In Japan weekly returns of births and deaths are published, and for the week ending September 2d 623 births and 755 deaths are recorded for the kingdom. Yet, with these evidences of civilization, there are some people who think the Japs of no account. If the above return be a criterion, it is evident that the population of Japan is decreasing rapidly.

There is nothing like foresight in disposing of public franchises to private parties. In Cincinnati, for example, the street railroad companies pay an annual license of $4 per linear foot, inside measurement, of each car operated, and also pay into the City Treasury quarterly 2½ per cent. of their gross receipts. In addition to this they sell tickets to patrons at the rate of twenty-five for $1.

FRIDAY, : : : OCT. 11, 1889

THE State trials now before the Supreme Court are progressing very slowly, as was anticipated would be the case with the first one brought up, which is that of the Belgian Loomens. The prosecution rested yesterday afternoon, and the defense called out Robt. Wilcox as its first witness. His examination continued till the close of yesterday's session. His testimony puts a new phase on the affair, but what will be the final result of his examination remains to be seen. The Court room was very crowded yesterday, and will probably continue so during to-day or to the close of the trial of Loomens.

THE UNITED STATES AND CHINA.

so far as it can, against the United States for passing the Chinese exclusion act. An Imperial Celestial conference was held on the 14th September, ultimo, which is alluded to as follows in the Japan Gazette:

It is reported that His Majesty the Emperor of China held a conference on the morning of the 14th inst. with his Privy Council to consider a memorial sent in by the Censor Su recommending the dismissal of all Americans from the Chinese service and also the confinement of American merchants and missionaries within Treaty Ports, in retaliation for the treatment of Chinese in the United States. It is not easy to discover that any other course than the one which formed the subject matter of the conference remains for China to adopt as a counter thrust for the humiliation and indignity America has cast upon China is evidently standing upon her dignity, but American trade and connection with China is so comparatively small that the dismissal of Americans from the Chinese service, and restriction of American merchants and missionaries to treaty ports, will be acts scarcely felt by the United States, unless on the ground of national dignity. Practically American merchants abroad, in their individual capacity, cannot be distinguished from Englishmen and the difficulty of discrimination will be a great barrier to the carrying out of the restrictive measures proposed by China. Neither Americans nor Britons carry around with them certificates of birth, and generally a man's birthplace is where he states it to be. Numerous instances have come under the cognizance of the writer where Americans abroad have passed for Englishmen and vice versa to suit circumstances; and, where consular interference has been necessary, York shiremen who never saw Yorkshire, have been granted British protection. These matters abroad are seldom severely scrutinized by British consuls, and it depends entirely upon the consciencious scruples of the applicants.

in this matter is concerned, the United States cannot justly complain of the restriction above mentioned; and it so happens that Japan supplies all the Oriental products that are imported into the United States-those, at least, that are needed, although they may be all classed as luxuries.

geographically, Japan is very much nearer to the United States than China; and Chinese edicts will fall letter. comparatively harmless upon Uncle Sam. In any case the price of exclusion from China would be very small compared to the great benefit of excluding from American shores further importations of what is called in the Japan Gazette:

Filth and all that is foul and peculiar to the Celestial character. Wherever Chinamen gather together, much that is abominable and bestial finds fertile soil. and with just as much certainty as that morning will break there comes into existence a mighty engine of contamination that grows and grows despite its surroundings of civilization and decency -a mundane, reeky hell framed by the civilization of the 19th century, an incruous, unsightly state of affairs, but one never to be disassociated from the presence of Chinese in an alien country. The United States was perfectly justified in adopting the measure she did to prevent the Celestial octopus stretching its vicious self over her territory. Justification in the highest existed. Chinese immigration thither had assumed alarmby all those repulsive features ever associated with the Chinese element.

Hawaii nei is interested; but the difference of conditions here and in the United States should be fully considered, and not hastily legislated upon by an extra session of the Legislature. This is a matter more serious than pressing, and must have due reflection.

The Punchbowl Road.

MR. EDITOR: I have read the various articles in the papers about the new Punchbowl road, and have twice taken this fine drive. I hope that the Government will continue a work so well begun, and add to the charms of the drive by planting trees along the road to shelter it from the sun.

It has been suggested by persons interested in the project of providing a supply of water on the summit, that a small reservoir be built at a sufficient altitude in the bowl to water all of the trees planted there, the water being pumped from

This way of elevating water will be expensive, as it will require pumping works, and a man to run them. Would it not be better to have an independent pipe, say 3-in., laid from Punchbowl up to a point in the valley, that is higher than the highest point required in the bowl. This may require more of an immediate outlay, but after the pipes are once laid, the water will cost nothing more for many years.

I hope that in no very far off future, this fine old hill of ours may be converted into an elevated park, be converted into an elevated park, and pleasant labor requisite to the that will be a credit and delight to maintainance of their orchards and It appears that the government of the people, and that it will have a vineyards, while others supplement him. More About Hongkong.

MR. EDITOR: A correspondent in your issue of the 8th, disputes Mr. Kinney's assertion that in Hongkong "clerks in wholesale houses are largely Chinese, and ship work in all its branches are done by Chinese."

As one who has also been there, I dispute the assertion that white labor in Hongkong finds more employment on ship repairing for white owners than white labor does in the laundry business in Honolulu at

A white owner in Hongkong gets his deep-sea vessel docked, stripped, coppered, caulked, and all his carpentry and ship-smith work done by an army composed wholly of Chinese, into which no pale face intrudes; not even as a boss. The dock may be owned by a white man, but that is a matter of rent, which may be contracted for by the Chinese boss. If your correspondent disputes this and will want the evidence of others | weeks. lished in the July Planters' Monthly. In order to behold Riverside in all its beauty it should be visited in January, February or March, when the orange crop is ripening, and the visitor rides for many miles through orange groves, whose deep, glossy green foliage is exquisitely set off, and its beauty enhanced by the contrast with the brilliant golden fruit which loads down the trees so that they would often be crushed to the the trees are mature, and cultivaearth were they not artificially suping proportions and it was characterized ported. Here are to be found doctors and lawyers, clergymen and teachers, merchants and clerks, men representing every trade and profession, who having abandoned the life for which they have been especially trained, either from compulsion or choice, have come to this land of the orange and the vine, and are here enjoying a life of Arcadian comfort, free from harassing cares and de-pressing toil. SOIL AND IRRIGATION. The soil of Riverside is a decomposed granite, of a chocolate color, and of varying degrees of disintegration, from that which is as fine as the best of Hawaiian soils, although always containing a sufficient proportion of grit to scour a plow, to a quality which seems to be composed largely of sand. The sandy soil is naturally less fertile than the other, but is more easily cultivated, as it does not bake after irrigation as the a lobe soil is inclined to do. To one accustomed to the careful and economical methods of irrigation in vogue at the Islands, the system in general use here appears in the highest degree extravagant and wasteful, and yet as it is the result of fifteen years of the experience of careful and intelligent men, one would hardly ven-ture to say that it is not the best ture to say that it is not the best plan that could be devised under the circumstances, without first showing by practical demonstration the subel in Honolulu on MONDAY, October periority of some other method. Irrigation usually begins about the first of April and is continued until the first of November. During those seven months it is necessary to repeat the operation about every four or five he can have it, ad lib.

From the standpoint of the water users at any rate, the problem of a more economical system of irrigation is an important one, as the owner of a ten-acre orchard who now expends say one hundred dollars a year for water, one half of which he actually uses, would find himself fifty dollars richer at the end of the year under some system which would furnish his trees with just as much water as ENGINEER AND CONTRACTOR. they required and no more. The drill at the Makiki grounds yesterday evening, passed of very successfully and the evening was very fine. There was a large number of spectators present, and the battalion was in full force with Col. Ashford in uniform.

A Hawaiian native, on looking at the elephants yesterday afternoon, remarked to a companion that the "flapjacks" were very large. Whether he meant the elephants or their ears, did not appear; but the expression showed the aptness of the native mind to get expressions suitable for their ideas.

The men of the American warehips did not take part in the drill at the Makiki grounds last night owing, it is said, to Admiral Kimberly having given adverse orders. It is supposed that the opposition manifested to the projected treaty was the cause; but this may be only conjecture.

John Kea sworn said he was employed in the Attorney-General's office, and at 7 a. m. on the 30th July George Maxwell was stationed at the gate of the Government Building and would not allow witness to enter. Later on he went into the Palace yard and saw Loomens enter by the mauka gate. He heard Loomens ask Archie Muhaulu about provisions, and Loomens afterwards went out by the mauka gate. The guard at that gate would not let witness out and he scaled the wall. The gates were closed before the firing.

Emma Singer, of Singer's bakery, sworn, stated that Loomens came to buy bread at the bakery but did not get any. This was after 11 a. m. Lillie Nott and Rifleman Schumann

This motion was overruled by the Court, and a recess of fifteen minutes was then taken. After the short recess, Mr. Rosa proceeded with the defense. Robert W. Wilcox was the first witness for the defense, and his testimony occupied the greater part of the afternoon. It was not finished when the Court adjourned at 5 p. m. The chief points tried to be made through his testimony were to show that the King was cognizant of the movement, and that several communications had passed between His Majesty and Wilcox immediately previous to and also on the 30th

A Case of Poisoning.

Various reports were flying about town yesterday regarding the poisoning of several children attending the Catholic Sisters's School. The facts, as we learn them, are these: The parents of one of the girls sent or took some cream cake to their daughter, who ate part of it and panions. Soon after they were seized with severe pain, indicating poison. Two physicians were called in, who did all that could be done for the sufferers. One of the girls died yesterday, but the three others are improving with every prospect
