AN INNOVATION

Handsome Resort to be Built at Waikiki.

E. S. CUNHA'S MODERN IDEAS

All Conveniences of Eastern Seaside Inns.

Cyclists Provided for—Boats and Donkeys for Children—Elegant Refreshments.

What ever pleasure there might be in a visit to Kapiolani Park during the week or on Sunday has been reduced conveniences, marble wash-stands, enameled tubs, mirrors, etc.

Steps will be built, so that patrons of the place may indulge in sea bathing. Special care will be given to the pleasure of the children. Fancy boats, gondollers and bicycle water boats will be launched in the stream on the Makee Island side of the place. Possibly a half-dozen "Kona Canaries" will be brought down, and children may have an opportunity to take rides through the park, accompanied by careful donkey men. For wheelmen, there will be a cycler 10x10, in charge of a capable repairer of bicycles. Wheels may be hired, stored or repaired on the spot. Possibly, a rustic bridge will be built from Mr. Cunha's property to Makee Island, across the stream, so that it will be convenient of access from that point.

Handsome, ornamental shade trees, having age, will be taken to the grounds and transplanted, so that from the very beginning "Kapiolani Inn" will present a beautiful appearance.

Mr. Cunha has not yet selected a manager for the place. He insists that it shall be conducted in a manner which will warrant the support of the best society people—hoodlums will not be tolerated. He prefers having a man and wife who have had experience in the conduct of an establishment of this kind, and who will keep in touch with the people. So far, J. W. Chapman is the only person thought of by him. Honolulu is greatly in need of such a place, and if conducted according to Mr. Cunha's ideas, it would

NECESSARY TO ACT

There Seemed No Other Cause for the Administration.

WERE MANY DIVERSE OPINIONS

Senate Could Not Agree on Hawaiian Policy.

Annexation Treaty Would Focus Action—Executive Previously Friendly.

WASHINGTON, June 19. — The treaty of annexation between the Republic of Hawaii, and the United

In this condition of things, the Executive can take no leading part. But by the negotiation of an annexation treaty it could make a positive move, and as an administration movement, call all of the Republicans to its support, and if an annexation treaty was ratified the Hawaiian claim would be eliminated from the tariff bill.
The annexation treaty was at once negotiated, and the papers were prepared to be submitted to the President on his return from his Southern trip. On his return, on the 15th, he considered the subject, approved of the treaty, and it was signed on the morning of the 16th.

If the move towards immediate annexation should result favorably, the enemies of reciprocity and annexation may consider themselves humble but effective workers in securing that result. By creating or fomenting differences of opinion among Senators, need of action by the United States they have forced the Administration to act at once.

The Japanese trouble in Hawaii has the attention of the Administration, and it has emphasized the need active policy, by the United States.

At the same time the Administration has no jingo policy. It knows better than the average politician that the conservative element in this country wishes no foreign complications. The war spirit does not help trade. It keeps men away from ventures and new arrangements. If it were generally believed that Japan and Hawaii had serious differences, it might influence the judgment of conservative Senators, who believe that we have enough trouble on hand. This can be clearly seen in the Cuban affair. While Congress seems to be very belligerent, and has much reason to feel so, and it is restless because of the Spanish cruelties, it does not intend to disturb American finances. A war with Spain would involve the issue of many millions of bonds, and the question would be at once raised, how shall they be paid, in gold or silver?

It is said that several of the Democratic silver men are disposed to vote for annexation, in order to show their contempt for Mr. Cleveland. It is a method of "kicking" the man who has, they believe, ruined the Democratic party. However, politicians as a rule are very forgiving. They are men of the world, and cannot afford to spend their time revenging their grievances.

Regarding the value of prophecy, it is noted that in an interview in the Washington Post, Capt. Julius Palmer declared that President McKinley would not sign any annexation treaty with Hawaii. At the moment he made this solemn declaration, the treaty had been engrossed, and would have been signed, if all of the parties had been present.

The signing of the new treaty is received with great favor by the friendly press. Even the Washington Post that has strongly opposed annexation has a rousing article favoring annexation.

The most impartial observer notices that bitter feeling towards annexation is confined to only one or two Senators. The old school Democrats say they must have time to think over the matter. These may, in the end, say, "we are in some doubt, but if the Senate is willing to take the chances, we will not oppose." The friendly press seems to believe that the subject will go over until next winter, but that the feeling for passing the treaty will increase in the mean time.

At the present writing, no decisive action has been taken by Senators friendly to the treaty. If the Administration believes that the Senate will act promptly, it will push it. Otherwise it will let it go over. But the opinion is growing that nothing will be done during the present session.

It may be said that the Cabinet was not entirely clear on the question of negotiating the treaty at the present time, or of delaying the subject until winter. It has, however, been done, and all that remains now is, to see that it is carefully considered by the men who must pass upon it.

by the fact that there has been no place convenient to Makee Island where refreshments of any description might be obtained. True enough, there is an ill-smelling Chinese joint near the terminus of the car line, where warm soda-water and hard crackers may be had, but ladies who value their dresses do not venture inside.

The band concerts have been everything in drawing crowds of people to the park on Sunday, and two-thirds of them leave as the strains of "Hawaii Ponoi" die away, with a hard, dry thirst. Occasionally bicyclists ride out there, puncture a tire and then return on a tram, because there is no way of patching up the hole. But these inconveniences may now lapse into "has beens," for E. L. Cunha has planned a remedy for them. When the Lemon property was divided up and sold he was the purchaser of a long strip on the Waikiki road, extending back 500 feet on the bank of the stream, which winds through the park. His property extends back opposite the band stand, and on a portion of this property Mr. Cunha will have erected, from plans drawn by Ripley & Dickey, an elegant structure especially adapted for the entertainment of people who ride or pedal out to the park.

The plans provide for a main building 60x60, carriage shed 25x60 and numerous bath cottages handsomely finished. The latter buildings will face Makee Island. The main building will have a 10-foot veranda all the way round, and at the terminus of the car track this will project so that persons will have shelter from the car to the house. The main room of the building will be 30x30, and will be used as a central refreshment room, where ice-cream and soda-water will be served, or, if ordered, special and dainty suppers. This room will be fitted with great care, and with a view to having an atmosphere of richness prevail. Only two private or semi-private dining rooms will be built. They will be separated from the main rooms by rich portieres; no doors will be hung. The entire building, including veranda, will be lighted by powerful incandescent lights. In other parts of the house there will be toilet rooms for ladies and others for gentlemen. These will be fitted with the most modern

MYRTLE BOAT CLUB.

Extensive Preparations for Carnival Tonight.

Under the supervision of James McGuire the largest barge of the Myrtle Boat Club is being transformed into a handsome Venetian gondola. It will be beautifully decorated and illuminated with lanterns. It will appear in the water carnival and will be occupied by a band of 18 Hawaiian musicians and singers. People who pass along King street, in the vicinity of the Gazette Company building, have been charmed with the beautiful singing in McGuire's express office. These same people are the ones to sing tonight. Mr. McGuire has promised that the quartette shall sing the "Miserere," from "Trovatore," in front of the club-house, for the pleasure of the Myrtle's guests.

States was signed at 9:30 a. m., June 16, in the State Department, by John Sherman on the part of the United States, and F. M. Hatch, L. A. Thurston and W. A. Kinney, on behalf of the Republic of Hawaii.

The negotiation and signing of the treaty was the result of the change of mind by the administration, due to the attitude of many Republican Senators regarding the reciprocity treaty. It was well understood that the administration would not present any treaty of annexation until the tariff bill was completed.

As I have previously informed you, the action of the Senate committee on Finance, in striking out the clause in the House bill, protecting reciprocity, was not for the purpose of killing the treaty, but to place the matter before the Senate in such a manner, that the subject could be debated and a clause be inserted modifying the benefits to be derived by Hawaii from the present treaty, and of preventing Hawaii from getting the advantage of the increased rate of duties in the pending bill. It was the opinion of some members of the Finance committee that in this way only, could the question of benefits be open for discussion.

It was apparent, from the moment the subject came up for discussion, that the national and logical way of disposing of the matter was to settle at once the question of annexation. If this took place, no clause protecting the treaty was needed. But the administration had decided not to bring any new matter before Congress until the tariff bill was passed, or out of the way.

When the sugar schedule was reached, and the Republican leaders held a caucus over it, much difference of opinion was developed as to the best way of disposing of the Hawaiian matter. Some desired a provision reducing the advantages to Hawaii. Others wished a notice of abrogation to be inserted. Others wished that the President be instructed to negotiate a new treaty, and if it was not done, then the reciprocity treaty should terminate. In several caucuses, these differences of opinion greatly developed. At the same time these seemed to be a strong desire to proceed with annexation in due cause of time.

Secretary Sherman Reviews Negotiations.

Annexation Not Incompatible With Past Attitude of United States Towards Islands.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Annexation Treaty and President McKinley's message to the Senate were accompanied by the following history of negotiations with Hawaii:

"To the President:

"The undersigned, Secretary of State, has the honor to lay before the Senate, should it be deemed for the public interest to do so, a treaty signed in the City of Washington the 16th inst. by the undersigned and by the duly empowered representative of the Republic of Hawaii, whereby the Islands constituting the said Republic of Hawaii and all their dependencies are fully ceded to the United States forever. It does not seem necessary to the present purpose of the undersigned to review the incident of 1893, when a similar treaty of cession was signed on February 14th and submitted to the Senate, being subsequently withdrawn by the President on the 9th of March following.

"The negotiation which has culminated in the treaty now submitted has not been a mere resumption of the negotiation of 1893, but was initiated, and has been conducted upon independent lines. Then an abrupt revolutionary movement had brought the overthrow of the late Queen and set up instead of the heretofore titular monarchy.

"Government for the control and management of public affairs and the protection of the public peace, such as the United States shall have been negotiated and agreed upon. This self-constituted, factu existence until the purpose of annexation in which it took rise should be accomplished.

"As time passed and the plan of union with the United States became an uncertain contingency the organization of the Hawaiian commonwealth underwent necessary changes; the temporary character of its first Government gave place to a permanent scheme under a Constitution framed by the representatives of the electors of the Islands; administration by an Executive Council, not chosen by suffrage, but self-appointed, was succeeded by an elective and parliamentary regime and the ability of the new Government to hold, as the Republic of Hawaii, an independent place in the family of sovereign States, preserving order at home and fulfilling international obligations abroad, has been put to the proof.

"Recognized by the powers of the earth, sending and receiving envoys, enforcing respect for the law and maintaining peace within its island borders, Hawaii sends to the United States not a Commission representing a successful revolution, but the accredited plenipotentiary of a constituted and firmly established sovereign State. However sufficient may have been the authority of the Commissioners with whom the United States Government treated in 1893, the President, with the approval of the Cabinet, is hereby expressly authorized and empowered to make a treaty of political or commercial union between the Republic of Hawaii and the United States of America, subject to the ratification of the Senate.

"The present negotiation is, therefore, as has been said, not a mere renewal of the tender of Hawaiian territory made in 1893, but has responded to the purpose declared in the Hawaiian Constitution, and the conferences of the plenipotentiaries have been directed to weighing the advantages of the political and the commercial union alternative proposed here, relatively considering the scope and extent thereof. It soon appeared to the negotiators that a purely commercial union, on the lines of the German Zollverein, could not satisfy the problems of the administration in Hawaii and of the political association between the Islands and the United States. Such a commercial union would, on the one hand, deprive the Hawaiian Government of its chief source of revenue from customs duties by placing its territory in a relation of free exchange with the territory of the United States, its main market of purchase and supply while on the other hand it would entail upon Hawaii the maintenance of an internal revenue system on a par with that of the United States, or else involve the organization of a corresponding branch of our revenue service within a foreign jurisdiction.

"We have had with Hawaii since 1893 a treaty of commercial union which practically assimilates the two territories, with regard to many of their most important productions, and excludes other nations from enjoyment of its privileges, yet, although that treaty has outlived other less favored reciprocity schemes, its permanency has at times been gravely imperiled. Under such circumstances, to enter upon the radical experiment of a complete commercial union between Hawaii and the United States as independently sovereign, without assurance of permanency and with perpetual subjection to the vicissitudes of public sentiment in the two countries, was not to be thought of.

"Turning then to the various practical forms of political union, the several phases of a protectorate, an offensive and defensive alliance and national guarantee were passed in review. In all of these the independence of the subordinated State is the distinguishing feature, and with it the assumption by the paramount state of responsibility, without domain. The disparity of the relative interests and the distance separating the two countries could not fail to render any form of protective association, either unduly burdensome or illusory in its benefits, so far as the protecting State is concerned, while any attempt to counteract this by tributary dependence or a measure of suzerain control would be a retrograde movement toward a feudal or colonial establishment, alike inexpedient and incompatible with our national policy.

"There remained, therefore, the annexation of the Islands and their complete absorption into the political system of the United States as the only solution satisfying all the given conditions and promising permanency and mutual benefit. The present treaty has been framed on this basis, thus substantially reverting to the original proposal of 1893, and necessarily adopting many of the features of that arrangement. As to most of these the negotiators have been constrained and limited by the constitutional powers of the Government of the United States.

"As previous instances when the United States has acquired territory by treaty, it has been necessary to reserve all the organic provisions for the action of Congress. If this was requisite in the case of the transfer to the United States of part of the domain of a titular sovereign, as in the cession of Louisiana by France, of Florida by Spain or of Alaska by Russia, it is the more requisite when the act is not cession, but union, involving the complete incorporation of an alien sovereignty into the body politic of the United States. For this the only precedent of our political history is found in the uncompleted treaty concluded during President Grant's administration, November 23, 1893, for the annexation of the Dominican Republic to the United States.

"Following that example, the treaty

now signed by plenipotentiaries of the United States and the Hawaiian Republic leaves to the Congress of the United States the determination of all questions affecting the form of government of the annexed territory, the citizenship and elective franchise of its inhabitants and the manner in which laws of the United States are to be extended to the Islands.

"In order that this independence of the Congress shall be complete and unquestionable and pursuant to the recognized doctrine of public law that treaties expire with the independent life of the contracting State, there has been introduced out of abundant caution an express proviso for the determination of all treaties heretofore concluded by Hawaii with foreign nations and the extension to the Islands of the treaties of the United States. This leaves Congress free to deal with such special regulation of the contract labor system of the Islands as circumstances may require.

"There being no general provision of existing statutes to prescribe the form of government for newly incorporated territory, it was necessary to stipulate, as in the Dominican precedent, for continuing the existing machinery until provision shall be made by law for the government, as territory of the United States, of the dominion thus incorporated into the Union, but having in view the peculiar status created in Hawaii by laws enacted in execution of the treaties heretofore concluded between Hawaii and other countries, only such Hawaiian laws are thus provisionally continued as shall not be incompatible with the Constitution or the laws of the United States or with the provisions of this treaty.

"It will be noticed that express stipulation is made prohibiting the coming of Chinese laborers from the Hawaiian Islands to any part of our national territory. This provision was proper and necessary in view of the Chinese exclusion acts, and it behooves the negotiators to see that this treaty, which in turn is to become, in due constitutional course, a supreme law of the land, shall not alter or amend existing law in this most important regard.

JOHN SHERMAN,
Department of State, Washington, June 15, 1897."

Against Japanese

Merchants the Anglo-Saxon dealers in Honolulu have had to compete in the sale of fine china and lacquer ware; until now we could not compare with them in the purchase of these lines, consequently the trade has been exclusively handled by Japanese merchants.

Some time ago we saw an opportunity to procure these goods at low prices and in exclusive designs, decorated especially for us, and we are enabled today to offer the finest grades of Japanese porcelain, tea, breakfast and after-dinner coffee cups in strictly European patterns. The price ranges from a quarter to a half what French ware is sold for.

Lacquered trays sell from 25 cents to 50 cents. Beautiful paper napkins 20 cents a hundred; never have been sold for less than double in any Japanese store. The finest made are sold by us at 35 cents a hundred. Assortment of stock in this invoice comprises after dinner cups and saucers, moustache cups, tete tete sets, chocolate cups, breakfast coffee cups and saucers, tea cups and saucers, bon bon sets, individual sugar and creamers, mush sets, cracker jars, rose jars, chocolate pots, tea caddies, bread and milk sets, odd plates, vases, tea pots, bread and butter plates, jugs of all sizes.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

Work Done at the Regular Session of Commissioners.

At the regular weekly session of the Commissioners of Education yesterday afternoon there were present the following: President Cooper, Mrs. Jordan, H. S. Townsend, J. F. Scott, Professor Alexander, W. A. Bowen, H. M. von Holt. Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

The commissions of Mrs. Jordan and Mr. von Holt having run out on June 24th, Minister Cooper telephoned to the Foreign Office to ask President Dole to reappoint them. As matters stood there was no quorum. Taking it for granted that the Commissioners would be reappointed, the meeting began.

President Cooper was of the opinion that the meetings of the Commissioners should be held once every fortnight during the hot weather. There was no murmur of complaint.

Inspector Townsend recommended some changes in the text books, now being used in the schools, indicating reasons for his recommendations.

Just at this point the telephone rang for President Cooper, who returned in a moment, saying that he was happy to announce the reappointment by the President of Mrs. Jordan and Mr. von Holt for a term of three years.

Mr. Bowen moved to ratify the changes made by the Inspector and to grant him power to arrange what changes he might see fit to make in the future. Carried.

The petition from the Honolulu teachers to retain Mr. J. F. Scott as Deputy Inspector of Schools was again presented. President Cooper said that the Commissioners felt just as kindly toward Mr. Scott as they. There was no conflict of opinion between the department and the teachers on this point.

It was moved and carried that the petition be answered and that the Commissioners express therein their utmost confidence in the integrity of Mr. Scott, at the same time expressing the fact that no sufficient reason for a change in the action of the Commissioners could be found.

The matter of application for renewal of certificates by some of the teachers was discussed. Mr. von Holt moved "that the teachers who have applied for a renewal of certificates, be notified that all under first-class and above 80 per cent, shall have their certificates extended until the first regular examination in their districts in 1898." Carried.

Mr. Bowen moved that all first-class certificates that have expired be extended for the period of one year. Carried.

Mr. Bowen then moved that those teachers possessing third-class certificates be instructed to take the examinations during the summer as opportunity may be offered in their districts.

President Cooper reported that he would recommend no exchange in school lots at Koloa, Kauai, he having learned that the lot now being occupied for school purposes did not belong to the Government.

The resignations of Miss Emma Smith, of Kaula, and David Taylor, of Maui, were accepted.

The Commissioners then considered certain matters in regard to the department and adjourned at about 5 p. m., subject to the call of the Minister.

2 Ways to Buy Clothes

One is to let some plausible advertiser pull you into his store, and then let a plausible salesman persuade you to buy—where you can't get your money again if you want it.

The other is to consider carefully: Which is the store to buy at? Which is the safe one? What is the difference? What makes safe?

YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT. NOTHING CAN TAKE THE PLACE OF THAT.

You'll probably be like the Savings bank depositor: If you can have your money, you won't want it; but, if you can't have it, you'll want it.

The reason is this: The store that gives you your money back, if you want it, keeps good clothes and takes pains in selling and fitting; the other keeps inferior clothes and don't care.

SATURDAY : : : JULY 3.

The political news from Washington is most decidedly favorable, so far as it relates to Hawaii. The treaty has been signed, as before stated, and is now in the hands of the Senate. As the present extra session of Congress was convened solely to pass a new tariff bill, it is not to be expected that any other important business would be taken up after that work has been accomplished. It was generally understood that the clause in the Dingley bill, which the Senate threw out would be restored by the conference committee, allowing sugars to enter free. This is more likely to be the course adopted, inasmuch as the annexation treaty is before the Senate, with every probability of being ratified immediately on the re-assembling of Congress in December next.

As it has been repeatedly stated that Secretary Sherman—head of the department of foreign relations in the United States government—is opposed to the annexation of Hawaii, it affords us pleasure to insert here the following explicit statement made by him to the representative of the Washington Star. "It is absolutely untrue that I am opposed to the annexation of Hawaii. I don't see how such a report originated, much less how it came to be circulated. My opinion on the general question of the annexation of territory by the United States is well known from speeches I have made at different times against such a policy, but I am convinced that it is highly proper to take steps for the annexation of Hawaii. You can say in the most positive terms that I am decidedly in favor of the annexation of Hawaii."

Tomorrow will be the third anniversary of the Independence of the Republic of Hawaii, and the 121st of the United States of America—a happy coincidence in the history of the child and parent, to whom Hawaii hopes to become united in a bond of perpetual union, before another return of their natal day. Some have doubted whether this union will be for the mutual benefit of both. But those who know the needs of the one and the ambition and resources of the other, can have no doubt that the advantages will be reciprocal. As in every change of government by revolution, those who have been active in its accomplishment, have invariably incurred the ill-will of opposing partisans. It has been so here. It was so in the early days of the American Republic. No man was ever more intensely hated and vilified by opposing partisans, during the early days of the American Republic, than George Washington, who now is the sainted "Father of his Country," whose memory receives the homage and applause of the whole world. Even the fifty-five men who dared to sign the Declaration of Independence—"men who knew their rights and dared to maintain them," did so at the risk of their lives, and were publicly renounced as traitors who ought to be shot. Every man whose name is now enrolled on that sacred document, knew that he committed treason against the King of England, when he signed his name. And when the liberty bell in Philadelphia announced with one hundred strokes that the deed was done, the whole body of signers of that memorable document rose and stood in silence, till old Ben Franklin, the Boston printer, spoke and said, "Now, gentlemen, we must all hang together, or we shall hang separately." And they hung together—a loyal band of patriot brothers. Those were days that tried men's souls. And we who enjoy the peace and security that we have, cannot cherish too highly these blessings. Then, as now, there were

"Men who their duties knew,
But knew their rights, and knowing,
Dared maintain."

It is pleasant to note that some of the most influential papers in the United States, which have heretofore been somewhat indifferent on the question of annexation of Hawaii, now view it in a different light, and warmly advocate the measure. Among the more prominent is the Washington Post, which states in a recent issue: "It is hardly necessary for The Post to say, that it fails the prospect with the utmost satisfaction. We have always advocated the annexation of Hawaii, believing that in the equation of our commercial expansion such a factor as Hawaii is supremely important if not actually indispensable. It seems to us that we could do nothing wiser in the way of trade development than secure possession of this key to all the great ocean pathways of the Pacific. To take possession of Hawaii is to control the pathways of commerce over two-thirds of the globe, to hold the focus of the steamship and telegraph lines of three great continents, to take toll of every mercantile enterprise between Calcutta and San Francisco, between Melbourne and Hong Kong. There is, besides, a military consideration of which we must not lose sight. With Hawaii as a basis of offensive and defensive operations we should be infinitely strengthened on our Pacific coast. We should be far better equipped than we now are for self-protection or attack. The value of the arrangement would be incalculable. We have no doubt that more than two-thirds of the members realize the importance of the projected annexation, that at the proper time they will declare themselves accordingly. The flag of the United States will soon float over the Hawaiian group. The new republic will become part of the old. Freedom, civilization, progress will set up another stronghold on their line of march. Aloha, Hawaii! Come out into the light!"

The climate of Honolulu, during the Summer months, is very changeable and threatening. Most every one in some way suffers from the radical changes—Sore Throat, Cold in the Head, Chest or Lungs, La Grippe, etc., are the common ailments which give cause for much suffering and inconvenience.

The number of remedies on the market intended to assist and cure such ailments reach upwards to a thousand in number, but in reality, as a positive specific for Coughs and Colds, there is but one. The Iolani has arrived and the kerosene trouble is a thing of the past. We can now smooth the wrinkles from our manly brows; at least we could if the weather were not so infernally hot, and we were not compelled to dodge the sun and our tailor at the same time.

We have, personally, given up all hope of successfully circumventing the latter, and our object in life just now is to draw the attention of suffering humanity to the benefits to be derived from the use of our Lawn Tents.

Imagine a huge umbrella fixed in the center of a round table and you have the idea exactly. It is just the thing for your lawn; easily put together, light, and at the same time strong and durable, and will shelter half a dozen persons comfortably.

Use one of them in conjunction with our cane-seated, folding Combination Chair and Lounge and you will never want to leave its friendly shade, even at meal times.

The display of fireworks in the bay this evening will be made from a scow anchored between the United States warships Philadelphia and Marion. It will probably be the grandest ever seen in the Islands. A large number of the pieces were made to order in Japan and are especially beautiful. More than half of the exhibit came from the United States, but the large pieces were made in Japan and selected for the committee by Hugh Gunn.

The fireworks will be set off immediately after the close of the water carnival. Following is a list of the pieces, furnished by J. A. Kennedy, chairman of the committee:

Five hundred night shells, from 9 to 24 feet in circumference, with 10 guns to fire them; 550 skyrockets, willow trees, parachutes, calliopes, telescope, 4 peacock plumes, etc.; 600 exhibition and electric spreader candles, from 10 to 20 balls; 200 pounds red and green fire; 12 colored Niagara wheels; 12 colored rosette wheels; 12 colored China flyers; 12 colored double triangle wheels; 12 colored 16 feet trumpet wheels; 12 extra large colored geyers; 12 whistling jacks; 1 fiery con-tortionist; 1 whistling fountain; 1 No. 3 special union fountain; 12 extra large revolving comets; 144 whistling bombs; 144 natural gas wells; 1 illuminated battery; 1 diamond star; 1 chapel of roses; 1 silver glory; 1 Chinese fan; 1 gallopade; 1 polka battery; 1 monitor battery; 1 flowering aloe; 1 shower of pearls; 1 Azetec fountain; 1 Pyric cascade; 1 illuminated star wheel; 1 Mexican jet; 1 sparkling caprice; 1 Egyptian cyclist; 1 phantom circle; 10 large star mines; 6 large bomb-shell mines; 1 large set piece, Mosaic; 1 large set piece, Niagara Falls; 1 large set piece, American flag; 1 large set piece, Hawaiian flag; 1 large set piece, Fourth of July; 1 good night—making a total of 2,276 pieces.

MANOA WATER PIPE.

Main to Be Extended From Wilder Avenue.

The fact that Superintendent of Water-works Brown is laying a water pipe on Manoa Valley road, north from Wilder avenue, has given rise to the rumor that it is especially for the benefit of Minister Cooper, who has property above Montana's.

This is denied by Superintendent Brown. He states that it is done at the request of several property-owners, including Paul Neumann and F. M. Swanzy; that the petition has been in his office for four years, and it is only now through the kindness in Mr. Rowell in letting him have 2,000 feet of pipe that he is able to grant the request. While there are only two or three residences on the line, other property owners along the line require the water for irrigation.

The pipe will not be extended from Montana's to Minister Cooper's property at present, or at least until more pipe is provided.

Installation of Officers.

The recently elected officers of Court Lunallilo (6,600), A. O. F., were duly installed at the regular meeting of the Court last evening. They were as follows:

Financial Secretary—J. M. Kea.
S. W.—O. Graeff.
J. W.—N. W. Brundage.
S. B.—O. C. Whitehead.
J. B.—N. L. Perry.

At the close of the ceremonies, refreshments were served in the ante-room. All toasts being duly honored, singing, speech-making and a general good time followed.

Today's Base Ball Game.

Today's game of baseball will be between the St. Louis and Regiment teams, and from all accounts, an interesting contest may be looked for. Following are the teams that have been chosen to swing the bats:

St. Louis—David Dayton, catcher; Lemon, pitcher; Willis, first base; Thompson, second base; Clark, third base; Gleason, shortstop; Atwell, right field; Simerson, center field; Christ Holt, left field.

Historical Society.

Interesting Paper and Sketches
By Late Warren
Goodale.

At a meeting of the Historical Society in the lecture hall of the Y. M. C. A. last night, there were present some 50 of the members. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

M. Louis Vossion, French Commissioner; United States Minister Sewall and Messrs. W. W. Goodale, of Onomea, and Searle, of Kau, were unanimously elected to active membership in the society.

The first paper of the evening was an uncompleted paper by the late Warren Goodale on facts in relation to Honolulu in the early days. There were ranged along on the front of the stage six large lithograph pictures, each being a large view of the city, surrounded by a number of small views of houses and other interesting things.

Mr. Frank Damon was given the paper to read. In this, the late Warren Goodale first dwelt upon the pictures, which he had sent back to the States, knowing how much value they would be to the Historical Society. They were done by Paul Emmet, an artist, who came to Honolulu during the early '50s to make a number of sketches. These had been drawn on stone by the artist, Burgess, and lithographed in San Francisco.

The writer deemed it strange that the artist had failed to make any sketches of places east of Punchbowl street, undoubtedly one of the most interesting spots, historically, that Hawaii has ever possessed.

After this introduction came a summary of events between the years 1847-67, which the writer claimed he knew as much about as any one who had lived in Honolulu at the time, denying, of course, any egotism. In this part of the paper the various offices the writer held under the Government were mentioned. Very interesting was the description of the high-handed action of the French troops from a man-of-war in port. The destruction of the Governor's home and the fort were graphically described.

In the very midst of the paper, the narrative stops—a stop caused by the death of the writer, who was preparing the paper at the time.

The society voted that the paper be published in the next report. The next and last paper of the evening was one written and read by Professor Alexander—a summary of the events that led to the serious consideration of the Treaty of Annexation to the United States in 1854. The great number of valuable facts presented and the logical arrangement of the same, showed stupendous work and careful preparation. The materials were collected in 1889, and the paper was practically finished four years ago. Since that time more facts had been collected.

In considering the causes which led to the application of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States for annexation, it was first necessary to go back a few years.

The matter was first considered in 1851, when trouble occurred with France. The King and Privy Council searched about for some means of protection from what promised to be a great menace and found annexation the only open road. The Government of the Islands had previously made application to the British Minister, but had been refused, the relations with France making it impossible; at that time the attitude of the French was decidedly obnoxious. Later on, both houses supported the action, the King and the Privy Council had taken in the matter of annexation.

Under the head of filibusters, Professor Alexander mentioned the fact that the Government was very much troubled by reports of filibustering expeditions from California. One did actually come to Honolulu, but the members were given a cold reception and left.

Professor Alexander then traced the growth of sentiment in favor of annexation, emphasizing the King's anxiety to be joined to the United States on account of troubles that threatened every moment to descend.

Alexander Liholiho, the heir apparent, was opposed to the Annexation Treaty. The mass of native population had not been consulted in the matter, and were, of course, totally ignorant on the subject.

In February of 1854 the annexation matter took more definite shape, and active steps were taken. July 4th was celebrated with great enthusiasm. Later on, a fleet of French and English men-of-war, on the way to besiege a Russian port, arrived at Honolulu, and the King was threatened to pursue the annexation scheme no longer, under pain of some action on the part of France and England.

In December of 1854 the King died, and Alexander Liholiho ascended the throne. All negotiations for annexation were broken off by his order.

Professor Alexander then read two editorials—one from the New York Tribune and the other from the Herald—both dealing with the annexation question in those early days.

Professor Alexander's paper was ordered printed in the next report, and the society adjourned.

COUNCIL OF STATE.Sentences Commuted and Pardons Granted.

At the meeting of the Council of State, held yesterday afternoon, but four cases were presented for consideration. The most important concerned two Hawaiian—Keola and Eolukuewa—convicted of being concerned in a brutal murder on Lanai in 1892, and sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment each. One of them is now a trusty in the station house, and the other is driver for Jailer Low. Their sentences were commuted to 10 years each.

Hihio, convicted of malicious burning on Hawaii, and S. W. Kelua, convicted of forgery, were granted free pardons.

The Literary Committee of the Fourth of July celebration has issued invitations to the President and Cabinet, officers of the Diplomatic and Consular Corps and officers of the warships to attend the literary exercises at the Opera House on July 5th at 11:30 a. m.
