her, she stopped to sympathetically encourage another who has been a competitor but a few moments before. Miss Pangelinan owes the success

WHO THEY ARE

Miss Angie Pangelinan, the winner of the first trip in District No. 1, with the largest vote ever polled in a similar contest in the Islands, is a charming young lady who has lived all her life in the Islands and that she has made many friends during that time is testified to by the huge vote she received. She has been employed at the Palm Cafe for several years and due to her pleasant manners has made every customer acquaintance, a friend.

Mrs. C. J. Beggs, the winner of the chaperone trip, with the second largest vote cast, holds a responsible position in the Puunone Hospital on Maui. She has traveled much and as she has spent several summers in Yosemite she will be able to make the trip a doubly enjoyable and interesting one for the party through her knowledge of the great national park.

Miss Mary McCabe, winner of the second trip in District 1, conducted her own vote-getting campaign until after the contest was half over. She was so successful in securing a large vote for the tri-weekly and daily counts that her friends began to realize that she had kept among the leaders in a manner that suggested ultimate success for her. They then rallied strongly to her support and continued to the end and victory.

Miss Emma Akamu, the winner of the trip given to District 2, is a school teacher on the big island and has lived most of her life in Hilo. Although nominated at the beginning of the contest, Miss Akamu did not begin asking her friends for votes until the contest was a month old. She was persuaded then that her friends would be glad to aid her secure the trip and she started after the votes with a vim that surprised even her most ardent friends.

Miss Sarah Cockett, winner in District 3, is indeed a fortunate girl and no one perhaps is more surprised at her success than she herself. She entered the contest without much thought of victory. When friends tried to persuade her that she could not get the trip on account of there being so

 An Indomitable Contest Worker, is to be awarded an extra trip.

"other" votes be issued for someone else.

The men campaign managers of some of the contestants may have made arrangements whereby they could make an exchange of votes, but such was positively not the case among the contestants. They constantly and consistently carried out every promise to the other candidate they had made; even in the last hours of the contest, when to do so meant defeat.

How They Worked.

Now that the contest is over it is fair to all to tell for whom the different trip contestants had their chaperone votes issued.

The leading candidates worked together as follows: Miss Pangelinan and Mrs. Beggs; Miss McCabe and Mrs. Moore; Miss Sasaki and Mrs. Siemson. Miss Cockett gave what votes she had subscription orders for to Mrs. Blake. Mrs. Siemson received support also from five or six other active trip contestants. In this order the women worked together to the end and hotly refused every tentative offer made them to switch their support. And these tentative offers were not made by the women contestants, either, but by some ardent men advocates, who all, no doubt, believe that in politics the main thing is to win.

"Like Politics."

"It is like politics," was the constant remark of a busy man worker on Saturday, as he stopped for a moment from the search for votes. And, like politics, at near the end of the election, constant rumors of alarm were sounded in opposing camps by some man who doubted that Miss So-and-So was going to have her votes issued for Mrs. So-and-So, as promised. But these hurried, anxious, busy men spoke without knowing. The women, though, trusted each other, and with good reason, as the contest result shows.

Trying to Explain Today.

The aftermath of it all is that the rumor-spreaders are explaining to their wives or their women relatives or friends: "I didn't hardly think it was so, but I heard it."

Men Say, "Women Are Fairer."

Gathered together Sunday, a half dozen of these men, who were trying to battle the other and secure victory, laughed among themselves at their own alarms of the day past, and one of them summed it all up with the remark: "Well, women are fairer and squarer with each other than men are." "Whether it is politics or not?" asked another. And they all said, "Yes."

Contest Department Was Busy.

The impact of demands for subscriptions and ballots struck the contest department before 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and this notwithstanding that over fifty subscriptions had been received when the office was kept open until 9 o'clock the night before. A vote-issuer accused one of the workers of gathering votes by moonlight, and such, so to speak, must have been the case, for this particular worker was the last to bring in orders Friday evening and the first to appear Saturday morning with a list of names.

With the arrival of the Mauna Kea mail, the contest department was half submerged. Letter after letter was received by this mail, and it seemed that every one on Maui and Hawaii had waited to send in their subscriptions for the final day. Many of these letters were, in fact, packages containing votes and orders, and came in by special delivery and registered, as the outside island contestants wisely did not wish to chance a misdelivery.

By noon the contest department was fully submerged, for the local candidates had all got out early and they began coming in with long lists of subscriptions that they had held for the final day. At this time a request was made to the editorial department for an assistant, and another helper was allowed the three vote-writers.

The rush in the contest department slackened down at shortly past 6 o'clock until only two vote-issuers were needed. For this the vote-writers were thankful, as it allowed time for dinner, a privilege that had not seemed possible to secure an hour before.

The Closing Hour.

At a little past 7 o'clock the order rush was renewed, for less than an hour remained in which to secure ballots. Subscriptions on which votes had not been issued were brought in, then more orders, and final instructions were given as to the issuing of ballots on payments on which only part of the votes had been taken out. The crowd of vote-getters were augmented then by a number of candidates or their friends bringing in their vote reserve and depositing them in the ballot box.

In addition, a number of people began to arrive who wanted to see the final count, and with their arrival came the judges to see that the rules as to the closing hour were adhered to. By a quarter to eight the office room of the Bulletin was jammed, and the crowd extended out into the street.

Big Subscription Order.

It was at 7:45 o'clock that the contest climax came. Two contest workers came at that time with a list carrying 111 yearly subscribers to the Evening Bulletin. Those familiar with the vote issue quickly figured up the number of votes that could be secured for such a large number, and the total showed that it amounted to four hundred and forty-eight thousand votes.

In this list there were thirty-four clubs of new subscriptions and three clubs of old subscriptions. A club consisted of three subscriptions, and the vote issue for a new club was twelve thousand and five hundred, and for an old one eleven thousand. This included the standing vote issue with the club offer that was in effect until the close of the contest.

The suspense among the contest-few people living in Lahaina to aid her, she said, "Well I am going to try." Success came to her for trying.

Two more trips will probably be awarded contestants who practically tied two of the successful candidates. These trips will go to Miss Sasaki, who finished in third place with only a few votes separating her from the competitor in second place. Miss Sasaki, with indomitable energy, continued her campaign to the very last, when it seemed that her chance of success was impossible.

Mrs. W. C. Moore, due to the hard and faithful subscription work of her husband and herself, seemed a certain leader until the very last hour. There was a very small difference between her total and Mrs. Beggs at the final count. She entered the contest late but the tremendous vote she received gives evidence of the number of people who would like to see her a member of the party. Their wishes will undoubtedly be respected if arrangements are made for the larger number as now anticipated.

This double contest for the selection of a chaperone and four members to constitute a travel party to spend six weeks on a visit to Yosemite Park and California, began on March 7th. It was one of the most successful ever conducted by any Hawaii newspaper and brought the Bulletin over six hundred new daily subscriptions in the three months. The greater portion of this circulation gain was made right here in Honolulu. The election of a chaperone has centered the interest of the outside island readers in that part of the contest and accounts for the small number of trip contestant votes in District 3. In order to elect a resident of Maui as the chaperone, the Maui readers gave their support to the district contestants on Oahu. The same was true on Kauai and many of the Honolulu candidates owe much of their success to supporters who live on the Garden Island.

What we need is not a plainer, easier path to heaven, but a deeper determination to climb courageously any road that leads us nearer to God.—Anonymous.

Though each year witnesses new gaps in the ranks of the Civil War veterans, who assemble about the graves of their former comrades, the passing of time also brings with it an increasing number of citizens, who are bearing the burden and heat of the present day, to join with them in honoring the country's brave. Memorial Day is in many particulars fraught with a deeper patriotic meaning than any other anniversary our people celebrate. A beautiful sentiment is exemplified in the march to the graves of the nation's dead with tokens of remembrance, and the bonds of human brotherhood are more real when a nation devotes itself to making bright the last resting place of the fallen heroes, as well as gaining inspiration by recounting.

REPRESENTATIVE YOUNG WOMEN OF HAWAII.

Widespread interest in the Bulletin Yosemite trip contest for women of Hawaii demonstrates not only the popularity of the people who have been active in their canvass for subscriptions, but also the strength of the Bulletin among all classes of readers and the hearty approval of its enterprise in furnishing an opportunity for a pleasant summer outing.

These trips, that have been a regular feature of the Bulletin subscription department, have enabled young women of Hawaii to make tours through different parts of the mainland, which they could not enjoy otherwise. With the great majority, the Bulletin trip represents their first visit to the mainland, their first acquaintance with the country of which Hawaii is now a part. It is an education for them, as well as a very pleasant journey under favorable auspices.

In this connection we can not do better than quote from the letter of Mrs. De La Nux, who, with her daughter, was among those enabled through the Bulletin to make the trip to the Alaska-Yukon expedition. Mrs. De La Nux withdrew her daughter's name this year and expressed herself as follows: "Let some other worthy girl have a chance. If the good people of Honolulu could realize the keen pleasure their kindness gave Miss Sophia De La Nux last year they would not hesitate to vote for some girl who has never been to the mainland. I am sure she would appreciate their kindness very much."

Our islands also benefit by the travels of the representative women among people who hold the most vague and sometimes very foolish ideas of what manner of people we are in this Territory. All along the line that the Bulletin contestants have traveled, the interest in Hawaii has increased and new friends made for our island people. The young ladies who participated in the Yosemite contest are representative women of whom the Territory has reason to be proud. Their

ABRAHAM LINCOLN AT GETTYSBURG

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

friends are legion and know they will give a good account of themselves and add new laurels to the name of Hawaii wherever they may go.

PROHIBITION LOGIC.

The efficiency of the present law governing the liquor traffic in Hawaii is something that the advocates of prohibition can not avoid admitting, even in the course of their attacks upon it. It is another "insurmountable obstacle" like that the straw vote advocates encountered.

With characteristic logic and a poorly-concealed effort to mislead the voter as to the true issue at stake at the July plebiscite, the Advertiser states:

"Has or has not the Island of Kauai been better off since she abolished the retail liquor traffic? Ask her citizens and vote accordingly."

This is simply an admission that Kauai has done under the existing law what any other county in the Territory of Hawaii has the power to do at once—enforce local prohibition at the will of the people.

The regulation of the retail saloon that now obtains on the island of Kauai is entirely in the hands of the people who handle local conditions to suit themselves and know from practical experience that a prohibition law of the type brought to Hawaii by Agent Woolley is against the best interests of the Territory.

If Kauai, in the exercise of its sovereign powers, has "abolished the retail liquor traffic," why do the prohibitionists ask for a change in a law of such excellent construction that, as a result of its practical operation, they refer the doubtful voter to a resident of the county of Kauai to settle all doubts as to the benefits of prohibition?

The prohibitionists have admitted that the prevailing statute is one responsive to the will of the people as expressed through a commission appointed by the Governor. They point to Kauai as the example and proof.

By what process of logic do they expect to reason the voter into a belief that the liquor statute should be changed for Woolley legislation, shaped in the interests of "a few of us" by Thurston?

REV. SCUDDER, REV. SNYDER AND PROHIBITION.

Rev. Doremus Scudder has stated from the Central Union church pulpit that he has been converted to Prohibition by what he has learned of Maine and of Kansas. When an evangelical pastor of many years' service announces that he has been "converted," it naturally attracts attention, and by some his conclusions are taken as final.

But there are others, whose judgment or integrity we should hardly expect Mr. Scudder to attack, whose observation and experience in one or both of these particular States have "converted" them to the cause of Regulation as against attempted Prohibition.

One of the church leaders whose conclusions on Prohibition have attracted country-wide respect is the Rev. Mr. Snyder—the Rev. Leonard W. Snyder of Cincinnati. Mr. Snyder in his work among the boys has been second only to Judge Ben Lindsey as a national figure.

References to Rev. Mr. Snyder have been made in these columns on former occasions. His latest public declaration, made in St. Paul, Minn., after a trip through the Southern States where Prohibition has been tried, is particularly timely today, since it proves that Prohibition is very effective in converting a great number of good men to the cause of liquor traffic regulation by license.

Rev. Mr. Snyder published his views in the St. Paul Daily People's Paper and he speaks for himself as follows:

"After visiting the States of Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Oklahoma, I am convinced that PROHIBITION HAS PROVEN A TOTAL FARCE AND A COMPLETE FAILURE, AND THAT IT HAS RESULTED IN MORE EVIL THAN IT EVER ATTEMPTED TO TRY TO REMEDY BY LAW.

"In Macon, Augusta and Savannah, Ga., all kinds of intoxicants can be bought. Beer is sold in Atlanta, and whiskey, while not openly on sale, can be had without the slightest difficulty.

"In Mississippi, Oklahoma and Alabama obscure saloons sell more whiskey than was ever sold before prohibition went into effect. Conditions differ vastly in the South from those in the North. Men and boys are comrades and the young imitate their elders. For that reason drunkenness is on the increase among children.

"The negro has not been benefited by prohibition. He can indulge in drunkenness more than ever, because he buys his whiskey by the bottle instead of the glass in an open saloon, as he formerly did.

"Business men in all lines complain of a steady decline, although it was supposed that prohibition would bring about an increase in trade.

"There is no open door in Oklahoma, but whiskey is brought into the State by the carload.

"Before prohibition went into effect Oklahoma City had 82 licensed saloons.

"Now there are more than 400 saloons where intoxicants are sold.

"In Nashville, Memphis, Knoxville and Chattanooga no attempt is made to close wide-open saloons. Whiskey can be bought day and night.

"If all those selling whiskey in Tennessee unlawfully were arrested, the entire population would have to engage in the building of jails and penitentiaries.

"Dealers in whiskey are apprehensive of the day when prohibition will be a thing of the past in the South.

"They sell more whiskey in prohibition States than ever before and the secrecy with which the transaction between dealer and consumer is surrounded, gives the former the chance to adulterate his product without fear of detection.

"The clergy and antiprohibition societies are dropping away from the cause of prohibition; the South is tired of prohibition, and sees in it nothing but danger for its future, its independence and its children. It shows that the people refuse to submit to summary legislation that is opposed by the majority of the people.

"THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE WILL NEVER MAKE PEOPLE STOP DRINKING, NOR WILL THE LEGISLATURE AND ALL THE POWERS ON EARTH.

"Prohibition will not spread further in the South. Florida is divided on the question, and is making ing a hard fight for the existence of its saloons, aware of the example of its neighbor States and anxious to avoid their experiences. New Orleans pays three-fourths of the revenue of Louisiana, and will fight prohibition to the finish.

"The question of drink rests with the individual.

"The sale of intoxicants must be regulated, and that can only be done when controlled by the best men. It would be a great misfortune for Minnesota if the movement, now spreading, should result in a State prohibition law. It would mean a decline in business, deceitful and hypocritical citizens without any decrease in drunkenness."

OPINIONS DIFFER ON LIQUOR BUSINESS

Editor Evening Bulletin:—The Advertiser this morning editorially declares, "The principal question now before the people of Hawaii is 'Shall we prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in Hawaii?' This is a question on which THERE IS MUCH TO BE SAID ON BOTH SIDES and on which GOOD CITIZENS CAN HONESTLY DIFFER."

tiser all of a sudden? Here, up to today, that paper was shouting damnation to everybody but teetotalers, and yet this morning it really admits that the liquor business is a matter over which GOOD CITIZENS CAN HONESTLY DIFFER.

I am a citizen. Whether I am a good citizen is for others to judge, but I've never been "caught" in the wrong, in any event; I don't know whether Thurston can say that or not. Therefore, by all precedents and the rules of society, I AM a good citizen, and most earnestly choose to differ with the prohibitionists.

Prohibition, in my opinion, means deceit, unmanliness, a slap at character, and a slam at decency; a boost to hypocrisy, and extra work for the police, the hospitals and the jails.

I see Thurston led the prohibitionists at the Y. M. C. A. They had an energetic leader, but wherein lies his policy in butting into a proposition of this kind? Is it not an abstract idea or sort of a fad on his part, rather than a sincerely inspired motive? Hasn't he some political idea back of it all? Is it not the old game of trying to disfranchise the Hawaiians?

TELEPHONE VANDALS SCORED BY WOLTERS

Editor Evening Bulletin:—I beg to bring to your notice a case of vandalism enacted by the employees of the Mutual Telephone Co. on last Thursday. Without any permit or having notified me they entered upon my premises between Fort and Union streets, during my absence, strung wires across the place and acted as if the property belonged to them. Not being satisfied with that they willfully mutilated in the back yard one of the finest and oldest red poinciana trees in Honolulu, cutting large branches off it. The branches cut were of particular service to the offices and hotels belonging to me, shading and cooling them.

After my arrival on the premises I inquired from the workmen by what authority they acted and instead of receiving a decent answer I met with a lot of abuses and insults, which made me order them from the place. They then even refused to do, saying they were not working for me and I had no business to tell them what to do. Even after the arrival of the superintendent, who personally showed up after some time, not a word of apology or excuse was offered.

Has a private property owner at the present time no more rights on his own place?

Can large corporations do as they please? It seems to me so.

Yours respectfully,
W. WOLTERS.

MEMORIAL DAY IS OBSERVED.

Gloves acting as direct escort to the veterans who rode in a six horse barge, the post officers in a survey behind.

Following the veterans of George W. De Long Post came representatives of the local camp of Spanish War Veterans in a motor truck, then Governor Frier and staff in an automobile and bringing up the procession Rear Admiral Rees, as representative of the navy in the functions of the day.

All along the line of march crowds of people lined the streets, the perpetual showers not dampening their ardor in the least, and stood interested spectators of the annual march of the great mourning day of a nation.

The white of the band, the khaki of the Guard, the gray of the cadets and the black of the veterans of two wars made a striking moving picture as the procession marched from street to street on its way to the cemetery on the hill.

Upon arrival outside the gates the escort lined up on each side of the street and while standing at attention, the veterans and those following passed through the ranks which did them honor and into the cemetery.

Upon a raised space the Governor and staff, Admiral Rees, army representatives and the speakers of the day had places, the Grand Army, Spanish War Veterans and band forming the other sides of a hollow square in which the staff with colors at half mast formed the center.

All during the services at the graves the rain continued and those who had parts stood under aproned umbrellas while the crowd gathered on the outskirts under trees or any shelter available.

The whole cemetery was a mass of flowers brought by loving relatives and friends to decorate the graves of dear ones, there being few graves in the whole enclosure which did not bear some mute tribute that those who slept beneath the sod had not been remembered on this day of days consecrated to the dead.

After the rendering of a dirge by the band Post Commander John W. Francis read the ritualistic services of the day and prayer was offered by the post chaplain, P. W. Rider, followed by further ritual service by the commander.

Lyle A. Dickey rendered Lincoln's Gettysburg address and then "The Holy City" was given in an effective manner by the band accompanying the singer. Adjutant John T. Copeland called the roll of dead comrades and following him the chaplain finished the ritualistic services of the day.

E. A. Strout spoke a few words opening the solemn service of decorating the graves and other comrades of the post with hands full of flowers scattered them on the graves of sleeping brothers.

A firing squad from the guard gave the three volleys, which was followed by "Taps" from the bugle, ending the service of the Grand Army.

Rev. A. C. McKeever delivered the address of the day and after paying a strong tribute to the veterans assembled, spoke feelingly of the boys in gray who fought on the other side, even though mistaken, fighting for their convictions to the last.

Rev. McKeever said in part:

"Gentlemen of the Grand Army and Fellow Citizens: We stand today in the silent city of the dead, in a republic and democracy where all are equal, the rich and the poor repose in peace. No matter how poor or how insignificant we have been in the world, we all wish something to tell that we once lived here and to this end monuments have been erected over graves of the dead.

"Monuments will crumble in time and become the same as the clay whose resting place they mark. It is necessary to mark events and dates as a matter of history, but with the crumbling of these monuments of stone the events and dates which they mark will pass from human ken.

"I want to congratulate you gentlemen of the Grand Army in selecting a day as your monument, it is something that can never crumble or pass away. On May 30 people of this nation will always gather to do honor to the nation's dead, to scatter flowers on the graves. It is more lasting than marble and granite, and while time shall run May 30 will stand as a perpetual monument.

"It will speak from generation to generation of the deeds you did in the '60s. Your ranks are growing thin, they diminish year by year and soon there will be none to respond to the roll call. Yet when the last of your organization has been laid away in his narrow bed, and a hundred years have rolled around, children will ask the meaning of this day which we here consecrate and there will be a million lips to tell them the story of how you saved the nation, died for the flag and gave to the world a united people.

"But I am going to say something now that you may think I should have left unsaid: don't forget the boys in

LOCAL JAPANESE
ARE INTERESTEDWill Call Special Meeting
On Cost -- Selling Problem

The Japanese firms that are interested in the plantation store business have begun a systematic investigation into the probable effect upon their business of the action of the Hawaiian Planters' Association in reducing the prices on commodities to cost.

According to the statement made by some of the local Japanese whole sale firms, the sale of commodities at cost prices will not be exactly ruinous to their business, but will eventuate in a reorganization of the merchandizing system as far as the staple articles of food and clothing are concerned. The Japanese storekeepers realize that they can not compete with the plantation stores, and they can not reduce the cost price of goods and make money.

The whole question is practically in abeyance pending the action of the Merchants' Association. It is expected that a general meeting will be called by the Japanese merchants upon the action taken by the Merchants' Association and the attitude of the association endorsed.

The most important meeting that has been held by the Merchants' Association for a long time has been called for tomorrow. The association will act upon the reports presented by the committee on trade and finance of the association on the question of the protest of the independent stores against the action of the Planters' Association in authorizing the sale at cost of the absolute necessities of the plantation laborers.

The second report that will be dealt with is the pending amendment in Congress providing for the application of the Interstate Commerce law to the interisland traffic of the Territory.

That discussion of these two reports will lead to a hot debate is undoubted. The meeting has been held in abeyance until the return of President Waldron of the Merchants' Association, who was a passenger on the Mongolia today. Some members of the association believe that the Planters' Association should give up the store business entirely, and the report of the committee is practically certain to declare the association opposed to the action of reducing to cost prices.

The committee on trade and finance will report against the application of the regulations of the Interstate Commerce law to the interisland traffic of the Territory.

"UNIVERSAL" IN CONTEST COUNT

The speedy announcement of the totals in the Yosemite-California Popularity Contest on Saturday evening was made possible by the aid of the Universal adding machine. The test of the machine's capabilities was most severe in keeping up with the teller's announcing, but it made good.

"I was born in the north surrounded by an environment that would give strength to the strongest prejudice. I was born in a community and in a family of abolitionists; I was born a Republican of Republicans and I don't apologize for anything I am or have done. All my surroundings should have engendered hate for the south and I have relatives who sleep in southern graves as testimony to southern bullets. But I have never looked upon those who wore the grey as rebels or traitors, I can't believe that.

"I want to say to you that they were your brothers, Americans, and no braver men ever fought than those who fought under the banner of the Stars and Bars. They were mistaken in their convictions but I am glad to honor them as men who had the courage of their convictions and who fought for those convictions.

"If I were in the south on this day I would decorate the grave of a boy in blue at the same time as that of the boy in grey, and if I were in the north I would do the same.

"If I had but one flower, and that a small one, I would place half of it on the grave of Robert E. Lee for the grey, and half on the grave of Ulysses S. Grant for those who wore the blue."

At the conclusion of the address Rev. McKeever was given hearty applause and many in the audience, including Rear Admiral Rees, pressed forward to congratulate him.

After the band played "America" and the benediction was said by Rev. J. H. Jones, the procession reformed and marched to the drill shed, where it was dismissed.

BURLEM STABBED BY PORTO RICAN

Was Delivering Message And Culprit Mistook His Purpose

(Special Correspondence)

Walluku, Maul, May 27.—Mr. T. Burlem, ditch luna for the Wahee section of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company's water system, and also proprietor of the Maul Stables, was stabbed by a Porto Rican on the right side of his abdomen last Monday morning, but the wound although about eight inches long is only serious enough to keep him indoors for a couple of weeks.

It seems that Mr. Burlem rode up to Iao Valley to deliver a message from a lady friend to a Porto Rican woman in Iao Valley, who formerly was an employee at the Burlem household. Mr. Burlem arrived at the house, dismounted, tied his steed outside, and went into the house to deliver the envelope containing the message. But while he was delivering the message, the husband of the Porto Rican woman saw from afar what he thought to be a desecration of his lowly and humble hearth, a man delivering a billet doux to his better half, an act he has been taught since his arrival on these fair isles to be beyond the bounds of propriety, so there was nothing else for him to do but to do as they do in Porto Rico, cut up the supposed intruder. The enraged Porto Rican approached from behind and stabbed Mr. Burlem in the abdomen with a knife and ran out. Mr. Burlem returned to his Walluku home where he is being cared for. Deputy Sheriff Clement Crowell was despatched in an automobile after the murderous Porto Rican, who was safely lodged in Walluku jail waiting action by the Grand Jury at the Lahaina term next month. The numerous friends of Mr. Burlem are happy that the wound was not as serious as at first reported.

CITY WILD WITH EXCITEMENT

Nicola, the clever magician and hand-cuff expert, who opens his engagement at the Opera House for one week only on Tuesday, May 31, to say the least, has the knack of working up the people in the cities he visits, and we do not wonder at it for if the strange and most unbelievable tales we hear concerning his odd performances are true, (and they came from reliable sources) he is really a wizard in all that the name implies. The following clipping, taken from the Richmond (Va.) Journal, tells of one of his latest exploits: "Nicola scores a hit. No more excitement ever prevailed here than was caused by Nicola the magician and hand cuff expert, at his performance at the theatre last night. Today his name is on everyone's lips and on the streets in the stores and in the street cars; people are talking of his wonderful exhibitions. He scored a triumph over the business men by finding the article they had hidden, another success over the police by extricating himself from the bondage of their favorite handcuffs and shackles and also scored over the clerical force of the Globe Clothing Co., who had challenged him to get out of a packing case. The performance at the Opera House was one of the auspicious events in the history of the house. The theatre was packed to the doors to see this wonderful magician who had baffled the officers of the law all over the country with his skill. To say his performance was marvelous would be putting it mildly. His slight-of-hand was superb, his illusions were exceedingly clever, and beyond all he is a pastmaster in the art of entertaining. Five pairs of handcuffs were placed on him in the last act, but he removed them without the slightest difficulty in from two seconds to five minutes. The pair which held Davis the murderer was placed on him by Police Sergeant A. J. Wright. Nicola removed these while one of the committee kept his fingers on the key holes. But the most awe-inspiring act of the evening was the packing case test. The clerks of the Globe Furnishing Co., who had challenged him to get out of a packing case, were on hand with the box. They carried it down the aisle to the stage and Nicola was placed inside. Previously they had nailed every board twice over and the nails were all clinched. The men were in dead earnest and were determined he should not escape, for after they had nailed on the top they nailed hoop iron entirely around the box and no one dared to think he would be successful in escaping. Ten minutes passed without a sound and his friends became nervous and Dohski, the comedy assistant who had previously kept the audience in an uproar, lost his humor. Some thought Nicola had been suffocated, but when fourteen minutes had passed he staggered out of the cabinet. His shirt was wringing wet with perspiration, his collar was torn off and his arm was lacerated and bleeding, but he had escaped and the box was found intact.

CLEVER BOXER COMES ON MONGOLIA

Pat Cornyn Arrives And Will Fight On June 11

Pat Cornyn, brother of Dick Sullivan, and welterweight champion of the Pacific Coast, arrived on the Mongolia this morning and was at once taken in hand by the retired champion of Hawaii and Jack McFadden.

Cornyn is a likely-looking fellow and very like his better-known brother. Voice and carriage are the same, and the two would always be singled out as brothers. The newcomer is already matched to box Nelson of Camp Vero on June 11, and the contest will be for fifteen rounds. Cornyn weighs about 153 pounds at present, and will train down to 148 for the fight. He boxed Jack Cordell four rounds lately in San Francisco, and made a draw of the affair.

As the date for the contest is so close, Cornyn will start training at once and will announce his training quarters in a day or so. McFadden has arranged for two preliminaries to the big fight, and they are good ones. Hoso will box Terrien six rounds, and Young Gans will go up against Simmons for four rounds.

SEMI-FINALS CAUSE SOME SURPRISE

CASTLE AND LOW
LOSE TO COOKE BROS.

Nowell-Steele Will Play Cooke and Cooke in Finals This Afternoon—Great Match Expected.

On Saturday afternoon the double tennis championship of the Hawaiian Islands advanced to the semi-final stage, and two matches necessary to decide who shall play in the finals this afternoon were played off. Nowell and Steele defeated Atherton, Richards and Clark after the full five sets were played, and the younger players got twenty-five games to the winner's twenty-eight. The sets went as follows, 9-7, 4-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, and it was one great fight from start to finish; there was no telling which pair would win till the match ended.

Richards and Clark played a fine game, but now and again failed at critical moments. Still it was wonderful the way the young players fought for the first set, and they went close to winning it, too. If they had, the match would have been their without a doubt. In the second set they showed real good form, and reversed the decision of the first. However, in the third set Richards and his partner fell away and made many mistakes. They both found the net frequently and a great number of shots were played out of court.

Then in the fourth set the lads sparkled up and had not much difficulty in winning it to three games. The excitement was then intense as both pairs had won two sets, and the fifth would decide the matter.

The tennis was beautiful from the start and for the first couple of games the pace was terrific. Nowell played up as he never has before, and Steele who appeared to be getting better the longer he played, did some fine work. The younger players were played right off their feet, and the veterans took the fifth and deciding set to three games.

The other match, between Castle and Low and Cooke-Cooke, was a surprise to most people, who fancied that Castle and his partner would be the champions this year. However Cooke and Cooke won three sets out of the four played, and the score was: 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The first set started off at a whirlwind rate, and Castle and Low looked very confident as they played. They showed good form and took the first set to four games. Then Cooke and Cooke exactly reversed the score in the second set and won 6-4. They also took the next two sets in easy fashion as neither Castle nor Low seemed able to find the courts. Cooke and Cooke took the third and fourth sets, 6-3, 6-2, and the match ended.

This afternoon Nowell and Steele will meet Cooke and Cooke in a most interesting and exciting match should be seen. It is hard to say which team will win and the full five sets will probably be played.

DOTS AND DASHES.

The Marines won a tug-of-war against the Fort Shafter last night at the rink. On Saturday night the potato race was won by Alfred Baptista, but he was later on disqualified and the first prize given to John Bothelo.

The Inter-Sales beat the Shamrocks in a baseball game yesterday. The score was 10 to 6.

MILITARY LEAGUE.

TWO GAMES PLAYED ON SATURDAY

FIRST INFANTRY AND
U. S. MARINES WIN

Barry's Beauts Go Down in Defeat to Sumner's Smilers—The Fort Ruger Nine Beaten by Half-Wets.

On Saturday afternoon at the League grounds there were two games played in the Military series, and some excitement was caused by the fact that the First Infantry team was to go up against the famous Hospital Co. nine. And the Infantry certainly did go up against the "Beauts" and licked them, too, by a score of 11 to 8. The game attracted a lot of attention, and there were many who thought that the original Barry's Beauts would beat their brothers in arms. However, Sumner's Smilers went after the Beauts from the first ball pitched, and in the second, third and fourth innings scored two, three and one respectively. Then in the sixth they added one more, and then to put the "kibosh" on the Beauts, piled up four runs in the eighth.

All the Beauts could do was to make one in the first, two in the third, five in the fifth and that ended their scoring. John Williams and Soares formed the battery for the Beauts, and they should be about as strong as any that can be found. However, the First Regiment had not much trouble in finding both Williams and Soares, who also pitched, and the game ended as stated.

The second game was between the Marines and Fort Tugaites, and the half-wets won by a score of 7 to 5. The Fort Ruger boys were the first to score, and they piled up three in their third inning. Then the Marines managed to get one in their half of the same inning, but the Rugers added two more to their total in the fourth, and the score stood at 5 to 1. The Rugers looked all over winners, and the supporters of the half-wets began to feel bad. However, in the fifth inning the Marines made two runs, and then in the seventh got four men in over the plate, and led their opponents by two runs.

The Marines tried three pitchers—Hines, Peyton and Adams, but Gibson was not called into the game. Sinclair caught for the Marines, and he did well enough, although there are lots of fans who miss old reliable Anderson, who used to catch for the half-wets.

For the Fort Ruger team Long and Brown pitched and Vaughn did the catching. Brown struck out three men and Long four, and they both did well enough all things considered.

The Rugerites are improving a lot and it is practice that is doing the trick. The lads who man the guns should do well after a while and the more active service they get on the diamond, the better they will become. The official scores of both games are as follows:

Marines ... 0 0 1 0 2 0 4 0 7
Summary: Two-base hit, Hines; sacrifice hit, Long; stolen bases, Rents, Hines 2, Shelly, Makin; double play, Rents to George; hits, off Brown 5 in 5 innings, off Long 2 in 3 innings, off Peyton 4 in 3 innings, off Hines 4 in 3 innings, off Adams 2 in 3 innings; struck out, by Peyton 1, by Hines 2, by Adams 1, by Brown 3, by Long 4; bases on balls, Peyton 1, Brown 3; hit by pitcher, Brannan; wild pitch.

BIG CROWD TURN OUT AT PARK

PORTUGUESE AND J. A. C.
TEAMS WIN OUT

Marines and Chinese Athletics Do Not Play Up to Form—Teves Does Good Work.

At the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon there were two games of baseball played, and although one of them was fairly good, the other, between the Marines and J. A. C., was fierce. There was a good-sized crowd present, and the Hawaiian band played choice selections during the afternoon.

One thing that will have to be stopped at the Park is the open betting that went on yesterday. The thing was barefaced, and although only two men were prominent in laying wagers, there were plenty more who were betting on the quiet. The open wagering should be stopped at once, or else something serious will hit Sunday baseball.

The Park authorities are determined to stop the practice, and Manager Marcellino of the Oahu league warned the offenders. Although there may not be much harm in one man making a harmless wager with a friend about the outcome of a game, the manner and extent of the betting on ball games might lead people to believe that the best teams do not always win. However, the Oahu league officials will see to it that no betting that can be prevented will in future be allowed.

Now to a more pleasant subject. The first game, between the C. A. C. and P. A. C., resulted in a narrow victory for the Portuguese by a score of 4 to 3. As a matter of fact, the Chinese should have won the game. They had several chances of scoring, but always managed to spoil things before they got men over the plate.

The P. A. C. had some luck in winning, although they played up well together, and Teves, who made a beautiful three-bagger, did good work. Akina of the Chinese did splendidly at second, and his fielding was a treat to watch. His one-hand stops and brilliant catching were as good as has been seen on the diamond.

When the C. A. C. went up to bat for the last time, a decision was given by Umpire Joy that may end in the game being protested. One man was down, one man on first, and batter hit a high infield fly which came down between second and first, after the former had juggled with it for a second or two. In the meantime the batsman had run toward first, and the man who was there before, on seeing the fielder drop the ball, started off for second. Joy gave both men out, and the game ended. Then there was much talk over the decision and many arguments ensued. The matter will be threshed out later on, but at present the feeling is that the C. A. C. should have won the game by scoring in the fourth inning, and that the decision in the last half of the ninth had nothing to do with the defeat.

En Sue was in the game, although he should have been resting his ankle, which was sprained on Saturday at the league grounds. The game little fellow, however, hit up a peach of a two-bagger, and if he had only been able to run in his usual form instead of having to limp around the diamond, he would have made it a triple for sure.

The second game was between the Marines and J. A. C., and it was a runaway affair from the start. The Marines had Peyton in the box for two innings, and then Adams took his place. Neither twirler puzzled the Japanese, who simply scored when they liked and were assisted in every possible way by the errors of some of the half-wets. The official scores of both games were:

FIFTEEN MILES RACE SET FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Fast Times May Be Recorded at the League Grounds—All Peds in Good Shape.

This afternoon at the League grounds the much talked of fifteen miles running race will come off, unless the rain is too heavy altogether, and a fine event should be seen. All the fourteen runners are in the best of form and the oxygen machine that is to revive the exhausted peds, is all ready for the men.

Nigel Jackson will endeavor to show what the gas can do for a man when he is all in, and most of the other runners will take a sniff at the magic bag. Antone Kaoo, however, is reported to have sworn off as regards oxygen and he will endeavor to win on his own lungs, pluck and heart.

Everything is in readiness for the race this afternoon, and there should be a big crowd present when the starting gun is fired. The walking race will also attract a lot of attention and Dick Sullivan is expected to go close to winning the event.

The officials are all chosen, and the judges are men who will keep a sharp eye on the runners and see that there is no crooked business of any sort. A new record is expected to be put up over the fifteen miles today, but the rain will probably make the track heavy and slow the men down.

SERGE COSTUME

THIS smart serge costume fastens with one button, which is a novel feature. The collar is decorated with a band of contrasting satin. Notice also the hip pockets trimmed with small buttons.

THIS IS THE TIME OF THE YEAR TO FORM BIRD CLUBS

TEACH the little ones to take an interest in birds by forming an Audubon society in your neighborhood.
This is the time of the year when the birds are most plentiful, and it is easy and delightful to study the different varieties and their habits.

There is an Audubon association which will gladly send you leaflets and instructions.
The objects of the Audubon societies formed by the children should be to study the birds, to protect them and to attract them around school buildings, homes or in the city parks. It is of the highest importance that the children should know the good the birds do and the great harm that is done by thoughtlessly killing them. The loss to agriculture and forestry in the United States each year by insect and rodent pests is over a billion dollars, and the birds—the common field and wood birds, robins, owls, woodpeckers and sparrows—are the ones we depend on to conquer these pests.

Sparrows are especially valuable to the farmer. They live on the seeds of many kinds of weeds and thus prevent them from growing in greater abundant. They live in this country at the time of the year when the weeds have ripe seed pods, and they live almost entirely on these. The wise farmer will encourage the sparrows to live on his farm and teach his children to feed them and pile up brushwood for their winter homes.

The owl, which is frequently killed by thoughtless boys, is one of the greatest destroyers of mice. In the west its diet consists very largely of gophers.

In the southern states it destroys great numbers of cotton rats.

The robin has attained a bad reputation as a fruit eater. However, careful investigation has proved that this is confined to the months of June and July and that, while it eats 30 per cent of fruit, it consumes at least 45 per cent of insects, thus proving the benefit to exceed the damage.

Teach the little ones these things and help the farmer; also buy them books with colored plates of the birds that they may learn to know and love them.

PEARL BARLEY JELLY.

Put two tablespoonfuls of washed pearl barley into a saucepan with one pint and a half of water and boil very slowly till reduced to a pint. Strain away the barley and let the liquid set in a jelly. A dessertspoonful of this dissolved in a breakfastcupful of warm milk and sweetened is good refreshment for an invalid during the night.

COOK STILL CLAIMS NORTH POLE FIND

NEW YORK, May 29.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook is in Scotland organizing an expedition to get proofs of his discovery of the North Pole. The doctor has recovered his health, and now says that he proposes to establish his claims to have reached the pole and will offer them first to the University of Copenhagen, which examined his records of his trip and gave a decision to the effect that there was in them no evidence in support of Cook's claims.

Dr. Cook is getting ready to go to Etah. He says he will get his records which were left behind by Peary, and will bring back the Eskimos who were with him in his dash to the pole, and will present his proofs, on his return, to the University of Copenhagen.

Cook says he has been compelled to abandon all work, by a nervous breakdown, following the attack upon his claims as a discoverer, but now that he has regained his strength, he proposes to force recognition. He says that the records he cached at Etah, together with the testimony of his Eskimos, will prove his claim.

PIERCE FIGHTING IN NICARAGUA.

BLUEFIELDS, Nic., May 29.—Fierce fighting was in progress all day yesterday between the forces of the Provisional Government and the Revolutionists, the Provisionals recapturing the Bluefields bluffs after an all-day engagement. The victors stormed the defenses of the Estrada men, advancing in the face of a heavy fire, and occupied the trenches last night. The loss is much heavier than that of the Revolutionists.

Estrada, during the day, cut off fifty men of the attacking force and captured them as prisoners, in addition to which General Lamas had two hundred killed and wounded.

Estrada reports his loss at ten men.

BLUEFIELDS, Nic., May 29.—Three hundred American marines are expected to arrive here today from Colon to enforce, if necessary, the proclamation issued some time ago by Commander W. W. Gilmer of the U. S. S. Paducah, which forbids any fighting within the city. Gilmer's proclamation gave notice that he would prevent such by an armed intervention if necessary.

The U. S. army transport Prairie is expected to sail from Philadelphia tomorrow with five hundred more marines to reinforce the Americans here.

COAST CHINESE PLAN BOYCOTT.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—The Chinese chamber of commerce here is planning a general boycott of American goods throughout China, because it has been unable to get the Washington authorities to move the immigrants' detention sheds from Angel Island. Repeated objections to the use of Angel Island have been ignored, and the Chinese are forming a nation-wide organization, under the name of the League of Justice, which will call upon all Chinese to cooperate in the attack upon American commerce.

OAHU COLLEGE WINS SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP

Puns Take Seven Wins Out of Nine Games—Batting and Fielding Averages.

Oahu College is now champion for the school baseball season, and although the nine had the championship secured before they tackled the Kamehameha on Saturday last, much interest was taken in the game as the Kams had a victory over the Puns, and the latter were determined to wipe that out before the season was finished. The Oahu lads won seven out of the nine games that were played, and the two defeats were at the hands of the Kams and Higs.

There have been seventeen games played in the inter-scholastic series, and 159 runs were scored by all the teams. Oahu scored 52; Higs 36; St. Louis 37 and Kama 34. The batting and fielding averages of the winning team are as follows:

FRANK SPEAIGHT ARRIVES— "DICKENS" HIS SPECIALTY

FRANK SPEAIGHT, THE DICKENS READER.

"I feel as though I were a character in the Arabian Nights—I did not believe the world could be so beautiful." These were Frank Speaight's first words in Honolulu after he had roamed about the grounds of the Royal Hawaiian for an hour or so.

"A real cup of coffee," was the great Dickens reader's exclamation at the Young. "You can't get real coffee in England, you know," he said to a Bulletin man at the next table. "England is the most homelike place in the world, but it is in America that you get real coffee, and I have grown to rely on it. I did not intend to stop off in Honolulu as I had not heard of the readings arranged for me by the Art League, but I was captured at the boat and before I knew it my ticket was extended, the immigration commissioners phoned to come down and pass me—and I am glad to say I was held over. I woke Saturday and looked out from the lanai and I couldn't believe it was real and true. Only a month here! I want to stay always if it is like this all the time."

Frank Speaight is the most famous living interpreter of Dickens' characters. He has just closed a most successful tour of the United States under the Pond management and is on his way around the world. He is booked for an extensive tour in Australia and New Zealand, but the antipodes will have to wait a month for the famous reader.

Mr. Speaight will give his best Dickens readings at the enlarged hall of the Kiohama Art League; on Tuesday evening he will interpret Pickwick, presenting a score of different characters, David Copperfield, and his friends, on Thursday evening, and characters from Christmas Carol next Tuesday week.

Mr. Speaight has a repertoire of Dickens' recitals that last fifteen hours straight, and twelve hours of steady interpretations from Mark Twain, Shakespeare, Edgar Allan Poe and Robert Browning, but it is Dickens that has made Speaight famous around the world.

Mr. Speaight will be entertained while here and shown the best of Hawaii; he made his first acquaintance with surfing at the Outrigger club Saturday afternoon. He expects to make his headquarters in the surf.

SUGAR SUPPLY OF THE WORLD

WEATHER EFFECTS CUBA AND SOUTH

Estimated Beet Sowing Is Reduced—King Edward's Death Suspends Business in the United Kingdom.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Journal for May 12 reports on the raw sugar market as follows:

Visible Supply.
Total stock of Europe and America, 2,837,741 tons against 3,063,219 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The decrease of stock is 225,478 tons, against a decrease of 332,429 last week. Total stocks and floats together show a visible supply of 2,980,741 tons, against 3,156,219 tons last year, or a decrease of 205,478 tons.

Raws.
The European markets, which are the leaders in the sugar movements of this season, are now evidently under the influence of some uncertainty as to the size of the Cuba crop when completed. The weekly cable did not tend to confirm the views of those who are looking for a less crop than 1,700,000 tons, although the grinding season is rapidly coming to an end; 67 centrals were reported working Tuesday, against 99 the previous Tuesday, but a private cable of yesterday reports only 60 centrals now working, with very heavy rains falling.

Guma-Mejer figures of total production in Cuba to May 15 are at hand and indicate crop results as follows: Production of entire island to April 30, 1,412,043 tons; production in 1909 to April 30, 1,192,264; visible increase same time in 1910, 219,779; total crop 1909, 1,513,582; received to April 30, 1,192,246; received 1909, after May 1, 321,318; received 1910 to May 1, 1,412,043; indicated crop, 1910, 1,733,361 tons.

There are fewer centrals now grinding than at this time last year, but the invisible stocks of sugar held on plantations are believed to be larger than usual.

It is evident that our maximum estimate of 1,750,000 tons output may yet be reached unless general rains set in immediately, compelling the remaining centrals to cease operations for the season.

Other crops are indicated as follows: India continues reselling Java crop sugars not required in India, which adds somewhat to available supplies for the United Kingdom, possibly to extent of 200,000 tons; Brazil and Demerara report heavy rains, doing damage which may result in rather smaller crop than anticipated; Australia and Hawaii both indicate small decreases in crops.

Both Cuba and Louisiana have been influenced unfavorably by the weather, affecting next crops.

The American and European beet crops estimated sowings are being reduced; the American is short in some states, particularly in Colorado, while Michigan promises larger than last year.

The European beet crop private estimates are now reduced to 5 per cent., against Licht's estimate of 7 per cent., excess of sowings over last year for concession countries.

Unfavorable weather recently checked sowings, difficult to recover by later sowings. A short seed supply is also restricting necessary resowings. Elsewhere we give the latest developments in Russia.

Business here early in the week under review included spot and near arrivals of Centrals, at basis of 4.30c per lb. landed.

For shipment quotations have ruled at 3c. and f. for May and 3 1/16c. c. and f. for June, but without transactions. A month later our refiners will have absorbed present large supplies and be ready to renew them.

If any improvement comes in the meantime it must emanate from further improvement in Europe, which is not now in sight.

The U. K., however, took several Cuba invoices this week at 2.92c, 2.94c, 2.97c and 2.98c f. o. b.—the latter price for late May shipment.

Beet sugar in London reached the highest point of the present campaign at 14s 11/4d for May, 15s for June and August, but receded at the close to 14s 2 1/2d May and June, and 14s 10 1/2d August, on a quiet market after the first advance.

Business in the United Kingdom was suspended there for some days on account of the death on Saturday, May 7th, of King Edward, and will be further interrupted by the funeral ceremonies the coming week.

The difference in parity of Centrals and Beet continues large, now 92 cents per 100 lbs., showing no anxiety concerning abundant local supplies for United States, notwithstanding that some 75,000 tons Cuba raws and 30,000 tons United States refined have been taken thus far for the United Kingdom and Continent.

The recent offerings of Java sugars for July-August shipment were at 13s 3d c. and f. (4.61c).

At the close sugars on the spot were disposed of at 2 1/4 c. and f. for Cubas, and at its equivalent, 4.24c, for Porto Rico, basis 96° test, reducing quotations .00c.

HOMESTEAD PLAN TO BE SUBMITTED

TERRITORY ASKED TO BUILD HOMES

Commission's Report Within Month Will Recommend Expenditure of Million to Build 2000 Homes for Settlers on Public Lands.

That more prosperous homesteading will be the result if the government builds houses on its public land open for homestead is the opinion of the committee which has been investigating the whole question and which will make its full report to Governor Frear within the next month.

The commission consists of W. A. Kinney, chairman; James W. Pratt, former land commissioner, and Hon. W. W. Harris. This commission was appointed by the Governor under a joint resolution of the last legislature, the resolution being:

"That as soon as may be after the approval of this resolution, the Governor appoint a commission of three members, who shall be experienced and competent persons, which commission shall thoroughly investigate and examine into the matter of fruit growing and truck farming throughout the Territory, together with the feasibility of giving aid thereto by providing assistance in the matter of refrigeration, packing and transportation, marketing or any like subject. The conclusions reached by such commission shall be embodied by them in a report to be made by them to the Governor not later than July 1, 1916, together with their recommendations as to legislation if such is needed, which report shall be laid before the next legislature by the Governor."

It is the opinion of Mr. Kinney that the government should build houses on each homestead at a cost of $500, and a million dollars spent in this manner would be the best kind of an investment, and furnish two thousand homes for settlers.

Money so invested by the Territory would be a safe investment as has been shown at Melbyde, and the Territory could sell the land, home and all on term payments, as it now sells the land alone.

The Federal Government has found that homesteaders on irrigation tracts default in their payments but seldom, and the mortgage is as good as government bonds as an investment.

The plan which the commission reports to Governor Frear to be presented by him to the next Legislature follows in many respects that of the Kalaheo homesteads on Kauai, and which is regarded as the most successful homesteading yet done in the Territory.

MANOA PEOPLE TO STOP SPEEDERS

The residents of Manoa valley are up in arms against the auto speeders who are using the valley highways for dashing sprints and are entering protests against the way the machines are being sent through the valley. They claim that there are a large number of children in the valley and it is dangerous to the life and limb of these little ones to say nothing of the rest of the people of the valley who have to use the roadways in lieu of sidewalks.

One of the favorite stretches of the autoists is from the top of the hill to Wilder avenue. On this stretch of roadway they are said to throw all caution to the winds and turn the machines loose regardless of teams or anything else.

A decided protest against the present reckless auto driving is in the hands of the officers of the law.
