Washington, Dec. 12.—Senator Hanna has decided to request the military committee to subpoena Gen. Leonard Wood.

DIET DISSOLVED.
Tokyo, Dec. 12.—The Emperor has dissolved the Diet, the parties in the House refusing to rescind their vote against the Cabinet.

CHEKIB BEY EXPLAINS.
Washington, Dec. 12.—The Turkish Minister Chekib Bey, has officially explained to the State Department that the United States Consul at Alexandria was mobbed because, after seeking to procure the illegal emigration of a Turkish subject, he attacked and beat a police officer.

SAN DOMINGO'S TROUBLES.
San Domingo, Dec. 12.—The Provisional government announces that it will not accept the late government's settlement of American claims. Minister Powell has replied that the United States will not recognize the Provisional regime until it complies with the terms of the agreement. The finances of the Provisional government are in a desperate condition.

MacARTHUR'S CASE.
Washington, Dec. 12.—The cabinet today discussed the case of Major General MacArthur who is reported to have declared, at Honolulu, that a war with Germany is impending and that, in the Spanish war, German-Americans were not patriotic. It is believed that Secretary Root will, before taking disciplinary action and in fairness to General MacArthur, call upon him for an explanation.

A HEALANI SMOKE
The Healan Boat Club smoker given at the boat house last night was well attended. An excellent program had been provided which was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present. Music was provided in large and festive chunks by "Sonny" Cunha, the pianist, and the violinist of the Nell company. Ernest Kaal and his string orchestra. Recitations were rendered by Bruce Hartman, "Chief" Kennedy, who among other selections made a great hit with the famous "Casey at the Bat."

The principal event of the evening was the four round go between Jess Woods and Robert Woods. Both men were artistically attired and provided lots of trouble for the referee. But Webster, who had to break them apart when they clinched, which they did most of the time.

Further entertainment was provided by Sam Walker, Mr. Harrison, Allan Dunn, Dan Renear, Fred Anude, Kunkel and others.

During the evening refreshments in the form of sandwiches, salads, liquid refreshments and quantities of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco were provided.

PUGILISTS TRAINING.
Jack Weday and Dave Barry are training very hard for their flint encounter which comes off at the Orpheum on the evening of January 1st. Barry boxed several fast rounds yesterday with Billy Woods and proved to the few spectators that he has good speed and knows a thing or two. Weday was also doing hard work at Long Branch and his manager, Larry Dee, stated that Barry will know he has been in a fight when it is all over. There are many people in town who think Weday's chances are good while every one says it will be the hardest fought battle Honolulu has seen for a long time.

ONLY 11 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

A general Christmassy air pervades our whole place. We cannot too strongly recommend that all who can do so should begin their Christmas shopping at once, while the assortments are best and before the great rush begins. A great many persons are now in the midst of their holiday shopping, some are practically through with it, but hundreds are waiting. Come and make up your shopping lists here. The best suggestions will come from the things themselves.

Ready-To-Wear Apparel.

What do I want for Christmas? Well, that's rather a leading question, but we have seen many long glances directed at our ready-to-wear garments. We believe this is a suggestion worth noting. Styles are up to the hour and prices are lowest in this city.

Dress and Walking Skirts, Black silk dress skirts, Black dress skirts in Etamines, Ziblines, Alpaca Broad-cloth and Cheviots.

White tailored Etamine skirts, Walking skirts in black, grey, navy blue and oxfords, Silk and cloth raglans, Ready-to-wear waists in silk, alpaca and cashmere.

Wash Waists of every description, Children's and Misses Coats and Jackets.

Misses Walking Skirts.

Long Gravette Coats.

"Dame Fashion" has taken hold of the rain coat and made a particularly stylish garment out of it. Our handsome long gravette coats will delight any Miss that gets one.

Holiday Trimmed Hats.

Christmas always brings good things in trimmed hats and this is our strong point now.

Ladies' trimmed hats at unusually low prices. Children's trimmed hats are our specialty for the holiday trade. Styles and prices that will pleasantly surprise you.

Handsome Dress Materials.

Silk dress crepes in exquisite shades.

Pineapple silks in all delicate colors.

White pongee silks.

New dress patterns in black, grey and all fashionable colors.

Embroidered Swisses and Chiffons for evening wear.

Silk Grenadines.

Voils and Etamines in cream, black and the leading colors.

Grass linen in white and shades of blue.

Lace Curtains.

Really fine curtains come now-a-days for very little. New ideas have been put into this season's goods, and our holiday assortment is most complete. Handsome designs in white, ecru and Arabian, including the new single curtain. Lace panels to match. New Portieres.

Dressing Sacques.

These are always the epitome of daintiness—there is a touch about them distinctly feminine.

$5.50 and upward, handsome silk, trimmed with dainty laces. White and delicate shades.

$1.25 and upward, of white lawn, trimmed with dainty colors.

At $1.50, Elderdown nicely trimmed. Pink, blue, gray and cardinal.

Dainty Fans.

Fans have beauty, usefulness and a certain fineness which puts them among the best of Christmas gifts. See our exquisite assortment of Napoleon fans, the new chateaux fans, spangle, lisse and lace fans in black and white, at wonderfully attractive prices.

50c and upwards, very pretty spangle fans.

New Ribbons.

For neck, sashes and fancy work. Striking new plaids, brocades, Dresden and painted effects.

Now Dresden hair ribbons at 15c yard.

Holiday Hosiery.

Silk and lisse thread hose in plain, drop-stitch, lace ankle and all lace effects, nicely packed one and two pairs in a box.

Embroidered Grass Linen.

Hand embroidered in blue and white—a beautiful line of doilies, tray covers, center pieces, cushion tops, luncheon cloths and table covers in square, oblong and round. Napkins to match.

COUNTY LAW MASS MEETING

Hughes addressed the meeting on the committee's behalf, speaking from the stage, said he:

"The resolutions I have read meet every issue brought to bear upon the county act. Although the newspapers don't all coincide with it I believe that a point in its favor.

"Everyone wants to find out where we are at. If we take this bill to Congress and it is passed, that will not save it from attack, for the United States Supreme Court might knock it out, and we would be no further ahead than we are now. The thing to do is to bring it before our Supreme Court.

"The appeal which is made to the Bar Association should receive your support. We know the Bar Association is composed of patriotic and intelligent men and they will be able to bring us out of the state of chaos we are in today. Their services too, will be gratuitous.

"If the law is declared invalid then there should be an immediate calling of the legislature; there is some doubt as to how the legislature will act, but I believe that we can place confidence in it.

"It is not for us to consider Mr. Hatch—to condemn him, or to condemn the Governor; there is no more honorable man than F. M. Hatch and whatever he will do in Washington, we may be sure he will safeguard the rights of the people. We should not bring condemnation proceedings against the Governor, even before he has a chance to warm the gubernatorial chair. He may have made an error of judgment, but it is not for us to condemn. We are too ready always to condemn, to squeeze a man like an orange and damn him ever afterwards.

"I am not here as a special pleader for Governor Carter. He has lots of friends and no matter how we differ I know there is no more honest or well meaning man from the Atlantic to the Pacific and that Governor Carter wants to do right for the Territory. The worst thing we can do is to hamper the administration at this stage."

The chairman then read the following rules for debate:

(1) Speakers shall stand by their seats and confine their remarks exclusively to the resolution, no one to speak longer than five minutes.

(2) A vote shall be taken on the resolution not later than 9:30 p. m.

Clem Quinn moved to strike from the report the recommendation in reference to calling a special session of the Legislature. Motion was ruled out of order.

Discussion followed as to the time to be allowed speakers. At Stewart's suggestion ten minutes was settled. Ashford's motion to change the time limit for a vote to 10 o'clock was carried.

Jonah Kumalae moved the appointment of an interpreter. There were roars of "No! no! Sit down!" Few affirmative roars were heard.

"We are here as American citizens under the American flag," cried chairman Smith, on his feet in a hurry, "with one common language. We are all Americans, not Hawaiians. I don't think there is a Hawaiian here who cannot understand English."

"All right, Smith, that's all right," sang out the irrepressible Markham from the back of the house.

J. A. Mathewman moved the adoption of the resolution. Senator Dickey seconded.

Moving that portion of the resolutions calling for a special session of the Legislature be rejected, L. A. Thurston said:

"I do not think these resolutions should be adopted without discussion. There have been many statements in the press and on the streets, the subject of which was the mission to Washington, which is not mentioned in this report. I coincide with the views of the committee in leaving out this reference to the mission to Washington. I was and still am opposed to such an expedition as that of Mr. Hatch. But conditions have changed from those of a week ago. At that time it was proposed to do something. Now something has been done. The matter has been presented before Congress and there are now reasons why we should not take a stand against it and present a divided front to Congress. I am opposed to Mr. Hatch's going to Washington, and believe that we are able to take care of our own affairs yet. I for one believe that we should leave the matter entirely alone since the work has already been done.

"If we want anything from Congress we have to be united."

"I did not believe that it was a sound policy to have seven governments in these islands with a population less than that of one ward in New York City, but the feeling of the majority of the people was favorable to county government."

"I accept the county law as the one which will rule in this Territory."

"But there is the uncertainty about the law, whether it is law or not, until we get an authoritative decision of the Supreme Court."

"For this reason the committee has called upon the Bar Association for aid. But when we say that we want to call the legislature together to pass a new county act, when we don't know what the Supreme Court is going to do I believe we are going too fast."

"There is no need of borrowing trouble when we are not certain that the Supreme Court will knock the county act out."

E. P. Dole, among other things, had the following to say:

"Both political parties and the legislature were almost unanimous in favor of county government. I am in favor of giving the County Act a trial on its merits. While it might have been wiser in the beginning not to have sent Mr. Hatch to Congress, yet according to the report cabled here he has been doing good work. It is one thing to decline to send an emissary to Congress and quite another to throw him down when his work is well done. I believe also in taking the case to the Supreme Court. While as a citizen I was not in favor of sending Mr. Hatch, I am not in favor of calling him down."

"One suggestion I might make, is in regard to the Japanese hackdrivers. Every lawyer knows that one provision may be knocked out without affecting the whole Act."

T. McCants Stewart opposed appealing to the Bar Association to bring a test case, saying he had yet to know a member of the Bar Association who ordinarily worked without a retainer. He said:

"This resolution is simply shooting into the air. Now if a subscription list had been offered tonight to raise money for a retainer, there would have been some practicability about the suggestion."

"But another thing, The Supreme Court has adjourned until January 11th and I say it as true that no man sits in this town meeting tonight who can say that the Supreme Court will sit before that date, or that a decision can be obtained within three weeks."

I endorse the suggestion that the situation has changed since the last meeting. I am not talking for the Governor, but am looking at a member of the government who should talk for him. But in this instance it is not for this town meeting to turn down the Governor of the Territory or the Delegate in Congress. I have here a resolution drawn by myself, which I have shown to but three persons in this world—W. R. Farrington, Judge Humphreys and J. D. Avery."

When Stewart stated that he was "looking at a member of the Government" his eyes were on a line with those of Attorney General Andrews.

Stewart read the resolution as follows:

Whereas, the Governor and other citizens, acting through F. M. Hatch, Esq., have caused a bill to be introduced in Congress by our Delegate, whose object is to remedy the defects in and remove the cloud from our County Act; and

Whereas, we favor the immediate establishment of county government and believe that prompt action by Congress will prevent legal complications and governmental confusion, and will save money to the taxpayers; therefore

Resolved, by the citizens of Honolulu in a non-partisan mass meeting, that we hereby approve the said action of the Governor, and endorse the bill introduced in Congress by our Delegate

A Postal To Me.

You see this offer everywhere—all the time. Don't you realize that thousands accept it?

And don't you know, too, that I am curing those thousands, else the offer would stop?

If you are one of the sick ones, don't wait any longer. Just write me a postal, and let me help you too.

I will mail you the book you need, and with it I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He will let you take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And your mere word shall decide it.

Please think what that means. No other physician ever made such an offer. No other remedy that any man knows could stand such a test. Do you not know that I must have something unusual—something almost sure?

In the past 12 years I have furnished my Restorative on trial to over half a million patients, and my records show that 39 out of each 40 have paid for the treatment gladly, because they were cured. I have willingly paid for the rest.

My Restorative succeeds because it strengthens the inside nerves. I don't doctor the weak organ; I bring back the nerve power which alone makes that organ act. I treat the weak organ as I would a weak engine, by giving it more steam.

I studied a lifetime before I perfected a remedy that would do this. I have it now so that it always succeeds in any case that is curable. And I assure you, from a vast experience, that these chronic troubles can rarely be cured in any other way.

My book will tell you why.

Simply state which book is wanted and address
Dr. Shoop, Box 111, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is sold by all druggists.

and appearing in the Honolulu newspapers of today.

Resolved, that this resolution be cabled to our Delegate and the President.

Enthusiastic applause followed the reading, stamping and cheering making a great noise.

Clarence W. Ashford from one of the boxes, jumped up with another resolution:

"I am in favor of local control of local affairs and endorse the proposition that local control is not to be had in the Congress of the United States. Congress provided us with the machinery to carry on our government and we will be greatly to blame if we allow this Stewart resolution to be carried through."

Ashford then read the following resolution:

Whereas, Mr. F. M. Hatch has gone to Washington at the behest of a few citizens, whose identity is held in secrecy, for the purpose of securing the enactment by Congress of legislation in regard to the organization of County Government in Hawaii; and

Whereas, we deem such proposed legislation by Congress to be a reflection upon the intelligence of our people, their ability to achieve their own desires and their capacity for local self-government;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the citizens, voters and taxpayers of Honolulu in a non-partisan mass meeting assembled: That Mr. F. M. Hatch does not in any sense represent the people of this Territory in his said mission and has no authority to express their hopes or wishes; that we earnestly beseech Congress not to enact the bill proposed by Mr. Hatch, or any other bill in regard to the organization and government of counties in Hawaii, without first giving the people of Hawaii an opportunity to be heard thereon; and

Be It Further Resolved: that copies of this resolution be cabled to our Delegate in Congress, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate.

Ashford maintained that if the Hatch mission was to be endorsed the people here should have a chance to examine into the bill introduced by him at Washington.

Markham and A. H. Crook here wrangled for the floor. Crook seconded the resolution and wanted to be heard. The crowd yelled for him to sit down. W. C. Achil rose and spoke of a point of order. He told Crook that Achil could not be heard. Crook shouted to Achil to sit down. Achil replied in kind. Chairman Smith intervened with the handle of a big screwdriver on his desk for order.

Markham butted in and made a three-cornered row. The chairman called on the Attorney General to maintain peace and order brotherly love. Andrews passed it up to High Sheriff Brown, who took a seat and joining Markham's and whispered soothing words, thereby calming him.

Achil then caught the chair's ear and, standing in his own seat, said the Ashford resolution could not be talked on on until the committee report had been rejected. The Chairman warned Crook not to digress. Crook said it was a question of whether the meeting was going to whitewash the Governor for this assertion was met with roars of disapproval.

Clem Quinn sprang up to say he favored local control of local affairs. His remarks were drowned.

F. W. Terrill wanted to talk on local control but was ruled out of order.

James Quinn said: "From what I have seen in the Bulletin (great applause) the ratification of our County Act by Congress leaves us the privilege of appeal."

"Nine-tenths of the American people will take us for a lot of lunatics," said Mr. Emmelhuth.

The committee resolutions were then put and adopted as a whole. Amidst great cheering the meeting ended.

"If the Bulletin speaks the truth, and I believe it does (more enthusiastic demonstration mixed with a few choking noises) we at present have no County Act."

"I do not think it was just right for Hatch to go to Washington as he did. But, since he has gone and is doing good work it is all right and we must lose no time in giving him our support."

"I believe the best reason we can have for supporting Hatch in his mission to Washington is that the Advertiser is against it."

Here the house roared with delight, a faint murmur of disapprobation being crowded to the wall. The chairman pounded with his screw-driver.

"There is no good in downing Hatch," continued Quinn.

"I think there is a little too much Breckins in the whole thing, to be sure."

Again the house pounded and cheered and laughed and Chairman Smith hit the table wildly for silence.

"This mission of Hatch's will not hurt us if we approve of it," ended Quinn. He started to repeat the argument of the Advertiser's opposition again, but Smith anticipated him by five words and gave as many loud knocks with the screw-driver. The crowd knew what was meant, however, and a flood of loud merriment shattered the quiet.

Senator Achil, standing in his seat again, had this to say:

"The Supreme Court is here for the people and if the majority decides here tonight, the court will sit tomorrow. Mr. Stewart says the lawyers want their fees, but I guess Mr. Thurston and Mr. Stewart and Mr. Achil will act without a retainer."

"No other lawyer is willing to take it, I will fight for it. Let us demand that the Supreme Court meet and if they won't ask the President to remove them, and he will do it, too."

"If the legislature is called now it will do its duty. Everyone wants a County Act. I believe that the investigation by the grand jury was a good lesson for them."

Here Markham made a rush for the center of the house and raised his arms in a flourish to assist eloquence. He was talking off the subject and his words were drowned. Growing too eloquent he was removed by a policeman, still talking against the roar of the multitude.

Moroff, a socialist, followed. It was sometime before the assembly let him speak.

"Is this a mob or a decent gathering of American citizens?" cried the speaker. Moroff endorsed the resolutions and did not believe in discrediting the Hatch mission.

Discussion followed as to the method of voting on resolutions and amendments, their proper order, during which Stewart declared there was a scheme to put Delegate Kuhio and the Governor in a false position and it was the citizens' duty to see that the first acts of Carter and Kuhio should be approved. This sentiment was widely applauded.

Andrews favored both the Hatch and committee resolutions.

Thurston's amendment was then put and promptly and enthusiastically killed.

McClellan spoke for the adoption of the report as a whole.

John Emmelhuth asked where we be if the resolutions were passed and "Congress didn't act."

"Here in the Supreme Court," said Andrews.

"Nine-tenths of the American people will take us for a lot of lunatics," said Mr. Emmelhuth.

The committee resolutions were then put and adopted as a whole. Amidst great cheering the meeting ended.

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1902.

After I had been married about four months I felt my health generally decline. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged wearily along instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while bearing down pains and constant headaches added to my misery. The menstrual flow became more and more profuse and I was unfit to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took enough medicine to kill or cure a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardui. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my periods my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui which keeps me well.

I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Betty Ricker

President, Back Bay Woman's Club.

Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Ricker has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exacting duties. Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.

It will relieve the pains of irregularity, cures falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, ovarian troubles, and has been known to remove what physicians considered dangerous tumors. Women who use Wine of Cardui do not suffer at the monthly periods. They do not suffer hysterical attacks, because Wine of Cardui gives them strong nerves freed from the irritation of female suffering.

A $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui purchased from your druggist will keep you free from pain.

SATURDAY, DEC. 12, 1903.

Take off your hats to the Merchant's Association.

Prof. M. M. Scott says that New England is the author of neither the mince pie, the doughnut, the chowder nor the Ten Commandments. True, but New England made them famous.

As between Mr. Thurston and Stewart, whom the morning press has vilified, there is no question where popular sentiment stands. Possibly the representative of the morning press would have done better had Birche come to the rescue.

Mr. Thurston said he accepts the County Law "as the one that will rule the Territory." This is a very wise conclusion for Mr. Thurston to reach, but the people would have more confidence in the integrity of his motives had he done less in his paper yesterday morning to defeat any practical solution of County Law difficulties.

What the alleged MacArthur interview has done to establish a better sentiment between Germany and the United States has yet to be seen. It is safely a foregone conclusion, however, that the mess General MacArthur has been dragged into will not assist in advancing army appropriations for Hawaii or in marshaling the German-American vote for the Republican party. Hawaii has succeeded in advertising itself and at the same time giving the Democrats a string to harp on throughout the Presidential campaign.

"Now something has been done," said Mr. Thurston in speaking of changed opinions on the Hatch mission. Mr. Thurston knew something had been done when he read the exclusive announcement in the Bulletin of Thursday evening that Delegate Kuhio had introduced the County ratification bill and Mr. Hatch found conditions favorable. Yet he said editorially in his paper of Friday morning, "Is this (Hatch) proceeding fair to the electors and taxpayers of Hawaii? Has it been open and aboveboard?" Mr. Thurston's effort to kill the County Law and spunk the Governor for repudiating his paper has failed. The only thing left for him now is to—as usual—cuss the Bulletin.

COUNTY ENEMIES DEFEATED.

Again have the citizens of Honolulu put themselves squarely on record in favor of the County Law. Again have the enemies of the law been put to rout. It must be admitted that the little minority that hopes to keep the Territory in the old centralized channels dies hard but it would seem that the defeat they suffered in the public meeting of last evening ought to be sufficient to convince them that the people are in no temper to follow their behest and allow the law to be peacefully ruled out of existence.

The citizens of Honolulu have declared in direct terms that they do not fear an extra session of the Legislature if it be required to establish the integrity of the County Law or any other measure vital to the progress of the Territory. They unequivocally reject the suspicion which enemies of local self-government attempted to cast, at the last moment, upon the work of Delegate Kuhio and Mr. Hatch in Washington. The sentiment of the Honolulu mass meeting is undoubtedly that of an overwhelming majority throughout the Territory.

The gist of the popular declaration is that the people stand for the maintenance of the integrity of the County Law. It can't be accomplished in one way, accept the alternative, but the principle and the law must be preserved.

It is probable some may hold that in passing two resolutions—one favoring a court test and an extra session of the Legislature, the other approving the work of Mr. Hatch and the Delegate—the meeting contradicted itself. Let opponents of the County Law make what capital they may from this. They will find mighty little to feed upon.

Delegate Kuhio and Mr. Hatch have a free hand and unanimous approval to forward their work. Should they encounter unforeseen delays, the Governor will have equally strong support in the performance of his duty by calling an extra session of the Legislature. The Governor has clearly outlined his conviction that under existing financial conditions Congressional action is preferable. He is right. He is not afraid of the Legislature. No one but Mr. Thurston seems to enjoy an extraordinary horror of the legislative branch of this Hawaiian institution. The Governor is free to go forward with the knowledge that the people are behind him in upholding the County Law in Congress or the Legislature.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was the lack of support the Governor and the Delegate received from the speaking member of the "official family" until an outsider came forward with a clear-cut endorsement. The lay of the land gave every indication that Thurston exercises more influence over the Attorney General than the Governor. This side play, however, is of small moment in view of the results. It is results the people are looking for and although they recognize the controlling personal influence Mr. Thurston exerts over the head of the Attorney General's department, they can contemplate the situation with considerable degree of amusement, since the popular demand was fulfilled.

The County Law will not be allowed to pass into the hands of its enemies. Now, Mr. Governor and Delegate Kuhio, go ahead.

J. A. MAGUIRE BUYS KONA GRAZING LAND

Valuable land, 5,189 acres, in North Kona, Hawaii, was offered at auction at an upset price of $5,000 by Auctioneer J. F. Morgan at the entrance to the Judiciary building at noon today. J. A. Maguire of Kona, after some spirited bidding, got the property for $10,200.

This land was sold pursuant to a decree of Judge De Bolt in the case of M. F. Scott vs. E. K. Pilipto et al., equity. W. A. Wall was appointed commissioner to sell subject to the court's confirmation. The lands are of Hualaia 1 and 2, situated mauka of the 1,000 acres set off to M. F. Scott. Deeds at the expense of purchaser and subject to the remaining unexpired term of lease made by W. R. Castle to M. de Gonville. W. C. Achi acted as attorney for the commissioner.

The premises are said to be good grazing lands; they are rocky in places. The price paid by Maguire is considered a good one.

Cecil Brown, Samuel Parker and others bid up from the upset price of $5,000. Colonel Parker bid $10,100.

Maguire owns lands in the vicinity of those procured today and, it is understood, will use the premises for ranching purposes.

GOVERNOR GUNNING

Governor Carter today took his first holiday since his occupation of the gubernatorial chair, going down the line on a hunting expedition. Mr. Carter has practically been conducting the work of both Governor and Secretary since the Secretaryship has been vacant and, working, as he does, in and out of hours, feels the need of occasional recreation. It will be the Governor's endeavor, it is understood, to devote Saturdays to relaxation from the strenuous duties of the week.

Among those who called to see the Governor this morning, and found him out, were Colonel Parker, Senator Woods, Supervisor Kealoa and Robert Ray Elgin.

The Grip Leaves Thousands in its Path Weak, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Catarrh Wrecks.

LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed our country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks.

Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands. Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so true that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery until they have used Peruna.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy received such unqualified and universal eulogies as Peruna.

A New York Alderman's Experience. Hon. Joseph A. Flinn, alderman Fifth District, writes from 101 Christopher street, New York City, as follows:

"When a pestilence overtakes our people we take precaution as a nation to preserve the citizens against the dread disease.

"La grippe has entered thousands of our homes this fall, and I noticed that the people who used Peruna were quickly restored, while those who depended on doctor's prescriptions, spent weeks in recovering, leaving them weak and emaciated.

"I had a severe attack of la grippe and at once took Peruna, which drove the

BUSINESS AND SCHOLARSHIP.

[Troy Record.]

Dr. Edmund J. James, the president of Northwestern University, has joined the ranks of those advanced educators who have been pleading, during the last year or two, for an elastic college program for those students who do not enter the professions. "Too much time," he is reported as having said, "can be spent by young men in poring over books in colleges." He believes that a young man who is to devote his life to business should begin fairly early, say at twenty or twenty-one, to submit frankly that he has advised students, to drop out of college even before that period in certain instances. He cannot see that the old English university practice of remaining in college, if of a studious bent, until one has achieved twenty-five or thirty before beginning work in the world of business, is a plan to be commended.

He observes gravely that "he will become a better business man, other things being equal, than the one who stays by his books until he is thirty or older. Men who stay long in college get such a bent away from business that, without great natural ability, they cannot break through the culture that hedges them and become great business men. University culture is not always the best preparation in life. It often stunts the natural business ability, and this is an age when business ability counts for much. It is an easy matter to spend too much time on the college benches. The years he would spend in absorbing culture are the very ones that are of greatest value for learning the details of his future calling." President James states admirably in these sentences the views entertained today by the radicals. They argue that the college or university should be made to fit the results of your very valuable medicine in its effects in my case after repeated trials.

"First, it cured me of chronic bronchitis of fifteen years' standing by using two bottles of Peruna in January, 1898, and no return of it.

"After I was cured of bronchitis I had a grippé every winter for several winters. But, through the use of Peruna it got gradually weaker in its severity until it dwindled down to a mere stupor for two or three days. Now the stupor does not trouble me any more."—O. H. Perry.

A Congressman's Experience. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen—I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

Very respectfully,

George H. White.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Mr. O. H. Perry, Atchison, Kansas, writes:

"After repeated trials of your medicine, Peruna and Mergal, I give this as my experience of the same."

The approval of many persons. Business men generally argue for an early beginning in the work of the world. Bankers have been quoted as saying that they do not want the average college graduate in their concerns, and in many instances, prefer to train their own men. At the same time, broadly speaking, the college man in business is believed today to be forcing a recognition over the young men who have not enjoyed their training. They may begin a little behind them, but their powers are prepared to undertake tasks which the untrained mind could not accept. In the end, the college man wins. When all is said, a man is not much older at twenty-two than at twenty, and many young fellows graduate at twenty-two. President James' advice to some students to leave their books at eighteen means that they should not enter college at all, for that is about the age of the Yale and Harvard freshmen.

Legal Notices.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF VALUABLE PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Pursuant to a Decree made by the Honorable J. T. De Bolt, First Judge of the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit, filed on the 20th day of November, A. D. 1903, in the cause entitled K. Ono vs. Y. Nakata, Bill for Foreclosure of Mortgage, Equity Division No. 1375, the undersigned, as Commissioner duly appointed, will expose for sale, at Public Auction, subject to confirmation by the Court, on Tuesday, December 15th, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, on the premises, No. 202 Beretania street, Honolulu, all and singular, the goods, wares, merchandise, stock in trade, furniture, fixtures and effects in the business heretofore conducted by said Y. Nakata at No. 202 Beretania Street, in Honolulu, Island of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

Provided However, that only so much of the aforesaid goods, wares, merchandise, stock in trade, furniture, fixtures and effects, shall be sold at said public auction sale as may be sufficient to raise the amount due to the said K. Ono for the principal and interest as in said decree provided, and for costs in said suit, and attorney's fees, commissioner's fees, and expenses of sale.

Terms of sale are Cash in U. S. Gold Coin.

For further particulars apply to W. T. Rawlins, at his office in the Stangenwald Building, Merchant street, Honolulu or to the undersigned at his office in the Campbell Block, Honolulu.

THOMAS L. DILLON, Commissioner.

Dated at Honolulu, Oahu, November 21st, 1903.

F. S. ARMSTRONG DEAD

News was received here by the Kinau today of the death at Paia, Maui, at 5:15 o'clock this morning, of Fred S. Armstrong, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Deceased was sugar boiler at Paia plantation, which position he held for over twenty years. News of his serious illness was received here by wireless on Sunday last and on Tuesday his brother, Frank Armstrong, of Castle and Cooke, left for the bedside of the stricken man.

Besides his brother, deceased leaves a sister, Mrs. Edgar Halstead, who recently left for Mexico to remain permanently. He was a son of the late Goodale Armstrong, who for many years was prominently connected with plantations on Maui and Molokai.

The Kanehameha baseball team have bright prospects for a successful season this coming year. Most likely Prof. Hopwood, formerly of Yale, will play short stop for them, as he has shown up well in practice. He is the man who turned out a champion football team from Kanehameha this year, it being the first year they have entered a league.

It is probable that, on account of the lack of funds, the government will seek to diminish the force in the Land Court and Attorney General's Department. The expenses of the former are $1000 a month and the employees have had virtually nothing to do since July 22d last.

Mrs. Paul Neuman has postponed her intended visit to her mother in old Mexico but will leave for London before spring, where she will attend the wedding of her daughter Lily, which takes place in June. Until recently, Miss Lily Neuman attended a school in Brussels.

The Jerusalem exhibit will occupy ten acres of space at the World's Fair. The distance between St. Louis and the holy city is much greater than it appears to be on the map.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CLAUDINE CHANGES

The steamer Claudine is now almost ready for sea. It is expected that she will be entirely ready in about a week. The Claudine has now been laid up for several months during which time the steamer has undergone a thorough general overhauling. The which amidships, just forward of the after deck house, has been placed forward. It was only used for hoisting and lowering boats but was on account of its position, rather troublesome to passengers, who had to get out of the way of the boat falls. In the place where this which was located two new and especially large staterooms have been built which add materially to the Claudine's already excellent accommodations.

BETTING ON THE GAME.

For the past week or so money has been flying around pretty freely in wagers on the great Panahan-H. A. C. game. Panahan supporters are giving no odds but are showing a great deal of activity in the matter of placing bets. Much confidence is being manifested by them. The H. A. C.'s have been doing the hardest kind of work during the past fortnight. They are saying nothing but, nevertheless, they feel that in the coming contest there is at least a show for them.

MOTION TO DISMISS.

In the matter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Kane who are bringing suit for the property under the will of Keliakohu, the motion of the attorneys for the defense, Messrs. Hatch and Shilman, to dismiss on the ground of laches and want of prosecution during ten years past, was argued before Judge Gear. Attorneys for the defense, Ashford and Dunne, were given ten days during which to file a brief and the defense asked for five days after that. The suit involves valuable property in Honolulu.

SMOOT'S ONLY WIFE

In the great controversy pending at Washington over the question of Mr. Smoot's fitness for the Senate the polygamy question is uppermost. The Senator alleges that he will bring the only wife he ever had, who is pictured above, and by whom he has five children, to disprove any allegations made against him on that score.

APOLOGIZED TO CENTRAL GIRL.

"Keep your shirt on. The world wasn't made in a day. You should know that telephone call anyhow without waiting for me to find it in this crazy old book. Why, Smith is the most prominent man in town. But then you people don't know much anyhow." "I know that I'm a lady, and that you are not a gentleman," replied the girl at Central, "and I resent such language from you. You'll apologize to me, too, for I know just who you are, you cigarette dude, I'm going to report this insult to your employer. 'Keep your shirt on!' That's fine language to use to a lady, isn't it?"

A letter came to the man's employer's office a few days after this conversation was overheard. It was from the manager of the Telephone Company, demanding an immediate apology from the clerk who had insulted one of his girls. The guilty young fellow was soon found, and told that he must call up the young woman and "straighten the thing out." Reluctantly he received the undesirable connection with Central.

"In the young woman there who feels that she was insulted by a clerk in this office a few days ago."

"Yes, I am the young lady," came the answer.

"Well really I'm sorry that you were so seriously affected by my language. I told you to keep your shirt on, did I not? And you've had it on all this time. Too bad, too bad, too bad. I'm grieved not to have given you permission before now to take it off. You may do so. I trust you will forgive my indiscretion, and in the future not take every man at his word. Bye-by."

Books, Bookish People and Things

We get no good by being ungenerous even to a book.
E. B. Browning.

"The Mettle of the Pasture." By James Lane Allen. Clo. 5 1-4 x 8 in. 418 p. p. The Macmillan Co., New York, $1.50.

To those who do not mix brains with their reading, Mr. Allen's last book will be a real disappointment. These mechanical readers are the frequenters of the fiction department in our public libraries, and they have very little trouble in forming their judgments of new books, because they go by the reviews. If the journals record large sales of a certain novel and therefore praise it extravagantly, these literary reflexes go into ecstasies over the same work, but they are as ready to condemn even their favorite author if his last book fails to meet general favor with the fickle public. These poorly endowed, conforming persons, too, are the self-appointed Receivers of social and moral bankruptcies; they take in unreflectively what is largely circulated gossip, passing it from hand to hand without the reason one does a bucket of water at a fire; they shake their heads over the "downfall" of a previously exalted personage, and so become sycophants in the presence of what they call Public Opinion. They are the people who could no more express disapproval of a book or of a person that is generally approved no matter how wrongly, than they could wear a garment not in the prevailing fashion.

But The Mettle of the Pasture can get along very well without such readers, and if its sales remain as small as those of Emerson's Essays during the first five years after its publication, it will surely go safely among those who can appreciate it.

And for the true literary worker this would be a greater reward than to be the author of the "best selling book."

It is natural for us to judge of an author's books as we do of a man's children; to regard them as all made after one pattern to be compared one with the other. Unless we have the true critical instinct, we fail to realize that books are spiritual entities and can no more be compared than persons can. The qualities found or lacking in them may, of course, be measured side by side, but the character of each must be considered on its merits.

That we like The Kentucky Cardinal, A Summer in Arcady, and The Choir Invisible better than The Reign of Law, and The Mettle of the Pasture, does not mean that their author by writing a less pleasing book has fallen from his pedestal; that he has written himself out of his best thoughts; that he has lost his hold upon his inspiration. Children of the same parents are not all equally endowed in all respects, but they may all be equally forceful and have many qualities in common.

The Mettle of the Pasture shows much of the author's old power to fascinate. I have called him in another place, the Lowell of fiction, and so he is still. His style is limpid and flowing, as characteristic as that of Hawthorne, his sense of beauty as subtle and refined; but unlike our great New England novelist, he does not vanish in thin air at the touch of flesh and blood. He walks the fields healthily, thrills with normal sensations at sight of glowing sun and skies; and the sound of lowing cattle is to him as sweet as the songs of birds.

There are few novelists who depend so little upon a plot or story. Some principle of life is taken, some thought which is exemplified by a real character. And despite the cant of critics who prate about literary "form" and artistic effect, Mr. Allen's books have the rare power to charm a developed intellect, and what is more important still, to impress it with a truth.

Although we may not like a novel with a purpose, and naturally rebel against moralizing characters, we have no right to ask that our stories be merely naked stories bare of every suggestive truth or atom pervasive philosophy. These bits of the author's soul are the flecks of gold we under-take our reading for.

If the author have genius, we come through these exaltations to a Communion Table at which we may partake of his body and drink of his soul. For the mere passing of an idle hour we may like a well built story such as we get in the magazines; a bit of mechanism quite ingenious but such work is ephemeral and leaves no impression whatever. And looked at from a literary man's standpoint, of what value is their production?

We all acknowledge the power of the Scarlet Letter, not only the beauty of its execution, but the enduring force of its theme. As a story merely, its outline is extremely meagre. The common story of a girl betrayed, but the spiritual significance brought out is that this girl takes a different course from what other girls have done, and heroically persists in it.

In Mr. Allen's book the young man who, during his college days, has lost his one chance to live a "white soul," comes to the girl he loves and who loves him, with the whole truth.

It is the common story of a boy who takes a lien on Remorse, but the significance in this story is the boy's uncommon heroism; an honesty that wrecks his life. The telling of all this with incidents which careful reading shows are related to the central theme, make up the novel. Of course to one who has almost idealized the author—and there be many that have—for his fine perception of the higher human qualities, for his recognition of the overtones of beauty, and his avoidance of any vulgar allusion, some things in this last book will come as a shock, notably, the conversations between Judge Morris and Mrs. Conyers.

Anna Harbage's advice to her brother and her letter to Harriet Crane, and some selections from an old book which Margaret has. These are blemishes, but they do not overlap; they do not vitiate the good, though they undoubtedly lower the quality of the book taken as a whole.

Was this coarseness taken for strength by the author in one of those unaccountable moods to which we are all subject; one of those uninspired moments which allow a defect to seem not so? Perhaps the author thought this would amend what the critics have termed weakness and effeminacy in his work?

For my part, I regard Mr. Allen's adherence to the beauty of refinement as an evidence of his strength; and the fact that women are admirers of his books only shows that they readily distinguish the finer touches that make the whole world kin.

I think that Mr. Allen is not at his best in portraying disagreeable persons like Mrs. Conyers. His real power lies in the description of the most others) indescribable beauties of nature; in the delineation of sweet, unselfish souls as we find in Georgiana in The Kentucky Cardinal; the whole story from beginning to end being without exception one of the most charming things in the English language. I have a conviction that this will live as long as anything in American literature.

For the rest, there are many things deserving of quotation in the story under consideration; emanations from a mind of unusual strength and insight into human nature. And as for didacticism with which Mr. Allen has been charged by some critics, I fail to discover it. Even in The Reign of Law whatever exposition of evolutionary theories there may be, they come very naturally in the progress of a mind's growth from a narrow, ignorant faith to a mental breadth which now-a-days is not rare. But it was for the day of which this story was written. What some failed to grasp in the strength of the book was that, while the theories of evolution were old, the adequate description of the growth of a conscientious mind acted upon by these scientific truths must always be new and interesting.

WINE TESTERS.

"There is only one job at the St. Louis Exposition that I would like to get," remarked a well-known Albany clubman at the Waldorf-Astoria. "That is a position as wine sampler."

"You would mighty soon get sick of your job," rejoined an equally well-known Albany newspaper man in the same party. "There will no doubt be between 30,000 and 40,000 samples in the wine exhibit, and if you were to be allowed to taste it in the ordinary way your finish would be rapid. I have heard the business described, and as a matter of fact it is not customary in this operation to permit the wine tester to sip from each bottle and pronounce his judgment until his mind begins to wander and his tongue thickens. He does not swallow the wine at all. It is tasted, but never swallowed. After five or six samples have been examined the jurors will rest a few minutes, then eat a bit of cheese and a biscuit, after which they rinse their mouths with mineral water and proceed as before. This keeps up from 9 o'clock in the morning until noon. Persons who can thus refrain from real indulgence in the wine cup presented in this tantalizing manner are examples of abstinence which ought to inspire admiration for the race.

"It is not every one who can thus tread the danger and step back from the brink. With a man's nose in the cup that inhales the wine is generally a goner. It is as good as selfed when he gets so far as to lay his hand upon the wicker door. The exhilarating effect of suffering a stream of some 50 or 100 different kinds of wine to pass between one's lips, even if refused admittance at the inner portal, must be considered; and a layer of cheese, a layer of biscuit and a layer of mineral water continued for three hours. It would seem, would be a distressing ordeal. After the 'bouquet' of the cheese, what becomes of the bouquet of the wine? There are cheeses that make one quite oblivious of every other thing set on the table before one. I would have no confidence at all in the judgment of a jury after the 16th round of cheese.—New York Commercial.

Give a young man a horse in life and he will never mention it; give him a cornet and he will blow it all over the county.

GOOD RULE TO

FIT BOTH FEET

"The question of which foot to fit first is an all-important one," remarked a Sixth avenue salesman the other day as he was tugging to get a pair of No. 6 Oxfords onto a No. 8 foot. "It may seem strange to you, but it is only rarely that we do not experience some trouble in fitting one foot, while the other is easily enough covered all right. Lots of people think that the left foot is the harder to fit, and consequently many shoe clerks always try a shoe on that foot first. It is not true, however, according to my observation, that there is any inflexible rule as to which foot to try first. I saw in a New Orleans newspaper the other day the experience of a shoe salesman down there—and it so nearly coincides with my own that I'm going to give it to you. He said:

"In the majority of cases, if you succeed in fitting the left foot, you will have no trouble with the right. My practice is to try both feet before I pronounce a pair of shoes a perfect fit. Then I am sure of avoiding any mistake growing out of peculiarities of foot formation. No two persons have feet forged exactly alike, and the shoe salesman who thinks so and is governed accordingly, will meet with many complaints.

"For some time I pondered over the problem of fitting shoes to feet, and especially as to why the left foot should be considered the standard by which to be governed. The only rational theory I have ever been able to evolve is a very simple one when you come to consider it. Nine out of ten persons you meet are right-handed, as we say. About one person in ten, or perhaps the percentage is even less than that, uses his left hand. If you will observe persons who are standing and talking, they invariably rest their weight on the left foot. And vice versa, a left-handed person will rest his or her weight on the right foot. The result is that with right-handed persons the left foot is probably a fraction larger than the right foot, and the shoe clerk must inevitably find this to be a fact sooner or later."—New York Commercial.

There are lots of people who don't have to belong to the theatrical profession to make a show of themselves.

THE ART OF FALLING.

"The story that a man fell 200 feet the other day and didn't hurt himself is amusing," said the director of a gymnasium, "but, cutting all foolishness out, there was more than a grain of truth in it. What I mean is, that a man who knows how to fall can fall a considerable distance without getting anything more than a bruise or two.

"The trouble is that the average man doesn't know anything about falling easily. Now, one of the first things that a gymnast or one who performs anywhere above the ground must learn is just how to avoid serious injury in falls.

"Nearly every gymnast tumbles sooner or later, but if you will think it over the number of professional and amateur performers hurt in a year is comparatively small. The reason for that is that they have learned not only how to avoid falling, but how to protect themselves when the fall does come.

"Just as an example, I had a fall from a height of about 20 feet the other day, and I got right up from the floor practically unharmed, although I confess that it shook me up a good deal more than I liked. In falling, however, I relaxed my muscles, and, as the athletes say, 'folded' my head into my chest. I struck on the uppermost part of my back, just below the neck. When anybody is falling that is the part of the body on which to fall.

"I am not a particularly heavy man, but I am fairly well protected by my muscles. Those on the back of my neck were a sufficient cushion. With that to help me the fall wasn't so terrifying.

"Now, the reason why the ordinary man is so easily hurt in a fall is that he thinks he must 'steel' himself to the ordeal, as it were. He comes down, sprawling out, with his arms and legs rigid. Nine times out of ten he either breaks a limb or severely sprains a muscle. That is the wrong way to fall.

"If you want to see the right way, take a few lessons from your cat. If she is a good, healthy cat with good training she never jumps or falls as if she were trying to break a leg.

"Let me sum all of this up by saying that to be a really good athlete one must know how to relax his muscles as well as distend them. Try a fall and see if I'm not right.—New York Sun.
