A PROTECTORATE.

Within the past few days rumors that had prevailed for some months, regarding an intrigue to put this kingdom under the protectorate of the United States, have become very positive. It is current talk about town that the Cabinet had a protectorate treaty under consideration in council on Tuesday, and that Hon. H. A. P. Carter will bear such a document away with him, on his return to Washington by this week's steamer. These reports have, as part of their effects, caused a determination on the part of some prominent native Hawaiians to call a mass meeting for the purpose of protesting against the measure. It certainly would be rushing things with a vengeance for the present Cabinet to become party to any such a betrayal of the independence of the country. The original Reform Cabinet of 1887 was sustained at the polls on a platform distinctly asserting a policy of maintaining the national autonomy of the Hawaiian Islands. Since then there have been changes of two Ministers in the Cabinet, yet the Ministry as a whole is bound by the principles enunciated and upheld by the Reform Party two years ago. It has long been conceded by people of different nationalities, and even by the press of England, that if the time came when foreign annexation of these Islands was inevitable, the United States had the strongest claim among the Powers for their acquisition. This view the BULLETIN has time and again adopted. And, if it was now a choice between an annual revolution in the Government and an American protectorate, we should vote for the latter. But we cannot concede that such a crisis has been reached, notwithstanding the late uprising. We believe that if the natives are approached in right spirit by either the Government or a combination of representative foreigners, they will not demand unreasonable concessions to their feelings as the price of mutual confidence. This protectorate scheme if there was anything in it would really, as a correspondent warmly suggests, have the appearance of a cowardly sacrifice of Hawaiian nationality to save a selfish oligarchy determined to rule or ruin. In any case out and out annexation would be preferable to a protectorate. The former would give the people the free and untrammelled suffrage of American citizens, while the latter would mean government by nominees of domestic oligarchs under the protection of foreign guns.

We are happy to be in a position, however, to quiet all public apprehensions concerning the matter in question. The BULLETIN reporter having directly questioned His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs upon the subject, was informed by that gentleman that the Ministry were a unit in opposition to annexation, a protectorate, or anything that would impair Hawaiian independence. Mr. Austin added that the Ministry were only desirous of promoting increased intimacy of commercial relations with the United States. His Excellency also volunteered the assurance that in all their recent councils, the intercourse between His Majesty and the Ministers has been most cordial and harmonious.

A RESIGNED POLICEMAN.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—I crave a little of your space to explain my withdrawal from the Police force. About six weeks since I was commissioned as one of the mounted police. My beat was Waikiki and vicinity. While on duty Saturday night last I became acquainted with circumstances which I felt should be communicated to the Marshal, in compliance with section 20 of Police Regulations. Accordingly I called at his office Sunday. He was out. In the evening, failing to find Capt. Larsen, I made my report to his lieutenant. Just then the Marshal arrived and the lieutenant followed him into his office. Shortly after, having occasion to speak with the lieutenant, I also went in. As I was leaving the Marshal requested me to remain. While he was questioning me concerning my report Mr. Larsen came in and asked me with great heat what I was doing there and wanted me to distinctly understand that he was captain of that watch and if I had any report to render I should make it to him. I eliminate from the above synopsis of his request the profanity which embellished it.

Now, I fail to understand how I could report to a man whom I could not find. The section above alluded to requires an officer to report to the Marshal or his deputy. It does not invest Mr. Larsen with the importance he attaches to himself. Nevertheless it was my intention to report to him.

In consequence of Mr. Larsen's overbearing insolence I tendered my resignation. I was urged by the Marshal to retain my commission for the present, but one night's reflection convinced me I could not endure the degradation of serving under or in company with such a man as Larsen. What lack of dignity and decency is essential to a police captain in Honolulu, I know not, but I doubt not Mr. Larsen possesses it in quantities to suit.

With this statement I leave the public to judge the merits of the case. My reputation did not originate with the Police Department, nor will it suffer in fairly disposed minds by a severance due to Mr. L.'s capricious and domineering humors. M. E. SPINNEY.

RUMORED PROTECTORATE.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Rumors have been afloat for some time to the effect that Hon. H. A. P. Carter was negotiating some agreement with the Hawaiian Government and the United States which would give that Government virtual political control of the Islands. These rumors have up to yesterday been little heeded, but they are now coming in so definite and from such sources as to compel an incredulous public to believe after all that our constitutional representative government may be secretly practising the methods of the time-honored clique rule and preparing a surprise for the people in which they are not to be consulted until everything is accomplished. The most definite reports indicate that the proposition in question amounts to this, i. e., that the U. S. Government may through its navy land and quell any disturbance that may arise among the people.

If this is true, which let us still hope it is not, it means that our Government is encroaching its right against its own citizens, a thing quite likely to happen in an arbitrary Government, but which is quite a novelty from what is supposed to be a representative Government.

We believe that the Ministry would honestly repudiate the idea that they were encroaching themselves against their white subjects as well as other races, but the men who would gladly get the Ministry into this trap we do not believe can honestly say the same. Those who are running the plantations on the present rule or ruin policy don't like the white man of this town. He is the last obstacle in the way of the submission of the country by cheap servile labor, and by getting the U. S. to hold the natives and whites down while the leaders of the cheap labor party are accomplishing their designs, the last motive for hesitation or scruples on their part will be gone.

Such a move does not and cannot mean annexation. Planters really do not want annexation, for it would destroy the cheap labor scheme, and with free sugar, which is bound to come in the United States, it means little financial benefit to them. Besides the United States will not have us. It simply means that the United States is to do the dirty work for a clique ashore—a thing Uncle Sam will never do, if he sees what it really amounts to.

Such a move on the part of our Government should make every man in the Rides throw down his arms. Such a move means that the last solid hold that this town has upon the consideration of sugar corporations through the physical force it can wield will be snapped and they can literally say they have no use whatever for a class of whites in the country whose interests are incompatible with unbridled cheap labor. This ministry is professedly friendly to the preservation of the whites in this town. It is professedly committed to the preservation intact of Hawaiian independence, and to let Mr. Carter go away next Friday with documents in his pocket that will allow his clique here to work their will upon us behind foreign guns, is too stupid and blind an act, we trust, for the Government to have committed.

Mr. Carter left a black Friday to this country as a heritage once before. He gave the planters thousands of coolies and through the haste in which he brought them in gave the natives the smallpox and three hundred graves upon the sand spit across the harbor. He gave the King a palace and a heritage of mischievous ideas and himself a foreign mission, leaving in time to watch the clouds roll by from the safe distance of an easy chair in Washington.

Don't let an honest but too credulous Ministry shoulder any more schemes against popular rights in Mr. Carter's behalf. If he has anything to advocate let him and the Cabinet do it openly before the people, and by all that is good let us rule ourselves or else go the full length and pass over the fee simple to some other power. To let a clique through money and overweening power run laws through a servile legislature that are ruin and death to others, and then hold us down through alien force is revolting and traitorous.

Let us hope that it is all an ugly nightmare and that the Ministry contemplate nothing of the kind. Nemo.

A NAVAL EVENT.

The United States war ship Iroquois sails for Honolulu to-morrow. She will sail at 8 o'clock and may therefore be expected to get outside the heads about dark. The Iroquois is a noble craft. She can make about 7 knots with the tide. She used to make 11 knots. But they sent her up to Mare Island and spent $100,000 on her, and now she makes seven. She will be commanded by Commander Joshua Bishop, to whom the Report extends its sincere condolences. All her officers were busy to-day bidding a long farewell to their friends, cutting off locks of their hair, and making their wills. Quite a procession of them was going into the Safe Deposit this afternoon, to leave their trinkets, jewelry, souvenirs and, in fact, such articles as they wanted their families or friends to have by and by. Numerous elegant floral tributes have been sent on board by their acquaintances—"Gone But Not Forgotten," "At Rest," Gates Ajar, Broken Wheels, cylinder heads, shafts and things, hammocks, with a shot, in black, immortelles, sewn in at the foot, and so forth. Families having unruly boys whom they do not want to see again for a few years—if ever—are invited to send them aboard this afternoon. The crew of the Iroquois consists, all told, of 175 men. They are objects of intense interest along the city front to-day. It will be a big thing for a man to be able to say that he sailed out of San Francisco on the Iroquois and reached his destination, far more than that he got back again. A voyage on the Iroquois to Honolulu—pre-mising of course that the Iroquois ever get to Honolulu—will of itself be a liberal naval education. What the voyager will not know about ocean currents in the Pacific will not be worth knowing; and if there be any unknown rock, islet or reef, away from the usual lines of navigation and entirely out of the path of commerce, so to speak, the Iroquois will find it. Altogether it is probable that the voyage of the Iroquois will be a great event in the naval annals of the United States. Instead of saying such and such a thing happened "since the war" or "before the war," or "in the year of the great wind," people will say it was before the Iroquois sailed or just after she was last heard of, etc. If they don't live long any other way, the men of the Iroquois may rest assured of living long in history. That ought to be some consolation to them, and we wish we had better to offer them. But we haven't.—[San Francisco Report, Sept. 13.]

One of the latest additions to American literature is entitled "The Life and Battles of Jake Kilrain." As its author, R. K. Fox, has already established a solid reputation as a biographer by his popular work on the early Christian martyrs, we have no hesitation in predicting that his latest effort will be a go.

PARTING ALOHA.

The Retired American Minister and His Lady.

Mr. Geo. W. Merrill, appointed by President Cleveland as United States Minister Resident near His Majesty's Court, arrived here with Mrs. Merrill on June 8, 1885. He had therefore occupied that important position four years and a quarter when relieved the other day by Mr. John L. Stevens, the nominee of President Harrison. Mr. Merrill has had the honor as well as the great pleasure of leading his countrymen in the fitting celebration of five anniversaries of the Independence of the United States. It is stating the case very mildly to say that this, one of the grandest holidays in the Hawaiian calendar, has suffered no diminution in enthusiasm or effectiveness of celebration under his guidance. The writer's career in the land being little longer than that of the retired Minister Resident, any comparison of these five "Fourth's" with those preceding would here not be entitled to much weight. But there is no hesitation in bearing emphatic testimony to the fact that from the first day of their occupancy, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill have brought the American Legation into increasing popularity by means of their very successful receptions on the national holidays. By the unstrained cordiality of their welcome, their impartial attentions to visitors of all nationalities and ranks, and their very generous hospitality, they won as host and hostess universal admiration and esteem.

Mr. Merrill as representative of his Government earned the most unqualified approbation of the President and Cabinet Ministers, particularly that of the Secretary of State whose office he had most to do. His promptness, accuracy and judgment in the dispatches transmitted by him upon Hawaiian, Pacific, and international affairs were again and again acknowledged in terms devoid of the usual official formality. These return despatches from Washington are replete with cordial expressions of the Government's appreciation of the thoroughness of the Minister Resident's reports, and the comprehensiveness and value of his observations upon matters within his official view. During his whole term he has not had to read a single line of disapproval of his action in any matter, which, considering the critical junctures in Hawaii that he has been brought into relation with, is a record of which any diplomatist might be proud. When in the troubles of 1887 Mr. Merrill had to shape his own course, owing to the impossibility of communicating in time with his Government, his report to the Department of State was acknowledged as having "anticipated the instructions" he would have received. He was especially commended on that occasion for having avoided the necessity of calling in foreign aid, which would have endangered the independence of this country. Mr. Merrill received special approval of his action in promoting the renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty.

Not only under President Cleveland's administration, to which he owed his position, has the late Minister Resident received expressions of confidence from Washington. His views recommending certain amendments in the Extradition Treaty have been acknowledged by Secretary Blaine as having been "much appreciated." He has been assured of the approval of President Harrison of the tenor of a despatch communicated by him on Samoan affairs. Secretary Blaine's letter of recall evinces an appreciation of Mr. Merrill's services to his country, which, coming from the head of the opposite party to his own, is a telling tribute to his career and shows that nothing but the political methods prevailing in the Union dictated his removal. The Secretary of State, after announcing the appointment of Mr. Stevens, says he is "further instructed to say that this decision in no wise detracts from the high opinion which has been formed of your intelligence, and zeal in the discharge of the duties of your station." The letter concludes with a courteous request that Mr. Merrill should remain at his post until his successor arrived, and with assurances of Mr. Blaine's personal regard.

The late mistress of the Legation has not only in that capacity won the reputation of a most amiable hostess, but, by her cheerfulness, modesty, and ladylike qualities of all kinds, she has endeared herself to Honolulu society. Mrs. Merrill naturally fell into the heartfelt regards of Her Majesty, who esteemed her as a sincere friend. During the present week the Queen sent her a large photograph of herself, to which her autograph is attached, accompanied with the following note:

"Iolani Palace, Sept. 13, 1889."
"Mrs. Geo. W. Merrill:
"Dear Madam,—You will be kind enough to accept this picture of myself as a small token of remembrance of our very cordial and pleasant acquaintance while here among us. Hoping God will bless you on your way to your native country, I remain,
"Your true friend,
"KAPIOLANI."

The BULLETIN would sincerely tender its parting aloha to the ex-Minister Resident and his consort, upon the eve of their return to their own great country, whose interests diplomatic and social they have so well maintained during their sojourn in this island kingdom. We hope that the enjoyment their society has afforded the community has proved to be mutual, so that they will carry away pleasant reminiscences of their residence. ALOHA NUI!

New Free Tontine Policy

OF THE
Equitable Life Assurance Society
OF THE UNITED STATES

A SIMPLE PROMISE TO PAY.

[From the NEW YORK TIMES, June 22, 1889.]

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has adopted a new form of policy which, like a bank draft, is a simple promise to pay without conditions on the back.

[From the CHICAGO INVESTIGATOR.]

Always on the alert, and ever anxious to give the public the most advantageous contract in life insurance, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York has, in the past, made many advances on old methods, and has been the means to liberalize life insurance in a greater degree, perhaps, than any other organization. It is not at all surprising, therefore, that this great company now comes before the people with a new contract, the like of which has not before been known in life insurance.

[From the KENTUCKY REGISTER, Richmond, Ky., June 28, 1889.]

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has, in the past, done more to create and maintain confidence in life insurance than any other company. Consequently its business is larger than that of any of its competitors. Furthermore, it has now taken a step which practically sweeps every objection of the character referred to out of the way. The result, undoubtedly, will be that thousands of men who have heretofore lacked confidence in life insurance, will examine the new policy offered by the Equitable, and assure their lives forthwith.

[From the BOSTON POST.]

This company has done more than any other to simplify the assurance contract, and to maintain public confidence in life insurance.

[From the PACIFIC UNDERWRITER, San Francisco, July 1, 1889.]

The Equitable has already established a world-wide reputation for liberal dealings with its policy-holders and for its prompt settlement of all legitimate claims against it, and this new policy cannot fail to enhance its reputation for enterprise and progressiveness in dealing with the subject of life insurance.
