THE GOMES OPIUM CASE.

In the ADVERTISER of Nov. 30, appeared a statement that Mr. J. E. Gomes had been arrested under suspicion of having been dealing in opium in collusion with Chinese. On the following day, a search was made in his store by the police, and no trace of opium was found, and this fact was also stated in this paper of December 1, fully exonerating him from the charge made by the police, and his case has been dropped. The information was obtained wholly from the police and the records of the court. Personally we have no grievance against Mr. Gomes, and if he feels injured by what was published, the Court reporter of this paper much regrets it, though the fault may have been his own.

No News is Good News.

The news from Hawaii brought by the steamship Australia, which left Honolulu November 11, is an agreeable disappointment. Minister Willis had presented his credentials to the President of the Provisional Government four days before the departure of the steamer. His speech upon that occasion was peaceful and conciliatory, and the reply on the part of President Dole was made in a spirit of hearty friendliness.
If Minister Willis has been sent to overturn the Government to which he is accredited, he has gone about the duty in a peculiarly amicable fashion. The news we get is precisely the news we should have expected, but for the premonitory thunderings in Secretary Gresham's letter. It is hard to make the Secretary's preface square with the text of the first chapter of Minister Willis' proceedings. Perhaps the prudent delay of the latter may give the Administration a needed opportunity to revise its first instructions. We shall see what we shall see.—Philadelphia Record.

CLEVELAND REBUKED BY THE PEOPLE.

To restore Liliuokalani to the supreme sovereignty of Hawaii, says the N. Y. Mail and Express, would not only be a crime against the people of that country, but as well an outrage upon morality and common decency. This woman was forced to abdicate her throne because the abomination of her reign had reached such a climax of defiant arrogance as to arouse the people to the necessity for immediate action in self-defense.

It is now said that President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham are uneasy. They well may be. They have assumed an attitude toward Hawaii which is, according to the San Francisco Examiner, both weak and wicked. That Democratic paper, representing American sentiment at a point nearest the seat of trouble, denounces the statements of Secretary Gresham as both "false and foolish." President Cleveland has every reason for being uneasy. He has adopted a foreign policy which violates the genius of our Constitution and the fundamental principles of our Government; which denies our whole history and insults the memory of the early patriots and heroes of the republic, and which today gives encouragement to the European intrigue by which the young republic of Brazil is to be overthrown and the monarchy restored.

Not only is President Cleveland assuming the enormous responsibility of destroying a free Government and restoring to power a despot, licentious and pagan queen, but he has placed himself under the imputation of treachery, by authorizing an agent to overthrow a Government to which he is sent as an officially accredited Minister. In the light of these facts the President should be very uneasy.

The Hawaiian Question.

From the manner in which Secretary Gresham's letter has been received, it is now certain that the Hawaiian question will occupy a large part of the attention of Congress during the coming winter. It is, moreover, fairly well assured that the President will not have the full support of the Democratic party if he undertakes to carry out the policy that the letter prefigures. Among the Democratic opponents of the Administration on this policy may be safely counted Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who now holds the important position of Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. The senator has not been outspoken since the letter appeared, but the attitude which he took on the subject when it came up last winter makes it certain that he is in favor of annexation, while the aggressive fight he made against the repeal of the Sherman Act precludes any idea that he will be likely to waive his own opinion on any subject out of deference to the Administration.

Senator Morgan, of course, will not stand alone in his party. He will be supported by many of his southern colleagues and by the Democrats of the Pacific Coast. If, therefore, Cleveland, as is likely should find any support among the New England Republicans, the Hawaiian question would present a party muddle similar to that which took place on the silver question. We should be presented once more with the sight of a Democratic administration relying upon Republican votes to carry out its measures. In this instance, however, the result will probably be different from that which followed the silver contest. Cleveland had his way then, but he is not likely to have it now. Many Republicans helped him to carry the repeal of the Sherman Act, but there will be very few, if any, to help him reject the annexation of Hawaii, and probably none if he goes further and undertakes to overthrow the Provisional Government and restore the Queen.

Mr. Cleveland's blunder in regard to Hawaii may prove beneficial. It will involve his party in faction fights and weaken it beyond the power of doing harm until another Congress is elected. In this way the tariff will be saved, and when a Republican President takes the place of Cleveland the annexation of Hawaii will come about in the regular order of business.—San Jose Mercury.

Our true policy in Hawaii is to keep hands off. We are under no obligations to place Liliuokalani on her throne again. It is enough if we leave her people free to place her there if they like. It would be absurd for this republic to re-establish a throne once overthrown and its overthrow seemingly acquiesced in by the people.—New York World.

The Illustrated Tourists' Guide That popular work, "THE TOURISTS GUIDE THROUGH THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS," is meeting with a steady sale both at home and abroad. Tourists and others visiting these islands should be in possession of a copy of it. It is a perfect mine of information relating to the scenes and attractions to be met with here. Copies in wrappers can be had at the publication office, 46 Merchant street, and at the News Dealers. Price 60 cents.

HILO PLANTATIONS.

Their Remarkable Prosperity in Recent Years.

It seems a little strange, not to say discouraging, to see the once famous Hamakua district in a state of collapse and the cane dying for want of rain. But it is more strange to see the once despised Hilo district now blooming like a rose, indeed a very wilderness of saccharine abundance. Passing out of the par-baked district of Hamakua into that of Hilo, blossoming and fragrant, and made refreshing by the soft breeze and the mellow and beautiful weather, is like passing out of the wilderness into the promised land, flowing with milk and honey. But it is doubtful if even the promised land ever yielded so rich a harvest as the planters of Hilo district are now reaping. It is stated on good authority that the yield per acre for the entire district last year was not less than five tons of sugar, and from present appearances the yield this year will exceed the previous one. One may learn something of the improvement when it is stated that the plantations in the Hilo district cleared on an average 25 per cent.

Some idea of the crops may be learned from the following figures: Papaikou and Wainaku each turned out seven thousand tons, Waialeale and Pepeekeo five thousand, and the yield for the district was thirty-five thousand tons. This is a good showing for an old, worn-out soil. If anyone had predicted such a yield ten years ago he would have been considered a fit subject for a lunatic asylum.

Now, as many have condemned the planters in the past for their parsimoniousness in leaving nature alone to fight their battles, so they deserve praise for the great efforts in assisting her, and for the wonderful transformation which they have accomplished in this once barren, God-forsaken soil of the Hilo district, which has been done solely by judicious use of fertilizers. I should like to give a full description of the marvelous change effected, but neither time nor space will permit. I will therefore merely say that from Ooaka to Hilo is now one vast cane field, and not such scrubby cane as remember seeing years ago, but only such cane as can be produced with the finest climate, the best of soil, and the most judicious care in every department. And one is astonished beyond measure to see the old worn out lands of Pepeekeo, Papaikou, Wainaku and Onomea, yielding such crops as could scarcely be formerly expected to grow on new lands. And doubtless many persons will be astonished to learn that the Ooaka plantation which is at the tail end of the district, with the worst soil, and the least rain, and which for ages has been sunk in the slough of despond and covered with debt is now among the rest coming to the front, but it is a fact nevertheless. All are also glad to see the Lapaehoe plantation starting up again. There is undoubtedly good soil upon this place, and the new order of things will reach here also. There is as bright a future, and as splendid a success awaiting this as has been achieved by any of its more fortunate neighbors. It is scarcely necessary to say that these remarkable changes are due to a thorough and systematic course of fertilizing, to better methods of cultivation, and to more careful management in every branch of the business.

The amount of money now spent for fertilizers would astonish some people, and it is generally considered that nothing pays so well. Some of these plantations, it is stated, pay out as much as thirty-five thousand dollars a year, and what may seem most strange is that those which spend the most for this article declare the largest dividends. It is also stated that most of the land that has been under cultivation for thirty years, and which was considered worn out years ago is so far reclaimed by fertilizing, as to be the finest soil on the place, and actually improving from year to year.

But these Hilo planters now do not wait to see the soil worn out, before they begin to fertilize it. Mr. C. C. Kennedy and some others start to manure the soil as soon as they start to use it, which is evidently a good plan. Besides these improvements one constantly finds evidences of progress, and evidences of energy and enterprise, which speak more forcibly than any amount of words can do of the interest taken in this industry, and which must be a subject of gratification, not only to the planters themselves but to all those interested as owners. I must not forget to say a word for the weather, which is doubtless doing as much for this district as the planters themselves. The climate here now is said to be just perfect for sugar cane growing. Warm rains at night and scorching sunshine for the day is what is needed for the perfect growth of this plant, and it is just what they are getting here now. I cannot close this letter without referring to the rare and beautiful sight one may behold passing over the Hilo road at this season of the year. For now nature is prodigal beyond description and beautiful beyond comparison. The cane fields are tasseling and blooming and making one vast flower garden thirty miles in length. The gulches are covered with the most varied and most gorgeous display of tropical vegetation, and the hill sides are clothed in rich verdure, and the mountains crowned with a mantle of snow.

Hawaii, Nov. 28, 1893.

December 4, 1893.

Testimonials as to the efficacy of patent medicines usually bear signatures corresponding with the names on tombstones while those which tell of the superior quality of our goods are from men strong in the flesh. If we were to publish half of the letters received from people selling the Aermotor, for instance, it would require more space than the publisher of this journal would care to sell us. We give you one in this issue from Mr. Matthew Noall, the manager of the sugar plantation at Laie, Oahu, dated November 29, 1893.

"We have now had your 16-ft. Aermotor and No. 5 pump in operation on our cane field for over four months. We find it will do all that is claimed for it. In a strong wind, our pump driven by the Aermotor with a suction of eight feet and a force height of twenty-two feet, will throw 10,000 gallons of water per hour. In an average Laie wind, it will throw from five to six thousand gallons per hour to a height of thirty feet."

In connection with this testimonial we wish to say that Mr. Noall was skeptical as to the power to be obtained from an Aermotor, he could not think that by the use of wind power he could accomplish what had only been secured by steam in the past. In this letter Mr. Noall voices the sentiment of everyone else using Aermotors; for irrigating purposes, it beats the world in economical purposes. We would be pleased to sell you one if you want water.

Mr. WALLIN will have charge of my watch repairing department from this day on, and I hope by continuing to do only good and honest work we will continue to enjoy the very liberal patronage bestowed in the past.

Our Aim

is perfection, and we will get as near to it as mortal can. What is worth at all is worth doing well, so well 'twill be. Recognizing the importance of a thoroughly reliable watch repairing department, it has been my constant aim to make it perfection and have secured therefore the best skill obtainable.

Do Not Forget

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1893.

HANDICRAFT is the little monthly periodical of the Kamehameha Boys' School, in issuing which all the work is done by the boys. In the columns of the November date we find the following lines: "Kamehameha is trying to do its share in teaching the boys that there is something in small farming—that although they might find it hard to compete with Chinese vegetable venders in markets, their household needs would suggest raising something on their land besides taro. To this end we are introducing slowly new vegetables at the dining table which are raised on the place and by the boys, thereby supplying at the same time new wants and the means of gratifying them." This is sound. The boy who graduates without knowing how to raise vegetables, has not completed his education, and is more likely to turn out a failure than a success in life.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Yokohama under date of November 23, states that the Japanese Government is watching Hawaii very closely, and anxious not only to secure the franchise of voting for its people now in this country, but even aspires to become the protector of Hawaii's destinies, and thinks that 20,000 Japanese here call for some action on the part of their Government. In his letter he encloses the following clippings:

"The Hochi Shimbun and the Yomiuri Shimbun urge the Government not only to protect the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands, but to take advantage of the present opportunity to raise the prestige of this Empire and its subjects there. The former paper is very frank on this subject. It states that the present juncture affords the best opportunity for demanding the franchise for the Japanese residents. If necessary, intimidation, says our contemporary, should be employed. "An Asahi express announces, November 20, that a telegram was received on Monday night from Washington, to the effect that the United States Government will shortly send a man-of-war to Honolulu to demand the final decision of the people whether they will consent to annexation with the United States, or establish a republic. There was also received at the Foreign Office a telegram from Honolulu on the threatening condition of Hawaii, and the Naval Department received this morning the approval of the Emperor to send out the Naniwa-kau to protect the Japanese in that country."

THE Friend for December presents its readers with good phototint portraits of the late Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Damon, which are very lifelike, and represent them as they appeared in their prime of life. This number contains several articles on the Hawaiian political situation, which form interesting reading. From one of these, we copy a paragraph, which has the ring of true patriotism.

"Our heads of state have been in a position of profoundly heavy responsibility, between their duty of maintaining their resistance to the overthrow of their Government to the last useful effort, and their duty of avoiding useless slaughter either of the American forces or of their own citizens arrayed against them. By the resolute action, however, of its supporters, the Government has been carried beyond its doubts and hesitation. The vigorous and united demand of our citizens to fight the U. S. forces to the bitter end has settled the question, and whenever such forces or any other, unauthorized by the Congress of the United States attack this Government, they will be resisted to the utmost. A large proportion of the citizens hold in their veins the blood of Lexington and Gettysburg. They are perfectly armed with rifles and rapid fire guns. They can muster over one thousand men, and behind entrenchments, can give good account of any force possible at present to be brought against them. They will fight with patience and courage in the glorious cause of civilization and constitutional government against the reinstatement of a semi-heathen monarch and vicious trampler on constitutions. A true man can find no better end to his life than to fall fighting in such a cause."

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Dec. 5, 10 P. M.—Weather, clear; wind, fresh N.E.
The steamer Pele took yesterday about 200 tons of coal for Makaweli, Kauai.

Among the cargo in transit on the steamship Oceanic were 200 boxes of Hongkong opium.
The bark R. P. Rithet is at the Kinan wharf.

The bark Albert will leave for San Francisco about the latter part of this week.

The bark Enoch Talbot is receiving stone ballast at the Fort street wharf. She will soon leave for the Sound.

Captain T. Thompson, of the bark S. C. Allen bought a fat turkey the other day intending to have a luau with it on Christmas day. The Captain put the turkey in the hold of the vessel the first night, and the next morning, the turkey was found lying dead. A post mortem examination was held and the general belief was that the turkey came to his death at the hands of a mongoose.

Should the British flag ship Royal Arthur come here during the next few weeks as expected by some Englishmen, she will have to anchor outside as there is no room inside the harbor for her. Even if she is anchored in the naval row, her bow would be in the way of vessels coming in and out of the harbor.

The water in the coffer dam will be pumped out at noon today by one of the fire engines. The six shore posts were placed in position near the stern of the S. S. Miowera yesterday.

The extension of Brewer's wharf is almost completed. The carpenters are now putting on the planks.

The record-breaking passage between Honolulu and San Francisco just made by the steamer China causes the Navy Department officials to keenly regret that the ship is not under American registry, and therefore is unavailable as a naval reserve ship. In the last Congress a bill was introduced which permitted this splendid steamer to register under the United States laws and fly the American flag, as did the New York and Paris, but the bill, although strongly indorsed by naval officials, failed of action by Congress, mainly owing to the free ship advocates, who seek the passage of a general law instead of special acts of this kind.—Am. Ex.

The Woman's Board.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions held a meeting at the Central Union Church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. M. Whitney read an interesting paper on the Parliament of Religions at Chicago, after which Mrs. M. S. Rice read a letter sent to her by Miss Rose M. Kinney, telling that everything was quiet and peaceful at Ruk, South Sea Islands. The letter came by way of Japan by the S. S. Oceanic. A talk by Mrs. Leavitt closed the meeting.

Public Concert.

The Hawaiian band, under the leadership of Professor Berger, will give a public concert at the Hawaiian Hotel this (Wednesday) evening, commencing at 8:15 o'clock. Following is the programme:
1. March—"The Sailors' Anchor"
2. Overture—"Zampa"
3. Selection—"Faust"
4. Gavotte—"Daisy"
5. Waltz—"Morning Papers"
6. "Reminiscences of All Nations"
7. "Hawaii"
8. "Hawaii"
9. "Hawaii"
10. "Hawaii"

Christmas Day falls on Monday this year, a circumstance that recalls the following rhyme stored away in the British museum:
"If Christmas day on Monday be,
A great winter that year you'll see;
And full of winds both loud and shrill;
But in summer, truth to tell,
High winds there shall be and strong,
Full of tempest lasting long;
White battles they shall multiply,
And great plenty of beasts shall die.
They that be born that day, I ween,
They shall be strong each one and keen."
He shall be found that stealeth ought;
Thou' thou be sick, thou diest not."

Rev. O. H. Gulick, of Japan, is expected here next month to assist the Hawaiian Board in Japanese Christian work.

The trustees of the Sailors' Home Society will hold a special meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

A large crowd, principally natives, were attracted to the Hawaiian Hotel last evening, to hear the National band play.

The exports of lumber from San Francisco to this country for October amounted to $156,000; from January 1st to October 31st, $735,000.

The Pacific Wheelmen will hold a meeting at the Honolulu Cycles this evening at 7:30. The disbanding of the club will be considered.

The Hawaiian Band will give a concert at the Hawaiian Hotel this evening, to be followed by an informal dance in the lanai and hotel parlors.

Creditors of the bankrupt estate of John Jay Greene are notified to prove their claims before the Circuit Court of the first circuit on Friday, December 8.

As the ex-Queen was not restored by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, one $500 bet changed hands and a good annexationist can add that much to his bank account.

A false alarm of fire was turned in from the neighborhood of Kaimakapili Church at a little after 7 o'clock last evening. An immense crowd followed the engines to and from the scene.

When the pilot met the Japanese cruiser Naniwa about three miles off the harbor last Saturday morning, and after the services of the pilot had been refused, an officer on board the cruiser made the following remark: "How many American warships are there in port?"

A Chinese drayman and a load of lumber caused quite a disturbance on Fort street yesterday afternoon. His load slipped from the wagon just as he was crossing the King street car-tracks, and, for the ten or fifteen minutes that it took to remove it, one of the palace cars was delayed in its lightning journey to Waikiki.

Rev. O. P. Emerson, the Correspondent Secretary of the Hawaiian Board, has renewed leave of absence and is not expected to return till the last of February. He had planned to visit the Portuguese churches in Jacksonville, (Illinois), whence our Christian workers in the Portuguese Mission have come.—The Friend.

THE MISSES ALBU.

England's Latest Sopranos Will Appear Tomorrow.

An exceptional musical treat is promised for tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the Opera House, this being the first appearance of the late world-renowned Jenny Lind's favorite pupils and England's latest and gifted sopranos, the Misses Julie and Rose Albu. The talented ladies will be assisted by Prof. Berger's full orchestra and other artists. Miss Julie Albu will sing "Sing, Sweet Bird" and "The song that reached my heart." Miss Rose Albu's items will be Braga's "Serenade" with violin obligato by Mr. Rosen, and Tito Mattei's "Dear Heart." The great numbers of the evening should be the two duets, Bellini's "Hear me Norma," as written for two sopranos, and A. M. Smith's "Maying." Mr. Barsotti will render flute solos and Mr. Keough a clarinet selection from Sonnambula. With such a grand programme of choice and yet popular music the English songstresses may expect a full house. The box plan is now open and the charge is a popular one.

Mr. Cleveland seems to think that what he doesn't know Gresham does, and that both embody the concentrated wisdom of the nation. But events will soon show that the two are more bumptious than wise. The will of the country toward Hawaii must prevail and since Cleveland has placed himself in the way so much the worse for him.—Troy Budget.

THE NANIWA'S OFFICERS.

They are Dined at the Hawaiian Hotel Last Evening.

Sixty-eight Japanese sat down to dinner at the Hawaiian Hotel last evening, the occasion being a dinner given by Japanese residents of this city to the captain and officers of the Naniwa. They all sat at one long table in the dining room, and mirth and jollity reigned supreme. At the head of the table Captain Togo, the commanding officer of the Naniwa, sat with Japanese Inspector Nakayama on his right, and on his left the Secretary of the Japanese Legation, Mr. Marita. Opposite Captain Togo sat Minister Fujii, and on his right and left were Commander Ishii and Lieut. Motsumoto, of the Japanese cruiser.

The dining room was decorated with Japanese flags. The Hawaiian National Band played in the band stand in the hotel yard during the progress of the dinner.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1893.

CHARLES A. BROWN vs. THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

ASSUMPSIT.

BEFORE JUDD, C. J., BICKERTON AND FEAR, JJ.

Where a salary has been paid to an officer of fact, acting under a color of title, the officer is not entitled to recover from the Government the salary of the office while he was out of the same. The Government is protected from paying it a second time, the title to the office not having been determined by a competent tribunal.

OPINION OF THE COURT BY BICKERTON, J.

This matter comes here on the following agreed statement of facts, and questions of law involved reserved for the consideration of this Court by W. Austin Whiting, First Judge of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit:

Charles A. Brown, the plaintiff, on the 17th day of October, A. D. 1892, was the duly appointed assessor and collector of taxes for the First Division, to wit, the Island of Oahu, that previous to said date said plaintiff had held said office and performed the duties of the same for several years; that on said date said plaintiff was notified by E. C. Macfarlane, then Minister of Finance, that he, the plaintiff, was removed from his said office; that thereafter said Macfarlane gave to plaintiff a letter setting forth alleged causes of removal; that said plaintiff denied the power of said Minister to so remove him for the reasons that no charges had been preferred against him prior to said removal, nor any opportunity given to him to meet the witnesses against him or to be heard; and that by the tenure of his said office he could not be removed otherwise; that thereupon said Minister appointed one C. N. Spencer assessor and collector of taxes for said district, who thereupon took possession of the office provided for said assessor and of the books and papers appertaining to the office of assessor and collector of taxes for the First Division, and forcibly prevented the plaintiff from having access to the same, although the plaintiff was at all times ready and willing to perform the duties of said office and attempted to do so; that a suit was thereafter brought by the plaintiff against said Spencer for the possession of said office and for an injunction against said Spencer's further usurping the same; that judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in said suit and an injunction accordingly; that plaintiff thereupon resumed his said office and performed the duties of the same; that during the period said Spencer occupied said office, to wit, from October 31st, 1892, to February 28th, 1893, the defendant, the Hawaiian Government, refused to pay the plaintiff the salary allowed by law to wit, the sum of nine hundred and ninety-eight 25-100 ($998 25), dollars, though the same was duly demanded; that the defendant paid said salary to said C. N. Spencer.

It is agreed that the parties hereto request the presiding Judge to reserve the question of law whether or not the plaintiff is entitled to receive of the defendant said sum of nine hundred and ninety-eight 25-100 ($998 25), dollars for salary for said period for determination by the Supreme Court; and further that the records, exhibits and papers on file in the above mentioned suit, as well as in the writ of quo warrant taken out by said plaintiff against said C. N. Spencer, shall be made a part hereof.

It is agreed that if the question reserved is found for the plaintiff, judgment may be entered for the sum of $998 25 and interest from February 28, 1893, or otherwise for the defendant.

In the case of Andrews v. City of Portland, 79 Maine, p. 484, the question was whether the plaintiff (the officer de jure), could recover of the city his salary from May 14, 1884, to March 7, 1885, while the duties of the office were performed by one D. C. (the officer de facto), and the salary paid to him. The Court there held that the plaintiff could recover, but the Court in referring to courts of high authority, and particularly the New York Court of Appeals, where it had been held that a payment of the salary by the city to the officer de facto before the title to the office is determined, is a good defense to a claim by the legal officer, says: "Courts in some other States have followed the New York doctrine. Courts of high authority in several of the States have held that the officer having a legal title to the office may recover of the city the salary, notwithstanding it has been paid to the officer de facto. We have not attempted to analyze the cases and to try to reconcile them. They appear irreconcilable. Our Court is unconvinced, and we come to the conclusion which seems to us best supported by reason and sound legal principles."

We are in exactly the same position as that Court was; and after a careful review of the authorities our conclusion is based on what seems to us to be best supported by sound legal principles, and what is best for the public service. And we are of the opinion that the plaintiff cannot recover from the defendant in this case.

As appears from the agreed statement of facts and from the records of the Court the plaintiff was holding the office and performing the duties of assessor and collector of taxes for the First Division when he was removed from office by the then Minister of Finance, the plaintiff protesting against his removal; but the Minister exercising his authority to appoint, appointed C. N. Spencer to fill the office vacated by the removal of plaintiff, said Spencer took possession and performed the duties. Plaintiff then brought a proceeding in equity for possession of said office and for an injunction against said Spencer's further usurping the same, which resulted in a judgment being rendered for the plaintiff and an injunction was allowed accordingly on February 28th, 1893, the date up to which the plaintiff claims the salary. There is also on file with the records a copy of the resolution passed at a meeting of the then Cabinet as follows: "That C. A. Brown assessor for the Island of Oahu be removed from this office for reasons stated to this Cabinet and which are deemed sufficient under the law." This is signed by all the four members of the Cabinet. We also find on file with the records a copy of the appointment of C. N. Spencer to the office in question signed by the then Minister of Finance. So we see that Mr. Brown was formally removed from office, and Mr. Spencer was formally appointed to the vacant office; he was not there without authority or color of title; he was acting under a commission from the Minister of the department where he had to pay in the taxes collected by him and where he had to draw his salary; he was the de facto officer transacting the business of his office with the department; he had the apparent title to the office and the salary attached thereto.

In Mechem on Public Officers we find at Sec. 332 the following: "It is held that if payment of the salary or other compensation be made by the government in good faith to the officer de facto, while he is still in possession of the office, the government cannot be compelled to pay a second time to the officer de jure when he has recovered the office, at least where the officer de facto held by color of title." "It is plain," says Andrews, J., "that in many cases the duty imposed upon the fiscal officers of the State, counties or cities to pay official salaries, could not be safely performed unless they are justified in acting upon the apparent title of claimants. But it often happens that * * * the apparent title is overthrown and another person is adjudged to be rightfully entitled to the office. But this can seldom, if ever, be ascertained except after a judicial inquiry. And in case of an appointed officer, the validity of the appointment often depends upon complicated questions of law and fact. * * * It would be unreasonable, we think, to require them before making the payment to go behind the commission and investigate and ascertain the real right and title, this in many cases would be impracticable. Disbursing officers, with the payment of salaries have, we think, a right to rely upon the apparent title, and treat the officer who is clothed with it as the officer de jure without enquiring whether another has the better right."

Dolan v. Mayor, 68 N. Y. pp. 280 and 281.

In this case the Court also intimates that where the salary of the officer is paid to the officer de facto, he is liable on an action for money had and received by the officer de jure to recover it. And in the case of Nichols v. Macheson, 101 N. Y. p. 534, the Court says: "And in England from an early day an action for money had and received would lie in behalf of one entitled to an office to recover the accustomed fees of the office received by an intruder." See also Glascock v. Lyon, 20 Ind. 1.

In the case of McVernon v. The Mayor, 80 N. Y. p. 185, it is held that "A municipal corporation whose disbursing officer has once made payment of the compensation given by law to an officer to one actually in the office discharging its duties with color of title and with his right thereto not determined against him by a competent tribunal, is protected from a second payment." In the same case on pages 193 and 194, we find Folger, J., using this language: "It is then to be deduced from the cases in this State that as a general principle, the rendition of official service must precede a right to demand and recover the compensation given by law to the officer; that the disbursing officer of a municipality is protected from a second payment of that compensation, and so is his superior, when he has once made payment to one actually in the office, discharging the duties of it with a color of title, with his right thereto not determined against him by a competent tribunal." The learned judge cites a large number of cases in his opinion in support of his position.

There are a large number of cases of this nature arising and constantly before the New York courts, naturally so; it being such a large State, and having such a large number of offices to be filled by election and appointment; contests are constantly taking place, consequently these cases get very full consideration, resulting in a large number of decisions. These decisions, in our opinion, should be given more than ordinary weight in weighing the authorities where there is a decided conflict, as there is on the question before us. Public policy demands, and the public have a right to expect and demand that the official functions of public officers shall be regularly and continuously discharged. It is important that the public offices should be filled, and that at all times persons may be found ready and competent to exercise official powers and duties, more especially in an office of this nature. If in a controversy arising as to the right to an office in possession even upon notice that the claimant to the office, the authorities could not pay the salary of the office to the officer de facto, except at the risk of having to pay it a second time should the contestant prevail, the public service would be greatly embarrassed and its efficiency impaired, and disbursing officers, for their own protection, would not pay the salary until the contest was over and the legal title to the office determined by some tribunal, this would most certainly interfere with the discharge of official functions.

In the case of The Auditors of Wayne County v. Benoit, 20 Mich. 176, it was held that "A person actually obtaining office with the legal indicia of title is a legal officer until ousted, so far as to render his official acts as valid, as if his title were not disputed." Also that "No claim can be enforced against a county for the salary or perquisites of a county officer except for a period during which the claimant was the actual incumbent." In this case on page 181, Campbell, C. J., says: "Nothing but actual incumbency can make a person a legal officer, however much he may be entitled to obtain the office. And certainly when a person stands of record as ousted and demanding the ouster of another whom he alleges to be wrongfully in office as a means of getting his own rights, it could not be claimed that the acts of the relator would be in any sense official acts. The only valid proceedings in the name of the office must be those of the actual incumbent." And on p. 182: "And when a person duly certified has complied with the ceremonies and conditions incident to office, public policy would not be subserved by allowing his rights to be questioned in any other form than by a judicial trial." And on p. 183: "But the laws assume that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and the person who is required to be recognized for the time being as the legal incumbent for the purpose of doing the work, should be recognized for the purpose of remuneration also, so far as those are concerned with whom he deals officially, and who have no personal interest in the contest for the office."

It was held in Smith v. Mayor of New York, 37 N. Y. 518, that no claim could be brought for salary or perquisites against a municipal corporation covering any period when the claimant was not actually in office; and this was put on the ground that these are the rewards of express or implied services, and therefore could not belong to one who could not lawfully perform those services, although wrongfully hindered from occupying a position in which he might render them.

In the recent case of Henderson v. Glynn, 30 Pac. Rep. 265, decided in June, 1892, the Court held that the de facto officer is entitled to the salary of the office, saying, "This seems to be the general doctrine in most of the States, in two or three, notably in the State of Maine, the reverse has been held, but they can only be regarded as exception to a general rule which appears to be well founded in reason and justice."

In view of the cases above cited and the large mass of authority supporting them, and for the reasons hereinbefore given, we feel no hesitation in adopting the rule laid down in the New York cases, that the officer de jure cannot recover from the authorities the salary of the office when it has been paid to the officer de facto while he was in possession of the same under color of title and performing the duties of said office.

On the point as to whether C. A. Brown was legally removed from office, this question was not reserved by the Court, and we do not consider that it is necessary to pass upon it, having found as we have above on the question of the liability of the defendant to pay the salary a second time, for we have held that even if the plaintiff was the officer de jure and entitled to the office but out of possession, under the circumstances of this case, he could not recover from the defendant.

Judgment may be entered for the defendant.

EXPENSIVE FOR ENGLAND.

The Columbia's Trial Trip Will Cost Her Many Millions.

There is joy in the Navy Department over the glorious success of the cruiser that bears the name of the District of Columbia. Her remarkable speed of nearly twenty-three knots an hour shows her to be the fastest war vessel afloat, and her achievements reflect credit not only on her builders, but her designers. She is wholly a Navy Department ship, for both her hull and her engines were planned by the experts there.

To no one does the credit belong, however, so fully as to Commodore Melville, the engineer-in-chief, who persistently advocated the use of three screws despite the opposition of the secretary, Mr. Tracy, and the counter advice of some of his assistants. He is therefore very happy just now. He said this morning to a Star reporter: "She is the fastest thing afloat, and her success will cost Great Britain anywhere from twelve to fifteen million dollars. I say this advisedly, for I know that they have been watching us on the other side of the ocean, and they are prepared to jump right in and build four or five cruisers with triple screws. They have only been waiting to see whether or not this vessel proved a success. For once in a time we have been the leaders, and our experiment has been tried on such a large scale that there is no question now as to the utility of the triple system."

There was another case, about twenty-five years ago, when the United States built a vessel that made such a tremendous speed that Great Britain immediately built several on the same lines. The ship was the product of the brain of Chief Engineer Isherwood, and made the then wonderful speed of nineteen knots and an average of nearly eighteen. But the British counterparts did not come up to her in this performance—Washington Star.

German Syrup

Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle I was entirely clear of the Cough that had kept me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines Co., Miss.

THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

Muley Hassan May Have to Render an Account For the Riff Rebellion.

Considerable interest attaches just now to the personality of Muley Hassan, sultan and Mohammedan pontiff of Morocco, for it is within his territory that the Riff tribesmen are making war upon the Spanish settlement of Melilla, on the Mediterranean coast of northern Africa, and although his authority over the tribesmen can hardly be considered more than nominal it is likely that Spain will hold him accountable for the consequences of their actions.

Muley Hassan is 55 years old. Grave and majestic of demeanor, as becomes a descendant and successor of the prophet, his dark eyes are large and expressive, and his Moorish physiognomy reveals traces of the negro blood that flows in his veins united with that of the Arabs. His flowing black beard has some white hairs, and his countenance has a melancholy look, though it evinces extraordinary firmness, and there is a certain lassitude in his movements that is not ungraceful.

He shows himself in public with fastidious solemnity, one of his servants holding a large umbrella over his head to screen him from the sun, while others are busy fanning him to keep off the too abundant flies, and all look at him as if he were a god rather than a mere earthly sovereign. His usual attire is a vestment white as snow which covers him from head to foot, and his turban is covered with a high hood. His feet are bare and shod with yellow slippers, and his horse is very large and white, with green reins and golden stirrups.

Because of the intolerance of his people the function of religious chief is the most important that belongs to the sultan, and he observes with rigorous exactness all the requirements of the Moslem liturgy, rising at 3 o'clock in the morning the year round to make the first prayers and compelling all his courtiers to do likewise.

He gives early morning audiences between 5 and 6 o'clock, and it is then that he receives foreign ministers and others who are privileged to visit him. The middle of the day is devoted to rest, business being resumed in the afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock and stopping promptly at the hour for evening prayer. The sultan, like Solomon, has numberless wives and concubines and maintains a harem in each of his three capitals, Fez, Mequinez and Morocco. His favorite is said to be a talented Circassian of wonderful beauty, who aspires to make her son Abdelaziz the successor to the throne.

Original.

An old Scotchman who was fond of personal and unauthorized interpretations of the Scriptures was one day expounding a psalm and came to the expression "10 stringed instrument."

"No, my friends," said he, "din ye ken what that means—a 10 stringed instrument? Some say it means a thing and some say another, but I have a notion that it jost means the 10 commandments. But that's only a thought o' my ain."

At another time he considered very seriously what the psalmist might mean by "the noisome pestilence."

"I dinna rightly ken," said he, "what David means by callin it the noisome pestilence, but I'm aye thinkin it would be because the folk would be aye weepin and wailin over the dead and makin a great noise."—Youth's Companion.

Alcohol In Thermometers.

Alcohol, although the most convenient heretofore found, has proved an unreliable fluid for low temperature thermometers. It is subject to the three vices of sticking to the tube, irregular expansion and defect from impurities and variations in water content, which affect its expansion materially. M. Chappuis has found toluol, the boiling point of which is 110 degrees C., a liquid well adapted to the purpose and free from these disadvantages.—Public Opinion.

A Court of Honor For London.

The court of honor of the World's fair, with its sculpture and electric effects, is to be reproduced in South Kensington, London, and with it a theater is to be built, where "America" will be seen in all the glory of its production at the Auditorium in Chicago. A company of Englishmen is backing the enterprise. The projectors of the plan expect to be ready for business by May 1. The big buildings will not be reproduced entire, but merely the facades which fronted on the court of honor.
