The Daily Bulletin.

FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1894.

John Thomas Waterhouse offers $10,000 as a bonus to an electric or cable car line to the Pali, on condition that work be begun before the first of next year. The ten thousand is safe enough—for the donor.

Whatever form of government the future is to bring forth, nothing but sole and undivided Hawaiian allegiance should be recognized. Make the qualifications anything deemed necessary, and exclude none who can come up to such qualifications.

According to the Advertiser, religion should be a test for the franchise. This is to keep out Chinese. It would exclude, however, a large proportion of the P. G. and its support. The "missionary idea" has never had such a struggle for existence since the beginning of the present regime.

While it may have been bad policy for the Chinese petitioners to say that their home Government could not make a treaty with a Government that is only "provisional," the stubborn fact remains and has application to the relations with more governments than that of the Chinese Empire. Perhaps the unpleasant truth was only employed incidentally to intimate that proper consideration of the prayers of the petitioners now—when a new constitution is to be considered—would make negotiations simpler after a permanent form of government has been established.

THE EDUCATION OFFICE.

The Star says that Mr. Severance states that he was appointed Secretary of the Board of Education on April 20 by the President of the Board with the approval of the Board. It is somewhat peculiar for such an appointment to be made for several reasons. It is customary to gazette such appointments and no official notice in this case has appeared as yet. Again, under the statutes of Hawaii none can be appointed to office under the Government who are not citizens. It is admitted that this Government is not following the law in its minute details, in some instances proposing to place men in office simply on the ground of their having taken part in the revolution. In this instance no one would dare to say that Mr. Severance, an American Consul General, took part in the revolution, and therefore the reason would not apply. His non-conformance with the Hawaiian language and other reasons would militate against his being appointed, and until the appointment is gazetted officially we will hesitate to believe it.

Hawaii's Future.

WRITTEN FOR THE BULLETIN.
I see thy star, Hawaii, gleaming brightly o'er the silver sea;
Nor need thy children sorrow, deeming All will not be well with thee.
The clouds may hide thee for a moment, Still shalt thou again appear;
My faith in thee hath naught of torment, Clouds shall scatter, skies shall clear.
While all the world with fear shall tremble, sweetly shall thy name be known;
Thy sons will need not to dissemble, God will fight thee, give thee power.
The stronger power and place are grasping; They who love not thee but throne;
To-day in sunshine may be seeking, Build thy judgment, live by line.
Still moves the earth, though church deny it;
History tells the story old;
Oligarchies are but transient, Nations can't be ruled by gold.
The Lord has set the hands of evil Hope, Hawaii, still for joy;
For government that's truly civil Peace shall bring, without alloy.

Ungrateful Criticism.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
With the usual exquisite taste that marks the articles in the "Tiser," I note a criticism on Mr. Julien D. Hayne, a notable journalist who kindly undertook at six hours' notice to fill the part of Conn the Shaughran. Mr. Dailey wished to keep faith with the public, and both he and the public are grateful to Mr. Hayne for his very praiseworthy effort to carry out the play. The petty sneer of the "Tiser" as to whether Mr. Hayne did or did not write a certain work has nothing to do with the case, and all criticism on an amateur's performance has by all respectable and reputable papers been ruled out of order and is in bad taste. Mr. Hayne has written articles and has had the temerity to sign his name to them, adverse to the unestablished and unfixed principles of the Advertiser.

IRISH COMEDY DRAMA.

Dailey's Stock Company Produces "The Shaughran."

Even standing room was crowded at the Opera House last night when the curtain rose on "The Shaughran" by Dailey's Stock Company. An outsider took the title role at a few hours' notice to fill an absentee's place. This was Julien D. Hayne, the talented special contributor to the BULLETIN. He acted like an artist although perhaps his delivery was a little slow, but it was a wonderful feat to go through the part at all when, up till noon yesterday, the player expected to be in the audience instead of on the stage. Mr. Hayne's brogue was perfect and his personation of the good-natured and brave Irish seaport was excellent. His dancing of an Irish reel with Mrs. Bates was one of the best bits of the evening and received a loud recall. Mrs. Bates herself was simply grand as the big-hearted, affectionate Milesian matron. May Naumay sustained the versatile role of Clair Folliote with unflinching acceptance, winning hearty applause in each of her varied situations. Josephine Gassman as Moya was charming and vivacious almost beyond her previously established popular footing. Genevieve Naumay as Arto O'Seal was pretty and graceful as usual. Mortimer Snow played Captain Molyneux, an English officer, so as to bring down the house often, his official and national imperturbability, proof against all but the tender passion, being well simulated. Edwin Lloyd gave a brisk and breezy characterization in the person of Robert Folliote, about whose vicissitudes as an Irish political prisoner much of the story centres. Father Dolan was taken by Wm. Bennett in an efficient way, only that his make-up suggested more a paragon than a parish priest. Charles Connors in the part of Carey Kinchella, a squint-eyed, had more tragedy than comedy to perform and carried himself well. W. R. Dailey made a fine Paddy in Harry Duff, a police agent in disguise of a peasant, never failing to provoke mirth. Between the third and fourth acts Miss Gassman performed the serpentine dance within a disc of lime light from a lantern operated by Mr. Maurice, who does the lantern work for the illustrated lectures of Mrs. Gans. The effects were beautiful. Pictures of flowers and symbols were thrown upon the conditions of the manifold skirts of the dance, which took on all the colors of the rainbow in kaleidoscopic semblance, as she went through the fantastic but graceful gyrations. There was a loud recall, which Miss Gassman cheerfully obeyed.

If King Solomon was alive he would now say: "Go to the traveling man, learn his ways, and be wise." Mr. C. W. Bartlett, a Cincinnati traveling man representing the Queen City Printing Ink Co., after suffering intensely for two or three days with lameness of the shoulder, resulting from rheumatism, completely cured it with two applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This remedy is gaining a wide reputation for its prompt cures of rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings, and lameness. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. # MAY DAY IN THE STATES.

Red Flag in New York—Riots in Cleveland.

New York, May 1.—Labor had its annual Mayday demonstration to-night. Fifteen thousand workmen, including 500 women, assembled in Union square, where speeches were made and enthusiasm prevailed. Soon after 7 o'clock three parades started and marched to Union square.

The stars and stripes were carried by nearly every delegation, while here and there the red flag was hoisted. Not a single trades union was unrepresented, and the vast processions were witnessed by thousands of spectators. At 7:45 o'clock, the cottage in Union square, the common rendezvous where the speeches were made, was crowded. Several speakers addressed the meeting.

CLEVELAND, May 1.—Seven thousand unemployed paraded to-day. A motorman refused to stop his train and the mob attacked him and wrecked the car. Later nearly one hundred shots were fired over another car, which was compelled to stop. Several persons were knocked down and others injured by missiles. On Pearl street another car was wrecked by a mob and the motorman seriously injured, and a policeman drew a revolver, but before it could be used the mob closed in and he received a rough handling. Pistols were fired in every direction. Many plate-glass windows were smashed and a panic ensued. There were many narrow escapes, but fortunately no one was killed outright.

At Pearl and Detroit streets a motorman who refused to stop his car was knocked down. Further along a grocer's wagon was looted. On Superior street the leaders seemed to lose all control. The crowd numbered seven to eight thousand, and the police were powerless to cope with them. A teamster was struck with a heavy iron bolt and badly injured. In Monumental Park the marchers were disbanded.

Saturday, May 12, 1894.

Private and public advices from the States are to the effect that the hard times of to-day have a parallel only in those of 1862. Whether this is a fact or it exists only in the minds of newspaper writers "deponent saith not." It is possible that the tremendous headway obtained by Coxey and his adherents has had a tendency to aggravate matters, and cause people to believe that work is more difficult to get than it really is. We have read in the newspapers that whole battalions of this army were offered work in different sections of the country and declined. These transcontinental tourists will not be treated as bread winners but as plain every day tramps entitled to food and shelter at the expense of the municipal authorities into whose hands they may fall; by that means they may be persuaded to toil. Viewing the unsettled labor, or tramp problem of the States and comparing it with the situation here there is really some satisfaction in living in an Island and Paradise. It would be a hard matter here to get enough idle men, men who do not work from principle, to play a game of seven up. People live along in the even tenor of their respective ways and watch the fluctuations of the sugar market with the same avidity that characterizes the fine street broker as he fixes his eye on the "ticker." When a planter has an off day he makes up his lists of "wants" and sends us an order for a Hendry Breaker or a Hendry Double Furrow Plow. Speaking of planters reminds us we have a stock of genuine oak tanned, single or 12 inch double leather belting, that will make an engineer's heart glad. It is from selected stock and is thoroughly seasoned and guaranteed to be superior to any belting sold in this market. We have also a large stock of Helvetia Belting, manufactured expressly for us for use on centrifugals. We have sold large quantities of these articles and have never had a kick from a customer.

The plantation people have heard a great deal about machine and cylinder oils lately, and we wish to mention just here that we are in business at the same old stand, and that Colorado Oils are used here by the most careful engineers and by the parties in charge at the factory in lubricating the Wheels of Time. Oils may come and oils may go but the Colorado brands grease on forever.

Now is the season of your discontent over broken hose. We like to sell garden hose because it is profitable; you like to buy it of us because of its good qualities. But you may have been careless with your hose and broken it. If you do not feel like buying a new piece we can sell you a Kemphell Hose Mender for a quarter of a dollar that may help you out without buying a new piece until next year.

If a mile of fencing of the old style costs you $287.47 and you have to keep repairing it six months in the year, what will be the total cost? The way we figure it out the ranch manager loses sleep to the extent of $100 per annum; the time of his laborers about $75 per year, and loss of confidence in mankind $100 in a twelve months. On the other hand if you adopt the modern method—the Jones Locked—the whole business including wire, posts, stays, washers and a pair of crimpers costs you $23.15, and insomnia, extra expense and worry receive a Corbett blow.

Nearly everyone who comes to our store and sees the sample Enamel Bath Tub wants to take it home and have a bath in it. We would be delighted to sell one of these tubs to every householder on the island because we know their happiness would be increased after a bath in one of them.

Equal inducements for those desiring to secure homes in this country have never before been offered to the public.

This Company has been requested from abroad to name the price of all their lands in this locality.

Should a clearance sale be made to a syndicate, no opportunity like the present would again occur for the purchase of homes at Pearl City.

OFFERS THE PUBLIC

Another Great Opportunity

To Secure Homes in One of the Most Delightful Localities to be Found in the Paradise

of the Pacific.

As a healthy resort—Pearl City has already established an enviable reputation. Many good citizens in this community have experienced the wonderful effect produced by a few days sojourn in that dry, cool atmosphere, and give grateful testimony to the relief they have almost instantly gained from severe and long continued attacks of asthma. Physicians acquainted with the climate of Pearl City recommend it as a natural sanatorium.

For ninety days from date we will sell

LOTS ON SPECIAL TERMS favorable to bona fide settlers. For a term of three months from date, lumber and all building materials will be supplied, and delivered at Pearl City at much lower price than ever before obtained.

For further particulars, call at this office or on any of the lumber dealers in this city. Those who have not own lots as we have those who pay, use to become residents of that growing city, will do well to embrace this opportunity. Those who avail themselves of this offer, within the time named, will be entitled to, and will receive the following benefits:

For a term of ten years, this Company will carry such residents and their families from Pearl City to Honolulu in the morning arriving a little before seven o'clock, and from Honolulu to Pearl City in the evening (leaving Honolulu station a little after five o'clock), for ten cents each way, a rate less than one cent per mile. The rates on all other passenger trains running during the day or night will be 1 1/2 cents per mile first class, and 1 cent per mile second class.

A good school is about to be opened in the Peninsula. In the fine, large, new school-house erected by Mr. J. T. Waterhouse, residing at Pearl City, and those having homes on the Peninsula, will be allowed to ride free on regular trains between Pearl City stations to and from the Peninsula.

Those who want to continue to send their children to schools in Honolulu, can have transportation on all regular trains to and from Pearl City, for the purpose of attending school, at five cents each way for each pupil. This is equal to 24 to 26 miles ride for ten cents.

National Cane Shredder

PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE BEEN APPOINTED SOLE AGENTS FOR these SHREDDERS and are now prepared to receive orders. The great advantages to be derived from the use of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER are thoroughly established and acknowledged by Planters generally.

The large number of Planters using them in the United States, Cuba, Argentine Republic, Peru, Australia and elsewhere, bear witness to the above claim.

The use of the SHREDDER very largely augments the quantity of cane the mill can grind (25 to 50%), also the extraction of juice (5 to 12%).

It is a great safeguard, making known at once the presence of any pieces of iron, stakes from cars, or anything which would be liable to damage the mill, and allowing ample time to remove same before damaging the mill.

The SHREDDER is very strongly made, and from the manner of its operation it cuts or tears these pieces of wood or iron without often breaking the SHREDDER; and if anything breaks, it is simply one of the knives or cutters, which can be quickly and economically replaced. The SHREDDER, as its name indicates, tears the cane into shreds of varying lengths, perfectly opening it and allowing the mill to thoroughly press out the juices without requiring the immense extra power necessary to grind or crush the whole cane. The SHREDDER spreads the shredded cane uniformly and evenly to the mill rolls, and does away with the necessity of spreading the bagasse by hand between the mills, where regrinding is in use. No greater amount of boiler capacity is required to operate the SHREDDER than that which was sufficient for the mill for the above reasons. We furnish full working drawings for the installation of our SHREDDERS, enabling any competent engineer to successfully install and start them.

In ordering SHREDDERS from us, please send small sketch, showing the diameter and width of the mill rolls with which SHREDDER is to be connected, also the side (either right or left hand as you face it) delivery side of the mill, upon which the mill engine is located, also the height from floor line to center of front mill roll shaft, and distance center this shaft to front end of bed plate. These SHREDDERS are now

W. J. SADRIS,

No. 450 Nuuanu Street.

But when the land has quite faded from view. And the hills, like mountains, each other pursue; When your liver gets frightened and tries to escape; And your food for six days you're unable to take; You are not on good terms with yourself.

When the end of your voyage draws near the last day. And the girl that you've courted each hour of the way. Sighs soft in your ear, as you sight the dim shore. "Ah, had we met, dear, long ages before!" You're on very good terms with yourself.

But when your charmer is lanted at 1st. And you find her in clasp of a strange fellow fast; And the little darling, without much ado. Introduces that stranger, her husband, to you. Then you're not on good terms with yourself.

After the first stanza had been read, myself and thirty-seven other suffering souls rushed out on deck to see a man; we all saw the same fellow—the old man of the sea. The perpetrator of the verses gave them to me, during her stay at A Modern Eden; and they are here given with the sweet hope that they may serve as an admonition to some kindred heart, who, having written the like, to cast it upon the seething waters of oblivion, with all the other burdensome bile on life's stomach. I understand that there was a meeting on board to consider the advisability of heaving the author and the lines overboard; but it was concluded "That those who have a common fate in the end, had better be friends."

All things, good or bad, come to an end—that is a way they have; and if the end be well, all is well. Thus after seven days of tossing, tumbling, rearing and pitching, on the morning of January 20, 1891, we sighted "A Modern Eden." It was a nasty, wet, misty morning; and the hills behind the city, from Waialeale to Waianae, shone up in the dim light, wet, brown and ragged, like a world-weary man in a dilapidated worn frock.

We had to wait some time for the pilot boat and the sun, having suddenly jumped over the Puncchbowl, we were given a glimpse of nature's fairest Eden. With the coming of the sun, the fog and rain lifted, like the curtain of a mighty stage, and before us lay "This other Eden, demi-paradise." The sun holding its way ever upward, sent its rays softly over the horizon and the bosom of the tranquil ocean; and, swelling into rounded form, mildly assumed, refulgent brightness, as it spread its genial warmth abroad. From seven days' excess of motion, we had now lapsed into perfect rest. Riding away out on the open deep, the picture was one that——When the stream Which overflowed the soul was passed away. A consciousness remained, that it had left deposited in our silent hearts. Of memory, images and precious thoughts. That shall not die, and cannot be destroyed.

From the shore of the murmuring sea to the tips of the distant mountains, one saw a waving carpet of green; through this only the highest buildings could be seen, and it was difficult to imagine that, hidden away beneath this wealth of foliage, the Eden of our dreams lay before us. Embowered this Eden truly is, and among its towering palms and stately tropical trees is lost as completely, is as far from the maddening crowd, as though it had been placed there by the fates, out of the reach of the world's noise and strife; and one conceives this spot, bounded by the surging waves of God's greatest ocean, as safe from the grinding greed of civilization's mills, the din of which sound faint and far.

But wait a bit. Underneath the twining branches of this waving carpet of the thickest texture and freshest verdure, one finds, nestled away, the most tiny and the most substantial homes of the descendants of Adam. Wandering down the narrow streets and winding lanes, one finds assembled the choicest beauties of blooming nature. Here, the hyacinth hangs her silver bells, while there the lilies rear their silver pyramids. Roses spread their beautiful garments in every yard, and on all sides a profusion of budding flowers or expanded buds, meets the eye; while the ever fragrant pink enamel and borders all.

However, let us land. Such a tangle of tribes as awaited our landing, can only be assembled at Honolulu. Learning over the rail of the Mariposa, I thought I saw all the inhabitants of the city before me, and all in mother-hubbards—I found out afterwards that the dress was a holoku. They all seemed to be either quarreling with their dogs or flirting with each other—not the holokus while over all was one bewildering maze of yellow, blue, orange, white, red and pink flowers. Coming down the gang plank my mental attitude was one of thankfulness for my safe landing, with a tinge of regret for the good money I had paid the Oceanic S. S. Co. for the food I had left behind. But here we are.

What a lot of pain our ideals cost us. And yet they are like the closed eyes of a pup, always outgrown. Ideals are well enough until we know better. But why continue to hang up our stockings after we become acquainted with Santa Claus? If a happy hog is more to be envied than a perplexed philosopher, then one is not justified in using things as they are and has, therefore, no right to push a pin into the windbag of his own, or his neighbor's, ideals, and so run the chances of discovering that they are worthless worlds of wind.

The writer was educated in the belief that the disciples were the deus ex machina of all goodness; he has seen the animal on his own dung hill, and his ideal has been shattered. Here they have reduced God to a diagram, and magnified their own interests into a god. Why is it that, notwithstanding the exertions of Christian people for the support of the gospel in distant lands, such a criminal indifference is manifested in the kind of man sent to teach that gospel? The home of the disciple, the Ultima Thule of all that is left of righteousness on this sinful earth, is A Modern Eden. By some it is still known as Honolulu, but four months' residence must convince one that, for so good a people, this is too bad. Then, too, as everything in and about this Eden has been converted by the disciple, including the original man, "what's in a name" to keep it sacred! After one gets his eyes open, the first discovery he makes is that this Modern Eden is quite up to date; and that a telephone wire runs from the Tree of Knowledge to the Tree of Life and that each Adam and every Eve has a tap upon the main line. In this way the movements of Satan are easily followed, and when he flaps his tail 'tis known from Waikiki to Judd street, so quick that the poor devil does not get half a chance. To a man of the world it seems like a low down electric on the old boy.

Eve dresses in a holoku morning, noon, and—all the time. In that ancient Eden had woman been provided with this article, she would never have been tempted by the devil. At least I have always credited the old gentleman with better taste than to now believe that anything done up in such a package would have tempted him. The holoku is a delusion and a snare—it may contain woman or wind—the proportion of either man is never sure. Eve spends many fruitful hours with her ear to the diaphragm of the telephone, listening to reports on her neighbor's business, and her good man does not care a damn so long as she does not connect with him. When Eve is not thus engaged she is pounding pot or scattering scandal; and as one is meat for men and the other food for fools, her employment is constant.

The Tagawa Coal Mine is located in Fukuoka Ken in the Island of Kinshui, Japan, and was discovered about twenty years ago. It was owned by the government and mined simply for the government's use.

Great improvements, however, were made since it was sold to a corporation about six years ago, by importing mining machinery from Europe and America.

Tagawa Coal is used more than all other Japanese coals in the following countries: China, Manila and Strait's Settlements. It has found its way even to Bombay.

Two cargoes have been imported into the Hawaiian Islands recently, and it has no superior in this market as stove or steam coal.

WHY LUCOL

IS THE BEST

PAINT OIL.

Dries perfectly solid inside of twenty hours.
Forms a durable and elastic, not a brittle coating.
Retains its gloss longer than any other oil.
Resists the action of acids and alkalis better than any other oil.
Flows freely from the brush without running and spreads well.
With the addition of litharge, yields a hard surface, suitable for floors, steps, etc.
Mixes readily with pigments ground in oil in paste form.
Brings out the real shades of the colors and keeps them unaltered.
Is a solvent for the most delicate of the new color tar colors.
Added to varnish greatly improves the working of the varnish.
Does not darken white lead or any delicate colors.
Has greater body than any other oil.
Requires one-third less pigment than any other oil.
Can be added to linseed oil and it will greatly improve the linseed.
Can be thinned with turpentine.
By actual tests, has outlasted the best linseed oil.
Therefore, is the best paint oil ever manufactured.

Direction for Use.

Use Lucol in every respect in the same manner as you would linseed oil, with the single exception that you may add fully one-quarter more Lucol to the same quantity of pigment than you would of linseed.

In using metallic Venetian red, the ochres, and other dry pigments, it is advisable to mix up the paint at least one day before it is to be used, then add a third more Lucol and the paint will be found to cover well and have a good gloss.

NEVER USE JAPANS.

Where hard surfaces such as floors, steps, etc., are required use litharge only, never use Japans.

LUCOL MIXES WITH VARNISHES

and assists their working and improves their appearance BUT THEY SHOULD BE USED SAME DAY THEY ARE MIXED, otherwise the gum of the varnish may be precipitated or the mixture curdled.

The addition of from 4 to 4 of Lucol to varnishes does not prevent their from not retard their hardening and drying and it prevents their cracking.

The Prize

Awarded!

Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. Wins the Prize at the World's Fair with their "EAGLE" Brand Beer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28, 1890.

Messrs. Macfarlane & Co., Ltd., Honolulu, H. I.

Dear Sirs:—We have mailed you a copy of the Globe-Democrat announcing the great victory won by the Anheuser-Busch Association with their "EAGLE" Brand of Beer.

(Signed) ANHEUSER-BUSCH BREWING ASSOCIATION.

(Special Despatch to Globe-Democrat.)

World's Fair, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 20.—

No award has ever been made so gratifying to St. Louis people and so justly merited as the one given to-day by the Columbian jury of the World's Fair, consisting of connoisseurs and chemists of the highest rank, to the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association. By methods of unrivaled business enterprise, and by using the best material produced in America and Europe, excluding corn and other adulterants or surrogates, the different kinds of the Anheuser-Busch beer have become the favorites with the American people, and have now conquered the highest award in every particular, which had to be considered by the Columbian jury. The high character of the award given to-day by the jurors will be better understood when it is known that the different beers exhibited by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association had to compete with hundreds of the most excellent displays of other brewers. The fact that no other concern has received so many points for the various essential qualities of good beer confirms anew the firm's reputation as the leader of all American beers, and Mr. Adolphus Busch can feel proud over this result so justly merited.

The above is a facsimile of the Label of the "EAGLE" Brand which took the Prize.

In ordering this Beer be sure to ask for the "EAGLE" Brand.
