WORK PROGRESSING AT NAWILIWILI

Work at Nawiliwili is progressing favorably, though somewhat slowly on account of the slow delivery of supplies. The air compressor has been installed on the site of the temporary landing and the work of drilling and blasting out a place for the derrick has commenced.

Work has also commenced on the road, beginning at the end of the temporary trestle and running to the permanent camp site and throughout the entire works.

Another air compressor arrived by the Kinau last Friday. This will be taken to the quarry site and put to work running the big air drills just as soon as possible.

Several of the laborers became affected with the hook worm last week and went back to town. These were replaced, however, the next day by new arrivals. A number of men arrived for the job by the Kinau this morning.

SURVEY OF KEKAHA LANDS

Preliminary arrangements are being made for the survey of the Kekaha lands. These lands have an acreage, roughly, of 4,600 acres. The present lease expires June 1, 1921.

It was expected that the consummation of the Rehabilitation scheme would leave most of this land for lease to the Plantation, but the delay and possible failure of this enterprise makes it incumbent on the Land Department to inaugurate the surveys for subdivision and Homesteading.

HENRY GANDELL DEAD IN HOLLAND

The sad news has just been received by mail of the death of Henry Gandell, in a hospital in Holland, about the middle of January. He died of tuberculosis of the throat. He has been in the American Navy for a number of years, and in that capacity has seen a good deal of strenuous service.

He was an uncommonly fine young man, with a promising future before him:—in the very prime of early manhood, only 20 or thereabouts,—it seems a pity that he should be taken. His parents and other relatives have the sympathy of the public.

A FINE HOME STUDY CLUB

A Current Topic class has recently been formed which will meet every other Monday morning, the second and fourth of the month, at 10 a. m. at the Mokihana Hall.

Topics for study will be assigned to the different members, to run for six months, the same to be reported from time to time, in the class.

The following are some of the topics:— Domestic Science, Child Welfare, Foreign relations, Domestic relations, Art, Poetry, Books, Music, Banking, Economics, etc.

It certainly gives promise of being a very interesting and profitable course.

BRINGS HOME BRIDE

Jim Corstorphine returned by the Lurline Wednesday morning with his bride, recently Miss Elsie Lidgate. They were married last Friday evening at Paaulo in the little church which was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. A reception followed at the beautiful Lidgate home there.

Henceforth Jim will have to remember that it is Mr. and Mrs. James Corstorphine. His friends will have to try and remember the same, and the wider circle will have to practice on the name Cor-stor-phine.

PARENTS MEETING

Parents of the pupils of the Kauai High School will hold a meeting at Lihue Union Church Thursday, Feb. 17, at 7:30 p. m. All parents are requested to be present.

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. Monsarrat of Koloa gave a most delightful lunch and card party for Miss Edith Rice. There were some 20 guests, largely from Lihue.

Kapaa Notes

A Chinese employed on one of the local rice plantations back of this village, while on his way home last Friday night about eight o'clock, was set upon by a lone robber with a flash light on the road just beyond Pueo Camp. Using the flashlight to blind his victim, the robber beat the Chinese with some blunt instrument until his whole head was covered with blood. The screams of the Chinese, however, scared his assailant away without his getting the $2.50 which he carried in his pocket. The injured man managed to get back to the village and was sent to the hospital to have his injuries dressed. According to the description given by the victim, the police believe that the robber must have been a Filipino.

Mr. L. E. Van Leuvan, enterprising local clothing merchant, is carrying his right arm in a sling as the result of an argument with his Ford. "Lizzie" refused to start off easy, and got nasty when her owner started to crank her, so instead of starting off like a good little girl, she kicked him like a stubborn mule.

A puzzle for local members. Do you know where the Kapaa Y. M. C. A. is located, who organized it, and what is being done to keep the work going along? Ask Mr. Antone Cavalho Reis and find out.

Mr. Jas. D. Dole, president and manager of the Hawaiian Pineapple Co., and the so-called "Pineapple King" of Hawaii, paid a visit to the factory and fields of the Hawaiian Canners Co., on Wednesday and Thursday, coming via Port Allen by the Lurline accompanied by Mr. A. Horner and Mr. Wetmore. The party returned to Honolulu on Thursday on the same steamer.

B. Y. Lee, better known as Yuen Kee proprietor of the Yuen Kee Cafe, is celebrating in grand style prior to his coming departure to China to visit his birthplace. As the limited space in his restaurant would not permit the accommodation of the large number of guests he intended to be host to, he set aside different days to treat them.

On Wednesday noon, his local Hawaiian guests thronged his restaurant for a free dinner, and his Japanese guests enjoyed his hospitality in the evening. On Saturday evening, the haole guests and Hawaiians from Lihue and Kapaa dined, feasted and made merry at the cafe. His Chinese guests will be the last to be entertained next Saturday and Yuen Kee intends to leave the following Tuesday for the Orient via Honolulu.

Not to be outdone by their host's hospitality however, his local Chinese friends are making arrangements to return the favor by giving a special dinner on Sunday with Yuen Kee as guest of honor instead of in the role of host. It will thus be almost a continuous string of good times for him before he leaves.

Yuen Kee came to Kapaa about four years ago and started a small restaurant and pool room. Business was so good that he was soon able to add a small hotel to his business. In 1919 he further increased his business by doubling the size of his restaurant and hotel and the results he has shown to date have more than justified his belief several years ago that Kapaa is destined to be the leading town of Kauai.

THE S. S. "BUCK" BRINGS 5000 BARRELS FUEL OIL

The Associated Oil Company's tanker "Buck" arrived at Port Allen last Wednesday and is discharging five thousand barrels of fuel oil.

Evangelical Program To Be Held On Kauai

A special evangelistic program is to be carried on on Kauai between February 15th and 25th. Rev. Henry Judd and Rev. Frank S. Scudder of Honolulu, cooperating with Rev. R. W. Bayless, pastor of the Lihue Union Church, will hold services at the following places on the following dates:

Hanalei, Tuesday Feb. 15th, afternoon and night services;
Kapaa, Wednesday Feb. 16, afternoon and night services;

Lihue, Thursday Feb. 17th, "Girls' Reserve" at the High School, 2:30 and "Men's meeting" at Mokihana Club at 7:30;

Lihue, Friday Feb. 18th, "Filipino meeting" 8:30 a. m., Lihue Camp; 9 a. m. "Workers' meeting"; "Hawaiian women", Nawiliwili Chapel, 10:00 a. m.; "Women's meeting" Mokihana Club, 3:00 p. m.; "Young Men's meeting" at Armory, 7:30 p. m. and "Young women's meeting" at Mokihana. Dr. Wirt, of the Near East Relief Committee will speak at all of the meetings held on Friday.

Lihue, Saturday Feb. 19th, 9 a. m., "Workers' meeting" men and women, 4 p. m. "Y. M. C. A. group meeting", Japanese Church 7:30 p. m.

Lihue, Sunday Feb. 20th, 10:00 a. m. Rev. Scudder at Japanese Church; 7:30 p. m. Union meeting at Mokihana Club.

Koloa, Monday Feb. 21st.
Hanapepe, Tuesday Feb. 22nd.
Makaweli, Wednesday Feb. 23d.
Waimea, Thursday and Friday Feb. 24th and 25th.

Christian workers in the communities in which these meetings are to be held should do everything they can to make these meetings a success. They will be successful only if they have the help and the earnest cooperation of every man, woman and child that should help. If you want further particulars about any of these meetings; if you want to know what you can do to make them what they should be, call Rev. Bayless at Lihue and tell him you are ready to help.

WILL HELP MAKE UP TAX RETURNS

Messrs. C. T. Welsh, W. N. Hanna and A. Romano, Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue, arrived from Town this morning and will be on the island for ten days or more. They are here to facilitate the making up of Income Tax returns, and to guide and help people through the intricacies of the same. They are very commendably fair minded, and very graciously courteous.—Nothing is too much trouble.

Their itinerary, as published a couple of weeks ago is as follows: Lihue, Courthouse Tues. 15. Hanalei, Plant. Office, Wed. 16th. Kalihiwai, Store, Wed. 16, p. m. Kilauea, Plant. Office, Thurs. 17. Kealia, Bank, Friday 18. Kapaa, Bank, Sat. 19th. Kalaheo, Sunday 20th a. m. Lawai, Sunday 20th, p. m. Koloa, Plant. Office, Mon. 21st. Kekaha, Plant. Office, Wed. 23d. a. m. Waimea, Plant. LURLINE ARRIVES AND DEPARTS

The S. S. Lurline arrived at Port Allen last Wednesday morning with quite a large passenger list and one thousand tons of general freight. She departed Thursday after leading five hundred tons of sugar.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

There will be a celebration of the Anglican Communion at the residence of J. H. Hall at 7:30 P. M. Thursday, February 17th. Celebrant, the Episcopal Priest from Waimea, Rev. M. E. Carver.

D. S. Bowman of the Planters' Welfare Bureau has been spending a few days on Kauai in the interest of his department.

Makaweli Notes

Mrs. M. V. Fernandez gave a party last week in honor of Mrs. H. G. Santos who left on the Lurline to take up her residence in Honolulu. The afternoon was pleasantly spent on bridge and other games, the prizes going to Mrs. W. T. Dunn, Mrs. Chas. Butchart and Miss A. W. Paul.

Mrs. Chas. Butchart and Miss Thompson were hostesses at a Valentine party on Saturday last for the unmarried people at the home of the former. The rooms were appropriately decorated and everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion so that everything went with a swing. The guests were Misses Faulds, Williams, Lewelling, Brand, Hoey, Gilmour, Beguhl, Welch, Eldridge, Nelson, Butt and Fernandez and Messrs R. Macfie, Siebel, Catton, Schmeer, Miller, Oxbury and Dr. Smith.

Mrs. Ernest Damkroger invited the following ladies to a linen shower in honor of Miss Harriet Brand on Saturday afternoon: Mesdames B. D. Baldwin, Chas. Butchart, W. T. Dunn, Creavy, Cruickshanks, Norman Brown, E. Deverill, Dwight Baldwin, R. Jessie Curtis Turner, A. Q. Marcellino, Spilner, Glen Biddel, M. V. Fernandez, G. Brodie, Rutch, and the Misses A. W. Paul, Thompson, Faulds, Welch, Lewelling, A. Fernandez, M. Buttand, G. Nelson.

The decorations were greatly admired while the little son of the house, a charming cupid, with wings valentine shaped box decorated with and all complete, presented the gifts to the guest of honor in a large tulip and flowers.

Miss A. W. Paul spent the week end with Mrs. Farley at Koloa.

TOURIST AGENT BRINGS PARTY FOR ISLAND TOUR

H. H. Yost, assistant secretary of the Hawaii Tourist Bureau, came over on the Lurline last Wednesday morning. He headed a party of tourists and saw to it that they got a view of our most interesting spots. The party even braved the inconvenience of the damaged Waimea Canyon road in order to make their tour complete. They were loud in their praises of the Canyon and said as rough as the trip was up the canyon, it was well worth while. Mr. Yost and party returned to Honolulu by the Lurline.

Mr. Yost stated that the tourist bureau would very shortly issue a new Kauai folder and that copies would be sent to those interested on Kauai for the purpose of revision so that the main edition may be correct and right up to the minute.

NOW IT'S THE CLAUDINE TO TAKE PLACE OF MAUNA LOA

Kauai is not to get the "City of Topeka" after all. It appears that she is too slow for the island runs, and as a consequence will be used only as a utility boat. It is now proposed to put the Claudine on the Kauai run.

The Mauna Loa later on will be put on the Kona-Kau run on account of cold storage facilities. This is done to allow ranchers and live stock men of that region a market for their meat.

Mr. Donald S. Bowman, director of the Industrial Service Bureau, H. S. P. A. will present the work of his organization at the special meeting in the Mokihana Hall Friday afternoon 3 o'clock. All interested in general welfare work should hear his message.

The Kauai Chamber of Commerce will meet at Waimea Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A number of important matters will come up and a good attendance is requested.

Dr. A. Hoermann of the Lutheran Church came over from Town last Friday and returns this evening. He conducted service and otherwise ministered to the spiritual needs of his Kauai flock.

Pertinent and Impertinent Notes from Kealia Town

The usual city council meeting was held Tuesday evening with Commissioner Ekekele in the chair. Owing to the absence of the Mayor very little was done of an official nature.

A little excitement was furnished by a Chinaman who was celebrating the New Year. He insisted on throwing rocks at the corrugated iron sides of the city hall. Mr. Ekekele ordered the chief of police to quiet him and the chief made several ineffectual attempts to do so. It was not until he persuaded the Chinaman to throw rocks at him instead of the city hall that the meeting could continue.

Dr. Hagood was very busy treating people for sunburn in the roof of the mouth after the airplanes passed over Tuesday.

Mrs. Corstorphine says that there were a lot of things that she did not say "I do" to, and one of them was that she was to be a golf widow.

Adrian Englehart was a Kealia visitor Saturday and made an unsuccessful try at the rubber ice pick. He tried the soft soap system. He began by telling the proprietor how good the ice cream was and how much money the railroad was going to spend. The proprietor was apparently overjoyed but still did not come through.

While treating a calf last Wednesday Doctor Golding was kicked in the head so hard that it made him see double for a time. Doc says that Oke could not have been more effective.

Fire Chief Bolte has asked the council for a red speed car, the same as all fire chiefs have. He was told to paint his own car red.

John Kealoha was a Kealia visitor and it is rumored that he intends to make his home here. John said that being elected senator caused him to lose his greatest sport. He is pausing before he can enter the ring again. His enemies state he wants to run for a city office in the coming elections.

BISHOP LEONARD AT WAIMEA

Through the very efficient management of Mrs. C. B. Hofgaard, a well filled house greeted Bishop Leonard in the Hawaiian church at Waimea last Saturday morning. Rev. M. E. Carver presided at the meeting.

Although it was the busy Saturday morning hour, most of the leading residents of Waimea and Kekaha, who could possibly run away from their business duties, were assembled to hear the distinguished clergyman.

The bishop delivered in substance the same lecture as at Lihue, though perhaps with more intimate style and pausing occasionally for vivid illustrations of his points. Needless to state the address was duly appreciated by the Waimea folks.

While in Waimea the Bishop and Dr. Klinefelter were entertained respectively at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Brandt, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and Mr. and Mrs. Hofgaard.

DR. L. L. WIRT AND THE NEAR EAST RELIEF

Dr. L. L. Wirt, one of the Directors of the Near East Relief Work, landed in Honolulu to make a tour of the islands in the interest of this worthy cause. He will come to Kauai first; speaking in Lihue as follows: Mokihana Club Friday afternoon, 3 p. m.; Tip Top Theatre Friday night, 7:45; Armory Friday night, 8 o'clock. He will speak in Waimea Saturday morning, 10 o'clock.

He is a man with a very romantic and adventurous career. He was at one time Superintendent of Schools in Alaska, and while there he saved from starvation and death some hundreds of miners marooned during the winter at Nome.

By means of a forced winter march through an inhospitable frozen wilderness he brought them relief.

During the war he was a Red Cross Commissioner in Europe, and as Director of an American Relief Expedition to the Near East, came to know Armenia and Syria thoroughly. Out of his experience have grown his two lectures "Land of the Arabian Nights", and "Following the Star".

He is recommended as a most fascinating and interesting speaker.

G. AMONA KILLED BY DYNAMITE

Geo. Amona, a homesteader and a nephew of Mrs. Eliza Anee of Kapaa, died at the Kealia hospital on Friday morning as the result of injuries received from an explosion of dynamite at Anahola on the day previous. According to a report of the police, the deceased started out for a fishing trip to Anahola on Thursday noon in company with a Japanese boy by the name of Y. Ito, and Alapai, another Hawaiian friend. The party separated at the beach, each going to a different part to fish. A loud explosion brought Ito and Alapai to the scene, where they found Amona bleeding from several wounds and with three of the fingers of his right hand blown completely off. The injured man was rushed to the Kealia Hospital where he died the next day.

A coroners' inquest held on Saturday resulted in a verdict of accidental death. It is the belief of the police that the deceased lighted the stick of dynamite after seeing a school of fishes, but for some unknown reason failed to hurl it away in time, with the result that the dynamite exploded in his hands, or very near him, resulting in the fatal injuries. The deceased was unmarried and his only known living relatives are Mrs. Eliza Anee, an aunt, and Chas. Lewai, a cousin.

BETTENCOURT VERSUS MAKEE SUGAR CO.

The case of Bettencourt against the Makee Sugar Co. for back salary and bonus claimed by him as due came up for trial on Monday February 14th, in the Circuit Court at Lihue before Judge Achi. It was an interesting case with a number of prominent witnesses who shed more or less light on the situation.

The case closed today, Tuesday, but judgment has not been rendered.

FAREWELL DANCE

On Saturday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hyde Rice was the scene of a very delightful dance, given by Mrs. Phillip Rice in honor of Miss Edith Rice who is leaving today for Honolulu where she will remain until early in March, when she sails for "the States", England and Europe.

Approximately thirty-five couples were present to enjoy the dancing afforded by an excellent dancing floor, splendid music, and the most hospitable of hosts.

ORCHESTRA IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Koloa Sunday School enjoys a very attractive musical novelty in the way of an orchestra. Mrs. Waterhouse is violinist, Dr. Waterhouse cellist, Mrs. Cooley organist and Mr. Cooley plays the French horn. Henry Blake will add the trombone, making it a very excellent musical combination.

ANOTHER CARD PARTY

Mrs. E. S. Swan gave a card party Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Edith Rice on the eve of her departure for Honolulu and abroad. There were tables for a dozen, and it was a very delightful affair.

DANCE AT THE HOTEL

Once more the Lihue Hotel has been livened by the gaiety of dancing. On Thursday evening the lanai was cleared of furniture, an orchestra arrived, and two by two guests began to arrive. The party lasted almost until the hour when the Kinau arrived.

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Bayless and infant were among the returning Kauaians by the Kinau this morning.

MAUI WANTS HEARING ON PROPOSED CHANGE IN KAHULUI PROJECT

A letter from the Maui Chamber of Commerce, signed by Secretary D. H. Case, was received last Tuesday by the office of the U. S. district engineer, asking that a public hearing be authorized at which the question of a change in the pierhead and bulkhead lines at Kahului harbor can be taken up and the views of all interested parties obtained, says the Star Bulletin. The letter reads as follows:

"When the pierhead and bulkhead lines in Kahului harbor were established in April, 1909, it was anticipated that pierhead wharves, separated by slips, would be constructed. This plan has now been definitely abandoned, and the first unit of a series of bulkhead wharves is now about to be constructed by the territorial government.

"Under these circumstances it appears that the present pierhead line serves no useful purpose, and in our opinion it should be changed so as to coincide in location with the present bulkhead line. We therefore request that a public hearing be authorized and called at which this subject may be taken up and the views of all interested parties obtained."

Col. C. A. F. Flagler, district engineer, is now on the mainland on leave of absence. Richard Quinn, assistant to the district engineer, said today that he will write to the chief of engineers, Washington, D. C., requesting permission for a hearing.

Toggenburg Goats For Kauai

Dr. Waterhouse is a strong believer in Twigg Smith's Toggenburg goats for Kauai. He emphasizes the fact, which is very abundantly confirmed by his experience as a plantation physician, that good milk is a most vital necessity for babies and growing children, and that this is not readily obtained on most plantations.

A first class dairy, like that recently established at Lihue, is of course a most satisfactory solution of the plantation milk problem. But this involves a very large outlay, as well as favorable conditions that are not always readily found. Pending such a solution good goats would be a great boon.

It is well known that goats milk is richer than cows milk, and under favorable conditions is just as palatable. Goats are not subject to tuberculosis, so they have that advantage over cows. They can be very easily kept, and at a very nominal cost.

His suggestion is that a few high class animals be secured, and from these a less expensive grade of stock be bred, which would come within the means of plantation laborers and others. Thorough bred Toggenburg kids can be got for $50.00;—these bred with our own native stock would give a good grade of stock that would be reasonable in price, yet satisfactory as milkers.

The current prejudice against goats milk on account of odor, is without foundation as far as the Toggenburgs are concerned.

It is impossible, we are told, for the ordinary person to distinguish this kind of goats milk from the best cows milk.

KEEN TO COME BACK

The Portuguese Mutual Benefit Societies are taking steps to repatriate large numbers of Portuguese who during recent years have gone to the Mainland and are now out of work dition there.

and in a more or less destitute condition. Louis R. Medeiros, president of the San Antonio Society will go to the Coast, and get in touch with his fellow countrymen there, with a view to bringing them back to Hawaii. He thinks that there are thousands of them there, and that under present conditions Hawaii will look like the Promised Land flowing with milk and honey.

The Planters' Association is ready to assist in bringing these people back with the expectation that they will work on the plantations here.

Under the circumstances it is of course folly for Portuguese families to leave Hawaii for the Coast, yet there are some so benighted or misinformed that they are doing that very thing. We understand that a family has just recently left Hanamaulu for San Francisco.

In this same connection Francisco Varona, the Special Filipino Commissioner, has just left for the Coast, to see what he can do for stranded Filipinos there. From time to time a great many of these people have gone away to the mainland attracted by the glowing stories of large wages and improved living conditions there, and with very easy service. The actual outcome has been disillusioning, and they too are in dire straits. A lot of them will probably return to Hawaii just as soon as they can get here.

BANK OF HAWAII ADDS ANOTHER RECORD VAULT

The Bank of Hawaii has moved its central department and bookkeepers to the second floor of the building, says the Star-Bulletin. A stairway has been put through and a record vault on the second floor built by Bowler & Ingvorsen. The bank has also installed a unit telephone system putting each department of the bank on a private exchange.

The change will give the tellers and offices of the bank more room on the first floor of the building and has the effect of concentrating the departments. The bank has three vaults with the completion of the new record vault for the central department.

"Wela-ka-hao", the peppy little sheet published by the Honolulu Ad Club, in its issue of February 2, has a fine picture of Waimea Canyon with the following caption:

"Grand Canyon of the Waimea, on the Island of Kauai, is the little brother of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and not so little at that. It has all the color and mystic charm of the Grand Canyon, and in addition boasts a tropical setting. Kauai, the 'Garden Isle,' is perhaps the loveliest of the Hawaiian group, with its long coral beaches and general scenic grandeur."

VENUS FLIRTS WITH THE MOON

A wonderful performance of two heavenly bodies was observed on Friday evening last at Lihue about 7:30 in the evening.

In the western sky sailed the young moon, crescent shaped and showing plainly the darkened part of the circle.

Apparently perched on the left horn of the moon sat Venus in all her glory, so close to the moon as to seemingly overlap the dark part; this was perhaps caused by refraction.

The observers were awestruck by the beauty of the two luminaries and watched silently for a few minutes, when clouds obscured the view.

In over fifty years of life, many spent at sea, it has never been the observer's good fortune to see anything nearly as beautiful as this sight was.

Starving Armenia Cries for Help

People of Kauai, what would you give to save a human life? How much thought? How much time? How much money?

If your own people were starving to death, if they lived in a country covered with snow and ice and if they did not have enough clothes to keep from freezing to death, and not a cent to buy more, what would you do about it? Would you simply say, "That's too bad"? Would you complain if a few more "drives" were organized to help them? Would you pass the matter over lightly? Would you say, "I know someone on Kauai that needs the money just as badly as they do", meaning yourself, of course?

Well, a whole nation is starving and freezing to death. That nation is Armenia. And it is dying through no fault and no lack of effort of its own. Those people have planted crops. They have tried to reorganize their industries so that they could help themselves. But their plans and their work have counted for nothing. They have been continually attacked, driven from their work, their land, and their homes by the Turks. And for several years they have been unable, in a great many cases, to do a single productive thing.

Last year you were asked to subscribe to the Armenian Relief. You gave your money then and sometimes, perhaps, you thought that it was simply throwing money away. You will think differently when you read the following extract from the report of one of the Near East workers, who was stationed in Erivan, the capital of the Armenian Republic. He reports the speech of the leader of a great mob of people who had assembled to thank the people of America, through him, for their splendid help. This is what the Armenian said:

"A little more than a year ago the streets in which we are now standing were strewn with our fellow-citizens, dead or dying of starvation. At that time we were carrying from the streets 150 to 200 bodies a day, victims of starvation from among the homeless refugees, exclusive of citizens who died in the shelter of their homes. That we, who are standing in these streets today, did not die is due to the relief that came from America in time to save us. We have assembled here today for the purpose of asking you to take back to America assurance of our deep appreciation of all that America has done for us and for our country."

The Near East Relief Fund is now being used chiefly to support Assyrian, Syrian, Greek and Armenian orphans. These children, after their parents were killed by the Turks, have been rescued and are being fed and cared for until they can do something for themselves, or until their own countries can keep them alive. The tables that are used to feed these children, if placed end to end, would cover a road twenty-four miles long.

It takes a lot of money to keep food, scanty though it may be, on those twenty-four miles of tables. And it takes a great deal more money to keep those children clothed. If they are not fed and clothed by us, they will die. And we will not let them die as long as a few dollars, that we can easily give, will save them.

Someone is going to call upon you soon to ask you to help in this work. You can help most by giving as much as you possibly can to keep these little children alive. If you should be missed and if no one should happen to call upon you, don't think that your subscription is not needed. It is needed, and needed badly. Make all checks payable to Frank Crawford, and if no one should call upon you, send or take the checks to the Bank of Hawaii.

WANTED: A HOME FOR THE DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND

We are in receipt of a communication from the president of the Humane Society in Honolulu, bespeaking a favorable interest and publicity for a new departure of that Society.

It seems that a suitable home has been recently provided for the feeble-minded children of the Territory and is available for such children from all over the Islands.

Apparently it is now proposed to inaugurate a similar institution for the deaf, dumb and blind unfortunate. An excellent site has been secured back of Kapiolani Park, and a small school inaugurated there. This will be available for such unfortunate children from the other Islands, as well as Honolulu.

We are requested to speak up for these children, that adequate provision may be made for their care and education. Accordingly we do so, and commend the matter to our Legislative representatives.

ANDERSON ADVISES RICE PLANTERS TO TRY BANANAS

W. A. Anderson, president of the Hawaiian Banana Plantations, Ltd., believes that the rice planters of Kauai, who are going out of that business on account of the low prices prevailing for that staple, would do well to take up the growing of bananas. In a letter recently received from him he writes:

"I understand that some of the rice planters on Kauai are discouraged by the low price of rice, and contemplating changing to some other crop. Sugar being down just now, they may feel with me, that bananas offer them a good opportunity.

"The Hawaiian Banana Plantations, Ltd. stands ready at all times to assist with information, advice or services toward making such an undertaking a success.

"We believe that the soundest method of developing the banana industry of the Islands is on the basis of individual production and organized marketing. We stand ready to assist in both the production and the marketing for the benefit of the industry as a whole."

LEASES OF PASTURE LANDS APPROVED

Members of the land board at a meeting in Honolulu last Tuesday approved the sale of the lease of pasture lands in the Waimea and Mokihana, Kauai, districts, comprising about 6770 acres, says the Star Bulletin. Application for the sale was made by Gay & Robinson. The following other business was transacted: Approved lease of an 80-acre tract of agricultural land in Olan, Hawaii; approved sale of a lot on Kilauea Ave., Hilo, containing 10,000 square feet, applied for by Judge W. S. Wise; approved exchange of a small tract of land at Waialeale, this island, for a piece of land in a forest reserve in the same valley, owned by L. L. McCandless; approved of the leasing of three lots in Kapaa, Kauai, and two in Waimea, Hawaii.

Agree Exactly.

HAWAII AND THE WORLD

PRESS CONGRESS

The meeting of newspaper men of the territory in Honolulu on the 5th of this month was the forerunner of what is destined to be one of the greatest events in the history of Hawaii—the meeting of the world press congress in Honolulu next October.

Lorin Thurston, the master booster of Hawaii, in speaking of the coming event, said:

"Forty nations are to be represented in this congress. Think of it! There have been mighty few occasions in history when the accredited representatives of forty nations have come together for any purpose. It might have happened when they got together to parcel up Europe and decide what they would do with Napoleon, and at the peace conference at Versailles, but the times have been few.

"Without regard to race or faction it is up to us to give these delegates such a welcome and such an entertainment as they will remember to their dying day."

The foremost publishers of forty different nations—approximately 400 newspaper men—will gather here for that congress. They are going to be entertained as only the people of Hawaii can entertain. They will be given the opportunity of seeing the wonders of our several islands—wonders that cannot be surpassed in any other land upon the face of the globe.

When these men (and women) return to their homes they are going to be boosters for Hawaii. Four hundred of the world's leading newspaper men, from forty different countries, as enthusiastic boosters for Hawaii. Think of it! The territory has not cut much of a figure in world affairs heretofore, but after the world press congress, Hawaii, the "Crossroads of the Pacific", will assume its place of importance.

The expenses attached to the press congress will amount to approximately $25,000, and is to be borne by the people of the territory.

Kauai will be asked to share in raising this amount, and, judging from past events, we believe the people of Kauai will not only gladly contribute their share of the expense, but will also assist in any other way that will tend to make the entertainment program a success.

A FINE EXAMPLE

There are children starving in Europe, women are suffering, and once strong men are breaking under the strain which the war has given them as an inheritance. We are comfortable here in our own land, and few of us have the least idea that conditions are at this moment worse in some European countries than history has ever recorded. America has heard the cry of starving children in Austria through Herbert Hoover, and it is good to know that she is answering, showing that she can forgive a recent enemy, and that her big heart will not permit little children to starve.

But the part of this answer which strikes us most forcibly is the answer being sent by the farmers of the United States. President Howard, of the American Farm Bureau, said recently in a speech at Chicago:

"Farmers in 37 states have authorized me as their president to offer enough American-grown corn to feed the starving millions of Europe, China, Armenia and other foreign countries. And I promise that the farmers will deliver their offerings promptly to the point of shipment. This treasure will come in voluntary gifts from 5 to 3,000 bushels, many wealthy farmers having given as high as 3,000 bushels."

All that the farmers insist on is the corn be not sold, but must go straight to the people who need it. The farmer is having a pretty tough time of it himself just now, with grain and hog prices declining. But he comes to the front when trouble appears; he realizes that the good in the world outweighs the evil, and he sets a mighty fine example for the balance of the world.

RAISE THE DUTY ON SUGAR

Sugar has always been one of the main sources of Federal Revenue. From 20 to 30 per cent of the total customs revenue for the last 20 years has come from sugar.

Now when Congress is casting about for some means of relieving the excess profits income tax burden, it cannot well ignore the potentialities of sugar. One hundred million or even one hundred and fifty million dollars could readily be raised by a sugar duty of 2½ cents a pound. This would be an easy duty to collect, and would awaken less opposition than any other scheme which would raise the same amount. Great Britain, long the citadel of Free Trade, has placed a duty of five cents a pound on sugar. Certainly two and a half cents would be a very reasonable burden for America.

But aside from the revenue producing feature of the matter there is the equally important protection feature in its favor.

First and last the sugar business of the United States is a very large business. It is no longer a matter of the cane sugar interests of the Islands of the sea, and Louisiana, but the beet interests of the Pacific Coast and Western States as well. From all these interests there is an anxious outcry that they cannot continue to raise sugar at present prices under present conditions. Unless some protective assistance is given, the great industry will be crippled or ruined beyond recovery.

Surely a plan which will at once produce a vast revenue for public needs, and protect and foster a great industry, will commend itself to an intelligent Congress.

THE DIGNITY OF LAW

It is an easy thing to make laws, but laws are something quite different from law and order.

The charge has been made against the American people that they are content to remedy evils by framing acts and passing bills—and then let it go at that, with the serene assurance that everything is all right.

The dearest thing in the world is a dead-letter law. Most things when dead are harmless;—but strange to say, a dead-letter law is dangerous. It discredits all law, and pulls all law down into contempt.

The main fundamental factor of civilization is respect for law. The dignity, authority, and sanctity of law, as law, must be kept supreme and inviolate or we have begun to drift into the condition of Russia and Central Europe. When any law becomes only a scrap of paper we have begun to juggle the whole system;—to pull out the underpinning which sustains our whole social and national fabric.

Presumably the laws are right, but right or wrong they are the laws, and ought to be enforced and ought to be obeyed.

When we as a people have reached the point where we begin to set up private judgement on the law, and dictate as to which laws should be enforced, and which we will obey, and which we will defy, the seeds of anarchy have been sown, and we don't need to look abroad for Bolshevism,—we have it right at home.

Freedom of thought is all right, freedom of speech, within temperate limits, is all right, but when it comes to freedom of action to do what we "damn please" without regard for law,—that is the most vicious kind of Bolshevism and there ought to be no place for it in our country.

WHAT ABOUT HEAVY TRAFFIC

The present badly eroded and ravelled out condition of our roads, due partly to recent storms, and partly to heavy traffic, emphasizes anew the necessity for the limitation of speed and weight of heavy traffic.

Some months ago the Chamber of Commerce took up this matter and passed strong resolutions, recommending such limitation, and appointing a committee to advise with the Board of Supervisors in regard to the matter. What has become of that committee, and what, if anything, is being done?

Every great invention is but a stepping stone to a greater achievement, and what the next century may bring forth in the line of applied science is beyond human ken. Turn back the pages of history and get posted upon the conveniences enjoyed by the people of a century past, note the advances that have been made to the present time, and then speculate, if you will, upon what people will be doing in 2021, one hundred years in the future. It may be that the automobile will have passed out and that the family will, just desiring to take a run into the country, when going to the closet and bring out a pair of wings and fly away, and they may have something even better. Who knows?

Congratulations are due the Advertiser for the "Pineapple Edition" recently published. It is the first time this important industry has received the attention it deserves at the hands of the local press. Kauai received its full share of publicity and shows up most favorably as compared with the other Islands.

We agree with the man who said the other day that most of the "unrest" in this country is caused by "Dollar Itch."

No man ever gets so powerful but some weak little woman can set her foot on his neck any time she wants to.

WORLD'S WETTEST SPOT DOES STUNTS IN THE WAY OF HEAVY RAINS

Mt. Waialeale, the wettest spot on the face of the earth, has been doing stunts in the way of precipitating moisture. B. T. Rush, assistant engineer of the United States geological survey, recently made the ascent of Waialeale under the guidance of W. V. Hardy, former assistant engineer, who installed the big 900-inch copper rain gauge about two years ago at an elevation of 5080 feet. They found that 590 inches of rain had fallen for the thirteen months ending February 3rd, 1921.

The five-year average for the mountain summit, prior to 1920, was 476 inches; hence it appears that there 70 inches more rain in 1920 than the average.

THE HUI HELE LOA OUTING

The Hui Hele Loa, to the number of 18 or 20, spent Saturday in an outing along the sea coast to the east of Koloa, a region comparatively little known, but full of interest and beauty as Mr. Gurrey's pictures have shown us.

They went by car to the Koloa mill and as that was operating and most of them had never seen a sugar mill, an hour or so was spent there under the conduct of the mill superintendent Mr. Ohrt, and the engineer, Mr. Luhr. After the inspection they think that there are still some things about a sugar mill that they don't know, but their ignorance is somewhat less complete than it used to be.

From here a few who did not feel quite equal to a strenuous hike, and who were willing to be useful and accommodating as well, took the cars round by the public road, by way of Koloa, to the Waiohai Beach Resort, while the rest hiked it for Mahaulepu.

A mile and a half or so brought them to Kapuuakea, with its fine open pond and beautiful spring of clear fresh water. A gasoline pumping plant lifts the water to the near-by fields for irrigation.

That whole coast consists of bold coral-bluff formation, raised from the bed of the sea, with here and there beautiful stretches of sand beach, and the most exquisite sea colorings in delicate blues and greens. The three miles or so along the shore, or overlooking it, taken leisurely, made an easy hike. The leader pointed out the petroglyph beach where the ledge of pictured rock is now unfortunately covered up by a deposit of sand. At the old Hawaiian burying ground, said by some to be an old battlefield, there are many evidences of interment on a large scale, at any rate.

On arriving at Waiohai, a little after noon they found a most welcome lunch awaiting them with hot coffee and other dainties.

It was such a perfect day that they were loath to come home, so they spent most of the afternoon there with no farther purpose than to enjoy the place and its natural beauties.

SCHOOL NOTES

Waimea School

On Friday, February 4th, the Waimea basketball team won the division championship game from the Makaweli's with a score of 20-8. On Monday the Waimea team will play the Lihue team for the Island championship. With the practice the boys are getting, there is no doubt of the coming game being a good, hard one.

On Friday, February 11th, an appropriate program was held on the school lawn, on Abraham Lincoln.

Each little boy and girl played his part well. Rev. Carver gave a short talk on "Abraham Lincoln" and was enjoyed by all who heard him. The program was as follows:

1. "Star Spangled Banner".....School
2. Recitation.....Grade 5B
3. Words of Abraham Lincoln.....Grade 4A
4. Lincoln's Boyhood.....Grade 3B
5. Song.....Grade 2A
6. Reading.....Grade 4B
7. Recitation.....Receiving Room
8. Song—"Sail On, O Ship of State".....School
9. Abraham Lincoln.....Grade 1
10. Recitation.....Grade 6
11. Reading.....Grade 5A
12. A play.....Grade 7
13. Address.....Rev. Carver
14. Song—"Hawaii Pono!".....

MAKAWELI SCHOOL HAS LINCOLN DAY PROGRAM

Makaweli public school observed Lincoln's birthday last Friday with the following program:

1. Song—"America"
2. Lincoln's Flag.....Katsu Tominaka
3. Lincoln's Picture.....Grade 1A
4. Quotations from Lincoln.....Grade 5
5. Like Lincoln.....Grade 3A
6. Song—"Lincoln".....Grade 3B
7. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.....Grade 7
8. Oh Captain, My Captain.....Mitsuo Yamada
9. Star Spangled Banner

February 11th also being the birthday of the greatest inventor the nineteenth century has known, some time was spent by each teacher telling of the life and works of Thomas Alva Edison. The Eighth Grade wrote letters of greetings to him, the best of which will be forwarded to him.

Experiences With A Home Garden

(By J. M. Lydgate.)

I frankly admit that I have no fancy for hard work. I am the lineal descendant of Adam, the first great gardener of all time, and I am fairly true to type. He didn't do any work until he had to. He was very proud of his garden, and enjoyed the fruits of it, but he didn't do any work in it,—so far as the records show.

Now in the natural order of things I am just like Adam. I too am proud of a garden, and enjoy the fruits and flowers,—but work in it,—not I.

Driven to it

But when you can't hire a yard man for anything short of the wages of a Cabinet Minister; when your place is growing up to a hopeless jungle; when you realize that every day of neglect must be paid for by many days of hard work later,—you begin to get desperate, and you come to the conclusion that you too can work, if you have to,—just as Adam did.

So reluctantly and resentfully, I went to work in the neglected garden. It was hard work all right—dirty and monotonous, and very wearying for the first go off, but gradually as I began to get used to it, it didn't seem so bad, and I became interested in the discoveries I was making.

Deplorably Ignorant

First, I was surprised to find how deplorably ignorant I was of all that pertains to a garden. Like everybody else brought up in rural surroundings, I supposed that I knew all about the things and the ways of Nature. And yet when it came right down to definite knowledge, I found it wasn't there. Can you plant any time, or is there a regular fixed time to plant? How deep should you plant? Should you plant in nursery beds and then transplant, or plant where things were going to stay, and then thin them out? How long does it take things to grow, and how soon may you reasonably expect to enjoy the first fruits?

How Long to Mature Fruit?

These and a great many other things I found I didn't know. For instance I had lived alongside the banana tree all my life, yet I didn't know how long it took to produce and mature a bunch of bananas. Six months? or a year? or a year and a half?

The same was true in regard to papayas. How long after you plant the seed will you begin to enjoy the fruit? I didn't know—yet these are the two commonest and most useful products of our gardens. And the same was more or less true of everything else.

I began to enquire about, and found that most ordinary people didn't know much more about them than I did,—and their answers, like my own, were of that indefinite kind, conveyed by "Not long," or "Quite a while."

Information from Pitcairn

With regard to bananas, my ignorance was enlightened from an unexpected source. One of the Pitcairn Islanders put me wise. Telling of their life there in the early days, when they had to raise everything they ate, he volunteered the information that bananas took about 15 months to mature. My own experience has taught me that papayas take about the same time.

When the banana and the papaya makes so phenomenal a growth in so short a time, it was a surprise to learn that it takes five months to mature the insignificant peanut.

The Interest of the Passers-by Another matter of surprise was the curiosity and interest with which the passers-by watched our activities. For everyone, from the highest to the lowest, it was evidently a spectacle of great interest to see us work. And it was a pleasant diversion to watch their faces, and interpret the things that were running through their minds.

Plantation laborers going by carrying raincoat, hoe, and lunch pail, frowny and grimy, grinned a genial smile of fraternal recognition that welcomed us to their ranks, and that said, as plain as could be, "Now we are all friends together." It was a pleasant greeting, and we couldn't well refrain from smiling back in response. Then another type would come along, and stare in with a dour expression of hardened satisfaction, as much as to say, "So you had to come to it, did you? Now you're just where you belong!" Still another would look with a sort of mild patronizing pity that said, "What poor soft guys these highbrows are." Still others were overcome with glee at the prospect before them, and grinned and giggled at one another, pointing a derisive finger, and saying:—"Just see 'em work. Ain't it funny!"

I Pass for the Yard Man

One day a portly, well dressed man sauntered up and peered over the wall at my clumsy spading. Manifestly he took me for the yard man, and proceeded to give me much sound advice as to how I ought to cultivate, etc. He had been brought up on a farm, but had graduated from that sort of drudgery, and was doing well now selling insurance. He thought I had better do the same, just as soon as the bonus went down. Finally he asked me whose place it was anyway. I told him frankly enough, but I didn't connect up my identity with it.

We Don't Care What People Think

Being conspicuously placed on the main highway, with no screen of trees or other covering to hide our activities from the public gaze, we felt more or less self-conscious at first, especially as we were clad in working clothes of a nondescript character. But we soon got used to that, and rejoiced in our new-found independence that didn't care a rap what people thought or said. And doubtless they did think and say things,—some of them kindly, sympathetic, and patronizing; others critical, disparaging and derisive.

We are Independent of the Yard Man

Coupled with this independence of public opinion there was another kind of independence which was more worth while. This was the independence of the yard man, whose demands were steadily increasing, while his returns therefor were as steadily shrinking. The days had been, when we would stand at the gate with enticing words, and lavish offers trying in vain to beguile man, woman or child to do a little desultory work in our yard. These efforts were treated with scorn. That time had gone by for good. And now when a decrepit old man, or an irresponsible kid wanted to work in the yard for about twice what he could get on the Plantation, we turned him down so sudden and so hard, that he rubbed his eyes and looked around to see if this was still Lihue, that was so different.

The Maudlin Delight of it

We took just the same kind of maudlin delight in our garden that the young couple does in their first baby. The first bud on a begonia, or the first flower on a marigold was as wonderful an event as the baby's first tooth, or its first seraphic smile.

And we watched the growing things with a pertinacity that was restless. Morning, afternoon, and evening we made the round of our estates, watching for new developments. Scarcely a leaf could unfold or a bud could swell but we knew it. If those spied-on plants could speak, I can imagine them crying out—"For goodness sake, can't you let us alone! We want to grow in peace! We don't want to be watched all the time." And to the passer-by it must have been the casualty of much amusement, and the frequent comment, "There these goops are again making the round of their garden—what they find to look at every time gets me!"

Too Fascinating to Stop

What I had feared as tiresome drudgery soon proved not to be so bad after all, and then finally it became positively fascinating. I began with the temperate resolve to put in an hour or two before breakfast, which I thought was about all I could stand. But when breakfast time came I was in the midst of some interesting job, and was bent on finishing it. And that always led to some other—and before I knew it it was lunch time.

Just wherein the fascination lies I haven't been able to make out. It may be a survival of the rural training of the race; it may be the joy of seeing things grow; it may be the charm of the open out-of-doors; it may be the satisfaction of getting things done; or it may be all of them together.

However it may be explained, there is an unexpected fascination about it that cannot be denied. You come to count it your choicest interest. You look forward to it;—and you resent any intrusion of a social or business kind that interferes with it.

Recreation, Exercise and Profit

And you congratulate yourself that it is not only the finest of recreations, but it is the very best of physical exercise as well. You eat well, and sleep well, and all life looks cheery and interesting. And as you look over your garden and take note of what you have wrought, your pity goes out for the poor guys who waste their time in profitless recreation, frantically hitting balls that land nowhere, and running to goals of no profit. A half acre of garden, with a hoe and a rake, are worth more than all the lawn tennis and baseball and soccer ever rooted for. When you have run your legs off, and yelled yourself hoarse, that's all you have to show for it—stiff limbs and a sore throat.

The Residue of Results

But in your garden you have the residue of results. In the first year we had bananas, papayas, squashes, carrots, radishes, beans, bell-peppers, peanuts, tomatoes, beets, potatoes, sweet and Irish, as well as a profusion of flowers, many of them of choice varieties. And for the second year we have the assurance of all of these, and many others that take more time to grow.

Worth Money

Now these things go to the credit of the garden. They have a market value. If you happen to be without them and have to buy them you will find that out. And a good deal of the time you simply can't buy them at any price;—this gives them a very much enhanced value. Blessed is the man who isn't dependent on the peripatetic vegetable dealer, who is most unreliable, or the vegetable store, which is scarcely less so.

The Yard Man Earns His Money

Finally there is one other discovery that I have made, which is that there is far more work about a garden than I ever imagined. I used to think that the ordinary yard man had a soft snap of it. That he could do the work in half the time if he wanted to, and that he didn't earn his wages. Now I take off my hat to him, and beg his pardon. If he does his duty he earns his money. In the early stages, I fancied that I could keep our place,—there is an acre and a half of it,—in good shape by putting a couple of hours a day onto it. I soon learned the folly of that. Perhaps there are some places that in some mature stages could be kept up on that basis, but not ours anyway. And furthermore I could never get ours to the point where it only had to be kept up. And I am beginning to think that there is no such point.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is pured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefitted through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per-acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the Car, Truck or Tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long, if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work", which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.

ALL-KAUAI SOCCER

TEAM WILL TAKE PART IN INTER-ISLAND MEET

At a meeting of the Kauai Soccer League last Thursday evening, it was decided to send an All-Kauai team to compete in the inter-island series in Honolulu, February 20, 21, 22nd.

The team to represent Kauai, as picked by the representatives of the league at this meeting is as follows: Carmichael, captain, Hutton, Makana, Waleale, M. Fernandez, Oxbury, Sinclair, Duncan, S. Gonzales, Breckenridge, Lovell, Glaisyer, Christian, W. Ataka; substitutes: D. Sinclair, Catton and Kapunial. A. R. Glaisyer was appointed manager of the team.

The team will leave for Honolulu next Saturday, play Sunday and Monday and catch the boat Monday evening for Kauai.

A practice game is called for 4:30 Thursday afternoon at the Lihue field. All members of the team are requested to be on hand promptly. The local players are also asked to show up to make a practice team.

ASAHI BALL TEAM WANTS TO COME FOR 4TH OF JULY

"Ned" Chillingworth received a letter this morning from Geo. Amano, manager of the Asahi ball team of Honolulu, stating that he would like to bring his team to Kauai for a series of games on July 4th. "In my squad" writes Amano, "there will be such stars as Nishu, K. Araki, Ueno brothers, Yamaguchi of the Asahis, and Yoshi, the best pitcher in the plantation league, and fast ground covering fielders. With this material and a few months practice before visiting the Island, we will make a good, strong team."

"Chilly" states that the "Walkikis" are also anxious to make the trip.

BASKET BALL AT

THE LIHUE ARMORY

Good basket ball, with few fouls and pretty team work characterized the games in the Lihue armory Friday night when a double header was played off.

The first match was between the High School and the Benedicts in probably the best game that has yet been played. The High School boys may not think so, however, as they were worsted this time by the Benedicts in about the same fashion as they handed the first defeat over in a previous game with the same opponents. The students were given few good chances to shoot goal, so closely were they guarded by the postmaster and the wireless operator. The other members of the business men's outfit meanwhile played a consistent offensive and kept a good, safe margin behind them. The score was 32-22 in the Benedicts' favor.

Who fails to see the rubber game between these close rivals will probably miss the real excitement of the series.

The second game on Friday evening brought the Bachelors and the Merchants face to face. The Bachelors, unhampered with family cares, skipped blithely about the floor as though it were really good fun. The Merchants, played more laboriously, but with hope urging them ever onward so that only the most reckless would risk their good judgment on the results of the first half.

But after five minutes recess the Bachelors assumed a more threatening mien and finally outdistanced the commercial dealers by the decisive score of 42-15.

The present standing of the teams are as follows: Benedicts, won 4, lost 1; High School, won 3, lost 2; Bachelors, won 3, lost 2; Merchants, won 0, lost 6.

BASEBALL AT KAPAA

The second game of the local "World Series" between the Cleveland (Farmers) and Brooklyn (Allies) on Sunday resulted in the defeat of the former by the score of 5-4. The Farmers secured an early lead of two to one until the 8th when they apparently clinched the "World's Championship" by annexing another brace of tallies, making the count 4-1 and only two more innings to go. In the last half of the 8th, with a runner on first, Vevelros in center for the Farmers put a short single on par with a triple by making a nifty error. A sacrifice fly and a couple of hits then tied the
