OPPOSES CLOSING OF THE NIGHT SCHOOLS

Their Founder Talks Interestingly of Them.

SCHOOLS CHEAPER THAN JAILS

WHERE IGNORANCE STALKS, THERE WILL YOU FIND VICE.

Because Hawaiians Throw Golden Era of Education in Gutter is No Reason Why Asiatics Should Be Forbidden to Reclaim It.

"The Republican is taking the right stand in opposing the closing of the night schools," said Joseph Lightfoot, Superintendent of the Sanitary Steam Laundry yesterday. Mr. Lightfoot was for sixteen years a teacher in these islands, his last connection with the schools being in the position of vice-principal of the High School and Superintendent of the Night Schools. Mr. Lightfoot is in fact the originator of the night schools of Honolulu. He devoted a great deal of time and energy to making them a success and when he resigned from the educational department they were in a most flourishing condition.

"It is unfair for Superintendent Atkinson to take the two night schools having the smallest attendance and hold them up as showing that the attendance at the night schools was not sufficient to warrant their continuance," said Mr. Lightfoot. "Mr. Atkinson says in speaking of these two schools that the per capita cost of instruction was too high. Based on this ground how about the per capita cost of the Normal School which, under the conditions existing in this Territory, is certainly a questionable expenditure. Mr. Atkinson took the night school at Moiliili and the one up Manoa Valley which are situated in sparsely settled districts and because the attendance was not what it was hoped to be closes all the night schools."

"The night school at Moiliili was established under my supervision as Inspector of night schools in the district of a number of Hawaiians in the district. For a time the Hawaiians gave good attendance, but as in many other things with them their interest soon waned and the Japanese and Chinese seeing that the Hawaiians were throwing away their golden opportunity took advantage of it for themselves and began attending the school. Mr. Atkinson takes the ground that we cannot afford to educate the Asiatics. I cannot understand how any intelligent man can take this position. It may be true that some must be hewers of wood and drawers of water, but if a man has ambition and pluck enough to want to better his condition shall we deny him the opportunity to do so, simply because his skin is yellow?"

"Shall we say to a young man who is willing to work all day and then attend school for two hours at night, that because he is an Oriental he shall not have the opportunity to thus improve his mind and rise in the world? Shall we go upon the principle of fostering ignorance? Ignorance and vice are twin sisters and every student of criminology knows that where ignorance is most prevalent there also vice is most prevalent. Where there are the most school children there you will find the fewest criminals. Teachers and school houses are cheaper to maintain than jails and police."

"Dr. David Starr Jordan tells of a man and a cow; that the man took the cow to the pasture every morning and stayed in the pasture all day and at night brought the cow back to the milking yard. He was a twenty-five cent man, says Dr. Jordan. The few twenty-five cent men we have in Hawaii the better. I believe the man who is capable of earning ten dollars a week makes a better citizen than he who is only capable of earning half that amount. I don't care what the color of a man's skin or what race he belongs to we are under obligations to the future to give all an equal chance. Because the Hawaiians throw their golden eggs of education in the gutter shall we say that the frugal and industrious Chinese and Japanese shall not rescue them and put them to good use? Such doctrine is monstrous."

"What will be the effect on the mainland when it goes abroad, as go abroad it will; that the Superintendent of Education of the Territory of Hawaii has closed the night schools because he was opposed to the Japanese and Chinese securing an education through them? We do not live within ourselves these days. All the world is our neighbor and we must be above the narrow circle of race prejudice and playing to the galleries."

"Mr. Atkinson does not tell you anything about the per capita cost of the night schools held at the Aala warehouse, or at the Kawaiahae school or at the Royal school. At the Aala warehouse forty-five to fifty pupils attended every night. Nearly the same number attended at the Royal School and from thirty to thirty-five attended at Kawaiahae.

"And you should have seen the interest manifested by the young men and boys who attended these schools. I have seen them there at early candle light waiting for the school room to be opened so they could enter and get to work. Every moment for study was precious to them. Boys of all the races in the city. And what a motley crowd it was at Aala warehouse. Only one who has been in that district at night can conceive what it was. One of the teachers there was Mrs. Lella Marshall, one of the best teachers and best women in the world. Why the very presence of such a woman with all her good influence in a night school of boys and young men like that at Aala warehouse is in itself worth all the cost of the school. The presence of such a woman and teacher in such a gathering tends to elevate the mass. The same might be said of the work of Mrs. Weston Coyney at the Royal school."

"About two years ago a number of the young men employed at the Iron Works, at Catton, Neill & Co.'s and at the Wilder repair shops came to me and wanted to know if they could not receive instruction at a night school that would help them in their work. These young men were nearly all white men, a few being part Hawaiian. A school was opened for them at the Royal school. You never saw greater interest manifested by any body of students. I have seen them there a few minutes after six waiting for the school to open. For a time they made good progress but in a short time I found that their teacher, Mr. Hiltz, was neglecting his work and doing everything to discourage the young men. I reported the matter to Superintendent Atkinson but no action was taken. Later Hiltz was compelled to resign his position in the schools, but not because of his neglect of the night school he had charge of."

"In that case there was an excellent opportunity to build up a technical school as an adjunct to the public school system but it was passed by. Look at the number of young men who enter Berkeley and Stanford every year who matriculate from the night schools of San Francisco."

"The night schools of Honolulu are most essential for the public welfare and to abolish them will be to place a premium upon vice. It is ever true that Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do. Young men who attend the night schools do not have the most cheerful homes. Many of them have no place to study excepting at school and if they are shut out of the schools they naturally seek other amusement or diversion. As I said before schools and teachers are cheaper than police and jails. It is far better to have the Chinese and Japanese in night schools than to have the young of these races playing seven-eleven or other gambling games."

"To close the night schools for the reasons given by Superintendent Atkinson stamps us as belittling ourselves."

BET COST HIM A SHAVE.

How a Well Known Citizen Wagered His Moustache. Judge Gardner K. Wilder bet on the big ball game yesterday afternoon. He bet his moustache against another man's whiskers (the man who had whiskers considered that he gave odds) that the Police would beat the Ochsens. But they didn't. Last night Judge Wilder had a clean shave. The other man is severely stroking his whiskers.

Plea Misunderstood.

A native appeared in the police court yesterday morning charged with having been drunk. It was understood that he pleaded not guilty. After the trial had proceeded, however, it developed that the native had pleaded guilty in the first place. It cost him a dollar over and above his fine for having such a weak voice that his plea could not be heard.

BOARD OF HEALTH'S TRIP TO MOLOKAI

Interesting Experience of Official Party at Kalaupapa.

COMPLAINTS OF LEPROS HEARD

PARTY VISITS WAIKOLU AND INVESTIGATES THE WATER SUPPLY THERE.

Mass Meeting of Lepers at Which Grievances Are Stated—Dr. Sloggett Promises Remedies and People Are Satisfied.

The Board of Health vessel James Makee landed at the leper settlement at Kalaupapa, Molokai, yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, the health officers and accompanying party immediately proceeding to the residence of Superintendent C. B. Reynolds where horses were saddled and waiting for the proposed trip over the settlement including Kalawao.

The entire morning was devoted to this trip, several investigations having been planned. Among the subjects to be considered was that of water supply. The cultivation of taro recently undertaken under the supervision of Superintendent Reynolds has been carried on by irrigating with water taken from the Waikolu valley supply which is brought to the Kalaupapa settlement, a distance of five miles, through pipes. Complaints have recently been made by the leper residents in regard to the use of this water for taro irrigation though there appears to be little grounds for the complaint, as the water for the taro is drawn during the night when but little water is used by the residents. However, to avoid discontent and resentment among the lepers the Board of Health is desirous of extending the water system. Trips were made yesterday morning to Waikolu and Kalaupapa valleys to investigate these sources and L. E. Pinkham, who are experts on artesian wells, made extended investigations at other points.

The Waikolu valley water supply was found to be a magnificent one. A big stream of mountain water supplies the 60-gallons per day for each person now brought by four-inch pipe into the settlement, and it is thought that by putting in an 8-inch pipe that a supply of 1,500,000 gallons per day can be taken from the stream easily, giving an abundance for taro and other irrigation. If the extension in the water system is made this will probably be done, although the feasibility of artesian wells is being investigated.

The taro patches in Waikolu valley were visited and found to be thriving, and the party returning, visited the Baldwin Boys' Home at Kalawao, which now has 112 inmates and everything there was found to be in excellent condition under the supervision of Brother Dutton. A cordial reception was tendered by the boys, the band playing a number of selections. Marked improvement was noticed in the music as compared with that of last year, the boys having taken great interest in the practicing.

At the noon hour luncheon at the superintendent's office was followed by a mass meeting of the lepers, at which according to notice given, a long petition embodying the grievances of the unfortunate and setting forth the relief sought was read. The reading of this petition was preceded by leper quintette songs and music by the Kalaupapa Boys' Band.

At 1 p. m. over 300 of the doomed people were gathered in front of Mr. Reynolds' residence and the Board of Health held a session on the lawn to hear the petition and complaints that were to be made. The main complaint was in regard to the water supply and the irrigation of the taro patches from the Waikolu pipes above referred to. The petition was read both in Hawaiian and English by A. K. Hutchinson. Dr. Sloggett, President of the Board of Health, assured the lepers that the water matter would be seriously considered as soon as reports had been made upon the investigations made in the forenoon. The second complaint made was in the matter of rations. The scarcity of taro all over the islands has made it very difficult to furnish the allowance of 25-pounds of taro to the person regularly, and it is the irregularity of the supply that is complained of by the lepers. The situation was explained thoroughly through interpreter to the lepers by Dr. Sloggett, who assured them that the Board of Health is doing and will do all that is possible for them in the matter of rations, and in all other matters considering the amount of funds at command. The taro famine was explained and it was promised that under the conditions and with the limited apportionment the very best that could be done would be done in regard to a regular supply of taro. Several individual complaints were made along this line, and a few personal grievances against Superintendent Reynolds were made. Recently 35 pounds of home-grown taro has been allowed the lepers in lieu of the 25-pound allowance of paid taro and a petition was made that this allowance of taro be increased to 50 pounds. The reply was that a discussion of this matter could not bring about any result as the best arrangements possible had been made for them.

SITUATION SERIOUS IN SAN FRANCISCO

Trouble Feared There From Strikers on Labor Day.

SMALL SIZED RIOTS LAST WEEK

EFFORTS TO EFFECT A SETTLEMENT SEEM TO HAVE FAILED.

Mayor Phelan Reported to Have Warned Manager of City Front Federation That Further Violence Would Not Be Tolerated.

The strike at San Francisco was still on when the Mariposa sailed and affairs were assuming the most serious phase since the strike began. There were many disorders during the week ending August 31st, some of them amounting to small-sized riots. Further trouble was looked for on Labor Day and Mayor Phelan and Chief of Police Sullivan were taking every precaution to prevent disorder on that day. The Chronicle of September 1st in summing up the situation at the end of the sixth week of the strike said:

The sixth week of the strike which closed last night has been the most notable, in several ways, since the beginning. For the first time since the inception of the trouble meetings were held between employers and employees that appeared to hold elements of peace, but with the close of the week also closed these appearances of a settlement of the difficulty, which has kept the city in turmoil for a month and a half.

Another feature of the week was the increase of turbulence. While there had been sporadic cases during all of the time since the first day of the strike, there has been nothing approaching the semblance of riot until last Wednesday, followed on Thursday by such further disturbance as to necessitate police activity for hours at a stretch. But, as with the peace negotiations, so with the turbulence, the week closed with comparative calm.

Saturday night ended with a peculiar air of uncertainty overhanging the situation. There was a general feeling that the strained condition could not continue much longer, and that something would certainly take place within the next three days to bring matters to such a crisis that a speedy solution would be inevitable. While no grounds have been given for this feeling, it appeared to exist in all quarters and among all circles. Among the employers a feeling of confidence was expressed that the end was near, and among the men made up of the strike identical expressions were heard. It appeared to be a belief that events would now rapidly shape themselves toward a settlement of the trouble, which belief was based on nothing more tangible than intuition. The celebration of Labor Day seemed to be a part of the cause of the feeling, but why no one could say.

The abrupt termination of peace negotiations between draymen and teamsters on Thursday was followed by strong appeals made to the Mayor by commercial bodies for protection against the assaults and intimidation of the strikers and their sympathizers. These appeals, coming from the lumbermen, representatives of the rare commercial organizations and the officials of the United States transport dock closed the Mayor to make a close investigation into existing troubles, and it is reported on apparent good authority that the result of this investigation was that a warning was given to the strike leaders that further interference with men who desired to work would not be tolerated.

It is stated that further peace negotiations are on foot, but the representatives of the employers say that they have nothing further to offer toward a solution of the difficulties. They say that they made the concessions asked by the employees, and as soon as they did so their motives were impugned and a demand was made for even more liberal concessions. They say that while they have acted in a spirit of conciliation, the strikers have refused to stand to their own agreement.

In response to these assertions the strike leaders say that they were imposed upon by the leaders of the employers, and that they were given a proposition that contained none of the elements of a peaceful settlement, and that when they were invited to participate in the meeting it was understood that the representatives of the other side would have full power to act for the employers, but that when they appeared it was simply as individuals. They also say that the terms of settlement were of such nature as to preclude their acceptance because they refused to recognize unionism.

At the close of the sixth week of the strike estimates of the representatives of the two sides are still far apart regarding the conditions of business. Those connected with the Columbia Beats the Constitution Over a Measured Course—Shamrock Makes Wonderful Showing in a Speed Trial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—John R. Spears, the famous yachting expert, said tonight: "That the America's cup is now in greater danger than ever before is a matter that may be demonstrated as definitely as a problem in geometry. Consider first of all how the defender in any former race has compared with her predecessor, and then compare the Constitution and Columbia. There was never a doubt about the superiority of the Mayflower over the Puritan, nor of the Volunteer over the Mayflower, nor of the Vigilant over the Volunteer, nor of the Defender over the Vigilant. In one trial only did the Defender show as good speed as the Columbia, and that was in half a gale. In all previous and all subsequent trials the Columbia was beyond all question far superior."

ELECTRIC LIGHT MANAGER FINALLY GETS TO BUSINESS

Lights Out Less Than Three Hours Last Night—Manager Gartley Showed Up.

The position of The Republican in its criticism of the management of the Hawaiian Electric Company was fully sustained by actual happenings of last night. This paper endeavored on Saturday morning to point out that the reason Honolulu had been outraged for six nights of this week by the failure of light, and the failure of the electric works, was due to the absence of a head at the electric works. Last night, as was fully anticipated about the city, the lights went out. The failure occurred at 6:40 o'clock and the circuit was dead until 9:15. In the meanwhile, however, the manager of the Hawaiian Electric Company had awakened from his lethargy and appeared at the works. For once he took a glance at the situation and appreciated its seriousness. The next step was to summon his force.

The result may readily be surmised. With the manager in the shop the night shift got to work, and with the assistance of the other force he got in, the dead circuit was at 9:15 restored and light and power was on the balance of the night without a hitch. The circumstance shows that if the manager had attended to the matter last Sunday night the whole week of annoyance to so many business establishments and people might have been averted.

The miserable service of the week and the break of two and a half-hours last night has forced The Republican to issue an eight in place of a ten or twelve page paper this morning. But the same thing will not happen again. The Republican is making arrangements to supply its own light and power, being forced to do so by the happenings of the past week, and will soon be independent of the electric monopoly, and a man who happens to be a sugar baron's son-in-law, who imagines himself able to lounge in his veranda while half the town, entrusted to his care, is in darkness.

The White House Dry Goods store was one of the principal sufferers by the condition of things last night. This concern had planned a bargain sale of clothing and had announced it to all of their friends. People flocked there in great numbers, but in the midst of their shopping the lights failed and business had to stop. The company felt greatly disappointed and chagrined about it; customers were disgruntled and went home unsatisfied; the balance of the story is best told in the company's advertisement of this morning in which they were humiliated into apologizing to their customers for having to call off a special sale which they had advertised.

At the Mutual Telephone office they were grooving around last night as usual. Two oil lamps supplied light to the operators' table, but during the break of the light the balance of the building was in darkness. Among the worst sufferers by the condition of the week were S. I. Shaw & Company, the Royal Annex, Holborn Drug Company, Ryan & Dement, Honolulu Photo and Supply Company, Pacific Hotel, Imperial Clear store and a score of smaller establishments. R. F. Ehlers wanted to use their lights last night but could not. Mr. Cullen tried until completely exhausted to turn the current on and left the place in darkness.

Death of a Child.

Stephen, the five-year-old son of Captain and Mrs. H. F. Ludwig, died at 2:30 yesterday morning, as the result of poisoning. The child got his hands on some medicine about three weeks ago and drank considerable of it. Inflammation of the stomach resulted and death followed as stated. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

THE steamer Mariposa arrived from San Francisco last evening after a fast trip of six days and a few hours. The vessel was a day late in leaving San Francisco, as she was delayed by the strike. She has a green crew in the fire room as on her former trip, and was not able to make the same time she would have made with experienced men.

It was the general impression aboard the steamer that Labor Day would see a very bad time in San Francisco. The strikers were to have a monster parade and celebration on the holiday set aside for the observance of the labor rites, and it was feared that there would be a clash which would result in violence. The strikers are beginning to get desperate. Many of them are going hungry, and this makes them ugly to deal with.

There were many passengers for the city aboard the steamer. A large mail was brought and a full cargo of freight which will help out a great deal in the matter of groceries and supplies.

The steamer Oregon sailed from San Francisco on the 31st and the Corcoran a day later. The steamer should reach here today or tomorrow. The express steamer Deutschland has made a new record across the Atlantic. She went from Cherbourg to Sandy Hook in five days and twelve hours.

The British bark Battle Abbey arrived at Puget Sound on the 31st, after a trip of forty days from this port. Twenty per cent insurance was being paid on her at the time she arrived.

The Roanoke is safe.

A Graveyard of Ships.

The stranding of the destroyer Viper on the Renouet Reef, near Alderney, is no great surprise to the British navy. The waters in which she came to her end are among the most dangerous in the world. An immense sum of public money has been spent in the attempt to make a harbor of refuge in Alderney against the pressure and violence of the currents and storms. Two days after the Viper came to an end on the Renouet Reef, a torpedo-boat, No. 81 had been beached on the wreck of a breakwater beaten down by the gales.

Alderney is, in fact, surrounded by the memories of naval disasters. The Casquets, which lie immediately to the west, are a known danger to ships coming to the channel. It was upon them that Admiral Balaclava was believed to have been lost, with his flagship and a thousand officers and men, in the middle of the eighteenth century. The passage between the island and the coast of Normandy, called by us the Race of Alderney, is also notoriously perilous. One of the most dramatic passages in the naval history of the seventeenth century was the escape of the French Admiral D'Amfreville through these waters after the battle of Barfleur. It has been made familiar to English readers by Mr. Browning's noble lyric of "Herve Riel." What constitutes the formidable character of the channel is not only the number of rocks that make their coast foul, to us the emphatic tone of the sailors; it is that the currents of the channel, which run eastward on the flood tide and westward on the ebb, breeze and turn among the reefs in distracting confusion and at a great speed, while their force is not uniform.—N. Y. Marine Journal.

Doing Quick Work.

Captain Gibbs of the bark Olympic is giving his vessel a very quick discharge at the Brewer wharf. The demand for food supplies on the vessel is so great that every effort is being made to get the cargo out of the boat. Captain Gibbs figures on being cleared of everything by next Tuesday night. This will make the vessel about ready to get under way of her cargo. She will probably take enough sugar for ballast to San Francisco and get away some time the latter part of the next week.

The vessel is working two hatches, and yesterday time kept for a quarter of an hour showed that there was but one minute and a half between slings. As the freight comes out of the vessel it is hauled away by the consignees as fast as it is put on the wharf. This would make one believe that there is not much being done on the vessel as the wharf, instead of being piled high with freight is empty. So "rest" is the demand for the goods on the vessel that as a rule there is a long string of wagons and drays waiting to take it as it comes out of the hatches.

The Olympic, which lost a good deal of time in her race for the best yearly performance with the Rosamond, is fast catching up to the schooner again, and it is figured that within a couple of trips the vessels will be together again and hustling each other along. When Captain Ward was in the Rosamond he did his best to beat the Olympic, but the latter always managed to win out until she was dismantled on the trip before the last from San Francisco.

Supplies From Hilo.

The Kinu arriving yesterday from Hilo brought four and many other supplies that were ordered by the merchants here to help out during the scarcity at present existing in this city. As the bark Santiago lately arrived in Hilo bringing a full cargo of supplies and feed stuff the big city on the big island is well supplied with all the necessities of life and has come to the aid of Honolulu in her hour of need.

MR. AUSTIN EXPLAINS.

Thinks Was Victim of Judas Iscariot in His Ranks.

To the Editor of The Republican:

Sir:—I am able at last to snatch a little time, while here at Waianae, to write a letter and hope you will allow me space for the gentle "roast" of the Star and Republican for printing sensational articles concerning myself and the Murphy movement. But I have been too long in the business not to know that said "roast" must be mild and good natured. A newspaper always has a correspondent at a disadvantage and it is great sport to get a fellow mad and watch him "slop over." I do not propose to do this and thus put myself at a disadvantage.

The Murphy movement in its present state of progress is at the mercy of the newspapers as its success still depends upon liberal public subscriptions until clubs throughout the territory can be organized; and every false statement published that tends to destroy confidence in the integrity of its promoters and managers must prove fatal to the cause. All of the newspapers prior to Mr. Murphy's arrival have helped us in every way possible. Why, then, Mr. Editors, of the Star and Republican, have you taken advantage of my absence from the city, engaged in advancing what you have so often lauded as a good work, to publish a tissue of lies? If you wanted facts why not come to me for them? I was only given an opportunity to make a general denial over the telephone to hear-say rumors. After receiving my denial why did you publish the story, simply giving my denial at the end, as much as to say: We do not believe he is telling the truth but publish his denial for what it is worth. This is a hackneyed method of journalism for pulling a man down yet making for the public belief the poor devil is being given a fair show. Do you think it quite fair, Editor, to spring such a "chestnut" on a brother in the profession?

In the bustle of traveling, making nightly speeches and arranging dates for future meetings, I have only just been able to get the newspapers of the last few days before me. In reviewing the articles referred to, I am chagrined, though in no way dismayed, at the animus displayed. There is a well-defined attempt to persuade the public that I and my friends are out for money not the cause of humanity. I can only make a shrewd guess at the source of your alleged information. It does not come from whiskey men because the Republican and Star are not reputed to be white key papers. It must, therefore, be a "knife in the back" from alleged friends of the cause who have patting me on the back and said: "You are doing a grand work," but have not been proportionately liberal with financial assistance. I certainly do not thank your informant, Mr. Editor, for placing so low a price on Austin's services as $2,500 a year. Austin sober, as he is now, can earn more than twice as much as that in a year and not work as hard as one of your reporters do at $25 a week.

Neither Mr. W. D. Bancroft or myself have ever received any salary for our work, although at the last regular meeting of the Trustees I was allowed to draw $35 a week and Mr. Bancroft $25 a month, provided there was any money left after paying expenses. This is the first stated allowance ever made me to assist my expenses. I cannot, of course, so far from my books and memoranda make a financial statement, but in round figures, the Murphy movement has received and expended about $3,400 from its inception to the time of Francis Murphy's return. Of this amount I have received as a contribution to my personal expenses exactly $635 with $35 due me today which I am sure I don't know where it is coming from as I have been in the country and have not been able to continue the canvass for subscriptions. I have given nearly seven months' undivided time to the cause of temperance and have not received enough money to pay half my expenses.

There are some who will say that $3,400 have been wasted, while others will agree that a new and valuable movement for the public good, of the city and territory, has been promoted at very small expense, considering the results of the experiment. Give us a chance, gentlemen, especially now, as the most expensive as well as the most beneficent part of the work is progressing well under the direct inspiration of Francis Murphy himself.

FRANKLIN AUSTIN.

Waianae, Sept. 7.

Mr. Austin reasons from a false basis in assuming that The Republican has "roasted" him. This paper has been and is a staunch supporter of any and all temperance movements. The news published in this paper concerning the financial condition of the Murphy Temperance Association was furnished by a member of the Association, one who has been connected with it from the first. The charge that Mr. Austin and Mr. Bancroft have been drawing salaries has been freely circulated for some time. Further than that it has been charged, and such information was furnished to this paper, that bills for flour and other household supplies had been paid for out of the funds donated to the Association for the furtherance of temperance work, but The Republican refused to publish this statement without seeing the vouchers. These our informant said could not be furnished because all funds had been handled by Mr. Austin. In view of these facts and the admission Mr. Austin makes as to the amount donated to the Association and the amount drawn by him as salary it would seem incumbent upon Mr. Austin for the benefit of himself, and the cause of temperance in these islands, to furnish to the press an itemized statement of all the donations and all the

Nerves of Weak Men

I have demonstrated the fact that weakness of men, the result of early or later indiscretions, such as Brains, Impotency, Lame Back, Varicocele, etc., will not yield to a stimulating treatment. This accounts for the fact that drugs never cure. The medicine given for these troubles, essentially potent, are intended only to stimulate. Continuous stimulation must result in harm. Thousands of patients have said to me: "Doctor, when I took this or that medicine I felt better in an hour, but after a month my weakness returned, and I was worse off than ever." "Better in an hour" means a powerful stimulant—means a wrecked constitution.

Electricity Is Strength!

That's what you want, strength, not stimulation. Electricity will never cure in a day; it does not cure in a week. It takes two months, it may take three, but the results are there to stay. I am the inventor and introducer of the famous Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, with attachment for men. It embodies the best efforts of my 30 years as a specialist. ## Fashions and Society.

I READ something not long since that interested me very much. It was all about husbands and how to train them. Doctor Johnson and his famous remark, "Much may be done with a husband if he is caught young," was quoted. I presume Doctor Johnson knew what he was talking about, for he did not mean you, husband or your mother's husband, but your future son-in-law. There is an old saying that "good boys love their sisters but are seldom polite to them." How true! One can never begin too early to teach respect for women kind. If you wait until Jim is a big boy it is too late. The man who has everything his own way with women is invariably the man who in childhood was taught consideration for them. Nothing makes me so angry as to observe the lack of courtesy some husbands exhibit toward their wives, and I often think if the mothers had taught these rude men manners in their youth the poor wives would have less to suffer from.

The shirt-waist woman and the tailor-made girl are alike amenable to the charms of the pretty house dress. Fashion is the fondness for the corseted figure, laid aside by the starched and stiffened fabric with its cruel belt, cast away are stocks and cuffs and all the earmarks of civilization, while the summer woman—a home woman for the time being—revels in the beauty of looseness and the looseness that is transformed into beauty. To the woman who thinks of fashion only it seems a sad waste of money and material to put so much into a mere room robe, but to the woman who enjoys dainty refinements there is something unspeakably gratifying in the ownership of nice house gowns, and she will go to any extreme to obtain them, even to going without an evening bodice, or doing with one less summer costume.

In seeking a fashion for a room gown one can enjoy a wide latitude of selection. In one morning room your hostess will greet you in a fitted gown of velvet, rather snug in the back, with sides and front confined with ribbon which emerges from the side seams for the purpose. In another the hostess will wear the new Gainsborough morning gown, which is made something like a slumber gown. It is low in the neck, very low, and it is to be worn over a chemise. The sides, back and front hang perfectly straight, while the elbow sleeves are flowing. A ribbon is run through a band of lace inserting, and when the ribbon is tied the neck is secured. Over an underwaist of dotted Swiss with high neck and sleeves this is very pretty and by the means of being becoming to thin and full figures alike.

So wide is the variety of house gowns that are worn that one hesitates to proclaim a style, yet if set style there be the classic, are the Empire fancies, which dominate the world, there are Marie Antoinette collars and Marie Antoinette fichus. These are deeper than the Tudor collars and touch the belt at the waist and back. Watteau silks are made up into house gowns, and the pompadour stuffs are the most popular in the world.

Appropriate to go with these gowns, as a classic, are the Empire fancies, which are numerous. The little Empire fichus are worked upon Swiss and laces, and in the thin muslins and the dainty wash cambrics, and inside the wreath may or may not be a medallion.

The Watteau hat does not accompany the same gown, yet there are those who plan them with the house costume. A dear little room gown of dainty, embroidered with Empire wreaths, had a Marie Antoinette fichu of pompadour silk. With the gown was a spreading Watteau hat which was to be worn, the owner said, in case of emergency. On the first day the pretty possessor was discovered sitting upon the tiny balcony outside her room in her picturesque morning gown, Watteau hat on head, enjoying the delights of summer reading.

Truly woman is inventive in her ways of discovering how and in what manner, when and where she can turn the latest creations to her own account. While the unwashable fabrics, silk, tulle, taffeta and the light weight cousins of these materials are and will probably continue to be in demand, there is a rush in midsummer to secure the wash fabric as a house stuff. The muslins, the Swisses, the wash lawns, American Persian, Indian, and the dainties of all colors. These make up so charmingly that they are all taken in hand and treated as though they were stuffs of much more costly weave.

Let no one think that because a material is capable of enduring the tub that it is necessarily an inexpensive one. Some of the costliest stuffs of the season are the ones that are to be washed, and strange to say, the more expensive they better they endure the energies of the tub. Batistes, hand embroidered with colored thistles, and cuffs gay with traceries can be brought forth fresh three and four times in a summer.

It would seem as if we were returning to the time when the beauty of the gown depended upon the hand labor bestowed. If this be the case, then our southern cousins will greatly excel us in the beauty and richness of their gowns, and the proud fabrics that are bought ready made will become insignificant viewed by the side of the patient stitching of the South.

The wedding of Miss Elsie Robertson and Mr. James F. Jaeger, which occurred last Wednesday evening at Alahua, was one of the prettiest affairs ever given in Honolulu. The place itself is so ideally beautiful and so admirably adapted for entertaining that it needed but a few deft touches to transform the place into a veritable bower of beauty, and this was most artistically done by Mr. Ernest Parker and Miss Helen Robertson. Masses of scarlet wax flowers embedded among maidenhair ferns made a thing of beauty of the grand piano, and this same color scheme was carried out in different parts of the house, where maidenhair ferns and palms of rare beauty made a scene never to be forgotten. The perfect taste of Mrs. Robertson was peeping out from every corner.

The marriage ceremony began at 7.30. Mr. Wray Taylor playing the exquisite Lohengrin Wedding March. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mabel Robertson, and the groom by his best man, Mr. Henry Jaeger. The maid of honor, Miss Helen Robertson, followed behind. The bride was on the arm of her father, Mr. James W. Robertson. Little Irma Wodehouse, the flower girl, strewed flowers before the path of the bride, the Rev. Vincent H. Kikau performed the marriage ceremony, and the soft strains of "O Promise Me" came from the piano during the service.

The Queen was the first to offer congratulations, and then followed the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The wedding was strictly private, but at the reception which followed later all the friends of the family were bidden. Mr. Cleghorn was very wise in not overcrowding his rooms, so all were comfortable and the gowns of the ladies showed to greater advantage.

The bride who is a beautiful girl, was dressed in Ottoman silk with overdress of white dotted mousseline de soie, worn en traine. A white tulle veil and orange blossoms completed a toilette perfect in every detail. A bouquet of orchids and maidenhair was carried. The soft folds of the tulle veil were particularly becoming to the bride's style of loveliness.

The Queen wore a magnificent gown of lavender satin trimmed with rare lace, while diamonds gleamed effectively from the bodice. She made an elegant and imposing appearance, seated on a couch at the head of the room.

Miss Helen Robertson was a pretty picture in yellow over yellow silk, and Miss Mabel Robertson in white or gandy over yellow was most effective. Mrs. Robertson wore a black silk bolero with the grace peculiarly her own, and no one could wear that gown more regally than she. Mrs. Porter Boyd wore a French confection of white gauze and silver embroidery and looked extremely beautiful. Mrs. Olive Davies was in a becoming gown of black lace. Mrs. Pond was in white and looked extremely youthful. Mrs. Elizabeth Fresh was dressed in rich crimson satin, and the red flowers in her hair were most becoming.

The refreshments were lavish and very dainty while champagne and delicious punch were at the disposal of all. The presents were numerous and costly, consisting mostly of silver and cut glass. About 11 o'clock the guests began to disperse, having thoroughly enjoyed the regal hospitality of Mr. Cleghorn.

Her Majesty, Queen Liliuokalani, gave a birthday breakfast, luau and reception at her home, Washington Place, Monday. Although it was her 63d birthday, I could not see that she looked her age. Attired in a black bolero for the breakfast, she looked in her dignity every inch a queen. Her home was crowded all day with guests. There were many quaint ceremonies which greatly interested the foreigners and added to the picturesque of the scene. The luau was the last festivity indulged in, and that lasted until a late hour. The Queen at the luau was supported on the right and left by Bishop Willis and Judge Estele.

Dr. and Mrs. MacAdorie are most artistically situated at Camp McKinley in several tents. Their tents are decorated with exquisite topos brought from Manila, and the effect is so good it makes a mere house seem commonplace. Mrs. MacAdorie is the mother of the doctor. Sue is a handsome and young looking woman.

Mrs. Dole is receiving on Fridays again. It was seen pleasant to be able to call again on the sweet and amiable wife of the Governor. Governor and Mrs. Dole expect soon to go to their seaside place, "Aqua-Marine," and then the reception day will probably be on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jordan gave a card party last Saturday evening. About forty guests were present. The evening passed merrily. The consolation prize, won by Miss Ella Stansbury, was a little jew in its way, being an exquisite cup and saucer with verses most daintily inscribed.

Miss Burton and Mrs. C. A. McDonald, physical director of the Kamehameha Schools, were united in marriage at the home of Dr. Woods, at Waiwala, at 8 o'clock Saturday evening last.

At the Queen's luau were Mrs. Jules Richardson, Mrs. August Ahrens and Miss Ivy Richardson, who came to Honolulu for that festivity. They returned to Waipahu in the afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Wood entertained at dinner Tuesday evening. Among the guests were Miss Jessie Kaufman, Monsieur Vizzavona and Dr. Garvin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedemann and family expect to be absent in Europe for about a year in the near future. They will probably sail in the fall.

Mrs. Henry Waterhouse has cards out for an "at home" next Wednesday afternoon, to meet Mrs. George Waterhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keeler arrived in the city on the Ventura. They are writing books on the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wight left on Tuesday's boat for a three weeks' outing at Mr. Eben Low's ranch on Hawaii.

Judge and Mrs. Estee have returned to the Hawaiian Hotel and are now occupying a cottage in the grounds.

Judge Gilbert Little of Hilo is at the Hawaiian Hotel for a few days.

Mr. Albert Waterhouse returned from Kauai in the W. G. Hall.

Miss Theresa McCriston departed for her home last Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Gunn is expected on the next steamer.

Mr. Ernest Parker has returned from Hawaii.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford Co., Pa., U. S. A. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by all druggists and dealers. ## THE COOLEY TYPE OF TEACHER.

If any considerable number of the teachers sent to Manila were of the type of one Edward E. Cooley of Kansas, it is not to be wondered at that Superintendent Atkinson cabled to Washington immediately upon the arrival of the transport Thomas not to send any more teachers. Mr. Cooley, with all due respect to his calling, is certainly out of place as a teacher anywhere and particularly in the Philippines. The gentleman has been raised in that narrow circle under which he has become firmly convinced that the only prayer in which there is any efficacy is the one running:

"Oh, Lord, bless this house,
Me and my wife,
My son John and his wife,
Us four and no more."

He is of that type who look upon the actions of the people who do not live and act, as the farmers of the township in which he was raised, as being heathenish. In writing to his home paper, the Smith County (Kansas) Pioneer, descriptive of home life in the Philippines teacher Smith says that recently he made the trip from Dagupan to Binalonan, a distance of twenty-five miles, over one of the roads being constructed by the government and was thus given an opportunity to closely observe the natives.

On the road he passed many carts with bamboo roofs and solid wooden wheels, all loaded with rice, tobacco and coconuts, en route to Dagupan. The road was very rough and as the cart was without springs or even a cushioned seat, Cooley finally got out and walked alongside. At Binalonan he was invited to a birthday party given by Gomez Reyes, a former mayor of the town, and a great friend of the Americans. Reyes has a letter addressed to all Americans from Lieut. Gillmore, U. S. N., given for some hospitality shown the Gillmore party when they were prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos, and this he showed to Cooley with great pride. Upon entering the Reyes' home all of the ladies who attended the birthday party kissed the hand of Mrs. Reyes. At each plate there was a bountiful supply of rice, mutton, chicken, fish, canned pears, coffee and wine, and after dinner home made cigars were passed around and the women as well as the men joined in the after dinner smoke. After the smoke all present went to the "galleria" to see a cock fight, the ladies taking especial interest in the contests between the game birds. Cooley says that the women of America would be greatly shocked to see some of the actions of the Filipino men and women. In Manila they are not so uncouth, but in the country Cooley says the natives are well nigh barbarous in some of their customs.

Mr. Cooley does not say in his letter what he expected to find in the Philippines, whether or not he expected the people to eat with their knives, as so many in Smith County do or not. No doubt the gentleman expected all the young ladies would want to play "prisoner's base" with the teacher as the prisoner so that they could practice osculatory exercises with him and in his disappointment he feels chagrined. Evidently he expected to find the dust roads of Kansas in the tropics and "Little Red School Houses" looming up at every cross road. It is too bad that the gentleman has been so rudely disappointed in the Philippines. He does not say in his letter what sort of people he expected them to be but the fact that the ladies watched a cock fight with an eagerness equal to that with which the women of Cooley's home county would watch a horse race at the county fair seems to shock the gentleman's sensitive soul.

Mr. Cooley is certainly not cut out to teach the young Filipino mind how to shoot—either guns or ideas. He should retire to the classic banks of the Platt and there commune with the pure and unfettered tribes of the Populist order.

Cheap labor is very often the dearest possible labor as men who employ Japanese to run delicate electrical machinery have learned to their sorrow.

EPIGRAMS OF MR. LIGHTFOOT ON THE NIGHT SCHOOLS

"It may be true that some must be hewers of wood and drawers of water, but if a man has ambition and pluck enough to want to better his condition shall we deny him the opportunity to do so, simply because his skin is yellow?"

"Shall we say to a young man who is willing to work all day and then attend school for two hours at night, that because he is an Oriental he shall not have the opportunity to thus improve his mind and rise in the world?"

"Ignorance and vice are twin sisters and every student of criminology knows that where ignorance is most prevalent there also vice is most prevalent."

"Teachers and school houses are cheaper to maintain than jails and police."

"It is far better to have the Chinese and Japanese in night schools than to have the young of these races playing seven-eleven or other gambling games."

"The very presence of such a woman with all her good influence in a night school of boys and young men like that at Aala warehouse is in itself worth all the cost of the school."

"I believe the man who is capable of earning ten dollars a week makes a better citizen than he who is only capable of earning half that amount."

"Because the Hawaiians throw their golden eggs of education in the gutter shall we say that the frugal and industrious Chinese and Japanese shall not rescue them and put them to good use?"

A German-American who has long resided in this city suggested yesterday that it is well for the country that it has such a bright sleuth on the watch for German army officers who come here as spies as the Morning Organ. The gentleman suggests that there are information bureaus connected with all of the armies of Europe and whenever the governments wish to learn about the naval and military resources of another nation they utilize the information bureau and not uniformed officers en route home from foreign service. But then, as the gentleman further suggests, the ponderous organ doubtless is not aware of the fact.

Just at the time when we are suffering the most from an imperfect electric light system in Honolulu, there comes the news from the States that a Chicago man claims to have discovered a light which will last for years. It is said to be a wonderful luminous globe, a combination of chemicals in a vacuum, and to shed a perpetual light, year in and year out. It may be carried about and turned upside down without affecting the light. Honolulu would welcome some such invention about this time with open eyes, for it would then be able to see what it was doing after the sun goes down.

Those who have been inclined to criticize the administration for its course in the Philippines in refusing to upset ancient customs will learn something by observing the condition of affairs in the island of Malta. Malta has been in the possession of the British for generations and the people are thoroughly civilized, yet the first attempts to interfere with the established social customs of the people have produced discontent and open acts of hostility. In dealing with such problems the shortest and the best way is the slow process of evolution.

Under a new law in Illinois, the election authorities must submit any question of public policy to popular vote, in the same way that bonding propositions or Constitutional amendments are submitted, when one-fourth of the voting population petition for it. Petitions are in circulation in Chicago for submission at the city election next spring of propositions for municipal control of street railways and gas and electric plants, and for the nomination of candidates for city offices by direct primaries.

Those expert Japanese Electricians at the power house of the Hawaiian Electric Company promise to cost the stockholders a very considerable sum for the past week's blunders. Would any of the stockholders of the company, if they were employing men for themselves to handle costly and delicate machinery employ a lot of unskilled and incompetent Japanese?

Experiment With Oil. Richards street, from King to Hotel streets has been chosen as the site of the oil street-sprinkling experiment. To be made some time this week. The street will be sprayed with crude petroleum and then covered with quarry sand. Assistant Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell says that he has seen ordinary roads kept in fine condition by use of oil. He does not know, however, how it will work with a macadamized road.

Secretary Charlock, of the Board of Health, explained last evening that the object of the circular was to get information for the compilation of a new register. The circular was sent out upon instructions of Dr. Storget, president of the Board of Health.

Resigned as President.

Colonel Lake has resigned as president of the Hawaiian Amalgamated Confederation of Laborers. He took this action when he was being instructed as a conductor on the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company's line, for the reason that he did not expect to have any time to devote to the duties of that office while he was engaged as a conductor. He was then told his services would no longer be required by the company, so he has lost his position as conductor and his office as president of a secret society. Lake insists that he was "fired" from the company on account of his connection with the Amalgamated Confederation.

HALLS OF LEARNING

OPEN ONCE AGAIN

Territorial Schools Begin Next Term Tomorrow.

A LARGE INCREASE IN STUDENTS

PROFESSOR SCOTT TALKS OF A NEW BUSINESS CLASS IN HIGH SCHOOL.

The Institution Needs Four More Class Rooms and Will Be Crowded To Its Utmost Capacity—Practical Methods.

Come all ye lads and lasses, Take your books and slates; The old school bell is pealing, The master stands and waits.

Haste to the hall of learning, Come, boys and girls, away, Forsake vacation pleasures— Now is no time for play.

Ye tiny tots who wrestle With A, B, C and D, Now is the time to hustle; You are no longer free.

Ye little men and women, A-learning how to spell, Come, gather at the fountain— The dictionary well.

Ye boys and girls whose knowledge Has reached to language dead, Come, grasp your Latin grammar, And read what Caesar said.

Hatse ye youthful thousands And cultivate your brains, For all the facts you gather Are things the future gains.

William F. Sabin.

The schools throughout the Territory will tomorrow morning throw open their doors once again to between fifteen and twenty thousand of the rising generation who after having enjoyed their vacations in perhaps almost as many different ways as there are boys and girls, are ready if not willing to take up the yoke of learning that they may become well informed, practical, American citizens and useful members of society.

The janitors have been busy the last day or two removing the dust from the desks, traveling round the world with a feather duster (dusting the globe), getting the maps out of closets and hanging them in place, filling the ink-wells, scrubbing the blackboards and laying the chalk ready for the instructors, and otherwise preparing the halls of learning for the reception of the knowledge-hungry lads and lasses who hold in their hearts and minds the future welfare and the coming greatness of Hawaii.

Thousands of children, big and little, before they go to bed tonight, will have their books all laid out ready to grab in the morning, with their lunch boxes, some of them, and there are today no doubt, thousands who look forward to tomorrow's opening of school with that pleasure which is born of the pleasant anticipation of again meeting many familiar faces, of again resuming the charming and innocent friendships of school-life, of once more perhaps, welcoming the respected guidance and instruction of some teacher possessing the happy faculty of endowing himself or herself to the little ones in whose minds it is a privilege, often a too poorly paid privilege, to plant the seeds of knowledge and of wisdom.

Steamers from the other Islands have for the past week or two been bringing back to Honolulu many boys and girls who have been spending their months of vacation with friends or relatives in other parts of the group. No doubt, thousands who will be told pretty soon to write compositions on: "How I spent my vacation."

After today, throughout another term, the merry youth of the land will be observed coming and going in the mornings and afternoons, warming in and out of the street cars and coming in from the country on the trains. There is the trolley line now. This is not running when last the children went to school. The rapid transit will prove a boon to hundreds of children now and they will enjoy their journey to and fro.

As has already been stated a large consignment of new text books is expected for the schools on the Maritime Islands. If they arrive on that vessel they can be distributed in time for the term to be commenced with them. It is not proposed, however, to suddenly adopt the new books. On the other hand they will be introduced gradually, so that the pupils will not be put to any unusual effort in making the change.

The Legislature was very generous in making appropriations for school repairs," said Professor Scott, "but it was not nearly so generous in providing for additions or new buildings. As a matter of fact, we need a new building for the use of the High School. The grounds are large and there is plenty of room for another building. We need four more class rooms, and the High School, especially, will be crowded to its utmost capacity."

Special attention is to be paid to a business class at the High School this term. Speaking on the matter, Professor Scott said:

"There are a number of pupils who are anxious to receive a practical business education. In the old cottage in the High School grounds we will conduct the business course, where typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping and commercial forms will be taught. This class will be included in the regular course, so that those who are studying typewriting and shorthand and so forth will, at the same time, not be neglecting their arithmetic, English, history and other fundamental studies. It is no good to teach typewriting and shorthand and neglect the common principles of education. No one would want to employ a typewriter and stenographer who is unable to spell properly or who is not in the least familiar with something of the history of his own country, the English language and so forth.

"We shall also make it a point to familiarize the pupils with the forms of various departments, dictating to them, for instance, proceedings in the courts, business letters, commercial documents and so forth. This will be a practical form of training which will be of great benefit to the students."

Governor Dole Considering.

Governor Dole was recently approached by a committee of three prominent Hawaiian legislators in regard to a special session of the legislature, who said they thought something ought to be done to raise funds for the work of the Territory. They wanted a special session for the passage of revenue measures. The Governor said he would consider the matter and give the committee an answer.

BUSY MORNING IN THE CIRCUIT COURTS

U. S. ATTORNEY WITHDRAWS AND DECISION IS GIVEN TO PLAINTIFF.

Antone Richards Given Thirty Days and Fined $100 For Adulterating Milk—Thone Fined $350—Grand and Trial Juries Ordered.

Yesterday morning Judge Little gave a peremptory order to the jury to bring in a verdict for plaintiff in the case of the Oki and Oka Company vs. Wilson & Whitehouse, assumpsit, for the reason that defendant's attorney, A. G. Corcoran, was not in court, although notified to be present in court. The verdict was for $588.02. The jury consisted of the following: D. K. Hoapili, J. Zablan, J. A. McCandless, G. Kawakoa, E. T. Holt, W. E. Rowell, E. K. Hanapi, J. L. Cockett, R. W. Davis and P. C. Jones, foreman. The claim was for goods sold to Wilson & Whitehouse, when they were building the road at Nahiku, about three years ago.

The suits of Mace Bonville and Rosamond Naylor against the Orpheum Theatre Company were discontinued in Judge Little's court. They sued for $400 and $150 respectively for alleged breach of contracts on engagements at the Orpheum theatre.

Judge Gear announced from the bench yesterday morning that he would sign a decree in favor of J. B. Atherton vs. Wahiawa Sugar Company, bill to undo title to a lease. This is the matter in which the Hawaiian Sugar Company was sued for breach of the lease of the Galbraith lands at Wahiawa, embodying about 2500 acres. John Emmelhut leased the land nearly two years ago and turned it over to the Wahiawa Sugar Company with the intention of starting a sugar plantation. The plantation made slow progress, rent was not paid and Galbraith finally leased the land to J. B. Atherton, considering all rights under the lease to have been forfeited. As it turned out, however, the Wahiawa Sugar Company still set up a claim to the property, and the court was called upon to settle the status of himself in respect thereto. It is the intention of Mr. Atherton to transfer the land to the Wahiawa Sugar Company and to have it incorporated in that estate.

Antone Richards, the driver for Lopez, who was convicted Friday by the jury in Judge Gear's court of adulterating milk, was given thirty days imprisonment at hard labor and fined $100 yesterday. The sentence was very heavy, but the court explained its position in such cases in a manner that seemed to set it right.

"I am sorry," said the Court, "that Lopez is not here with you and I should suggest that he be arrested, seeing that he received the benefits of the dairy. The evidence clearly shows, however, that you milked the cows, have been in the business for many years and were thoroughly conversant with its ins and outs. There have been many cases of adulteration, in none of which has there yet been a conviction and the court sentences you to a fine of $100 and thirty days imprisonment in Oahu prison at hard labor. I think that Lopez should feel it his duty to be with you in sharing the sentence, although, of course, he cannot do so as far as imprisonment is concerned. There is no knowing what illness this food adulteration may have caused, and if it has not been the death of many of the younger members of the community."

A. S. Cleghorn has been cited by Judge Little to show cause why he should not be held to be in contempt for not paying into court the sum of $3420, alleged to be due as a balance to the estate of the late Antonio Felipe, of which he was administrator. This was a complicated matter and remained in the courts for about three years. It was a question for a long time whether W. R. Castle, who was mixed up in it, or Mr. Cleghorn, should be held responsible for the money, it being finally decided that Cleghorn should pay. He was ordered to account for the money in court, but had not yet done so.

Suzan K. Kamaha, administratrix of the estate of the late S. L. Kamaha, has filed account for the money in court but had not yet done so.

W. H. Thone who took four shots at his father-in-law some months ago, and was convicted by the jury Friday of assault with a dangerous weapon, was fined $250 by Judge Gear yesterday. The fine will be paid.

Judge Gear issued an order yesterday for the calling of the grand and trial juries for the special term, which will open on September 16.

A Communication.

MR. EDITOR:—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo., U. S. A. This remedy is for sale by all druggists and dealers. BENSON, SMITH & CO., Agents for Hawaii.

A committee, consisting of C. E. King and D. K. Kawakoa, has been appointed to arrange for the opening of the night school of the Kamehameha alumnai.

Seems strange that we should buy more wash skirts when we already had the completest stock in town. Yet if you knew the inner history of this purchase the wonder would cease. It was one of those once-in-a-season changes, that brook not a moment's hesitation, much less refusal. Indeed, had we not accepted at sight, would we not have been traitors to your interests?

If you have use for one more summer skirt, these invite your inspection. Every skirt absolutely perfect. Styles—the latest; some plain; some with elaborate trimming; some with flares and flounces. There are all these materials—THESE GOOD MATERIALS—Coverts, Denims, Crashes, Linens, Khakis and Piques. And prices to suit all purses.

THE LONG BRIDGE AT PAHOEHOE IS DOWN

COLLAPSES UNDER A TEAM FROM THE VOLCANO STABLES—IS A WRECK.

Accident is Due to the Breaking of An Overhead Iron Rod—The Wrecked Bridge Will be Re-built.

HILO, Sept. 6.—On Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock the bridge at Pahoehe gulch, about three miles out of Hilo on the Hamakua road, broke with one of the Volcano Stables teams on it. This bridge is about 80 feet long and about 25 feet above the water. A team belonging to the Omea Sugar Company and a team belonging to the Volcano Stables had crossed just previously. This wagon, driven by Manuel Francisco, had a light load of merchandise, much lighter than usual, in fact. When Francisco heard the bridge crack behind him he threw the lines and jumped clear, fortunately landing in a deep pool. As he came to the surface he saw a piece of falling timber, and dived, throwing up on arm to protect his head. The timber hurt his arm and he received a kick on the hip from one of the mules, but these injuries are very slight.

When the mules felt the bridge going down they made a desperate struggle to pull up and off the bridge, even as he came to the surface he saw a piece of falling timber, and dived, throwing up on arm to protect his head. The timber hurt his arm and he received a kick on the hip from one of the mules, but these injuries are very slight.

The accident was due to the breaking of an overhead rod. Examination shows that the timbers were also in a bad condition; rotten, charred and decayed to such an extent that it is a wonder that the bridge held so long as it has. Work has already begun to put up a false structure, which will be utilized in building the old bridge over. The road will be open for light traffic by Monday; at present the crossing is made by foot along the old bridge by fording. The Volcano stage connects there twice a day, so traffic is not entirely suspended. The old bridge will be rebuilt; new timbers put in and in the case of the broken iron rod, new will be used. To put in a steel bridge, would mean two or three months delay in which the road would be practically closed.

The road board will have to suspend repairs on the roads in order to use the money on the roads. Even this available fund is very low, as most of it has to be used to meet obligations that the government has failed to provide for.

Notes.
C. S. Wright, president of the Wilder S. S. Co., accompanied by his wife, came up on this Kinau as far as Kawaihae. They spent their vacation at Puuwaawaa, Eben Low's place.

Captain Paul Smith arrived from Honolulu by the Kinau to hold the annual election of officers of Company D. H. N. G. The election will be held next Thursday evening.

The captain will direct company drill tonight at the square. Francis Murphy, the apostle of Gospel temperance, who, with the aid of Franklin Austin, has succeeded in setting Honolulu on the high road to temperate living, will be in Hilo in about two weeks to conduct a temperance campaign.

Miss Hansen and Miss Childs, who arrived by the Santiago, are teaching at the Hilo boarding school. Miss Childs has charge of the music and Miss Hansen is acting as matron. Both of the young ladies are graduates of the San Jose Normal school.

At a stockholders meeting of the Volcano Stables and Transportation Co. held this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. C. Kennedy, president; J. A. Scott, vice president; J. W. Mason, secretary; Chas. H. Fairer, treasurer; P. Peca, auditor; Geo. S. McKenzie and John T. Moir, directors.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year at the annual meeting of the Teachers' Association of Hawaii held at Honolulu last Saturday: President, J. N. Taggard; secretary and treasurer, H. N. Wells; vice presidents, Hahu, Miss Ella A. Snow, Hawaii, Miss Josephine Deyo; Maui, R. S. Dowie; Kauai, J. C. Davis.

FIRE IN HAMAKUA.

Still Continues and Cattle Are Being Driven to Hilo.

There have been heavy showers in Hilo for the past week. Up to Monday the rain did not pass beyond Honohi-hu. Monday night 1.6 of an inch of rain fell in the woods mauka of Paauhanu. The fires still continue in the Hamakua forests, rising and falling with the trade winds. The Horners have sent away all the cattle from their ranch. Those that can stand the journey are being brought into Hilo to the Shipman place while the others will be left at places along the road, where there is accommodations for them. Some of the cattle have not had a drink for over three months and are in a wretched condition.

The rainfall for the first five days in September at Waialea has been 1.75 of an inch.

Keauau Lands Opened.
J. L. Osmer has been appointed manager of the Keauau Land and Planting Co., and has made contracts for plowing the cleared land and planting in cane. Much work has already been done. It is expected that within a year another large tract will be added to the company's property.—Hawaii Herald.

Volcano Still Warm.
VOLCANO HOUSE, Sept. 4.—There was a heavy rainfall yesterday, the first in a long time in this section. The crater remains in about the same condition. Some coast visitors were down this morning and returned with pieces of wood charred by coming in contact with heat from the lava.

Trust to Territory.
Judging from disclosures made in Honolulu newspapers, the best thing Governor Dole can do is to declare a spendthrift trust for the Territory, appoint J. A. Magoon its guardian and retire himself again to the sylvan charms of interior Hawaii.—Hilo Tribune.

Nothing Like Oil.
"In dealing with a man, remember that a spoonful of oil will go farther than a gallon of vinegar." The same may be said of children. There is nothing so good for children as the old-fashioned canter oil. However much they abhor it, it is their best medicine for disorders of the bowels. In the most severe cases of diphtheria and dysentery, however, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy should be given after the oil operates, and a quick cure is sure to follow. Captain Brokaw of the Fearless, claims that he heard the yelling of the rosters of Diamond Head.

The Customs sluggers went after Barney Joy's curves from the start and did not let up until the end of the ninth inning.

"Old Pal" Gorman and the ever cool-headed George Clark did great battery work for the Customs. Hugh Tucker played a wonderful game at third and was always "Johnny on the spot" when a hit was needed. Bowers, the center fielder, made some great running catches.

Nowell also of Manager Fogarty's aggregation, distinguished himself at the bat. He got three hits to his credit. Gay made a record as a base stealer. He stole from first to second, from second to third, and from third to crossed the plate on one of the greatest steals known in the baseball history of these Islands.

For the Police Catcher Leslie, who broke his thumb in the second inning, showed his gameness after being retired for one inning, by returning and catching the game out. Chillingworth played a good first. Duncan a good second, and Parker deserves credit for the way he held down third. Joy never failed to hit the ball and pitched what would have been a winning game against less heavy hitters. The outfield for the Police was perfect. One of them scored an error.

At the end of the game the Customs boys gave three cheers for the Police and the band played the "Red, White and Blue."

Among the rosters present were John W. Short, R. C. Stackable, Walter Drake, Fred Bertringer, J. Kelly Brown, M. H. Drummond, Dr. Monsarratt, Captain R. M. Macaulay, Harry Johnson, Jack Low, J. B. Gibson, and Peter Malani.

There were more than 300 persons on the boat at the time of the accident and the vessel was steaming up the river at top speed. ## MAY TEST DESERTION LAW.

Creighton Says It Is Contrary to the Constitution.

Attorney Charles Creighton appeared in the police court yesterday morning to defend Antonio Garcia, charged with desertion. During the trial of the case Creighton undertook to say that the desertion law was contrary to the Organic Act and the Constitution of the United States. On this ground Creighton moved for dismissal, failing to state, however, in what way the desertion act was contrary to the Constitution of the United States. Judge Wilcox did not seem to agree with the attorney's contention. Garcia was given one month in which to think over his troubles.

Creighton took exception to the ruling of the court and a test case may be made.
