Political Battle Among Organization Perfected Clubmen Ends in a Riot.

Politics are booming in Chinatown. The annual election of officers of the big Chinese club on King street last night produced a raft of trouble, damaged Chinamen and the major portion of the police force,

The office of treasurer caused the dissension. The Butchers' Guild had a man slated for the job and the Money-Lenders and Bankers' Union had a candidate whom they determined should secure the coveted office.

At 8:15 a Chinaman rushed into the police station and asked for some officers to be sent at once to the headquarters of the Chinese Society on King near Smith street, and next door to Fernandez hardware store. He said that he thought there would be big trouble there shortly.

REACTIONARIES WOULD RESTORE THE OLD ORDER

Press Censorship Re-established in Russia and the Conservatives Ask the Czar to Annul the Douma Elections.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 6.-The worst features of the press censorship have been restored.

The sending of convicts to Saghalien has been discontinued. The reactionaries are endeavoring to induce the Czar to annul the recent elections.

MUTINEERS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

VLADIVOSTOK, April 6.-The trial of twenty-three soldiers engaged in the October mutiny has been concluded. Two of them were sentenced to death and the others to imprisonment.

The restoration of the press censorship does not look much like liberty in Russia. It is questionable, however, whether the government will be able to enforce its decrees in this regard, although it is apparent that a most determined effort is being made by the reactionary party to restore the old order. The attempt to induce the Czar to annul the Douma elections shows how desperate the friends of the autocracy have become. The elections resulted in a victory for the Moderate party in Russia, the Constitutional Democrats. An attempt to overturn that result at this stage would be perhaps the most dangerous experiment that Nicholas could make,

As to the abandonment of the convict prisons on Saghalien, that is made necessary by the cession of half the island to the Japanese.

The modern Elijah seems able to inspire a wholesome fear in the minds of his late followers and of the members of his own family, although he has been deposed from the leadership of Zion. The afternoon cables stated that his wife, who has already disowned him, had collapsed through fear that there might be bloodshed when he came back. Those who know Dowie, aside from the lady, will have small fear of that-but he is certainly going to make a strong fight for the material assets of his religious community.

ANTHRACITE OPERATORS UNLIKELY TO ARBITRATE

The afternoon cables carried the story of the proposition of the anthracite was made to appear that Kuhio was miners to submit their differences with the operators to arbitration. It was stated in the cablegram that this would weaken the position of the strikers, as the great element of strength in this year's movement was the fact that the anthracite as well as the bituminous miners were prepared to act together.

Children to Be Taught to Improve School Lots.

At its meeting yesterday afternoon the Board of Education, under the lead of Commissioner C. L. Wight, took up the matter of making the public school grounds beautiful, and while there was no definite action there was the revelation of the existence of a very commendable spirit in the Board in line with public senti-

The discussion grew out of the rea question by Mr. Wight as to whether school principals had been made to understand that they were responsible as well as for the entire discipline of their schools

Mr. Wight proposed a resolution making them responsible for cleanliness of buildings and grounds, but Superintendent Babbitt suggested that ants. it might be wiser to reach it in another way, without publicity. His plan was to embody these matters in the reports of the normal agents, along with reports on discipline and the general conditions in the schools, Some of the principals had been somewhat surprised even to know that they were responsible for discipline in all the rooms, that it was a part of their duty to see that discipline was preserved. There had been too, much of a disposition on the part of principals to merely make polite suggestions to teachers. That was being done away with, and the matter of cleanliness would be attended to in the same way.

Mr. Wight let it go at that, as to cleanliness, but he spoke once more upon the matter of making school grounds beautiful. "These yards might as well be beauty spots, instead of looking like a cross between a drunkard's door yard and a deserted home." Then he proposed the offer of some kind of a premium for the best kept and prettiest school grounds, but the Superintendent said it would be almost impossible to make a fair award, owing to differing conditions.

Authorization was given for the installation of an electric power plant to be sufficient for all needs, present and to come, in the manual training department of the normal school, such plant to cost $15 per month for power. Of this, the training class will pay five dollars a month from its own funds, as long as its money lasts. The installation is to be by the Hawaiian Electric Company. #### MOTHERS should know. The troubles with multitudes of girls is a want of proper nourishment and enough of it. Now-a-days they call this condition by the learned name of Anemia. But words change no facts. There are thousands of girls of this kind anywhere between childhood and young ladyhood. Disease finds most of its victims among them. Some of them are passing through the mysterious changes which lead up to maturity and need especial watchfulness and care. Alas, how many break down at this critical period; the story of such losses is the saddest in the history of home. The proper treatment might have saved most of these household treasures, if the mothers had only known of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION and given it to their daughters, they would have grown to be strong and healthy women. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypo-phosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and Pone and Blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia." The more it is used the less will be the ravages of disease from infancy to old age. It is both a food and a medicine,-modern, scientific, effective from the first dose, and never deceives or disappoints. "There is no doubt about it." #### THE JUBILEE NUMBER.

The Hawaiian Gazette Company is preparing a special promotion edition of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser to commemorate the fiftieth birthday of that paper which will occur on the second of July next. This half-century publication will contain not less than 80 pages, and the edition will be of not less than 10,000. Each paper will be folded in an illuminated cover, prepared for this use and in letter-press and in pictorial features will be a work of art. Furthermore, the paper will so fully describe Hawaii and its material interests and its seenic and climatic beauty and charm as to make it of special and peculiar with a short prayer and hymn, folvalue as a medium of wide publicity for the Territory and of advertising for lowed by an address suited to the seathose to whom the progress of the community and its wider fame must be of business advantage.

The contents of the Promotion Number will include a full description of the sugar industry and of diversified farming.

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

The article by Lorrin A. Thurston, recently presented before the Social Science Club of this city, on the labor situation in Hawaii, and printed in this edition of the Advertiser, is worthy of the earnest consideration of every one interested in the sugar industry-and that means nearly every one in Hawaii.

It is professedly written from the standpoint of the planter, and seeks from that standpoint a remedy for a condition which faces the sugar industry.

The writer's views are that the root of the difficulty is the "plantation system' as opposed to the individualistic system; meaning thereby that plantation laborers are housed and dealt with in the mass, instead of as individuals; licemen, the six workers aforesaid, and that the "home atmosphere" is conspicuous by its absence, in plantation two citizens. It is a most astonishing camps; that the overwhelming majority of single men promotes restlessness thing, what those Fishmarket gossips and nomadic habits; that more room, greater comfort and opportunity to ac- will say between bites of dried squid. quire fee simple homes; an extension of the central mill system, by which small planters can raise cane and sell it to the mill, and lastly that managers and owners shall take more human interest in the welfare of the laborers, will tend to solve the problem.

The difficulty is not so much to get new laborers to come, as it is to hold those who are now here and those who may hereafter come.

It is argued that the plantation system does not, and will not, hold the ing to play a speaking part in this laborers on the plantations in the face of the inducements being offered at the coming campaign-although he is going Coast. This claim is based upon the fact that although the immigration to to play a part. It would not be a cam-Hawaii from Japan, during the last five years, has numbered 39,000, there are paign, if he didn't. only 5,000 more Japanese laborers on the plantations now than there were five will be a losing part. The trouble with years ago. The Japanese come at their own expense, and in ample numbers, Brother Quinn, this time, is that he if they would stay on the plantations, but in fact they do not. What is the has got into that little Lane Sunday remedyf

It is one of the live issues of the day. Mr. Thurston has presented his views strongly but temperately. There are keen, strong men in Hawaii who will tell you the whole story at the do not agree with the views above expressed.

The Advertiser offers its columns for expression of opinions for and against himself a leader, Mr. Lane wants to the solution of the labor problem above suggested, or for any other suggestions as to how the situation can be met. That it will be met, goes without saying, are pretending to support Ned. Adams for the planters and the people of Hawaii have met many problems as serious for Supervisor-at-Large and Abraham as the present, and solved them.

This is a problem-solving community.

The Bulletin would do well to state, specifically, when Gov. Atkinson was down Adams at the last moment in the ever heard to talk about "whipping planters into line." As we understand the case that idea was advanced by the Bulletin itself, was paraphrased by the correspondent of a San Francisco paper in an article which the Bulletin quoted Board in his interest, Lane would be back to prove that Atkinson was lashing the legs of the sugar barons for the a really leader, and might be able to sake of delighting the Washington galleries with the spectacle of his prowess, deliver the goods to his friends, and While those who know the inside of the labor discussion are aware that both Carter and Atkinson have had no easy time in convincing some of the planters that the American labor policy is best, it is not on record that either of them have insulted the planters or taken undue credit to themselves for the success they have so far attained. The "whipping" yarn seems to have originated in the anxiety of the Bulletin lest Atkinson should have commended himself, by his land and labor settlement, to the appointive power in the White House.

It is desirable that the faces and short biographical sketches of all the constructive citizens of Hawaii should appear in the Advertiser's coming jubilee was what Jimmie Boyd and Lane had number, its Half-Century edition. The more of them the better for the historical value of the big paper. Every man who is repr se ded in the Advertiser's symposium will do something to cheat oblivion, for he jubilee number serves at Moillili. Anyway, relations will be preserved in the museum and public library and in many private homes between these two have been someand will become more interesting and valuable and more carefully guarded as time goes on. Nobody will be forgotten in Hawaii whose face and autobiography are included in the Half-Century Advertiser's table of contents. Special rates for articles and pictures will be made and there is no reason why any of what is coming to them. the men who figure in the activities, public or private, of this Territory, should Incidentally, the little Lane fellows be left out.

The Labor Situation In

Read by Lorrin A. Thurston Before the Social Science Club of Honolulu.

(Published by Vote of the Club)

The "labor question" has been a live issue in Hawaii ever since the cultivation of sugar cane began. It never was more important than it is today. The position is too serious to bicker or dogmatize over. It behoves us all to counsel together and decide upon the best thing to be done, and having decided, to do it. The following suggestions in connection with the subject are presented for consideration. The native Hawaiian supply of laborers was insufficient from the very beginning. In 1852, the first laborers were imported, 180 Chinese being brought at an expense of $50 each. They were paid $3 a month in cash the mainland of the United States. The latter is the final destination of such and who are content with present conditions; but even among these, more and furnished food, lodging and clothes, which cost approximately $4 a month a large number of Japanese, that Hawaii is at present little more than a sieve room is appreciated as is evidenced by the fact that if 100 laborers are remore. Chief Justice Lee in commenting upon them said: "They are great * * but to make them profitable they should never be stinted in their allowance."

KAMEHAMEHA IV. ON THE LABOR PROBLEM.

Prince Liholiho, afterwards Kamehameha IV., in an address to the Agricultural Society in 1854, spoke of the desirability of securing laborers from the North of Europe. He said: "I do not doubt but that we have among us many landowners who would gladly supply every man of that class that might arrive, with ground enough for himself and family to cultivate, with other facilities for comfort and convenience. Not a few shiploads of such families might do well here, but we have not the capitalists to bring them out. To make the speculation safe, however, arrangements should be made to introduce such laborers in not very small numbers. In a place where labor is always looking up, laborers being in demand, are apt to rate themselves rather highly, and in their estimate of what is due to themselves, they include elements undreamed of where they come from. Having come out as workmen, their ambition is to live without work-by keeping store perhaps. The cobbler will not stick to his last."

He speaks of the Chinese as follows:

hither. With all their faults and a considerable disposition to hang themselves, account for a large part of the difficulty and several remedial measures which, ilies, instead of an overwhelming proportion of male adults. Moreover these they have been found very useful. Suffice it to say that some of our largest if put into operation, would I believe, greatly improve the situation. sugar and coffee pantations are now chiefly dependent upon Chinese for the principal amount of labor done. That they might be better than they are, ought not to be used as an argument against them. That they are procurablethat they have been procured-that their wages are reasonable-that we can calculate upon retaining them for a certain time-that the climate suits them, and that they are handy in the house and in the field, are great facts. Excepting what relates to these coolies, all that bears upon the subject of imported labor is just theory and speculation."

THE KEYNOTE OF HAWAIIAN LABOR POLICY.

Thus early and prophetically were the labor conditions of Hawaii outlined and the keynote of Hawaiian labor policy sounded, viz: The higher class laborers are desirable; homesteading them is desirable; they are expensive to procure; they have progressive ideas and it is difficult to keep them at the work for which they are introduced; Asiatic laborers are not as good as they might be, but they are cheap, and, moreover they are available-and, greatest of all-"can be relied upon for a certain time."

labor supply has been a never ending source of anxiety and expense to the Laborers have come to Hawaii from Manchuria, Korea, China, Japan, the New Hebrides, Solomon and Gilbert Islands; from Norway, Germany, Austria, Italy, Portugal, Madeira, the Azores and Porto Rico, while both whites and negroes have been recruited in the United States. The latest addition to this heterogeneous mass is the sect of Russians known as Molokans.

The exact numbers of these immigrants is difficult to obtain, the data being scattered disconnectedly through reports, of the Custom House; the Board of Immigration; the Planters' Monthly; Thrum's Annual and the records of the Planters Company. After considerable research, however, I think the following compilation is approximately correct:

NUMBER AND NATIONALITY OF LABOR IMMIGRANTS TO HAWAII

The cost of this immigration has been enormous, As above noted, the cost of recruiting the first Chinese, in 1852, was

In 1886, when labor recruiting was being carried on from more sources than at any other time, the cost per capita of importing immigrants, including men, women and all children over two years of age, was as follows:

lands, a total of over $2,000,000. Five shipments of Portuguese, about 6000 in numbers, introduced between 1884 and 1888, cost per capita, that is for each man, woman and child, $89.45, of which the government paid $52.41 and the planters $37.04.

The cost per adult male laborer of the five shipments came to $266.15.

The least expensive European immigration that I have found statistics for cost $83.60 per capita and about $160 per man.

The cost of recruiting and bringing the 5000 Porto Ricans to Hawaii was $564,191, or $112 per capita.

In the earlier days of immigration, the Government and the planters divided the expense by a hit or miss plan, varying with every shipment. In some cases the immigrant paid back a part of the expense, and in others not. The expense incident to Japanese immigration was successively reduced from $65, to $55, to $40, to $35 per capita and since the Japanese have been com-

Honolulu has been reduced to $30 and even less, It is conservative to estimate that the average immigrating expense of approximately 184,000 immigrants to Hawaii, nearly all within the past 25 him, I mean giving to him, or selling to him, at a price within his reach, a or 30 years, has been $50 each, or a total of approximately $9,000,000.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE IMMIGRANTS.

What has become of the great army?

Some are dead; but the death rate has been far below the normal, as the great majority were young and robust, the kind who generally break away from old ruts to seek fortunes in a new country. The deaths are probably equalized by the births. The last census shows approximately 100,000 persons of the enumerated nationalities of all classes in Hawaii. Of these there were working on sugar plantations on December 31, 1905, 44,949 of whom 1553 were Hawaiians,

The account then stands as follows: Immigrants who came to work on plantations, approximately ..... Now on plantations..... 43,396 Otherwise engaged in Territory ...... 55,000

What has become of the unaccounted for?

through which the immigrants are strained, the usual result following, that who have individually established themselves in business.

That this is no exaggeration is demonstrated by the fact that the census room and privacy. of 1900 showed a Japanese population in Hawaii of 61,115, of whom 21,000 were employed on sugar plantations. Since then 38,479 Japanese have entered or less degree, the homing instinct and all the incidental desires and feelings the Territory but there are only 26,000 employed on plantations, and an unofficial census of the Japanese completed last week by Editor Shiozawa, which pletely as by members of the community who stand higher in the social scale. is believed to be approximately correct, makes the present Japanese population of the Territory 60,000. In other words, over 39,000 Japanese have emigrated to the Territory during the past five years, but there are only 5000 more on the plantations, and 1000 less in the Territory as a whole.

Almost without exception these immigrants were brought here, or came here, to work on the plantation. They are not working on the plantations, and the latter are chronically short of labor, many of them seriously so.

REASONS AND REMEDIES.

What are the reasons and what are the remedies for this unsatisfactory state of affairs?

"Chinese coolies have been introduced here and more are on the way remedy to meet them all; but there is a reason which appears sufficient to

NON-RESIDENT OWNERSHIP.

Incidentally to the reason is the fact that, with a few exceptions, the owners of the plantations do not reside on the plantations, and co-relatively thereto, the employes on the place, from manager to stable boy, have few ties holding them to the plantation, or even to the locality. Most of them can, without material loss or inconvenience, pack their grips and move on, in from one hour to one week, and whether they go north, east, south or west, be just as much at home where they go as where they came from.

THE REASON.

THE REASON IS THAT THERE IS LITTLE HOME FEELING OR AT-MOSPHERE ABOUT THE AVERAGE HAWAIIAN SUGAR PLANTATION. THERE ARE FEW PROPERTY INTERESTS THAT WILL BE SACRIFICED OR LOCAL SENTIMENT WHICH WILL BE RUPTURED BY MOVING ON.

Managers and the better paid employes are comfortably housed, but the From that day to the present time, with brief intervals, the insufficient great majority of the laborers are sheltered in "quarters," in "barracks," in buildings which are sanitary and reasonably clean, but so small that there can be little privacy, as between members of the family, and so close together that there is but slight separation from neighbors; so crowded together are the buildings that sanitary necessities prevent keeping chickens or pigs, while the keeping of a horse, a cow or even a goat is an impossible luxury to the overwhelming majority of plantation laborers, even though they have the means with which to procure them.

> There is a lack of individuality in the treatment of the laborers. They are utilized in "gangs," and are shifted from field to field as necessity requires, in many cases not even acquiring the small interest which attaches to seeing the cane which they have planted, develop, grow and mature.

> Could a system be devised, deliberately and of intention, better calculated to produce a restless, nomadic, drifting population, especially when eighty per cent and upwards of the men under discussion are unmarried and are absent from their families?

The wonder is that they are as contented and steady as they are.

Does not the very statement of the conditions suggest the remedy? The first thing to do to prevent a man from going away is to give him something to stay for-something which he will lose if he moves.

INCREASE OF WAGES IMPRACTICABLE.

No increase of wages that the planters can afford will do it. Wages are approximately the same throughout the Territory, for the different classes of work, and if one plantation raises wages, all the others do the same; while the wages offered on the mainland for railroad construction and other employments cannot be met.

It is claimed that sugar plantation quarters are better than those furnished the residences of the miners in Pennsylvania, to say nothing of the slums of every city in the Union.

What of it? We are facing a condition. That condition is that our laborers are being offered higher wages on the mainland than we can afford dependently owned kuleana, anywhere within the radius of his jurisdiction, and to pay. We must offer counter inducements, other than wages, to induce them buys every small holding that is for sale. to stay. It is of no avail to say that they are housed as well as other laborers in other parts of the world. What is necessary for our purposes, is to do some- laborer or a small farmer, the bare suggestion of such a proposition seems thing-to offer something-to the laborers here, or who may hereafter come, which will hold them here and prevent their being beguiled away by offers of higher wages elsewhere.

What shall this offer be?

SHARE CULTIVATION?

To a limited extent, some, probably most of the plantations, practice a system of share cultivation, paying so much an acre or per ton of cane, for by those who had neither capital, intelligence nor desire to engage in the sugar the care of cane after it is planted. But this arrangement usually lasts only from crop to crop, and frequently for only one or more operations on one crop The men who did engage in the sugar business were keen, intelligent, business -cultivating, or stripping for example.

All the weak features of the bare, crowded, uncomfortable quarters remain, with the added feature then, when the crop is harvested and a lump sum balance is paid to the laborer, he is thereby provided with a little extra capital, with which he can travel and see a little more of the world, with the possibility or where. Naturally they secured them along the lines of least resistance. Chibettering his condition.

With exceptions, there is little about the plantation quarters to suggest or invite permanency. On their face they are temporary abodes, to be occupied until something better can be found; and the unpleasant and uncomfortable features are so pronounced, that in many cases it takes a mere shadow of a chance of improvement, or no shadow at all, to induce a man to move on and try his luck elsewhere.

DOMICILING THE LABORER.

One thing that a man cannot carry away with him is land, One thing which he will miss if he moves from one plantation to another, veniences and comforts incident thereto. One remedy that I suggest, is the domiciling of the laborer. By domiciling piece of land on which he can create a home; on which he can raise fruit and vegetables for his own use, maintain a few domestic fowls and animals, and

What has Hawaii to show for this vast expenditure of energy and money? in connection with which he can gather around him a few luxuries and conveniences, such as are not and cannot be accumulated and protected in a plantation camp; a home to which he can retreat and be his own master; a place where he can live and where his family can live without being subject to the possibility of dispossession without a day's notice; a place where he can feel that he is an individual and not a component part of a gang; a place where he can be an independent man, instead of a dependent hireling, subject absolutely to the orders of another man.

WILL HOMES BE APPRECIATED?

the pronouncements of the Declaration of Independence, are platitudes, meant only-so far as they mean anything-to apply to Anglo-Saxons, who appreciate and value them by inheritance and education,

This is undoubtedly true concerning a large number. The unmarried Chinese laborer seems to prefer to work and live in a crowd, and with exceptions, does not do otherwise when he becomes his own master. There are undoubtedly The reply is that they have returned to their homes or drifted away to many others of various nationalities who have become habituated by long usage, moved from a plantation camp designed for 200, it will be a matter of a few the strongest and most energetic go, leaving behind the less efficient, or those days only before the remaining 100 will spread themselves out over the entire camp, if permitted so to do, with no other possible object than to secure more

But there are hundreds and thousands of other cases in which, to a greater connected therewith, are possessed by plantation laborers as fully and com-

THE PORTUGUESE AND GERMANS.

Take the Portuguese, for example. The Punchbowl district is a living example of the home-loving and home-creating instincts of the race. There is not, to my knowledge, a Portuguese tenement house in the Territory. By hundreds, little individual homes, costing from $300 to $1000 each, have been built with their own money. The same conditions prevail in Kona, Hawaii; and wherever, on the plantations, there are detached houses, with some grounds around, the Portuguese are eager applicants therefor.

The same conditions exist in Lihue, Kauai, with relation to the Germans.

There has been, perhaps, more opportunity for development and exhibition The reasons are doubtless many and complex, and there is no sovereign of these tendencies among the Portuguese and Germans, because the migrations of those two nationalities to Hawaii have consisted exclusively of famnationalities have no intention of returning to their old homes. They have permanently expatriated themselves and will never have any homes except those which they make anew for themselves. They also belong to races which for generations have been migrating all over the world. Emigration and permanent settlement abroad is therefore a common thought to them.

THE JAPANESE.

The Japanese, on the contrary, have for thousands of years been nonmigratory. There are no Japanese colonies, except the recently acquired Formosa, nor settlements, to accustom the people to the thought of permanent abandonment of the home country. On the other hand, there has been a gradual increase and accumulation of Japanese women in Hawaii, until there were 13,-600 in the Territory in 1900. There are probably somewhat less now.

A gang of single men, housed in barracks, are fertile soil for the agitator THAT WILL BE MISSED, OR TIES OF FRIENDSHIP and the recruiter from the Coast, and at best they are simply waiting until they accumulate enough money to go home again, or move on to the Coast.

With the greater stability, comfort and conservatism, incident to family life and the care and support of a wife and children, more desire for individuality has manifested itself.

Within the last few years, in spite of the fever to leave for the mainland, there are many little cottages holding Japanese families, scattered all through the islands, more particularly in the Kona, Puna and Hilo districts on the island of Hawaii.

The number and neatness of small homes in Japan is proverbial. The home creating instinct among the Japanese in Hawaii is dulled, for the reasons above enumerated, but it is only dormant, as is demonstrated by many examples in the districts named, where little shanties built of odds and ends-fern slabs frequently being used-are at the same time artistic, clean, and usually accompanied by door yard plants and potted flowers.

Give Japanese families an opportunity, within their means, to acquire small homes, and I believe that the number who will settle down and become permanent residents will astonish the planters who are now perplexed and worried by an endless procession of wandering and shifting alleged laborers.

DOMICILING PROPOSITION NOT NEW.

I am aware that the domiciling proposition is not new.

The principle involved was the basis of the kuleana system in the early forties and fifties.

I have found it recommended in proceedings of meetings held in 1852 and 3. The principle of cutting up the land and locating the people thereon, has been advocated and reiterated year in and year out, in government and plantation reports, in the Legislature, in the magazines and newspapers, for nearly seventy years,

THE PLANTATION SYSTEM DEFINED.

As opposed to this principle of settling the inhabitants of the country upon laborers in many parts of the United States. I admit it unqualifiedly. I the land, and giving them individual homes, with individual interests in the know of no Hawaiian labor camp that is as crowded, filthy or insanitary as crops, has been the plantation system—the system of doing things by wholesale -by combining large capital with labor in great numbers-the very antithesis of the homestead or individual system.

The advocate of the plantation system looks with a shudder upon an in-

As for selling a piece of land lying within his "sphere of influence" to a sacrilegious to the ultra advocate of the plantation system.

THE PLANTATION SYSTEM A NATURAL GROWTH.

The sugar industry of Hawaii and the plantation system have grown up simultaneously. It has been a natural growth. In the early days of the industry, through the fifties and sixties when the plantations were themselves small, kuleanas and lands adjacent to the plantation were almost entirely held cane business. They were content to work for wages, and small wages at that. men who naturally were quite willing to employ cheap labor and take the chances of large profits. As the business grew, the necessity for additional laborers became acute.

The planters with more or less spasmodic energy searched for laborers elsenese were easiest to obtain; their wages were low and there was an unlimited supply of them. South Sea Islanders were comparatively near at hand, and, although less efficient than Chinese, offered a desirable divergence of nationality. The rising tide of popular opposition to increased Chinese immigration compelled resort, from 1883 to 1887, to European sources, but the tremendous outlay involved soon checked this source of supply; and, although in connection therewith the agitation for settlement of the people upon the land was increased, by this time the plantation system had become so entrenched that efforts in this direction languished.

Then Japan was opened as a source of labor supply and the numbers availing voluntarily, and at their own expense, the cost of passage from Japan to or leaves the Territory, is a home on that piece of land, with the small con- able and the low cost of obtaining them, still more solidified the strength of the system.

THE GOVERNMENT HOMESTEADING SYSTEM.

It is true that beginning in 1888, and continuing with more or less activity since, the so-called homesteading system has been carried out by the successive governments of Hawaii, but most of the lands so homesteaded have been remote from sugar mills; the homesteaders are mostly without adequate means to establish mills of their own, and without education or administrative ability enough to successfully combine to co-operatively produce sugar. The local market for farm produce is limited, and markets for money crops for export abroad, while promising in several directions, are not yet generally established. The small homesteader needs the moral support of his powerful neighors, but he seldom

I am aware that there are exceptions; that some plantations have for years bought cane from small planters; that some of the plantations have from time It may be claimed that this home instinct does not exist among the class to time farmed out portions of their lands to planters on shares; but in the of people who constitute our plantation laborers, and that the foregoing, like main the policy of the plantations has not been favorable to small planters, and,

LABORERS ARE NON-OWNING TENANTS AT WILL.

There may be instances which have not come to my attention, but in thirty years of intimate acquaintance with the sugar planters and plantations of Hawaii, I have never known of a plantation selling or giving land to laborers in its employ for homesteads or any other purposes. True, on some plantations some laborers have occupied certain houses, for long periods, but always as one? tenants at will.

measurably under control, there was no serious thought of, or from the view point of its advocates, any necessity, for changing the plantation system.

Every instinct of commercialism and conservatism was against it.

Cuba, when labor was cheap, plentiful and under control there.

It is a moral certainty that a cheap and plentiful supply of labor would have perpetuated the plantation system in Hawaii, although many planters and harsh criticism. The environment and the conditions created and maintained this system and all of us must share our proportion of the responsibility for it.

THE PLANTATION SYSTEM IS NO LONGER POSSIBLE.

But the conditions until recently prevailing, under which this system was possible, have passed; and the system is itself passing. The responsibility is in part upon each one of us to say what shall take its place.

Chinese are no longer available and the will-'o-the-wisp hope, that they may at some time be obtained, has become so vague and misty that even those who have believed it possible that the restriction laws might be modified, have PLANTATION AND TO OUTSIDE LANDS. at last resigned themselves to the inevitable.

South Sea Islanders were never efficient, will not work without the spur of a contract, and can no longer be had. They are not even thought of by any one as being a source of supply.

Until recently the Japanese who came to Hawaii remained here until they were ready to go home; but within the two or three years last past, although coming here in large numbers, they are making Hawaii but a stepping stone to pass on to the mainland of the United States. They are not only doing this but the impetus caused by their numerous departures is drawing into their train thousands of Japanese previously resident in Hawaii.

The Korean immigration has been precarious and uncertain and they do not make especially good laborers.

Although there were a number of good laborers among the Porto Rican immigrants, the large percentage of criminal and degraded characters among sugar producing countries, are not our hands being forced to provide counter them has placed that immigration under a cloud. Morally and socially, they are at the foot of the ladder in Hawaii, as compared with immigrants of other nationalities. .The United States statutes prohibiting assisted immigration and contract labor has heretofore rendered difficult-well-nigh impossible-the renewal of immigration from Europe.

The ruling recently made at Washington, that the Territorial Government can indirectly assist immigration and receive contributions of money from private individuals for that purpose, opens up the possibility of procuring some European laborers, but the expense of such immigration, as shown above, is something enormous.

COST OF EUROPEAN IMMIGRATION.

Doubtless with present increased transportation facilities, more particularly when the Tehuantepec Railroad is in operation and regular steam communication is established therewith direct from Hawaii and from Europe, the cost can be very much reduced; but it is improbable that at the very lowest, a through rate from Europe to Hawaii can be obtained of less than $60 per capita, which means that if a laborer is accompanied by a wife and one child only, the cost

The government can not any longer be looked to, to share these expenses. The immigration of 10,000 European laborers on this basis would mean the immediate cash expenditure by the planters of $1,500,000.

Ten thousand laborers is not an extravagant estimate of what is now needed, or will be needed within the next two years. If European immigrants are found available; if the funds are available to land the immigrants in Hawaii, how much better off is the sugar industry going to be than it now is, if the present plantation system is continued?

It is a moral certainty that if it is continued a very large percentage of the new immigrants will repeat history and make Hawaii but a stepping stone on their way to the broader opportunities of the mainland.

undoubtedly do better their condition, even under the plantation system of Hawaii, but that system and present local conditions do not satisfy them. As knowledge of what can be secured at the Coast becomes more general and come to pass, we shall have our labor for our pains. We will pour out our good money and get no permanent return or relief by reason thereof.

FOUR REMEDIES SUGGESTED.

What then is the remedy?

Again I suggest that one most efficient remedy is to tie the laborers to the land, both those now here and the immigrant yet to come, not by making him a serf, but by making it to his self-interest to settle down. How can this be done?

There are many things that can be done tending to that end. Where there is a will there is a way; mollycoddling is not wanted; but I submit that there are practicable, reasonable, horse-sense methods, of which the following are some that are worth trying:

PRACTICAL INTEREST IN LABORERS.

NTEREST IN THE LABORERS, AND ACTIVELY PROMOTE THEIR COM- generally tried. PORT; THEIR PLEASURE; THEIR WELFARE GENERALLY.

it will be done promptly, intelligently and completely.

ENCOURAGE MARRIED LABORERS.

2. ENCOURAGE IN EVERY POSSIBLE WAY THE SECURING AND SETTLEMENT OF MARRIED LABORERS, AND THE REDUCTION OF THE PRESENT VICIOUS DISPROPORTION OF THE SEXES.

The first cost of obtaining a single man and of housing him thereafter, is less than that of securing and housing a man and his family; but there the economy stops. As a rule the gamblers, the pimps, the agitators, the loafers, the wanderers, the restless ones among the laborers are the single men, with no ties, and no incumbrances. Ten minutes suffice to pack their belongings and $5 will take them from one end of the group to the other.

I recently said to a Japanese, "What for you no go California?" He replied, "Oh, I like. My wife no like. Wife no like, no can go."

The records show that it is mostly the single men who are going to California.

A man who has a wife and several children on his hands has given hostages to fortune and is mortgaged, to a great extent, to the locality where he is living. Poor philanthropy this, do you say? I am not discussing philanthropy now. I am talking practical business-how to keep the immigrants whom we may get from leaving the plantations after we get them there, and how to prevent those who are now there from going away.

DOMICILE THE LABORERS.

3. OFFER EACH MARRIED LABORER OF GOOD CHARACTER, A LOT OF LAND AND COTTAGE IN FEE, UPON WHICH HE CAN MAKE HIS & Co. so far as permitting laborers to own their homes, such a thing has been prac- acres of sugar cane under cultivation. It will not be necessary to domicile all the laborers; but if it were, would it not be better to utilize one-seventh of the area of a plantation to secure laborers enough to properly operate the other six-sevenths, if otherwise the whole plantation is placed in jeopardy?

> It may be objected that after the laborer has obtained title to his homestead, he may quit working for the plantation, whereupon the plantation would not only be minus a laborer but a house and lot as well.

This is undoubtedly a chance that must be taken; but is the risk a serious

A man in the walk of life of a plantation laborer cannot be a gentleman So long as an abundant supply of labor was available, or the supply was of leisure. He must work somewhere. His homestead cannot occupy all of his time. If he obtain other land on which to engage in some other occupation, he will occasionally want some ready money, and the adjacent plantation is the most natural place for him to go to earn it. In any event the chance for The same conditions produced like results in the Southern States and in the plantation to secure transient laborers will be as great as before, while it will be reasonably certain of securing the services of a considerable percentage of the laboring population permanently residing in the neighborhood.

Again, many of the homesteaders will have relatives of friends who will others have regretted and opposed it. I make these statements in no sense of live with them, or they will take in boarders, thereby increasing the local labor

It is objected that the homesteads, in private hands, may become saloon sites and consequent centers of demoralization,

The reply is that a clause can be inserted in the deed forfeiting title if liquor is sold on the premises.

4. EXPAND AND EXTEND THE PRESENT EMBRYO SHARE PLANT ING SYSTEM, GIVING THE LABORER A LARGER PERCENTAGE OF THE PROFIT AND A LONGER TERM OF CONTRACT. APPLY IT BOTH TO

It is objected that steam plowing and irrigation require large fields for economical production.

The reply is that similar conditions exist elsewhere and are successfully met, without adopting the plantation system. The great irrigation systems of California and of the reclaimed desert land now being brought under irrigation by the expenditure of millions of dollars, all supply water which costs immense sums of money, to individuals, who irrigate shall patches therewith. A schedule of quantities of water to be furnished, areas of land to be irrigated, and times of irrigation, will have to be adopted. That is what is done elsewhere, and, with some difference of detail, will have to be done here.

But are we in a position to choose? With an unlimited demand for this same class of labor only six days sail away, at wages higher than sugar plantations can pay and compete with other attractions in every possible way?

The keynote of the "plantation system" was, in the words of Kamehameha IV, quoted above, the ability to "calculate upon retaining them (the laborers) for a certain time." The contract system, even though extending to only 25 or 30 per cent of the total number of laborers, made this calculation possible. After the contract system was abolished, the supply of Japanese labor, although comparatively unreliable and restless, was not, until recently, subject to the destructive drain to the Pacific Coast that is now taking place.

Now the steadying power of the contract is gone and the Japanese population, both at home and in Hawaii, is thoroughly educated up to the ways, means #### and advantages of emigrating to the Coast. HOW CUBA MET THE SAME LABOR CONDITIONS.

Cuba was in a like dilemma, when, in 1886, slavery was finally abolished. The plantation system had flourished there for generations. The slaves were free. They would not work for small wages and were too uncertain and lazy to earn high ones; while the, showed a disposition to wander and to become irresponsible vagrants. The planters stared destruction in the face. They had to act and act quickly of go under. They acted both quickly and successfully. They cut up their vast estates into lots of from 10 to 50 acres and sold, or, more generally rented them, at nominal rentals to their former slaves, making contracts with them to buy the cane produced, for a given number of pounds of sugar for each ton of cane delivered. This was the genesis of the so-called "colonia system" which has been successfully continued in operation in Cuba ever since. It is the basis of the contract recently made by Col. Spalding with the Molokans, the mill in that case delivering to the planter 160 pounds of bagged sugar for each ton of Lahaina cane and 140 pounds sugar for each ton of Caledonia cane, delivered to the mill,

THE MOLOKANS.

Incidentally to the share planting system and the necessity for going The European in leaving home seeks to better his condition. Most of them abroad for laborers, I submit that the opportunity to secure Molokans should be carefully considered. Their adaptability to sugar cane production is yet to be proved. If they are a success there will be no recruiting or passage expenses to pay. They are leaving Russia anyway and are traveling at their facilities for travel become greater and cheaper, all of which will certainly own expense. The estimates above show that it will cost at least $1,500,000 to introduce 10,000 European families. It will probably cost more. It is said there are ten times 10,000 families of desirable emigrants and laborers with their families, ready, willing and anxious to come, if they are only shown the way and given the opportunity. They can undoubtedly be secured on the terms of the Spalding-Molokan contract, under which there is a good margin to the mill and fair profit to the planter. The one obstacle in the way is that they require larger lots of land than a mere houselot. They want a homestead.

Plantations cannot be expected to surrender the fee of large areas, but those plantations holding government lands, and many of them do, may well consider, under existing circumstances, duplicating Col. Spalding's transaction.

PRACTICABILITY OF THESE SUGGESTIONS.

These suggestions are not visionary, utopian or impracticable. They have been considered so in the past, and lack of action has been based on that theory; but immediate and radical measures must be taken, not only to get addt-1. LET THE MANAGEMENT-THE OWNERS-TAKE MORE HUMAN tional laborers, but to hold the laborers now here, by some means not heretofore

I believe that the suggestions above made, or some of them, or others What the methods of doing this shall be, opens up a field altogether too along the same general lines, will eventually be adopted; that the same masterwide to be covered in this paper. Suffice it to say that infinitely worse rela- ful spirit which has made Hawaii what it is, will meet and solve the problem, as tions between labor and capital, than exist in Hawaii, have been met and dangerous conditions have been met and conquered in the past, and that the solved elsewhere. There is a high order of constructive and executive talent and sugar industry of Hawaii, established on a broader and firmer base than ever, power in Hawaii, and if the managers, the officers, directors and stockholders will continue to expand and be a source of profit for generations yet to come. of the sugar companies are once convinced that their business interests- Sugar is still, and will long continue to be, King in Hawaii; but it will take possibly their business existence, are involved in developing this suggestion, breadth of spirit and progressive intelligence in handling the labor question, as well as energy, to sustain it in that position.
