Report of Committee of the Industrial Home.

Our report a year ago was for a period of nine months, and as the main value of a statement of this kind is its comparisons between the new and the old, in order that it may be clearly seen whether advance has been made, we shall confine this report mainly to the corresponding period of nine months, i. e., from September 1st, raries. Its advertising columns 1891, to June 1st, 1892. The reports of Miss Carpenter, the matron of the institution and of the treasurer of your Society will cover the whole ground of the year's work. We find by the former report that the earnings of the institution were $1189.30, of which was allowed to the girls $1002, out of which they paid for board and tuition $420, 42 per cent., leaving a balance in their favor of $582.

During the last nine months their earnings were $1062.15, out of which was paid for tuition and board 75 per cent, $794.85, leaving a balance of $267.30.

This increase in the charge for board and tuition was made in conformity to the instructions of the Society a year ago and has worked well on the whole; the receipts therefore have carried the institution along as regards the actual running expenses of the table and housekeeping, leaving a surplus out of which $100 has been paid to the treasurer of your Society, besides about $50 in the hands of the ma-

The board and tuition paid by the girls has averaged $7.25 a month, against about $4.25 a month for the former period.

These figures show a definite economic advance from last year, and throw considerable light upon the question of the possibility of eventually making the institution sub- As prescribed by Ophthlamic Surgeons stantially self-supporting.

diminish in some proportion to an increase in the number of pupils, and if a dozen pupils with all the ception of such an enterprise, make up a third of the actual running expenses by the payment of board and tuition fees, it is certain that the increase of the number by three or ness demand for the services of ships' blacksmithing. Job work excuted the pupils resulting from their improvement in skill and practical intelligence, would furnish a revenue in a far greater proportion to the average outlay. In regard to the urgent importance of an institution of this kind, it is perhaps unnecessary for me to say a single word; yet there are some facts which emphasize this need so strongly that I will take the space to refer to them for the benefit of those who may not have considered the matter in all its bear-

The statistics of the girls' seminaries of the Islands show that a large proportion of those who have taken a whole or partial course in these institutions, eventually come to Honolulu to live. The number of girls who have gone out from Kawaiahao Seminary is 413; of these 72 have died, leaving 341, of whom forty per cent. are now living in Honolulu. This is of course as natural as it is true, for the young woman who has had the educating and refining influences of these schools for several years is, in a majority of cases, educated beyond the resources of her own home, and she cannot be expected Single copies of the DAILY ADVER-TISER OF WEEKLY GAZETTE can al-ways be purchased from the News simple material existence, and the absence of the social and domestic refinements she has grown to depend on. If she does not marry she sooner or later gravitates to a year in advance. Papers not Honolulu, where there is work, society, recreation and-temptation. This is borne out in Miss Carpenter's report where she says, "since being here myself I have met a far greater number of the old pupils of Makawao, than for many years before."

The principal of Pohukaina school told one of us yesterday that she had a graduating class of eighteen girls, and she wished that there was room for some of them in our Industrial Home, and also that she could furnish us twenty girls a year. When we bear this in mind and consider also the large number annually graduating from the several large girls' boarding schools, as well as day schools, the subject of the need of an institution like the one we have started, only far more commodious and better equipped, needs no argument to add to its importance.

THE DAILY

PACIFIC COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER

SIX-PAGE EDITION

Be just and fear not; Let all the ends thou alm'st at be Thy Country's, thy God's, and Trath's.

FRIDAY,

THE course of the Government in posting a notice declaring its intention to pay only one-fourth of its current obligations in gold is so extraordinary that the local item in the ADVERTISER calling attention to the fact was mistaken by many for a squib. By what authority the Government acts in thus suspending specie payments, and calmly announcing an intention to discharge its debts in some thing besides legal tender, does not clearly appear. Such a course, followed without warrant of law, amounts to a repudiation of its obligations, and is a virtual act of bankruptcy.

On the first page of this issue we publish the annual report of the Committee of the Industrial Home, and commend it to all of our readers who are interested in public charities, and generally in the work of saving and regenerating shows the Home to be in a prosperous condition, though of course shows very clearly the usefulness, nay more, the necessity, of an institution of this kind. The object of the foundation was in brief to educated at Kawaiahao and other seminaries, and who, without marrying, gravitate to Honolulu. Unif such girls do not at once find a THE . HAWAHAN . GUIDE . BOOK niche in the world. . They have needs and wants created by educafied in the narrow circle of the country homes from which they come, and wants unsatisfied produce a restlessness which is itself an invitation to temptation. There department of the Hawaiian Board can be no doubt that the Indus- to the fact that the Morning Star trial Home in providing a home has to go 500 miles out of her way, and suitable occupation for such girls as these, meets a pressing which certainly seems very oppresneed, and that it is, and will be in sive. its degree, a power for good in the community.

The report points out in general terms, that an enlargement in the enterprise is necessary to enable it to meet more fully the demands made upon it, but offers no suggestion as to any method by which such an expansion in the work can be brought about. This is very likely due to a feeling of the hopelessness of making at the present juncture any further requisitions upon the depleted purses of the charitable.

The Legislature was occupied a good share of the day yesterday with the passage of the bill relating to the Postal Savings Bank. The object of the bill is mainly to consolidate the laws on this subject which are now spread at large upon the books, adding at the same time a few needed amendments. We reproduce in full in our legislative report the report of the Finance Committee on the bill, to which our readers are referred, as it will show at a glance the precise nature of the changes and a description of the Pearl Harbor Railway enterprise, and surrounding the country. effected, in the form given to it by the committee. Action on the bill was finally deferred to await a further report in the matter. The mistake of the Minister of Finance in issuing $10 silver certificates without authority of law has led to the introduction of a bill, authorizing the issue of notes and will be read for the third time on Saturday. The Act may be well enough, but it can of course have no effect in making the late issue of such certificates legal. These will have to be recalled and reissued if the law is to be strictly complied with. The discussion on the rate of interest to be paid to depositors in the Postal Savings Bank brought out some facts which show how critical is the situation of the Government. Rep. Nawahi, who is evident very much taken with his own abilities as a financier, proposes to reduce the rate to three per cent. as he objects to the Government's paying high rates on the million or so which he thinks is lying rusting in the Treasury. The member from South Hilo thinks that a reduction in the rate will not cause a withdrawal of deposits, because the depositors will prefer the certainty to any outside temptation. In view of the great and growing excess of withdrawals over deposits, the increasing scarcity of gold and the difficulty of negotiating Government bonds, it is of course folly to talk about reducing the rate of in- JAPANESE GOODS! terest. The question is whether it will not be necessary to check withdrawals by the offer of a higher rate than has hitherto prevailed. Under the present circumstances the country cannot divert any portion of its receipts to the payment of the public debt, and the only alternative is to devise some means of stopping or meeting the withdrawals from the Postal Savings' Bank. The situation is a grave one and deserves the earnest consideration of our ablest financiers.

The Friend for August. The chief feature of the August number of this always valuable periodical is Dr. N. B. Emerson's retiring address to the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society on the the Hawaiian people. The report an Sports. All who did not have an opportunity to hear the address when delivered will do well to read 2 far from self-supporting. It also it now. It contains a very clear analysis of the causes leading to the decay of the old sports, and shows that the missionaries-to Large Counter, Show Cases, whom it is the fashion to ascribe everything bad,-had nothing to afford an opening and an honorable | do with the case. In brief the anoccupation for girls who have been | cient sports were an integral part of the customs of the old heathen society, and when the fabric of that society crumbled, they perished with it. Other special agender the disintegrating conditions of cies, such as the introduction of Hawaiian society, it is no wonder the horse, of playing cards, etc., played their part in determining the result. It looks very probable that playing cards, for instance, had a great deal more to do with tion, which cannot always be satis- driving out the old games, than the introduction of the Bible.

There are no politics in this issue. The death of Alex. J. Cartwright is referred to in fitting terms. Reference is made in the in order to conform to German Hawaiian Hardware Co., L'd.

Monday, Aug. 1, 1892.

Mr. Hendry, President of this Company, left for the States by the Mariposa, Do you know what that means? It means that the markets of the principal cities from San Francisco to Boston will be explored for goods to go into your homes, or your plantations, your ranches, any place where articles in our line are used. The little Frenchman on the top floor of a New York tenement will be called upon for his latest efforts in Silk and Satin Lamp Shades. His neighbor further along, the brass goods worker will put forth the most fetching conceits in lamp goods and bric-abrac. It means that the best goods manufactured will be bought at prices low enough to enable us to put them into your homes without your being obliged to deprive yourself ofnecessities perhaps-in order to make your living rooms attractive. It pays to go abroad -pays you and us.

While we are waiting for novelties in Silk Shades of American and French manufacture, we have placed on sale a small line of them which came to us direct from Japan; not so elaborate as the others and at about quarter price. Genuine hand-painted on silk -they go to you at three dollars, about the same as you have been paying for the paper muslin affair that wrinkles, and stays wrinkled in the first wind. You can't break the Jap's with an axe. A cheaper silk fringe and tassle for $1.50. We never had anything like them before.

We've had to replenish those two piles of Cocoa Mats | the trade in quantities to suit. standing inside our front door twice in a week-50 cent mats are an innovation here and people jump at the chance to keep their floors and verandas clean at the cost of a good broom and without the labor of pushing it. If you want one of them your time to get it is now, next week may be too late; we haven't a million of Numerous inquiries for something different in Oil Stoves prompted us to buy an invoice of the "Florence" They're here and you may have them—cheap.

The "Forest Queen brought us a lot of new Piano Lamps - good styles, and burners which give a light equal to the sun in brightness, but without the heat. Rep. Nawahi moved the maximum rate of interest be reduced from 5 per bonds would be selling at $69. cent. to 3 per cent. Minister Widemann thought that

Last month the withdrawals from the Postal Savings Bank had been over $170,000, as against $5000 of deposits. The Minister had been obliged to sell bonds, but his sales fell short of the amount required by $52,000 which sum had to be paid out of the current sum had to be paid out of the current procedure. That was the situation that used to get $300 per share cannot now get receipts. That was the situation which the country now had to face. The business now was to avoid a run on the bank, and to do everything to assist the Minister of Finance to avert such a disaster. Rep. Nawahi said a reduction of interest to 3 per cent. would not cause a the Finance Committee. run because the depositors would prefer that rate to taking their money out and paying taxes on it. The member wished the House to understand that the native members also understood something about finance. Minister Parker indulged in a calculation intended to show that it was more profitable to get 10 per cent. and pay taxes than to get 3 per cent. and

Rep. Nawahi saw no use in paying interest on money which was lying unused. It was explained to the member

The House reassembled at 1:41 P. M.

Rep. Kamauoha renewed his objection to that part of the section which provides that the Auditor General shall make an examination of the broks of the Tostal Pank.

Noble Macfarlane said the objections of the last speaker were well taken, and he would support striking out that part of the section, for it was obviously superfluous. All of the duties of the Auditor-General should be embraced under one Act, and not dissignature. If enforced this provision made it would obliterate the entry and signature. If enforced this provision tributed over all of the statutes. As a bill is now before this House to more explicitly define the duties of the Auditor-General, it must be seen that any reference to it in the bill now before us is unnecessary. As a fact, the Auditor-General had been in office several years and did not know of this provision; he very naturally supposed that all his duties were defined in the Audit Act. He therefore supposed that all his duties were defined in the Audit Act. He therefore supposed that all his duties were defined in the Audit Act. He therefore supposed that all his duties were defined in the Audit Act. He therefore supposed that all his duties were defined in the Audit Act. If enforced this provision would require new deposit books throughout. He also stated that the requirement of a date stamp was made by but one postal savings bank, all others requiring the signature only.

Under the circumstances the Committee are of opinion that the law should be made to correspond with the practice, and recommend that the amendment be made.

"The observance of Old World anniversaries and customs is rapidly becomly the amalgamation. I remember the faction exists relative to it among any of time when St. Patrick's Day was made the occasion of the greatest street demonstrations ever seen in New York from one year's end to another. The all that sort of thing has disappeared.

"The annual St. Patrick's Day parade has dwindled down here to mere formalities and lacks the element of enthusiasm. In many American cities it is no longer even formally observed by the mass of Irishmen. In other respects the same thing may be said of other nationalities. A few dozen persons will make a pretext of the queen's birthday or the French or some other nationality, mostly confined to their respective neighborhoods. The fact is this country is getting too big and too important for such things."-New York Herald.

English Boys and the Public School. In England, while a boy is still in the unreasoning age of childhood, good na-tured people will ask him playfully what he is going to be. At a little later stage the inquiry takes another and more serious form-"What school are you going to?" There is no playfulness in the question now. Hereby hangs a whole social history. In one family the tradition is for Eton, in another for Rugby; and to these traditions father and son are as a rule absolutely loyal, except under especial emergencies of typhoid or scarlet fever. In after life he meets with the question, "What school were you at?" And here again he is apt to feel at a disadvantage if he cannot fasten upon one of the important

It matters nothing that he was only there for half a year, that he never rose above the lowest form, that he was flogged half a dozen times in as many weeks, that he was promptly expelled for outrageous insubordination-he was at a public school, he has the cachet of an English gentleman. To have been at the university is as nothing compared with this. Many a man is compelled by army examinations or by business opportunities to forego the pleasures of the alma mater. - DEATH OF JOHN H. WOOD.

Sketch of the Life of an Early Settler.

John H. Wood died yesterday morning about 1:30 o'clock, from injuries received last Monday, by falling from the roof of the carriage house on his premises. In falling, two ribs were broken and internal injuries were sustained.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from his late residence on Nuuanu Avenue.

The death of Mr. John H. Wood, which occurred at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, removes from our midst an old and well-known resident of these islands. Mr. Wood came to Honolulu in 1846, a fellow passenger with Mr. Charles R. Bishop and the late Chief Justice

This necessitated our putting into St. Catherine, Brazil—part of our crew in irons, where our first mate, wife, child and a maiden lady passenger left and returned to the States. We were forty-six days off Cape Horn, battling with adverse winds, storms of rain, snow and sleet; at one time with two feet the captain the work of the states. We were forty-six days off Cape Horn, battling with adverse winds, storms of rain, snow and sleet; at one time with two feet the captain the day we were opening them up evidently thought they were good, as we sold 39 to different ones during the afternoon. The above family wishing to be in Sharp Company on their long trip, started, and came all the way in the same Compartment with over a gross of assorted Razors. All we have to say about these are that they are the three famous makes, "Rodgers," "Bengal," and Wade & Butcher. Every "little Shaver" knows these makes, and uses them. But you adverse winds, storms of rain, snow and sleet; at one time with two feet of snow on deck; at another, every block, sheave, rope and sail frozen solid and covered with ice to twice their thickness; at another time, forty hours, dragged (vessel made fast by long hawser to heavy oak planks, to keep her head to the wind while she rode mountainous waves). We were two weeks without an observation by day or night—our last was in 62 deg south; after which we had by the last Australia, so let us run down the list together; besides Knives and Razors from England, we had Brass Cup Hooks, Hall's Rice Sickles, Eley's Cartridges, Imray's Charts, Clark's & French Horse Clippers, 65 dozen assorted Stubs Saw Files, 32 dozen assorted Stubs Saw Files, 32 dozen assorted Stubs Jewelers' Files.

What an Old Stocking Can Do.

This story about Pope Pius IX. is told by the Pall Mall Gazette: He granted an audience to a French lady of high station, who threw herself at his feet and devoutly thanked him for the restoration of her health. "But how have I done it?" inquired the Pope. "I pro-cured a stocking that belonged to your Holiness," she replied. "One of my stockings?" "Yes, I put the talisman on my diseased foot, and it has been completely cured." "Madame," replied the Pope, a little maliciously, "fortune has been very kind to you. You need only put on one of my stockings and your foot is healed, while I put on both my stockings every morning, and I can hardly walk."

The Judgment of the Police Court is Reversed.

Justice Dole heard the suit of J. Lazarus vs. J. E. Gomes vesterday and gave judgment for Lazarus for $75, costs and interest, the amount sued for. The case was heard some weeks ago in the Police Court, and judgment given for Gomes, whereupon the case was appealed. The particulars were published in the ADVERTISER at the time, and are about as follows:

Lazarus declared that in December, 1890, the defendant agreed to make two chain bracelets for his wife, which were to be manufac-The exact value of the estate tured of 16 karat gold for the sum his wife with the trinkets. CATCHING A COOLIE.

exact date-that I was an able seaman on board the ship John E. Redwood, of Phillipsburg, engaged in the East India trade. This was my first deep water voyage. Before this I had been in western ocean vessels. During the dog watches my mind was filled with the wonders to be seen in a deep waterman. I heard many yarns about the marvelous tricks in juggling of the natives of the countries we visited, and of the fairly desperate agility of the thieves that infested the seaport towns of India and

After an uneventful voyage we arrived at Bombay, and one of the crew having been chosen for night watchman the rest of us were employed in working cargo. The watchman's duty consisted in keeping a vigilant watch from 6 in the evening until 6 next morning. He was responsible for everything that was stolen. The rest of the time he was allowed to do as he pleased.

My chum Bill Davis was chosen for this duty, and we rather envied him. To see him sitting down in the shade smoking his pipe, while we were working our soul cases off under a broiling sun and with scarcely a breath of wind to stir the air, was enough to make any one envious. One Saturday afternoon Bill came to me as I was taking a quiet smoke and asked me to stand his watch that night. As Bill had been a good shipmate I could not refuse him, although I was dead tired. All hands except the captain, the mate and myself, left for the beach, bound on a grand lark.

It was still daylight, but even then the ship seemed lonely and deserted. The captain and mate were sitting on the poop abaft the after house, having a game and a smoke. I lingered around the booby hatch and thought of the good times ashore and felt lonelier every min-

After sunset there was scarcely any twilight, for the change between day and night was almost instantaneous. What little breeze had been blowing throughout the day had died out, and the sea was like an immense mirror. The sky was cloudless, and it was one of those perfect nights that are only seen in small latitudes. The men-of-war started drilling with their search lights, and the sight, as the light fell on some stately ship, making her stand out in hold relief while the rest of the fleet in bold relief while the rest of the fleet was an indistinguishable mass of shadows, was one never to be forgotten. Watching the various doings in the harbor served to pass the time, and I soon forgot my surroundings, so absorbed did I become in the different things that were going on. Nothing disturbed the stillness but new and then a boatload of drumber frames. of drunken firemen going off to their vessel and disputing with their boatman. Occasionally some one would start a song, and as it drifted over the water its harshness was lost and only its

One by one these sounds died away, and as there was nothing left to divert my thoughts they came back to myself and the ship. The silence was oppressive. I felt insignificant in the midst of it. How small I was! My mind was uneasy and restive. In fact, I was nervous, and I could not account for it. In ous, and I could not account for it. In order to calm myself as well as to kill time I began walking up and down the poop; but having worked hard all day I was soon fagged, and began hunting around for something that would occupy me. In my wanderings I found two or three sheets of a New York newspaper. This was a prize I rigged the him. per. This was a prize. I rigged the binnacle lampin the wheelhouse, and fixing myself comfortably in the captain's chair I crowded on all sail for intellectual en-

The only thing I could find was stock reports, advertisements and shipping news. This was rather of a disappointment, but I started in to read those. I found some of them quite interesting, and presently I was taking solid com-fort in reading what I felt to be a spe-cies of news—dry as it was—from

The door in front of me was open, and the moon had come up full. Everything in its direct rays was bathed in the brightest light, but the shadows were horribly dark. I happened to glance up as I puzzled over a queerly worded notice, and my eye caught, for a second only, the shadow of the head and shoulders of a coolie. As I saw it, there flashed through my mind the yarns that I had heard about the coolies stripping themselves, then oiling their bodies and deck sheathknife in hand.

When I got on deck there was no one in sight, and I listened for some sound, but all was as quiet as a deep underground cell. It was as though both of us were even holding our breath so that we should not betray our whereabouts. There was not even the lapping of waves against the ship's sides. As I started to sneak to the after part of the wheelhouse I could hear my heart beat, and the sound of my footsteps as my bare feet lightly touched the deck. When I reached the corner of the wheelhouse I feeling anything I ventured to look around the corner. Not seeing any one I turned the corner, and in this way I for 10 cents. proceeded around the house, carefully knifing around each corner before turn-searching the decks, forecastie and forward house, I concluded that whoever I had seen must have slipped overboard and escaped, or my imagination had played me a trick. I finally brought to again in the chair and began to read once more, but I had somehow lost interest and felt nervous. Every little while I got up and made the tour of the deck.

I had hardly settled myself after one of these tours when I was startled by a suppressed groan from the captain's room, followed by gasps, as if for breath. These were succeeded by a strange gurgling sound. My blood ran cold, and for a minute I was paralyzed. Then I understood it all. Instead of the coolie going overboard he had descended into the after cabin. While gathering together plunder he had awakened the captain. Then to save himself he had cut the captain's throat, which account-

To preserve myself it became necessary for me to either secure this coolie or to kill him, and as it would doubtless It was in the eighties-I forget the | be easier to kill him than to try to secure him, I sneaked out of the wheelhouse to take a look around. I carefully studied the ground, in order to decide upon the best place for me to take up my station. I finally fixed on the companionway. Noiselessly I crawled on top of the house and knelt on the companionway slide. With my knife raised ready for striking, I awaited the coming up of the coolie and murderer. I had decided that it would be best to stick the knife into his brain or alongside one of the big arteries in his neck.

I anxiously waited, with every nerve strained, to detect his first approach, every muscle tense and ready for a quick and strong attack. Cramps in my legs seized me, but I did not dare to hind me. I turned with an involuntary $3.50. cry, not knowing what would confront me-but I saw nothing.

By this time I was so scared I was unable to think for a moment or two. After collecting my senses I knew that, although the sound seemed to have been right back of me, it must have come from the mate's room in the forward part of the house. As there were two ways of getting down into the after house, I was puzzled as to which one to guard. I finally decided to close the after companionway and take my station at the watchhouse, which was the only other way by which the coolie could get out. If he came up the companionway I should hear him, and be able to reach him before he slipped overboard. Sneaking along the alleyway I took up my position alongside the watchhouse door, and my senses being strained to the utmost by this time I could faintly hear some one moving about down be-low. I was worked up to an awful pitch of excitement, in fact my muscles had been strained so long that I trembled as with ague. My nerves were at the breaking point. How long I stood there I do not know.

I finally got so worked up that I could hardly stand. I came to the conclusion that if the coolie should come up I was then too weak to offer any resistance, and that if something didn't happen soon I should lose my mind. I concluded that I could stand the strain no longer.

Carefully making my way to the rail I Carefully making my way to the rail I broke down. I became afraid—afraid even to go on the main deck and into the deep shadows.

I was afraid to stand still; I kept look-ing over my shoulder and turning around, not knowing where I should be attacked or from what point. My mind was getting unbalanced under the awful pressure. To save myself I walked the topgallant rail to the forecastle. From there I went to the flying jib boom pole facing inboard. My mind was made up to jump overboard if anybody tried to come out after me. I sat there the rest of that night, knowing I should be accused of murdering these men, but I came to the conclusion that it was better to stand a trial for double murder than to become a maniac by watching at that watchhouse door.

While awaiting daylight I could see myself accused of murder and everybody laughing at my defense. I could see myself hung in a foreign country.

After a long time I gathered what little courage I had left and came back to the poop and carefully searched all nooks and corners, but I did not dare to go down below until the moon had set. Then I noiselessly sneaked below. To my surprise I found the mate peaceful-ly snoring in his bunk. This added considerably to my courage. Then I list-ened at the door of the captain's room. I distinctly heard him breathe. This was an immense relief. I tried to think it over. The only way in which I could work it out was this—either my mind had played me a trick or I had really seen a coolie's shadow, and, alarmed by my movements, he had slipped overboard before securing his booty. Certainly we never missed anything, and the captain and the mate had only mumbled or groaned in their sleep.—Lieutenant J. H. Scott, U. S. R. M., in Romance.
