Wilkie's Starting Point.

A story which shows the great effect which an apparently trifling thing will sometimes have upon a person's after life.

One day, when Sir John Sinclair was dining in company with Mr. Wilkie, the artist was asked if any particular circumstances had led him to adopt his profession.

"Had your father, mother or any of your relations a turn for painting?" inquired Sir John. "Or what led you to follow that art?"

"The truth is, Sir John," replied Mr.
Wilkie, "you made me a painter."

"I?" exclaimed the baronet. "Why, I never had the pleasure of meeting you before."

"No," responded the painter, with a smile, "but when you were drawing up the statistical account of Scotland my father, who was a clergyman in Fife, had a good deal of correspondence with you concerning his parish, and in the course of it you sent him a colored drawing of a soldier in the uniform of your Highland Fencible regiment."

"I was so delighted with this picture that I was constantly drawing and trying to color copies of it, and it was in this way, to the best of my belief, that my transformation into a painter was gradually effected."—Youth's Companion.

A Remarkable Experience.

Alexander Devine, in the Manchester City News, tells the following remarkable anecdote of the late Sir Harry Verney:
One of his famous exploits was his riding across Argentina. One day his attention was drawn to a figure lying on the roadside some miles from Santiago under the shelter of a rude hut of leaves and branches. Pulling up, he discovered a priest, who turned out to be in a high condition of fever. Verney obtained assistance, had the prostrate man carried to his own rooms and practically nursed him into convalescence and eventual recovery. After some months of friendly intercourse and companionship the two separated and probably never thought to meet again. Many years passed, so many that the majority of men had lived their lives and died, but the two who had met under such striking circumstances still lived, the one Sir Harry Verney, the other no less a person than Pope Pius, pope of Rome!

Found in a Fox's Cope.

I have in my possession a rather curious collection of articles found in the cope of a black Spanish fox, which was sent to me for examination. I found it contained two common pins, three small screw nails, three small brass nails, seven brass buttons, one gentleman's overcoat button, two pieces of lead, two small pieces of lead, one small bone, one shoe sole, 42 pieces of glass (bottle glass and glass beads), one piece of coal, 10 white chunky stones and 11 Indian corn pickles.

INDICESTION

And Liver Complaint
CURED BY USING
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Mr. T. J. CLUNE, of Wallingford, S. Australia, writes:

"Six years ago, I had an attack of Indigestion and Liver Complaint that lasted for weeks; I was unable to do any hard work, had no appetite, food distressed me, and I suffered much from headache. My skin was sallow and sleep did not refresh me. I tried several remedies and consulted a doctor, without obtaining any relief. Finally, one of my customers recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It helped me from the first,—in fact, after taking six bottles I was completely cured, and could eat anything and sleep like a child."

A CHARACTER.

There is something unctiously funny in everything about the Warrior Biplane. In the first place his name is an assumed one. Equally counterfeit is his whole demeanor. He is the butt of all ridicule. At the same time his proclivities as an agitator make him a danger. He is a shrewd, pretentious, affected old chap and is an actor from the ground up. Biplane's public career is limited to service as a cabman and a pavement and fish market statesman. He makes tremendous claims to patriotism. With the artificial removed he stands a wicked, designing old fraud and falsifier.

Biplane's entire war story is too long and incoherent and disconnected for publication. Some of it however must be preserved in the interest of sociology. Said he: "I was made Captain at the house and everybody had to do just what I said. When I first came a gun was pointed at my stomach. I said Biplane was the only assword I knew. It was all right. I went up to the line and asked them to show me the enemy. They said watch till you see a puff of smoke, that is the enemy. I fired at a puff and think I hit the wind. I shot two times more and went to sleep. They called me to go to Moiliili to fight. I found Sam Nowlein asleep and woke him up. He said, 'Oh, you have come, have you?' I said, 'Yes; what is the range?' They told me 800 yards and I fired till a shell came. I picked up a piece of shell and it was hot. Then I retreated to Waialae. I took along a can of milk, for fear I would get hungry. I did all this for love of country and I want tell of it myself."

All the witnesses say that Biplane was racing for the rear most of the time.

CHANCE FOR CHARITY.

Payment at a stated rate will be made to all men who served the Government during the uprising. This is one of the rules of the biennial rebellions which have been fostered by the miserable policy of conciliation. This policy, THE STAR is happy to state has been abandoned. Hence further insubordinate movements are unlikely.

In settlement of pay rolls treasury warrants will be handed to a good many men who do not care for the money. No person can refuse payment for his duty. The only way to give the Government the benefit is to make a direct return donation. In 1893 it was to some degree the style to present the emergency salary to a charity. This course will doubtless be followed now by a greater number than before. Most of the relief funds of the various nationalities need money. We know the treasury of the American Committee is about empty. The strong boxes of the British and German Societies are not overflowing.

It is hoped that about all the money liquidating pay rolls will go to charity. For the national relief funds to figure as preferred beneficiaries would be quite the thing.

AGAIN THE STAR feels impelled to sound the warning that it will not do to go beyond the law.

LEGENDS of Sleepy Hollow are recalled by tales of the rebels. When firing ceased, they went to sleep. When hostilities were resumed, they took naps. Before and after retreats or advances, they sought slumber. Sleep should have been kept on tap in General Nowlein's commissary department.

BEING the only home journal having a grasp of the situation or commenting upon affairs with force, THE STAR quite naturally meets with opposition. It is a further compliment that this paper's course is condemned by these two certain classes: Attorneys and immediate friends of rebels. Weak-kneed devotees of the exploded policy of conciliation.

AN HOUR ON THE REEF.

ACCOUNT OF A REPORTER'S VISIT TO OLD OAHU PRISON.

Persons on Well Known Citizens Now Behind the Bars—How They Look.

An hour "on the reef" Thursday morning was an interesting experience for a STAR representative. He made the visit by courtesy of the authorities and the paper is extremely obliged for the favor.

The average citizen visiting any of the regular or overflow reasons these days could not help being surprised at the number of his acquaintances under restraint. Some men who are pretty prominent in ordinary times are now behind the bars.

Approaching Oahu prison a person is struck by the gathering of men and children outside. There are a couple of hundred of them lying about on the grass. They wish to see relatives on the inside. Hacks are constantly going to and from the place with the forbidding high walls. These carry messages or meals. Officers come and go with prisoners. Attorneys, friends, wives, daughters children, pass and repass. It is busy about Oahu Prison (1857) in these piping times.

"We have 276 this evening," said Mr. Law. And by the way, this same "Jim" Low has proven himself the right man in the right place. He is rendering superb service. Mr. Low sleeps scarcely at all. His labors have been about trebled and responsibility increased a hundred-fold.

There were at one time 304 prisoners "on the reef." This is the greatest number the place has ever held. Mr. Low stands in the big hallway near the mauka entrance and from that point issues orders. There are dozens of men in the front part of the main building innocent of knowledge of friends who reach the big yard from cells in the rear. One half of the prison doesn't know the other half exists. About fifty prisoners are bathed fed or exercised at one time.

John Walker, Fred Harrison, Nick Peterson and A. M. Hewett were on the little lawn in front of the main building. Walker and Harrison had just left the hands of Roach, the official barber. They looked well and were sitting down to good meals from up town. Harrison inquired about Cunha's Republic block and remarked incidentally that he was done with politics forever.

John Walker said he had expected to be arrested on account of having business relations with Captain Davis. Both these men are buoyant.

Nick Peterson, a 290 hackman, is down in the mouth. He declares he has not been conspiring and wants very much to get out and resume business. Jim Brown, another cabman, is about the same.

A. M. Hewett denies that he asked Diamond Head Charlie to ignore approach of the Waimanalo. Hewett took up the Christmas collection for the signal station man. This prisoner says his family of a wife and five children on Young street, is in want.

George Lycurgus was getting a "scrape." He wants to get out, dispose of his business and leave the country. George fell down a stairway and dislocated his right shoulder. He carries the arm in a sling.

In the prison swearing room W. R. Castle and A. G. M. Robertson were taking statements from prisoners of war. Every mother's son questioned said he was "false pretenced" into the rebellion.

Edmund Norrie, barefooted, with a look under an arm, was walking in the big yard. He does not look well. A. P. Peterson does look well he was walking about barefooted.

C. W. Ashford had left the hospital in the morning and was in a cell. V. V. Ashford, quite pale and haggard, sat on the lanai of the hospital. He is an invalid.

Henry Von Werthern, growing a beard, "looks like the devil," sure enough. He is rather serious. Harry Iuen is more pleasant than the writer ever saw him before. He is not a bit unhappy and is healthy.

Louis J. Levey feels his imprisonment keenly and seems to have aged. He was in a fresh white suit.

Carl Klemme was in a cell. Friends were looking after his welfare. Big long Johnson, always supposed to be a detective, is almost consumed with a fit of disgust.

Ted Thomas has had to share his honors as a song bird with Fred Harrison. Says Ted, "There will be more of Thomas go out of here than came in. I've gained ten pounds." Ted had a big folding slate and said he was studying algebra.

John E. Bush was reading the bible. Cranston is a constant joker. He wanted to know if some job work of his at THE STAR was ready for delivery.

Captain McDowell doesn't like it at all. He says some one has been conspiring against him. Tom Rawlins is confident that he will soon be at large again. Pete Camarinos refuses to be comforted.

All the men speak of the good treatment of Jailer Low. The prisoners have everything they wish except newspapers and liberty. They were most anxious to learn what was going on up town.

A place to spend a few quiet hours is the Hanalei Baths. Walkie's is the door.

Timely Topics.

January 22, 1895.

The fact that President Cleveland has endorsed the application of the English syndicate for the lease of Necker Island for cable purposes must be a surprise to people here who thought the United States would oppose British interests in Hawaii. Still greater encouragement comes from Congress in the speech of Mr. Hitt who advises a subsidy. It is strange with the advancement Hawaii has made in the last twenty years that sufficient interest has not been aroused in the United States to have built a cable long ago. The commercial interests demand it and events during the past few years show that it would have been better for the two governments if it had been in operation. Today we are about as isolated as a civilized community can be and it is really pleasing to see the people of England awakening to the importance of a means of rapid communication between the two continents.

We could fill this column with testimonials as to the superiority of the Pasteur filter which we are now selling. All or nearly all of the prominent physicians from Maine to California say it is the best they have ever examined and druggists over the same territory endorse it and are using it in preference to distilled water. In San Francisco the saloons use the Pasteur because it purifies the water and prevents any bad effect in the whiskey. Where this filter is used bacteria is unknown. Dr. Samuel Ayres of Kansas City, says: "Upon analysing a sample of Missouri river water drawn from a hydrant he found large quantities of inorganic matter in solution or suspension. While a specimen that had passed through a Pasteur filter was entirely free from organic or inorganic matter." Any one who has crossed the continent knows what the water of the Missouri River is.

A Honolulu physician says he mixed muddy water, oil and milk together and had it pass through a "Pasteur." The water came out entirely pure and free from unpleasant effects. The doctor says it is the most efficient filter he has ever seen. We have made a closer inspection of our little sets of carvers' tools and find really more in them to recommend than we thought at first glance. It is astonishing how such apparently perfect tools for the purpose can be made for the money. The same may be said of the family tool chests—perfection in every detail and the price down at bed rock.

New Brickmaking Machine.

A new brick making machine is to be used among the recent mechanical novelties. It is a simple contrivance, consisting of a table covered with iron brick molds, to which an electric current is applied, the table being 8 by 14 feet, and holding 1,000 molds, joined together like pigeon holes. Each mold is the size of a brick which has been pressed hot from below, and each has a cover so fitted as to follow the brick as it shrinks. The bricks are taken from the presses and placed in the molds, the cover adjusted and the current turned on. The iron sides of the molds form the "resistance," and the bricks are virtually inclosed by walls of fire. The bricks having shrunk to the proper size, the sinking covers of the molds automatically turn off the current, the baking is done, and the bricks are dumped—New York Squ.

NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER.

Patented under the laws of the Hawaiian Republic.

One of these Shredders has recently been installed at the mill of the Paahau Plantation Company, Hamakua, Hawaii, and Mr. Andrew Moore, the manager, writes concerning it:

PAHAU PLANTATION CO.,
HAMAKUA, JAN. 10, 1895.

WM. G. IRWIN & CO., LTD.,
HONOLULU: GENTLEMEN—The mill has been running during the past two weeks, with the National Cane Shredder lately installed, giving the most satisfactory results.

Our mill consists of three sets of two rollers, 32 in. dia. by 72 in. long, the shredder discs being 5 1/2 in. long, driven by an automatic engine 11 in. dia. cylinder 12 1/4 in. stroke.

The cotton cane being milled is as hard as it is possible for cane to be, having been subjected to a severe drought during the whole period of its growth, and growing on land with a trade wind exposure. Our experience with the Shredder, particularly with the shredder, proves it to be just what our mills required, the shredded cane being better prepared to have the juice extracted than formerly after passing through the first mill. The first mill is now allowed to open 9-10 in. instead of 5 in. as formerly, so that the trash now leaves the first mill, better ground, than it formerly did the second, and this without the old time grinding, choking, and straining of the machinery.

Behind the first and second mills we apply hot water, the quantity for the past 12 days, as per statement attached, has averaged 35 per cent. on the total juice from the cane. The trash from the last mill is cut up much finer than before the Shredder was applied, much of it resembling saw dust, it contains as per statement 35 per cent. of moisture and makes good fuel, the juice from the last mill stands 5 degrees Brix, so that the moisture in the trash is of 5 per cent. sugar solution. The rollers make steam much easier than before, now care has to be taken to keep them from blowing off, whereas before great care was necessary to keep the steam from going too low when the fan was on.

By the use of the Shredder we have disposed of six men, formerly necessary to distribute the cane on the carrier, feed the first mill, and throw back the long pieces. The Shredder Machinery is a good substantial job, and should cause little or no trouble, as it is subjected to but light strains. You will see that by applying the Shredder, our work in all departments has been very materially improved—obtaining a better extraction at less expense than formerly. The great improvement in our steam, causes much satisfaction to those engaged in the Mill.

Yours Respectfully,
A. MOORE.

LOT, PATRIOT

THE BIGGEST LANE BOY TELLS WHY HE FOUGHT.

WENT INTO THE REBELLION WITH EYES OPEN—INVITED FRIENDS.

Tom Pool recounts how he was made a Captain.

THE QUARREL IN THE FIRST SQUAD FOR THE HONOR OF THE LEADERSHIP.

Two battles are now before the Court Martial—One Set of An Even Dozen and Another of the Outcry Thirty.

A BIG GANG.

Captain Paul Smith brought twenty-five prisoners and thirteen witnesses before the military commission this morning. At 10 o'clock the routine work of the court began, with ten of the prisoners in the dock. Paul Neumann filed his written protest to the court. Overruled.

FURTHER DEFENSE.

Robert Palau was called by the defense to make a statement. He said: Left my house on 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Near Kaalawai was halted by guard. Was told to advance. Saw parties were armed and I was surrounded. Was taken to house and asked why I came. Said I was invited there to attend a meeting. The people in the house, who were armed, ordered me to put on a cartridge belt and pick out a rifle. I said I did not come there for that purpose, but when ordered again put on the belt and took the gun.

Did no fighting; did not fire my gun up to the time I left. I went up to Moanalua and remained there. Before the commencement of the uprising I told no one to go. They asked me: 'What is the matter?'—'What are we waiting for?' I told them to go and see.

ANOTHER STORY.

Iola was the next witness. He said he went to Kaalawai Sunday afternoon alone. Quite a number of people were there. I went there at the invitation of Palau, who said there would be a meeting there. Found people there were armed. Lot Lane and Biplikane and others were there. Was ordered to take a gun. Took a gun and a number of us were ordered by Wilcox to go to Bertelmann's. Were led by Pua, a son of Pua at Palama. While going to Bertelmann's, Charles Bartow and Pua got into a dispute as to who was commander of the squad. They drew their revolvers on each other and had to be separated. Soon somebody came to fire and shortly the fight became general. Shortly Wilcox came. Wilcox ordered witness to assemble the men so that he could find out who did the firing. Later on met Wilcox on the top of Diamond Head. After that I followed Wilcox all around and surrendered with him at the last. Ten o'clock as far as Kalili together. They were fired at and scattered. Surrendered at Hopkiki's place.

KOOLAU WARRIOR.

Lot Lane asked to make a statement in order that his punishment might be mitigated. Lane said he went to Kaalawai Saturday afternoon under orders from Wilcox to clean guns. Went to Bertelmann's and then took part in the fight. Went on top of Diamond Head and stayed there until the tug came around. Then we left and went into the mountains. On account of my patriotism I took part in the rebellion. Went into it and got my friends to go into it with me.

A GUARD.

Thomas Poole volunteered a statement. He said: I took some wine and liquor Saturday afternoon. Afterward was asked to go to a house beyond Bertelmann's place. Thought Bertelmann wanted me as my name was on a list of soldiers he had that were to become a guard to the Queen after restoration. Whether the United States restored her not or she would be restored shortly and my services would be needed. He said I would only be required for a couple of weeks, or until the new government was firmly established. Asked a cousin of mine to go with me to Bertelmann's. Townsend wanted to march into town. Witness thought such a man would be fool hardy.

A man ran up near the canoe shed and fired. I was near him on the inside. Two shots were fired from outside. Then Jim Lane fired. "I then started to run and heard the man outside fall to the inside. I ran against an outrigger, then turned and fired at the man who was down. As I ran out was shot at from the side and fired back. From there I ran into the hoo bushes."

Joe Clark took the stand—Received a note inviting him to a luncheon at Kaalawai. Took part in Diamond Head fight. Was captured beyond the Fall. Recused to 2 o'clock.

THE DIRTY DOZEN.

The "Dirty Dozen" has been used as a designation for the third batch before the Court Martial. They were headed by Lot Lane, Biplikane, Joe Clarke, Kaunaha and Kalauka. Their trial ended last evening. Half a score of witnesses were heard. Argument was made this forenoon. The great efforts of the trial were put forth on behalf of Kaunaha and Kalauka. The former is a tailor and instructor of tailoring at Kamehameha schools. John Wise, a Hawaiian educated in the States was a witness. Wise is a big intelligent chap who has been prominent in athletic circles.

A number of persons were witnesses. They all made denials or claimed that they were forced into the rebellion. John Wise said: Kown Kaunaha. I drove the horse to Kaalawai on Sunday of the beginning of the trouble. Were guns in wagon. Don't think Kaunaha knew of it. I did not tell him. Kaunaha did not help take things from the wagon. Kaunaha walked from Bertelmann's and back again.

Cross-examination—Kaunaha came to my house. I had these arms at my place. They had been brought the previous Thursday evening. I live at Biplikane's. Sam Nowlein had said some guns would be sent to me. I buried them.

Lot Lane called. Col. Whiting—You are not required to say anything to criminate yourself. Lot Lane—I did not see Wise and end Kaunaha at Kaalawai. I was asleep. Saw Charles Bartow.

MOSTLY GUILTY.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday evening the Commission began session. Thirteen prisoners were in. All except Patrick Lane and Kalauka said they did not want counsel. The men were ordinary soldiers and had already pled guilty to the charges to the prosecution. Though the men desired no counsel Judge Advocate Kinney arranged with Messrs. Neumann and Rosa to represent them. The prisoners and pleadings were as follows:

John Maluka—Guilty. Kehikuewa—Guilty. Pipi—Guilty. Kauna—Not guilty. Punalua—Not guilty. Samuel Kalahau—Not guilty. Patrick Lane—Guilty of levying war against the Government. Denies remainder of charge. Kiloahou—Not guilty. Mannel Kubio—Guilty. Henry Mahoe—Guilty to all but inciting others. The Court directs a plea of not guilty.

Samuel Kalou—Not guilty. Nakaikahine—Not guilty. Tom Pedro—Guilty of treason, but not of inciting others.

All but two of the above were taken prisoners of war on the Waialeale road, Moiliili.

At 8 p. m. the Court adjourned to 10 o'clock today.

COURT NOTES.

Captain Camara was at Thursday evening's session of the Commission for the first time since Tuesday. He has been ill.

Patrick Lane is quite deaf. took both Neumann and Rosa to drive the desire of the Commission into his brain when he was asked if he had any objection to any member of the Court.

Mr. Neumann made the same objection to the jurisdiction of the Court noted on former occasions. He gave notice that the objection would be presented later in writing. Mr. Neumann's protest was overruled.

Samuel Kalou, a prisoner of war now on trial, is a preacher. He expounds the Scripture on the street near the fish market. Several members of his indolent congregation are in the present pillbox with him.

A MEMORIAL.

Movement to Provide One For the Late Chas. L. Carter.

The matter of a memorial for the martyred Charles L. Carter, has already taken shape.

Jas. B. Castle, Collector-General, has been made the head of the movement. He will now receive contributions.

When Mr. Carter met his death he was acting with a squad of the Citizen's Guard. He was also an aide on the staff of the President, with the rank of Captain.

It is suggested that contributions may be especially liberal from those persons of means who receive pay for war service.

NO STRANGER.

Return of the Hawaiian Navy Without a Prize.

The tug Eleu returned from her cruise about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She went out in command of Captain King. A small detail of Sharpshooters and a small gun were taken. The object of her cruise was to look after any strange vessel that might be lying around in the neighborhood. Rumors of a schooner's movements have been general for several days. The tug went south and around Oahu. Two small schooners were spoken off Koolau. Both were from Honolulu. The steamer Likie was seen and recognized. No strange vessel appeared in any quarter.

WAS GOING FOR COUNSEL.

When Julius Kaue was arrested the other day he had a steamer ticket for Hanalei. His wife was asked: Hanalei is a royalist stronghold. It is also headquarters for a lot of retired kahuna or medical men and witches. It was to consult these that Kaue was about to make the trip.

A STRONG PETITION.

LETTER FROM DEFENDERS TO THE HEAD OF THE NATION.

An Offer to Appeals For Clemency—Capital Punishment and the Color Line.

It is reported that President Dole has received a large number of letters asking that clemency be extended to rebels and traitors. These are sent under the impression that the military commission has imposed the death sentence in six or eight cases. This is probably the fact.

A strong counter movement is under way. It originated at the meeting of the Sharpshooters Company last night. A form of resolution on the subject was presented and approved.

Today this letter to the President has been in circulation about town. It will have the signatures of between 400 and 500 men who have borne arms.

The letter opens with declarations of loyalty to the Republic and confidence in the administration.

In a couple of utterances the resolutions are particularly strong and unequivocal.

It is held that capital punishment should be meted out to the leading offenders.

It is expressed as a fixed opinion that no distinction should be made "on account of color."

All the outside papers in the cases, as well as appearances of counsel, will no doubt be recognized by the President.

At 2:30 THIS STAR was able to secure a copy of the resolution. Here it is:

To Sanford B. Dole, President of the Republic of Hawaii.

DEAR SIR: We, the undersigned, members of the Citizens' Guard, hereby express our entire confidence in your wisdom and good judgment, under the trying circumstances of the present situation.

It has been brought to our notice that appeals have been made to you, for the exercise of executive clemency, in the case of the rebel leaders, and other prisoners on trial, before the court martial now in session.

We desire you to understand that we are in hearty accord with you in your determination to preserve the Republic from a possible renewal of rebellion, by dealing out strict justice.

After calm consideration of the situation and what is involved, we believe that to punishment, short of the death penalty, should be meted out to the leaders, and that no discrimination be made on account of color.

This will be considered at the Citizens' Guards meetings tonight.

SCHOONER LOST.

Haleakala on the Reef and a Wreck of Waiwae.

At 10 o'clock this morning the schooner Haleakala was reported off Waiwae. The report did not come from the vessel herself, but from the plantation. There it was merely thought that the little vessel stood to far in shore. James J. Dowsett, the owner, instructed men to go down from the plantation and report if anything was the matter.

It was soon learned that the schooner was on the reef. She is nearly a total loss. The Haleakala is one of the old time inter-island clippers.

REPUBLIC IS THE GOVERNMENT—ALL SHOULD RECOGNIZE IT.

Words To the People and a Request For Clemency To Rebels.

Twelve hours before she was arrested Liluokalani offered to relinquish absolutely all her political pretensions and property claims in Hawaii. Her agent was not direct with his business. The message was not delivered till the ex-Queen was a prisoner. All this was published in connection with the account of serving a warrant on the woman.

Now Mrs. Dominis has made a statement in writing. It was sent to President Dole last evening. The letter is lengthy and explicit. She asks for clemency for herself and consideration for Hawaiian rebels.

Liluokalani is more than willing to place herself entirely in the hands of the Government. Her relinquishment is complete.

Attorney-General Smith says he has nothing to do with this matter at all. The Republic is not treating with the woman. She has been told that the Government has nothing to say to her—not even a suggestion to offer. Whatever is submitted, comes from the ex-queen on her own motion and voluntarily.

Mrs. Dominis is very nervous. She feels that her position is completely shattered. Half a dozen friends are advising her.

Following is the text of Liluokalani's statement.

ISLAND OF OAHU, HONOLULU, January 24th, 1895.

TO THE HONORABLE SANFORD BALLARD DOLE, PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF HAWAII.

SIR—After full and free consultation with my personal friends, and with my legal advisers, both before and since my detention by military order in the Executive Building, and acting in conformity with their advice and as upon my own free volition, and in pursuance of my unalterable belief and understanding of my duty to the People of Hawaii, and to their highest and best interests, and also for the sake of those misguided Hawaiians and others who are misled by the false promises of the late Monarchy, and who are in an attempt to restore me to the position of Queen which I held prior to the Seventeenth day of January, 1893, I hereby claim that I shall become entitled by reason of anything that I may now say or do, to any other or different treatment or consideration at the hands of the Government than I otherwise could and might legally receive, I now desire to express and make known, and do hereby express and make known to you, as the only lawful and recognized head of the Government, and to all the people of the Hawaiian Islands, whether or not they have yet become citizens of the Republic, that I have been advised by whom I respectfully request you to make known as soon as may be, as follows, namely:

First—in order to avoid any possibility of doubt or misunderstanding on the subject, although I do not think that any doubt or misunderstanding is either proper or possible, I hereby do fully and unequivocally admit and declare that the Government of the Republic of Hawaii is the lawful Government of the Hawaiian Islands, and that the late Hawaiian Monarchy is finally and forever ended and no longer of any legal or actual validity, force or effect whatsoever; and I do hereby forever absolve all persons whomsoever, whether in the Hawaiian Islands or elsewhere, from all and every manner of allegiance, or official obligation, or duty to me, my heirs and successors forever, and I hereby declare to all such persons in the Hawaiian Islands, that I consider them as bound in duty and honor, henceforth to support and sustain the Government of the Republic of Hawaii.

Second—For myself, my heirs and successors, I do hereby and without any reservation of modification, and full, finally, unequivocally, irrevocably and forever abdicate, renounce and release unto the Government of the Republic of Hawaii, and its legitimate successors forever, all claims or pretensions whatsoever to the late Monarchy of Hawaii, or to the late Monarchy of Hawaii, or to any past, or to the existing, or to any future Government of Hawaii, or under or by reason of any present or former existing Constitution, laws, laws, position, right or claim of any and every kind, name and nature whatsoever, and whether the same consist of pecuniary, or personal, or property considerations, or of personal status, hereby forever renouncing, disowning and disclaiming all rights, claims, demands, privileges, honors, emoluments, titles and prerogatives whatsoever under or by virtue of any former, or the existing Government, Constitution, Statute, law or custom of the Hawaiian Islands whatsoever, save and excepting only such rights and privileges as belong to me in common with all other citizens of the Republic of Hawaii.

Third—I do hereby respectfully implore for such misguided Hawaiians and others as have been concerned in the late rebellion against the Republic of Hawaii such degree of executive clemency as the Government may deem to be consistent with its duty to the community, and such as due regard for its violated laws may permit.

Fourth—It is my sincere desire henceforth to live in absolute privacy and retirement from all publicity or even appearance of being concerned in the public affairs of the Hawaiian Islands, further than to express, in a now and then, and shall always continue to do, my most sincere hope for the welfare and prosperity of Hawaii and its people, and to be subject to the Government of the Republic of Hawaii.

Fifth—I hereby offer and present my duly certified oath of allegiance to the Republic of Hawaii.

Sixth—I have caused the foregoing statement to be prepared and drawn, and have signed the same, without having received the slightest suggestion from the President of Hawaii, or from any member or official of the Government of Hawaii, or from any person, or by any part thereof, or concerning any action or course of my own in the premises.

Reliance upon the magnanimity of the Government of the Republic, and upon its protection.

I have the honor to be, Mr. President, very respectfully, your obedient servant. (Signed) LILUOKALANI DOMINIS.

On this 24th day of January, A.D. 1895, the foregoing was in our presence read over and considered carefully and deliberately by LILUOKALANI DOMINIS, and she, the said LILUOKALANI DOMINIS, thereupon in our presence declared that the same was correct, exact and full statement of her wishes and acts in the premises, which statement she declared to us that she desired to sign and acknowledge in our presence as her own free act and deed; and she thereupon signed the same in our presence and declared the same to be her free act and deed.

IS WITNESS WHEREOF we have, at the request of the said LILUOKALANI DOMINIS, and in her presence, signed and subscribed our names as attesting witnesses at the Executive Building in Honolulu, on the Island of Oahu, this 24th day of January, A.D. 1895.

(Signed) WM. G. IRWIN, (Signed) H. A. WIDEMANN, (Signed) SAMUEL PARKER, (Signed) ROBERT L. HOOKER, (Signed) CHAS. B. WILSON, (Signed) PAUL NEUMANN.

HONOLULU, ISLAND OF OAHU, IS. HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

On this 24th day of January, A.D. 1895, personally appeared before me, LILUOKALANI DOMINIS, known to me to be the person described in the foregoing statement, and who acknowledged to me that she executed the same freely and voluntarily and for the uses and purposes therein stated, and in the presence of the undersigned witnesses,

A BRILLIANT LAWYER.

Sir Charles Russell Achieved Worldwide Fame at the Bar.

LORD JUSTICE RUSSELL.

A few years ago. He represented England in the Bering sea arbitration case last year and defended Mrs. Maybrick in 1889. Sir Charles was undoubtedly the most distinguished legal practitioner in England. He was a cross examiner to be dreaded, and his weighty but persuasive style of eloquence was exceedingly effective with a jury. He has figured in almost every celebrated case of recent years. His speech before the Parliament commission was particularly powerful and will long be remembered. Lord Justice Hannen, president of the law society, called it "a great speech worthy of a great occasion."

Sir Charles was born in Ireland, at Newry, in 1817, and was educated at Trinity college, Dublin. Throughout his career he became a quaker's counsel and was elected a member of Lincoln's Inn in 1872. From 1880 to 1885 Sir Charles sat in the house of commons as member for the borough of Dundalk, and in 1885-6 he represented South Hackney. He was knighted in the latter year and appointed attorney general in Mr. Gladstone's administration, giving up a private practice that was reliably said to be worth $120,000 a year. He was offered the position of lord justice by Mr. Gladstone several years ago, but declined to accept it.

The new lord justice plays whist, takes snuff and is an authority on turf matters. He is fond of riding and is a conspicuous figure at every important race meeting in England. He takes great delight in playing the part of a country gentleman, and it is said would rather discuss the points of a bullock with a farmer than argue over a point of law with a legal enemy.

There are a great many homes having zinc lined Bath Tubs that are in good condition with this one exception, they lack the features of a porcelain lining. How to overcome this without going to the expense of getting a new tub has been a question that has worried a good many.

One pot of our WHITE ENAMEL PAINT will do the work, forming as it does a GLOSSY SURFACE almost equal in hardness and durability to that of Porcelain itself, being at the same time hardly distinguished from Porcelain.

Consult with your Physician and he will tell you by all means to paint your Bath Tub with ENAMEL PAINT.

THE KEY STONE EGG BEATERS are little gems, try one if you want your Eggs quickly and thoroughly beaten.

We also call your special attention to our economical BARREL and CYLINDER CHURNS, they are easy workers, have all sizes and prices.

We have a handy CLOTHES DRIER having ten arms made to fasten on the wall, when not in use, by a simple pull these arms fold up like a fan, thus taking up but little room.

Rapid Transit.

The first train leaves at six p.m. For the land where the poppy blows. The mother dear is the engineer. And the passenger laughs and crows.

The palace car is the mother's arms; The whistle a low, sweet strain. The passenger winks and nods and blinks And goes to sleep on the train.

At eight p.m. the next train starts For the poppy land afar. The summons clear falls on the ear, "All aboard for the sleeping car!"

But what is the fare to poppy land? I hope it is not too dear. The fare is this—a hug and a kiss, And it's paid to the engineer.

So I ask of him who children took On his knee in kind and gentle way, "Take care, I pray, of the trains each day That leave at six and eight."

"Keep watch on the passengers," thus I pray. "For to me they are very dear; And special ward, O gracious Lord, Over the gentle journey."

MISS LANIER

By MARTHA McCULLOUGH WILLIAMS.

The familiar did not look dangerous. He was very black, small and somewhat withered, but still upright and snappy. He came hurriedly forward, dropping his hairless straw hat as he set foot in the door, and with eager courtesy: "Servant, gentlemen—servant, sirs. Tek seats dar on de porch benches an' res' while I fetches yo' some cold water."

Darragh came timidly forward, the red still pulsing in her thin, withered cheek. The old negro stopped in front of her and said entreatingly: "Go back ter yo' pappy, Miss Darragh, honey. Yo' kin tins' old Isaac ter ten ter things right."

Darragh answered him steadily: "I know that, daddy. I will go in a minute. Perhaps these gentlemen have business. I represent my father and must hear it if they have."

Fanning stopped forward to say, with his finest courtesy: "Our business is to find rest and quiet for a few summer weeks. Here you seem shut quite away from the world of noise and bustle. If you will let us share for a brief while your paradise, you will earn our everlasting gratitude."

"Dar, now, li'l' misters, yo' run 'long erway. Let Isaac ten to de gentlemen. He knowed dey want to see me den his hunters mint he set eyes on 'em. How you stays, gentlemen, an' welcome while you chooses. Darraghmount do 'n't nebbur yet been shot for folks wint der right ter come through Isaac's company will chirp up Marse Darragh an' li'l' misters de wonderful, wonderful. Des lem me show em de way round ter wash der faces, den I'll fetch um in, an' yo' two misters, remain um till dinner done get ready." Isaac said, ad- vancing hospitably to possess himself of the knapsack and sketching outfit lying upon the piazza floor.

Darragh said, with a face full of doubt, "Isaac, are you sure?"

"Yes, yes, li'l' misters, certain, sho," the old man broke in, then going close and half whispering: "Miss Darragh, honey, for de land's sake, let um stay. Dey means pay money, an' whar else we's ter get it? I'm maybe de good Lawd knows, but yo' ole Isaac don't. I been tryin ter wuk—ter plow—but de weeds is gat de best of all de truck an' de hot sun des is twis'n in hit all up to nuthin. We won't make seed, much less bread, an' yo' know yo' said las' winter der warts' nuthin no' in de house ter eat as would pay for carryin erway."

"I know," Darragh said quietly, "but—but—to open our doors for money! I never thought Darraghmount would come to that."

"Honey, hit's for him, Marse Darragh," Isaac said, nodding toward the back, whence now came a querulous calling.

At sound of it Miss Lanier got very white, but walked bravely to her visitors, who had withdrawn to the piazza's farthest end, and said, trying to speak steadily: "If—if you stay, sirs, I can promise you only the very simplest fare and an attention save what Isaac can give you. Indeed you will have to depend on him for everything."

"He looks dependable. We will be too glad to risk it," Bertram said cheerily. Fanning looked his business full in the eyes till her cheeks grew dusky roses, then without a word followed his comrade at Isaac's heels to the wide, bare open chamber the two were to share.

Through an directly over Major Lanier's apartment, doors and windows all stood so wide that the newcomers could not choose but to hear the blind man rating Isaac for his negligence, "leaving strange gentlemen to stand for so long unattended at the door."

The negro answered with the humblest patience: "Deed, Marse Darragh, I never think nobody was comin. I des went out ter de stable 'bout er seen 'bout den miles. Lats corn done got so big an' heavy down in den bottoms I've plim 'fared some triflin nigger will get one er de critter oberst, else gi' 'im too much feed an' founder 'im."

"Im, too much feed an' founder 'im." "Im, then, the crop is heavy if we did have high water!"

"Corn des er injun an' er boom, Marse Darragh, ter kill an ter cripple!"

"Never mind it, man. About these strangers, be sure they have every attention."

"I will, Marse Darragh. Dey comes fren up norf!"

"That makes no difference, Isaac, while they are under the roof of Darraghmount. Away from it!"

"Cove, of cove, Marse Darragh, dey might not be much ob nobody, but while dey here—nebbur you min, dey gwine fin out whar 'tis ter be company."

"Pray heaven that we do," Bertram said sotto voce. "I was 'company' once for six weeks down in Virginia. I remember them as a long delicious dream of waffles, broiled chicken, fresh berries, real cream and coffee fit for the gods."

Fanning held up a finger of silence. The voice below went on: "Darragh, my daughter, we have in some way unaccountable fallen out of our habit of hospitality. It must be a year since we have had a company, but I hope you have not on that account neglected your wardrobe. Put on your newest gown, something simple, yet elegant, as becomes a southern lady offering hospitality to her hereditary enemies. A cheap or old fashioned gown might seem the manifestation of clownish resentment, something more than impossible to a Lanier under her own roof. Do these strangers, by the way, seem men of parts and breeding?"

"I—hardly noticed. They are different, though, to some—some—most—northerners that I have seen," the daughter answered in the high key necessary to reach her father's dulled ear.

"Ah, yes, those impertinently persistent speculators who want to spoil Darraghmount's fair face with their dirty miasms and fumes. I shall be glad to find out that there is a better sort among—our comers. It would take away half the bitterness of defeat to know that we surrendered to gentlemen."

Bertram looked at Fanning as not entitled to hear even good wishes of themselves, but, do you know, in my mind we have stumbled upon a conspiracy as pathetic as it is picturesque. Clearly this fine old Bourbon is made to believe that wealth and state surround him as of old."

Fanning nodded, with still a finger upon his lip. High and ready came Darragh's words: "Why, father dear, you don't think I leave you to dine with two princes in disguise? Of course they shall have every attention, but Isaac can see to that. I shall stay here with you."
