Tribune Editor Scored

Pupils of Papaikou School
Write Interesting Letter.

The pupils of the Papaikou school have written the following letter to the editor of the Hilo Tribune.

Papaikou School,
January 13, 1910.

Dear Editor:

In your paper of January 4, you make an attack on what the children study in the schools of Hawaii. A few weeks ago we enjoyed your visit to our school. We feel ourselves under the direct aim of your fire, for during your stay here we worked a question in arithmetic needing a knowledge of "specific gravity." In your article you say it is foolish to study such things as astronomy and specific gravity. You think it is a mistake to let us know anything of the sciences, anything but "hoe hanabana." We should like to express some of our ideas on this subject.

Our creed is one of work—service. We believe that we are here to do things, so that the world may be a little better on account of our having been in it. In order to be of service we must know about things—we must be educated.

We know that farming is the mainstay of this Territory. We have many copies of the reports of the Secretary of Agriculture. That great man has shown us that successful farming depends on a knowledge of many of the sciences. We want to be farmers, and we want to work according to Mr. Wilson's system. We want to work in the light of knowledge. We are weary of this ignorance and superstition which you would have us bear still further down the ages. May not we also clap our hands with joy, inspired by viewing and contemplating the wonders of nature? Must we be here to do only the drudgery, not daring to look to the skies during the fourteen hours of each day we are not required to work, while we straighten our weary backs.

We assure you, Mr. Editor, that even our little knowledge of astronomy has already done much for us. We used to plant our vegetables, to kill our pigs, to trim our vines and even our hair only at certain stages of the moon. Since learning something about astronomy we do not lie idly by waiting for the moon to grow before doing our work. We no longer fear eclipses, and we are going to rejoice at the sight of Halley's comet when it comes. Why not allow us also to listen to the "music of the spheres?"

You would allow us to read, but you put a ban on the sciences, history and literature. What then shall we read? What else is there to read? How can we ever learn to read if we do not read? What is reading? We understand it to be the getting of the writer's thoughts from the printed page. How can it harm us to read the thoughts of such writers as Longfellow, Washington Irwin, Dickens, William H. Prescott, or Proctor.

We are hungry for this food of knowledge which makes men wise, and which alone makes the world different from what it was in the darkness of the Middle Ages.

History teachers us that Egypt, Persia, Greece, Rome and Spain were once great nations, but when they began to oppress the laboring people, in order to satisfy the selfishness of the ruling powers their

Improvements at Kahului

Are Recommended by United States' Engineers

A cable has just been received from Delegate Kuhio Kalaniana'ole to the effect that the Board of Reviewing Engineers, has reported favorably on the proposals for the construction of a breakwater in Kahului Harbor in the extension of the present structure to the American Girl Rock. It is also recommended that dredging be done up to within two hundred and eighteen feet of the present breakwater, and that sufficient dredging be carried out to form a basin of ample size, for present and future needs.

This is the best piece of local news received here for some time. It is believed that the matter will be considered at this session of congress. If this is done, it is probable that the business will be disposed of before March 4th, at which time this session ends.

The recent storms did not do so much damage to the breakwater constructed by the Kahului Railroad Company as was at first thought to be the case. While the end of the breakwater was undermined and a short section next to it was washed away, the end of the breakwater still affords some protection to the ships at anchor in the inner basin and affords some protection to the vessels at the outer moorings.

greatness began to wane, and now they are but a memory in history. As citizens of perhaps the greatest nation of the world today we must see to it that we don't follow in their footsteps of bigotry and selfishness.

We want the industrial training that you recommend. We want to learn the best methods of plowing, planting, hoeing, and harvesting. We want to learn to use tools, to become good cooks and housekeepers, and to be able to make our clothes. Our finger tips are tingling with the rich red blood of youth, anxious to grasp the plow, the hoe, the tradesman's tools, the needle, the broom, and the rolling pin so that we shall be able

"When we're grown to take our place,
As men and women with our race."

The day you visited us we thought that you were a kind man. If we knew less about astronomy we might think that some of the heavenly bodies were responsible for the feeling which dictated your editorial. Sometimes we feel blue too, but when we sing "There's a Good Time Coming Boys" our skies are soon cleared and we again feel right with the world. Come again, Mr. Editor, and we will sing it for you.

On behalf of Papaikou School we remain,

Very sincerely yours,

The good people of Hilo began a campaign at the beginning of 1909 to help Hilo grow. From the report of the District magistrate of the rainy city, it would seem that others are helping the city to grow too, and as a result 1197 persons were convicted during the year as against 820 in 1908.

Merchant Marine

Must Be Encouraged by Congress.

Washington correspondents are practically in agreement with regard to the intense interest that is centered in the ship-subsidy bill. Friends of the measure prefer to have it spoken of as the ship-subsvention bill. But this is neither here nor there. Subsidy or subvention, what is sought is government aid in the upbuilding of our merchant marine, and the point at issue is not whether it shall be in the nature of a subsidy or subvention, but whether we shall be taking a wise or an unwise course in giving financial encouragement, by way of bounty, to American shipping, so that it may be able to compete on equal terms with foreign shipping.

Representatives and Senators are said to be primed with arguments in anticipation of the merchant marine debates. The focus of subsidy are no less active in preparing and distributing data than their friends. Not all of this data is entirely trustworthy, and not all of it, if trustworthy, would be important. Now and then a scrap of information more instructive and more eloquent than any that has undergone elaborate preparation drifts under the notice of the casual observer. As, for example, this little table detached from a report of the bureau of statistics, which is simple and complete exhibit of the world's merchant marine and of our share of it.

Flag	No. of Vessels	Tonnage
British	11,563	18,700,000
American (including lake traffic)	2,250	4,800,000
German	2,178	4,232,000
Norwegian	2,148	2,000,000
French	1,517	1,883,000
Italian	1,100	1,300,000
Japanese	870	1,142,000
Russian	1,400	1,000,000
Sveedish	1,550	900,000
Dutch	565	900,000
Spanish	551	700,000

This table brings out strongly the fact that no amount of theorizing has been able to dislodge, namely, that under our present method of dealing with the question our merchant marine is decaying. And the great weakness in the position of those who so stubbornly and bitterly antagonize every attempt made to restore our merchant marine to its old standing is that their course is purely obstructive.

Citizens Are United

Favor Acquisition of Additional Land.

In response to an invitation of the Board of Supervisors to meet them and discuss the matter of a third story to the jail building to be used for County offices a large number of persons were present Friday afternoon and expressed themselves as being opposed to the third story and strongly in favor of acquiring all of the land between the present County property and the Daniels estate property.

There were a few preliminary questions asked by several citizens. Hugh M. Coke then addressed the Board pointing out the urgent need of additional lands for County purposes. He referred to the limited quarters which were at first thought sufficient and to the necessity of more room in a short time there after. He spoke of the additional quarters being provided by a former board and of the fact that added duties and responsibilities were assigned to the counties by the legislature which made the acquisition of more room imperative. He pointed out the fact that all political parties favor the extension of local self government instead of a continuation of the present paternalism called territorial government. The fact that the added room contemplated would soon be inadequate was gone over thoroughly and that then a great outlay would be required and probably the lands now available could not be had.

Mr. Coke was followed by Hon. H. P. Baldwin who strongly supported the plan to acquire the additional land and build thereon.

Mr. Baldwin's address was short but full of force and full of the strongest support of the plan to acquire the additional land.

Many other leading citizens spoke and for the first time in history Wailuku, Kahului and Pu unene were a unit on a public matter.

There was not a dissenting voice against the plan that was called by Chairman Pogue the Maui News plan.

It was a case wherein, Hawaiians, Portuguese and American born citizens without an exception were of one opinion, Home Rulers, Democrats and Republicans were of one mind and petty local imaginary differences were forgotten, and all stood united.

Under these circumstances the board felt that the will of such a body of men should be respected and appointed a committee consisting of Supervisors Lyons and Haia to investigate the proposition and report at the next meeting.

It is to be hoped that the owners of the Kahale estate land will accept a reasonable offer otherwise condemnation proceedings will be necessary.

Rev. J. D. Keliipio, pastor of the Wailuku Church, Oahu, is spending a few days on Maui, visiting Clem Crowell. Last Sunday morning he preached for Mr. Dodge at the Waikapu Church, and tomorrow morning he will preach at the Kaahumanu church, Wailuku, for the pastor, Rev. L. B. Kaumehelewa, who left last evening for the C. E. Rally at Honolulu. Mr. Keliipio will probably be with Maui churches for the next two weeks. He is being much enjoyed by all who heard him.

Peter Nos Kahokuoluna and wife were among the departing passengers for Honolulu as delegates to the Christian Endeavor Convention in Honolulu where they will meet Doctor Clark of that organization.

Those Judicial Appointments. It seems to us that President Taft did the only sensible thing the chief executive of a representative government could do in appointing Robertson, Robinson and De Bolle on the recommendation of the delegate, the bar association, the territorial republican executive committee and other bodies of men whose opinions should count as against the whim of any one man regardless of his official position.

It has been intimated that the people of Hawaii are a cantankerous lot who are always at war with the officials or some of them and that we should not be taken into the confidence of the powers that be for fear of starting a row.

We do not take this view of the situation by a long way but if it is true there is but one thing for Uncle Samuel to do and that is to disfranchise every man in the territory and appoint a commission to manage our affairs for us. We believe in representative government. We believe it is the right of every citizen to express his views on any public matter whether we agree with him, or he with us, or not.

The position of chief executive of this territory is a most difficult position to fill. Much to the credit of each of the former governors as well as the present one can be truthfully said. We believe that each of them has made mistakes. It is our right to criticize any official act of which we do not approve. It is our duty to give credit for whatever good an official does.

In regard to Governor Frear resigning on account of not having his way as opposed to that of strong representative organizations we think the matter foolish. It would be childish of the governor to resign because his opinion is not given more weight than the opinion of the most influential organizations of the territory. He should not have expected any thing else of the president.

There are as able men as Governor Frear who have given their support to some of those said to have been opposed by Governor Frear. Their opinions are of value as well as Governor Frear's.

The popularity of such men as Hon. H. P. Baldwin, Marston Campbell, J. P. Cooke and many other leading citizens is due to the fact that they are always ready to listen to the people. If Governor Frear will profit by example he will find his office much more pleasant to himself and more agreeable to the people.

For Governor Frear to resign and be succeeded by Kuhio would be a calamity for the reason that if Kuhio is appointed a democrat will be elected to Congress.

Kuhio is doing well where he is and the party needs him at the head of the ticket.

The people are better off as matters stand even if they do take issue with the governor occasionally.

The Tipping System. The question of tipping has perhaps done more to interfere with the complete success of many undertakings than is generally realized. It is not, however, until one has experienced the changed conditions brought about in, let us say, a hotel where tips are neither allowed nor expected, that one is able to appreciate the remarkable sense of freedom and satisfaction that exists in those circumstances. At no great distance from St. Clement Danes in London a hotel has recently been opened where no tips are allowed, nor indeed are they expected, and it is most remarkable and equally significant that all connected with the establishment give an impression of brightness, satisfaction and contentment.

The feature that perhaps impresses one most is the genuine interest the attendants evidently take in their work. They are exceptionally active, alert and thorough, and appear to be actuated by the genuine desire to do their work well, instead of, as is so frequently the case, expending their energy in striving to reap as big a harvest as possible from the tips to be doled out by their customers.

The question of tipping is one of considerable importance. It is not right that a certain class should be tipped, and another class should not, that the man who does certain work for which he is already paid should be tipped, while a man doing work of another nature should receive nothing. It is impossible to disguise the fact that tips amount to either a form of bribery or to an admission that the man is underpaid. The custom of tipping most assuredly tends to encourage dishonesty, injustice and avarice, and it will be a great day when the custom is entirely abolished, even, if necessary, by official action. Every laborer is worthy of his hire, and an employer should pay his employees a proper salary. This is the merest justice, and without it true success is hardly possible. The tendency all through the ages has been to lay up "treasures upon earth," and it is only by opposing this desire, pandered to by the one and encouraged by the other, that we shall cease to be guilty of putting a "stumbling block or an occasion to fall" in our brother's way.

Do Not Hate It is pleasant in these times to hear of occurrences that show the better side of human nature. It is not worth while to hate any one. Life is too short to cherish or ill-will hard thoughts. What if that man has cheated you? or that woman played you false? or some friend forsaken you? Let it all pass. What difference will it make to you in a few years, when you go hence to that undiscovered country. All who treat you wrong will be more sorry for it than you in your deepest grief. A few more smiles, a few more tears, some pleasure, much pain, a little longer hurrying and worrying in the world, some hasty greeting and abrupt farewells and life will be over, and injurer and injured will be laid away and forgotten. It is not worth while to hate each other. This is our advice, and like salvation it's free. Try it during 1910.

Premier Laurier is well satisfied with the relations existing between Canada and the United States; so well satisfied indeed, that he does not want to have them meddled with on any pretext.

The fact that a Massachusetts man has been elected mayor after meeting five defeats has given renewed courage to men everywhere who thought they were out of politics for good.

Warning to Japan

Japan Must Cease Violation of Open Door Policy.

(Hearst papers Washington correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, January 6.—The President has tossed a firebrand into the politics of the Far East.

This is borne out by the virile term of a statement given out late this afternoon by Secretary of State Knox, which means that Japan must abandon her machinations against American interests and Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria.

A strict interpretation makes it clear that Japan has been notified that she cannot hold sovereignty over railway properties in Manchuria.

The statement further flouts Japan openly by calling public attention to a new and startling policy of this government, namely, that it is the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany are the guardians of the territorial rights of China.

It points out in a way, incapable of misunderstanding, that it is the money of the four great monied powers named which is in control of the destinies of China.

The logical conclusion is that the powers named by the President are to control the destinies of the East and of the world.

The position of the President and of Secretary Knox on its face seems to be a reversal of the traditional policy that the United States shall make no entangling alliances. The proposed pact, however, which the United States is certain to put in concrete form and which includes three great European powers, became necessary, it is argued here, when Japan flagrantly violated the McKinley-Hay policy of the open door in China and seized lines of railway as military highways.

That is the justification set up for the magnificent political structure for the control of the world by the four great military nations, the United States, Germany, France and England.

In the language of the diplomats Japan has been asked to agree to the "neutralization of the railways of Manchuria." Russia necessarily has been asked to agree to the same proposition. It is to Russia's interest to agree, because the agreement will guarantee to her absolute safety for her own railway projects which are menaced by Japan's aggressiveness in Manchuria.

The State Department is optimistic as to the outcome of its grave move on the international chess board. It is true that Secretary Knox says that Japan may agree, but he also shrewdly says that all he knows at present about Japan's sympathy with this movement is contained in some unofficial sporadic Japanese press reading matter.

There is grim humor in the optimism of Secretary Knox with reference to Japan's agreement with his views, as this would be the end of her railway system and territorial aggressions in Manchuria. The President and Secretary Knox were, of course, fully aware when the note was sent to the powers that adhesion to its terms, even in principle, would isolate Japan. China thus backed by the powers sustaining the open door policy, could deal safely and summarily with Japan.

The policy of this government, therefore, as announced today, recovers for the State Department the prestige it had lost in the East. In fact, it has more than recovered this lost ground by the directness of the manner in which it points its finger at Japan and virtually demands the neutralization of Railways in Manchuria, which is the equivalent of bringing down on her head the whole crafty self-aggrandizing fabric erected by Japan in the most valuable commercial province of China, from which Japan has been gradually ousting the trade of the United States.

The note of this government reveals the instructions which were given to Mr. Calhoun, the new Minister to China. It also says that Baron Uchida, the Japanese Ambassador, before he receives any treaty considerations in the United States, must call Japan down from its pedestal in China.

The note is built upon historical facts. The most remarkable of these is his official confirmation of the story that President Taft sent an ultimatum personally to the Chinese regent, Prince Chun, when he was secretly violating the agreement as to loans entered into between former United Minister Conger and China.

Secretary Knox's statement follows:

"The proposition of the United States to the interested powers looking to the neutralization of the Manchurian railroads discloses the end toward which American policy in the Far East has been recently directed.

"Late in May last this government learned that an understanding had been reached between important British and French and German financial groups supported by their governments, by which they were to furnish funds for which the construction of two great railways in China. This government believing that sympathetic co-operation between the governments most vitally interested would best subserve the policies of maintenance of Chinese political integrity and equality of commercial opportunity, suggested that American co-operation with the powerful international financial group already formed would be use-

Local Man Swamped While Out Fishing

Archie Robertson and Arthur Betts of Paunene had an experience while fishing off Waikiki last Sunday morning.

The above named and two native fishermen went out to their usual fishing ground off Diamond Head in a canoe, but had poor sport owing to the wind and strong current prevailing.

They soon had enough of fishing, and tried to return to the Moana Hotel.

The strong wind and current made it impossible for them to get nearer the Moana than Hustace's place, a quarter of a mile distant.

Off Hustace's place they caught a big wave further out than they should have done and it took them in as far as the reef.

Another wave came along and swamped the canoe, the steerer being unable to keep the canoe from broadsiding to the sea.

Luckily the surf was not heavy and the canoe drifted over the reef in safety, the occupants having to do a lot of swimming.

The canoe finally drifted into shallow water in front of the Seaside Hotel.

The fish that had been caught and some gear and tackle were lost. —Star.

ful to further the policies to which all were alike pledged.

"This government pointed out that the greatest danger at present in China to the open door and the development of foreign trade arose from disagreements among the great Western nations and expressed the opinion that nothing would afford so impressive an object lesson to China and the world as the sight of the four great capitalist nations—Great Britain, Germany, France and the United States—standing together for equality of commercial opportunity."

Pinchot and Ballinger

The People Versus the Land Grabbers.

A phase of the Pinchot-Ballinger and Graves-Ballinger controversies, of the attacks upon a member of the cabinet and of what amounts to a campaign against the national administration, that must not be lost sight of by impartial people, is the question of protecting from land-grabbers and dishonest claimants that part of the public domain that is still in possession of the government. There is general agreement as to the need of a more aggressive policy of conservation than that which had been followed up to Mr. Roosevelt's time, and there is general approval of the program outlined by Mr. Roosevelt and, to a considerable degree, followed by his aides, in the matter of calling the exploiters of our national resources to a halt.

Private interests long ago discovered that Alaska offered an attractive field for development, and long before the government had become aware of the mineral wealth of that territory private capital had its agents employed in carrying on investigations with the view of locating and entering claims against its mineral lands. It is estimated that the coal lands of Alaska alone are worth $1,500,000,000—a sum greater than the public debt of the United States—and this represents but a fraction of the undeveloped wealth of the country. Foreign as well as American capitalists have been engaged in efforts to secure possession of vast tracts of territory underlain with minerals, and it is alleged that in many cases they have proceeded in evasion and in violation of the law.

It should not be forgotten that the policy of conservation is a new thing. Only a few years ago the public domain was thrown open freely, or practically so, to all comers. Those whom today we call exploiters and land-grabbers were, when the country was younger, very welcome to engage in its development. No doubt the nation gave away immeasurable wealth in its efforts to people the waste places, and there can be little doubt that the investment was well made. What it gave in hundreds has come back to it in thousands and in millions. A policy of conservation would have stayed the march of progress in the West indefinitely; the open-door policy, or the free-for-all policy, or the help-yourself policy, has transformed a barren waste into a populous and wealthy empire.

But we have proceeded far enough along this line. The time has come when we must jealously guard our natural resources. We have still a vast amount of natural wealth at our disposal, but we must husband it. The spoiler must be stopped. The land-grabber must be checked. Above all, the laws must be enforced and respected. Mr. Taft is as pronounced on these points as was Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Ballinger is no less determined on these points than is Mr. Pinchot. Mr. Taft and Mr. Ballinger, however, have asserted their right to proceed to accomplish the same result in a way quite different from that followed by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Pinchot.

A congressional committee is to determine, after hearing all the evidence, whether or not the Taft and Ballinger way is as good a way as that pursued during the previous administration. It is to decide, in fact, whether the Taft and Ballinger way is not questionable or worse. This is really what it comes to, and it is a decision upon this point that the country must patiently await.

In the meantime the conservation of our natural resources will depend upon the honesty and effectiveness of the methods that Mr. Taft and Mr. Ballinger have adopted and are prepared to defend.
