WILCOX IS STILL RETREATING.

Reports Say He is Now Making for Waimanalo.

NOWLEIN HEARD OF AT WAIALAE.

Widemann, Greig and Marshall Seen at Koolau-One Hundred Men on Duty Up Nuuanu Valley-Quiet Day Yesterday at the Front-Some Firing

A general restful air pervaded the Police Station and military headquarters yesterday.

Universal quiet reigned in the Marshal's office. Officials and men, for a time, were able to gain a few hours' relaxation from the strain to which they have been subjected the past few days. The men in the field reported no engagement with the rebels.

The departing tourists were the most nervous people in town. What they thought the unnecessary red-tape consequent to get their passports gave the chronic kicker a golden opportunity. One man suggested that the Government set off a part of the bungalow for a swearing room. A good many labored under the impression that the Government officers should be at their service. However, each departing passenger received his passport in due season and got on board the steamer in good order.

The list of arrests was swelled during the day by the addition of Palan, Manuel Lobo, S. Kaohiwaena, James Spencer, S. K. Kaloa, Harry Swinton, S. K. Kaloa and Charles Warren were brought to the Station during the evening. Warren was released.

LATEST FROM THE FRONT.

A Belief That Wilcox is Making for Waimanalo.

Lieutenant George King reported at headquarters yesterday afternoon. His appearance was a welcome surprise as he or his men had not been heard from since Thursday night. They left the Panoa camp to go to the head of the Valley. About 2 o'clock yesterday morning Captain Wall's men, stationed at Tantalus, heard heavy firing. They took it for granted that the regulars had met the enemy and that a battle was in progress. The shooting did not last long. At daybreak Lieutenant Kenake and twenty men went out to find Lieutenant King and his men, but returned some hours later without success. They scoured the head of Panoa from Tantalus to Nuuanu without meeting a human being.

Lieutenant King reported that his men were without food and water for many hours. A supply was sent them last evening.

Company B had a hard time also. They did a great deal of scouting on Thursday, and at night they camped on Tantalus. The rain and cold weather forced them to leave the mountain top yesterday. They are now at the Japanese nursery. The men were almost famished, tired and footsore. Provisions were sent them yesterday afternoon. Their bodily ills were carefully looked after by Surgeon Weyson. Captain Wall returned to town in the afternoon for orders.

Nuuanu Valley was guarded carefully yesterday afternoon. A detachment of volunteers was resting at the electric light station. They were to climb the eastern ridge last night looking for rebels.

A number of men were stationed at C. M. Cooke's place with Captain Camara and T. J. Murray in charge.

Sentries were placed along the road and a strict watch was kept on the mountains. Seven men guard the Pali pass.

Murray and his men expect to be transferred to Wailae today to resume their scout for Nowlein and his crowd. If he goes he will take about forty men with him.

Two men came in from Makapu Point yesterday. They had nothing important to report. Cecil Brown is still there with his men. Nothing was seen of the rebels, however.

Three prisoners were brought to town yesterday. Two were stragglers. The third one was Sam Kaloa. He is a well-known character and is known as the "Fish Market Preacher." He was with Nowlein but deserted him on Monday. He was neatly attired and did not look as though he had been engaged in battle.

It is now believed that Wilcox and his men are making for Waimanalo.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The mascot of C. M. Cooke's detail is a black cat.

James Spencer, a telephone operator, was locked up yesterday.

The alarm of fire created some excitement about town last evening.

The last report of J. L. Osmer locates him somewhere near Layean Island.

It is now claimed that Sam Nowlein and his men are hiding near Wailae.

A small schooner was seen near the coast on the other side of the island yesterday.

Three men belonging to Company B were sent into town yesterday for medical treatment.

W. M. Chamberlain and Chas. Weight guided Captain Wall's men through Panoa yesterday.

C. M. Cooke is in charge of the Thomas Square guards. He is extremely well liked by his men.

Some of the guards up Nuuanu fired three shots at a native yesterday morning, but failed to hit him.

A number of people are of the opinion that Nowlein's party is located near Perry's ranch at Kailua, this island.

One party of guards fired in another near Luakaha early yesterday morning, but fortunately no one was injured.

No prominent white royalists were arrested yesterday, although it was understood that several were to be apprehended.

A man was seen climbing the eastern ridge of Nuuanu yesterday afternoon. Soldiers were sent after him but returned empty-handed.

It was reported last night that the Government electric light wires had been cut up at the Nuuanu Station. It proved to be unfounded.

Residents are recovering from the excitement of the past week and it is expected that on Monday business about town will be resumed.

Charles Warren's residence out at Beach Grove was searched yesterday by specials. They found one revolver and one hundred rounds of cartridges.

The natives residing in the vicinity of Luakaha, near the Kaulukou place were somewhat uneasy last night. Lights could be seen in many of the houses.

One hundred men are now on guard up Nuuanu Valley between the old ice house and the Pali, making it an impossibility for Wilcox to pass unseen.

Paul Isenberg, Duke of Wailae, is on duty at Thomas Square. The orders on his watch are for him to challenge and the other boys to get behind him and cover.

There was a rumor around town yesterday to the effect that the ex-queen and some of the royalists under arrest were to be deported by the Alameda. It turned out to be untrue.

A native who was found at Wailae on Monday and taken prisoner has cleared himself and is now a member of the Thomas Square squad. He commenced duty last night.

Some Portuguese report that Antonio Rosa was seen in company with Robert Wilcox on Sunday last in Manoa Valley, riding from house to house. The report is not credited at police headquarters.

A message was received from Luakaha last night stating that some shooting was going on above that point. Captain McStocker took up some re-enforcements to that locality. This was occasioned by the report that some natives were trying to make their way down the mountain side near the Pali. Some stones rolling down into the valley led to the belief that the enemy were on the march.

A scouting party returned from out Waikiki way yesterday afternoon and reported three empty made graves in a cave, supposed to contain the bodies of natives killed out there during the firing Monday.

The picket detail on School and Nuuanu streets desires to thank Messrs. George W. Smith, Clarence Crabbe, R. Jay Greene and Wm. Cunningham for supplying lunches and extraordinary good coffee.

The Thomas Square squad wish to thank Mrs. O. M. Cooke and others for keeping them supplied with hot coffee and rolls. The boys think Mrs. Cooke should be placed at the head of the commissary department.

Additional sentries were placed around the Station House last night after the fire in "Royalist Row" was extinguished. The premises were examined about 10:30 o'clock by Attorney-General Smith and Minister King.

A telephone line-repairer brought in a report that Widemann, Greig and Marshall had been seen in Koolau yesterday on the mauka side of the hills near a pass in the mountains. They were journeying toward Waimanalo.

A report came in early last night to the effect that a body of natives were assembled at Luakaha, Nuuanu Valley. A squad of volunteers were to climb the mountain in that vicinity, and no doubt were mistaken for rebels.

Fred Lowrie and H. F. Wichman visited the Kamoiliili crater yesterday and found a carbine, a cartridge belt and a Smith & Wesson revolver, supposed to be the property of Louis Marshall. But one cartridge was taken from the belt.

The King street Thomas Square guards were treated to a table d'hote dinner Thursday morning at the expense of the Chinese vegetable vendors. First course, raw cabbage; second course, cucumbers; third, carrots and turnips; dessert, bananas.

Dr. Grossman, on being relieved from duty on Young street last evening, instructed the relief guard to photograph anything that passed, that he might see what it looked like. Doctor claimed that nothing passed him but a dog the four hours he was on watch.

Charles Bartow, one of the deserters from Wilcox's camp, has experienced the misfortunes of war to a marked degree. He went out as a lieutenant. Being accused of a lack of fealty to the cause he was reduced to the rank of corporal, and finally wound up as cook.

At 8 o'clock last night a telephone message was received at police headquarters from F. A. Schaefer, stating that a number of people were assembling at the Kaulukou premises, near Luakaha. It was learned later that some of the guards up that way had taken possession of the house.

Guards were placed at the entrance of the Oceanic dock and gang planks leading to the steamer Alameda yesterday, and no one was allowed to go aboard without a pass from military headquarters. The tug Elen, with an armed detail aboard, accompanied the steamer out to sea to prevent anyone getting aboard from off Diamond Head.

Optum Brown Gone.

"Opium" Brown has left the town. He stowed away in the Australia, and is now in San Francisco. He informed several friends that he would return to Honolulu in a few months with another consignment of merchandise. The reason he stowed away was not because he was out of funds, but because he was afraid to go near the Custom House for a passport. He could not purchase a ticket without one, so he decided to board the vessel and pay the purser for his transportation.

ORIENTALS ARE STILL FIGHTING.

Another Great Battle Fought at Haichang.

THE JAPANESE ARE VICTORIOUS.

Ten Thousand Chinese Defeated—Lose
Five Hundred Men—Make Brave Resistance—Thrice Rallied and Routed —Japanese Artillery—Port Arthur.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 23.—News has reached here that a severe engagement between the Japanese and the Chinese forces took place at Haichang on the 19th instant. The battle lasted five hours, and, after four assaults, the Japanese routed 10,000 Chinese.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24.—The garrison at Shanghai Kwang tortured and killed 2000 officers and soldiers who had escaped from Port Arthur. It was urged that this was punishment for their cowardice.

The battle at Haichang was characterized by the fiercest and hottest fighting that has taken place during the campaign.

The Japanese artillery, under General Katsura, played havoc with the Chinese, but the latter fought bravely, and rallied three times after the Japanese infantry had cut through their ranks.

The loss on the Chinese side is stated to be 500 men killed.

The Japanese have occupied Kungwasi, and are also reported to have occupied Niuchang.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24.—Japan doubts
the sincerity of the Chinese overtures for peace, as it is reported China is trying to purchase a squadron of the Chilian navy.

TOKIO, Dec. 25.—In opening Parliament, the Mikado declared that despite the approach of winter the Japanese army was steadily advancing in China, and would be placed in a glorious position by its victories.
He added that it was his desire to promote a civilizing influence, in order to secure harmony between the Government and the people at home.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 26.—The Japanese casualties at Haichang were 420. Tongahakas have captured the town of Haigu and expelled the Governor.
They continued their advance and burned two other towns.

Japan is placing many of her orders with German firms in preference to English, especially in tinne goods.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 26.—Owing to the unanimous petition of naval officers, Admiral Ting, whose fleet was captured by the Japanese in Port Arthur, has been pardoned on the charge of cowardice.

The Chinese Government has assented to the American Government prohibiting immigrants from China, on condition that registered Chinese men owning property to the extent of $200 in America be allowed to return. The convention extends for ten years.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The Herald correspondent wires that a third Japanese force has occupied Saho, in view of menacing Wei-hai-wei.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 27.—The Japanese continue to follow up the advantages previously gained, and they have achieved another decided victory.

The Chinese, pressed by the enemy, were compelled to evacuate New-chang, a seaport town on the Liautung Gulf, and have retreated to Denshodai.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF THE CAPTURE OF PORT ARTHUR.

AUCKLAND (N. Z.), Dec. 27.—Chinese files by the mail steamer show that at the capture of Port Arthur the fighting was of a most sanguinary character, and that altogether it was a dangerous and exciting business.

The Japanese effected a landing with a surprisingly small loss, and owing to the stupor of the Chinese were soon within the fortifications.

A series of desperate hand-to-hand encounters took place with a couple of thousand of Li Hung Chang's soldiers, who stood to their posts manfully, although their officers deserted shamefully.

Upon entering the town the first thing that met the eyes of the Japanese was a number of Koreans and others of their men, who had been captured by the Chinese before the attack began, lying headless in the street, their bodies being horribly mutilated. This sight so enraged the Japanese that no restraint was exercised toward the enemy, and little quarter was given, most of the Chinese being killed or seriously wounded in the terrible battle which followed.

This accounts for the heavy loss among the Chinese, whose cruelty to their foes was thus terribly punished.
A large number of junks, which were filled with Chinese officers and soldiers, were torpedoed by the Japanese boats and damaged to a great extent. The Chinese losses will never be known.

The garrison in Port Arthur consisted of at least 20,000 Chinese soldiers and seven generals, who were charged by a special decree from the Imperial Government to hold the port at the peril of their lives, and in the event of their being unable to carry out these instructions, they had distinct orders to blow up the forts, magazines, arsenals and workshops, and destroy the docks, rather than let them fall into the hands of the enemy.

Long range firing began on November 29th, and as long as the Japanese guns did not succeed in working much havoc the Chinese made a show to fight, but when the whole line of warships began to reduce the radius of the investing circle the defenders of the outer port lost heart.

Before the first fort fell six generals and civil officials contrived to escape in junks. The garrison to the northwest accompanied them. The junks were waiting a mile or two from the port to the North with all the valuables on board, and as soon as it was recognized that the enemy were in earnest they made off.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1895.

God give ye strength to run,
Unwary by Earth or Hell,
The race ye have begun
So gloriously and well.

—Whittier.

WOULDN'T IT BE A GOOD PLAN?

So far as the opposition from rebels is concerned the hostilities of the rebellion are at an end. The curtain has been rung down on one of the closing acts of the Wilcox-Nowlin fiasco. At the end of this week of unpleasant possibilities we can see the day when business will be resumed and the wheels of the Government will begin their usual routine grinding.

The week will be a memorable one in Hawaiian history. The best blood of the nation has answered to the call to arms, and by its decision and united action has ground under its boot heel the wild boasts of the royalist sympathisers of lack of discipline, unity of purpose, and courage in times of actual danger. A kind Providence has watched over the men in the field. As almost by miracle lives have been spared, though men have been exposed to a most deadly fire. God has kept the homes of the country as in the hollow of his hand.

The Government can look back upon a victory gained unaided and alone. It has demonstrated its ability not only to protect itself but the lives and property of the citizens of other nations. Our strength has been tested and in not a single instance has it been found wanting.

Since citizens of the United States are the ones of all foreigners who profit by this firmly-established strength of government, would it not be a wise and reasonable plan for that arch director of the foreign policy of the United States—Grover Cleveland—to come to a realization that the Republic over which he presides has critical interests in these islands? Would it not be a good plan for him to study history and discover that the indifference with which he has treated his subjects in this country has never been equalled in the annals of the Great American Republic? Would it not be a good plan for him to endeavor, before he is relegated to political oblivion, to wipe out as much as possible of the black stain he has made on his record by at least making a mere show that somewhat of a bond of sympathy exists between him and his fellow countrymen?

There is only one answer, and that answer will be echoed and re-echoed in the cry of condemnation that will go up from one corner of the United States to the other when the reports of the recent rebellion are received one week from today. We believe it would be a good plan for the President of the United States to wake up to a proper sense of duty.

THE incendiary of last night furnished another proof of the necessity for prompt action by the Government. The opportunity is here and now. The man was almost caught in the very act of firing the building. We may continue to expect lawlessness until an object lesson is given for the benefit of those who will run the risk of possible leniency toward crime. Of all enemies of the commonwealth, the incendiary is the most to be despised. Ever and anon the question comes, "What are we fighting for?"

REPRESENTATIVE Wilson's bill to remove the differential duty on sugar will probably prove nothing more than food for argument. It will share the fate of the Senate "pop-gun" bills. Wilson knows his political goose is cooked, and it is very natural that he should desire to make his exit in the role of a martyr to the cause he has championed. The Representative Wilson of the present Congress is a harmless creature.

BIG STRAHER EDITION.

"Your resume of the trouble is the best I have seen," remarked J. B. Atherton yesterday while he was buying a quantity of Friday's ADVERTISERS and GAZETTES to send away on the steamer. "The story is a calm statement of facts free from sensationalism. I have written my people that they can bank on that write-up." This was but one of many compliments for the steamer editions of the ADVERTISER and HAWAIIAN GAZETTE. As usual these papers contained all the news and the truth about it. All day long until the mail closed the clerks of the business department were kept busy waiting on those who wanted authentic news of the rebellion to send to their friends. The big edition was sold down to bed rock. Those who want the true situation of affairs in the islands buy the papers of the Hawaiian Gazette Publishing Company.

December 29, 1894.

That there is more or less opium brought into the country contrary to law no one will deny and most people believe that a large portion of it comes in vessels plying between ports on the Pacific Coast and the Hawaiian Islands. To acknowledge this as a fact is to argue that the men who bring it here and land it successfully are smarter in their business than the men employed by the Government to keep it out. Where's the remedy?

On the other hand it is believed that opium is landed from numerous small schooners sailing out of Victoria and Vancouver, which clear for the Japan Sea with permission to stop and trade at ports in the Hawaiian Islands. If the sands on the beach, of the small islands to windward could bark their information of the doings of these "long rakish crafts" what a yelping there would be. There might be a check put on this class of customers if the Government would petition the Custom House authorities of the United States and British Columbia at ports along the Coast to deny the masters of these small sailing vessels clearance papers, such as is mentioned above. A request of this character would be honored without a question, and opium smuggling through that source might have a set back. If, in the opinion of the Government it is not a good thing to license the drug it looks to a man up a tree, as though extraordinary means should be taken to prevent its importation. What's the matter with organizing a revenue marine service and have a cutter that could do patrol work?

We are now handling the celebrated "Victor" safe made in Cincinnati and used by three-fourths of the postmasters in the United States. It must be a good thing when Uncle Sam adopts it. We have them in small sizes and have larger ones on the way. They are not "just as good" as some other makes—they're a trifle better. They are well finished and strong; having double doors they are not easy of access to persons who have no business with the contents. The price is about right.

You will find a hanging lamp useful at all times even when you have electric lights in your dwelling. You will also find after you have examined lamps in every other establishment that ours are just a little mite better and a great deal cheaper. They have the B. & H. burner with the patent arrangement that obviates the necessity of taking off the chimney when you light the wick. The decorations are elegant, and the material holding the founts as good as can be made. We have a very nice assortment of Banquet lamps that are much sought after by persons who want something elegant for the parlor or dining room. The name doesn't signify anything; they give just as good light in the parlor or bedroom as they do in a banquet hall—try one of them for any purpose and you will be surprised with your purchase.

Our last lot of Cocoa Mats is about the best we have ever had. Those with "Aloha" on them are exceedingly well made and will last a life time. There's a big stock and the prices run from 50 cts. to $8; depends upon the size and quality.

MATE LEROY VIEWS THE PASSING THROUGH ON FIFTH AVENUE.

And Describes Some of the Notable Costumes Seen—Some Elegant Importations. Beautiful Ball Gowns and Superb Evening Dresses of New and Striking Designs. (Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.)

Ball dresses and elegant reception toilets and costumes for the horse show are now the principal subjects of the thoughts of the fair ones, and who can blame them? Church and after church promenades along Fifth Avenue also gives splendid opportunities for display, and there the fashion editor can find all the flower of such costumes and do her "trying on" after the manner of Jenny Wren.

After church last Sunday the stream of elegant toilets flowed by until the eyes were dazzled and the brain in a whirl trying to remember them all, but here is a description of a few of them.

First a plain gown of rich black grosgrain silk cut to trail slightly on the sidewalk. Over this was a dolman shaped mantle of black plush, richly embroidered with black jet and metallic braid sewed directly on the plush and not made up first. This gave it a far richer appearance. There was a high sprung collar embroidered in the same manner, and this was bordered all around with black ostrich feather trimming, and the sleeve portion also had a similar border. The front part reached to below the knees and was there finished off with embroidery and deep chenille fringe, with strands of silk fringe holding rich jet beads interspersed. The mantle was lined with old gold satin. A cozy little muff was made of plush, with a handsome knot of black satin ribbon on it. With this costume was worn a gray felt hat with a double crushed bow of mordore ribbon, and two pink rosettes, one on the outside and one just under the brim. Such a costume as this is calculated to make one feel very good.

Next came a young lady in a novel garment, which is very hard to define. It was like a dress, but was a coat, and it was made of heavy but pliable black silk armure. It was princess shape in the back and opened in front over a panel of black plush. On each hip there was a deep fringe of jet and one deep fringe at the waist line, and there the bust there were rows of narrower fringe, also in brilliant jet. There was a small medallion collar of black plush, and a hand collar inside of this, and folded revers of the plush richly embroidered in jet and lined with the armure, which showed in the fold. The sleeves were large gigots, with insets of the embroidered plush, and there were rolled cuffs of the plush with this costume cloak. The young lady wore a black pork pie hat, with a draping of baby blue velvet and tufts of black plumes.

A girl of 10 or 12 who accompanied her had a long coat of Havana brown covert cloth braided richly on the sleeves, waist and down the front with black soutache castle braid. There was a narrow band of astrakhan around the bottom, on the wrists and across the shoulders. The hat was of white silk beaver trimmed with white ribbon and two white plumes.

I remember another very handsome costume seen at the same dress parade. It was a leather colored cloth suit. The skirt was quite plain, but very full. The mantle was quite long, of a plain military shape, but down both fronts and all around were laid vandyke points of beautiful passementerie in dark brown braid. There was a deep collar of sealskin, and over this again was laid a deeply pointed collar of the passementerie. With it was worn a graceful black felt hat, with a crushed draping of seal brown velvet, surmounted by a black egret.

A handsome home dress was made for the sister of the wearer of the costume cloak, which is worth a special description. The gown was cut princess shape and was of superb black grosgrain. It was cut in one piece across the front, the opening for the waist closing invisibly. The darts were hidden under the delicate but elaborate rate black velvet applique embroidery. This embroidery covered the full gigot sleeves and nearly all of the waist and extended down the seams in front and on the hips to within about 18 inches of the bottom. In the back it branched out in the same style, but reached quite to the bottom of the two back seams. All this applique work must be done by hand and after the garment is made up, which is very difficult, and therefore naturally expensive.

This same young lady likes to have something dainty and different from all other gowns, and she had an early morning frock made that was a model in its way. It was of warm twill in the shades of brown and was cut all in one length, a seamless frocked princess. There was a crushed belt of surah that held the extra fullness in. On one side of the waist there was a narrow plait laid in over the fitting seam. The other side opened down from the shoulder and laced up, forming in a double loop and long ends of the cord. Around the bottom there were three rows of black trou-trou insertion with cherry Tom Thumb ribbon run in. The young lady does all the marketing for her family, and this dress with a cameron cape makes a suitable and useful toilet.

A dainty dancing dress for a pretty blond was shown me that I think would please any girl who wants to look her prettiest. The underdress was of rose pink glaze, and over it was a full dress of white net, spangled with iridescent disks, sewed on irregularly and so that they move with the wearer's motion. The waist was medium low and slightly draped and fully trimmed by straps, belt and knots of dark moss green velvet ribbon. There was a long sash of the same in the back with deep loops. This model is easy to make and can be changed in many ways to suit the taste of the wearer.

This morning I was favored with a view of some beautiful dresses just brought from abroad by Mrs. Frank Leslie, whose taste in dress is well known, and when good taste and plenty of money join hands the result is worth knowing. The first gown shown me was a home dress of delicate maize crepon, and china silk of the same shade. The front of the silk was accented plaited to the bottom, where there was a row of point de Paris lace and above that two rows of insertion, with baby ribbon run in trou-trou fashion. The waist was fitted in to the figure by wide lace reaching upward from the waist line and downward from the neck, leaving a short space of silk uncovered. The puffed sleeves were of silk covered with lace and with baby ribbon run in at the wrists and ending in a rosette. There was a simulated figure of mordore velvet, with a glint of gold in some lights, and a pointed girdle of the same defining the trim waist. The skirt was extremely full in the back, but plain. The two center breadths extended up to the shoulders in the back, narrowing to the top, where they ended under rosettes, and just below the waist line the material was lifted in a broken plait, forming a graceful bit of drapery. The grace and beauty of the color and form of this gown are the outcome of an inspiration of Whistler. It is a symphony in yellow.

The next was a dinner dress of deep cream colored figured French crepe, semi-transparent. The skirt was draped up on the sides under jabots of deep brussels point lace, and at the top this was drawn across the hips and ended in tiny beques under pretty flots of baby blue ribbon 8 inches wide. The corsage was low and had the fronts draped over a heart shaped plastron of the exquisite lace. The sleeves had puffed forearms of baby blue grosgrain silk, with deep caps of the same priceless lace.

The next was a Worth gown, with a corsage adapted for wear with any skirt. It was of an opalescent surah, with a vague and shadowy stripe and pattern reflecting all the colors of the opal. There was a gir-die corselet outlined with superb opalescent passementerie, on which were set medallions of pearls surrounding opals. Fancy dog ear bows are set on the sleeves and corsage. The sleeves are immense draped gigots, with clumsy point caps and demure across the bust. The skirt to this corsage is full, but entirely plain.

A reception dress, also Worth, is one of the most striking gowns I ever saw, and I despair of describing it worthily. The entire lining is of old rose faille. On the bottom of the skirt is an olive green velvet sprung flounce, and around this are set three narrow velvet stripes of another shade, each bordered with a tinsel and old rose edge. The upper portion of the skirt is made of velvet striped with horizontal satin, each stripe being outlined with tinsel. These stripes vary in width from a quarter of an inch to 1 1/4 inches, and in color they shade from dark peacock blue to a dull red through all the sunset green shades. These stripes widen and narrow down twice on the skirt from waist to flounce. The sleeves are enormous and in green velvet, like the flounce. There is a flat collar to the waist, and the front is overlaid with a piece of magnificent cream lace lined with pale pink crepe lisse across the bust. On the shoulders are upright ruffle wings of velvet stiffened with wire, and several very large doubled velvet bows on the sleeves and waist are also wired. The lower portion of the front of the waist has the stripes forming a point. In the back they are crosswise. There is also a figure of the lace. The whole scheme of color and line on this gown is wonderful, and the effect rich, quiet and pleasing.

There was one evening gown of cream brocade with ruffle sleeves having a fall of brussels point over crepe lisse. The front of the waist was of chestnut colored satin, with bands of 3 inch passementerie outlining all parts of it. The passementerie was of bronze beads and pearls. Point lace was also lavishly used on the corsage, which had a basque frill of cream satin ribbon and insertion, ending in white grettes. The skirt was plain, but very full.

Another very pleasing evening dress was of taffeta, in pale gray and pink, with a deep bias flounce headed by a twisted drapery of the same. The waist was of black velvet, low on the neck and pointed back and front. The trimming of this waist was a marvel. It consisted of an enormous butterfly bow where the stripes came perpendicular by being folded. From this half a butterfly on each side the breadth of silk was drawn to the side in flat plaits, fastened there and then carried downward 18 inches and doubled up again in another series of plaits to the shoulders, where it formed a very small butterfly bow. The folded silk below the belt formed panniers. The whole plan is as simple as possible, and yet it looks like a puzzle, as the folds are laid so exactly that they are alike on both sides.

A pair of sleeves with a dress to match was the next. The sleeves are of pale blue satin duchess, with enormous shaded passion flowers of plush. The corsage is of black velvet, with a bertha of wide point lace over blue chiffon to match. The sleeves are enormous. The skirt is blue.

DASTARDLY CRIME ATTEMPTED.

Building on Kaahumanu Street
Fired by an Incendiary.

MISCREANT CAPTURED IN THE ACT.

J. K. Nakookoo Arrested for the Crime
—Reposes in a Dark Cell on the Reef
—Summary Punishment Will be Meted Out to the Fire-Bug.

The second attempt at incendiarism since the outbreak of hostilities occurred at 7:20 o'clock last night. Shortly before that hour smoke was seen issuing from the frame building on Kaahumanu street adjoining Schaefer & Co.'s store. But little attention was paid to the smoke, as it was thought to be from Nolle's restaurant. Terrance Kevan, one of the guards stationed in that locality, was attracted by the smoke and proceeded to make an investigation. He ran along Kaahumanu street and located the building from which the smoke was pouring, and started back to give the alarm when he noticed some one open the front door and look cautiously around. He stopped and drew his revolver to fire at the man, but before he could do so the door was closed. Charlie Crane, who was near the scene at the time, turned in the alarm. In the rush that followed men were running in every direction, and for a time it was thought the police station was on fire. Captain C. J. Campbell, who was standing by the gate leading from Schaefer's back yard into Merchant street, heard some one trying to get out that way. He had a rifle in his hand at the time, and when the gate was partially opened he attempted to draw his revolver, but failed to get it out of the holster. When the man inside saw Captain Campbell he quickly closed the gate and went around the rear of Schaefer's store, jumped over the fence just back of the Inter-Island steamship office and made his escape.

The firemen arrived on the scene promptly and the chemical engine was soon at work. An entrance was made by breaking in the large window in front of the building. The smoke was thick and blinding, smelling strongly of kerosene, which made it difficult for the firemen to work advantageously. In a few moments, however, a stream of water was available and the fire quickly put out. The front door was heavily barricaded and it took some little time to cut it open. Investigation located the fire in the rear of the building, in a corner of which was piled a lot of waste paper, some of which showed evidence of having been soaked in kerosene oil. One of the rear windows was found open, through which the miscreant who fired the building escaped. A stream of water was also turned on the upper floor, flooding the building throughout.

In the meantime a search was being made for the man who fired the building. Harry Evans, turnkey at the station, and Captain Hookano had got a description of the party and started out to find him. Suspicion pointed to a half-white named J. K. Nakookoo, a clerk in the employ of Enoch Johnson, who has an office in the fire building, and who resides near Kaimakapili Church. The officers proceeded to that point and arrested Nakookoo just as he was entering the basement under the church. Nakookoo showed signs of fatigue and was considerably frightened. He was brought to police headquarters and charged with arson and locked up.

When questioned by the Marshal, Nakookoo made an emphatic denial of having been near the building since noon yesterday. His wife, however, tells a story that differs materially from that of her husband. Nakookoo was seen at 6 o'clock last night by turnkey Harry Evans in front of the postoffice, and later Albert McGurn recognized him in Nolle's restaurant. He was also seen by two natives a short time after leaving Nolle's. When seen by Evans, near the postoffice, Nakookoo had a bundle under his arm and one in his coat pocket.

The firebug was taken over to the reef last night and placed in a dark cell. This morning he will be brought to the Marshal's office and questioned further after an official examination has been made of the premises on Kaahumanu street. A broken bottle was found in the corner of the room where the fire broke out, which is supposed to have contained coal oil. A pair of shoes and pants were also found inside of one of the offices, which are said to belong to Nakookoo. The inside walls are charred up to the ceiling. While making his escape Nakookoo was plainly seen by Captain King as he was scaling one of the houses in the rear of the Inter-Island office.

The incendiary has a brother now under arrest for conspiracy. The building which Nakookoo attempted to burn is built of wood and extends from Kaahumanu street back to the rear of and adjoining the Police Station. It is occupied mainly by attorneys and is divided into two sections. In one of these are the law offices of W. C. Farke, J. K. Hookano, Enoch Johnson, F. J. Testa and others. The other side is occupied by Antonio Rosa, the Hawaiian Investment Co. and other persons.

The building is owned by the Foster estate and is fully insured. The damage to the building amounts only to the broken doors and windows, but the occupants will sustain much loss from the effects of water. It could not be ascertained last night whether there was any insurance carried by any of the persons who have offices in the building. It is said Nakookoo was until Tuesday last out with the rebels, but returned home on that day. That Nakookoo deliberately and maliciously set fire to the building there can be no doubt, for he was caught red-handed. Two motives can be advanced for the crime: one is that of revenge for having been discharged recently by Hookano & Johnson, for whom he had been working for some time past. The other is that by burning the building the fire might spread to the police station, where a large amount of explosives are stored. Should this have done great damage would have resulted and many lives imperilled. It may be that Nakookoo thought he could release the prisoners who have been arrested during the revolution, thinking they were all confined at the city jail. At any rate Nakookoo has committed a dastardly and serious offense, and will receive punishment in accordance with the enormity of his crime.

At the Grave.

In speaking of the interment of the body of Robert Louis Stevenson, a late Samoa paper says: "On Tuesday afternoon early, Mr. Stevenson's remains were conveyed to their last resting place on a plateau at the summit of Vaea mountain. During the greater part of Monday night, and all Tuesday morning, a number of Samoans, directed by Mr. Osbourne, were actively engaged in cutting a track up the mountain by which the coffin could be conveyed to the summit. The work, owing to the great natural impediments, was necessarily very imperfect, and the bearers in some places could do no more than to retain their hold of the casket, whilst, by means of ropes around their waists, their comrades hauled them upward, and forward toward their goal."

A RARE OPPORTUNITY*FOR INVESTMENT.

It is proposed to place the Ostrich Farm of the late Dr. Trousean on the market in January or February next. This farm is thoroughly equipped and now has thirty-four healthy birds on same, including the famous male ostrichs Jumbo and Jno. L. Sullivan.

We believe that it can be demonstrated that this enterprise, new to these islands, but of long standing in Africa, New Zealand and California, can be now carried on at a profit as the experimental stage has been safely passed.

Mr. A. P. Jackson, the genial manager can always be found in attendance at the grounds.

We have on hand a large number of prime feathers in assorted colors from the last plucking which are easily worth $50 per pound and upwards according to quality. The next plucking takes place in January next. Prospectuses, information concerning the feather market and all necessary data will be furnished.

All reliable persons desirous of visiting the grounds can do so by first obtaining permits from the undersigned.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

B. B. Brenham departed yesterday.

Nine tourists left for the Volcano yesterday.

H. Morrison left for Makaweli yesterday.

Mrs. Seeley I. Shaw left by the Alameda yesterday.

Charles J. Falk, of Mahukona, is in town for a few days.

The reservoirs in Nuuanu Valley are well filled with water.

The band serenaded the Alameda's passengers yesterday.

Colonel Norris has recovered from the effects of his late accident.

The Hawaiian band will give a concert at Emma Square this afternoon.

Miss Bessie Reynolds left for Lihue yesterday to resume her school duties.

The steamer Cummins helped the Alameda to get out from the wharf yesterday.

The Kirkwood property at Lahaina will be sold at noon today by Jas. F. Morgan.

Chief Crowley and family left for home yesterday after spending about six weeks in town.

J. E. Miller, the fertilizer dealer, left for San Francisco yesterday, accompanied by his wife.

George H. Robertson, the manager of C. Brewer & Co., was a passenger in the W. G. Hall yesterday.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found late news from Europe and America. Some important dispatches are reprinted.

Mrs. J. B. Sutton, Miss Emily Sutton, wife and daughter of Purser Sutton, of the Alameda, left for their home in San Francisco by yesterday's steamer.

Corporal Green and the guards at the telephone office desire to thank Miss Oliver and other ladies for an elegant repast furnished them after 1 o'clock this morning.

The 11 o'clock services at the Central Union Church will be held as usual tomorrow morning. Sunday school will be omitted. Notices for the evening services will be given out in the morning.

H. G. Biart, formerly with Wenner & Co., is now located in the Gertz premises at 413 Fort street. Henry will put your watch in good order and furnish you with any design in the jewelry line.

The people on Maui and Kauai will receive the first intimation of the revolution this morning. From Mahukona the news will be telephoned to Hilo and surrounding districts some time during this afternoon.

A tall, red whiskered individual, said to be one of the men that came here by the last northern steamer to join the ranks of the revolutionists as a leader, departed by the Alameda yesterday. He claims to have belonged to the Canadian mounted police.

C. M. Walton, manager of Pahala Plantation, arrived by the Hall yesterday. He says the people on Hawaii knew nothing of what was going on in Honolulu, but the delay of the island steamers led to some speculation. He reports grinding over at Pahala; also rainy weather in that locality.

Chief Crowley Returns.

Chief of Police Crowley, with his wife and daughter, returned to San Francisco by the Alameda. The chief expressed himself as highly pleased with the courtesies he had received in this country, and it is not an impossibility that, in case of his retirement from active work, he may make his home in Honolulu. He is thoroughly enthused over the cause of annexation, and will be an active supporter in the States. He is very much improved in health.

Concert at Emma Square.

The Hawaiian Band, Professor Berger, will play at Emma Square at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Following is the programme:

1. March—"Defiler".....Berger
2. Overture—"Light Cavalry".....Suppe
3. Gavotte—"Springtime".....Reich
4. Selection—"Popular Airs".....Beyer
5. Waltz—"Serpentine Dance".....Gillet
6. Polka—"Nuuanu Valley".....Berger

Nearly Missed Her.

Dr. Walters of Kauai arrived at the I. I. S. N. Co.'s wharf just as the Mikahala left. His name was on the passenger list and he claims he only knew ten minutes before hand when the steamer was to leave. Captain Campbell signaled a boat and the doctor was rowed out climbing aboard ship by means of a rope.

NEW TELEPHONE LINE.

L. S. Augst Will Build and Operate One on Hawaii.

The many friends of L. S. Augst, formerly superintendent of the Mutual Telephone Company, before the consolidation with the Bell, will be pleased to learn that he is meeting with excellent success in starting a new telephone line on Hawaii. He has already secured sufficient subscribers to guarantee the success of the venture. The new line will start from Punaluu and run through both districts of Kona to Kailua and on to Kawaihae, there connecting with a line to Mahukona and Hilo. Such a connection will prove of great value to the coffee raisers along the route, and put them in direct communication with nearly the entire island. The line when completed will be about 120 miles long. Mr. Augst, while superintendent of the Mutual Telephone Company, in this city, succeeded in working that company up to a high standard of excellence. He is an electrician of long and varied experience, at all times affable and agreeable, and was highly esteemed by his employers and a large circle of friends. All who know Mr. Augst will be pleased to hear of his good fortune.

AFFAIRS IN KAU.

Some Newsy Notes From the Windward Side of Hawaii.

KAU (Hawaii), Jan. 9.—Kau has been having copious showers of rain during the past week, making everything nice and green. The cane throughout the district is looking splendid.

The Hutchinson Plantation has two mills grinding steadily and are making plenty of sugar.

The deputy-assessor has sent out a list of the delinquent tax payers. Mr. Walton has been installed as manager of the Hawaiian Agricultural Company, and has made a very favorable impression with the old hands.

The Hawaiian Agricultural Company is running a tunnel into the mountain at Maula. They have been working on it several months, and have reached a depth of about seventy-five feet. They hope to find water there and if they do it will be a great benefit to the plantation.

The volcano seems to be dead; no fire, but a little smoke is seen.

Jos. Emerson returns to Honolulu this trip. He has been surveying the Hawaiian Agricultural Company's lands for the past six months.

The Latest Rumor.

At 3:30 this morning a report was received at police headquarters from two different sources that some twenty or thirty natives were congregated near Abe Fernandez' place at Kalihi. A squad of mounted police was sent out under command of Deputy Marshal Brown to investigate. They had not returned up to 4:30, but a telephone message from near Kalihi about that hour reports everything quiet in that vicinity.

GERARD—In Kailua, aona, Hawaii, December 22, 1895, to the wife of Frank Gerard, Jr., a daughter.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Jan. 11.—10 P.M.—Weather, clear; wind, light S.W.

Lord Dornier was a passenger on the Kinau to Hawaii.

Several officers of the Esmeralda came ashore yesterday.

Captain Vargas is second in command on the Esmeralda.

Only three of the island steamers were allowed to sail yesterday.

A very large cargo of bananas was taken away by the Alameda yesterday.

Captain Garin, of the Esmeralda, was here in 1886 on the warship Pilcomayo.

Strict watch was kept at the O. S. S. Co. wharf yesterday during the Alameda's stay here.

The captain, purser and doctor of the Alameda came ashore yesterday while the vessel was in port.

Some people who intended to get away on the island steamers that sailed yesterday, failed to get passes and consequently were shut out.

The schooners Golden Shore and Oceania Vance left Newcastle for Honolulu on the 22d ult., with 1157 and 637 tons of coal respectively.

Captain Campbell was on duty as usual at the I. I. S. N. wharf yesterday, although he has had a great deal of guard duty to do during the past four days.

When it was learned the Mikahala, Kinau and Lehua were to sail yesterday a great lot of freight was taken to the wharves so that there was quite a scene of activity.

The Attorney-General of New South Wales was one of the through passengers aboard the Alameda.

He applied for a pass, but it was impossible to show any discrimination.

The dock hands, the band boys, and a few friends of the passengers bound for San Francisco, were about the only ones present on the

O. S. S. wharf when the Alameda left yesterday.

The bark Helen W. Almy arrived at Samoa on Christmas Day from San Francisco. After discharging she was to proceed to Butaritari to load copra for a San Francisco firm.

The Mikahala was the first island steamer that has left on a regular trip since the trouble in the city. She steamed out at 4 o'clock. The Kinau was second, sailing at 5 o'clock.

There was no room for the W. G. Hall at the I. I. S. N. Co.'s wharves, so she pulled up alongside the Mikahala and landed her passengers in that manner. An immense crowd was at the wharf when the W. G. Hall came in.

The sailors on the Esmeralda were very busy cleaning ship yesterday. It took thirty-five days to make the journey from Valparaiso, and during that time a great deal of rust has been collected. She will not be painted while here since coal is to be taken aboard as soon as possible.

ARRIVAL OF THE ALAMEDA.

The O. S. S. Alameda sailed from Auckland, one day late, owing to the heavy weather encountered between Sydney and New Zealand; thence to latitude 14° north, experienced strong head winds and sea, with squally weather; arrived at Apia, blowing heavy from the northward, with thick weather; landed passengers and mails; too rough to work cargo. From 14° north to port, light winds from southeast to northwest, with a smooth sea. The German warships at Apia had left for Pago Pago harbor.

The O. S. S. Alameda from Sydney to San Francisco, discharged Sydney pilot December 24th, 5:30 p. m.; stopped for Auckland, December 29th, 10:15 a. m.; discharged from Auckland, December 30th, 4:30 a. m.; stopped for Apia harbor master, January 3d, 9:40 a. m.; sailed from Apia, January 3d, 12 o'clock noon; stopped for Honolulu pilot, January 11th, 6 a. m., 12 days, 23 hours from Auckland.

The Chilean Award.

The case of Joseph Quigley, a second-class fireman in the navy, is an interesting one. He was attached to the U. S. S. Baltimore during the Chilean revolution and was badly injured during the riots in Valparaiso that followed the overthrow of the government. Chile paid an indemnity of $75,000 for those riots and the sum of $1,000 was set aside by this government for Quigley's share of the fund. That individual disappeared some time ago, and when apprehended was tried by court-martial at Mare Island, Cal., for desertion. He was acquitted of that charge and convicted of being absent from the ship without leave. For this infraction of the regulations he was sentenced to six months' confinement and to be dishonorably discharged from the service. He has already served four and a half months of his sentence and has been an exemplary prisoner. Taking these things into consideration Secretary Herbert has remitted the unexecuted portion of his sentence and has sent him a check for $1,000, which will undoubtedly enable him to have a very merry Christmas. This payment completes the disbursement of the Chilean indemnity fund with the exception of $300 allotted to one of the Baltimore's injured sailors named W. H. Nichols, who deserted soon after the riots and has not been seen since.—Exchange.

What Horse-Power Means.

The unit of measurement of mechanical power was introduced by James Watt and called a "horse power." How this name originated is well told in the Magdeburg-Zeitung. One of the first steam engines built by Watt was to furnish the power for the pumps in the brewery at Witbread, England, which up to that time was supplied by horses. The contract called for as much power as furnished by a strong horse, and in order to get as powerful an engine as possible the brewer ascertained the amount of labor performed by a horse by working an exceptionally strong horse for full eight hours without a stop, urging the animal with a whip until it was exhausted, and there succeeded in raising 2,000,000 gallons of water. Considering the height of the reservoir this labor represents the present unit of a "horse-power," that is, the lifting of 168½ pounds to a height of about three feet per second. This result, however, was obtained by exceptional methods and should not be considered the basis of measurement of mechanical power. Actually the power of the average horse is barely 65 to 70 pounds three feet high per second.
